Sect. 3.—Voidable marriages: Sub-sect. 2, A., B. & C.]

2332. ——.]—To found a sentence of nullity by reason of impotency, the impediment must be shown to have existed at the marriage & to be incurable. Semble: an impediment not natural but supervening is no ground of nullity.

A man of sixty who marries a woman of fifty-two should be contented to take her tam quam soror (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—BROWN v. BROWN (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 523; 162 E. R. 665.

Annotation:—Refd. W—— v. H—— (falsely called W——) (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 240.

2333. Marriage only rendered voidable by.]—ELLIOTT v. GURR, No. 2327, ante.

2334. ——.]—(1) Impotence does not render a marriage void, but only voidable.

(2) A question as to the impotence of either conjunct as a ground for nullity can only be raised in the Matrimonial Ct., & during the joint lives of both conjuncts. The question can be raised by no person whatever except the non-impotent conjunct.—A. v. B. (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 559; 17 W. R. 14; sub nom. P. v. S., 37 L. J. P. & M. 80; sub nom. —— v. ——, 19 L. T. 22; sub nom. ANON., 32 J. P. 743.

Annotation:—Refd. Halpin (otherwise Boddington) v. Boddington (1881), 29 W. R. 444.

2335. When relief sought—Joint lives of spouses.]—A. v. B. (1868), No. 2334, ante.

Effect of delay in bringing proceedings.]—See Sect. 7, sub-sect. 4, B. (d) i., post.

2336. Effect of second marriage & issue—After decree obtained.]—STAFFORD v. MONGY (1595), 2 Dyer 179 a, n.; 73 E. R. 394.

2337. —— ——.]—ESSEX'S (COUNTESS) CASE (1613), 2 State Tr. 785; 1 Hargrave's State Tr. 307; 2 Dyer 179 a, n.; 73 E. R. 394.

Annotation:—Refd. C. (otherwise H.) v. C., [1921] P. 399.

2338. —— ——.]—BURY'S CASE, No. 2326, ante.

B. Who may seek Relief.

2339. Whether impotent spouse may bring petition—Failure to prove impotency.]—HARRIS (OTHERWISE BALL) v. BALL (1790), cited 3 Phillim. at p. 155; 161 E. R. 1286.

Annotations:—Refd. Briggs v. Morgan (1820), 2 Hag. Con. 324; Norton v. Seton (1820), 3 Phillim. 147; Miles v. Chilton (otherwise Miles) (1849), 1 Rob. Eccl. 684; B——n v. B——n (1854), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 248. Mentd. Ferrers v. Ferrers (1791), 1 Hag. Con. 130.

2340. ——.]—A man not allowed to plead his own natural impotency as a ground for a sentence of nullity of marriage.—NORTON v. SETON (FALSELY CALLED NORTON) (1819), 3 Phillim. 147; 161 E. R. 1283.

Annotations:—Consd. Miles v. Chelton (otherwise Miles) (1849), 1 Rob. Eccl. 684; G. v. G. (falsely called K.) (1908), 25 T. L. R. 328. Refd. B——n v. B——n (1854), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 248: H—— (falsely called C——) v. C—— (1860), 1 Sw. & Tr. 605; Halpin (otherwise Boddington v. Boddington (1881), 29 W. R. 444.

2341. ——.]—A. v. B. (1868), No. 2334, ante.

2342. —— Discretion of court.]—G. v. G., (FALSELY CALLED K.) (1908), No. 2360, post.

2343. Woman no longer virgo intacta.]—SERRELL v. SERRELL & BAMFORD, No. 4334, post.

2344. Application to make decree nisi absolute—Not maintainable by respondent.]—The ct. will not upon the application of resp. make a decree nisi absolute for nullity of marriage by reason of the impotence of resp.—HALFEN (OTHERWISE BODDINGTON) v. BODDINGTON (1881), 6 P. D. 13; sub nom. HALPEN (OTHERWISE BODDINGTON) v. BODDINGTON, 50 L. J. P. 61; 44 L. T. 252; 29 W. R. 444.

Annotation:—Apld. Lewis v. Lewis, [1892] P. 212.

2345. —— Impotence quoad hanc et quoad hunc.]—If the ct. is satisfied that a marriage has not been & that, quoad hanc et quoad hunc, it cannot be consummated by the spouses, although no impediment to consummation is clear or apparent in either of them, the ct. is justified in annulling the marriage. In a case of this description, where there are cross-prayers for relief, a decree nisi may be pronounced at the suit of both parties, leaving both or either of them to apply for the decree to be made absolute.

There will be a decree nisi & an order for costs against the husband, as the wife appears to have no separate estate (BARGRAVE DEANE, J.).—G. v. G., [1912] P. 173; 81 L. J. P. 90; 106 L. T. 617; 28 T. L. R. 481.

——.]—See, generally, Sect. 25, post.

C. What Constitutes Impotence.

2346. Consummation practically impossible—Absence of malformation or structural defect.]—G—— v. G—— (1871), No. 2330, ante.

2347. ——.]—In an action by a husband against his wife for a decree of nullity of marriage on the ground of impotency, it was proved that the husband, whose potency was admitted, made frequent attempts extending over a protracted period to consummate the marriage, but failed owing to the unreasoning resistance of the wife, & that this resistance continued after she had formally consented to perform her conjugal duty. The medical examination of the wife showed that there was no structural incapacity. The parties were on affectionate terms:—Held: the conclusion to be drawn from the evidence was that the wife's refusal was due, not to obstinacy or caprice, but to an invincible repugnance to the act of consummation, resulting in a paralysis of the will which was consistent only with incapacity,

q. Jurisdiction—High Court.]—The High Ct. has no jurisdiction to entertain an action to have a marriage declared null & void by reason of the alleged incapacity & impotence of one of the parties.—T—— v. B—— (1907), 10 O. W. R. 1030; 15 O. L. R. 224.—CAN.

r. —— ——.]—The High Ct. has no power to declare a marriage a nullity on the grounds of impotency.—LEAKIM v. LEAKIM (1912), 23 O. W. R. 227; 4 O. W. N. 214; 6 D. L. R. 875.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 2.—B.

s. Suit by impotent spouse.]—An impotent man cannot maintain a nullity-suit merely on the grounds of his own impotency. But if the woman repudiates all relation of wife & the obligations of the marriage contract the impotent man may show that there is no verum matrimonium & maintain such a suit.—A. v. A. (sued as B.) (1887), 19 L. R. Ir. 403.—IR.

PART XIII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 2.—C.

2346 i. Consummation practically impossible—Absence of malformation or structural defect.]—In a suit brought by a wife for nullity of marriage it was proved that the marriage had never been consummated, the cause being the impotency of the husband, although there was no malformation or apparent incapacity disclosed by inspection. The cohabitation had lasted for one year & eight months, of which period the parties had occupied the same bed for about a year:—Held: in those circumstances a decree nisi was granted.—H. (FALSELY CALLED T.) v. T. (1893), 11 N. Z. L. R. 766.—N.Z.

2346 ii. —— ——.]—The marriage between a husband & wife, who lived on affectionate terms & neither of whom suffered from any structural defect, was never consummated owing to the wife's refusal to permit intercourse throughout a prolonged period in which the husband made repeated but unsuccessful attempts, the refusal being persisted in even after the wife had formally consented to perform her conjugal duty:—Held: the wife's refusal was not due to obstinacy or caprice, but to an invincible repugnance to the sexual act which amounted to incapacity; & the husband, accordingly, was entitled to a decree of nullity.—G. v. G., [1924] S. C. (H. L.) 42.—SCOT.

& the husband was therefore entitled to a decree of nullity.—G. v. G., [1924] A. C. 349; 131 L. T. 70; sub nom. GRAHAM v. REITH (OR GRAHAM), 40 T. L. R. 322; 68 Sol. Jo. 417, H. L.

2348. —— Nervous hysteria of wife.]—In a suit of nullity it appeared, from the husband's evidence, that whenever he had attempted to have intercourse with his wife the act had produced hysteria on her part, & that, although he had cohabited with her for more than three years, the marriage had never been consummated. The wife refused to submit to inspection. On the evidence of the husband the Judge Ordinary made a decree nisi to annul the marriage under the provisions of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1873 (c. 31).—H. v. P. (FALSELY CALLED H.) (1873), L. R. 3 P. & D. 126.

Annotation :—Consd. Dickinson v. Dickinson, [1913] P. 198.

2349. Incurable disability.]—BROWN v. BROWN, No. 2332, ante.

2350. —— Intercourse very imperfect.]—Sentence of nullity of marriage pronounced, by reason of a natural, incurable malformation of the sexual organs of the female, those organs admitting of a partial connection only with the male.

If there be a reasonable probability that the lady can be made capable of a vera copula, of the natural sort of coitus, though without power of conception, I cannot pronounce this marriage void. If, on the contrary, she is not & cannot be made capable of more than an incipient, imperfect, & unnatural coitus, I would pronounce the marriage void. In the case first supposed, the husband must submit to the misfortune of a barren wife, as much when the cause is visible & capable of being ascertained, as when it rests in undiscoverable & unascertained causes. But when the coitus itself is absolutely imperfect, & unnatural, there is not a natural indulgence of natural desire; almost of necessity disgust is generated, & the probable consequences of other connections with men of ordinary self control become almost certain. No man ought to be reduced to this state of quasi unnatural connection, & consequent temptation, &, therefore, I should hold the marriage void (DR. LUSHINGTON).—D——E v. A——G (FALSELY CALLING HERSELF D——E) (1815), 1 Rob. Eccl. 279; 163 E. R. 1039.

Apld. L— v. L—— (otherwise D——) (1922), 38 T. L. R. 697. Refd. W—— v. H— (falsely called W——) (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 240; Lewis v. Hayward (1866), 35 L. J. P. & M. 105; Dickinson v. Dickinson, [1913] P. 198; C. v. C. (1921), 90 L. J. P. 345. Mentd. Scott v. Scott, [1912] P. 241.

2351. —— Not where possibility of cure.]—(1) Incapacity to consummate a marriage is no ground for a decree of nullity, unless the incapacity be permanent. If there is a possibility that its cause may be cured, the ct. will not pronounce a sentence of nullity, although such cure may be highly improbable.

S., a married woman, married E., on July 22, & lived with him until Sept. 23. She petitioned for a decree of nullity by reason of his inability to consummate the marriage. He did not appear. The report of medical inspectors negatived any apparent & incurable defect on his part, but ascribed the non-consummation to incapacity caused by a long continued habit of self abuse, which, as further explained by their viva voce evidence, they considered might possibly, but not probably, be cured; the question being one of moral restraint. There was no report of inspectors as to the condition of the woman, & their viva voce evidence was equivocal as to proof of non-consummation from examination of her person. The ct. refused to make the decree.

Qu.: whether in a case in which there is incurable impotence a decree of nullity will be pronounced where there has been only cohabitation for three months. Semble: (2) in a suit by the woman for nullity of marriage on the ground of impotence, there must be a report by sworn medical inspectors as to the state of the woman; (3) when the ct. rejects a petition for a decree of nullity, it will not decree a monition that the petitioner do return to cohabitation, unless such process is prayed by the resp.—S—— (FALSELY CALLED E——) v. E—— (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 240; 9 Jur. N. S. 698; 164 E. R. 1266; sub nom. STAGG (FALSELY CALLED EDGECOMBE) v. EDGECOMBE, 2 New Rep. 429; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 153; 8 L. T. 643; 12 W. R. 19.

Annotation :—Generally, Mentd. Scott v. Scott, [1912] P. 211.

2352. Disability curable—By dangerous operation.]—W—— v. H—— (FALSELY CALLED W——) (1861), No. 4347, post.

2353. —— Refusal to consent to cure.]—P. v. L. (FALSELY CALLED P.) (1873), 3 P. D. 73, n.

Annotations :—Expld. S. v. A. (otherwise S.) (1878), 3 P. D. 72. Consd. G. v. G., [1924] A. C. 349.

2354. —— —— ——.]—After a partial cohabitation of two years & eight months it appeared that the woman was impotent, but that she might probably be cured if she would submit to an operation involving no great risk of life. This she refused to do. The ct. made a decree nisi of nullity of marriage.—L. v. L. (FALSELY CALLED W.) (1882), 7 P. D. 16; sub nom. L. v. W. (FALSELY CALLED L.), 51 L. J. P. 23; 47 L. T. 132; 30 W. R. 444.

2355. —— —— ——.]—A husband, on account of habits of self abuse, was unable to consummate the marriage. The medical evidence was to the effect that if he discontinued his practices for a year he would probably be able to consummate the marriage, but he refused to do so, & shortly after the marriage he left his wife. In a suit by the wife for nullity, the ct. pronounced a decree of nullity.—J. (OTHERWISE K.) v. J. (1908), 24 T. L. R. 622; subsequent proceedings, sub nom. JOSEPH (OTHERWISE KING) v. JOSEPH, [1909] P. 217.

2356. Not mere incapacity of conception—Where intercourse possible.]—D——E v. A——G (FALSELY CALLING HERSELF D——E) (1845), No. 2350, ante.

2357. —— ——.]—Incapacity by a woman to conceive is no ground for a decree of nullity of marriage; therefore that relief was refused to a husband whose wife had, before marriage, undergone a surgical operation which rendered her incapable of bearing children, but did not render sexual intercourse impossible.—L—— v. L—— (OTHERWISE D——) (1922), 38 T. L. R. 697; 66 Sol. Jo. 613.

2358. Impotence quoad hanc.] — ESSEX'S (COUNTESS) CASE (1613), 2 State Tr. 785; 1 Hargrave's State Tr. 307; 2 Dyer, 179 a, n.; 73 E. R. 394.

Annotation :—Consd. C. (otherwise H.) v. C., [1921] P. 399.

2348 i. —— Nervous hysteria of wife.]—Where petitioner who seeks to have a marriage annulled has proved wilful & persistent refusal of intercourse upon the part of resp. & it appears from the evidence that the marriage cannot be consummated through "incapacity on the part of resp. arising from nervousness, hysteria or uncontrollable aversion" a decree of nullity of marriage will be granted.—EDWARDS v. CLAPHAM (1923), 33 B. C. R. 277.—CAN.

2348 ii. —— ——.]—Although wilful & persistent refusal by the wife of intercourse is not of itself a ground to support a decree of nullity of marriage yet the ct. may find on the evidence that the marriage cannot be consummated through her incapacity "arising from nervousness, hysteria or unconquerable aversion," & on this ground grant a decree of nullity.—E. v. C., [1924] 2 W. W. R. 207.—CAN.

Sect. 3.—Voidable marriages: Sub-sect. 2, C. & D. (a), (b) & (c).]

2359. ——.]—Divorce causa frigiditatis is a vinculo matrimonii, but if both marry again & have children, they shall cohabit together for the church was deceived.—SABELL'S CASE (1559), 2 Dyer, 178 b; 73 E. R. 394.

Annotation:—Refd. Harrison v. Burwell (1670), 2 Vent. 9.

2360. —— Petitioner refusing to undergo operation.]—The ct. affirmed, in a modified form, a decree of nullity of marriage pronounced on the wife's petition on the ground of the husband's incapacity, although the evidence showed that the incapacity was only relative to the party, & not a general condition of the husband:—Held: also it was not necessary that a valid marriage as to form should be proved before granting a decree, & petitioner's refusal to undergo a harmless operation did not disentitle her to relief.

A decree of nullity may be granted at the suit of an impotent person. This was, however, a discretion which the ct. should exercise very carefully (COZENS-HARDY, M.R.).—G. v. G. (FALSELY CALLED K.) (1908), 25 T. L. R. 328, C. A.

2361. —— No apparent reason for non-consummation.]—G. v. G. (1912), No. 2345, ante.

2362. —— Conflicting evidence.]—An averment of impotency quoad hanc was held by the Ecclesiastical Cts., & has been held ever since, to be sufficient to support a decree of nullity. There is no rule of law or practice that in cases of nullity, where the evidence of the parties is conflicting & the medical evidence is consistent with either

ioner if it is contradicted by resp.—C. (OTHERWISE H.) v. C., [1921] P. 399; 90 L. J. P. 345; 125 L. T. 768; sub nom. COLMAN (OTHERWISE HANKEY) v. COLMAN, 37 T. L. R. 759.

the ct. will not act on the evidence of

D. Presumption of Impotence.

(a) Wilful Refusal to Cohabit.

2363. Impotency presumed.]—Where a wife refused either to consummate the marriage or to cohabit with her husband, the ct. inferred incapacity on her part.—F. v. F. (OTHERWISE F.) (1911), 27 T. L. R. 429; sub nom. F. v. F. (OTHERWISE P.), 55 Sol. Jo. 482.

Annotation:—Refd. Dickinson v. Dickinson (otherwise Phillips) (1913), 109 L. T. 408.

2364. —— Further refusal to submit to medical examination.]—Although the parties to a ceremony of marriage may have never since the date of the marriage lived under the same roof, it is competent to the ct., if satisfied of the bona fides of the suit, to infer, from the wilful & wrongful refusal of the one party, in this case the wife, to live with the other, coupled with the further refusal of the same party to submit to medical inspection, that there is some impediment to consummation, & to pronounce a decree nisi for nullity of marriage at the suit of the party wronged.—W. v. W. (OTHERWISE L.), [1912] P. 78; 81 L. J. P. 29.

Annotations:—Expld. Dickinson v. Dickinson, [1913] P. 198. Refd. Napier v. Napier (1915), 84 L. J. P. 177.

Medical examination.]—See Sub-sect. 2, II., post.

(b) Wilful Refusal to Consummate.

2365. Whether impotence presumed—Mere wilful refusal.]—(1) Wilful wrongful refusal of marital intercourse is not in itself sufficient to justify the ct. in declaring a marriage null by reason of impotence.

(2) When, after a reasonable time, it is shown that there has been no sexual intercourse, & that the wife has resisted all attempts, the ct., if satisfied of the bona fides of the suit, will infer that the refusal arises from incapacity, & will pronounce a decree of nullity of marriage.—S. v. A. (OTHERWISE S.) (1878), 3 P. D. 72; 47 L. J. P. 75; 39 L. T. 127.

Annotations:—As to (1) Expld. Dickinson v. Dickinson, [1913] P. 198. Apprvd. Napier v. Napier (1915), 84 L. J. P. 177. Refd. G. v. G., [1924] A. C. 349.

2366. —— Wilful & persistent refusal—Refusal to be medically examined.]—Where a wife always refused her husband's request to consummate the marriage & frigidly repelled his advances, though there was no actual attempt by him to consummate the marriage, & the wife refused to submit to a medical examination, the ct. drew the inference of incompetence on her part.—S. v. S. (OTHERWISE M.) (1908), 24 T. L. R. 253.

Annotation:—Refd. Dickinson v. Dickinson, [1913] P. 198.

2367. —— —— No cohabitation.]—In a petition for nullity by a husband where there had been no cohabitation the ct. inferred the incapacity of the wife by her persistent refusal to consummate the marriage.—C. v. C. (OTHERWISE H.) (1911), 27 T. L. R. 421.

Annotations:—Refd. W. v. W. (otherwise L.), [1912] P. 78; Dickinson v. Dickinson, [1913] P. 198.

2368. —— —— ——.]—F. v. P. (OTHERWISE F.) (1911), No. 2363, ante.

2369. —— ——.]—Wilful & persistent refusal to allow any marital intercourse is a sufficient ground for a decree of nullity of marriage. Where, upon a petition for nullity of marriage presented by the husband in good faith, it appeared that the consummation of the marriage had been prevented, after repeated attempts on his part, by the wilful, determined, steadfast refusal of the wife, & the refusal was threatened to be, or likely to be, persisted in, the ct. held this constituted a valid & sufficient ground for annulling the marriage.—DICKINSON v. DICKINSON, [1913] P. 198; sub nom. D. v. D. (OTHERWISE P.), 82 L. J. P. 121; 29 T. L. R. 765; 58 Sol. Jo. 32; sub nom. DICKINSON v. DICKINSON (OTHERWISE PHILLIPS), 109 L. T. 408.

Annotations:—Overd. Napier v. Napier, [1915] P. 184. The ground on which Dickinson v. Dickinson was decided was not sufficient to support the decree; the decree may have been justified (by the facts of that case), but not on the ground accepted by the learned President (WARRINGTON, L.J.). Consd. Hudston v. Hudston (otherwise Newbigging) (1922), 39 T. L. R. 108.

2370. —— —— ——.]—The decision in Dickinson v. Dickinson, No. 2369, ante, that wilful & persistent refusal to allow marital intercourse is of itself a sufficient ground for a decree of nullity of marriage, is not justified in principle or by the authorities & must be overruled.—NAPIER v. NAPIER, [1915] P. 184; 84 L. J. P. 177; 113 L. T. 764; 31 T. L. R. 472; 59 Sol. Jo. 560, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Hudston v. Hudston (otherwise Newbigging) (1922), 39 T. L. R. 108.

PART XIII. SECT. 3. SUB-SECT. 2.—D. (b).

2365 i. Whether impotence presumed—Mere wilful refusal.]—The circumstances did not permit of an inference being drawn that deft. was incapable of the sexual act, as her refusal to permit intercourse was, in the absence of any adequate test of whether it was involuntary, explicable as being due solely to her voluntary choice; & decree of nullity refused.—G. v. G., [1923] S. C. 175.—SCOT.

2369 i. —— Wilful & persistent refusal.]—While it seems now to be settled that the long-continued refusal by a wife to allow her husband to consummate the marriage may justify the inference that it arises from incapacity or impotency existing at the time of the marriage it can only do so if the circumstances justify the inference; & it is in each case a question whether or not anything is shown which justifies the inference.—K. v. K., [1923] 3 W. W. R. 22; 3 D. L. R. 485.—CAN.

2371. No evidence of physical incapacity.]—In the circumstances of this case the ct. dismissed a petition for a decree of nullity.

Petitioner in his evidence said that he believed that on the part of resp. there was no physical impediment to marital relations, & that the non-consummation of the marriage was due to the wife's unwillingness alone. Petitioner said he had done all in his power to overcome resp.'s disinclination. Resp. had not submitted to medical examination. In these circumstances it is impossible to draw an inference of physical incapacity. It was a case of persistently declining to consummate without proper reason (LOW, J.).—FINEGAN v. FINEGAN (OTHERWISE MCHARDY) (1917), 33 T. L. R. 173.

2372. —— —— ——.]—Persistent refusal of marital intercourse is not, in the absence of incapacity, a ground for decree of nullity of marriage.—HUDSTON v. HUDSTON (OTHERWISE NEWBIGGING) (1922), 39 T. L. R. 108.

Persistent refusal after reasonable period of co-habitation—Incapacity presumed.]—See Sub-sect. 2, D. (c), post.

(c) Non-Consummation after Lapse of Reasonable Time.

Non-consummation after triennial cohabitation.]—See Sub-sect. 2, D. (d), post.

2373. Refusal to consummate—After lapse of reasonable time.]—S. v. A. (OTHERWISE S.) (1878), No. 2365, ante.

2374. —— ——.]—From the fact of non-consummation of a de facto marriage after a period of cohabitation, during which one party made repeated attempts & was always willing & anxious to bring about the consummation of the marriage, the ct., notwithstanding the apparent competence of both parties, may draw the inference that something more than seemingly mere wilful refusal must have animated the party who has, in fact, persistently refused to allow consummation. In a case where petitioner, a widower with children, went through the form of marriage in May, 1893, with resp., a widow without children, & lived & cohabited with her at divers places until the latter part of Oct. 1893, during which time he, being admittedly able & anxious to consummate the marriage, made repeated attempts so to do but was always repelled by resp., who refused to allow any attempt at connection, the ct., notwithstanding the fact that, upon medical inspection, resp. exhibited no structural impediment nor signs of virginity, pronounced a decree nisi annulling the marriage, upon the ground that it was open to the ct. to draw from the facts the inference of some latent incapacity on the part of resp.—F. v. P. (FALSELY CALLED F.) (1896), 75 L. T. 192.

Annotations:—Consd. W. v. W. (otherwise L.), [1912] P. 78. Refd. Dickinson v. Dickinson, [1913] P. 198; Napier v. Napier (1915), 84 L. J. P. 177; G. v. G., [1924] A. C. 349.

2375. —— Cohabitation for three months.]—Sentence of nullity of marriage by reason of impotence after a cohabitation of three months only.—G——S (FALSELY CALLED T——E) v. T—— E (1854), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 389; 164 E. R. 224.

2376. —— For six months.]—The ct. annulled a marriage where it was shown that the wife had resisted all attempts at intercourse for a period of six months. It also varied the marriage settlement ordering resp. to pay an annual sum to petitioner.—E. v. E. (OTHERWISE T.) (1902), 87 L. T. 149; 50 W. R. 607; 18 T. L. R. 643; 46 Sol. Jo. 586; subsequent proceedings, [1903] P. 88.

2377. —— Or submit to medical examination.]—From the fact of non-consummation of a marriage after a reasonable period of cohabitation, during which one of the parties was always willing & anxious & repeatedly urged that the marriage should be consummated, the ct. may draw the inference that something more than seemingly mere wilful refusal must have animated the other party, who has in fact persistently refused to consummate the marriage, & has also refused to obey the usual order to attend for medical inspection. In such a case, the ct. may properly assume the existence of some latent impediment amounting to incapacity.—B. v. B., [1901] P. 39; sub nom. B. (OTHERWISE H.) v. B., 70 L. J. P. 4.

Annotations:—Refd. W. v. S., [1905] P. 231; Dickinson v. Dickinson (otherwise Phillips) (1913), 109 L. T. 408.

2378. Cohabitation for seventeen years.]—The ct. pronounced a decree of nullity of marriage on the husband's petition, the wife having refused to consummate the marriage & not having submitted herself for medical examination, the ct. drawing therefrom the inference of incapacity, notwithstanding the petition was not presented until seventeen years had elapsed after the date of the marriage.—S. v. B. (FALSELY CALLED S.) (1905), 21 T. L. R. 219.

2379. —— —— Cohabitation for seven years.]—The ct. inferred incapacity on the part of resp., who did not defend proceedings for nullity of marriage or attend for medical examination, from her refusal, persisted in over a period of seven years, to permit the marriage to be consummated, notwithstanding the fact that she had subsequently written letters to petitioner in which she expressed herself as willing to accord him all the rights of a husband.—VICKERY v. VICKERY (OTHERWISE COX) (1920), 37 T. L. R. 332; 65 Sol. Jo. 343.

2380. Cohabitation for three months—Impotence incurable.]—S—— (FALSELY CALLED E—) v. E—— (1863), No. 2351, ante.

—— Refusal to consummate.]—See No. 2375, ante.

2381. Cohabitation for twelve years—Admission of impotency—Refusal to be examined.]—In a suit of nullity by reason of the impotence of the man, a certificate, twelve years after the marriage, that the woman was virgo intacta & apta viro, coupled with two several confessions by the man of his incapacity to two medical witnesses, & with proof that the woman's health had suffered, though the man had not given in his answers, had removed into France, & refused to undergo surgical examination; held sufficient.—POLLARD

2371 i. —— —— No evidence of physical incapacity.]—A. B. v. C. B. (1906), 8 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 603; 43 Sc. L. R. 411; 13 S. L. T. 923.—SCOT.

PART XIII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 2.—D. (c).

2375 i. Refusal to consummate—Cohabitation for three months.]—In an action at the instance of a husband against a wife, concluding for declarator of nullity of marriage on the ground of the wife's impotency, it was proved that the marriage had been solemnised seven months before the action was brought; that the parties lived together for three & a half months after the date of the marriage, & then separated; that the marriage never was consummated. No reason was suggested for a wilful refusal on the part of the wife, & it was found that the whole probabilities pointed to an opposite conclusion:—Held: the ct. was entitled to draw the inference that there was here a practical incapacity on the part of the wife, & decree of nullity was granted.—A. B. v. C. B. (1906), 8 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 603.—SCOT.

t. —— Cohabitation for three years.]—Where a husband or a wife seek a decree of nullity propter impotentiam, if there is no more evidence than that

Sect. 3.—Voidable marriages: Sub-sect. 2, D. (c), (d) & (e), E. & F.]

(FALSELY CALLED WYBOURN) v. WYBOURN (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 725; 162 E. R. 732.

Annotations:—Refd. Harrison v. Harrison (or Sparrow) (1842), 6 Jur. 899; H—— (falsely called C——) v. C—— (1860), 1 Sw. & Tr. 605; M. (otherwise D.) v. D. (1885), 10 P. D. 75.

2382. Cohabitation for fourteen years—No apparent defect in either party—Impotence of husband presumed—Onus of proof.]—(1) After a cohabitation of fourteen years, a woman presented a petition in the Ct. for Divorce & Matrimonial Causes for a decree of nullity of marriage, on the ground of the man's impotence. The report of the inspectors & the medical evidence showed that the woman was virgo intacta et apta viro, & that there was no apparent defect or malformation in the man:—Held: the woman was entitled to a decree that the marriage was null & void, on the ground that the cohabitation had been for a much more lengthened period than was required to raise the presumption against a husband, & the onus was thrown upon resp., either of disproving the facts, or of showing, by clear & satisfactory evidence, that the result was attributable to other causes than his own impotency.

It seems, at first sight, extraordinary that any length of time should operate as a bar to a proceeding for the nullity of a marriage. The usual maxim of law is quod ab initio non valet in tractu temporis non convalescet. But it seems that in cases of this description, delay in instituting the suit, not satisfactorily explained is taken as a personal exception to petitioner. There is no difficulty, however, in accounting for the delay in this case (LORD CHELMSFORD, C.).

(2) Semble: where a decree from the Ct. for Divorce & Matrimonial Causes, dismissing a petition for a declaration of nullity of marriage, is reversed by the House of Lords, the House should not only reverse the decree appealed from, but decree that the marriage was null & void ab initio.—LEWIS (FALSELY CALLED HAYWARD) v. HAYWARD (1866), 35 L. J. P. & M. 105, H. L.; revsg. S. C. sub nom. L—— (FALSELY CALLED H——) v. H—— (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 115; subsequent proceedings, sub nom. L. (FALSELY CALLED H.) v. H. (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 293.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Cuno v. Cuno (1873), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 300. Refd. G. v. M. (1885), 10 App. Cas. 171; Napier v. Napier, [1915] P. 184.

(d) Non-Consummation after Triennial Cohabitation.

Non-consummation after lapse of reasonable time]—See Sub-sect. 2, D. (c), ante.

2383. Impotency presumed from.]—Sentence of nullity of marriage by reason of the impotency of the husband, pronounced, without the inspection of his person, there having been sufficient cohabitation to satisfy the expression triennial cohabitation within the meaning of the law.—SPARROW (FALSELY CALLED HARRISON) v. HARRISON (1841), 3 Curt. 16; 163 E. R. 638; affd. sub nom. HARRISON v. HARRISON (1842), 4 Moo. P. C. C. 96, P. C.

Annotations:—Consd. N——r (falsely called M——e) v. M——e (1853), 2 Rob. Eccl. 625; G. v. M. (1885), 53 L. T. 398; M. (otherwise D.) v. D. (1885), 10 P. D. 75. Refd. Handley v. Edwards (1844), 4 Moo. P. C. C. 407; Hall v. Wright (1858), E. B. & E. 765.

2384. ——.]—G. v. M. (1885), No. 3339, post.

2385. —— Quoad hanc or universal.]—ESSEX'S (COUNTESS) CASE (1613), 2 State Tr. 785; 1 Hargrave's State Tr. 307; 2 Dyer, 179 a; 73 E. R. 394.

Annotation:—Consd. C. (otherwise H.) v. C., [1921] P. 399.

2386. —— ——.]—(1) In a suit of nullity of marriage by reason of the husband's impotency the medical inspectors reported that his impotency was not apparent, but that he was impotent quoad his wife, with whom he had cohabited for two & a half years. The ct. pronounced for the nullity, & held that the general rule requiring three years cohabitation is not absolutely binding, when there has been an actual cohabitation sufficiently long to overcome, were the man potent, any temporary impediment to consummation.

(2) After a triennial cohabitation without consummation the law presumes impotency, though no defect be apparent; whether impotency quoad hanc, or universally, the law says nothing; & can say nothing. This rule is founded upon the principle that there should be a cohabitation of so long an endurance that, if the man were potent & in good health, no temporary impediment could have prevented consummation (DR. LUSHINGTON).—N——R (FALSELY CALLED M——E) v. M——E (1853), 2 Rob. Eccl. 625; 163 E. R. 1435; sub nom. A. (FALSELY CALLED B.) v. B., 1 Ecc. & Ad. 12; sub nom. ANON., 17 Jur. 628.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. G. v. M. (1885), 10 App. Cas. 171. As to (2) Consd. M—— (falsely called H——) v. H—— (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 517. Folld. C. (otherwise H.) v. C., [1921] P. 399. Generally, Refd. H—— (falsely called C——) v. C—— (1860), 1 Sw. & Tr. 605; Scott v. Scott, [1912] P. 241.

2387. Whether triennial cohabitation essential.]—In a suit for nullity of marriage, by reason of impotency, inspection refused because there had not been a triennial cohabitation.—ALESON v. ALESON (1728), 2 Lee, 576; 161 E. R. 445.

2388. —— In absence of proof of incapacity.]—In a suit for divorce by reason of impotency, it is necessary that there should be either a triennial cohabitation or proof that the party is absolutely incapable.—WELDE (alias ASTON) v. WELDE (1731), 2 Lee, 580; 161 E. R. 447.

Annotations:—Consd. N——r (falsely called M——e) v. M——e (1853), 2 Rob. Eccl. 625. Distd. U—— n (falsely called F——s) v. F—— s (1853), 2 Rob. Eccl. 614. Folld. S. (falsely called E.) v. E. (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 240. Refd. W. v. H. (falsely called W.) (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 73.

2389. —— ——.]—Nullity of marriage impotentiæ causa, not sustained, the medical certificate negativing the plea of malformation, & there not having been triennalis cohabitatio.—SCOTT (FALSELY CALLED JONES) v. JONES (1842), 2 Notes of Cases 36.

2390. —— ——.]—M—— (FALSELY CALLED H——) v. H—— (1864), No. 2395, post.

2391. —— ——.]—G. v. M. (1885), No. 3339, post.

2392. —— Cohabitation long enough to overcome impediment sufficient—Proof of impotence quoad hanc.]—N——R (FALSELY CALLED M——E) v. M——E (1853), No. 2386, ante.

2393. —— —— Impotent party going abroad—Genuine admissions of impotence.]—In a suit of nullity or marriage by reason of impotency, though the party complained of has not undergone an inspection, the rule, in respect of three years' cohabitation, is not absolutely binding; they have for a period of three years lived together in the same house & with ordinary opportunities of intercourse, & it is clearly proved there has been no consummation, then if that is the whole state of the evidence, inability on the part of the one or of the other will be presumed. On the other hand, the presumption to be drawn from the fact of non-consummation after three years' cohabitation is capable of being rebutted.—G. v. M. (1885), 10 App. Cas. 171; 12 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 36; 22 Sc. L. R. 461, H. L.—SCOT.

it may, under circumstances, be dispensed with. —U——N (FALSELY CALLED F——S) v. F——S (1853), 2 Rob. Eccl. 614 ; 163 E. R. 1432.

Annotation :—Consd. M—— (falsely called H——) v. H—— (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 517.

2394. —— Impotence plainly proved aliunde.]—When the ct. is satisfied by other evidence, e.g. that of petitioner herself, of the man's impotence, the rule of apparent virginity after cohabitation of three years does not apply. In the present case the man did not appear, & did not submit to the order for inspection ; the medical evidence was not conclusive as to the woman's virginity, but the ct., on her evidence on affidavit, took it to be proved, first, that the marriage was never consummated ; secondly, that this was owing to the impotence of the man ; thirdly, that the physical appearance of the woman was to be accounted for otherwise than by consummation ; & pronounced its decree of nullity of marriage.—F. (FALSELY CALLED D.) v. D. (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 86 ; 164 E. R. 1448 ; sub nom. D. (FALSELY CALLED F.) v. F., 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 66 ; 12 L. T. 84 ; 11 Jur. N. S. 307 ; 13 W. R. 546.

Annotations : Consd. Lewis v. Hayward (1866), 35 L. J. P. & M. 105 ; G. v. M. (1885), 10 App. Cas. 171 ; Dickinson v. Dickinson, [1913] P. 198.

(e) Rebuttal of Presumption.

2395. General rule.]—(1) In a suit of nullity of marriage on the ground of the impotence of the husband, if the marriage has not been consummated, & there is no visible defect in either party, impotence will not be presumed merely from ineffectual cohabitation, unless such cohabitation has lasted for three years. Cohabitation for two years & ten months in not sufficient.

(2) The presumption of impotence arising from ineffectual cohabitation may be rebutted by proof that the non-consummation of the marriage is due to another cause.—M—— (FALSELY CALLED H——) v. H—— (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 517 ; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 159 ; 10 L. T. 787 ; 13 W. R. 108 ; 164 E. R. 1376 ; sub nom. MARSHALL (FALSELY CALLED HAMILTON) v. HAMILTON, 10 Jur. N. S. 853 ; subsequent proceedings, 3 Sw. & Tr. 592.

Annotations :—As to (1) Apprvd. Lewis v. Hayward (1866), 35 L. J. P. & M. 105. Refd. T. v. M. (falsely called T.) (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 31 ; Dickinson v. Dickinson, [1913] P. 198. Generally, Mentd. Scott v. Scott, [1913] A. C. 417.

2396. — —.] —G. v. M. (1885), No. 3339, post.

E. Proof of Impotence.

2397. Sufficiency of—Petitioner's evidence unsupported—Physical appearance consistent with consummation—Cohabitation for eight years without complaint.]—T. (FALSELY CALLED D.) v. D. (1866), No. 3357, post.

2398. —— —— —— Cohabitation for two years without complaint.]—In a suit of nullity by reason of the husband's impotency, the surgical report stated that the physical appearances of the wife were such that she might have had regular connection with her husband during cohabitation. The wife during the two years' cohabitation, had not complained to her family on this matter, & had separated from her husband by reason of his alleged violence. Resp. affirmed on oath that the marriage had been consummated. The ct. declined to pronounce the marriage invalid on the unsupported oath of the party seeking to be relieved from its obligations.—U. (FALSELY CALLED J.) v. J. (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 460 ; 37 L. J. P. & M. 7 ; 16 W. R. 518.

Annotation :—Expld. C. (otherwise H.) v. C., [1921] P. 399.

2399. —— Statement by respondent—Absence of cohabitation—Refusal to submit to medical examination.]—Where there had been entire absence of cohabitation, incapacity to consummate on the part of the wife was found as a fact, on positive evidence arising from a statement made by herself, taken in conjunction with the general facts of the case & her refusal to submit to medical inspection.—W. v. S. (OTHERWISE W.), [1905] P. 231 ; 93 L. T. 456 ; sub nom. W. v. W., 74 L. J. P. 112.

Annotations :—Consd. Dickinson v. Dickinson, [1913] P. 198 : Napier v. Napier (1915), 84 L. J. P. 177.

2400. —— ——.]—The incapacity of a wife found as a fact on a statement made by herself. —P. v. P. (OTHERWISE G.) (1909) 25 T. L. R. 638.

2401. —— —— Petitioner not virgo intacta—Plea of seduction before marriage.]—In a wife's suit for nullity on the ground of her husband's impotence, it appeared that the wife, upon being medically examined, was found not to be virgo intacta. In her evidence she stated that she was seduced by another man before she married resp., & that that accounted for the medical report. Resp. did not appear to the suit, & when served with the petition said that he would not defend as he must admit the truth of the allegations contained in the petition. The ct. granted a decree nisi.—R. (OTHERWISE K.) v. R. (1907), 24 T. L. R. 65.

2402. Onus of proof—On complainant.]—CUNO v. CUNO, No. 3338, post.

2403. Where evidence insufficient—Decree suspended to allow further attempts.]—The woman petitioned for nullity by reason of the man's alleged impotency. The petition was opposed, & at the hearing, the ct., in the circumstances proved, suspended its decree, but now on affidavits to the effect that the woman had returned to cohabitation, & that the marriage remained unconsummated, made a decree of nullity, resp. not appearing on the motion.—M—— (FALSELY CALLED H——) v. H—— (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 592 ; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 12 ; 11 L. T. 317 ; 164 E. R. 1405 ; previous proceedings, 3 Sw. & Tr. 517.

Annotation :—Apld. T. v. M. (falsely called T.) (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 31.

2404. Admissibility of evidence—Statement to third parties.]—Where one of the parties to a suit for nullity of marriage has made a statement to a third person on the subject of his or her marital relations, that party may be asked whether he or she spoke to that person of the fact of his or her spouses objection to marital intercourse.—O'H. v. O'H. (OTHERWISE O.) (1916), 115 L. T. 791 ; 33 T. L. R. 51 ; 61 Sol. Jo. 100.

F. Persons of Advanced Age.

2405. Court may refuse to interfere.]—Nullity of marriage by reason of incurable impotence

PART XIII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 2.—D. (e).

a. Evidence not consistent with theory of impotency.]—Where a wife had refused during the five years of the marriage to allow her husband to have intercourse with her, & the evidence of the husband showed that the reasons given by the wife for her long-continued refusal were not consistent with the theory of impotency, decree of nullity was refused. No medical examination had been made, & the husband's evidence was the only evidence before the ct.—K. v. K., [1923] 3 W. W. R. 22 ; 3 D. L. R. 485.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 2.—F.

b. Woman fifty-four years of age.]—Circumstances in which the ct. pronounced decree of nullity of marriage on the ground of impotence on the part of the woman who was 54 years of age at the date of the marriage.—C. v. M. (1876), 3 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 693 ; 13 Sc. L. R. 463.—SCOT.

Sect. 3.—Voidable marriages: Sub-sect. 2, F. & G.; sub-sect. 3. Sects. 4 & 5: Sub-sect. 1, A., B. & C.] alleged against the wife, not sustained. The charge allowed to be repelled under the circumstances of age, etc. & by a denial, in the form of protestation, by affidavit.—BRIGGS v. MORGAN (1820), 2 Hag. Con. 324; 3 Phillim. 325; 161 E. R. 758.

Annotations:—Consd. W—— v. H—— (falsely called W——) (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 210; Dickinson v. Dickinson, [1913] P. 198. Refd. B——n v. B——n (1854), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 248; Castleden v. Castleden (1861), 9 H. L. Cas. 187; W. v. R. (1876), 1 P. D. 405. Mentd. Martin v. Mackonochie (1879), 4 Q. B. D. 697; Combe v. De La Bere (1881), 6 P. D. 157.

2406. ——.]—BROWN v. BROWN, No. 2332, ante.

2407. ——.]—W—— v. H—— (FALSELY CALLED W——) (1861), No. 4347, post.

G. Medical Examination.

See Sect. 10, sub-sect. 1, D., post.

SUB-SECT. 3.—MARRIAGE BY PERSONS UNDER AGE.

See Part II., Sect. 4, sub-sect. 2; Sect. 7, sub-sect. 5, ante.

SECT. 4.—JACTITATION OF MARRIAGE.

2408. Nature & object of suit.]—(1) This is a proceeding in a cause of jactitation of marriage, brought by Lord H. against a female, who, as he represents, had usurped the title & character of his wife, a proceeding not now very familiar to this ct., but which it is bound to receive, for the protection of persons against the extreme inconvenience of unjust claims & pretensions to a marriage, which has no existence whatever. If a person pretends such a marriage, & proclaims it to others, the law considers it as a malicious act, subjecting the party, against whom it is set up, to various disadvantages of fortune & reputation, & imposing upon the public, which, for many reasons, is interested in knowing the real state & condition of the individuals, who compose it, an untrue character; interfering in many possible consequences with the good order of society, as well as the rights of those who are entitled to its protection. It is, therefore, a fit subject of legal redress; & this redress is to be obtained, by charging the supposed offender, with having falsely & maliciously boasted of a matrimonial connection, & upon proof of the fact, obtaining a sentence, enjoining him, or her, to abstain in future from such false & injurious representations, & punishing the past offence by a condemnation in the costs of the proceeding.

(2) To a charge of jactitation three different defences may be opposed. It is obvious, that the fact of having made any such representations may be denied, in which case, if not proved, the accusation shares the common fate of other unfounded charges; or secondly, it may be admitted that such representations have been made, but that they are true; for that a marriage had actually passed, &, in such a way, as to give the party a right to claim the benefit of it. In that state of things, the proceeding assumes another shape, that of a suit of nullity, & of restitution of conjugal rights, on an inquiry into the fact & validity of such asserted marriage; & it will depend upon the result of that inquiry, whether the party has falsely pretended, or truly asserted such a marriage. In the former case, the ct. would pronounce a sentence of nullity, & enjoin silence in future. In the latter, the ct. would enjoin the accuser to return to matrimonial cohabitation, unless it could be shown, that some other reason was interposed to dissolve that obligation. A third defence, of more rare occurrence, is, that though no marriage has passed, yet the pretension was fully authorised by complainant, &, therefore, though the representation is false, yet it is not malicious, & cannot be complained of, as such, by the party who has denounced it (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—HAWKE (LORD) v. CORRI (1820), 2 Hag. Con. 280; 161 E. R. 743.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Thompson v. Rourke, [1892] P. 244; Thompson v. Rourke, [1893] P. 70; Cowley v. Cowley, [1900] P. 305. As to (2) Consd. Thompson v. Rourke, [1893] P. 70. Refd. Clowes v. Jones (1843), 3 Curt. 185. Generally, Mentd. R. v. Millis (1844), 10 Cl. & Fin. 534; Miles v. Chilton (1849), 6 Notes of Cases, 636.

2409. ——.]—Jactitation of marriage is an unwarrantable assertion that marriage exists, & it has been within the jurisdiction of this ct. for many years to intervene to put to silence the person making a false declaration of marriage. One answer to such a suit is that the party complaining has acquiesced in the statement; he cannot after such acquiescence put to silence a person who persists in representations which he has previously authorised (DUKE, P.).—GOLDSTONE v. GOLDSTONE (1922), 127 L. T. 32; sub nom. GOLDSTONE v. SMITH (OTHERWISE GOLDSTONE), 38 T. L. R. 403.

2410. When suit will lie—Petitioner convicted of bigamous marriage—With respondent to suit—Prohibition.]—If a man libel in the Spiritual Ct. pro jactitatione maritagii after he has been convicted of bigamy in marrying the woman against whom he libels, a prohibition shall go; for a conviction in a ct. of criminal jurisdiction is conclusive evidence of the fact.—BOYLE v. BOYLE (1688), 3 Mod. Rep. 164; Comb. 72; 87 E. R. 106.

Annotation:— Mentd. Crosby v. Leng (1810), 12 East, 409.

2411. Who can petition—One of parties to alleged marriage.]—A suit of jactitation of marriage can only be instituted by one of the parties to the pretended marriage.—Re CAMPBELL v. CORLEY, Ex p. CAMPBELL (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 60.

2412. —— Person misrepresented as married.]—ASCROFT v. TREVOR (OTHERWISE FOLEY) (1906), 50 Sol. Jo. 378.

2413. Defences to suit—Charge unfounded.]—HAWKE (LORD) v. CORRI, No. 2408, ante.

2414. —— Truth of representation.]—HAWKE (LORD) v. CORRI, No. 2408, ante.

2415. —— Representation authorised by plaintiff.]—HAWKE (LORD) v. CORRI, No. 2408, ante.

2416. —— ——.]—In a suit of jactitation of marriage brought by the supposed wife, the jury found that she had at a former period acquiesced in the representations of resp. that she was his wife:—Held: upon this finding the petition must be dismissed.—THOMPSON v. ROURKE, [1893] P. 70; 67 L. T. 788; 9 T. L. R. 123; 1 R. 501.

2417. —— ——.]—GOLDSTONE v. GOLDSTONE, No. 2409, ante.

2418. Onus of proof of marriage—On respondent.]—ASCROFT v. TREVOR (OTHERWISE FOLEY) (1906), 50 Sol. Jo. 378.

2419. Decree in favour of marriage—Where evidence sufficient.]—WALTON v. RIDER (1752), 1 Lee, 16; 161 E. R. 7.

2420. —— Woman admitted to suppletory oath.]—In a suit for jactitation of marriage, the woman admitted to her suppletory oath; the marriage, which had taken place in Scotland, established.—WESCOMBE v. DODS (1752), 1 Lee, 59; 161 E. R. 23.

Annotation:—Refd. Clowes v. Jones (1843), 3 Curt. 185.

2421. Whether sentence of court conclusive—Subsequent proceedings for procuring articles of peace to be exhibited.]—CLEWS v. BATHURST (1734), 2 Stra. 960; 93 E. R. 968; sub nom. CLUES v. BATHURST, Lee temp. Hard. 11.

2422. —— Subsequent indictment for polygamy.]—KINGSTON'S (DUCHESS) CASE, No. 6080, post.

Conclusiveness of judgments of Ecclesiastical Courts—In matrimonial suits.]—See ESTOPPEL, Vol. XXI., p. 237, Nos. 665–672.

r. 5.—MATRIMONIAL OFFENCES AND REMEDIES THEREFOR.

SUB-SECT. 1.—FAILURE TO RENDER CONJUGAL RIGHTS—RESTITUTION.

A. In General.

Discretionary bars to relief, see Sect. 7, sub-sect. 4, post.

2423. Discretion of court to refuse relief—Effect of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 5.]—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL, No. 2960, post.

2424. —— Suit brought for collateral purpose.]—(1) The ct. has no discretionary power to refuse a decree in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights on the ground that the suit was instituted by petitioner, not in order that he might regain the society of his wife, but for some collateral object.

Unless resp. to a petition for restitution of conjugal rights can establish a legal defence to the petition, the petitioner will be entitled to a decree & the ct. has no discretion to inquire into the sincerity of the petitioner in bringing the suit.

(2) Petitioner in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights is entitled to a decree unless he is proved to have committed a matrimonial offence which would be ground for a judicial separation.

(3) In a suit for restitution of conjugal rights the ct. has no jurisdiction to make a decree until the marriage has been formally proved, although resp. may have filed an answer not taking issue on the marriage.—SCOTT v. SCOTT (1864), 4 Sw. & Tr. 113; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 23; 12 L. T. 211; 164 E. R. 1458.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395. As to (2) Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1895] P. 315; Harnett v. Harnett, [1924] P. 41. Refd. Weldon v. Weldon (1883), 9 P. D. 52.

2425. —— Matrimonial offence committed by petitioner.]—SCOTT v. SCOTT, No. 2421, ante.

2426. No matrimonial offence committed by petitioner.]—GREENE v. GREENE, No. 2465, 2427. Decree for restitution—Not appropriate remedy for desertion.]—DRYSDALE v. DRYSDALE, DRYSDALE v. DRYSDALE, CORBET & GANE, No. 4032, post.

2428. —— Compliance—Wife provided with suitable establishment & income.]—A decree for restitution of conjugal rights implies that the parties are to live together under the same roof.

It is not a sufficient compliance by a husband with a decree for restitution of conjugal rights that he has provided his wife with a suitable establishment & sufficient income.—WELDON v. WELDON (1883), 9 P. D. 52; 53 L. J. P. 9; 32 W. R. 231; subsequent proceedings (1885), 54 L. J. P. 60, C. A.

Annotation:—Distd. Wily v. Wily, [1918] P. 1.

2429. When relief granted—Husband refusing to live with wife—Inadequate allowance.]—Restitution of conjugal rights decreed where the husband refused to live with his wife & only made her an allowance which was inadequate.—WINKWORTH v. WINKWORTH (1908), 25 T. L. R. 54.

2430. Effect of dismissal of previous nullity proceedings.]—RANKINE v. RANKINE (1922), 38 T. L. R. 852.

B. Persons Entitled to seek Relief.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 186.

2431. Not parties cohabiting.]—The Ecclesiastical Ct. can only interfere in the way of restitution where matrimonial cohabitation is suspended. The single duty which it can enforce by its decree in a suit of this nature, is that of married persons living together; it cannot attempt to enforce any, in super-addition to this. Hence, it is incompetent to the wife to sue the husband, or the husband the wife, for restitution of conjugal rights pending cohabitation.—ORME v. ORME (1824), 2 Add. 382; 162 E. R. 335.

Annotations:—Consd. Rowe v. Rowe (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 162. Apld. Jackson v. Jackson, [1921] P. 17. Refd. Wily v. Wily, [1918] P. 1.

Persons domiciled or resident within jurisdiction.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., p. 427, Nos. 921–923.

C. Proof of Marriage.

Presumption & proof of marriage generally.]—See Part II., Sects. 11, 12, ante.

2432. Insufficient in itself—Evidence of facts of case essential.]—(1) A decree will not be granted in an undefended suit for restitution of conjugal rights, upon mere proof of the marriage, evidence of other facts of the case must be given.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—A.

2424 i. Discretion of court to refuse relief—Suit brought for collateral purpose.]—The ct. may, unrestrictedly, give or refuse relief upon wide principles of justice & equity, having regard to the matrimonial state & its obligations & the relationship & conduct of both parties; the ground of the claim being withdrawal of cohabitation without lawful excuse, & the answers to such claim being adultery, cruelty, or sufficient cause for non-cohabitation.

The ct. should not refuse a judgment for restitution of conjugal rights merely because pltf.'s motive is, not the desire to live with her husband, but to have the children.—O'LEARY v. O'LEARY, [1923] 1 W. W. R. 501.—CAN.

c. When relief granted.]—The refusal of a wife to return to her husband & allow him the exercise of conjugal rights constitutes a continuing wrong giving rise to constantly recurring causes of action on demand & refusal.—BAI SARU v. SANKLA HIRACHAND (1892), I. L. R. 16 Bom. 714.—IND.

d. ——.]—Cohabitation, in a legal sense, is not put an end to by the mere fact that the parties, of necessity, have to live in different places. All that is necessary to be ascertained before granting a decree of restitution of conjugal rites is proof of a settled determination on the part of one of the spouses to put an end to the existing state of cohabitation.—CASTLE v. CASTLE (1918), 39 N. L. R. 306.—S. AF.

e. Whether refusal to return necessary—To found action.]—Where a husband sued to recover possession of his wife, making the wife herself deft. to the suit:—Held: it was in substance a suit for the restitution of conjugal rights, & art. 35 of Limitation Act, XV. of 1877, applied. The demand & refusal, which form the starting point for limitation under art. 35 are a demand by the husband & refusal by the wife, or vice versâ, being of full age. A positive refusal on the part of the wife to return to her husband is not essential to the husband's cause of action.—FAKIRGAUDA v. GANGI (1898), I. L. R. 23 Bom. 307.—IND.

f. Parties living together.]—Held: refusing a decree for restitution, the ct. acting on the principles & rules upon which the Ecclesiastical Cts. of England acted, could only interfere by way of restitution where matrimonial cohabitation was suspended, & the simple duty which it could enforce by its decree in a suit for restitution was that of married parties "living together" & it could not attempt to enforce any super-addition to this.—TEW v. TEW, N. Z. L. R. 113.—N.Z.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 1, C., D., E. & F. (a).]

(2) Where at the time of pronouncing a decree of restitution of conjugal rights, resp. was abroad, the ct. directed that the decree should be served on resp.'s return to England, & that it should require him to certify within a fortnight after such service that he had obeyed it.—PEARSON v. PEARSON (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 156.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Field v. Field (1888), 59 L. T. 880. As to (2) Expld. Dicks v. Dicks, [1899] P. 275. Refd. De Gasquet James v. Mecklenburg Schwerin, [1914] P. 53.

2433. Necessity for.]—SCOTT v. SCOTT, No. 2424, ante.

2434. Effect of proof of validity of marriage—In previous suit of similar nature—Between same parties.]—In a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, the validity of the marriage in Jamaica having been proved in a previous suit of a similar nature between the same parties, further proof of its validity was not required.—VERNEY v. VERNEY (1920), 36 T. L. R. 203.

Whether fresh proof of marriage required—In subsequent petition for dissolution.]—See No. 4377, post.

In other matrimonial causes.]—See Sect. 11, sub-sect. 2, post.

In actions against husband for ante-nuptial obligations of wife.]—See Part VII., Sect. 1, sub-sect. 3, ante.

D. Written Demand for Return to Cohabitation.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1925, r. 3.

2435. Necessity for.]—Re TUCKER, No. 2448, post.

2436. Nature of—Must be conciliatory.]—(1) In a suit for restitution of conjugal rights the "written demand for cohabitation & restitution of conjugal rights," referred to in rule 175, need not necessarily be made by petitioner, but may be made by a solr. on behalf of petitioner.

(2) A wife cannot take proceedings for the restitution of conjugal rights until she has used reasonable means to induce her husband to take her back, & although the written demand to be made before the filing of the petition need not be in any particular form, it must be of a conciliatory character. Where therefore a formal letter was written by the petitioner's solr. on her behalf, demanding restitution with a threat of legal proceedings in default, & it did not appear that there had been any previous friendly communications upon the subject between the parties:—Held: such letter was not a proper written demand within rule 175.—FIELD v. FIELD (1888), 14 P. D. 26; 58 L. J. P. 21; 59 L. T. 880; 37 W. R. 134; 5 T. L. R. 81, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Smith v. Smith (1890), 15 P. D. 47. Consd. Neumann v. Neumann (1913), 108 L. T. 48. Refd. Mason v. Mason (1889), 61 L. T. 304; Naylor v. Naylor (1920), 122 L. T. 801.

2437. ——— ———.]—The preliminary letter, which must be sent by petitioner to resp. demanding a resumption of cohabitation before a suit for restitution of conjugal rights can be ascertained, must be of a friendly character, & not a hostile demand. It is not to be expected that a letter written under such circumstances should be of an affectionate nature, &, provided the request is clear, the ct. will not inquire too closely into the peremptory character of the precise words which were used.—ELLIOTT v. ELLIOTT (1901), 85 L. T. 648.

Annotation:—Refd. Naylor v. Naylor (1920), 122 L. T. 801.

2438. ——— ———.]—The "written demand" in accordance with rule 175 should be conciliatory in tone & devoid of any threat; the spirit & not the letter of the rule should be observed.—NEUMANN v. NEUMANN (1913), 108 L. T. 48; 29 T. L. R. 213; 57 Sol. Jo. 228.

Annotation:—Refd. Naylor v. Naylor (1920), 122 L. T. 801.

2439. ——— ———.]—It is desirable that a letter relied on as the demand required by the rule should be of a conciliatory & not of a minatory character, but it need not be affectionate, & the ct. will, in judging of its propriety, take into consideration the circumstances under which it was written & the nature of resp.'s reply.—NAYLOR v. NAYLOR (1920), 122 L. T. 801; 36 T. L. R. 244; 64 Sol. Jo. 257.

2440. By whom made—Petitioner's solicitors—Not necessarily by petitioner.]—FIELD v. FIELD, No. 2436, ante.

2441. Sufficiency of—Letter threatening legal proceedings in default—By solicitors—No previous friendly communication.]—FIELD v. FIELD, No. 2436, ante.

2442. ——— ——— ——— Previous friendly applications.]—Upon the hearing of a suit for restitution of conjugal rights instituted by a wife, where, prior to the institution of any proceedings, friendly & conciliatory applications had been made by petitioner to her husband, & a letter had been subsequently written by her solrs., asking resp. to take his wife back, & threatening proceedings in case of his refusal; & that letter followed by a formal peremptory demand in writing, by the wife, upon his non-compliance with those requests for cohabitation:—Held: (1) taken together, these demands for cohabitation constituted a sufficient compliance with the statute & rule 175; (2) evidence of alleged incontinence on the part of petitioner, before marriage, with the view of showing that her child, born after marriage, was not resp.'s child, was inadmissible, on the ground of irrelevance to this issue; & the ct. also refused to consider, on the hearing of the petition for restitution of conjugal rights, any question as to the amount of allowance which resp. should be ordered to pay to his wife, in the event of a decree for restitution being pronounced, & of his refusing to comply therewith.—MASON v. MASON (1889), 61 L. T. 304.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Naylor v. Naylor (1920), 122 L. T. 801.

2443. ——— ——— By petitioner—Refusal after admitting receipt.]—In a petition by a wife for restitution of conjugal rights it appeared that after eleven years' separation, & before filing the petition, she addressed a letter to her husband expressing a desire to return to cohabitation, & demanding restitution of conjugal rights, & threatening to commence legal proceedings in case of refusal. The husband acknowledged the receipt of his wife's letter, but refused to receive her back:—Held: the wife's letter was a sufficient written demand within rule 175 of the additional

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—D.

2435 i. Necessity for.]—Unless very special circumstances exist, it should be a condition precedent to the right of a petitioner to institute a suit for the restitution of conjugal rights against a resp. that a demand for the resumption of cohabitation, couched in conciliatory terms, be made & be refused or ignored by resp.:—Held: such special circumstances did exist where resp. had for three years lived away from his wife, though within a few miles of her, & had in that time contributed nothing to her support, & had not since the made any offer after the had been he had refused HARRISON v. H, N. Z. L. R. 230.— of the writ & where, a demand to return, which comply with.— (1906), 26

& Regulations, 1875, & she was entitled to a decree for restitution of conjugal rights.—SMITH v. SMITH (1890), 15 P. D. 47 ; 59 L. J. P. 9 ; 62 L. T. 237 ; 38 W. R. 276 ; 6 T. L. R. 159, C. A.

Annotations :—Consd. Neumann v. Neumann (1913), 108 L. T. 48 ; Naylor v. Naylor (1920), 122 L. T. 801. Refd. Elliott v. Elliott (1901), 85 L. T. 648.

2444. Service of—Whether personal service essential—Power to order substituted service.]—PALMER v. PALMER, Re THOMASSON'S PETITION, No. 4767, post.

2445. —— —— Respondent out of the jurisdiction—Service on solicitor.]—In a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, where resp. was shown to be living out of the jurisdiction, & her address could not be obtained from any of her friends, the ct. dispensed with the rule 175, requiring personal service of the written demand requiring the resp. to return to cohabitation, & allowed it to be served on her solr.—WATERS v. WATERS (1875), 34 L. T. 33 ; 24 W. R. 190.

2446. —— —— Respondent evading suit—Service on father.]—Where there was reason to believe that the husband was keeping out of the way to avoid a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, the ct. allowed the written demand required by rule 175 to be served on his father, coupled with the requirement that it should be advertised.—Re SHEEHY (1876), 1 P. D. 423 ; sub nom. O'SHEEHY v. O'SHEEHY, 34 L. T. 367.

Annotation :—Refd. Palmer v. Palmer (1921), 125 L. T. 861.

2447. —— —— Inability to ascertain respondent's whereabouts—Service on solicitor.]—Where, in a suit for restitution, petitioner, being unable to ascertain the whereabouts of resp., applied for substituted service of, first, the written demand for cohabitation necessary to satisfy rule 175 ; secondly, the citation ; &, thirdly, the petition :—Held : the demand to return to cohabitation might be served on resp.'s solr., but the citation & petition must be made the subject of a further application.—MACARTHUR v. MACARTHUR (1889), 58 L. J. P. 70 ; sub nom. Re MCARTHUR'S PETITION, 61 L. T. 308.

2448. —— —— Registered letters returned unopened—Respondent out of the jurisdiction.]—Where the intended resp. in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights had left the country, & letters addressed to him by his wife at his last known residence & place of business respectively, & containing a written demand for cohabitation, had been returned through his solrs., who declined to furnish her with her husband's address, the ct. allowed substituted service of the demand for cohabitation required by rule 175 to be made on the husband's solrs.

Before a citation in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights is permitted to issue, the ct. must be satisfied by affidavit that a written demand for cohabitation & restitution of conjugal rights has previously been made by petitioner on the party to be cited.—Re TUCKER, [1897] P. 83 ; 66 L. J. P. 65 ; 77 L. T. 140 ; 45 W. R. 656.

2449. —— Service by post—Necessity for registration.]—BARRY v. BARRY (1902), 46 Sol. Jo. 500.

2450. Service out of the jurisdiction—Whether court has power to order.]—BATEMAN v. BATEMAN, No. 3870, post.

2451. Affidavit of service—Recital of form of demand—Annexing copy of demand.]—DAINES v. DAINES (1888), 5 T. L. R. 4.

E. Sincerity of Petitioner.

2452. Necessity for.]—Where a husband & wife are living apart under a deed of separation, & the wife, having unsuccessfully endeavoured to induce her husband to resume cohabitation, presents a petition for restitution of conjugal rights, & there is evidence that she sincerely desires the return of her husband, the existence of the separation deed & the fact that she may have it in her mind if he disobeys the decree, to take subsequent proceedings for a divorce, constitute no bar to her right to a decree for restitution.

The question whether the existence of the deed of separation constitutes a bar against the granting of a decree for restitution has often been discussed, & in the Ecclesiastical Cts. it was not treated as a bar. Sect. 22 of the Act of 1857 [Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85)] provides for the grant of a decree for the restitution of conjugal rights upon the principles of the Ecclesiastical Cts., & that being so, the law must be considered as it was before Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 [(c. 85)]. . . . The husband did not appear, nor set up the deed. The wife appeared & revealed it, & said that she had been coerced into signing it & had made an appeal to the husband to return to her. Under these circumstances, if the ct. is satisfied of the good faith on her part & that there is evidence that she is really desirous that her husband should return to her, I think she is entitled to the decree for which she asks (DUKE, P.).—PALMER v. PALMER, [1923] P. 180 ; 92 L. J. P. 129 ; 129 L. T. 665 ; 39 T. L. R. 609 ; 67 Sol. Jo. 748, C. A.

Annotation :—Folld. Harnett v. Harnett, [1924] P. 126.

2453. ——.]—HARNETT v. HARNETT, No. 2462, post.

2454. Where sincerity proved—Intention to apply for divorce on disobedience to decree—No disqualification.]—PALMER v. PALMER, No. 2152, ante.

F. Defences.

(a) In General.

2455. Respondent must establish legal defence—Sincerity of petitioner.]—SCOTT v. SCOTT, No. 2421, ante.

2456. Facts amounting to neither cruelty nor adultery.]—An allegation responsive to the libel in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights admitted to proof, although the facts pleaded amounted to a charge of neither cruelty nor adultery against the party by whom a sentence of restitution was prayed.—MOLONY v. MOLONY (1824), 2 Add. 249 162 E. R. 285.

Annotations :—Expld. Connelly v. Connelly (1850), 2 Rob. Eccl. 201. Consd. Sopwith v. Sopwith (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 160. Refd. Connelly v. Connelly (1851), 7 Moo. P. C. C. 438.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—E.

2452 i. Necessity for.]—The ct. should not refuse a judgment for restitution of conjugal rights merely because pltf.'s motive is, not the desire to live with her husband, but to have the children.—O'LEARY v. O'LEARY, [1923] 1 W. W. R. 501.—CAN.

2454 i. Where sincerity proved—Intention to apply for divorce on disobedience to decree—No disqualification.]—An essential condition in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights is the sincerity or good faith of petitioner, that is to say, a sincere desire on his or her part for the return of the absent spouse & the resumption of normal matrimonial relations. If the true object of petitioner is the ulterior purpose of obtaining a divorce in consequence of the other spouse's disobedience to the decree, the application for restitution is not made in good faith & will be dismissed. The ct. will not, however, attribute to a petitioner who is in truth genuinely ready & willing to do his or her duty if the other does return, a want of good faith merely because he or she contemplates or intends consequential proceedings in divorce in the event of the other's refusal to obey the decree.—MORRIS v. MORRIS, N. Z. L. R. 1101.—N.Z.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 1, F. (a) & (b).]

2457. Facts entitling respondent to decree of judicial separation.]—A plea in bar to a suit for restitution of conjugal rights is bad, unless it set forth matter sufficient to entitle resp. to a decree of judicial separation. A plea that resp. had reasonable suspicion that petitioner had committed adultery, is bad.—BURROUGHS v. BURROUGHS (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 303; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 186; 4 L. T. 374; 7 Jur. N. S. 610; 9 W. R. 680; 164 E. R. 1012.

Annotation:—Refd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395.

2458. Petitioner guilty of impropriety—Not amounting to matrimonial offence.]—RIPPINGALL v. RIPPINGALL & DELACOUR, RIPPINGALL v. RIPPINGALL, No. 2468, post.

2459. Petitioner's refusal of conjugal intercourse.]—RIPPINGALL v. RIPPINGALL & DELACOUR, RIPPINGALL v. RIPPINGALL, No. 2468, post.

2460. Offer of matrimonial cohabitation—Not mere cohabitation.]—An offer by a husband to live under the same roof with his wife, each party being free from molestation by the other, is not an offer of matrimonial cohabitation & is no defence to a suit for restitution of conjugal rights.—WILY v. WILY, [1918] P. 1; 87 L. J. P. 31; 117 L. T. 703; 34 T. L. R. 33; 62 Sol. Jo. 55.

Annotation:—Refd. Jackson v. Jackson, [1924] P. 19.

2461. —— —— Return pending proceedings.]—After the wife had filed a petition for restitution of conjugal rights in consequence of her husband having left her, he returned to her & occupied the same bed with her for eighteen days, but refused marital intercourse or to associate with her, & he also kept on an establishment of his own. He stated to his wife that he only returned to her to avoid the publicity of the proceedings for restitution, & never intended to live with her as her husband. He then left her again, & stated the above again in a letter which he left for her:—Held: there was no genuine attempt or intention on the part of the husband to return to his wife, & a decree was pronounced on the wife's petition.—WEBSTER v. WEBSTER (1922), 66 Sol. Jo. 486.

2462. Effect of Divorce Rules, r. 175—Upon former doctrine of Ecclesiastical Courts.]—(1) The former doctrine of the Ecclesiastical Cts. that there was no defence to a suit for restitution of conjugal rights but a matrimonial offence by petitioner, is now, having regard to above rule, no longer law.

(2) It is essential to the success of a petition for restitution of conjugal rights that petitioner should prove that he or she has a sincere desire for a real restitution of those rights & a corresponding willingness to render them to the other spouse.—HARNETT v. HARNETT, [1924] P. 126; 93 L. J. P. 49; 131 L. T. 4; 40 T. L. R. 269; 68 Sol. Jo. 366, C. A.

(b) Justifiable Withdrawal from Cohabitation.

2463. General rule.]—By the law of this country, married persons are bound to live together; & if either withdraws without lawful cause, the other may, by suit in the Ecclesiastical Ct., compel the party withdrawing to return to cohabitation. The only lawful cause for withdrawing is the cruelty or adultery of the other party; for this ct. can take no cognisance of disputes about property or mutual agreements to live separate. To amount to cruelty there must be personal violence, or manifest danger of it; for unkindness & reproachful language on the one side, or vain & unfounded fear on the other, do not constitute any case of cruelty which the law can notice. It need scarcely be added, that it is not sufficient to allege & charge cruelty; it must be judicially established by evidence (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—BARLEE v. BARLEE (1822), 1 Add. 301; 162 E. R. 105.

Annotation:—Refd. Weldon v. Weldon (1883), 9 P. D. 52.

2464. ——.]—(1) Suits for restitution of conjugal rights by the husband against the wife, in reply to which the wife pleaded adultery, cruelty & unnatural practices upon herself, on the part of the husband, & prayed a separation on the three grounds:—Held: adultery alone was proved, & sentence of separation accordingly.

(2) I have stated that the law admits, generally speaking, of no excuse to married parties from withdrawing from mutual cohabitation, but cruelty, adultery, or the particular offence [unnatural offence] alleged in this case (SIR H. JENNER FUST).

(3) The principle laid down in all the cases which have been referred to is, that everything which tends to bodily hurt or peril, is a sufficient ground for the interposition of the ct. Many acts are not required; one is sufficient, if it be likely to occur again; & it is not necessary that the wife should be entirely without blame; a reasonable apprehension of personal violence is sufficient, & words of menace, creating an apprehension of bodily harm or injury, will be sufficient . . . & it is not necessary in all cases to prove actual personal violence (SIR H. JENNER FUST).

(4) I am of opinion . . . that there is proof of an act of legal cruelty by the husband; & undoubtedly the ct. would have been in a situation to pronounce a sentence of separation on the ground of cruelty if the parties had ceased to cohabit at that time. But they cohabited for six months afterwards, for it was not until Sept. 1845, that they separated, & not on the ground of an act of violence of this description, but on another ground; & the question arises whether anything occurred to revive the cruelty thus condoned (SIR H. JENNER FUST).

I pronounce that the husband has been guilty of the crime of adultery, & that, on that ground, the wife is entitled to a sentence of separation (SIR H. JENNER FUST).—GEILS v. GEILS (1848), 6

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—F. (a).

2457 i. Facts entitling respondent to decree of judicial separation.]—Conduct in order to amount to an answer to a petition for restitution of conjugal rights must be such as would entitle resp. to a decree of judicial separation.—BUSCH v. BUSCH (1911), 31 N. Z. L. R. 503.—N.Z.

g. Separation order.]—An order under "Married Persons Summary Separation Act, 1896," that applt. be no longer bound to cohabit with her husband, is while in force a statutory authority to the wife, should she so desire, to refuse to cohabit with her husband or to render him conjugal rights. Such order while in force is a bar to a suit by the husband for restitution of conjugal rights.—SIBBALD v. SIBBALD (1906), 26 N. Z. L. R. 135. N.Z.

h. Apprehension of bodily injury.]—In the circumstances the inference was legitimate that deft. would have a reasonable apprehension of bodily injury if she returned to her husband, & the ct. refused pltf. a decree of restitution.—BABU v. MUSAMMAT KOKLA (1923), I. L. R. 46 All. 210.—IND.

k. Apprehension of danger to health.]—Under the Indian law cruelty in the legal sense need not necessarily be physical violence. A course of conduct which, if persisted in, would undermine the health of the wife, is a sufficient justification for refusing to the husband a decree for restitution of conjugal rights.—KONDAL, ETC. v. RANGANAYAKI AMMAL (1923) I. L. R.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—F. (b).

l. Impossibility of sexual intercourse.]—A plea by a wife that sexual intercourse with her is impossible

Notes of Cases, 97 ; subsequent proceedings (1851), 3 H. L. Cas. 280, H. L.

2465. ——.]—The ct. has discretion to refuse relief to a petitioner seeking a decree of restitution of conjugal rights, even in the absence of a matrimonial offence on the part of the petitioner. The question for decision is whether resp. had reasonable cause for leaving petitioner, & the test is whether it has become practically impossible for the spouses to live together. A wife may develop habits of intemperance & may exhibit jealousy of her husband & frivolity of conduct, & these facts may constitute no reasonable grounds for the husband deserting his wife.—GREENE v. GREENE, [1916] P. 188 ; 85 L. J. P. 224 ; 115 L. T. 127 ; 32 T. L. R. 520 ; 60 Sol. Jo. 620.

Annotation :—Distd. Fisk v. Fisk (1920), 122 L. T. 803.

Adultery of petitioner—Discretionary bar to relief.]—See Part XIII., Sect 7, sub-sect 4, D. (c). post.

Cruelty of petitioner— Discretionary bar to relief.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 7, sub-sect. 4, E. (d), post.

2466. Commission of unnatural offence.]—GEILS v. GEILS, No. 2464, ante.

2467. Frivolous or improper conduct—Antenuptial.]—PERRIN v. PERRIN, No. 2806, post.

2468. —— Not amounting to matrimonial offence.]—It is no ground for dismissing a wife's suit for restitution of conjugal rights that she has been guilty of impropriety of behaviour not amounting to a matrimonial offence, nor yet that she has previously refused to permit conjugal intercourse.—RIPPINGALL v. RIPPINGALL & DELACOUR, RIPPINGALL v. RIPPINGALL (1876), 24 W. R. 967.

Annotations :—Consd. Synge v. Synge, [1900] P. 180. Refd. Russell v. Russell, [1895] P. 315 ; Russell v. Russell, [1924] A. C. 687.

2469. —— ——.]—In a suit by a wife for restitution of conjugal rights, where the husband alleged that the wife's conduct, though she had not been guilty of adultery, had been such as to disentitle her to a decree, the ct. declined, on a consideration of all the circumstances, to exercise its discretion by refusing to grant a decree.—FLETCHER v. FLETCHER (HOBSON CITED), FLETCHER v. FLETCHER & HOBSON (1915), 31 T. L. R. 306.

2470. ——.]—GREENE v. GREENE, No. 2465, ante.

2471. Inability to maintain petitioner.]—GREEN v. GREEN, No. 3563, post.

2472. Pre-nuptial incontinence of petitioner.]—MASON v. MASON, No. 2442, ante.

2473. Intemperance.]—BUTLAND v. BUTLAND, No. 3604, post.

2474. —— Bordering on delirium tremens.]—(1) A wife petitioned for a decree of restitution of conjugal rights, & her husband pleaded in reply that she had been addicted to drink for a long period, had become dangerous to herself & others, & had on one occasion been in a condition bordering on delirium tremens. Upon the evidence :—Held : the husband had "just cause" for withdrawing from cohabitation, though such evidence was not enough to entitle him to a decree of judicial separation.

(2) In a suit for restitution of conjugal rights the ct. will decline to make the usual order for wife's costs where the grounds of the litigation are altogether unreasonable.—BEER v. BEER (1906), 94 L. T. 704 ; 54 W. R. 564 ; 22 T. L. R. 338, 367.

Annotations :—As to (1) Distd. Greene v. Greene, [1916] P. 188. Refd. Fisk v. Fisk (1920), 122 L. T. 803.

2475. —— Habitual.]—GREENE v. GREENE, No. 2465, ante.

2476. —— —— Danger to husband & children.]—Habitual drunkenness making a wife dangerous to her husband & children is legal ground for refusing her a decree of restitution of conjugal rights.—FISK v. FISK (1920), 122 L. T. 803 ; 36 T. L. R. 248.

2477. Jealousy.]—GREENE v. GREENE, No. 2465,

2478. Marriage induced by false representation.]—GREEN v. GREEN, No. 3563, post.

2479. Neglect of domestic duties.]—In a suit by the wife for restitution of conjugal rights, the husband, in his answer, pleaded that during cohabitation the wife had neglected & refused to discharge her domestic duties, & had endeavoured to provoke him to strike her ; also that the separation had occurred by mutual consent :—Held : on motion to strike out these paragraphs as irrelevant, they were material to the issue, and ought not to be struck out.—WOODEY v. WOODEY (1874), 31 L. T. 647 ; 23 W. R. 386.

Annotation :—Refd. Russell v. Russell, [1895] P. 315.

2480. Petitioner leaving home—Inability to agree with stepchildren.]—By Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 5, "If the respondent shall fail to comply with a decree of the Court for restitution of conjugal rights, such respondent shall thereupon be deemed to have been guilty of desertion without reasonable cause, & a suit for judicial separation may be forthwith instituted, & a sentence of judicial separation may be pronounced, although the period of two years may not have elapsed since the failure to comply with the decree for restitution of conjugal rights."

In a suit for restitution of conjugal rights brought by a second wife, it appeared that differences had arisen between her & her husband, due to her inability to agree with her step-children, his daughters by the former marriage, & that she had in consequence left her home, & her husband had refused to receiver her back :—Held : on consideration of the evidence, the wife had done nothing to disentitle her to maintain a suit for desertion without reasonable cause, within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 5, as interpreted in Russell v. Russell, No. 4671, post, she was therefore entitled to a decree for restitution of conjugal rights.—OLDROYD v. OLDROYD, [1896] P. 175 ; 65 L. J. P. 113 ; 75 L. T. 281 ; 12 T. L. R. 442.

Annotations : Consd. Beer v. Beer (1906), 94 L. T. 704. Refd. Synge v. Synge, [1901] P. 317 ; Frowd v. Frowd, [1904] P. 177 ; Greene v. Greene, [1916] P. 188.

2481. Physical violence.]—BUTLAND v. BUTLAND, No. 3604, post.

2482. Refusal to permit conjugal intercourse.]—RIPPINGALL v. RIPPINGALL & DELACOUR, RIPPINGALL v. RIPPINGALL, No. 2468, ante.

2483. —— Without just cause.]—The rights of husband & wife as to marital intercourse are mutual, & either party refusing such intercourse without sufficient reason gives just cause to the other for withdrawal from cohabitation. The ct. will therefore, in its discretion, regard such a refusal as a valid defence to a wife's petition for restitution of conjugal rights.—DAVIS v. DAVIS, [1918] P. 85 ; 87 L. J. P. 53 ; 118 L. T. 649 ; 62 Sol. Jo. 384.

Annotation :—Refd. Fisk v. Fisk (1920), 122 L. T. 803.

2484. —— Cohabitation not rendered impossible by.]— A husband & his wife parted, & the husband then filed a petition for nullity of marriage on the ground that the wife was incapable of consummating it, & that by reason of such refusal it was impossible for him to live with her. The wife by her answer alleged that the husband was incapable & she prayed for a decree of nullity. The judge dismissed the petition & the prayer of the answer. Subsequently the wife asked her husband to receive her back as his wife, &, on his refusal, she filed a petition for restitution of conjugal rights. The husband alleged that his wife was not in truth ready to return to cohabitation:—Held: though the ct. would not grant a decree for restitution of conjugal rights to petitioner if she was not ready to return to cohabitation, yet on the facts there had been no such wilful refusal of marital intercourse by the wife as to make it impossible for her husband to live with her, & the husband ought not to have taken nullity proceedings, & therefore he had no reasonable excuse for withdrawal from cohabitation, & there would be a decree for restitution of conjugal rights.—PARKES v. PARKES (1923). 40 T. L. R. 42.

owing to her incurable disease or physical malformation is not in itself a good defence to a suit by the husband for restitution of conjugal rights.—PURSHOTAMDAS MANEKLAL v. BAIMANI (1896), I. L. R. 21 Bom. 610.—IND.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 1, F. (b), (c) & (d).]

(c) Separation by Mutual Consent.

Covenant not to sue, see Sub-sect. 2, F. (d), post.
Contracts for separation, generally, see Part XI., ante.

2485. Whether restitution suit barred by—Agreement to live separate.]—An agreement between husband & wife to live separate is no bar to a suit for restitution of conjugal rights.—SPERING v. SPERING (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 211; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 116; 9 L. T. 24; 11 W. R. 810; 164 E. R. 1255.

Annotation:—Refd. Williams v. Williams, [1921] P. 131.

2486. —— ——.]—LACEY v. LACEY, [1919] W. N. 304.

2487. —— ——.]—The ct. granted to a wife a decree for restitution of conjugal rights in an undefended suit, although the parties had been living apart under a deed of separation.—PUGH v. PUGH (1920), 37 T. L. R. 105.

2488. —— Refusal to cohabit from date of deed.]—ANQUEZ v. ANQUEZ, No. 4021, post.

2489. —— ——.]—(1) A husband & wife executed a deed of separation, which provided for payment by the husband of an allowance of £100 a year for the maintenance of their child, & abandonment by him of all control & supervision over the child. The allowance was paid only for half a year:—Held: though the terms of the deed might be such as to make it invalid in a ct. of equity, the separation was voluntary, & the breach of his contract by the husband could not by relation back make it involuntary. The petition by the wife for dissolution of marriage on the ground of the husband's adultery, coupled with desertion without cause for two years & upwards, was therefore dismissed.

(2) It has always been held in the Divorce & Matrimonial Causes Ct. that deeds of separation are utterly inoperative to abrogate the duty of cohabitation involved in the contract of marriage. It is accordingly quite competent to either party, the day after they have parted in obedience to their mutual agreement, to come to the ct. in defiance of such agreement, & obtain a decree for restitution of conjugal rights.—CRABB v. CRABB (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 601; 37 L. J. P. & M. 42; 18 L. T. 153; 16 W. R. 650.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Piper v. Piper, [1902] P. 198. Refd. Parkinson v. Parkinson (1869), L. R. 2 P. & D. 25; Williams v. Williams, [1921] P. 131.

2490. —— Trifling breaches of separation agreement.]—(1) Where a deed of separation had been executed between a husband & wife who had continued to live apart, & the wife more than five years afterwards, by counterclaim to an action by the husband to enforce the deed, claimed as against him a judicial separation on the ground of alleged cruelty:—Held: her right to judicial separation was barred by lapse of time & by the execution of the deed of separation.

(2) A married woman can contract to live apart from her husband, & the husband is entitled to come to the Court to enforce specific performance of such a contract.

(3) A husband is not debarred from enforcing a deed of separation & from obtaining an order restraining his wife from commencing an action for the restitution of conjugal rights by reason of trifling breaches of the covenants on his part. Where, in a separation deed, the husband had covenanted to allow an infant child to reside with the wife, & had subsequently concurred as next friend of the infant in a petition under Infants' Custody Act, 1873 (c. 12), for the removal of the infant from the wife's custody which had been ordered by the ct.:—Held: this was not a breach of the husband's covenant. Injunction granted to restrain the wife from suing for restitution of conjugal rights.—BESANT v. WOOD (1879), 12 Ch. D. 605; 40 L. T. 445; 23 Sol. Jo. 443.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Russell v. Russell, [1895] P. 315; Bishop v. Bishop, Judkins v. Judkins, [1897] P. 138. As to (2) Consd. Cahill v. Cahill (1883), 8 App. Cas. 420; Clark v. Clark (1885), 10 P. D. 188. Apld. Aldridge v. Aldridge (1888), 13 P. D. 210; McGregor v. McGregor (1888), 21 Q. B. D. 424; Sweet v. Sweet, [1895] 1 Q. B. 12. Refd. Hart v. Hart (1881), 18 Ch. D. 670; Gandy v. Gandy (1882), 7 P. D. 168; Rose v. Rose (1883), 8 P. D. 98; Wennhak v. Morgan (1888), 57 L. J. Q. B. 241; Gooch v. Gooch, [1893] P. 99; Re Weston, Davies v. Tagart, [1900] 2 Ch. 164. As to (3) Consd. Kunski v. Kunski (1898), 68 L. J. P. 18. Distd. Kennedy v. Kennedy, [1907] P. 49. Generally, Mentd. Horwood v. Millar's Timber & Trading Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 44; Eccl. Comrs. for England v. I. R. Comrs., [1918] 2 K. B. 602.

2491. —— ——.]—It is not every breach of covenant in a deed of separation which will prevent the party committing it from setting up the deed in answer to a suit for restitution of conjugal rights. To have this effect a breach must be substantial, serious, & deliberate. In a case where the only breach consisted in the fact that the husband was four days late in paying a weekly allowance payable to his wife under a deed of separation, the ct. held that the deed was a complete answer to the wife's petition for conjugal rights, & refused to make the usual order for the wife's costs.—KUNSKI v. KUNSKI (1898), 68 L. J. P. 18.

—— Breach of covenant to maintain.]—See Sub-sect. 1, F. (d), post.

2492. —— Reciprocal covenants in agreement by deed—Renunciation of rights in wife's property.]—In a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, resp. moved for an injunction & stay of proceedings, upon affidavit, showing that petitioner was bound by deed not to institute such a suit:—Held: (1) such a defence must be alleged by plea, &

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—F. (c).

m. Whether restitution suit barred by—Agreement repudiated.]—A deed of separation between a husband & his wife which both parties have repudiated is not a bar to a petition for restitution of conjugal rights.—SMYTHE v. SMYTHE (1922), 30 C. L. R. 165.—AUS.

n. —— No covenant not to sue.]—Where a deed of separation is in existence, even without a covenant not to sue for restitution of conjugal rights, etc., in England the cts. have power to refuse a decree for restitution whenever the result of such decree would be to compel the ct. to treat one of the spouses as deserting the other without afforded no ground for a summary dismissal of the suit.

Upon such defence being subsequently alleged by plea:—Held: (2) it was such an equitable plea as the Divorce Ct. since Jud. Acts is bound to consider; (3) a wife is bound by a deed of separation, containing a covenant not to sue her husband for restitution of conjugal rights. Suit instituted by her in violation of such a covenant dismissed.—MARSHALL v. MARSHALL (1879), 5 P. D. 19; 48 L. J. P. 49; 39 L. T. 640; 27 W. R. 399.

Annotations:—As to (1) Folld. Gleig v. Gleig (1906), 22 T. L. R. 716. As to (2) Refd. Clark v. Clark (1885), 10 P. D. 188; Aldridge v. Aldridge (1888), 13 P. D. 210; Russell v. Russell, [1895] P. 315; Kennedy v. Kennedy, [1907] P. 49. As to (3) Consd. Besant v. Wood (1879), 12 Ch. D. 605. Folld. Clark v. Clark (1885), 10 P. D. 188. Refd. McGregor v. McGregor (1888), 20 Q. B. D. 529. Generally, Consd. Welch v. Welch (1916), 85 L. J. P. 188.

2493. —— —— No breach of covenants by respondent.]—By a separation deed the wife agreed to live apart from her husband, & not to molest him or bring proceedings against him for restitution of conjugal rights. The husband agreed to pay the wife an allowance, which was to determine if she committed any breaches of the deed. Both parties having acknowledged & acted upon the deed, the wife committed breaches of its provisions, whereupon the husband, in accordance with his power under the deed, stopped her allowance. The wife then presented a petition for restitution of conjugal rights. Upon a summons by the husband to dismiss the petition:—Held: the petition was frivolous & vexatious, & must be dismissed.—WELCH v. WELCH (1916), 85 L. J. P. 188; 115 L. T. 1, C. A.

2494. —— Steps not taken to set agreement aside—Effect of Matrimonial Causes Act (c. 68), 1884.]—(1) Though an agreement between husband & wife to live apart is not in itself a bar to a petition for restitution of conjugal rights, the effect of above Act, which enacts that resp. who fails to comply with a decree for restitution shall be deemed guilty of desertion without reasonable cause, & that a suit for judicial separation may be at once instituted, is that the ct. has power to refuse a decree for restitution where such an agreement exists, & neither party has taken steps to set it aside.

(2) A valid agreement between the spouses to live apart may exist in the absence of a formal deed of separation & without an express covenant not to sue for restitution of conjugal rights.—WALTER v. WALTER, [1921] P. 302; 90 L. J. P. 372; 125 L. T. 575; 37 T. L. R. 673; 65 Sol. Jo. 607.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Mann v. Mann (1921), 91 L. J. P. 204.

2495. —— Proof of petitioner's sincerity—Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 22.]—PALMER v. PALMER, No. 2452, ante.

2496. Sincerity of petitioner—Must be proved.]—In a wife's suit for restitution of conjugal rights, where the original separation of the parties has been by mutual consent, as under a deed of separation, the ct. will require evidence that appct. sincerely desires that her husband should return to cohabitation. Without this the power given by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), would tend to create an artificial state of desertion.—MANN v. MANN, [1922] P. 238; 91 L. J. P. 204; 126 L. T. 222; 66 Sol. Jo. (W. R.) 7.

Annotation:—Refd. Harnett v. Harnett, [1924] P. 41.

(d) Covenant by Petitioner not to sue.

2497. Whether restitution suit barred by.]—WESTMEATH v. WESTMEATH, No. 3196, post.

2498. —— Proceedings restrained.]—A covenant was entered into for a valuable consideration by a husband with the trustees of his wife under a separation deed, not to sue for the restitution of conjugal rights. An application for an injunction to restrain such a suit commenced by the husband, was refused by the ct. On appeal, the decision was reversed & an injunction awarded.—HUNT v. HUNT (1862), 4 De G. F. & J. 221; 31 L. J. Ch. 161; 5 L. T. 778; 26 J. P. 243; 8 Jur. N. S. 85; 10 W. R. 215; 45 E. R. 1168, L. C.

Annotations:—Consd. Brown v. Brown (1868), L. R. 7 Eq. 185; Besant v. Wood (1879), 12 Ch. D. 605; Marshall v. Marshall (1879), 5 P. D. 19. Expld. Cahill v. Cahill (1883), 8 App. Cas. 420. Consd. Clark v. Clark (1885), 10 P. D. 188; Re Hope Johnstone, Hope Johnstone v. Hope Johnstone, [1904] 1 Ch. 470; Wilson v. Carnley (1908), 98 L. T. 265; Williams v. Williams, [1921] P. 131. Refd. Kitchin v. Kitchin (1869), 19 L. T. 674; Symonds v. Hallett (1883), 53 L. J. Ch. 60; McGregor v. McGregor (1888), 20 Q. B. D. 529; Bishop v. Bishop, Judkins v. Judkins, [1897] P. 138. Mentd. Fearon v. Aylesford (1884), 32 W. R. 718.

2499. —— ——.]—By a deed of separation dated in Dec. 1862, husband & wife agreed to live separate & apart, the husband to allow the wife an annuity of £200 for their joint lives & twelve months after the husband's death if the wife survived him. The trustee of the deed covenanted with the husband that the wife should not molest him, etc., & that she should not seek to compel him to live with her again, or bring any citation in the Divorce Ct. for the restitution of conjugal rights. The annuity had been duly paid. The wife had commenced proceedings in the Divorce Ct. for a restitution of conjugal rights. Thereupon the husband filed his bill for (inter alia) an injunction to restrain the wife from further proceedings in the Divorce Ct. On motion for the injunction:—Held: the wife ought to be restrained from further proceedings until the hearing, the deed not having been impeached, & injunction granted, with liberty for her to file a cross-bill to impeach the deed, or as she should be advised, without filing it in the name of a next friend.—KITCHIN v. KITCHIN (1869), 19 L. T. 674.

2500. —— Covenant by either spouse.]—By a deed of separation between the husband, the wife, & a trustee, containing a recital that the husband & wife had agreed to live separate, the husband covenanted with the trustee to pay the wife £25 a year till their only child should attain twenty-one, or die under that age or become chargeable to the husband, & to allow her to enjoy all her present & future property for her separate use, & the trustee covenanted with the husband to indemnify him against the debts of the wife, & that the wife should not take any proceedings to compel him to live with her. The annuity was paid until the child died, a minor. The wife after this presented her petition for the restitution of conjugal rights, & the husband pleaded the separation deed:—Held: (1) an agreement entered into by a wife for valuable consideration, & without fraud or duress, that she will not take proceedings to compel her husband to return to cohabitation, is a bar to such proceedings; (2) the recital of the agreement to live separate, being contained in a deed to which the wife was a party, was evidence of a contract by her to allow her husband to live separate from her, & that after reasonable cause contrary to the real truth of the case, & the same considerations apply with added force in New Zealand where the authority to make such a decree as a preliminary to divorce is discretionary.—FIELDING v. N.Z. [1921] N L. R. 1059,— accepting benefits under the deed, she could not be heard to say that she had not contracted, because the covenant not to sue was entered into only by the trustee & not by her.—CLARK v. CLARK (1885), 10 P. D. 188; 54 L. J. P. 57; 52 L. T. 234; 49 J. P. 516; 33 W. R. 405, C. A.

5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies there- [illegible] 1, F. (d), G. & H.; sub-sect. 2

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Russell v. Russell, [1895] P. 315. Refd. Re Weston, Davies v. Tagart, 2501. —— Deed not set up by respondent.]—The parties in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights had been living apart under a deed of separation by which the wife covenanted not to take any proceedings to compel her husband to cohabit with her. The husband, who had not fulfilled his covenant to pay his wife £200 a year, did not appear in the suit. The ct., notwithstanding the covenant in the deed, granted the wife a decree of restitution.—TRESS v. TRESS (1887), 12 P. D. 128; 56 L. J. P. 93; 57 L. T. 501; 51 J. P. 504; 35 W. R. 672.

Annotations:— Consd. Gleig v. Gleig (1906), 22 T. L. R. 716; Kennedy v. Kennedy, [1907] P. 49. Folld. Gill v. Gill (1917), 62 Sol. Jo. 37; Phillips v. Phillips, [1917] P. 90. Consd. Williams v. Williams, [1921] P. 131. Refd. Beauclerk v. Beauclerk, [1895] P. 220; Hardie v. Hardie, Bateman v. Bateman (1901), 70 L. J. P. 29; Roe v. Roe, [1916] P. 163. Mentd. Bishop v. Bishop, Judkins v. Judkins, [1897] P. 138; Holroyd v. Holroyd (1920), 36 T. L. R. 479; Pugh v. Pugh (1920), 37 T. L. R. 105.

2502. — ——.]— BATEMAN v. BATEMAN, No. 3870, post.

2503. — — —.]— A husband & wife agreed to live apart, & a separation deed was executed under which the husband covenanted to pay his wife an allowance, & the wife covenanted not to sue for restitution of conjugal rights. The husband subsequently ceased to pay his wife the allowance, & stated his intention not to make any more payments to her. The wife brought a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, to which the husband filed no answer, & the suit was undefended:—Held: though the husband had not set up the covenant in the separation deed not to sue for judicial separation, the ct. could & ought to take notice of it; but as the husband had broken his covenant to pay the allowance & had expressed his intention to make no more payments, & had thus rendered the deed useless to the wife, the ct. would not refuse to make an order for restitution.—KENNEDY v. KENNEDY, [1907] P. 49; 76 L. J. P. 34; 96 L. T. 476; 23 T. L. R. 139.

Annotations:—Consd. Balcombe v. Balcombe, [1908] P. Welch (1916), 85 L. J. P. 188. N.F. [1917] P. 90. Consd. Williams v. s, [1921] P. 131. Refd. Waller v. Waller (1910), 26 T. . R. 223; Lipman v. Lipman, [1916] P. 25; Roe [1916] P. 163; Pugh v. Pugh (1920), 37 T. L. R. 105. entd. Thompson v. Thompson (1916), 85 L. J. P. 159.

2504. — husband separated from his wife under a deed by which each covenanted not to take legal proceedings to compel the other to cohabit with him or her. The wife subsequently brought a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, to which the husband did not file any answer & did not appear:—Held: in the absence of a plea founded on the covenant in the deed, the ct. would grant a decree of restitution.—GLEIG v. GLEIG (1906), 22 T. L. R. 716.

2505. ——.]—The wife brought a suit for restitution of conjugal rights. She & her husband were separated under a deed in which there were mutual covenants not to sue for restitution. The husband did not defend the suit & set up the deed. The ct. granted a decree.—GILL v. GILL (1917), 34 T. L. R. 17; 62 Sol. Jo. 37.

2506. ——.]—Where a mutual covenant in a deed of separation gives rise to no question of public policy or of statutory bar to matrimonial proceedings, but is such that either party may take advantage of it, or both may set it aside, as for instance a mutual covenant not to sue for restitution of conjugal rights, the ct. is not bound to take notice of the covenant in a suit seeking a remedy which may be contrary to the covenant, if resp. in the suit does not appear or set up the covenant. The ct. granted a wife a decree for restitution of conjugal rights, in spite of the existence of a deed of separation disclosed to the ct. containing a covenant not to sue for restitution of conjugal rights which resp. did not appear to set up.—PHILLIPS v. PHILLIPS, [1917] P. 90; 86 L. J. P. 57; 116 L. T. 544; 33 T. L. R. 226; 61 Sol. Jo. 370.

Annotations:—Folld. Gill v. Gill (1917), 34 T. L. R. 17; Lacey v. Lacey, [1919] W. N. 304. Refd. Pugh v. Pugh (1920), 37 T. L. R. 105. Mentd. Holroyd v. Holroyd (1920), 36 T. L. R. 479.

2507. —— — Proof of petitioner's sincerity.]—A covenant by the wife in a separation deed not to sue for restitution of conjugal rights is not a bar to her petition for restitution if the husband does not set up the deed; provided that the ct. is convinced of the sincerity of the wife in asking her husband to return.—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS, [1921] P. 131; 90 L. J. P. 97; 124 L. T. 768; 37 T. L. R. 131; 65 Sol. Jo. 156.

Annotations: Refd. Mann v. Mann, [1922] P. 238; Harnett v. Harnett (1921), 93 L. J. P. 49.

2508. —— Respondent's breach of covenant.]—TRESS v. TRESS, No. 2501, ante.

2509. ——.]—KENNEDY v. KENNEDY, No. 2503, ante.

2510. ——.]—By a separation deed the wife covenanted to abstain from suing for restitution of conjugal rights before the year 1913, & the husband covenanted to pay money to the wife for her support. In August, 1909, the husband intimated to the wife that he did not intend to continue the payments under the deed, or to resume cohabitation with her in 1913 or at all:—Held: in those circumstances the wife was entitled to sue for restitution of conjugal rights.—WALLER v. WALLER (1910), 26 T. L. R. 223.

2511. ——.]—The annual sum payable to the wife under the separation deed being provable in the husband's bkpcy., but no action being maintainable against the husband, after he has obtained his discharge, under his covenant to pay the allowance specified in the deed, the deed is no bar to the proceedings for restitution of conjugal rights subsequently instituted by the wife.

The very foundation of the deed is the obligation to maintain the wife & child, & the essence of the agreement is that the contributions shall be kept up (EVANS, P.).—MCQUIBAN v. MCQUIBAN, [1913] P. 208; 83 L. J. P. 19; 109 L. T. 412; 29 T. L. R. 766.

G. Service of Citation and Decrees.

See Sect. 8, sub-sect. 5, D. (c), post.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—F. (d).

2501 i. Whether restitution suit barred by—Deed not set up by respondent.]—Where there is an existing deed of separation between husband & wife containing mutual covenants not to institute proceedings for restitution of conjugal rights, the ct. has a discretion to refuse restitution of conjugal rights notwithstanding that resp. to the suit has not set up any defence & has not pleaded as a bar the covenant in the deed.—WIRTH v. WIRTH (1918), 25 C. L. R. 402.—AUS.

II. Enforcement of Decrees.

See, generally, Sect. 23, post.

2512. Not enforceable by attachment—Effect of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68).]—WELDON v. WELDON, No. 5931, post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—CRUELTY.

A. In General.

2513. Either party may be guilty of offence.]—KIRKMAN v. KIRKMAN, No. 2579, post.

Cruelty by wife.]—See Sub-sect. 2, C., post.

2514. Ground of court's interference.]—MIL- v. MILFORD, No. 2526, post.

2515. Suit must be brought for protection from cruelty.]—A wife prayed for a dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery, coupled with cruelty. Evidence was given of the adultery & of some instances of cruelty, but it did not appear to the satisfaction of the ct. that the wife had left the husband under an apprehension of personal injury from his violence, or had taken any steps in consequence of the cruelty until after she had discovered the adultery. A decree of dissolution was refused, but a decree of judicial separation was pronounced on the ground of adultery.—HORTON v. HORTON (1859), 23 J. P. 534.

2516. —— Access to children desired—Danger to wife on return to cohabitation.]—COOKE v. COOKE, No. 3173, post.

2517. Cruelty by insane person—Court's inference.]—HALL v. HALL, No. 3022, post.

B. What Constitutes.

(a) In General.

2518. General rule.]—BAKER v. BAKER (1919), Times, Dec. 11, C. A.

2519. —— Question for jury.]—(1) When a question of cruelty comes before a jury as a ground for judicial separation, the jury are to determine, not only whether the acts complained of were done, but whether they constitute legal cruelty. (2) Bodily injury, reasonable apprehension thereof, or injury to health are the general tests of legal cruelty.—TOMKINS v. TOMKINS (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 168; 31 L. T. O. S. 122; 164 E. R. 678.

Annotations:—As to (2) Apprvd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395. Refd. Foster v. Foster, [1921] P. 438.

2520. Relative cruelty.]—D'AGUILAR v. D'AGUILAR, No. 4064, post.

2521. Question of fact & degree.]—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL, No. 2661, post.

2522. Whether bodily harm actual or menaced must be proved.]—(1) What is cruelty? In the present case it is hardly necessary for me to define it; because the facts here complained of are such, as fall within the most restricted definition of cruelty, they affect not only the comfort, but they affect the health, & even the life of the party. I shall therefore decline the task of laying down a direct definition. . . . What merely wounds the mental feelings, is in few cases to be admitted, where they are not accompanied with bodily injury, either actual or menaced. Mere austerity of temper, petulance of manners, rudeness of language, a want of civil attention & accommoda tion, even occasional sallies of passion, if they do not threaten bodily harm, do not amount to legal cruelty (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).

(2) I have observed that the danger of life, limb, or health, is usually inserted as the ground upon which the ct. has proceeded to a separation. . . . I have heard no one case cited in which the ct. has granted a divorce without proof of a reasonable apprehension of bodily hurt. I say an apprehension, because assuredly the ct. is not to wait till the hurt is actually done; but the apprehension must be reasonable: it must not be an apprehension arising merely from an exquisite & diseased sensibility of mind. Petty vexations applied to such a constitution of mind may certainly in time wear out the animal machine. but still they are not cases of legal relief; people must relieve themselves as well as they can by prudent resistance—by calling in the succours of religion & the consolation of friends; but the aid of the cts. is not to be resorted to in such cases with any effect (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—EVANS v. EVANS (1790), 1 Hag. Con. 35; 161 E. R. 466.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Dysart v. Dysart (1847), 1 Rob. Eccl. 470; Greenway v. Greenway (1848), 6 Notes of Cases, 221; Paterson v. Paterson (1850), 3 H. L. Cas. 308; Tomkins v. Tomkins (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 168. Apld. White v. White (1859), Sea. & Sm. 77. Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395. Refd. Curtis v. Curtis (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 192; Milford v. Milford (1866), 36 L. J. P. & M. 30; Moonshee Buzloor Ruheem v. Shumsoonnissa Begum (1867), 11 Moo. Ind. App. 551; Fisk v. Fisk (1920), 122 L. T. 803. As to (2) Consd. Kelly v. Kelly (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 59. Refd. Neeld v. Neeld (1831), 4 Hag. Ecc. 263; Lockwood v. Lockwood (1839), 2 Curt. 281; Saunders v. Saunders (1846), 10 Jur. 143; Bostock v. Bostock (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 221. Generally, Mentd. Trevanion v. Trevanion (1836), 1 Curt. 406; Re Cochrane (1840), 8 Dowl. 630; Clowes v. Jones (1843), 3 Curt. 185; Re Bartlett, Ex p. Bartlett (1846), 2 Coll. 661; Connelly v. Connelly (1851), 2 Rob. Eccl. 201; R. v. Burton (1854), 23 L. J. M. C. 52; R. v. Stephens (1888), 58 L. T. 776; Armytage v. Armytage (1898), 78 L. T. 689.

2523. ——.]—(1) A separation a mensâ et thoro decreed on account of the cruelty & adultery of the husband.

A more profligate case of adultery cannot be made out—this being so fully proved, it is not necessary to scan with exactness the charge of cruelty—acts of personal violence are not proved—but a series of most unwarrantable behaviour is. The case cited shows that it is not necessary to prove acts of personal violence to substantiate a charge of cruelty: it is the acknowledged doctrine that danger to the person & health is sufficient (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).

(2) It is objected that she could have no apprehensions, for she had lived with him twenty years, & no damage had ensued; but I have yet to learn that such passions, so indulged in, do not increase (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).

(3) If no adultery had been proved. I am not

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—H.

o. In general.]—In most cases the ct. would refuse to enforce the judgment by attachment & would enforce it only indirectly by awarding alimony.—O'LEARY v. O'LEARY, [1923] 1 W. W. R. 501.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. B. (a).

2519 i. General rule—Question for Cruelty," as used in divorce , has a much more restricted sense that of its popular use; to constitute legal cruelty there must be danger to life, limb or health, bodily or mental, or a reasonable apprehension of it; what must be the extent of the injury or what will reasonably excite the apprehension will depend upon the circumstances of each case.—DORSETT v. DORSETT, [1921] 1 W. W. R. 708; 57 D. L. R. 636.—CAN.

2522 i. Whether bodily harm actual or menaced must be proved.]—In a suit for divorce a mensâ et thoro on the ground of cruelty, pltf. must prove either actual bodily hurt or injury to health, or such acts or circumstances as are likely to produce an apprehension of such hurt or injury.—CURREY v. CURREY (1910), 40 N. B. R. 96.—CAN.

2522 ii. ——.]—Separation of married persons is not justified by conduct on the part of the husband rendering the wife's life miserable & uncomfortable, but unaccompanied by violence, actual or menaced, to her life, limb, or health, or cruelty & maltreatment, rendering it impossible for her to live with him.—PATERSON v. RUSSELL (1850), 7 Bell Sc. App. 337; 22 Sc. Jur. 628; revg. 11 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 421; 21 Sc. Jur. 116.—SCOT.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 2, B. (a) & (b).]

prepared to say that a sufficient ground has not been shown for a separation; but the adultery in this case is connected with the cruelty; the ct. cannot separate the one from the other (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—OTWAY v. OTWAY (1812), 2 Phillim. 95; 161 E. R. 1088.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Cousen v. Cousen (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 164. Refd. Gale v. Gale (1852), 2 Rob. Eccl. 421.

2524. ——.]- PATERSON v. PATERSON, No. 2533, post.

2525. ——.]- TOMKINS v TOMKINS, No. 2519, ante.

2526. ——.]—The essential feature of cruelty, such as, when coupled with adultery, will entitle a wife to a divorce, is, that there must be actual violence of such a character as to endanger personal health or safety, or there must be a reasonable apprehension of it.—MILFORD v. MILFORD (1868), 37 L. J. P. & M. 77, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Besant v. Wood (1879), 12 Ch. D. 605; Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395.

2527. Reasonable apprehension of danger to person.]—EVANS v. EVANS, No. 2522, ante.

2528. ——.]—OTWAY v. OTWAY, No. 2523, ante.

2529. ——.]—(1) In a suit for separation by the wife for cruelty, where the ct. is convinced that her personal safety is in jeopardy, or where it may see reasonable ground to apprehend such a consequence, it is bound to protect her; but the ct. can only interfere where there is actual personal ill-treatment, or such threats as would reasonably excite in a mind of ordinary firmness a fear of personal injury.

(2) When circumstances of sufficient violence are admitted to proof, minor circumstances may also be admitted, but they should be ejusdem generis, & not light or trifling.

(3) Letters of the husband exhibited by the wife are evidence against him, & explanations therein contained of his conduct, with respect to the matter charged, are to be taken into the ct.'s consideration, but other statements therein are not evidence for the husband, at least in debating the plea.

(4) An interdict of intercourse with her family is not cruelty to a wife, though under circumstances, it might tend to illustrate the temper of the husband.

(5) A mere violent act which occasioned pain & injury to the wife, unaccompanied by any threat or any intentional blow, will not warrant a sentence of separation, because it does not infer future risk.—NEELD v. NEELD (1831), 4 Hag. Ecc. 263; 162 E. R. 1442.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395. Generally, Mentd. Gosling v. Veley (1853), 4 H. L. Cas. 679.

2530. ——.]—DYSART v. DYSART, No. 2547, post.

2531. ——.]—GEILS v. GEILS, No. 2464, ante.

2532. ——.]—To support the charge of cruelty, such conduct must be shown by the husband as to create in the mind of the wife a reasonable apprehension of danger to her person. If the treatment complained of has been brought about by acts of violence on her part which have provoked her husband to violence, she, being the aggressor, cannot complain of cruelty which is the consequence of her own misconduct (HILL, J.).—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY (1859), Sea. & Sm. 84; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 2.

Annotation:—Mentd. Glennie v. Glennie & Bowles (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 17.

2533. ——.]—(1) Neglect, silence, shunning the wife's company, & declarations by the husband that he will never cohabit with her, do not constitute that "cruelty & maltreatment" in respect of which the law will grant to the wife a divorce a mensâ et thoro.

(2) Actual personal violence, or the immediate menace of it, is not the only ground of maltreatment in respect of which such a divorce will be granted. Qu.: whether constant revilings & accusations of all sorts of crimes made, & falsely made, before friends & servants, would constitute a ground for such a divorce.

(3) The general principle of the law as to divorce a mensâ et thoro is the same in England & Scotland. But it seems that a special principle exists in the law of Scotland which permits a divorce for a wilful desertion continued for four years.

Personal violence, as assault upon the person of the woman; threats of violence, which induce the fear of immediate danger to her person; constraint of her person; maltreatment of her person, so as to injure her health, these are, both by the law of Scotland & the law of England, sufficient grounds of divorce a mensâ et thoro. Furthermore, any conduct towards the wife which leads to any injury, either creating danger to her life or danger to her health, that, too, must be taken as regarded by the law of Scotland & by the law of England a sufficient ground of divorce. It is not true, as the learned judges have stated in the ct. below, that the law of England stops short at personal violence, & requires either actual injury to the person, or a threat of such injury in order to constitute a ground of divorce. Although there be no actual violence offered, & no menace of violence held out, the wife may yet obtain a divorce from the bed & board of her husband, if he shall, by such conduct as places her life, or even only her health, in jeopardy, render it impossible for her safely to consort any longer with him in the marriage state (LORD BROUGHAM).—PATERSON v. PATERSON (1850), 3 H. L. Cas. 308; 10 E. R. 120; sub nom. PATERSON v. RUSSELL (OR PATERSON), 15 L. T. O. S 537, H. L.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Oldroyd v. Oldroyd, [1896] P. 175. As to (2) Consd. Mackenzie v. Mackenzie, [1895] A. C. 384; Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395. Refd. Leete v. Leete (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 568; Griffith v. Griffith (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 81.

2527 i. Reasonable apprehension of danger to person.]—On a petition for divorce, resp. is entitled to know clearly the charges he is called upon to meet. Thus, the cruelty alleged should be such as to cause danger to life, limb or health, bodily or mental, or a reasonable apprehension of it.—EDMONDS v. EDMONDS (1911), 17 B. C. R. 28; 1 D. L. R. 550.—CAN.

2527 ii. ——.]—The conduct of a husband is insufficient to support a charge of cruelty where the wife states that she became nervous through his keeping a razor or sharp knife under his pillow, but does not state that she feared acts of violence, or that the weapons were kept by him for that purpose.—WALSH v. WALSH (1914), 20 B. C. R. 482.—CAN.

2527 iii. .] — Unpleasant behaviour, in the absence of causing bodily hurt, a damage to health, or reasonable apprehension thereof, is not such cruelty as justifies a wife in leaving her husband or entitles her to alimony.—FORGET v. FORGET (1918), 40 D. L. R. 662.—CAN.

2527 iv. ——.]—Held: although the husband had been violent, harsh, & domineering, & had alienated the affections of his wife & children, his acts of violence were not of such a character as to have produced in pltf. physical illness or mental distress of a nature calculated permanently to affect her bodily health or endanger her reason, & that there was no reasonable apprehension that in the future acts would occur likely to produce such a result.—BAILEY v. BAILEY (1919), 45 O. L. R. 59; 16 O. W. N. 46; 48 D. L. R. 750.—CAN.

2527 v. ——.]—NEWTON v. NEWTON, [1924] 2 W. W. R. 840; 3 D. L. R. 887; 34 Man. L. R. 190.—CAN.

p. Cruelty & drunkenness.]—In a suit by a wife for dissolution of marriage upon the ground that resp. "

2534. Cumulative effects of acts not cruelty per se.]—(1) Various acts, not singly or by themselves amounting to acts of cruelty, to justify a sentence of divorce, taken together, & considered with reference to the proved habits of intoxication of the husband, held sufficient to justify such sentence. The wilful communication of a cutaneous disorder held to be an act of legal cruelty, though not by itself sufficient to found a sentence of separation.

(2) The use of blasphemous language & habits of intoxication which occasioned mental suffering & bodily ill-health to the wife, without bodily ill-treatment or threats thereof, do not constitute legal cruelty.—CHESNUTT v. CHESNUTT (1854), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 196; 23 L. T. O. S. 130; 164 E. R. 114; sub nom. C—— v. C——, 18 Jur. 360.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Browning v. Browning, [1911] P. 161.

2535. ——.]—Cruelty may consist in the aggregate of the acts alleged in a petition or answer, & each paragraph need not allege an independent act of cruelty sufficient in itself to warrant the relief sought.—GREEN v. GREEN (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 64.

2536. ——.]—Cruelty is in its nature a cumulative charge. It must be sustained & evince a continued want of self control, & it must be referable to permanent causes so as to endanger the future safety of the wife's person or health. Where the charges were confined to three days alone of a cohabitation of three years:- Held: the legal offence had not been committed.—PLOWDEN v. PLOWDEN (1870), 23 L. T. 266; 18 W. R. 902.

2537. ——.]—COCHRANE v. COCHRANE, No. 2558, post.

Single acts of cruelty.] —See Sub-sect. 2, B. (b), post.

Course of conduct rendering cohabitation unsafe.] —See Sub-sect. 2, B. (c), post.

Subjection of wife to course of indignity neglect, etc.]—See Sub-sect. 2, B. (h), post.

2538. Mere unhappiness from ill-assorted marriage.]—HARRIS v. HARRIS, No. 2575, post.

2539. ——.]—HUDSON v. HUDSON, No. 2598, post.

2540. Adultery & cruelty considered together.]—OTWAY v. OTWAY, No. 2523, ante.

2541. After revival of condoned adultery—Lesser degree of cruelty required.]—BRAMWELL v. BRAMWELL, No. 3205, post.

2542. Acts conducing to adultery—With view to separation.]—DILLON v. DILLON, No. 4008, post.

2543. Causing fictitious execution in wife's house.]—SIMMONS v. SIMMONS, No. 2797, post.

(b) Single Acts of Cruelty.

Cumulative effect of acts not cruelty per se.]—See Sub-sect. 2, B. (a), ante.

2544. General rule—Sufficiency.]—(1) One act of cruelty of an inflamed nature & sufficiently gross to excite terror entitles the wife to relief.

(2) It is not necessary for the wife to withdraw from cohabitation on the first or second instance of misconduct.

It is not necessary, when there is an attempt at violence by an overt act, to wait till it is actually put into execution. Here he attempted to draw her to his bed when infected with venereal disease; an injury of a most malignant kind, & attempted in the most improper & violent manner. It has been said that he was unconscious of the malady; that is for him to show; though it is improbable at present that he should succeed in establishing his ignorance (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).

(3) It is legal & meritorious to be patient as long as possible. Forbearance does not weaken her [the wife's] title to relief. Mere time is no bar in the case of a woman. Mere flux of time is no condonation (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).

(4) A husband's attempt to debauch his own women servants is a strong act of cruelty.—POPKIN v. POPKIN (1794), 1 Hag. Ecc. 765, n.; 162 E. R. 745.

Annotations:—As to (2) Consd. Snow v. Snow (1842), 2 Notes of Cases, Supp. 1; Browning v. Browning, [1911] P. 161. Apprvd. Foster v. Foster, [1921] P. 438. Refd. Cooke v. Cooke (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 126. As to (3) Consd. Durant v. Durant (1825), 1 Hag. Ecc. 733. As to (4) Consd. Cousen v. Cousen (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 164; Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395. Generally, Mentd. R. v. Clarence (1888), 22 Q. B. D. 23.

2545. —— ——.]—HOLDEN v. HOLDEN, No. 2563, post.

2546. —— ——.]—WESTMEATH v. WESTMEATH, No. 3196, post.

2547. —— ——.]—(1) Rudeness of language, austerity of temper, & petulance of manners, if they threaten bodily harm, amount to legal cruelty, reasonable apprehension of danger to life, limb, or health being the ground upon which the ct. will grant a separation.

(2) Many acts are not required; one, if of that description which would induce the ct. to expect that it would occur again, & occur with real suffering, will be sufficient to found a sentence.

(3) The wife's conduct need not be free from blame, as her misconduct will not justify the ferocity of the husband.

These, then, are the principles by which the ct. is to be governed in determining the case before ct. I am to consider whether there has been that which is cruelty in the eye of the law, or whether an apprehension of bodily injury exists, arising from the conduct of the husband, for if that apprehension be reasonable, it will be sufficient to entitle the wife to her prayer. I am to remember that if the conduct of the husband has tended to produce bodily injury & harm to the wife, it is not necessary that her conduct should be altogether free from blame; that if to a certain extent she has given some provocation nevertheless, if the return on his part was out of proportion to the offence given, it will be the duty of the ct. to interpose its protection (SIR H. JENNER FUST).

(4) It was pleaded that he [petitioner] refused to go to see his child who was ill at B. . . . & that on one occasion he refused to admit lady D. [his wife]; but these circumstances cannot be considered as partaking of the nature of legal cruelty (SIR H. JENNER FUST.)—DYSART v. DYSART (1847), 1 Rob. Eccl. 470; 5 Notes of Cases, 194; 11 Jur. 490; 163 E. R. 1105.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Curtis v. Curtis (1858), 27 L. J. P. & M. 73; Martin v. Martin (1860), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 106; Kelly v. Kelly (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 59; Beauclerk v. Beauclerk, [1891] P. 189; Russell v. Russell, [1895] P. 315. As to (2) Refd. Geils v. Geils (1848), 8 Notes of Cases, 97. Generally, Mentd. H. (falsely called C.) v. C. (1860), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 81.

2548. —— —— ——.]—GEILS v. GEILS, No. 2464, ante.

four years & upwards been an habitual drunkard, & has habitually been guilty of cruelty towards her" it is not necessary for her to prove that the habitual drunkenness of resp. has continued up to the date of the petition, at all events where the parties have separated previously thereto, or that the cruelty was habitual over a full period of four years; nor if petitioner left resp. in consequence of his cruelty, is it necessary for her to prove any subsequent act of cruelty.—THOMAS v. THOMAS, [1916] N. Z. L. R. 676.—N.Z.

t. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies thereof: Sub-sect. 2, B. (b), (c) & (d).]

2549. —— ——.]—WODEHOUSE v. WODEHOUSE, No. 2568, post.

2550. Single act of personal violence—Unaccompanied by threat or intentional blow.]—NEELD v. NEELD, No. 2529, ante.

2551. —— Slight injury—Not repeated.]—(1) A single act of personal violence by the husband towards the wife, not producing any considerable injury to the person & not repeated, is not, though unwarrantable, sufficient to found a decree of judicial separation.

(2) Delay in instituting a suit for judicial separation on the ground of cruelty, is not a bar to the suit, but it is a material fact for the consideration of the ct., as tending to show that there was no serious apprehension of further violence.—SMALLWOOD v. SMALLWOOD (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 397; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 3; 5 L. T. 324; 8 Jur. N. S. 63; 10 W. R. 65; 164 E. R. 1050.

2552. — — Slight blow under provocation.]—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL, No. 2661, post.

2553. —— Apprehension of repetition.]—Where one act of violence is of such a character as to found a reasonable apprehension of further violence in case of cohabitation, the wife is entitled to the protection of a matrimonial ct.—REEVES v. REEVES (1862), 3 Sw. & Tr. 139; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 178; 8 L. T. 174; 11 W. R. 111; 164 E. R. 1227.

2554. Abuse accompanied by violence.]—(1) It is said that he [the husband] abused her without cause, seized her arm with great violence, so that by his continued compression of it the arm was bruised, & that she was, in consequence, ill the next day. . . . I think considering that this is a solitary charge of cruelty, & that there is one witness only in support of it, that I should go too far to hold that it is sufficient to found a sentence of separation upon (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(2) If, after he had been warned . . . he had intercourse with his wife & infected her [with a venereal disease] that would have been a deliberate act of cruelty (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(3) If there be medical evidence speaking to the fact of venereal disease, & there be sufficient opportunities for the medical witness to form his opinion, I am bound, unless his evidence be discredited, to believe it (DR. LUSHINGTON).—COLLETT v. COLLETT (1838), 1 Curt. 678; 163 E. R. 237.

Annotations:—As to (2) Consd. Browning v. Browning, [1911] P. 161. Refd. Morphett v. Morphett (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 702.

(c) Conduct injurious to Health or rendering Cohabitation unsafe.

2555. Health actually impaired—Systematic exertion of force—To compel submission of wife.]—If force, whether physical or moral, is systematically exerted to compel the submission of the wife in such a manner, to such a degree, & during such length of time, as to break down her health & render serious malady imminent, the interference of the law cannot be justly withheld, by any ct. which affects to have charge of the wife's personal safety.

The object of the Matrimonial Ct. in exercising its jurisdiction in decreeing judicial separation for cruelty, is to free the injured consort from a cohabitation which has been rendered, or which there is imminent reason to believe will be rendered, unsafe by the ill-usage of the party complained of. It is obvious that the modes by which one of two married persons may make the life or the health of the other insecure are infinitely various, but as often as perverse ingenuity may invent a new manner of producing the result, the ct. must supply the remedy by separating the parties. The most frequent form of ill-usage which amounts to cruelty is that of personal violence; but the cts. have never limited their jurisdiction to such cases alone; & a wife does not lose her title to the protection of the ct. merely because she has proved unable to bear with perfect patience & with unfailing propriety of conduct the ill-usage of her husband (per CUR.).—KELLY v. KELLY (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 59; 39 L. J. P. & M. 28; 22 L. T. 308; 18 W. R. 767.

Annotations:—Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395. Refd. Bethune v. Bethune, [1891] P. 205; Walmesley v. Walmesley (1893), 1 R. 529; Moss v. Moss, [1916] P. 155; Litton v. Litton (1921), 40 T. L. R. 272.

2556. Habitual insults & neglect.] BETHUNE v. BETHUNE, No. 2618, post.

2557. —— False charge of immorality.]—Where a husband left his wife & children without any means for their support & subsequently filed a petition for dissolution of marriage in which he made a false charge against her that he was not the father of her last child, which was born after he left her, all of which conduct had the effect of impairing her health:—Held: the ct. might find that this conduct amounted to legal cruelty.—JEAPES v. JEAPES (1903), 89 L. T. 74; 19 T. L. R. 451.

Annotation:—Refd. Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298.

2558. —— Cumulative effects of acts.]—Held: the cumulative effect of resp.'s infidelity, of the indignities to which he had subjected petitioner, the threats in his correspondence, & the suggestion that she should go to another man & be unfaithful, all of which had tended to prejudice her health, constituted a case of cruelty entitling petitioner to a decree of divorce.—COCHRANE v. COCHRANE (1910), 27 T. L. R. 107.

2559. —— Constructive cruelty.]—Where a husband's conduct has an injurious effect on his wife's health, his conduct may be held to amount to constructive cruelty.—FENWICK v. FENWICK (1922), 38 T. L. R. 603.

2560. Health endangered.]—SARKIES v. SARKIES (1884), Times, June 28.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (b).

2552 i. Single act of personal violence—Slight blow under provocation.]—Where two violent assaults were proved against a husband, together with habitual neglect in his treatment of his wife, evidence of a slight assault by the wife did not disentitle her to a decree for judicial separation, even though she had, under provocation, shown violent & uncontrolled temper in her conduct towards him.—CHAPMAN v. CHAPMAN (1896), 14 N. Z. L. R. 552.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (c).

2557 i. Health actually impaired—False charge of immorality.]—Pleading adultery of the wife as an answer to an action for alimony & unsuccessfully attempting to support the plea by evidence is not in itself a ground for awarding alimony. Alimony might be granted if it were shown that the wife's health was affected by the conduct of the husband in making the charge, that might be cruelty in a legal sense.—WHIMBEY v. WHIMBEY (1919), 45 O. L. R. 228; 16 O. W. N. 17; 48 D. L. R. 190.—CAN.

q. ——.]—Where a husband, without actually using physical violence, was guilty of such treatment & conduct as caused his wife's health to suffer:—Held: such treatment amounted to cruelty.—THOMPSON v. THOMPSON (1911), I. L. R. 39 Calc.

2560 i. Health endangered.]—To entitle a wife to a divorce a mensâ et thoro on the ground of cruelty, there must be acts of violence or ill-treatment by the husband, by which her life or health is endangered.—HUNTER v. HUNTER (1863), 5 All. 593.—CAN.

2560 ii. ——.]—The question of 2561. —— Persistent course of harsh conduct —Unaccompanied by actual violence.]—A persistent course of harsh, irritating conduct unaccompanied by actual violence but carried to such a point as to endanger petitioner's health, & renewed after the resumption of interrupted cohabitation:—Held: even if these later acts did not amount to legal cruelty yet, if taken in connection with his habitually harsh treatment since the resumption of cohabitation they did constitute such a measure of cruelty, when taken in conjunction with the earlier cruelty, as entitled the wife to a decree of judicial separation.—MYTTON v. MYTTON (1886), 11 P. D. 141; 57 L. T. 92; 50 J. P. 488; 35 W. R. 368.

Annotations:—Refd. Walmesley v. Walmesley (1893), 69 L. T. 152; Moss v. Moss, [1916] P. 155.

2562. Cohabitation rendered unsafe.]—D'AGUILAR v. D'AGUILAR, No. 4064, post.

2563. ——.]—(1) The ct. has had a frequent occasion to observe, that everything is, in legal construction, sævitia, which tends to bodily harm & in that manner renders cohabitation unsafe; whenever there is a tendency only to bodily mischief it is a peril from which the wife must be protected; because it is unsafe for her to continue in the discharge of her conjugal duties; & to enforce that obligation upon her might endanger her security & perhaps her life (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).

(2) The law does not require that there should be many acts. The ct. has expressed an indisposition to interfere on account of one slight act, particularly between persons who have been under long cohabitation; because, if only one such instance of ill-treatment, & that of a slight kind occurs in many years, it may be hoped & presumed that it will not be repeated. But it is only on this supposition that the ct. forbears to interpose its protection, even in the case of a single act, because if one act should be of that description which should induce the ct. to think, that it is likely to occur again, & to occur with real suffering, there is no rule that should restrain it from considering that to be fully sufficient to authorise its interference (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT). —HOLDEN v. HOLDEN (1810), 1 Hag. Con. 453; 161 E. R. 614.

Annotations:—Consd. Westmeath v. Westmeath (1827), 2 Hag. Ecc. Supp. 1; Geils v. Geils (1848), 6 Notes of Cases, 97. Refd. Dysart v. Dysart (1847), 1 Rob. Eccl. 470; Curtis v. Curtis (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 192; Martin v. Martin (1860), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 106; Kelly v. Kelly (1870), L. R. 2. P. & D. 59; Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395.

2564. ——.]—HARRIS v. HARRIS, No. 2575, post.

2565. ——.]—WESTMEATH v. WESTMEATH, No. [illegible], post.

2566. ——.]—CURTIS v. CURTIS, No. 4050, post.

2567. ——.]—KELLY v. KELLY, No. 2555, ante.

2568. ——.]—A wife, in order to support an allegation of cruelty against her husband where there has been no actual injury to her health, must show such conduct in the past that there is a reasonable probability that it will be continued, & if continued will be injurious to her health.

Although it is not necessary that there should be several acts of cruelty, yet, if there are only one or two, they must be of such a nature as to induce the ct. to conclude that, if the cohabitation continued, there would be a course of conduct on the part of the husband which would be injurious to the health of the wife (COTTON, L.J.). —WODEHOUSE v. WODEHOUSE (1885), 1 T. L. R. 528, C. A.

2569. ——.]—The same evidence which since Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 35), enabled the Divorce Ct. to pronounce a decree for dissolution of marriage considered by the House of Lords sufficient ground for passing a Divorce Bill relating to Ireland, where that Act did not apply.

I think that the conduct of W. to his wife was such as not only to inflict bodily injury upon her upon one occasion, but also to put her in reasonable fear on many occasions; & that his behaviour to one of the children in her presence, & his threats to her on one or two occasions, & his conduct to the children when she was in a delicate state of health were such as to reasonably cause fear on her part so that she could not continue to cohabit with him with any reasonable prospect of maintaining her health & well-being (LORD HERSCHELL, C.). —WESTROPP'S DIVORCE BILL (1886), 11 App. Cas. 294; 2 T. L. R. 628, H. L.

Annotation:—Refd. Gifford's Divorce Bill (1886), 12 App. Cas. 361.

(d) Physical Violence.

2570. Single act of violence—Followed by minor acts of violence & cruelty.]—A wife, married in 1842, discovered in May, 1861, an adulterous intercourse of her husband, left his house, & petitioned for dissolution by reason of adultery & cruelty. It was proved that her husband struck her in the face in 1852; it did not appear that since that he had intentionally struck her; but he had, while drunk, cut her hand, & in 1858 had cut her finger by throwing a jug of water at her. There was also evidence of his having frequently thrown cold water over her, & of several cruelty is one of fact, & is, whether the husband has so treated his wife as to inflict boldily injury upon her, or cause reasonable apprehension of suffering to her, physically or mentally.—TIMMS v. TIMMS (1910), 13 W. L. R. 636; 15 B. C. R. 39.—CAN.

2560 iii. ——.]—Where the chief matter of cruelty alleged was that deft. insisted on sexual intercourse with pltf. during periods of menstruation, & there was no evidence as to the effect of this upon her physical or mental health:—Held: not legal cruelty.—BAGSHAW v. BAGSHAW (1920), 48 O. L. R. 52; 54 D. L. R. 634; 18 O. W. N. 334.—CAN.

2560 iv. ——.]—Legal cruelty to support a claim for alimony must be such as to cause danger to life, limb or health present or future.—TORSELL v. TORSELL, [1921] 1 W. W. R. 905; 16 Alta. L. R. 200; 58 D. L. R. 575.—CAN.

2560 v. ——.]—The evidence not showing that the wife's health had been injuriously affected or that there was a reasonable apprehension of any such injury in the future, legal cruelty had not been proved.—NEWTON v. NEWTON, [1924] 2 W. W. R. 840; 3 D. L. R. 887; 34 Man. L. R. 190.—CAN.

2560 vi. ——.]—Cruelty in the legal sense need not necessarily be physical violence. A course of conduct which if persisted in, would undermine the health of the wife, is a sufficient justification for refusing to the husband a decree for restitution of conjugal rights.—KONDAL, ETC. v. RANGANAYAKI AMMAL (1923), I. L. R. 46 Mad. 791.—IND.

2560 vii. ——.]—If the wife raise a defence of cruelty, she must prove violence of such a character as to endanger or cause a reasonable apprehension of danger to her personal health or safety.—MOONSHEE BUZLOOR RUHEEM v. SHUMSOONNISSA BEGUM & JODON, BOSE v. SHUMSOONNISSA BEGUM (1867), 8 W. R. 3; 11 Moo. Ind. App. 551.—IND.

2560 viii. ——.]—To constitute legal cruelty there must be danger to life, limbs, or health, bodily or mental, or a reasonable apprehension of it.—TOPP v. TOPP, [1920] N. Z. L. R. 442.—N.Z.

2561 i. —— Persistent course of harsh conduct — Unaccompanied by actual violence.]—Legal cruelty does not necessarily depend on physical acts or threats of violence. Where such course of harsh conduct on the husband's part towards his wife, a woman of delicate constitution, created such mental distress as was sufficient to & did impair her health:—Held: there was such matrimonial cruelty shown as justified the wife leaving her husband, & entitled her to a judgment for alimony. —LOVELL v. LOVELL (1906), 8 O. W. R. 517; 13 O. L. R. 569.—CAN.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 2, B. (d), (e), (f) & (g).]

times having spit in her face:—Held: she was entitled to a dissolution of the marriage.—WADDELL v. WADDELL (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 584; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 123; 6 L. T. 552; 8 Jur. N. S. 623; 164 E. R. 1124.

———.]—See Sub-sect. 2, B. (b), ante.

2571. Husband's right of reasonable castigation.]—CLOBORN v. CLOBORN (1630), Het. 149; 124 E. R. 414.

Annotations:—Consd. Saunders v. Saunders (1847), 1 Rob. Eccl. 549; Russell v. Russell (1896), 61 J. P. 771; Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395.

2572. Unintentional violence in assertion of marital rights.]—OLIVER v. OLIVER, No. 2574, post.

2573. Personal violence.]—KELLY v. KELLY, No. 2555, ante.

Accompanied by abuse.]—See Sub-sect. 2, B. (f), post.

Accompanied by threats.]—See Sub-sect. 2, B. (e), post.

Accompanied by drunkenness.]—See Sub-sect. 2, B. (g), post.

Accompanied by neglect & indignity.]—See Sub-sect. 2, B. (h), post.

Accompanied by groundless charge of immorality.]—See Sub-sect. 2, B. (i), post.

(e) Threats with or without Violence.

2574. General rule.]—(1) Of words, it is sufficient to say, that, if they are words of mere present irritation, however reproachful, they will not enable this ct. to pronounce a sentence of separation (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).

(2) Words of menace, importing the actual danger of bodily harm, will justify the interposition of the ct.; as the law ought not to wait till the mischief is actually done. But the most innocent & deserving woman will sue, in vain, for its interference for words of mere insult, however galling; & still less will that interference be given, if the wife has taken upon herself to avenge her own wrongs of that kind, & to maintain a contest of retaliation (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).

(3) It must not be said, that a slight inattention or carelessness on the part of the husband, though it may accidentally, & contrary to his intention, produce mischief, will warrant the ct. to pronounce a sentence of separation by reason of cruelty. Affection may exist, though accidents may happen in petty quarrels . . . A husband is not to be deprived of his marital rights because a wife pertinaciously resists them, &, in the course of that resistance, encounters accidental injuries which never were meant to be inflicted (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—OLIVER v. OLIVER (1801), 1 Hag. Con. 361; 161 E. R. 581.

Annotations:—Refd. Neeld v. Neeld (1831), 4 Hag. Ecc. 263; Dysart v. Dysart (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 194; Gale v. Gale (1852), 2 Rob. Eccl. 421; Curtis v. Curtis (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 192; Re Curtis (1859), 28 L. J. Ch. 458; Russell v. Russell, [1895] P. 315.

2575. ———.]—The ct. is not in the habit of interfering in ordinary domestic quarrels; & there may be much unhappiness from unkind treatment, or violent & abusive language, in which parties can obtain no relief in this form; but must be left to correct the intemperance of which they complain, by such private means as they can employ for the purpose. There must be something which renders cohabitation unsafe or is likely to be attended with injury to the person, or to the health of the party in order to sustain an application to this ct.

Words of menace may partake of either of these characters; they may be merely the language of passion, or they may be the expression of determined malignity, which if they are likely to be carried into effect, may warrant the ct. to interpose, & prevent the actual mischief which is thus threatened. Where such violence of language is accompanied with blows, it is a more aggravated case, & the mischief is actually inflicted. It is impossible for the ct. to say, there has not been that species of ill-treatment in the present case (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—HARRIS v. HARRIS (1813), 2 Hag. Con. 148; 2 Phillim. 111; 161 E. R. 697.

Annotations:—Refd. Dysart v. Dysart (1847), 1 Rob. Eccl. 470; Curtis v. Curtis (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 192; Kelly v. Kelly (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 59; Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395.

2576. ———.]—GEILS v. GEILS, No. 2464, ante.

2577. Without personal violence.]—Cruelty may consist in menaces without actual personal violence.—HULME v. HULME (1823), 2 Add. 27; 162 E. R. 206.

2578. —— Necessity for reasonable probability of violence.]—D'AGUILAR v. D'AGUILAR, No. 4064, post.

2579. —— ——.]—Divorce, by reason of cruelty, inflicted by the wife on the husband, sustained.

The persons of both parties, however, must be protected from violence . . . words of menace, if accompanied with probability of bodily violence, will be sufficient. It may be enough if they are such as inflict indignity, & threaten pain. It will be the duty of the ct. to say that the suffering party is not obliged to continue in cohabitation under such treatment. . . . This evidence most clearly establishes, that the wife is not mistress of her own passions; & the ct. would be wanting in due attention to the safety of the injured party in this case if it did not pronounce for a separation as absolutely necessary for that purpose (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—KIRKMAN v. KIRKMAN (1807), 1 Hag. Con. 409; 161 E. R. 598.

Annotations:—Consd. Furlonger v. Furlonger (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 422; White v. White (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 591. Mentd. Goodden v. Goodden, [1892] P. 1.

2580. ——— ———.]—NEELD v. NEELD, No. 2529, ante.

2581. Previous violence condoned.]—BOSTOCK v. BOSTOCK, No. 3260, post.

2582. ——— ——— Petitioner under no real apprehension.]—BIRCH v. BIRCH, No. 2608, post.

2583. ——— Subsequent violent conduct.]—Where a husband threatened to cut his wife's throat, but did not accompany the threat with any act of violence, & subsequently, after cohabitation had ceased, broke into the house in which his wife was living, & kicked through her bedroom door:—Held: these acts did not amount to legal cruelty.—BROWN v. BROWN (1866), 14 W. R. 318.

——— As part of course of conduct.]—See No. 2558, ante.

2584. Accompanied by violence.]—HARRIS v. HARRIS, No. 2575, ante.

2585. ———.]—BARRETT v. BARRETT (1903), 20 T. L. R. 73.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (d).

2573 i. Personal violence.]—Where a man was constantly making charges of adultery against his wife, which on the evidence apparently had no foundation, & the outcome of one such charge was an altercation in which the wife received certain bodily injuries, in consequence of which she left her home:—Held: the wife did not leave her home "without just cause," & she was justified in staying away until her husband came to a better mind.—NEWELL v. NEWELL (1909), 28 N. Z. L. R. 857.—N.Z.

(f) Abuse with or without Violence.

2586. Mere abuse—No ground for interference by court.]—D'AGUILAR v. D'AGUILAR, No. 4064, post.

2587. ——— —.] OLIVER v. OLIVER, No. 2574, ante.

2588. ———.]—EVANS v. EVANS, No. 3198, post.

2589. Abusive language by a husband to a wife is most undoubtedly highly improper, but the ct. cannot take upon itself to protect [the wife] by pronouncing that she is entitled, on such proof, to a sentence of separation on the ground of cruelty (SIR H. JENNER FUST).—GREENWAY v. GREENWAY (1848), 6 Notes of Cases, 221.

2590. Abuse accompanied by violence.]—CLOBORN v. CLOBORN (1630), Het. 149; 124 E. R. 414.

Annotations:—Consd. Saunders v. Saunders (1847), 1 Rob. Eccl. 549; Russell v. Russell (1876), 61 J. P. 771; Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395.

2591. ———.]—COLLETT v. COLLETT, No. 2554, ante.

2592. ———.]—Spitting in the face of a wife, together with insulting words & acts of violence:—Held: to be legal cruelty, so as to entitle the wife to a separation.—SAUNDERS v. SAUNDERS (1847), 1 Rob. Eccl. 549; 5 Notes of Cases, 408; 9 L. T. O. S. 358, 496; 11 Jur. 738; 163 E. R. 1131.

Annotations:—Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395. Refd. Smallwood v. Smallwood (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 397; Waddell v. Waddell (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 581; Sant v. Sant (1874), L. R. 5 P. C. 512. Mentd. Saunders v. Saunders (1858), 6 W. R. 328.

2593. ——.]—Cruelty established by proof of habitually insulting conduct & violent temper, connected with an adulterous intercourse carried on by the husband, & leading to frequent quarrels, & occasionally to slight acts of violence, & causing mental & bodily suffering.—KNIGHT v. KNIGHT (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 103; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 112; 13 L. T. 252; 11 Jur. N. S. 568; 164 E. R. 1455.

2594. Abuse accompanied by threats of personal violence.]—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON (1728), 2 Lee, 593; cited in Poynter on Marriage, 2nd ed., p. 209, n.; 161 E. R. 451.

Annotations:—Refd. Otway v. Otway (1812), 2 Phillim. 95; Geils v. Geils (1848), 6 Notes of Cases, 97.

2595. —— Petitioner under no real apprehension.]—BIRCH v. BIRCH, No. 2608, post.

2596. —— Petitioner put in apprehension.]—SARKIES v. SARKIES (1884), Times, June 28.

(g) Drunkenness.

2597. Not cruelty per se.]—CHESNUTT v. CHESNUTT, No. 2534, ante.

2598. ——.]—The wife petitioned for judicial separation, alleging cruelty & adultery, which the husband's answer traversed. The cause came on before the ct. itself, & on objection taken to the admissibility of petitioner's evidence as to cruelty, the ct. ruled that on the issues as they stood it was inadmissible, but struck out the issue of adultery as an immaterial issue, counsel for the husband not objecting.

The ct. will not grant a decree of judicial separation to protect the wife from mere unhappiness resulting from an ill-assorted marriage, nor from the destruction of domestic comfort caused by drunkenness.—HUDSON v. HUDSON (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 314; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 5; 9 L. T. 579; 9 Jur. N. S. 1302; 12 W. R. 216, 354; 164 E. R. 1296.

Annotation:—Refd. Browning v. Browning, [1911] P. 161.

2599. ——.]—(1) Habitual drunkenness, & a series of annoyances, & extraordinary conduct on the part of the husband, do not constitute legal cruelty. (2) The communication of a venereal disorder to the wife must have been wilful on the part of the husband to establish it as cruelty. But that wilfulness may be presumed from the surrounding circumstances, by the condition of the husband, & by the probabilities of the case, after such explanations as he may offer. Primâ facie, the husband's state of health is to be presumed to be within his own knowledge; but he may rebut this by his own oath, when admissible as a witness, or by other proof.—BROWN v. BROWN (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 46; 35 L. J. P. & M. 13; 13 L. T. 645; 11 Jur. N. S. 1027; 14 W. R. 149.

Annotations:—As to (2) Folld. Browning v. Browning, [1911] P. 161. Refd. R. v. Clarence (1888), 22 Q. B. D. 23.

2600. As part of charge—Accompanied by violence.]—EVANS v. EVANS, No. 3198, post.

2601. ———.]—CHESNUTT v. CHESNUTT (1851), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 196; 23 L. T. O. S. 130; 164 E. R. 114; sub nom. C—— v. C——, 18 Jur. 360.

Annotation:—Consd. Browning v. Browning, [1911] P. 161.

2602. ———.]—A husband who had for six years been addicted to intemperance, & had suffered from delirium tremens, had on occasions inflicted bodily injury on his wife, & had by his general course of conduct towards her materially injured her health:—Held: the ct. being satisfied from the whole course of the evidence, that the wife could not return to cohabitation without incurring great peril of a renewal of the bodily injuries inflicted upon her, she was entitled to a judicial separation.—MARSH v. MARSH (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 312; 28 L. J. P. & M. 13; 32 L. T. O. S. 197; 5 Jur. N. S. 46; 7 W. R. 129; 164 E. R. 744.

Annotations:—Refd. Boynton v. Boynton (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 275; Chetwynd v. Chetwynd (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 39; Thomasset v. Thomasset, [1894] P. 295.

2603. ———.]—On the question of cruelty, the ct. will consider the liability of danger which the wife would incur by returning to cohabitation with a husband subject to uncontrollable fits of drunkenness, such husband having used a certain amount of violence to the wife while under the influence of drink; & particular acts of violence will be viewed in connection with the cumulative misconduct of the married life.—POWER v. POWER (Ct. of Sess.) 1104 22 Sc. Jur. 509.—SCOT.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (f).

2586 i. Mere abuse—No ground for interference by court.]—Deft.'s conduct towards pltf. was often morose & unkind, & he swore at her, but the only act of violence charged since settlement of a previous action in 1892 was one in 1904 which had been provoked by pltf.:—Held: pltf. had not made out a case of legal cruelty, entitling her to live apart from her husband.—WILLEY v. WILLEY (1908), 18 Man. L. R. 298; 9 W. L. R. 166.—CAN.

2586 ii. ——.]—The fact that on one occasion a husband came home drunk & called his wife terrible names before people does not constitute legal cruelty sufficient together with acts of adultery to entitle her to divorce, his adultery alone not entitling her to divorce.—B. v. B., [1919] 3 W. W. R. 894.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—B.

2597 i. Not cruelty per se.]—Habitual intoxication on the part of the husband, not accompanied with acts of personal violence, or other cruelty, will not warrant a decree of separation.—FULTON v. FULTON (1850), 12 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 1104 22 Sc. Jur. 509.—SCOT.

2600 i. As part of charge—Accompanied by violence.]—In an action of separation at the instance of the wife against her husband:—Held: to entitle the pursuer to a decree of separation a mensâ et thoro it was not necessary for her to instruct personal injury to herself but proof of the husband's habitual intoxication & violent conduct inducing a reasonable fear of violence to the pursuer was enough.—M'GAAN v. M'GAAN (1880), 8 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 279; 18 Sc. L. R. 155.—SCOT.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 2, B. (g), (h), (i) & (j).]

(1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 173; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 137; 12 L. T. 824; 11 Jur. N. S. 800; 13 W. R. 1113; 164 E. R. 1483.

2604. —— Accompanied by communication of skin disease—& use of blasphemous language.]—CHESNUTT v. CHESNUTT, No. 2534, ante.

2605. —— Accompanied by threats.]—MAXWELL'S DIVORCE BILL, [1911] W. N. 220, H. L.

2606. —— Knowledge of habits before marriage.]—(1) If a woman marry a drunkard, with full knowledge that he is a drunkard, she is not on that account to be held to take, without redress, the risk of anything that may happen to her as a result of his continued drunken habits.

(2) In a case where a wife charges her husband with cruelty, & complains (inter alia) that he has made against her in the presence of other persons charges of pre-marital misconduct, which he stated to her he had discovered some time after the marriage, although documents may be admitted as tending to prove the bona fides of the husband in making the charges, yet, neither oral evidence nor documents are admissible in proof of the facts alleged by the husband against the wife, unless he himself be called to state upon oath that he believed & acted upon the reports which reached him as to his wife's former conduct.—WALKER v. WALKER (1898), 77 L. T. 715.

(h) Subjection to Indignity, Neglect, Indifference, Aversion from Society, etc.

2607. Course of systematic neglect or subjection to indignity—Whether amounting to legal cruelty—No bodily injury actual or menaced.]—EVANS v. EVANS, No. 2522, ante.

2608. —— —— ——.] A husband constantly abused & swore at his wife, & refused to provide delicacies ordered by her doctor. He also used threats towards her, & on several occasions wantonly beat her child in her presence:—Held: such conduct did not constitute legal cruelty, it not appearing that the wife had suffered in health in consequence of it, or been apprehensive for her personal safety. Semble: the wanton ill-treatment of a child in the mother's presence & for the purpose of giving her pain, would, if carried to such an extent as to affect the mother's health, constitute legal cruelty.—BIRCH v. BIRCH (1873), 42 L. J. P. & M. 23; 28 L. T. 540; 21 W. R. 463.

Annotation:—Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1895] P. 315.

2609. —— —— ——.]—EVANS v. EVANS, No. 3198, post.

2610. —— —— —— —.]—PATERSON v. PATERSON, No. 2533, ante.

2611. —— —— —— —.]—Indifference, neglect, aversion to the wife's society, cessation of matrimonial intercourse, without personal violence or words of menace, do not amount to legal cruelty, though the husband is carrying on an adulterous intercourse with a servant under the same roof where he is residing with his wife.—COUSEN v. COUSEN (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 164; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 139; 12 L. T. 712; 11 Jur. N. S. 656; 164 E. R. 1479.

2612. —— —— Accompanied by some actual violence.]—On the wife's petition for judicial separation by reason of her husband's cruelty towards her, certain acts of violence on his part being admitted which took place in disputes between the parties arising at least in part out of the wife's jealousy of a maid servant, the ct. took into consideration the position in which the wife was placed in the family by reason of any authority or control exercised over her by the servants by the direction of the husband, & the state of the wife's feelings arising from reasonable suspicion of undue familiarity between the husband & a maid servant.—ANTHONY v. ANTHONY (1860), 1 Sw. & Tr. 594; 1 L. T. 413; 164 E. R. 875.

2613. —— —— ——.]—Where the evidence of actual violence used by the husband towards the wife is not sufficient of itself to warrant a decree on the ground of cruelty, the ct. will take into consideration his general conduct towards her, &, if this is of a character tending to degrade the wife & subjecting her to a course of annoyance & indignity injurious to her health, will feel itself at liberty to pronounce the cruelty proved.—SWATMAN v. SWATMAN (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 135; 164 E. R. 1467.

2614. —— —— Where acts of physical violence condoned.]—Upon a petition by the wife for dissolution of her marriage on the grounds of cruelty, & adultery, where the only acts of physical violence had long since been condoned:—Held: wilfully depriving the wife of her proper position in the household, neglecting her, degrading her to the level of a servant, & compelling her to do the menial work of the house & to take her meals & to sleep apart from the rest of the household, was, in itself, cruelty which would entitled the wife to relief; &, although the wife had lived apart from her husband under a deed of separation, when coupled with adultery on the part of the husband, entitled the wife to have her marriage dissolved.—AUBOURG v. AUBOURG (1895), 72 L. T. 295.

2615. —— —— Calculated to injure health.]—SARKIES v. SARKIES (1884), Times, June 28.

2616. —— —— ——.]—LE COUTEUR v. LE COUTEUR (1896), Times, Mar. 2.

2617. —— —— Health actually impaired.]—KELLY v. KELLY, No. 2555, ante.

2618. —— —— ——.]—In an undefended suit by the wife for divorce on the ground of adultery coupled with cruelty, the facts relied on at the hearing to establish the charge of cruelty consisted of a long course of systematic neglect & insult. The husband refused to allow his wife to occupy the same room with him or to go out with him. He was frequently absent, & refused to give any account of his absences. He told her he hated her presence, frequently used violent language, & threatened to leave her if she did not do as he wished. Her health rapidly failed during her married life, & in the opinion of her medical attendants her husband's conduct & the mental distress & anxiety caused by her marital relations generally, accounted fully for the serious condition in which they found her:—Held: this conduct on the part of the husband constituted legal cruelty, & a decree nisi granted.—BETHUNE v. BETHUNE, [1891] P. 205; 60 L. J. P. 18; 63 L. T. 259.

Annotations:—Folld. Walmesley v. Walmesley (1893), 69 L. T. 152. Refd. Beauclerk v. Beauclerk, [1891] P. 189; Jeapes v. Jeapes (1903), 89 L. T. 74; Moss v. Moss, [1916] P. 155.

2619. —— —— ——.]—Petitioner & resp. were married in 1889, both being in a good position. There was no allegation by the wife that her husband had ever treated her with physical violence, nor even that quarrels or angry words had ever arisen between them. The cruelty alleged consisted solely of neglect, coldness, & insults, from which petitioner's health had been affected to such an extent that it was said it would be dangerous for her to continue to live with resp. Within a few days of the marriage the latter refused to occupy the same bedroom with her, never went anywhere with her, & ceased to speak to her unless an answer became absolutely necessary. When their child was born he took no notice of it, & refused to allow it to be christened after him. He declined to take things from his wife's hands, &, in one house where they were stopping, rather than eat his meals with her, he took them in the kitchen. On one occasion he said to a lady, in his wife's presence, that the best way to treat a wife was to tie her to a bedpost & keep her there. She suffered great mental agony from his treatment, which told upon her appearance, & at length her health quite gave way. A doctor who attended her was of opinion that, if subjected to a longer continuation of this course of ill-treatment, she would develop melancholia. In 1892 she first learnt of resp.'s relations with another woman, & eventually instituted these proceedings:—Held: resp. had been guilty of such cruelty as, coupled with the adultery, entitled the wife to have the marriage dissolved.—WALMESLEY v. WALMESLEY (1893), 69, L. T. 152; 1 R. 529.

2620. —— —— ——.]—In a wife's suit for dissolution of marriage on the ground of the husband's cruelty & adultery the ct. held that cruelty had been established, as the husband pursued a course of conduct with the intention of making his wife disgusted with him & it was well calculated to have that effect & had the natural effect of seriously affecting the wife's health.—LITTON v. LITTON (1924), 40 T. L. R. 272.

2621. Living with successive mistresses—Telling wife of infidelities & preferences for other women.]—BEAUCLERK v. BEAUCLERK, No. 3326, post.

2622. Wife treated as a prostitute in the street.]—Where a husband assaulted his wife in the street in such a manner as to induce a passer by to believe her to be & to treat her as a prostitute:—Held: although resp. had inflicted no personal injury upon her, yet that he was guilty of cruelty. MILNER v. MILNER (1861), 4 Sw. & Tr. 240; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 159: 164 E. R. 1508.

Annotations:—Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395. Refd. Sant v. Sant (1874), L. R. 5 P. C. 542.

(i) Groundless Charges of Immorality.

2623. Whether amounting to cruelty.]—DURANT v. DURANT, No. 3171, post.

2624. ——.]—A charge of incest, pleaded, in effect, to be falsely made, coupled with substantial acts of violence, is pleadable in a suit for divorce by reason of cruelty.

The charge of having committed incest is not per se sufficient to constitute legal cruelty; but, coupled with other averments of a substantial character, I think . . . that charge may form a part of the libel (SIR JOHN DODSON).—GALE v. GALE (1852), 2 Rob. Eccl. 421; 165 E. R. 1366.

Annotation:—Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395.

See, also, No. 2557, ante.

2625. Accompanied by violence.]—DURANT v. DURANT, No. 3171, post.

2626. ——.]—GALE v. GALE, No. 2624, ante.

(j) Communication of Disease.

2627. Venereal disease—Whether proof of wilful & reckless communication essential.]—POPKIN v. POPKIN, No. 2544, ante.

2628. —— ——.]—COLLETT v. COLLETT, No. 2554, ante.

2629. ——.]—JONES v. JONES (1860), Sea. & Sm. 138.

Annotations:—Consd. Boardman v. Boardman (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 233; Browning v. Browning, [1911] P. 161.

2630. —— ——.]—N—— v. N—— (1862), No. 2830, post.

2631. —— ——.]—(1) If a husband, knowing that he is in such a state of health that by having connection with his wife he will run the risk of communicating the venereal disease to her, recklessly has connection with her, & thereby communicates the disease to her, he is guilty of cruelty.

(2) Petitioner & resp. in a suit for dissolution of marriage, who are examined under sect. 6 of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), upon an issue of cruelty or desertion, may be cross-examined upon issues of their own adultery, & of each other's adultery. The Queen's Proctor intervening, & alleging collusion & the adultery of petitioner, is entitled to cross-examine all the witnesses called by petitioner & resp. When resp. has been examined under the above sect. the Queen's Proctor may, therefore, cross-examine him for the purpose of proving petitioner's adultery.—BOARDMAN v. BOARDMAN (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 233; 14 W. R. 1024.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Browning v. Browning, [1911] P. 161. Refd. R. v. Clarence (1888), 22 Q. B. D. 23. As to (2) Refd. Sottomayer v. De Barros (1879), 5 P. D. 94.

2632. —— —— Presumption of wilfulness—Rebuttal of presumption.]—BROWN v. BROWN, No. 2599, ante.

2633. —— —— Whether proof of mere communication sufficient—No evidence that husband infected.]—(1) In support of a charge of cruelty, evidence was given that the wife was infected with disease & that she had not been unchaste before marriage or unfaithful after it; but there was no evidence beyond the presumption arising from the state of the wife, that the husband had ever suffered from the disease. The husband positively denied that he ever was diseased. The jury found that the husband was guilty of cruelty:—Held: there was not sufficient evidence to support the verdict, & a rule was made absolute for a new trial on payment of costs.

The mere fact that a husband has communicated disease to his wife, whatever may be thought of it in other points of view, is not sufficient to constitute legal cruelty. It is abundantly clear, that for this purpose the act must be a wilful one (per CUR.).

(2) The case or cases in the spiritual cts. which show or tend to show that a husband might disease his wife over & over & yet compel her to return, unless she could establish affirmatively that he not only was diseased & diseased her, but knew of his state when he did so, could only be tolerable under a system which excluded the evidence of the husband. Now that he can be heard if he thinks proper in explanation, those cases are only valuable

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (i).

2623 i. Whether amounting to cruelty.]—Pltf. left deft. because he made an unfounded charge of adultery against her:—Held: deft.'s conduct in making the unfounded charge, though reprehensible, did not amount in law to cruelty.—MOON v. MOON (1913), W. L. R. 153; 6 D. L. R. 46; 6 Sask. L. R. 41; 2 W. W. R. 1071. CAN.

2623 ii. ——.]—A false charge by a husband against his wife of adultery, although such charge is made wilfully, maliciously, & without reasonable or probable cause, is not an act amounting at law to cruelty.—AUGUSTIN v. AUGUSTIN (1882), I. L. R. 4 All. 374.—IND.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (j).

2627 i. Venereal disease — Whether proof of wilful & reckless communication essential.]—The communication of venereal disease by a husband to his wife is cruelty entitling the wife to separation if he has acted with reckless indifference to his wife's health. He need not be shown to have communicated it wilfully & knowingly.—STRAIN v. STRAIN (1885), 13 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 132; 23 Sc. L. R. 90.—SCOT.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 2, B. (j), (k) & (l), C. & D. (a).]

as warnings (WILLES, J.).—MORPHETT v. MORPHETT (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 702; 38 L. J. P. & M. 23; 19 L. T. 801; 17 W. R. 471.

Annotations:—As to (1) N.F. Browning v. Browning, [1911] P. 161. As to (2) Follid. Browning v. Browning, [1911] P. 161.

2634. —— —— —— Onus of proof.]—In order to establish a charge of legal cruelty against a husband for communicating a venereal disease to the wife it is not necessary to allege or prove that he knowingly, wilfully or recklessly communicated the disease: it is sufficient for the wife to allege & to prove that she was infected by the husband with a venereal disease; & the burden is upon him to prove that the disease was communicated in such circumstances as not to amount to legal cruelty.—BROWNING v. BROWNING, [1911] P. 161; 80 L. J. P. 74; 104 L. T. 750; 27 T. L. R. 404; sub nom. B. v. B., 55 Sol. Jo. 462.

2635. —— Exposure to risk of communication—Onus of proof as to knowledge.]—POPKIN v. POPKIN, No. 2544, ante.

2636. —— —— No actual communication.]—Charge of cruelty in wilfully marrying while infected with the venereal disease, & communicating the same, not sustained:—Held: the wilful risk without the actual communication of the disease, is not legal cruelty.—CIOCCI v. CIOCCI (1854), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 121; 18 Jur. 194; 164 E. R. 70.

Annotations:—Consd. Boardman v. Boardman (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 233; Browning v. Browning, [1911] P. 161. Overd. Foster v. Foster, [1921] P. 438. Refd. Jones v. Jones (1860), Sea. & Sm. 138.

2637. —— —— ——.]—A successful attempt by a husband, who knows that he is suffering from venereal disease, to have connection, against her will, with his wife, who also knows that he is so suffering, may, in some circumstances, be legal cruelty, although in fact the disease is not communicated.

I think that the case must go down [to the lower ct.] to be investigated, because in my opinion the actual facts of the matter need more investigation than they have received (LORD STERNDALE, M.R.).—FOSTER v. FOSTER, [1921] P. 438; 90 L. J. P. 363; 126 L. T. 50; 37 T. L. R. 942; 66 Sol. Jo. (W. R.) 1, C. A.

2638. —— Evidence of communication—Whether admitted under general charge of cruelty.]—A petition alleged that resp. had, by neglecting petitioner, by violently pushing her, by striking her with his fist, by depriving her of food, & otherwise, treated her with great cruelty. There was no appearance. The ct. refused to admit evidence under this allegation, in support of the charge of cruelty, that resp. had infected petitioner with venereal disease.

I quite agree that words such as these are inserted in petitions for the purpose of allowing a certain flexibility in the admission of evidence as to small details which cannot be expected to be found in the petition & cannot reasonably be supposed to have been present to the mind of the person who drew the petition, at the time when it was prepared. But this is a plain & distinct act of cruelty, which must have been known to petitioner when the petition was drawn. If this was admissible, any evidence would be admissible under a general charge (per CUR.).—SQUIRES v. SQUIRES (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 541; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 172; 10 Jur. N. S. 756; 12 W. R. 1028; 164 E. R. 1385.

2639. Skin disease.]—CHESNUTT v. CHESNUTT No. 2534, ante.

(k) Cruelty to or Neglect of Children.

2640. Refusal to see sick child.]—DYSART v. DYSART, No. 2547, ante.

2641. Cruelty in mother's presence.]—In a petition asking for relief on the ground of cruelty, acts sufficient to establish legal cruelty should be alleged; all pleadings should be as short as is consistent with alleging a legal ground for the prayer. Resp. may apply for further specification if necessary. Acts of cruelty towards children in the presence of the mother may be alleged as cruelty towards her; but the ct. will not receive evidence as to misconduct to children generally for the purposes of a future application for their permanent custody in a suit for separation, etc.; for, until it is in a position to decree the separation, it has no jurisdiction as to permanent custody of children. If necessary, the misconduct towards children may be proved after the main petition has been heard.—SUGGATE v. SUGGATE (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 489; 28 L. J. P. & M. 7; 32 L. T. O. S. 285; 23 J. P. 121; 5 Jur. N. S. 127; 7 W. R. 296; 164 E. R. 827.

Annotation:—Refd. Sant Francesco v. Sant Generoso (1874), 43 L. J. P. C. 73.

2642. ——.]—BIRCH v. BIRCH, No. 2608, ante.

(l) Other Cases.

2643. Spitting on wife.]—D'AGUILAR v. D'AGUILAR, No. 4064, post.

2644. Attempts to debauch servants.]—POPKIN v. POPKIN, No. 2544, ante.

2645. Prohibition of intercourse with relatives.]—NEELD v. NEELD, No. 2529, ante.

2646. Blasphemy.]—CHESNUTT v. CHESNUTT, No. 2534, ante.

2647. Nervous shock by reason of husband's conviction—Under Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1885 (c. 69).]—BOSWORTHICK v. BOSWORTHICK, No. 2836, post.

2648. —— For rape.]—If the conduct of the husband is such as to cause a breakdown of the health of the wife, by reason of the disgrace & shock arising out of a conviction of the husband under Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1885 (c. 69), the ct. will hold this to constitute legal cruelty on the part of the husband, & will grant a decree nisi to the wife, the adultery having been also proved.—THOMPSON v. THOMPSON (1901), 85 L. T. 172; 17 T. L. R. 572.

Annotation:—Follid. Bosworthick v. Bosworthick (1901), 86 L. T. 121.

C. Cruelty on Part of Wife.

2649. Distinguished from cruelty by husband.]—(1) Generally speaking, that would be cruelty if practised by a wife towards her husband, which would be held to be cruelty if done by him towards her. . . . There must be some distinctions, necessarily founded on the great difference between the sexes, & the power of the husband, in ordinary circumstances, to protect himself from his wife's violence (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(2) The same great rule, of danger to life or limb,

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (l).

r. High-handed treatment—Forcible ejectment of wife from home.]—A husband commits acts of cruelty, sufficient to justify a decree of judicial separation in favour of his wife, where, having reasonable ground for believing her to be guilty of adultery, & on that ground, he acts towards her in a high-handed & arbitrary manner, such as breaking up the home & leaving her homeless & penniless, & assaulting her to the extent of forcibly putting her out of the house & informing her that she must not return.—W. v. W., [1924] 3 W. W. R. 73.—CAN.

must prevail : in these as in other cases of the same genus, necessary protection is the foundation of all separation (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(3) It would be difficult for me to say that the locking her husband out of the house on two or three or four occasions can be invested with the character of personal cruelty (DR. LUSHINGTON).—FURLONGER v. FURLONGER (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 422.

Annotations :—As to (1) & (2) Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395. Refd. Goodden v. Goodden, [1892] P. 1.

2650. Object of relief—Necessary protection.]—FURLONGER v. FURLONGER, No. 2649, ante.

2651. —— ——.]—Drunkenness, even when accompanied by acts of considerable violence, is not a substantial ground for a decree of judicial separation.

I cannot avoid seeing that the real ground of this application is, that the husband wishes to get rid of a drunken wife ; & I must be cautious about opening the ct. to cases of that description ; the wife may have an unruly propensity in her drunken fits to destroy property, but there is no evidence of such savitia as would justify me in decreeing a judicial separation (per CUR.).—SCOTT v. SCOTT (1860), Sea. & Sm. 133 ; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 64.

2652. Matters for consideration of court—Safety of both parties.]— (1) Though the physical effects of the wife's violence may not generally be so serious to the personal safety of the husband as the effects of his violence towards her, yet the moral result of the wife's violence to all the proper relations of married life is so serious that the ct. will interfere, & not drive the husband to the necessity of meeting force by force.

(2) Where a judicial separation is granted on the ground of the wife's cruelty, the ct. has power to order the husband to make a provision for her.—PRICHARD v. PRICHARD (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 523 ; 10 L. T. 789 ; 10 Jur. N. S. 830 ; 164 E. R. 1378 ; sub nom. PICKARD v. PICKARD, 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 158 ; 13 W. R. 188.

Annotations :—As to (1) Consd. Forth v. Forth (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 122 ; Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395. As to (2) Folld. Forth v. Forth (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 122. Consd. Goodden v. Goodden, [1892] P. 1. Apld. Leslie v. Leslie, [1911] P. 203.

2653. —— ——.]—FORTH v. FORTH, No. 5274, post.

2654. Violence—Abuse.]—KIRKMAN v. KIRKMAN, No. 2579, ante.

2655. —— ——.]—SCOTT v. SCOTT, No. 2651, ante.

2656. —— Though no actual serious injury inflicted.]—(1) The husband will be entitled to the protection of the ct., where the wife's passions, from whatever cause [drunkenness, etc.], are so little under control that she is in the habit of using personal violence to the husband, from which habit he may be in danger of bodily injury, though no actual serious injury has been inflicted.

(2) In a decree of judicial separation by reason of the cruelty of the wife, the judge ordinary has no authority to insert an order upon the husband to pay an allowance, by way of permanent alimony, to his wife.—WHITE v. WHITE (1859), Sea. & Sm. 77 ; 1 Sw. & Tr. 591 ; 1 L. T. 197 ; 6 Jur. N. S. 28 ; 164 E. R. 874.

Annotations :—As to (1) Consd. Hall v. Hall (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 347. As to (2) Consd. Goodden v. Goodden, [1892] P. 1. Generally, Mentd. Sopwith v. Sopwith (1860), 6 Jur. N. S. 404.

2657. Locking husband out of home.]—KIRKMAN v. KIRKMAN (1807), 1 Hag. Con. 409 ; 161 E. R. 598.

Annotations :—Consd. Furlonger v. Furlonger (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 422. Refd. White v. White (1859), Sea. & Sm. 77 ; Goodden v. Goodden, [1892] P. 1.

2658. ——.]—FURLONGER v. FURLONGER, No. 2649, ante.

2659. Drunkenness.]—WHITE v. WHITE, No. 2656, ante.

2660. ——.]—SCOTT v. SCOTT, No. 2651, ante.

2661. False charge of unnatural offence.]—A false charge of having committed an unnatural criminal offence brought by a wife against her husband, although published to the world & persisted in after she did not believe in its truth, is not sufficient evidence of legal cruelty to entitle the husband to a judicial separation.

It is to my mind obvious why no judge has ever yet attempted to propound an exhaustive definition of cruelty. If, as I have said, the Spiritual Ct. regarded married life as a whole, it would be absolutely impossible to lay down in the iron framework of a definition that which would constitute such cruelty as would necessarily justify separation ; the questions of fact & degree would qualify almost any proposition that could be formulated ; for example, a slight blow under great provocation & on a single occasion during a long life could hardly be suggested as a ground for separation, though upon that hypothesis personal violence existed (LORD HALSBURY, C.).—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL, [1897] A. C. 395 ; 66 L. J. P. 122 ; 77 L. T. 249 ; 61 J. P. 771 ; 13 T. L. R. 516 ; 41 Sol. Jo. 660, H. L.

Annotations :—Consd. Walker v. Walker (1898), 77 L. T. 715 ; Beer v. Beer (1906), 94 L. T. 704 ; Foster v. Foster, [1921] P. 438. Refd. Jeapes v. Jeapes (1903), 89 L. T. 71 ; Baron v. Baron (1908), 24 T. L. R. 273 ; Greene v. Greene, [1916] P. 188 ; Moss v. Moss, [1916] P. 155 ; Fisk v. Fisk (1920), 122 L. T. 803. Mentd. Oldroyd v. Oldroyd, [1896] P. 175 ; Armytage v. Armytage (1898), 78 L. T. 689 ; Synge v. Synge, [1900] P. 180 ; Frowd v. Frowd, [1904] P. 177 ; Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123 ; Brooking-Phillips v. Brooking-Phillips, [1913] P. 80 ; Butland v. Butland (1913), 29 T. L. R. 729 ; Walter v. Walter, [1921] P. 302 ; Harnett v. Harnett, [1924] P. 126 ; Thomas v. Thomas, [1924] P. 194.

D. Evidence of Cruelty.

(a) In General.

2662. Admissibility—Admissions in other proceedings.]—In a suit for separation by reason of cruelty brought by the wife, an acquittal of her witnesses (for a conspiracy in counselling her to institute this suit) upon an indictment, laid by the husband, & his evidence thereon, in which he admitted & repeated certain accusations originally alleged in the libel as acts of cruelty, may be pleaded as a continuation & admission on oath of that cruelty.—BRAY v. BRAY (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 163 ; 162 E. R. 543.

Annotation :—Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395.

2663. —— Letters of husband—Extent of admissibility.]—NEELD v. NEELD, No. 2529, ante.

2664. —— Declarations of husband—Expression of desire to get rid of wife.]—DILLON v. DILLON, No. 4008, post.

2665. —— Acts not pleaded—Explanatory of matter pleaded.]—The libel, in a cause of separation by reason of cruelty, pleaded the marriage in Scotland, & the session clerk's certificate of the registration of the marriage. The libel also pleaded several matters in the conduct of the husband which did not per se come up to actual cruelty :—Held : the certificate of the session clerk could not

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—D. (a).

s. Failure to provide necessaries.]—Slight evidence is sufficient to convict on a charge of neglecting to provide necessaries for a wife whereby her health was likely to be permanently injured.—R. v. MCINTYRE (1898), 31 N. S. R. 422.—CAN.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 2, D. (a), (b) & (c), E. & F.; sub-sect. 3, A.]

be received as evidence of the marriage, & facts showing alienation of affection, though not amounting to actual cruelty, were admissible as laying a foundation for subsequent cruelty.—SAUNDERS v. SAUNDERS (1846), 10 Jur. 143.

2666. —— —— ——.]—(1) Evidence to prove a species of cruelty not pleaded in the petition is not admissible.

(2) Evidence of violent demeanour & language not pleaded, but leading up to & making probable acts of violence pleaded, may be admissible.—JEWELL v. JEWELL (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 573; 6 L. T. 369; 10 W. R. 672; 164 E. R. 1119.

2667. —— —— Not if tending to prove particular species of cruelty.]—JEWELL v. JEWELL, No. 2666, ante.

2668. —— —— —— General charge of cruelty.—SQUIRES v. SQUIRES, No. 2638, ante.

2669. —— —— —— Adjournment for particulars.]—Evidence of an act of actual violence is not admissible where only a general allegation of cruelty has been made in a petition. Where evidence was offered that the husband had struck his wife a blow, & no such specific charge had been made in the petition, the ct. allowed the hearing to be adjourned in order that particulars might be furnished.—BROOK v. BROOK (1886), 12 P. D. 19; 56 L. J. P. 108; 57 L. T. 425; 35 W. R. 351.

2670. —— Evidence tending to prove wife's adultery.]—JONES v. JONES (1860), Sea. & Sm. 138.

Annotations:—Refd. Boardman v. Boardman (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 233; B. v. B. (1911), 55 Sol. Jo. 462; Browning v. Browning, [1911] P. 161.

2671. —— Previous decree for judicial separation—In subsequent suit for dissolution.]—Wife petitioned for judicial separation by reason of cruelty & desertion, & a decree was made in her favour on a verdict finding cruelty & desertion against the husband. The husband subsequently petitioned for dissolution of marriage by reason of the wife's adultery who answered, charging (inter alia) cruelty & desertion, as in her original petition. Issue joined, & at the trial the counsel tendered as evidence a certified copy, under seal, of the decree of judicial separation, in proof of the cruelty & desertion; but the judge ordinary refused to let it go to the jury, on the ground that it would be indirectly making use of evidence which was directly inadmissible in the present trial.—STOATE v. STOATE (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 223; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 102; 3 L. T. 756; 164 E. R. 980.

Annotation:—Refd. Bancroft v. Bancroft & Rumney (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 597.

2672. —— —— ——.]—Where a wife had obtained a decree of judicial separation on the ground of the husband's cruelty, & continued to live separate from him, & the husband subsequently committed adultery, upon proof of such adultery & of the decree for judicial separation, the ct. made a decree nisi for the dissolution of the marriage.—BLAND v. BLAND (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 237; 35 L. J. P. & M. 104; 15 W. R. 9.

Annotation:—Consd. Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123.

2673. After hearing completed—Application to give evidence of further acts of cruelty.]—After the cause had been heard, & the ct. taken time to consider its decision, petitioner, the wife, applied to be allowed to give evidence of further acts of cruelty, which she alleged took place at a date later than that to which she deposed at the trial. The ct. refused the application, petitioner having repeatedly stated, in the course of her examination, that the last act of cruelty took place at Easter, 1863, & that also being the latest date given in the petition.—TOPPER v. TOPPER (1869), 38 L. J. P. & M. 36; 20 L. T. 279.

2674. —— Statement to third persons—Complaint of wife.]—A witness called to prove a husband's cruelty may be asked whether the wife made a complaint about the husband on a certain occasion.—BERRY v. BERRY & CARPENTER (1898), 78 L. T. 688.

2675. Competency—Petition for dissolution on ground of adultery—Evidence of respondent on countercharge of cruelty.]—In answer to a petition for dissolution of marriage, on the ground of adultery, the wife pleaded countercharges of cruelty & desertion, & prayed for a judicial separation:—Held: the wife's evidence was inadmissible to prove cruelty & desertion.—WHITTAL v. WHITTAL & HUNT (1860), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 43.

Annotations:—Refd. B. v. B. (1911), 55 Sol. Jo. 162; Browning v. Browning, [1911] P. 161.

2676. ——.]—An answer to a petition for dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery contained a charge of cruelty & a prayer for a judicial separation. The evidence of resp. was held to be inadmissible to prove the cruelty. 29 & 30 Vict. c. 32, s. 2, empowering the ct. to grant relief upon a prayer contained in an answer, does not make any alteration in the law of evidence.—BLAND v. BLAND & STORMONT (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 513; 37 L. J. P. & M. 74; 18 L. T. 535; 16 W. R. 893.

2677. —— Wife's petition alleging cruelty & adultery—Whether petitioner competent to prove cruelty.]—HUDSON v. HUDSON, No. 2598, ante.

(b) Corroboration.

2678. Magistrate's separation order—Whether sufficient corroboration—Practice of court.]—It is the practice of the ct. to require corroboration of petitioner's evidence as to cruelty, & the mere production of a certified copy of a separation order previously made between the husband & wife by a ct. of summary jurisdiction on the ground of his persistent cruelty is not, as a general rule, to be considered a sufficient corroboration.

(2) The ct. may, however, in an exceptional case, relax this rule of practice where the evidence of petitioner accounting for the absence of the witnesses who corroborated her when before the magistrate, & the general circumstances of the particular case, coupled with the production of a certified copy of the conviction, commend themselves to the ct. as satisfactory & sufficient.—JUDD v. JUDD, [1907] P. 241; 76 L. J. P. 120; 98 L. T. 59; 23 T. L. R. 538; 51 Sol. Jo. 500.

Annotation:—Refd. Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123.

2679. Decree of foreign court.]—WARWICK v. WARWICK & GIOVANNI (1907), Times, July 25.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—D. (b).

t. Corroboration unnecessary — If judge satisfied with petitioner's evidence.]—On the hearing of pltf.'s petition for divorce the learned trial judge was of opinion that the evidence given by petitioner disclosed legal cruelty entitling her to the divorce claimed but felt obliged to dismiss the petition for want of corroboration:—Held: the whole case was for the trial judge & if, taking the evidence of petitioner, the fact that resp. did not appear, & other facts & circumstances into consideration, he believed the evidence of petitioner he had the right to act upon that opinion.—CESALE v. CESALE (1921), 54 N. S. R. 91; 57 D. L. R. 435.—CAN.

a. Admissions of defender alone insufficient.]—In an action of separation a mensâ et thoro on the ground of ill usage:—Held: it was incompetent to pronounce judgment in favour of the pursuer upon the admissions of defender.—MUIRHEAD v. MUIRHEAD (1846), 8 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 786; 18 Sc. Jur. 410.—SCOT.

(c) Medical Evidence.

2680. Accepted if uncontradicted.]—COLLETT v. COLLETT, No. 2554, ante.

2681. Questions to be put to medical witness.]—ANON. (1919), Times, Nov. 1.

2682. As to venereal disease—Privilege of medical witness.]—A medical man, who in the course of treating a patient under the national scheme for dealing with venereal disease ascertains that the patient is suffering from such a disease, may be compelled to give evidence to that effect, although the statutory regulations applying to the scheme enjoin absolute secrecy on the medical man.—GARNER v. GARNER (1920), 36 T. L. R. 196.

Privilege of medical advisers generally, see EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 419.

As to when communication of venereal disease amounts to cruelty.]—See Sub-sect. 2, B. (j), ante.

E. Defences to Charges of Cruelty.

2683. Provocation.]—Suits for separation for cruelty are usually brought by the wife, as the more infirm party, though they may be also brought on the part of the husband, & have been so brought, with effect, in cases before this ct. When the wife is the complainant, presumptions of injury may be derived from the comparative weakness of her constitution. It is not, however, impossible, that she may have been the aggressor, &, by provocations, have brought upon herself the ill-treatment complained of; when that appears, she is not entitled to demand relief from the ct. (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT). —WARING v. WARING (1813), 2 Hag. Con. 153; 2 Phillim. 132; 161 E. R. 699.

Annotations:—Mentd. Curtis v. Curtis (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 192; Kelly v. Kelly (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 59; Goodden v. Goodden, [1892] P. 1; Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395.

2684. —— .]—In a suit for divorce by reason of cruelty & adultery an allegation, on the part of the husband, responsive to the libel brought in by the wife, pleaded: First, habits of provocation & exaggeration. Secondly, the conduct of the husband as to the children of the marriage, in order to explain some charges in the libel. Thirdly, it was objected that the allegation did not counterplead several of the articles in the libel:—Held: (1) habits might be pleaded in general terms; (2) the conduct of the husband towards the children might be pleaded to explain away the charges of cruelty towards the wife; (3) it was not necessary to contradict all the charges laid in the libel.—WALLSCOURT v. WALLSCOURT (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 121; 8 L. T. O. S. 478; 11 Jur. 134.

Annotation:—As to (2) Refd. Sant Francesco v. Sant Generoso (1874), 43 L. J. P. C. 73.

2685. ——.]—LOWE v. LOWE, No. 2693, post.

2686. ——.]—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY, No. 2532, ante.

2687. —— Wife's bad temper.]—A wife is not entitled to a divorce by reason of the cruelty of her husband, unless she is a person of good temper, & has always behaved well & dutifully towards him.—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR (1755), 2 Lee, 172; 161 E. R. 303.

2688. —— No defence if cruelty out of proportion.]—DYSART v. DYSART, No. 2547, ante.

2689. —— Proof—Documentary evidence—Supported by oral testimony.]—WALKER v. WALKER, No. 2606, ante.

2690. Insanity of husband.]—When the violence complained of was such as to lead to a suspicion of insanity, the ct. would not entertain the question of sanity or insanity, but looked only to the acts done. The innocent party has a primâ facie right to the custody of the children; when, however, under peculiar circumstances, there had been no acts of violence towards the children, the ct. gave up one of them to the father, the party complained of.—MARTIN v. MARTIN (1860), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 106; 2 L. T. 118; 8 W. R. 367.

2691. —— ——.]—HANBURY v. HANBURY, No. 3024, post.

2692. ——.]—Where a husband had twice attempted to commit suicide, & was in consequence confined in an asylum for a few months, & on other occasions made threats against his wife, so that her health became impaired, the ct. came to the conclusion upon the facts that the wife required protection against violence on the part of her husband, & granted her a judicial separation.—BARON v. BARON (1908), 24 T. L. R. 273; 52 Sol. Jo. 282.

2693. Collusion between petitioner & witness.] — You have a right to say that the wife & her servant were acting in collusion; but you should not go on to say that the wife adopted a systematic course of provocation, because if you state in answer anything which you can prove & do not prove it, the statement in the answer goes for nothing. You may however answer that you believe the conviction [of the husband for assault] was obtained by false swearing, & that the magistrates were not unanimous (DR. LUSHINGTON).—LOWE v. LOWE (1855), Dea. & Sw. 130; 4 W. R. 92; 164 E. R. 525.

2694. Where husband convicted for assault—Conviction obtained by false swearing—Magistrates not unanimous.]—LOWE v. LOWE, No. 2693, ante.

See, also, Sect. 7, sub-sect. 2, post.

F. Remedies.

NOTE.—It is no longer necessary for a wife to prove cruelty & adultery; adultery of the husband alone being a sufficient ground for divorce.—See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 176.

Judicial separation.]—See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 185 (1).

Divorce.] — See Note above.

SUB-SECT. 3.—ADULTERY.

A. In General.

2695. Whether a crime—View of Ecclesiastical Courts.]—NORFOLK'S (DUCHESS) CASE (1692), 12 State Tr. 884.

Annotation:—Consd. Mordaunt v. Mordaunt (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 109.

2696. —— In Divorce Court.]—MORDAUNT v. MONCREIFFE, No. 3770, post.

2697. Absence of consummation of marriage immaterial.]—The absence of consummation of the

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.—E.

2683 i. Provocation.] — PAYNE v. PAYNE (1905), 10 O. L. R. 742; 6 O. W. R. 428.—CAN.

2683 ii. ——.]—Deft. had assaulted his wife on one occasion, & had been convicted & fined therefor; but it also appeared that she had provoked him unreasonably:—Held: he had not so conducted himself as to render future cohabitation dangerous to her life or health, & she was not justified in leaving him.—LLOYD v. LLOYD (1914), 26 W. L. R. 722; 5 W. W. R. 1173; 15 D. L. R. 892; 7 Alta. L. R. 307.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—A.

b. Whether a crime—Subject to summary jurisdiction.]—A person charged with adultery cannot be tried by a police magistrate even with consent of accused.—Ex p. BELYEA (1918), 45 N. B. R. 308; 39 D. L. R. 24.—CAN.

c. —— Married man with unmar-

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 3, A. & B. (a) & (b).]

marriage no bar to a divorce.—PATRICK v. PATRICK (1810), 3 Phillim. 496; 161 E. R. 1396.

Annotation :—Distd. Dixon v. Dixon (1892), 67 L. T. 394.

2698. ——.]—In a suit for separation by reason of adultery, the wife's libel pleaded that the marriage was never consummated, that neither party was resident in the parish where the banns were published, & that she was falsely stated to have been of full age by the husband in giving the particulars for registration. The libel also pleaded & set out at length the Lord Chancellor's order & the imprisonment of the husband for contempt, & the record of conviction of imprisonment of the husband under Births & Deaths Registration Act, 1836 (c. 86), ss. 40, 41 :—Held : (1) non-consummation could not be pleaded in a suit for separation by reason of adultery; (2) non-residence & want of age were immaterial to the issue, & should not be pleaded; (3) the fact of the husband being in prison, where the adultery was alleged to have been committed, was sufficient, & the cause of his imprisonment need not be pleaded.—BROWN v. BROWN (1848), 13 Jur. 370.

Annotation :—As to (1) Dbtd. Dixon v. Dixon (1892), 67 L. T. 394.

2699. ——.]—In a suit for divorce by reason of adultery by the wife against the husband in pœnam, a plea of non-consummation excluded. It is sufficient in such a case to plead non-cohabitation.—HALL v. HALL (1849), 7 Notes of Cases, 56.

2700. ——.]—OUSEY v. OUSEY & ATKINSON, No. 3004, post.

2701. ——.]—In a suit for dissolution, though the parties had gone through a ceremony of marriage in the district registry ten years before the adultery of the wife, there had been no cohabitation. The ct., on being satisfied that the husband had done all in his power to induce his wife to cohabit with him, granted a decree nisi.

Semble : if the husband had refused to cohabit, the ct. would have dismissed his petition.—WATERS v. WATERS & GENTEL (1875), 33 L. T. 579.

2702. Husband's conduct towards wife—Necessity for evidence of.]—BODDINGTON v. BODDINGTON & NOSSITER, No. 5009, post.

2703. Renewed adultery with same person—Not fresh act of adultery—Further evidence of original adultery.]—GIPPS v. GIPPS & HUME, No. 3064, post.

2704. Where wife charged with adultery—Consent must be shown.]—In a petition by the husband for dissolution of the marriage on the ground of adultery, resp. filed no answer & did not appear. The jury found a verdict against co-resp. & assessed the damages against him at £50. The ct., not being satisfied with the evidence against the wife, directed her to be summoned, & having heard her evidence, on which she was cross-examined, to the effect that she had been forced, came to the conclusion that the charge of adultery had not been established against her, & dismissed the petition as against her, but gave judgment against the co-resp. for the damages with costs.—LONG v. LONG & JOHNSON (1890), 15 P. D. 218; 60 L. J. P. 27.

Annotation :—Consd. Hyman v. Hyman & Goldman, [1904] P. 403.

2705. Respondent may be found guilty—Though co-respondent dismissed from suit.]—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON & LANE, No. 2777, post.

2706. —— ——.]—CRAWFORD v. CRAWFORD & DILKE (1886), Times, Feb. 13; subsequent proceedings, 11 P. D. 150.

2707. —— ——.]—MILLER v. MILLER (1907), Times, July 23.

Annotation :—Refd. Myers v. Myers, Carpendale, Radford & Thom, [1918] P. 260.

B. Proof of Adultery.

(a) In General.

Whether direct fact need be proved.]—See Sub-sect. 3, C. (b), post.

2708. Must be of things probable—Not merely possible.]—In support of a petition by a wife for a judicial separation, direct evidence was given of several acts of adultery committed by the husband; but, in consequence of the improbability of that evidence, of the discrepancies in the statements of the witnesses, & of the improper manner in which it had been got up by the private detectives employed by petitioner, the ct. refused to act upon it, & dismissed the petition.

The character of a decent man would be in much peril if on such testimony as this & contrary to all probability, the ct. could arrive at the conclusion of his guilt (per CUR.).—SOPWITH v. SOPWITH (1859), Sea. & Sm. 118; 4 Sw. & Tr. 243; 164 E. R. 1509.

2709. Married woman resorting to single man.]—RICKETTS v. TAYLOR (1798), cited 1 Hag. Con. 303; 161 E. R. 561.

Annotation :—Refd. Williams v. Williams (1798), 1 Hag. Con. 299.

2710. ——.]—DEANE v. DEANE, No. 2769, post.

2711. Duration of adultery—Period of cohabitation.]—(1) Where a criminal connection is once shown its continuance is presumed so long as the parties live under the same roof.

(2) Condonation & connivance are essentially different. Condonation may take place without the slightest degree of blame especially in the case of the wife whose conduct might be more meritorious from her forgiveness of injury. To found a legal condonation there must be complete knowledge & condonation subsequent to such knowledge.

(3) Connivance necessarily involves criminality, & as the blame is more serious so ought the evidence in support of such a charge to be more grave & conclusive.—TURTON v. TURTON (1830), 3 Hag. Ecc. 338; 162 E. R. 1178.

Annotations :—As to (2) Consd. Dempster v. Dempster (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 438. Refd. Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292. As to (3) Refd. Phillips v. Phillips (1846), 4 Notes of Cases, 523; Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. 665.

2712. Single act.]—(1) Where a single act of adultery is pleaded, unaccompanied with circumstances leading up to the probability of its commission, the ct. will view the case with jealousy, & examine the evidence with great vigilance.

Evidence in prove & in disproof of adultery being equally balanced, the ct. examined the following incidents of the case: the fact of the ried woman.]—A married man may be convicted of adultery under Revised Statutes, c. 145, though the offence is committed with an unmarried woman.—R. v. EGRE (1877), 1 P. & B. 189.—CAN.

d. What amounts to.]—The essence of adultery consists in the voluntary surrender to another person of the reproductive powers or faculties of the guilty person, & any submission of those powers to the service or enjoyment of any person other than the husband or the wife comes within the definition of adultery.—ORFORD v. ORFORD (1921), 49 O. L. R. 15; 19 O. W. N. 398; 58 D. L. R. 251.—CAN.

e. ——.]—BABINEAU v. BABINEAU, [1921] 4 D. L. R. 951.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (a).

f. Evidence must be worthy of credit.]—Though two witnesses deposed expressly to their having committed an act of adultery with defender, the ct. considering their testimony to be entirely unworthy of credit, assoilzied wife having, previous to the marriage, been seduced by the husband; the fact of warnings, direct & indirect, given to the husband, calculated to excite his vigilance for his wife's honour, & no steps taken by him in consequence thereof (the absence of due precaution may amount to criminal negligence); the fact of cohabitation continued after probabilis scientia of the alleged adultery; the citation in the cause served on the wife, whilst in company with her husband; two interviews, of some duration, between the husband & wife, after the commencement of the proceedings, their object & effect being unexplained (semble, on the part of the wife, the fact of such interviews should, immediately on their occurrence, have been brought to the notice of the ct.); the absence of an action at law, & of any attempt to discover the particeps criminis, & no evidence, accounting for the omission (although in cases of separation, by reason of adultery, proceedings at law are, generally speaking, unnecessary, they are of great importance when the proof in this ct. depends on identity).

(2) If the party accused shall have alleged & proved that the party proceeding had knowledge saltem probabilem criminis commissi, & continued to cohabit, that is condonation (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(3) An innkeeper may not be the best witness to speak to the identity of a guest whom he sees but once; an innkeeper must be in the habit of seeing a great number of strangers, & unless there be some circumstances attracting his attention, he is not likely to take very accurate notice of his guests. But these observations do not apply on the present occasion where there was the peculiar fact that the lady had lost an eye, & the fact of the gentleman coming again to their inn, & speaking of bringing the lady there again, & where the chambermaid waited on the parties, & assisted the lady to dress (DR. LUSHINGTON).—DILLON v. DILLON (1842), 3 Curt. 86, 96; 1 Notes of Cases, 415; 6 Jur. 422; 163 E. R. 667.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Graves v. Graves (1842), 3 Curt. 235. As to (2) Consd. Lempriere v. Lempriere (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 569; Otway v. Otway (1888), 13 P. D. 141. Refd. Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. 665; Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner, [1905] P. 233.

2713. Whether time & place of adultery need be proved.]—MOORE v. MOORE, No. 3562, post.

2714. ——.]—TUCKER v. TUCKER, No. 2786, post.

2715. ——.]—CATON v. CATON, No. 2741, post.

2716. ——.]—DAVIDSON v. DAVIDSON, No. 2739, post.

2717. Contraction of venereal disease.]—Suit for divorce by reason of cruelty & adultery commenced by the wife against the husband met by a plea of adultery charged against the wife; the wife's charges not sustained; the husband's sustained & a sentence of separation pronounced for.

Where the adultery of the wife is established, & the husband is proved to have had venereal disease at the time when the wife's paramour is likewise infected, the presumption of the law against the husband shifts, & the wife is bound to show that he contracted the disorder from another person than herself.—KING v. KING (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 244.

2718. ——.]—A husband petitioned for a divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery. The wife made a cross-charge of adultery against her husband, alleging that he had contracted a venereal disease which he had communicated to her. In his reply the husband admitted that he had suffered from a venereal disease, but alleged that it had been communicated to him by his wife:—Held: the wife could not rely alone upon the fact that her husband had had a venereal disease to establish the charge of adultery against him.—GLIKSTEN v. GLIKSTEN & DEANE (1917), 116 L. T. 543; 33 T. L. R. 203.

2719. Evidence of private detectives.]—SOPWITH v. SOPWITH, No. 2708, ante.

2720. Necessity for strict proof—Respondent's long married life of propriety.]—(1) Where a wife had been deterred from putting in an appearance to a petition filed by her husband charging her with adultery, in consequence of a threat made by her husband's agent, the ct. (the case having been adjourned) gave her leave to appear & file an answer.

(2) Where a wife has conducted herself during a married life of twenty years with propriety, the ct. will not conclude that she has been guilty of adultery charged to have been committed without the slightest regard for decency or fear of detection, unless established by cogent evidence.—ALEXANDER v. ALEXANDER & AMOS (1860), 2 Sw. & Tr. 95; Sea. & Sm. 153; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 56; 6 Jur. N. S. 56; 8 W. R. 452; 164 E. R. 928.

2721. Inference from allegation of bigamy.]—BONAPARTE v. BONAPARTE, No. 3657, post.

2722. Adultery at hotels—How proved.]—ANON. (1919), Times, Nov. 28.

2723. Evidence that respondent virgo intacta—Partial intercourse possible—Admission of adultery with co-respondent.]—A decree of divorce found on adultery may be made although on the medical evidence there can only have been partial intercourse.—JOLLY v. JOLLY & FRYER (1919), 63 Sol. Jo. 777.

2724. Miscarriage—Proof by husband of non-access.]—FOSDIKE v. FOSDIKE & HILLIER (1925), 132 L. T. 672.

Annotation:—Refd. Holland v. Holland, [1925] P. 101.

Confessions & admissions, see Sub-sect. 3, C. (f), post.

(b) Circumstantial Evidence.

2725. Whether necessary to prove direct fact—Inference from circumstances.]—RUTTON v. RUTTON (1796), 2 Hag. Con. 6, n.; 161 E. R. 649.

Annotations:—Apld. Loveden v. Loveden (1810), 2 Hag. Con. 1. Refd. Cadogan v. Cadogan (1796), 2 Hag. Con. 4, n.; Chambers v. Chambers (1810), 1 Hag. Con. 439.

from an action of divorce.—SIM v. MILES (1834), 12 Sh. (Ct. of Sess.) 6 —SCOT.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (b).

2725 i. Whether necessary to prove direct fact—Inference from circumstances.]—It is not necessary that direct evidence of adultery should be given; it is sufficient to prove proximate acts & circumstances.—FRANK v. CARSON (1864), 15 C. P. 135.—CAN.

2725 ii. ——.]—WOOD v. WOOD (1911), 10 E. L. R. 275.—CAN.

2725 iii. ——.]—Direct evidence is seldom obtainable & not necessary.—C. v. C., [1919] 1 W. W. R. 982.—CAN.

2725 iv. .]—In an action of divorce at the instance of a husband against his wife on the ground of adultery:—Held a visit to Ireland by the wife, accompanied by her sister, but unknown to her husband, for the purpose of meeting the alleged paramour at an hotel, where they spent a day in company, did not infer adultery, although the wife was for a considerable time in the alleged paramour's bedroom along with him, her conduct not being inconsistent with innocence.—M'IVER v. M'IVER (1859), 21 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 655; 31 Sc. Jur. 353.—SCOT.

2725 v. ——.]—In an action of divorce adultery may be inferred from facts & circumstances without direct proof of any specific act of adultery.—WALKER v. WALKER (1871), 9 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 1091; 43 Sc. Jur. 477.—SCOT.

2725 vi. ——.]—Circumstances which coupled with evidence of extra judicial acknowledgment of the illegitimacy of a child:—Held: sufficient to infer adultery on the part of a wife & to entitle a husband to decree of divorce.—FULLERTON v. FULLERTON (1873), 11 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 720; 45 Sc. Jur. 445.—SCOT.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 3, B. (b) & (c).]

2726. ——Undoubtedly the libel must plead the conclusion of adultery, because unless it is pleaded, non constat that it may not be an action for mere solicitation of chastity. But if the party does aver it, & he proves only proximate acts, he proves unquestionably the whole of his averment in the libel. If a witness stops short, & declines or omits to state his belief of the ultimate consummation of the act, it is very true that the ct. is put upon its guard to see whether there is any ground for a scepticism of that nature, but if the ct. sees that the facts are of such a nature, as will justifiably, & almost necessarily, lead to the conclusion; the scepticism of the witness, even if it really exists, signifies nothing. The ct., representing the law, draws that inference which the proximate acts unavoidably lead to; & therefore if the witnesses, even in this case, hesitated & paused about drawing that conclusion, I should not conceive myself in any degree limited by their hesitation upon that subject. There is no ground, in point of law, to object to the sufficiency of evidence. These witnesses depose with satisfactory precision as to time; they depose with sufficient harmony with respect to circumstances, & the effect of their testimony is complete. Unless there are objections to the sufficiency of the witnesses themselves, the evidence cannot be pronounced to be, in any view of it, deficient (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—ELWES v. ELWES (1794), 1 Hag. Con. 269; 161 E. R. 549.

Annotations:—Consd. Astley v. Astley (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 714. Refd. Dillon v. Dillon (1842), 3 Curt. 86; Fraser v. Fraser (1846), 5 Notes of Cases, 11. Mentd. The Clarence (1853), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 206.

2727. ——.]—CADOGAN (LORD) v. CADOGAN (LADY) (1796), 2 Hag. Con. 4, n.; 161 E. R. 649.

Annotations:—Apld. Loveden v. Loveden (1810), 2 Hag. Con. 1. Refd. Chambers v. Chambers (1810), 1 Hag. Con. 439; Keats v. Keats & Montezuma (1859), 28 L. J. P. & M. 57.

2728. ——.]—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS, No. 2780, post.

2729. ——.]—CHAMBERS v. CHAMBERS (1810), 1 Hag. Con. 439; 161 E. R. 610.

Annotations:—Refd. Eldred v. Eldred (1840), 2 Curt. 376; Dillon v. Dillon (1842), 3 Curt. 86; Cocksedge v. Cocksedge (1844), 1 Rob. Eccl. 90; Otway v. Otway (1888), 13 P. D. 141; Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner (1905), 53 W. R. 623; Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298.

2730. ——.]—Principles of evidence in cases of divorce by reason of adultery, etc.

It is a fundamental rule, that it is not necessary to prove the direct fact of adultery; because, if it were otherwise, there is not one case in a hundred in which that proof would be attainable: it is very rarely indeed that the parties are surprised in the direct fact of adultery. In every case almost the fact is inferred from circumstances that lead to it by fair inference as a necessary conclusion; & unless this were the case, & unless this were so held, no protection whatever could be given to marital rights. The only general rule that can be laid down upon the subject is, that the circumstances must be such as would lead the guarded discretion of a reasonable & just man to the conclusion (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—LOVEDEN v. LOVEDEN (1810), 2 Hag. Con. 1; 161 E. R. 648.

Annotations:—Refd. Dillon v. Dillon (1842), 1 Notes of Cases, 415; Allen v. Allen, [1894] P. 248; Gibbs v. Gibbs & Heathcote (1920), 123 L. T. 206.

2731. Locked doors.]—ANON. (1792), 3 Hag. Ecc. 82, n.; 162 E. R. 1088.

2732. ——.]—(1) If parties fasten the door of an evening & so remain with it fastened & for no assignable reason, such circumstances lead strongly to the conviction of an adulterous intercourse between them (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(2) Declaration of A. to B. touching the guilt of the wife not pleaded to have come from the wife inadmissible as evidence against the wife.

(3) A verdict in an action of crim. con. is no proof & not to be received as proof of adultery. It only shows that the husband was not afraid to expose his witnesses to a vivâ voce examination; the effect of a verdict at common law is res inter alios acta (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(4) Where there are ample opportunities for the commission of adultery if the parties are so disposed & great & most undue familiarity totally incapable of being justifiably accounted for, is established by evidence, the ct. will pronounce for a divorce (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(5) The fact of the illegitimacy of a child born to the wife, deft. in the suit was communicated to another by direction of the wife:—Held: inadmissible as evidence in a suit for separation, by reason of the wife's adultery.—FAUSSETT v. FAUSSETT (1849), 7 Notes of Cases, 72; 13 L. T. O. S. 450; 13 Jur. 688.

2733. —— Presumption rebuttable.]—A. & B. were married in 1845, & lived together till 1853. In a suit brought by A. against B. for adultery, B. pleaded her virginity, & recriminated. A. admitted that he had not consummated the marriage, & the medical evidence proved the virginity:—Held: B. was not guilty of adultery, & was entitled to a separation from A. on the ground of his adultery, which was proved.

When a young married woman goes with a young man to an inn, & the blinds are pulled down, the room is in confusion, the door is locked, & they are there for a considerable time, these circumstances offer a case of very strong suspicion; they do not amount to more than presumption (per CUR.).—HUNT v. HUNT (1856), Dea. & Sw. 121; 2 Jur. N. S. 239; 4 W. R. 356; 164 E. R. 522.

2734. —— Presumption from conduct—Letters.]—Where no indecent familiarity, proximate act, or personal freedom (except two kisses), & no circumstances inferring adultery are proved, letters from the alleged paramour, found in the wife's possession, but not necessarily implying the commission of adultery, will not support a sentence of separation by reason of her adultery; but if the evidence raises a suspicion that an adulterous intercourse is carrying on between the parties accused, the ct. may, upon affidavits, rescind the conclusion, & allow the husband to give in an allegation.—HAMERTON v. HAMERTON (1828), 2 Hag. Ecc. 8; 162 E. R. 767; on appeal (1829), 2 Hag. Ecc. 618; subsequent proceedings, 3 Hag. Ecc. 1.

Annotations:—Consd. Grover v. Grover (1836), 5 Notes of Cases, 463; Tucker v. Tucker (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 458; Caton v. Caton (1849), 7 Notes of Cases, 9; Davidson v. Davidson (1856), Dea. & Sw. 132. Refd. Grant v. Grant (1839), 2 Curt. 16.

2735. ——No direct proof, but proof inferred from the conduct of the wife & the person with whom the adultery was alleged to have taken place, & from the letters of the wife to him found in his repositories.—GRANT v. GRANT (1839), 2 Curt. 16; 163 E. R. 322.

Annotation:—Apld. Tucker v. Tucker (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 458.

2736. —— When opportunity shown to exist.]—It is right & fit that all the circumstances shall be taken together, & that, when facts are established in the cause calculated to fix upon the conduct of the parties a criminal character, to view their conduct with reference to those facts. But though calculated to give a colour to facts, any combination of minor circumstances will not supply the place of proof of facts. It is my duty not to act upon suspicion only ; I must look at the facts, & see if there be a sufficiency of facts proved. It would be contrary to all principles of law, as well as of justice, merely on the ground of suspicious circumstances, to infer actual guilt, unless it be proved that the parties met together, & so met that they had a convenient opportunity to carry into effect criminal intentions. If it should appear that they did so meet, & had such opportunity, I should concur in the conclusion that it could not be for any other purpose than for the gratification of their criminal desires. . . . Nothing can be more unjust than to infer guilt from an interview between the parties, which might be accidental, in a place of public resort, without any proof of indecent familiarities. . . . In the entire absence of proof of any criminal familiarities, of any indecent or improper familiarities, it is impossible to arrive at the conclusion of the party's guilt (DR. LUSHINGTON).—GROVER v. GROVER (1836), 5 Notes of Cases, 463.

2737. —— ——.]—The ct. is not bound to infer adultery from evidence of opportunity, & will only do so if satisfied that adultery has in fact been committed.—FARNHAM v. FARNHAM (1925), 133 L. T. 320 ; 41 T. L. R. 543.

2738. —— —— Attachment & familiarity proved.]—FAUSSETT v. FAUSSETT, No. 2732, ante.

2739. —— —— — —.]—(1) Where there is proof of attachment, criminal intention, & opportunity, the presumption is, that adultery has been committed.

With regard to the proof of adultery, it is not necessary to prove, that the adultery with which a party is charged should have occurred at any particular time or place. Ocular proof is very seldom to be procured ; almost every case is a case of presumptive proof, though such proof varies in every possible shape & degree (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(2) Statements made in interrogatory are generally to be taken as admissions ; & though a witness be in part discredited, yet where such witness is corroborated by circumstances or statements in interrogatory, the witness is to be relied on.—DAVIDSON v. DAVIDSON (1856), Dea. & Sw. 132 ; 27 L. T. O. S. 176 ; 2 Jur. N. S. 547 ; 4 W. R. 590 ; 164 E. R. 526.

2740. —— —— Proof of indecent familiarities.] Proof of indecent familiarities between a wife & a medical attendant in the family of the husband: —Held: to afford a presumption of adultery, & a sufficient ground for a divorce.—BOYES v. BAILLIE (1821), 3 Bli. 491 ; 4 E. R. 682, H. L.

2741. —— —— Indecent familiarity not proved.] —(1) In a suit for divorce by reason of adultery, where the adultery is to be proved by the non-access of the husband & the birth of a child, the absence of the husband should be specially pleaded, & the usual articles pleading non-cohabitation are not sufficient, though circumstances coming out in evidence may enable the ct. to pronounce for the separation by reason of the adultery pleaded.

(2) It is not necessary to prove adultery at any particular time & place ; but it is generally speaking necessary to prove that the parties were in some place together where adultery might probably have been committed, otherwise, it might happen that guilty intention would be mistaken for actual guilt, & this would be contrary to all principles of justice, as well as to known rules of jurisprudence. Where no improper familiarity is proved, no access established by any witness at a time when adultery could have been committed, that is insufficient to establish adultery. The maxim of these cts. is to decide secundum allegata et probata. There must be both charge & evidence ; the party charged is entitled to know the specific charge for the purpose of defence. Suppose A. to be charged with the commission of adultery with B. & the evidence should show that it was committed with C., the ct. could decree according to the evidence : I apprehend, certainly not. Although there is absence of all proof of indecent familiarities, absence of all proximate acts which might reasonably have been expected during a long intimacy, if there is a long-continued intimacy exciting the suspicions of the husband, & under circumstances inconsistent with innocence, for example the co-resp. going into the wife's bedroom, the wife nursing a young child in his presence & he playing with the child, & there is on the wife's part no attempt at defence, no attempt to examine her mother or the servants & a child is born during the intimacy, the ct. is judicially warranted in pronouncing that adultery has been proved (DR. LUSHINGTON).—CATON v. CATON (1849), 7 Notes of Cases, 9 ; 13 Jur. 431.

2742. —— Meetings only in public places—Entire absence of indecent familiarity.]—GROVER v. GROVER, No. 2736, ante.

(c) Birth of Children.

Presumption of legitimacy.]—See BASTARDY, Vol. III., pp. 358 et seq., Nos. 1 et seq.

—— How presumption rebutted.]—See BASTARDY, Vol. III., pp. 360 et seq., Nos. 24 et seq.

—— Evidence as to rebuttal of presumption—Evidence of spouses to prove non-access.]—See BASTARDY, Vol. III., pp. 364 et seq., Nos. 56 et seq.

2743. Proof of non-access—Evidence of either spouse—Effect of Evidence Further Amendment Act, 1869 (c. 68), s. 3.]—The rule of law that neither a husband nor a wife is permitted to give evidence of non-intercourse after marriage to bastardise a child born in wedlock applies to proceedings instituted in consequence of adultery & is not affected by above sect., which makes the parties to such proceedings, & the husbands & wives of such parties, competent witnesses.

I have only now to consider whether sect. 3 of the Act of 1869 has affected the validity of the doctrine. . . . It makes indeed the parties to any proceeding instituted in consequence of adultery, & the husbands & wives of such parties competent to give evidence in such proceeding. What in effect does it make such persons competent to do ? Plainly & only, I should have thought, to give such testimony as the law of evidence allowed at that date or, as afterwards modified, that law may allow. It did not, & it did not purport to, alter any existing rule of evidence except that which dealt with the actual competency to give evidence at all (LORD BIRKENHEAD).—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL, [1924] A. C. 687 ; 93 L. J. P. 97 ; 131 L. T. 482 ; 40 T. L. R. 713 ; 68 Sol. Jo. 682, H. L.

Annotations :—Distd. Andrews v. Andrews & Chalmers (1924), 132 L. T. 400. Apld. Brown v. Leech (1924), 94 L. J. K. B. 48 ; Farman v. Farman (1924), 40 T. L. R. 823. Distd. Holland v. Holland, [1925] P. 101 ; Warren v. Warren, [1925] P. 107.

2744. —— —— In any court.]—A complaint was preferred by L., resp., a married woman living at all material times in London apart from her husband, F., alleging that B., applt., was the father of her bastard child. Evidence was given by two witnesses that F. had been living from Nov. 1922, to July, 1923, covering the material period, at 116, Albany Road, Cardiff, & had been employed by a firm in Cardiff on every working day during that period. Resp. produced three letters in her husband's handwriting written from 116, Albany Road, Cardiff, & was recalled to prove that her husband lived & worked at the addresses given in Cardiff, thus supplying the necessary identification of the F. spoken of by the other witnesses with F., her husband:—Held: (1) the evidence of the other witnesses as to F. living & working in Cardiff was beside the point until complainant herself completed the chain by identifying that person as her husband; (2) Russell v. Russell, No. 2743, ante, forbids a spouse to give evidence of non-access in any ct., & since apart from complainant's evidence there was no evidence of non-access by her husband, the order made was bad.—BROWN v. LEECH (1924), 94 L. J. K. B. 48; 132 L. T. 205; 88 J. P. 208; 41 T. L. R. 89; 27 Cox, C. C. 686, D. C.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 3, B. (c), (d) & (e).]

2745. —— —— Evidence aliunde.]—Although, as decided in Russell v. Russell, No. 2743, ante, neither husband nor wife can give evidence of non-access, with a view of showing that a child born in wedlock was not a child of the marriage, yet the fact of non-access can be proved by evidence aliunde.—FARMAN v. FARMAN (1924), 40 T. L. R. 823.

2746. Birth of child conceived while parties separated—Separation order.]—The old rule of the Ecclesiastical Cts., which assumed that husband & wife have no access during the existence of a divorce a mensâ et thoro, applies to the case of a magistrates' separation order under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), which contains the usual clause that the wife shall not be bound to cohabit with her husband. If, therefore, a child is born which must have been conceived during the existence of such an order, the rule laid down in Russell v. Russell, No. 2743, ante, does not apply, & the husband may obtain a divorce without other evidence than the wife's admission.—ANDREWS v. ANDREWS & CHALMERS, [1924] P. 255; 93 L. J. P. 137; 132 L. T. 400; 40 T. L. R. 873.

2747. —— —— —— Separation deed.]—In the absence of evidence to the contrary the presumption of legitimacy does not arise in the case of a child born to a resp. more than nine months after she has entered into a deed of separation, under the terms of which she & her husband are living apart.—MART v. MART (1925), 42 T. L. R. 253.

2748. —— —— Still-born child.]—The rule laid down by the House of Lords in Russell v. Russell, No. 2743, ante, that evidence of non-access by the husband or wife cannot be admitted where the result may be to bastardise a child, does not include a still-born child.—HOLLAND v. HOLLAND, [1925] P. 101; 94 L. J. P. 64; 133 L. T. 318; 41 T. L. R. 431.

2749. —— —— Confession of adultery by wife.]—A wife's admission that she had committed adultery, even if accompanied by a statement of her belief that a child, subsequently born, was the result of the adultery, cannot bastardise the child without evidence of the non-access of the husband.

The confession of the wife, therefore, that she has committed adultery is admissible as evidence in a suit for divorce so long as she does not assert that the husband could have had no access at the time of conception.—WARREN v. WARREN, [1925] P. 107; 94 L. J. P. 68; 133 L. T. 352; 41 T. L. R. 599; 69 Sol. Jo. 725.

2750. —— —— Admission in former trial.]—On the hearing of a petition by the husband for dissolution on the ground of wife's adultery as evidenced by her having become pregnant after the husband had access to her. Semble: the ct. would exclude proof of an admission by the wife at a former trial to the effect that she had ceased to cohabit with her husband at such a time as to render it impossible that he could be the father on the principle that such admissions are contrary to public decency, & tending to bastardise children.—INGLIS v. INGLIS & ALLEN (1867), 16 L. T. 775; 15 W. R. 1093.

As to confessions & admissions, see Part XIII., Sect. 5, sub-sect. 3, B. (f), post.

2751. —— —— Evidence by affidavit—Birth of child proved aliunde.]—After an order to read affidavit evidence, excluding that of adultery, affidavit evidence was admitted of non-access by the husband to establish adultery, the birth of a child being proved aliunde.—BOULTON v. BOULTON (1918), 87 L. J. P. 112; 34 T. L. R. 389; 62 Sol. Jo. 606.

—— On rebuttal of presumption as to legitimacy.]—See BASTARDY, Vol. III., pp. 364–367, Nos. 56–77.

2752. —— —— Absence of husband must be specially pleaded.]—CATON v. CATON, No. 2741, ante.

2753. —— Must be strong & distinct—When adultery inferred from length of gestation merely.]—When adultery is to be inferred solely from the length of gestation of a child in utero, & evidence adverse to the wife, its mother, as regards her conduct, is absent, the same considerations apply as in a case of legitimacy & the presumption thereof. In such a case the evidence to negative lawful access as the cause of pregnancy must be strong, distinct, satisfactory, & conclusive, & must not consist of a mere balance of probability. If on medical evidence there is no distinct & inherent impossibility of access by the husband which could account for the birth of a child, the wife cannot be found guilty of adultery.—GASKILL v. GASKILL, [1921] P. 425; 90 L. J. P. 339; 126 L. T. 115; 37 T. L. R. 977; 38 T. L. R. 1.

Proof of birth of child—By entry in register.]—See EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 322, Nos. 3159, 3160.

2754. Child born more than nine months after last intercourse—No evidence of wife's adultery.]—The husband left the wife on Dec. 20, 1915, & had not had intercourse with her since that date. She gave birth to a child on Oct. 22, 1916, three hundred & seven days afterwards. There was no evidence of the wife's adultery:—Held: on the particular facts of the case, the wife had not committed adultery, & the petition was dis-

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (c).

2753 i. Proof of non-access—Must be strong & distinct—When adultery inferred from length of gestation merely.]—Where a husband after a long absence did not rejoin his wife till Nov. 24, 1849, & where she, nevertheless, produced to him a full-grown child on May 18, 1850:—Held: he could not have been the father, & she was guilty of adultery.

Strict proof of non-access required in such cases.—HEATHCOTE'S DIVORCE BILL (1851), 1 Macq. 277.—SCOT.

g. Declaration in birth certificate—As to illegitimacy of child—Corroboration of allegation of non-access.]—Where the parties had lived separate but had continued to reside in the same town for eighteen months, & up to within five months of the time when resp. gave birth to a child elsewhere, a declaration by resp. in the certificate missed.—BOWDEN v. BOWDEN (1917), 62 Sol. Jo. 105.

Annotations :—Refd. Gaskill v. Gaskill, [1921] P. 425; Russell v. Russell, [1924] A. C. 687.

2755. Statement by wife communicated to third party—As to illegitimacy of child—Inadmissible against wife.]—FAUSSETT v. FAUSSETT, No. 2732, ante.

(d) Visits to Houses of Ill Repute.

2756. By wife.]—WOOD v. WOOD (1789), 4 Hag. Ecc. 138, n.; 162 E. R. 1398.

Annotation :—Refd. Kenrick v. Kenrick (1831), 4 Hag. Ecc. 114.

2757. ——.]—ELIOT v. ELIOT (1776), cited in 1 Hag. Con. at p. 302.

Annotations :—Consd. Williams v. Williams (1798), 1 Hag. Con. 299. Refd. Kenrick v. Kenrick (1831), 4 Hag. Ecc. 114.

2758. ——.]—(1) A recriminatory charge of adultery against a wife held proved by the evidence of one witness only to any undue familiarity, proximate act, or fact of adultery, which evidence, though confused, was corroborated by the evidence of the conduct of the wife.

(2) The wife's going to a brothel with another man is evidence of adultery.

(3) The ct. will not delay the hearing of a cause on an affidavit that a true bill has been found against a material witness for perjury in her evidence in such cause. Qu.: whether a conviction for such perjury would be evidence.—KENRICK v. KENRICK (1831), 4 Hag. Ecc. 114; 162 E. R. 1389.

Annotation :—As to (1) Consd. Simmons v. Simmons (1847), 1 Rob. Eccl. 566.

2759. By husband—Presumption only rebutted by strong evidence.]—Semble: going to a brothel, & remaining alone for a considerable time in a room with a common prostitute, is sufficient evidence from which to infer adultery.

A married man going to a brothel, knowing it to be a house of that description, raises a suspicion of adultery necessary to be rebutted by the very best evidence.—ASTLEY v. ASTLEY (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 714; 162 E. R. 728.

Annotations :—Mentd. Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. 665; Hope v. Hope (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 94.

(e) Decrees and Admissions in Previous Proceedings.

2760. Decree nisi in previous suit—Between same parties.]—The verdict of the jury at the trial of a petition for a divorce by a wife against her husband finding that the husband had been guilty of adultery & cruelty, & a decree nisi in accordance with such verdict, are conclusive evidence of such adultery & cruelty in a subsequent suit between the same parties, in which the husband seeks similar relief against his wife; & the mere fact that such decree nisi has been set aside by the ct. upon the intervention of the Queen's Proctor, the grounds upon which it was set aside not affecting the propriety of the verdict, does not prevent the findings of the jury from being conclusive evidence in the second suit.—BUTLER v. BUTLER, [1894] P. 25; 63 L. J. P. 1; 69 L. T. 545; 42 W. R. 49; 10 T. L. R. 26; 38 Sol. Jo. 24; 1 R. 535, C. A.

2761. —— Not between same parties—Insufficient finding of jury.]—On a petition by a wife for dissolution of her marriage on the ground of adultery coupled with desertion, the decree in a previous suit in which her husband had been co-resp. was produced. This decree stated that the jury found that resp. had been guilty of adultery with co-resp., & that he had been condemned in costs, but contained no finding by the jury that co-resp. had been guilty of adultery with resp.:—Held: the decree was not by itself sufficient evidence of adultery against the husband.—RUCK v. RUCK, [1896] P. 152; 65 L. J. P. 87.

Annotations :—Distd. Eskell v. Eskell (1919), 63 Sol. Jo. 777. Consd. Partington v. Partington & Atkinson, [1925] P. 34.

2762. —— ——.]—SWAN v. SWAN (1903), Times, Mar. 24.

2763. —— —— Identity established.]—A decree in a previous suit, finding as a fact the adultery of a party to that suit, will, on identity being established, be admissible as evidence of adultery against the same person as a party to a subsequent suit.—ESKELL v. ESKELL (1919), 88 L. J. P. 128; 63 Sol. Jo. 777.

Annotation :—Expld. Partington v. Partington & Atkinson, [1925] P. 34.

2764. Finding as to petitioner's adultery.]—(1) Petitioner established his wife's adultery in a suit for dissolution of marriage, but co-resp. established petitioner's adultery, & on that ground his petition was dismissed. He afterwards presented a fresh petition, alleging subsequent adultery with other co-resps. The Queen's Proctor intervened, & alleged the judgment against petitioner in the previous suit, & further alleged the fact of petitioner's adultery. The jury found that petitioner was not guilty of the adultery charged. But the ct. held that the judgment in the former suit was conclusive evidence of the fact of such adultery having been committed. The ct., in the exercise of the discretion conferred on it by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, granted a decree nisi, notwithstanding the judgment against petitioner in the former suit, the act of adultery, if committed, being an isolated one & unconnected with resp.'s adultery & the finding of the jury in the second suit, acquitting the petitioner, having thrown doubt upon his guilt.

(2) In a suit for dissolution where resp. did not appear, the ct. allowed petitioner to be examined, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 43, & to give evidence upon the issue of his own adultery, raised by the Queen's Proctor.

(3) In a suit for dissolution no issue was raised as to resp.'s adultery, but the Queen's Proctor, intervening, pleaded various pleas, & after petitioner's case was closed, called evidence to prove them. Evidence having been called on behalf of petitioner, it was held that, although petitioner had begun, the A.-G. on behalf of the Queen's Proctor had the right of reply.—CONRADI v. CONRADI, WORRALL & WAY (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 514; 37 L. J. P. & M. 55; 18 L. T. 659; 16 W. R. 1023.

Annotations :—As to (1) Expld. Butler v. Butler, [1894] P. 25; Yates v. Kyffin-Taylor & Wark, [1899] W. N. 141; Partington v. Partington & Atkinson, [1925] P. 34 Refd. Butler v. Butler, [1893] P. 185; Gooch v. Gooch, [1893] P. 99.

2765. Verdict by default against adulterer.]—A verdict by default against an adulterer is not of birth that the child is illegitimate is admissible in evidence to prove the adultery in order to corroborate petitioner's allegation of non-access from the time the parties lived apart.—BUSH v. BUSH (1893), 12 N. Z. L. R.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (d).

h. By Husband.]—The fact of a married man entering a brothel & remaining there for half an hour is sufficient evidence of adultery by him.—WATTS v. WATTS (1920), 22 W. A. L. R. 50.—AUS.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (e).

k. Decree in previous suit — Must state adultery.]—Re CAMPBELL (1878), 25 Gr. 480.—CAN.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 3, B. (e) & (f) i., ii. & iii.]

evidence against the wife but may be relevant as a circumstance merely of the case.—BEST v. BEST (1823), 1 Add. 411 ; 162 E. R. 145.

Annotations :—Mentd. Eldred v. Eldred (1840), 2 Curt. 376 ; Clowes v. Jones (1843), 3 Curt. 185 ; Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. 665 ; Dysart v. Dysart (1847), 1 Rob. Eccl. 470 ; Geils v. Geils (1852), 20 L. T. O. S. 145 ; Anon. (1857), Dea. & Sw. 295.

(f) Confessions and Admissions.

i. In General.

2766. Requisites of a confession.]—NOVERRE v. NOVERRE, No. 2783, post.

2767. Nature of admissions.]—Where, in a suit by the husband for dissolution of the marriage, it appeared that the wife had become pregnant while living away from her husband in the service of co-resp., & after her confinement had sent to co-resp. for money, claiming it from him on the ground that he was the father of the child, & he sent the money, though denying that he was the father :—Held : this admission of the wife, coupled with the circumstances in which it was made, was, in the absence of explanation or denial, sufficient evidence of her having committed adultery with co-resp.

Admissions are of many degrees. First, there are admissions which are made casually, in the course of an ordinary conversation & without any special importance being attached to the words. Again, there are admissions which are made under circumstances which render them more important & weighty ; &, thirdly, there are admissions which are connected with facts, & which are the most important. The admission in the present case belongs to the latter class (WILDE, J. O.).—TIPPET v. TIPPET & MEREDITH (1866), 14 W. R. 410.

2768. Confession in articulo mortis.]—MORTIMER v. MORTIMER (1820), 2 Hag. Con. 310 ; 161 E. R. [illegible]

[illegible] s :—Consd. Tucker v. Tucker (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 458. Refd. Noverre v. Noverre (1846), 1 Rob. Eccl. 428 ; Hope v. Hope (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 94. Mentd. Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. 665 ; Hunt v. Hunt (1862), 4 De G. F. & J. 221 ; Boulting v. Boulting (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 329 ; Williams v. Williams, [1921] P. 131.

2769. Self-derogatory expressions in letter.]—(1) A young married woman, leaving the protection of her relations & resorting to a cornet of dragoons living by himself is proof of adultery.

(2) A letter from a wife addressed to her husband : "I think of all your love, your invariable kindness to me, & the base, the horrible return that I have made to you, till I am almost mad," means that nothing but the violation of her marriage vow could have induced her to use expressions so extremely derogatory to herself, & is a confession & evidence of adultery.—DEANE v. DEANE (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 626 ; 12 Jur. 63.

2770. Admission of adultery by wife—Sufficiency of.]—TIPPET v. TIPPET & MEREDITH, No. 2767, ante.

2771. Admission in other proceedings.]—On a husband's petition for divorce, evidence was given that the wife had confessed to adultery with co-resp., &, on the trial of her husband for attempting to murder her, had admitted in cross-examination that she had been living with co-resp. :—Held : this admission was more than a mere confession & justified the ct. in granting a decree nisi.—HARTLEY v. HARTLEY & FLEMING (1919), 35 T. L. R. 298.

ii. Statements to Third Parties.

Necessity for corroboration, see Sub-sect. 3, B. (f) iii., post.

2772. By co-respondent—Not made in presence of respondent.]—A conversation of a paramour not made in the presence of the wife, resp. :—Held : no evidence against the wife.—DONELLAN v. DONELLAN (1795), 2 Hag. Ecc. Supp. 144 ; 162 E. R. 1042.

Annotation :—Refd. Evans v. Evans (1844), 1 Rob. Eccl. 165.

2773. By respondent—After confession by co-respondent.]—HARRIS v. HARRIS, No. 3574, post.

2774. —— Confession of misconduct with co-respondent—Charge of collusion between petitioner & respondent.]—FARULLI v. FARULLI & PEDERZOLI, No. 3132, post.

2775. —— Not made in presence of petitioner—Intervention by King's Proctor.]—On the trial of an issue of collusion, arising on the Queen's Proctor's intervention, in a petition to which the husband had not appeared :—Held : the statements made by the husband, not in the presence of the wife, were inadmissible as evidence on the issue before the jury.—GRAY v. GRAY (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 554 ; 6 L. T. 336 ; 10 W. R. 863 ; 161 E. R. 1112.

2776. Letters to third parties.]—OWEN v. OWEN, No. 2785, post.

iii. Corroboration.

Corroboration of evidence of adultery generally, see Sub-sect. 3, C., post.

2777. General rule.]—(1) The admissions or confessions of resp. are not admissible evidence against co-resp.

The admissions of a wife charged with adultery, unsupported by any confirmatory proof, may be acted upon as conclusive evidence upon which to pronounce a divorce, provided the ct. is satisfied that the evidence is trustworthy, & that it amounts to a clear, distinct, & unequivocal admission of adultery ; but, where, on a consideration of the whole diary, the wife appeared to indulge in unfounded imaginations & exaggerated statements as regarded her intercourse with the other sex, the ct. refused to add anything by way of inference, as it would have done if similar facts had been proved by independent evidence, to the actual statements of the diary, &, as these fell short of a direct confession of the act of adultery, dismissed the petition, but without condemning the husband in costs, on the understanding that the wife had a separate income.

If this ct. had been a ct. of purely ecclesiastical jurisdiction, the 105th canon, which prohibits the granting of a divorce on the sole & unsupported testimony of the wife, would have precluded us from acting on this evidence. But as this ct. is not a ct. of ecclesiastical jurisdiction, nor bound in cases of divorce a vinculo by rules of merely ecclesiastical authority, it is at liberty to act, & bound to act, on any evidence legally admissible by which the fact of adultery is established ; &, therefore, if there is evidence, not open to exception, of admissions of adultery by the principal resp., it would be the duty of the ct. to act on such admissions, although there might be a total absence of all other evidence to support them. No doubt, the admissions of a wife, unsupported by corroborative proof, should be received with the utmost circumspection & caution. Not only is the danger of collusion to be guarded against, but other sinister motives which might lead to the making of such admissions, if, though unsupported, they could effect their purpose, are sufficient to render it the duty of the ct. to proceed with the utmost caution in giving effect to statements of this kind ; the more so, as it must always be borne in mind that co-resp., though not in a legal point of view interested in the result, inasmuch as from the absence of evidence available as against him, he is entitled to an acquittal, has yet, socially & morally, the deepest interest in the result. Nevertheless, if, after looking at the evidence with all the distrust & vigilance with which it ought to be regarded, the ct. should come to the conclusion, first, that the evidence is trustworthy ; secondly, that it amounts to a clear, distinct, & unequivocal admission of adultery, we have no hesitation in saying that the ct. ought to act upon such evidence & afford to the injured party the redress sought for. The admission of a party charged with a criminal or wrongful act has at all times, & in all systems of jurisprudence, been considered as most cogent & conclusive proof ; &, if all doubt of its genuineness & sincerity be removed, we see no reason why such a confession should not, as against the party making it, have full effect given to it in cases like the present (COCKBURN, C.J.).

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (f) iii.

2777 i. General rule.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage, in the absence of collusion, an admission of guilt by one of the parties is cogent evidence which the ct. will act on, especially if the admission is corroborated by other evidence.—ARNOLD v. ARNOLD (1911), I. L. R. 38 Calc. 907.—IND.

(2) The counsel for resp. is entitled to address the ct. before the counsel for co-resp., but this may be varied by arrangement between the counsel.

Where by such arrangement co-resp.'s counsel first addressed the ct. & examined the witnesses, the counsel for resp. was not allowed to cross-examine such witnesses.

(3) Where petitioner's case depended on alleged confessions contained in the wife's diary, uncorroborated by independent evidence, the ct. exercised its discretion under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1858 (c. 108), & dismissed co-resp., who was thereupon examined for resp.

(4) On the acquittal of co-resp., the alleged adulterer, the suit against the wife need not of necessity fail.—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON & LANE (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 362 ; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 178 ; 31 L. T. O. S. 268 ; 33 L. T. O. S. 96 ; 5 Jur. N. S. 392 ; 164 E. R. 767.

Annotations :—As to (1) Consd. Williams v. Williams & Padfield (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 29. Refd. Re Forster v. Forster & Berridge (1863), 4 B. & S. 187 ; Warren v. Warren, [1925] P. 107. As to (3) Consd. Codrington v. Codrington & Anderson (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 62 ; Wilson v. Wilson (1872), L. R. 2 P. & D. 353. Refd. Re Forster v. Forster & Berridge (1863), 4 B. & S. 187 ; R. v. Manning (1883), 12 Q. B. D. 241 ; Crawford v. Crawford (1886), 11 P. D. 150. As to (4) Refd. Crawford v. Crawford (1886), 11 P. D. 150 ; R. v. Plummer, [1902] 2 K. B. 339.

2778. —— Inference from surrounding circumstances.]—Although it is the general practice in matrimonial cases not to act & grant relief upon uncorroborated confessions of adultery, there is no absolute rule of practice & no rule of law precluding the ct. from acting upon such uncorroborated evidence. The true test seems to be whether the ct. is satisfied from the surrounding circumstances in any particular & exceptional case that the confession is true. If so satisfied, it is open to the ct. to grant relief, notwithstanding the absence of independent corroborative testimony.

Semble : a solr. who has acted for resp. is a compellable witness ; & his evidence as to statements made by resp. may be accepted by the ct. in coming to a conclusion as to the truth of a confession of adultery made by resp.—GETTY v. GETTY, [1907] P. 334 ; 76 L. J. P. 158 ; 98 L. T. 60.

Annotation :—Folld. Weinberg v Weinberg (1910), 27 T. L. R. 9.

2779. —— ——.]—The ct. acted upon an uncorroborated confession of adultery, & pronounced a decree of divorce.

The true test seems to be whether the ct. is satisfied from the surrounding circumstances in any particular & exceptional case that the confession is true (EVANS, P.).—WEINBERG v. WEINBERG (1910), 27 T. L. R. 9.

2780. Whether essential.]—This is a proceeding to obtain divorce on a charge of adultery. It is undoubtedly true, that direct evidence of the fact is not required, as it would render the relief of the husband almost impracticable ; but I take the rule to be that there must be such proximate circumstances proved, as by former decisions, or on their own nature & tendency, satisfy the legal conviction of the ct. that the criminal act has been committed (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).

Confession is a species of evidence which, though not inadmissible, is to be regarded with great distrust. There is a canon particularly pointed against it, which says, "nec partium confessioni fides habeatur" ; & though it is evidence which is not absolutely excluded, but is received in conjunction with other circumstances, yet it is, on all occasions, to be most accurately weighed (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS (1798), 1 Hag. Con. 299 ; 161 E. R. 559.

2781. ——.]—CREWE v. CREWE, No. 3133, post.

2782. ——.]—BURGESS v. BURGESS (1817), 2 Hag. Con. 223 ; 161 E. R. 723.

Annotation :—Distd. Grover v. Grover (1836), 5 Notes of Cases, 463.

2783. ——.]—(1) In a suit for divorce by reason of the adultery of the wife, where there was no evidence, even from the female servants in the family, of indecent familiarities, or improprieties, between her & the paramour, a sentence of separation was founded upon her confession to two witnesses, coupled with proof of extreme familiar intimacy between the parties, of which they availed themselves to an extent inconsistent with their relative duties, & of ample opportunities.

I am forbidden by the 105th Canon to pro-

2780 i. Whether essential.] — Where there is an admission of adultery, corroboration will be required unless the admission is entirely free from suspicion. — EDMONDS v. EDMONDS (1912), 20 W. L. R. 541 ; 1 D. L. R. 550 ; 17 B. C. R. 28.—CAN.

2780 ii. ——.]—The ct. in cases of divorce seldom acts on admissions alone, but requires evidence to support the probability of the facts admitted. —C. v. C., [1919] 1 W. W. R. 982.—CAN.

2780 iii. ——.]—In proceedings for divorce, where the ct. is satisfied there is no collusion, it should act on evidence of admissions of adultery made to petitioner's solr., though it is undesirable that the proceedings should depend on such evidence.—S. v. S. (1920), 2 W. W. R. 295.—CAN.

2780 iv. ——.]—Where there is unexceptional evidence of admissions of adultery by the principal resp. it is the duty of the ct. to act upon such admissions even in the absence of any corroborative evidence of the same. Such evidence of admissions by a wife, however, should in the absence of corroboration, be regarded with the utmost suspicion, & should it appear that they were made solely with the intention of setting free a guilty party, no decree of divorce can be granted.—ESTEN v. ESTEN (1922), 66 D. L. R. 121.—CAN.

2780 v. ——.]—MORROW v. MORROW, [1914] 2 I. R. 183.—IR.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 3, B. (f) iii., & C., D. & E (a).]

nounce a separation on confession alone; & the reason obviously is this—no tribunal is to be trusted with the power to determine that which is impossible, namely, whether such a confession be genuine or false. Still it is evidence of the highest character. . . . There must be other evidence then, though I am not aware of any case in which the quantum or description, as auxiliary to a confession, has been the subject of discussion (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(2) There are two requisites to a confession: one, that a witness truly states that which purports to be a confession; the other, that the party making the confession speaks the truth (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(3) Letters of the wife withheld from the ct.

A letter said to have been written by her [the wife], & which is said to admit the offence of adultery . . . is withheld. . . . If the ct. had been applied to, I entertain not any shadow of doubt of its power to enforce the production of the letter, or any other document essential to the due administration of justice & the investigation of the truth (DR. LUSHINGTON).—NOVERRE v. NOVERRE (1846), 1 Rob. Eccl. 428; 4 Notes of Cases, 652; 10 Jur. 622; 163 E. R. 1090.

Annotation:—As to (1) Expld. Tucker v. Tucker (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 458.

2784. ——.]—Decree nisi granted on admissions made by resp. & not repeated in presence of the ct. itself, corroborative evidence of the specific acts being dispensed with.—DEEBLE v. DEEBLE (1887), 3 T. L. R. 353.

2785. —— Safeguard against collusion—Letters to third parties.]—The rule of the ct. against acting in a suit for separation on a mere confession of guilt, being based on a fear of collusion between husband & wife, may perhaps be extended to a confession by unsuspected letters to third parties but does not apply to confessions in perfectly genuine letters when there is not the slightest idea of collusion.—OWEN v. OWEN (1831), 4 Hag. Ecc. 261; 162 E. R. 1441.

2786. —— ——.]—(1) Divorce by reason of adultery, at the suit of the husband, pronounced for on the confession of the wife, aided by supplemental evidence not in itself amounting to proof of adultery. With regard to separations both a mensâ et thoro & pro dirimendo matrimonii vinculo, the ct. is bound not to pronounce a sentence of separation, on a charge of adultery, upon the confession of the wife or the husband alone, to guard against the possibility of imposition by confessions which may be collusive, with the consent of both parties, to obtain that separation.

(2) No one shall be bound to prove the precise time & place where the adultery occurred.—TUCKER v. TUCKER (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 458; 11 Jur. 893.

2787. —— Petitioner examined.]—TATHAM v. TATHAM & NUTT, No. 4424, post.

2788. —— Respondent giving evidence against co-respondent.]—MILLER v. MILLER & FOWLER (1905), Times, Mar. 8, 9, 10.

2789. —— Court satisfied of truth of confessions.]—S. C. petitioned for dissolution of marriage, alleging that his wife, D. C., had committed adultery with D. The only evidence in support of the allegation were confessions made by the wife to petitioner & his sister. The ct. granted a decree nisi, being satisfied that the confessions were true & had not been made for the purpose of bringing about a dissolution of the marriage tie, but solely in order to obtain the husband's forgiveness.—COLLINS v. COLLINS & DEAL (1916), 115 L. T. 936; 33 T. L. R. 123; 61 Sol. Jo. 184.

2790. Sufficiency of—Admission by co-respondent.]—In a suit for a dissolution of marriage, the only evidence of adultery consisted of written & verbal admissions by resp., & of a verbal admission by co-resp. The ct. being satisfied, from the circumstances under which these admissions were made, & the conduct of resp. at the time when they were made & subsequently, that they were genuine, & that there was no reasonable ground to suspect collusion, pronounced a decree nisi, with costs against co-resp.—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS & PADFIELD (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 29; 35 L. J. P. & M. 8; 13 L. T. 610.

Annotations:—Apld. Le Marchant v. Le Marchant & Radcliff (1876), 45 L. J. P. 43. Refd. Warren v. Warren, [1925] P. 107.

2791. —— ——.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage promoted by the husband, the evidence adduced at the hearing of the case in proof of the adultery charged against resp. & co-resp. consisted exclusively of confessions by the wife, but on a subsequent day the counsel for co-resp. stated that he was instructed to admit the adultery charged against him. The ct. being satisfied that both the confession of the wife & the admission of co-resp., which was against interest, were bonâ fide, acted upon them, & pronounced a decree for the dissolution of the marriage.—LE MARCHANT v. LE MARCHANT & RADCLIFF (1876), 45 L. J. P. 43; 34 L. T. 367; 24 W. R. 374.

2792. Co-respondent charged in presence of witnesses—No reply to charge.]—A husband, who petitioned for the dissolution of his marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery with co-resp., produced evidence at the hearing to show that he & a sergeant of police traced resp. & co-resp. to the house of the latter's sister, & that in the presence of all five persons questions were put to resp., & admissions were made by her, that incriminating allegations were made against her & co-resp. by the landlady, & that co-resp. said nothing in reply:—Held: this was not sufficient legal proof that adultery had, in fact, been committed at that house, & the case must stand over for direct evidence to be given by the landlady.—WHITE v. WHITE & JEROME (1890), 62 L. T. 663.

C. Corroboration of Testimony.

As to corroboration of confessions, see Sub-sect. 3, B. (f) iii., ante.

2793. Whether essential—Uncorroborated evidence of petitioner.]—As a general rule of practice the ct. will not act upon the uncorroborated evidence of a petitioner; but there is no rule of law which prohibits it from acting on such evidence if it is satisfied that the story put forward is a true one & that there is no collusion.—CURTIS v. CURTIS (1905), 21 T. L. R. 676.

Annotation:—Refd. Warren v. Warren, [1925] P. 107.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—C.

2793 i. Whether essential—Uncorroborated evidence of petitioner.]—BELL v. BELL (1899), 34 N. B. R. 615.—CAN.

■ 2793 ii. —— ——.]—The uncorroborated testimony of a husband of an admission to him by his wife of her adultery with co-resp. is not sufficient evidence upon which to found a petition for divorce.—COURTNEY v. COURTNEY (1895), 13 N. Z. L. R. 405.—N.Z.

2793 iii. —— ——.]—It is unusual to grant a decree for dissolution of marriage upon the unsupported evidence of petitioner, although this may be done if the ct. is of opinion that it can be safely done in a particular case.—ALLOM v. ALLOM (No. 2) (1909), 28 N. Z. L. R. 771.—N.Z.

2794. —— ——.]—In a husband's suit for dissolution of his marriage with resp. on the ground of her adultery with co-resp., petitioner gave evidence that he had found co-resp. in bed with resp., but his evidence was substantially uncorroborated:—Held: there being no statutory bar, the ct. was entitled to act on the uncorroborated evidence.—RICHES v. RICHES & CLINCH (1918), 35 T. L. R. 141; 63 Sol. Jo. 230.

2795. —— Where only one witness to adultery.]—The proof of adultery, in a suit for divorce, depending upon the evidence of one witness alone, is insufficient to entitle the promoter to his prayer.—EVANS v. EVANS (1844), 1 Rob. Eccl. 165; 3 Notes of Cases, 416; 2 L. T. O. S. 427; 3 L. T. O. S. 41; 8 Jur. 1055; 163 E. R. 1000.

Annotations:—Distd. Curtis v. Curtis (1846), 5 Moo. P. C. C. 252. Folld. Simmons v. Simmons (1848), 6 Notes of Cases, 578. Consd. Taylor v. Taylor (1848), 6 Notes of Cases, 558. Refd. Davidson v. Davidson (1856), Dea. & Sw. 132; Jenkyn v. Jenkyn (1856), Dea. & Sw. 268; Burder v. O'Neill (1863), 2 New Rep. 551.

2796. Woman of loose character.]—A charge of adultery in a suit by a wife for judicial separation rested upon the evidence of one witness, who was a woman of loose character. The ct., without deciding affirmatively whether or not the adultery charged had been committed, declined to pronounce a decree upon her uncorroborated testimony, & dismissed the petition.—GINGER v. GINGER (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 37; 35 L. J. P. & M. 9.

2797. Evidence in corroboration—Must relate to transaction sought to be proved—Not of mere probability.]—(1) An allegation, responsive to a libel for the restitution of conjugal rights, pleaded cruelty & adultery, which were held not to be proved. The charge of adultery rested on the testimony of the woman alone, with whom the husband had, previously to his marriage, cohabited. Evidence of mere probability of a transaction is not evidence to corroborate a single witness. To constitute evidence corroborative, the evidence must have relation to the transaction itself.

It is upon this principle [the necessity for corroboration of the evidence of an accomplice as to res gestæ] I conceive that the fact of petitioner having cohabited with P. prior to his marriage, is not in law corroborative of the evidence of P. to a connection afterwards. Certainly the existence of a former connection renders a renewal more probable than the commencement of an entirely new connection, but the existence of the former is a totally separate fact, & may be true without affording any proof of a subsequent connection (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(2) It is not the motives of suitors which the ct. sits to scan, its judgment must be founded on the acts done by them (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(3) If this fact [the putting in of a fictitious execution] be proved, it is one, no doubt, of great moral iniquity, & of gross & unjustifiable oppression, but I do not apprehend that I could found any judgment upon it as a substantive act of legal cruelty. . . . Such conduct, however censurable, does not import danger to life, limb, or health, the boundaries within which I am confined by the law (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(4) If a wife willingly cohabits with her husband after an act of cruelty such cohabitation operates as a condonation. The wife can never, after such cohabitation, found on that act of cruelty a matrimonial suit unless the cruelty be revived (DR. LUSHINGTON).—SIMMONS v. SIMMONS (1847), 1 Rob. Eccl. 566; 5 Notes of Cases, 324; 11 Jur. 830; 163 E. R. 1137; affd. (1848), 6 Notes of Cases, 578.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Davidson v. Davidson (1856), Dea. & Sw. 132. Refd. Weatherley v. Weatherley (1854), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 193; Burder v. O'Neill (1863), 9 L. T. 232; Norwich (Bp.) v. Berney (1866), 36 L. J. Eccl. 8. As to (2) Refd. Russell v. Russell, [1895] P. 315.

2798. —— Conduct of wife.]—KENRICK v. KENRICK, No. 2758, ante.

2799. ——.]—Divorce by reason of adultery by the husband against the wife sustained on direct proof by one witness of an act of adultery with one person, & proof by other witnesses of loose conduct & solicitation of chastity towards other persons.—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR (1848), 6 Notes of Cases, 558.

Annotation:—Refd. Simmons v. Simmons (1848), 6 Notes of Cases, 578.

2800. —— —— Letter of co-respondent in respondent's possession.]—A divorce a mensâ et thoro, on the ground of adultery, pronounced for, upon the evidence of a single witness, as to the cohabitation of the wife, after her elopement, there being corroborating circumstances.

In this case there are corroborating circumstances: the fact of the elopement; H.'s [co-resp.'s] letter, which was found in C.'s [resp.'s] wardrobe, which is proved to be in his handwriting. . . . These are such corroborating circumstances as take the case out of the rule (LORD BROUGHHAM).—CURTIS v. CURTIS (1846), 5 Moo. P. C. C. 252; 10 Jur. 165; 13 E. R. 487, P. C.

Annotation:—Mentd. Cavendish v. Cavendish & Rochefoucauld (1866), 15 W. R. 182.

2801. —— Of co-respondent's testimony—Previous statement of co-respondent.]—Co-resp., having given evidence that he had not committed adultery with resp., a letter written by him to resp., at a date subsequent to that on which adultery was now alleged to have taken place, but previous to any charge having been made, in which he referred to the fact that he had not "held her in his arms" since her marriage, was relied on to prove the truth of the fact stated in corroboration of the testimony of co-resp. in the box.—O'GORMAN v. O'GORMAN, PHILLIPS, GOLDBERG, & VON BORIS (1912), 56 Sol. Jo. 634.

D. Competency of Witnesses.

See Sect. 11, sub-sect. 3, A., post.

E. Admissibility of Evidence.

(a) In General.

2802. Acts other than those charged in petition—Subsequent acts of adultery—Showing character of previous familiarity.]—Evidence of acts of adultery, subsequent to the date of the latest act charged in 2795 i. —— Where only one witness to adultery.]—The rule of practice prevailing in contested cases is that the entirely uncorroborated evidence of one person is not taken to be sufficient to establish adultery. Adultery can, however, be established by the entirely uncorroborated evidence of one witness as to the particular act, provided that there is evidence of a similar character in regard to other offences which can be & are treated as corroboration.—COLLARD v. COLLARD (1921), I. L. R. 44 All. 254.—IND.

2795 ii. —— ——.]—It is not necessary that each act of criminal intercourse should be proved by two witnesses.—MURRAY v. MURRAY (1847), 9 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 1556.—SCOT.

1. indecent conduct-

With women other than alleged paramour.]—In a wife's action of divorce the evidence of a witness that defender had committed adultery with her was held to be completely corroborated by evidence of defender's indecent conduct to other women with whom adultery was not libelled.—WHYTE v. WHYTE (1884), 11 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 710.—SCOT.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect 3, E. (a) & (b), F. (a) & (b).]

the petition, is admissible, for the purpose of showing the character & quality of previous acts of improper familiarity.—BODDY v. BODDY & GROVER (1860), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 23.

Annotations :—Consd. R. v. Ball & Ball (1910), 5 Cr. App. Rep. 238. Refd. Stevenson v. Stevenson, [1911] P. 191.

2803. —— —— ——.]—Evidence of acts of adultery subsequent to the date of the petition may be admitted for the purpose of showing what inference the ct. ought to draw from evidence of previous acts of familiarity.—WALES v. WALES, [1900] P. 63 ; 69 L. J. P. 34.

2804. ——.]—HOWARD v. HOWARD (1904), Times, July 14.

2805. Venereal disease—Proof by official document—Army medical sheet.]—To prove that resp., a soldier in the army, had committed adultery, an army form medical sheet under rule 208 of the Royal Army Medical Service Rules, showing that resp. had been admitted to hospital suffering from a certain illness, was put in evidence :—Held : this being an official document properly produced was evidence of adultery.—GLEEN v. GLEEN (1900), 17 T. L. R. 62.

(b) Incontinence before Marriage.

2806. General rule.]—The wife's incontinence in her single state not pleadable in the first instance by the husband, in a suit for a separation a mensâ et thoro, by reason of adultery, against the wife.

If indeed the wife should set up a case of desertion by the husband, without any provocation on her part, her ante-nuptial misconduct might be fairly pleaded in his justification. It might, possibly, too, be fairly pleaded by the husband, responsively to the wife's libel, in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights. But, in this stage, at least, of the present cause, I am of opinion that its allegation is improper (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—PERRIN v. PERRIN (1822), 1 Add. 1 ; 162 E. R. 1.

Annotation :—Refd. Weatherley v. Weatherley (1854), 24 L. T. O. S. 35.

2807. ——.]—(1) In a cause of separation by reason of adultery, it is not competent for a husband in an initiatory libel, to plead ante-nuptial incontinence of the wife ; marriage is a condonation of such error ; but such fact may be pleaded in reply to a defensive charge by the wife of neglect or connivance.

(2) On the part of the wife, her seduction by the husband, cannot be pleaded ; it involves an issue which this ct. cannot try : but she may plead the fact of her cohabitation, when single, with the husband, in order to show a want of proper vigilance on his part over her subsequent moral conduct.

(3) It is competent to a wife to plead, that the husband introduced her to an improper acquaintance ; more especially when the husband is countercharged with having committed adultery with that party.

(4) Minute specification in pleading acts of adultery depends on the opportunities afforded for the commission of the offence ; if they have been frequent, e.g. during a period of four months, it is not necessary to allege particular dates & times. Secus, if such opportunities have been of rare occurrence.—GRAVES v. GRAVES (1842), 3 Curt. 235 ; 7 Jur. 181 ; 163 E. R. 714.

Annotations :—As to (1) Refd. Weatherley v. Weatherley (1854), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 193. Generally, Mentd. Salisbury v. Nugent (1883), 53 L. J. P. 23.

2808. ——.]—(1) General rule that marriage operates as an oblivion of the past, & that ante-nuptial incontinence cannot be pleaded.

(2) There may be exceptions to the rule, particularly when the person with whom ante-nuptial connection is charged is continued in the service of the husband after marriage ; & is, moreover, the person with whom he is charged with committing adultery.

In a suit for divorce, on the ground of adultery, it is allowable to plead undue familiarity & illicit intercourse antecedent to marriage, when the adultery is charged to have been committed with the same person as the ante-nuptial incontinence.—WEATHERLEY v. WEATHERLEY (1854), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 193 ; 24 L. T. O. S. 35 ; 18 Jur. 882 ; 164 E. R. 112.

Annotation :—As to (2) N.F. Fitzgerald v. Fitzgerald (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 12.

2809. Whether corroboration of evidence of adultery.]—SIMMONS v. SIMMONS, No. 2797, ante.

2810. When adultery charged with same person.] WEATHERLEY v. WEATHERLEY, No. 2808, ante.

2811. ——.]—In a petition for divorce on the ground of adultery, it is not competent to plead the ante-nuptial incontinence of resp., even though it & the adultery be charged to have been committed with the same person.—FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 12 ; 11 W. R. 85.

2812. ——.]—CANTELLO v. CANTELLO (1896), Times, Feb. 1.

2813. ——.]—KING v. KING & MILLER, KING v. KING (1901), 45 Sol. Jo. 240.

F. Remedies.

NOTE.—Either spouse may now found a petition for divorce on the ground of the adultery of the other.—See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 176.

(a) In General.

Judicial separation.]—See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 185 (1).

Divorce.]—See Note above.

(b) Petition for Damages only.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 189.

Assessment of damages, see Sect. 16, sub-sect. 5, post.

2814. General rule.]—BERNSTEIN v. BERNSTEIN, TURNER & SAMPSON, No. 3213, post.

2815. ——.]—A petition by a husband claiming damages only presented under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 33, is subject to the same

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3. F. (a).

m. Judicial separation.]—Adultery was committed by a husband, with his wife's knowledge, in the house where the husband & wife were at the time, although the wife had a separate residence ; the fact of adultery did not impair the wife's health :—Held : not to amount to such cruelty as, together with adultery, would entitle her to a divorce, but a decree of judicial separation was granted.—DORSETT v. DORSETT, [1921] 1 W. W. R. 708 ; 57 D. L. R. 636.—CAN.

n. ——.]—Held : judicial separation was a competent remedy to a wife whose husband had committed adultery.—WILSON v. WILSON (1866), 4 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 732 ; 38 Sc. Jur. 387.—SCOT.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—F. (b).

2814 i. General rule.]—A husband has a right to claim damages from a co-respondent, either by his petition for dissolution of marriage or by a separate petition.—MORT v. BRADLEY, [1916] S. A. L. R. 129.—AUS.

2814 ii. ——.]—Crim. con. is a cause of action distinct from enticing & improperly harbouring.—MARSON v. COULTER (1910), 16 W. L. R. 157 ; 3 Sask. L. R. 485.—CAN.

2814 iii. ——.]—A husband may insist in an action of damages against the adulterer.—PATERSON v. BONE (1803), 13 Fac. Coll. 283.—SCOT.

provisions as other petitions presented under the same Act.

Where, therefore, a husband presents a petition for damages only & has himself been guilty of a matrimonial offence, which, in the exercise of the discretion vested in the ct. would lead the ct. to refuse to grant him a decree in a suit if a dissolution of the marriage were claimed by him, he is, on the like ground, debarred from recovering damages from the adulterer.—COX v. COX & WARDE, [1906] P. 267; 75 L. J. P. 75; 95 L. T. 546; 22 T. L. R. 557.

Annotations:—Refd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126; Kent v. Atkinson, [1923] P. 142.

2816. Whether maintainable—Where parties separated.]—A husband separated from his wife cannot maintain an action for crim. con. after the separation.—BARTELOT v. HAWKER (1790), Peake, 10, N. P.

2817. — — ——.]—No action for crim. con. can be brought for any act of adultery, after a separation between husband & wife.—WEEDON v. TIMBRELL (1793), 5 Term Rep. 357; 1 Esp. 15; 101 E. R. 199.

Annotations:—Distd. Chambers v. Caulfield (1805), 6 East, 244. Folld. Harvey v. Watson (1844), 7 Man. & G. 644; Malcolmson v. Givins (1873), Times, Feb. 27. Mentd. Hall v. Hollander (1825), 4 B. & C. 660; Wilson v. Wilson (1854), 5 H. L. Cas. 40; Lynch v. Knight (1861), 5 L. T. 291.

2818. — — ——.]—(1) Where a husband & wife entered into a deed with a provision that in a certain event, & upon the consent of trustees, the wife should be permitted to live separate, & she did live separate from her husband, but without the consent of the trustees, & then committed adultery:—Held: the husband might bring an action for crim. con. against the adulterer.

(2) The ct. is not restrained from granting a new trial in a case of crim. con. for excessive damages, if it is satisfied that the jury acted under the influence of undue motives, or of gross error or misconception on the subject.—CHAMBERS v. CAULFIELD (1805), 6 East, 244; 2 Smith, K. B. 356; 102 E. R. 1280.

Annotations:—As to (2) Refd. Narracott v. Narracott & Hesketh (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 408. Generally, Mentd. Wilson v. Wilson (1854), 5 H. L. Cas. 40; Hunt v. Hunt (1861), 31 Beav. 89.

2819. — — ——.]—In trespass for crim. con. the ct. permitted deft. to plead not guilty, & also, valeat quantum, that, before & at the time of the committing of the trespass pltf. had relinquished & renounced the comfort & fellowship of his wife, & had finally separated himself by deed from her, & was living apart from her.—HARVEY v. WATSON (1844), 7 Man. & G. 644; 8 Scott, N. R. 379; 13 L. J. C. P. 218; 135 E. R. 259; sub nom. HARDY v. WATSON, 3 L. T. O. S. 221; sub nom. WATSON v. HARDY, 8 Jur. 605.

2820. — — ——.]—MALCOLMSON v. GIVINS (1873), Times, Feb. 27.

2821. — Petitioner party to own dishonour.]—HODGES v. WINDHAM, No. 3052, post.

2822. — — ——.]—(1) In an action for crim. con., pltf. will be entitled to a verdict, unless he has been in some degree a party to his own dishonour, either by giving a general licence to his wife, to conduct herself as she pleased with men generally, or by assenting to the particular act of adultery with deft., or by having totally & permanently given up all the advantage to be derived from her society.

(2) With respect to damages, if you are of opinion that pltf.'s wife would be of no service, but, on the contrary, a disservice to himself & his children, in that case, a small amount of damages will be sufficient. . . . It does not seem that pltf. has misconducted himself, & it does not appear to me, that any amount of damages, however small, will be any reflection upon him; because, though he has conducted himself with the utmost propriety, yet he may have lost a wife who was worth nothing (ALDERSON, J.).—WINTER v. HENN (1831), 4 C. & P. 494, N. P.

Annotations:—As to (2) Apld. Malcolmson v. Givins (1873), Times, Feb. 27. Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126. Refd. Bernstein v. Bernstein (1893), 69 L. T. 513. Generally, Refd. Harvey v. Watson (1844), 13 L. J. C. P. 218.

2823. — — ——.]—BERNSTEIN v. BERNSTEIN TURNER & SAMPSON, No. 3213, post.

2824. Petitioner guilty of matrimonial offence. —COX v. COX & WARDE, No. 2815, ante.

2825. — Death of wife before proceedings instituted.]—WILTON v. WEBSTER, No. 4720, post.

2826. — — ——.]—The true construction of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 33, is that the principles & practice which governed the old common law action for crim. con. are to apply to the remedy thereby substituted of a husband's petition for damages, except so far as they are contrary to overriding provisions of the Matrimonial Causes Act.

The petition for damages is independent of, & not ancillary to, a petition for divorce. The death of the wife pending suit did not destroy the cause of action at common law which arose when the o. —— Wife forgiven.]—Where a husband brought action for divorce on the ground of adultery & claimed damages against co-resp. & subsequently condoned the alleged adultery & discontinued the action against his wife he was allowed to continue the action against co-resp. but was required to amend his statement of claim to accord with his claim against the remaining deft. solely & eliminating matters irrelevant thereto.—WINFREY v. CLUTE, [1921] 2 W. W. R. 428; 57 D. L. R. 706; 16 Alta. L. R. 422; 59 D. L. R. 248.—CAN.

2824 i. Whether maintainable—Petitioner guilty of matrimonial offence.]—PATTERSON v. MCGREGOR (1869), 28 U. C. R. 280.—CAN.

p. —— By married woman—Against husband's paramour.]—Neither at common law, nor under Married Woman's Property Act, R. S. O. 1887, c. 132, will an action lie by a married woman against another woman to recover damages for alienation of her husband's affections, & for committing adultery with him.—LELLIS v. LAMBERT (1897), 24 A. R. 653.—CAN.

q. — — — —.]—LAWRY v. TUCKETT-LAWRY (1901), 2 O. L. R. 162.—CAN.

r. — — — — ——.]—WESTON v. PERRY (1909), 14 O. W. R. 956; 1 O. W. N. 155.—CAN.

s. Action for criminal conversation—Marriage must be strictly proved.]—Pltf. must give strict proof of his marriage. Mere casual conversations of deft., in which he has spoken of the woman as pltf.'s wife, or letters from him directed to her as such, are not sufficient.—CAMPBELL v. CARR (1843), 6 O. S. 482.—CAN.

t. —— ——.]—In actions of crim. con. it is necessary to prove the fact of marriage strictly.—ZIRAHAL v. SHATNEY (1912), 22 W. L. R. 336; 22 Man. L. R. 521; 20 Can. Crim. Cas. 205; 7 D. L. R. 554.—CAN.

a. — — — — PEPIN LAREUX, [1917] 3 W. W. R. 217.—CAN.

b. — — — — .]—ROBSON v. THORP, [1920] 3 W. W. R. 828.—CAN.

c. —— Wife a competent witness.]—In an action for seduction of a married woman the non-access of her husband, & her seduction by deft. may be proved by her own evidence.—MULLIGAN v. THOMPSON (1892), 23 O. R. 54.—CAN.

d. —— Statute of Limitations—No bar where adultery continues.]—Stat. Limitations is not a bar to an action for criminal conversation where the adulterous intercourse between deft. & pltf.'s wife has continued to a period within six years from the time the action is brought.—KING v. BAILEY (1901), 31 S. C. R. 338.—CAN.

e. — — — — Six years.]—An action for crim. con. is an action upon the case within Limitations Act, R. S. O. 1914, c. 75, s. 49 (1) (g), & the period of limitation is six years.—

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 3, F. (b); sub-sects. 4, 5, 6, 7 & 8, A. & B. (a).]

wrong was done; & there is no reason why her death before action should have any different effect. The death of the wife does not therefore prevent the husband filing a petition for damages, unless there are overriding provisions to be found in the Act. The clauses in s. 33 which require that the petition must be brought by a husband & must be served on the wife, & give the ct. control of the application of damages, cannot be regarded as such overriding provisions. A petition for damages may therefore be presented after the death of the wife.—KENT v. ATKINSON, [1923] P. 142; 92 L. J. P. 54; 129 L. T. 473; 39 T. L. R. 404.

2827. By whom maintainable—"Husband"—Capable of filing petition for dissolution or judicial separation.]—The words "any husband" in Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 33, mean "any husband who can file a petition for dissolution of judicial separation" (for which domicil or residence is necessary) & not "any husband irrespective of domicil."—HARRIS v. TAYLOR (1914), 111 L. T. 564; on appeal, [1915] 2 K. B. 580, C. A.

Annotation:—Mentd. Moreland v. Eley, Eley v. Moreland, [1916] 1 K. B. 85.

2828. Not affected by result of petition for dissolution—Petition against one co-respondent—Decree on ground of adultery with co-respondent added subsequently—Cause of action against first co-respondent not abated.]—STOCKER v. STOCKER, BRICE & PATTERSON, No. 3228, post.

Petition for dissolution—Claim for damages against co-respondent.]—See Sect. 8, sub-sect. 1, F. (b), post.

SUB-SECT. 4.—INCESTUOUS ADULTERY.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 176.

Consanguinity & affinity.]—See Part II., Sect. 5, ante.

SUB-SECT. 5.—BIGAMY AND ADULTERY.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 176.

SUB-SECT. 6.—COMMISSION OF UNNATURAL OFFENCES.

2829. With wife—Against her consent.]—Sodomy committed by a husband with his wife against her consent is a matrimonial offence within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 27.—C. v. C. (1905), 22 T. L. R. 26.

2830. Proof of—Necessity for corroborative evidence.]—Weight given by the ct. to the wife's evidence of unnatural connection had, or attempted to be had, with her by the husband, & to evidence tending to prove the existence of gonorrhoea, & of its wilful communication by husband to wife.

The crime here imputed is so heinous & so contrary to experience, that it would be most unreasonable to find a verdict of guilty where there is simply oath against oath, without any further evidence, direct or circumstantial, to support the charge (per CUR.).—N—— v. N—— (1862), 3 Sw. & Tr. 234; 9 L. T. 265; 9 Jur. N. S. 1203; 164 E. R. 1264.

Annotation:—Refd. Browning v. Browning, [1911] P. 161.

2831. —— Conviction of husband.]—BROMLEY v. BROMLEY (1794), 1 Hag. Con. 141, n.; 161 E. R. 504.

Annotation:—Mentd. Burder v. —— (1844), 3 Curt. 822.

2832. —— ——.]—The wife's libel in a divorce cause, charging cruelty & unnatural practices, on the husband admitted to proof; the case charged, at least taken as a whole, being held to be one per quod consortium amittitur.—MOGG v. MOGG (1824), 2 Add. 292; 162 E. R. 301.

Annotation:—Mentd. Burder v. —— (1844), 3 Curt. 822.

2833. —— Insufficient evidence.]—GEILS v. GEILS, No. 2464, ante.

Remedy—Divorce.]—See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 176 (b).

SUB-SECT. 7.—RAPE.

See, generally, CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XV., pp. 842 et seq., Nos. 9258 et seq.

2834. Proof—Independence of verdict on criminal charge.]—Upon a wife's petition, charging resp. with incestuous adultery with his own child, a girl of thirteen years of age, it appeared that a jury in a criminal ct. had acquitted resp. of the more serious charge, but convicted him of an attempt to carnally know the child. The ct., notwithstanding the certificate of conviction, allowed evidence to be given to prove that incestuous adultery had, in fact, taken place, &, finding this as a fact, pronounced a decree nisi dissolving resp.'s marriage with petitioner.—VIRGO v. VIRGO (1893), 69 L. T. 460.

2835. —— ——.]—A wife may obtain a divorce from her husband for rape, though he has only been prosecuted & convicted under Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1885 (c. 69), s. 4, of an attempt to have unlawful carnal knowledge of a girl under the age of thirteen years.—COFFEY v. COFFEY, [1898] P. 169; 67 L. J. P. 86; 78 L. T. 796.

Annotation:—Folld. Bosworthick v. Bosworthick (1901), 86 L. T. 121.

2836. —— ——.]—(1) A wife may obtain a divorce from her husband for rape, though he has been prosecuted & convicted for indecent assault only [under Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1885 (c. 69)].

(2) Alternatively, a wife will be entitled to a decree of judicial separation on the ground of cruelty if the conduct of the husband has been such as to cause a breakdown of her health, by reason of the disgrace & shock arising out of his conviction.—BOSWORTHICK v. BOSWORTHICK (1901), 86 L. T. 121; 50 W. R. 217; 18 T. L. R. 104.

Remedy—Divorce.]—See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 176 (b).

SUB-SECT. 8.—DESERTION.

A. In General.

2837. May exist without previous cohabitation.]—There may be desertion without previous cohabitation.

GRAY v. QUINN (1921), 64 D. L. R. 719; 51 O. L. R. 128.—CAN.

f. —— Admissibility of evidence of defendant's wealth.]—In actions for crim. con. evidence may be given of deft.'s wealth if deft. made use of his superior financial position to corrupt the wife. This evidence is admissible, not in order to ascertain what damages deft. should be made to pay, but to show that the value of the wife to the husband must have been all the greater if it required special inducements of this sort on the part of deft. to bring about the seduction.—HANSELMAN v. GEZY, [1921] 2 W. W. R. 979; 14 Sask. L. R. 382.—CAN.

A husband & wife were married at a registry office in Edinburgh. From there they drove immediately in a carriage alone together to the Roman Catholic cathedral, where the religious ceremony was performed, after which they walked arm in arm to the church door. There they parted, & never met again except at a railway station for a few minutes. They never cohabited together &, except as above, where never alone together after the ceremony. The marriage was never consummated. The wife's father refused to consent to any cohabitation between them until the husband was in a position to keep his wife. The husband made no attempt to cohabit with his wife, & was not heard of for some years, when it was discovered that he was living in adultery with another woman. During all this time the wife was always ready & willing to cohabit with her husband, until she discovered his adultery. On the wife's petition for a dissolution of her marriage on the ground of her husband's adultery & desertion: —Held: resp. had been guilty of desertion, although there had been no previous cohabitation between the parties.—DE LAUBENQUE v. DE LAUBENQUE, [1899] P. 42; 68 L. J. P. 20; 79 L. T. 708.

2838. May exist though marriage not consummated.]—The fact that the marriage has not been consummated is no bar to a divorce being granted on the grounds of desertion & adultery.—LEE SHIRES v. LEE SHIRES (1910), 54 Sol. Jo. 874.

2839. A continuing offence.]—BOWRON v. BOWRON, No. 6168, post.

Whether withdrawal from existing cohabitation essential.]—See Sub-sect. 9, B. (b), post.

B. What is Desertion.

(a) In General.

2840. Question of fact.]—The facts which constitute desertion, as ground for a decree, vary with the circumstances & mode of life of the married persons. So long as a husband treats his wife as a wife, by maintaining such degree & manner of intercourse as might naturally be expected from a husband of his calling & means, he cannot be said to have deserted her.

To neglect opportunities of consorting with a wife is not necessarily to desert her.—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 547; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 172; 10 L. T. 846; 10 Jur. N. S. 870; 164 E. R. 1388.

Annotation:—Refd. Fitzgerald v. Fitzgerald (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 694.

2841. ——.]—R. v. DAVIDSON, ETC., DURHAM JJ. (1889), 5 T. L. R. 199, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Forster v. Forster (1910), 54 Sol. Jo. 403.

2842. ——.]—R. v. BIRWISTLE, ETC. JJ., No. 6096, post.

2843. ——.]—R. v. LERESCHE, No. 2910, post.

2844. Defined generally.]—YEATMAN v. YEATMAN, No. 3001, post.

2845. ——.]—(1) No one can desert who does not actually & wilfully bring to an end an existing state of cohabitation.

(2) If the state of cohabitation has ceased to exist, whether by the adverse act of husband & wife, or even by the mutual consent of both, desertion becomes impossible to either, at least until their common life & home has been resumed.

(3) The refusal by either of the request of the other, to resume conjugal relations, does not constitute the offence of desertion.

(4) A wife having reason to believe that her husband had been guilty of adultery, separated from him, & instituted a suit for divorce in which she failed. They never afterwards resumed cohabitation, & neither of them took any step for the purpose of bringing about a reconciliation:—Held: the conduct of the husband in holding aloof from the wife, & making no demand for cohabitation, did not constitute desertion.

(5) Cohabitation may be put an end to by other acts besides that of actually quitting the common home. Advantage may be taken of temporary absence or separation to hold aloof from a renewal of intercourse. This done wilfully, against the wish of the other party, & in execution of a design to cease cohabitation would constitute desertion (per CUR.).—FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 694; 38 L. J. P. & M. 14; 19 L. T. 575; 17 W. R. 264; subsequent proceedings (1874), L. R. 3 P. & D. 136.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Mahoney v. M'Carthy, [1892] P. 21; Chudley v. Chudley (1893), 62 L. J. M. C. 97. Distd. Cowley v. Cowley (1897), Times, Feb. 3. Consd. Huxtable v. Huxtable (1899), 68 L. J. P. 83; Kay v. Kay, [1904] P. 382; Pulford v. Pulford, [1923] P. 18. Refd. R. v. Leresche, [1891] 2 Q. B. 418; Chudley v. Chudley (1893), 69 L. T. 617; Wilkinson v. Wilkinson (1894), 58 J. P. 415; Synge v. Synge, [1901] P. 317. As to (2) Consd. Mahoney v. M'Carthy, [1892] P. 21; Chudley v. Chudley (1893), 69 L. T. 617; Bradshaw v. Bradshaw, [1897] P. 24. Refd. R. v. Leresche, [1891] 2 Q. B. 418; Cowley v. Cowley (1897), Times, Feb. 3; Kay v. Kay, [1904] P. 382. As to (3) Distd. R. v. Davidson, etc., Durham JJ. (1889), 5 T. L. R. 199. Consd. Synge v. Synge, [1901] P. 317. As to (4) Consd. Garcia v. Garcia (1888), 13 P. D. 216; Bradshaw v. Bradshaw, [1897] P. 24; De Laubenque v. De Laubenque, [1899] P. 42. As to (5) Consd. Kay v. Kay, [1904] P. 382. Refd. Mahoney v. M'Carthy, [1892] P. 21; Wassell v. Wassell (1899), 68 L. J. P. 127; Synge v. Synge, [1901] P. 317; Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123.

2846. ——.]—(1) The statement of LORD PENZANCE [in Fitzgerald v. Fitzgerald, No. 2845, ante] that "Desertion means abandonment, & implies an active withdrawal from a cohabitation that exists," is not an exhaustive definition of desertion. The conduct of the party charged must be looked at. If he or she has not recognised the duty of cohabitation in the married state, desertion has arisen. There may be a complete renunciation of that conjugal duty & an intention to put an end to cohabitation, though there is no matrimonial home, & cohabitation as an existing state of things has been suspended by circumstances not under the control of the party.

Desertion is not withdrawal from a place, but from a state of things. Though cohabitation be suspended by the removal of his wife to an asylum, the husband's duty has not ceased, & his refusal to resume cohabitation on her recovery may constitute desertion.

(2) The fact that a summons under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), does not give the date of the commencement of the desertion is not a material objection to the order.—PULFORD v. PULFORD, [1923] P. 18; 92 L. J. P.

cohabitation.]—After the ceremony of marriage was performed, but before cohabitation took place, a husband wilfully abandoned his wife, without her consent, & did not return. The wife petitioned for a dissolution of the marriage, on the ground of desertion: —Held: to constitute desertion previous cohabitation was unnecessary.—JOHNSTON v. JOHNSTON (1895), 21 V. L. R. 416.—AUS.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 8.—B. (a).

2844 i. Defined generally.]—Desertion under Indian Divorce Act implies "an abandonment against the wish of the person charging it," & although the word "abandonment" is undefined, the effect of the clause is to introduce into the Indian Statute the view adopted by the cts. in England in construing the English Act. A wife is bound, when seeking to prove desertion, to give evidence of conduct on her part, showing unmistakably that such desertion was against her will.—FOWLE v. FOWLE (1878), I. L. R. 4 Calc. 260; 3 C. L. R. 484.—IND.

g. —— Malicious desertion.]—

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 8, B. (a), (b) & (c).]

14; 128 L. T. 256; 39 T. L. R. 35; 67 Sol. Jo. 170, D. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Expld. Jackson v. Jackson, [1924] P. 19. Refd. Bowron v. Bowron, [1925] P. 187.

2847. Whether absence of husband—In ordinary occupation as mariner.]—(1) Qu.: whether, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 21, a woman, resident within the City of London can obtain an order for protection of her property.

(2) The absence of a husband in his ordinary occupation as mariner does not constitute desertion; & the ct. cannot take into consideration an actual desertion in past years, which has been terminated by a return to cohabitation.

The former desertion was entirely put an end to by the return to cohabitation. I cannot connect the present absence with the former. Revival of condoned cruelty by a slight act of cruelty goes on the principle that, taken altogether, the husband's conduct shows such an animus as renders it unsafe for the wife to live with him; but desertion under this sect. is quite a different matter (per CUR.).—Ex p. ALDRIDGE (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 88; 31 L. T. O. S. 40; 6 W. R. 507; 164 E. R. 641.

2848. Mere neglect of opportunities of consorting—Insufficient.]—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS, No. 2840, ante.

2849. Wilful separation—Without consent—For no specified period.]—R. v. LERESCHE, No. 2910, post.

2850. —— —— Or reasonable cause.] (1) Cohabitation of husband & wife does not necessarily mean that they should be under one roof, but in order to maintain cohabitation no suspension must have taken place of such conjugal relations as have normally existed; whichever of them brings these to an end cannot afterwards complain of desertion by the other of them.

Desertion is a wilful separation by resp. from petitioner without either consent or reasonable cause (GORELL BARNES, J.).

(2) A finding by a jury of desertion as having commenced under such circumstances subsequent to the separation is irrelevant, & a judicial separation will not be granted. The available remedy is by restitution of conjugal rights. The party complaining of desertion must have so acted towards the other party as to permit his or her return during the statutory period of two years. The filing, prosecution, & maintaining of a petition for dissolution of marriage are proceedings which prevent such return by showing an unwillingness to receive back, & a party resorting to them cannot subsequently complain of desertion.

In order that desertion may continue for two years, it is necessary that the same state of things may be maintained throughout the whole of that period; & if a wife wishes her husband to return & put an end to the desertion & yet meanwhile files a petition for divorce, charging him with cruelty & adultery, which charges in the present case have turned out to be utterly unfounded, she has by her action placed it out of the power of her husband to do anything. By her own action the wife has shown that she was unwilling that her husband should return to her, & it is impossible to treat her as a woman willing to receive him back, as she has put it out of his power to return (GORELL BARNES, J.).

(3) To entitle an unsuccessful wife to secured costs it is essential that they should be the costs arising from the making of substantial allegations & reasonably incurred costs of allegations which have no prospect of success are incurred at the risk of the party making them, & not that of the party giving security.—KAY v. KAY, [1904] P. 382; 73 L. J. P. 108; 91 L. T. 360; 20 T. L. R. 521; 53 W. R. Digest, 49.

Annotations:—As to (2) Expld. Dodd v. Dodd, [1906] P. 189. Refd. Stevenson v. Stevenson, [1911] P. 191. As to (3) Refd. Huntly-Gordon v. Huntly-Gordon (1908), 24 T. L. R. 806.

2851. —— —— ——.]—FROWD v. FROWD, No. 6106, post.

2852. Abandonment by one spouse of other - Or causing other spouse to live apart. Desertion in matrimonial law must include the abandonment by one spouse of the other, or causing her or him to live apart. The mere refusal or abandonment of sexual intercourse while the parties continue to abide under the same roof is not desertion.

If there is abandonment by one of the spouses of the other, that is desertion. If one of the spouses causes the other to live separate & apart, that is desertion. I am not going to attempt an exhaustive definition of desertion. No judge, so far as I am aware has sought to do so, & certainly there is no prospect of its being successfully done (DUKE, P.).—JACKSON v. JACKSON, [1924] P. 19; 40 T. L. R. 45.

Annotations:—Refd. Bowron v. Bowron, [1925] P. 187.

2853. Order in which parties leave matrimonial home immaterial.]—SICKERT v. SICKERT, No. 2930, Constructive desertion.]—See Sub-sect. 8, B. (f), post.

2854. Desertion under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4—Same as under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85).] FROWD v. FROWD, No. 6106, post.

See Sect. 27, sub-sect. 2, B., post.

(b) Withdrawal from Existing State of Cohabitation.

2855. What amounts to cohabitation - Intermittent cohabitation.] FARMER v. FARMER, No. 2914, post.

2856. —— ——.]—A husband & wife, who were married in 1866, separated in 1870 by mutual consent, owing to the husband's pecuniary embarrassments. The wife set up in business, adopting an assumed name to prevent the husband's creditors becoming aware of that fact. The husband visited her clandestinely from time to time, & sometimes passed the night with her, & this state of things continued down to Aug. 1885, after which date no marital intercourse took place. The husband's visits continued, however, & friendly letters passed between him & his wife, down to the institution of these proceedings. The husband

Malicious desertion is the wilful absenting of himself or herself by one spouse from the society of the other against the desire of the latter with the deliberate intention of abandoning conjugal relations.—BOYER v. BOYER (1894), 15 N. L. R. 124.—S. AF.

2849 i. Wilful separation—Without consent—For no specified period.]—A husband went to live with his parents:—Held: desertion for the husband had no right to take up his own residence in a place where his wife could not go, & then tell her to maintain herself.—GOODFRIEND v. GOODFRIEND (1912), 21 O. W. R. 637; 3 O. W. N. 784; 1 D. L. R. 368.—CAN.

2849 ii. —— —— ——.]—HILL v. HILL (1923), I. L. R. 47 Bom. 657.—IND.

2849 iii. —— —— ——.]—MULHERRON v. MULHERRON, [1923] S. C. 461.—SCOT.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 8.—B. (b).

h. Whether necessary at time of alleged desertion.]—To constitute malicious desertion the deserter must actually & wilfully bring to an end the made his wife an allowance for the support of herself & the only child of the marriage, a daughter, who always had lived with her mother from the time of the separation, & had passed under the assumed name adopted by her mother, down to the beginning of the year 1888, when, on being married in her right name, questions were raised as to her legitimacy, & a notice of the marriage was inserted, giving the full name & address of her father. It then appeared that the husband had for some years been living in adultery with a woman who passed as his wife. Some of the wife's letters to her husband showed that she had for years had at least very strong suspicions of his adultery, but she took no steps to ascertain the truth, nor did she request him to return to cohabitation with her or to give up the woman:—Held: there was cohabitation, albeit intermittent in its nature, which was capable of being broken off; such cohabitation was, in fact, brought to an end in Aug. 1885, upon the wife becoming almost certain that her husband had committed adultery; desertion thereupon commenced; & the wife was entitled to have her marriage dissolved on the ground of such desertion coupled with adultery.

v. GARCIA (1888), 13 P. D. 216; 57 L. J. P. 101; 59 L. T. 524; 52 J. P. 581; 4 T. L. R. 702.

2857. —— Temporary separation for mutual convenience.]—CHUDLEY v. CHUDLEY, No. 2900, 2858. —— Daily & nightly residence together not essential.]—Cohabitation does not necessarily imply the daily & nightly residence together of a husband & wife under the same roof. Circumstances of life, such as business duties, domestic service, & other things, may separate husband & wife, & yet notwithstanding there may be an existing state of cohabitation.

A husband & wife married in 1890 & cohabited together, in common service, till 1892, when they parted by mutual agreement, to find work, until such time as they should be able to save money for the purpose of getting together a home. The husband obtained work & made his wife an allowance up to Nov. 1898. He visited her occasionally up to some time in 1897. In 1899 he wrote, "I am not going to have any more to do with you as man & wife." The wife took out a summons against him under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), on the ground of desertion. He counter-charged adultery against her. The justices found that as they were already living apart by mutual consent there was no desertion, & dismissed the summons without going into the question of the wife's alleged adultery:—Held: the husband had deserted his wife, & the case must be remitted to the justices for further hearing on the question of the wife's adultery. The wife was allowed her costs of the appeal.—HUXTABLE v. HUXTABLE (1899), 68 L. J. P. 83, D. C.

2859. —— —— Married domestic servants employed in different houses.]—BRADSHAW v. BRADSHAW, No. 6086, post.

2860. —— Parties living under same roof—In self-contained parts of same house.]—The occupation of a separate dwelling-house is not a necessary ingredient in the matrimonial offence of desertion of a wife. That desertion for two years may be constituted by the refusal for that period of matrimonial cohabitation. The forsaking the wife's bed, avoiding her society, & seclusion of himself from her in a separate part of a common residence may amount to such refusal by the husband.—POWELL v. POWELL, [1922] P. 278; 92 L. J. P. 6; 128 L. T. 26; 38 T. L. R. 844.

Annotation:—Consd. Jackson v. Jackson, [1924] P. 19.

2861. —— —— Refusal of intercourse.]—JACKSON v. JACKSON, No. 2852, ante.

2862. Withdrawal for nine years—No contribution to wife's support.]—WEAVER v. WEAVER (1892), 8 T. L. R. 565.

2863. Whether necessary at time of alleged desertion—Wife living apart without good reason.]—FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD, No. 2845, ante.

2864. —— Cohabitation ended by deed of separation.]—R. v. LERESCHE, No. 2910, post.

2865. —— Separation immediately after marriage.]—DE LAUBENQUE v. DE LAUBENQUE, No. 2837, ante.

2866. —— Effect of filing of petition.]—KAY v. KAY, No. 2850, ante.

2867. —— Removal of wife to lunatic asylum.]—PULFORD v. PULFORD, No. 2846, ante.

(c) Intention to Desert.

2868. Necessity for.]—FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD, No. 2845, ante.

2869. ——.]—TOWNSEND v. TOWNSEND, No. 2892, post.

2870. SICKERT v. SICKERT, No. 2930, post.

2871. Evidence of—Wilful absence against wishes of wife—Not if absence necessitated by employment.]—To entitle a wife to a judicial separation, on the ground of desertion without cause for two years & upwards, the husband must have wilfully absented himself from her in spite of her wish.

In 1812, A., having failed in business at Leeds, sent his wife & children to her father, who lived there, & went to London for the purpose of obtaining employment. In the course of that year he wrote several letters in affectionate terms, expressing a hope that they might soon be able to live together again, & in the latter ones complaining that she did not answer his letters. She answered none of them; & no communication took place until 1850, when he went to Leeds & saw his wife, & said that he should come the next day, but did not do so. They never afterwards met or communicated with each other. From the time A. first left Leeds he never contributed to the support of his wife or children, nor had his wife expressed to him a desire to live with him again. The wife having presented a petition for judicial separation, on the ground of desertion without cause for two years & upwards:—Held: refusing a grant of judicial separation, there was no desertion in the first instance, the husband not having wilfully absented himself, but of existing state of cohabitation with the deliberate purpose of abandoning conjugal society.—JAMES v. JAMES (1901), 22 N. L. R. 265.—S. AF.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 8.—B. (c).

2868 i. Necessity for.]—In order to constitute desertion there must be a cessation of cohabitation & an intention on the part of the accused party to desert the other.—Gow v. Gow, [1921] N. Z. L. R. 695.—N.Z.

k. Evidence of—Wilful absence against wishes of wife.]—Where a separation was begun by the wife leaving home owing to the conduct on the part of her husband which justified her in withdrawing herself temporarily from his society, & the husband afterwards, when the wife desired to return to him, absconded & held no further communication with her:—Held: that the husband was guilty of desertion.—WHITE v. WHITE (1908), 7 C. L. R. 477.—AUS.

l. —— Wilful absence against wishes of husband.]—A wife had remained in England without her husband's consent & had expressed her unwillingness to return. A formal request had not been made to her to return prior to the institution of necessity; & the continuance of his absence, considering the conduct of the wife, did not constitute desertion.—THOMPSON v. THOMPSON (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 231; 27 L. J. P. & M. 65; 31 L. T. O. S. 302; 4 Jur. N. S. 717; 6 W. R. 867; 164 E. R. 706.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 8, B. (c) & (d).]

Annotations:—Consd. R. v. Cookham Union (1882), 9 Q. B. D. 522. Refd. French-Brewster v. French-Brewster, French-Brewster v. French-Brewster & Gore (1889), 62 L. T. 609; Synge v. Synge, [1901] P. 317; Southwark Union v. City of London Union (1906), 94 L. T. 763.

2872. —— Persistence in course of adultery—Causing wife to leave home.]—GRAVES v. GRAVES, No. 2913, post.

2873. —— —— ——.]—SICKERT v. SICKERT, No. 2930, post.

2874. —— Forming adulterous intercourse—Ceasing to correspond.]—STICKLAND v. STICKLAND, No. 2967, post.

2875. —— Resuming & continuing adulterous intercourse.]—A husband serving in the army spent a leave with his wife, left her on Mar. 15, 1918, & had not since returned to her. He wrote to her for about a month, after which his letters ceased. He was shown to have lived with another woman from Apr. 20, 1918, passing her off as his wife, & stating that they had been married for five years:—Held: this admission should be taken against resp. to its full extent; & warranted a finding that he left his wife in Mar. 1918, with the intention of resuming & continuing an adulterous intercourse, & had therefore, when his wife's petition was filed on Apr. 1, 1920, been guilty of desertion without reasonable excuse for two years or upwards.—DAVIS v. DAVIS (1920), 124 L. T. 795; 37 T. L. R. 109.

2876. —— Letters showing intention not to return.]—B. & C. married in 1851, & cohabited in England till 1856, when (but under what circumstances did not fully appear) B., the husband, went to China, holding an office in the Commissariat. C. & the only child of the marriage remained in England. By letters written from B. to C. between Feb. & Dec. 1859, it appeared that B. had led a most extravagant life in China, & had been found guilty by a court-martial of embezzling moneys; that C. & her family had treated B. liberally in respect of money, & in the course of 1859 provided him with considerable sums, on his representation of amendment, & ntention of going to Australia. These letters expressed affection for his wife & child, but no desire to join them, or to be joined by them. B. came through Paris to London, instead of going to Australia, & on Dec. 10, 1859, wrote to his wife saying that he had spent all his money, & incurred divers liabilities by borrowing & otherwise. He addressed a few lines to her on Dec. 13, which were the last he wrote, but made no attempt to see her. In Nov. 1859, he made the acquaintance of the woman with whom the adultery was proved, & in a letter to her, dated Aug. 10, 1860, wrote:—"I was forced into marriage some years ago with one who is very rich, & for whom I had no love. . . . I was miserable in my home, & took a staff appointment abroad about three years ago. I have not seen my wife for more than three years." By her petition, dated Nov. 7, 1861, C. prayed for a dissolution of her marriage by reason of B.'s adultery & desertion:—Held: construing B.'s letters by his acts rather than by their words, his conduct amounted to desertion.—LAWRENCE v. LAWRENCE (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 575; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 145; 6 L. T. 550; 8 Jur. N. S. 972; 164 E. R. 1120.

Annotations:—Consd. Townsend v. Townsend (1873), L. R. 3 P. & D. 129. Refd. Fitzgerald v. Fitzgerald (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 694; Pulford v. Pulford, [1923] P. 18.

2877. —— Ceasing to correspond.]—The husband, resp., having fallen into difficulties, enlisted & went with his regiment to India. He was afterwards discharged, ceased to correspond with his wife in this country, & contributed nothing to her support:—Held: resp. had been guilty of desertion.—HENTY v. HENTY (1875), 33 L. T. 263.

Annotations:—Expld. Chudley v. Chudley (1893), 62 L. J. M. C. 97. Refd. Pulford v. Pulford, [1923] P. 18.

See, also, No. 2967, post.

2878. —— Where apparent consent of wife to separation—Departure to avoid criminal proceedings.]—DREW v. DREW, No. 2975, post.

2879. —— —— ——.]—A husband left his wife in 1895 after divorce proceedings in which he had appeared as co-resp. (the jury disagreeing). At the last interview, he left her under the impression that this was the cause of his departure, & that he would return in a few months. He was in financial embarrassment, his firm immediately became bkpt., & ultimately the official receiver applied for a warrant against him. He had carried on an intrigue with an actress in 1893 & 1894 unknown to his wife. He sent one letter to his wife begging for money, but with no address; but otherwise he did not communicate with or see her:—Held: at the time he left his wife he intended to desert her, & adultery being proved, the ct. granted a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage.—WYNNE v. WYNNE, [1898] P. 18; 67 L. J. P. 5; 46 W. R. 560; subsequent proceedings, 78 L. T. 796.

Annotation:—Mentd. Walpole v. Walpole, [1901] P. 196.

2880. —— Repudiation of separation deed.]—The facts that the original separation of the parties was voluntary, & that they had subsequently agreed by deed to live apart, do not prevent the husband being guilty of desertion if he has by his conduct [failure to pay allowance secured by deed] shown an intention of repudiating the deed & of deserting his wife.

Desertion begins from the time that the intention to desert is formed (SHEARMAN, J.).—WALSH v. WALSH (1919), 122 L. T. 463.

(d) Consent of Petitioner to Separation.

Deeds of separation.]—See Sub-sect. 8, B. (g), post.

2881. General rule—Acts must be against will of petitioner.]—Where, on the evidence in support of an undefended petition for dissolution of marriage by reason of the husband's adultery, cruelty, & desertion, a doubt arose whether the parties had not voluntarily separated, the ct. ordered

---

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 8.—B. (d).

2881 i. General rule—Acts must be against will of petitioner.]—Desertion of a wife petitioning for divorce by a husband involves an actual & wilful bringing to an end of an existing state of cohabitation by the husband without the wife's consent, & consent involves more than mere acquiescence in an existing separation or non-proceedings, but the evidence showed that she would not have complied with such request if it had been made:—Held: the conduct of the wife amounted to malicious desertion.—WEBBER v. WEBBER (1915), App. D. 239.—S. AF.

2876 i. —— Letters showing intention not to return.]—Deft. left his wife, with only a small sum of money, but with no expressed intention of deserting her. Later he wrote & said that the marriage was invalid & he was taking proceedings to get it annulled:—Held: the marriage was valid & the husband had deserted the wife.—ANCELLE v. ANCELLE, [1919] 1 W. W. R. 620.—CAN.

2876 ii. —— ——.]—BEAUMONT v. BEAUMONT (1904), 25 N. Z. L. R. 143.—N.Z.

the case to be adjourned under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 44, to have further evidence produced.

To constitute desertion, the acts relied on must have been done against the will of the person setting up desertion; evidence of separation only tends to prove desertion.—WARD v. WARD (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 185; 27 L. J. P. & M. 63; 31 L. T. O. S. 238; 6 W. R. 867; 164 E. R. 685.

Annotations:—Apprvd. Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123. Refd. French-Brewster v. French-Brewster, French-Brewster v. French-Brewster & Gore (1889), 62 L. T. 609.

2882. ·.]—THOMPSON v. THOMPSON, No. 2871, ante.

2883. ·.]—Where the wife asks for a dissolution of marriage on the ground of desertion & adultery, she must prove affirmatively that the absence of her husband commenced & continued against her consent; in absence of such proof the ct. refused to decree the dissolution prayed, but the adultery being clearly proved, decreed a judicial separation.—SMITH v. SMITH (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 359; 28 L. J. P. & M. 27; 32 L. T. O. S. 394; 7 W. R. 382; 164 E. R. 765.

2884. —— ——.]—Where the wife's conduct showed that her separation from her husband was voluntary:—Held: he had not failed in his duty towards her, although he had no knowledge of her whereabouts for five years, & apparently made no effort to find her.—CUFLEY v. CUFLEY & LOVECK (1865), 13 L. T. 610.

2885. —— ——.]—To constitute desertion of a wife by the husband it is not sufficient to show simple separation; it must be shown that it was against the consent of the wife, & that she has been ready to return to cohabitation if requested.

A husband & wife were cohabiting in Jamaica, where the husband held an appointment, when the wife was obliged to come to England in consequence of ill-health. The husband afterwards, in 1851, asked her to return, & provided funds for her passage, but her health was not sufficiently re-established to enable her to accept his offer. She had no further communication with him, but in 1856 he made her an allowance, which he continued to pay until 1860:—Held: as she had never made any offer to return to him after refusing his offer in 1851, he had not deserted her.—KEECH v. KEECH (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 641; 38 L. J. P. & M. 7; 19 L. T. 462.

Annotation:—Distd. R. v. Davidson, etc., Durham JJ. (1889), 5 T. L. R. 199.

2886. —— ——.]—ROE v. ROE, No. 2940, post.

2887. Where original separation by mutual consent—Necessity for resumption of cohabitation.]—FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD, No. 2845, ante.

2888. —— ——.]—A husband having refused to cohabit with his wife, or to provide a home for her, offered her £100 on condition that she would not molest him in future by insisting on her conjugal rights. She agreed to the condition, & received the money, & they never afterwards cohabited:—Held: these facts did not constitute desertion on the part of the husband.—BUCKMASTER v. BUCKMASTER (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 713; 38 L. J. P. & M. 73; 21 L. T. 231; 17 W. R. 1114.

Annotations:—Refd. Newsome v. Newsome (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 306; De Laubenque v. De Laubenque, [1899] P. 42.

2889. —— —— Separation for temporary reason only.]—MAHONEY v. M'CARTHY, No. 6247, post.

Withdrawal from existing cohabitation, see Sect. 5, sub-sect. 8, B. (b), ante.

2890. —— Petitioner's refusal to offer to return —No offer by petitioner.]—KEECH v. KEECH, No. 2885, ante.

2891. —— —— Suspicion of offer.] — The parties separated by mutual consent at the instance of the wife. The husband, six years afterwards, made an offer to return to cohabitation which the wife believed to be not bonâ fide, & refused. There was no change in the circumstances which had originally led the wife to desire a separation:—Held: there was no desertion.

The husband's offer to resume cohabitation was not bonâ fide; but his conduct, however bad, could not alter the original character of the separation & convert it into desertion (SIR J. HANNEN).—COOPER v. COOPER (1875), 33 L. T. 264.

2892. —— Subsequent separation involuntary—Husband in prison.]—A husband having committed several thefts, separated from his wife with her knowledge & consent, for the purpose of avoiding arrest. He was afterwards arrested & imprisoned, & having committed other thefts after his release, he was on subsequent occasions again imprisoned. Whilst he was in prison, & also in the intervals between his imprisonments, he kept up a correspondence with his wife & made repeated endeavours to induce her to return to cohabitation. She refused, & the cohabitation was never resumed. The wife having presented a petition for dissolution on the ground of adultery coupled with desertion:—Held: there was no desertion, the separation being involuntary on the part of the husband.—TOWNSEND v. TOWNSEND (1873), L. R. 3 P. & D. 129; 42 L. J. P. & M. 71; 29 L. T. 254; 21 W. R. 934.

Annotation:—Distd. Drew v. Drew (1888), 58 L. T. 923.

2893. —— Parties not cohabiting at all—Inability to maintain wife.]—DE LAUBENQUE v. DE LAUBENQUE, No. 2837, ante.

2894. —— Refusal to maintain wife away from home.]—CHARTER v. CHARTER, No. 2931, post.

—— Commencement of desertion.]—See Subsect. 8, D. (b), post.

2895. Whether parties separated by mutual consent—Evidenced by conduct.]—BOWEN v. BOWEN, No. 2902, post.

2896. —— Permitting respondent to indulge in adultery.]—A husband when reproached by his wife with an adulterous connection he had formed with A. said he wished to go & would rather be with A. than with his wife. His wife said, "Go if you like, & when you are sick of A. return to me," & she made him promise to return to her. He then left her, & never returned:—Held: that the conduct of the wife at the last interview did resistance to a proposed abandonment: it involves a communication of the acquiescence or non-resistance to the other, either by express words or conduct. A mere state of mind, not disclosed, to the other is not sufficient to constitute consent.—BRADFORD v. BRADFORD (1908), 7 C. L. R. 470.—AUS.

2887 i. Where original separation by mutual consent—Necessity for resumption of cohabitation.] — Separation having originally been by mutual consent, desertion cannot take place until cohabitation has been resumed.—WOOD v. WOOD (1878), 1. L. R. 3 Calc. 485; 1 C. L. R. 552.—IND.

2887 ii. —— ——.]—Where a husband, by arrangement with his wife, left her to take up his abode in another country, & then wrote to her ordering her to return to her relatives, which order she obeyed within two years of the time she received it, the separation was by mutual consent, &, there having been no resumption of cohabitation after their voluntary separation, the husband was not guilty of desertion.—KELLY v. KELLY (1888), 6 N. Z. L. R. 387.—N.Z.

2887 iii. —— ——.]—Separation took place with the mutual consent of both husband & wife, &, as the parties had not since returned to cohabitation, & when they separated they did not contemplate a return to cohabitation at some future date, there had not been desertion.—SOMERVILLE v. SOMERVILLE, [1920] N. Z. L. R. 735.—N.Z.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 8, B. (d) & (e) i., ii. & not show assent by her to the separation, but the husband had been guilty of desertion.—HAVILAND v. HAVILAND (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 65; 11 W. R. 373.

2897. —— Expressed intention of respondent not to return—Casual expressions of petitioner induced by respondent's conduct.]—The husband was proved to have left his wife, with an expressed intention not to return to cohabitation with her; & for many years he had not provided her with a maintenance or a home. On the two or three occasions on which he saw her during this period, his sole object was to obtain her money:—Held: the separation could not be taken to be by mutual consent, because the wife in her letters, written after the desertion, made use of casual expressions, wrung from her by his misconduct, purporting that she did not desire to see him or that he should visit her.—MEARA v. MEARA (1866), 35 L. J. P. & M. 33; 14 W. R. 349.

2898. —— Respondent leaving house with petitioner's assent—Subsequent visits to children by arrangement.]—A husband having left his wife in full possession of the family home, subsequently & with her assent visited his children there, but did not remain or return to cohabitation with his wife or hold any communication with her:—Held: this was not evidence of desertion, but rather of separation by mutual arrangement.—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR (1881), 44 L. T. 31.

2899. Verbal agreement to live apart—Connubial intercourse during separation—Agreement repudiated by respondent.]—Husband & wife verbally agreed to live apart from each other, & the husband agreed to pay a weekly sum for the wife's maintenance. Acts of connubial intercourse continued during the time they lived apart. The husband on the ground, as he alleged, that, whilst so living apart, the wife had committed adultery, refused to continue the weekly allowance:—Held: there was evidence of desertion.—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS (1905), 69 J. P. 344, D. C.

2900. Temporary separation for mutual convenience—Subsequent refusal to receive petitioner.]—During a temporary separation between a husband & wife for mutual convenience cohabitation does not cease & the marital relations are not altered, & the husband, who under such circumstances refuses to take his wife back again or to maintain her, may be guilty of desertion within Married Women (Maintenance in Case of Desertion) Act, 1886 (c. 52), & liable thereunder.—CHUDLEY v. CHUDLEY (1893), 69 L. T. 617; 10 T. L. R. 63; 17 Cox, C. C. 697, C. A.

(c) Refusal to resume Conjugal Relations.

i. In General.

2901. Mere refusal insufficient.]—FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD, No. 2845, ante.

2902. ——.]—(1) A refusal to resume cohabitation does not necessarily constitute desertion.

(2) An agreement between husband & wife to live apart may be evidenced by conduct.—BOWEN v. BOWEN (1908), 73 J. P. 87, D. C.

2903. ——.]—JACKSON v. JACKSON, No. 2852, ante.

ii. By Respondent.

2904. Whether desertion constituted—Only one request & refusal—Evidence of matters prior to refusal.]—On a summons against a husband on the ground of desertion under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), evidence was tendered to the effect that the husband & wife had ceased to cohabit together since Sept. 1898, & that on June 23, 1899, the wife, accompanied by a policeman, called at the husband's house & asked him to take her back, which he refused to do. The justices refused to hear any evidence as to anything that had occurred before June 23, 1899, but held that the refusal by the husband to accede to his wife's demand on that day for a return to cohabitation amounted to legal desertion on or since that date:—Held: on appeal, the mere facts that the wife had on a certain day asked her husband to take her back & that he had refused to do so did not per se amount to legal desertion on or since that date; the justices were wrong in refusing to admit evidence of what had occurred previously to June 23, 1899; & the case must be remitted to them for re-investigation.—WASSELL v. WASSELL (1899), 68 L. J. P. 127; 81 L. T. 496, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Frowd v. Frowd, [1904] P. 177.

2905. —— Separation due to money difficulties.]—A. left his home in 1843, & left unanswered letters from his wife telling him that an execution was in the house. She was obliged to go into lodgings, & subsequently supported herself as a governess. In 1844 A. made by letter some vague offer of rejoining her, & in 1848 he wrote, bidding her farewell for ever:—Held: there was a wilful desertion of the wife in the winter of 1843–4, & no distinct offer afterwards to find another home.—CUDLIPP v. CUDLIPP (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 229; 27 L. J. P. & M. 64; 31 L. T. O. S. 318; 164 E. R. 705.

2906. Condition attached by wife to renewal.]—G., in 1851, left his wife, & never afterwards lived with her or contributed to her support. He visited her occasionally, & at an interview in 1854 the wife offered to renew cohabitation, provided he would give up gambling & drinking. He refused to do so, & only twice went to her again, on one occasion asking her to sign a paper undertaking not to trouble him any more. Prior to the wife's conditional offer to renew cohabitation, G. had formed an adulterous connection with another woman, with whom he continued to live, refusing in 1858 to leave her, & stating that he had washed his hands of his wife, & would have no more to do with her:—Held: though the wife had annexed a condition to a renewal of cohabitation, the refusal of the husband to abandon his bad habits, when viewed in connection with the other facts of the case, amounted to desertion from that time.—GIBSON v. GIBSON (1859), L. J. P. & M. 25; 23 J. P. 535.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 8.—B. (e) i.

2901 i. Mere refusal insufficient.]—The persistent refusal of sexual intercourse is not by itself desertion within Marriage Act, 1915 (Vict.), which entitles a married person to a divorce on the grounds of wilful desertion without just cause or excuse for three years & upwards.—MAUD v. MAUD (1919), 26 C. L. R. 1.—AUS.

2901 ii. ——.]—A wife, living at bed & board with her husband but refusing to permit intercourse, has not "diverted" from his company.—G. v. G., [1923] S. C. 175.—SCOT.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 8.—B. (e) ii.

m. Whether desertion constituted.]—Refusal by a wife of marital intercourse to her husband is wilful desertion without just cause, notwithstanding that such refusal occurred during cohabitation, using that word in the proper sense of living under the same roof.—LEES v. LEES (1906), 26 N. Z. L. R. 467.—N.Z.

n. ——.]—A wife, deliberately, finally, & without good reason, denied 2907. —— After separation—Of temporary character.]—FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD, No. 2845, ante.

2908. —— —— Mutually agreed upon.]—A husband & wife agreed to separate owing to the husband's inability to maintain his wife. They continued to correspond, & numerous letters passed between them, in some of which the husband taunted his wife with not getting a divorce, & said it was cruel of her & her friends to "fetter" him. He also made frequent requests for pecuniary assistance. The wife offered to return to her husband, when he informed her in one of his letters that he was ill; but he wrote & refused her. The husband's letters ceased in July, 1885. The wife wrote four times in answer to the last letter from him, but received no reply. She subsequently made inquiries & discovered that, while the correspondence had been going on & since it ceased, resp. had been residing at various places & keeping up an adulterous connection, & that he was living under his mother's roof with a woman who was not his wife:—Held: sufficient to constitute desertion, & coupled with the adultery to entitle the wife to a decree of divorce.—SMITH v. SMITH (1888), 58 L. T. 639.

Annotation:—Refd. Beauclerk v. Beauclerk, [1895] P. 220.

2909. —— —— ——.]—HUXTABLE v. HUXTABLE, No. 2858, ante.

2910. —— —— ——.]—A husband & wife were living apart under a separation deed, by which the husband covenanted to make weekly payments to the wife. The husband having ceased to make the payments, the wife offered to resume cohabitation; but the husband refused to do so. The wife then applied for an order for maintenance under Married Women's (Maintenance in Case of Desertion) Act, 1886 (c. 52):—Held: in order to constitute desertion within the Act, the parties must be living together as man & wife when the desertion takes place; the husband's refusal of the wife's offer to resume cohabitation did not constitute desertion; & there was therefore no evidence of desertion.

A husband deserts his wife, if he wilfully absents himself from the society of his wife in spite of her wish. Desertion may be inferred from certain acts in one case which in another would not justify the same inference. There must be a deliberate purpose of abandoning the conjugal society. Such abandonment need not be for any specified period. If a husband had quite recently left his wife, stating that he did not intend to return, & was found living with another woman, this would be abundant evidence of desertion, upon which the magistrates could act (LOPES L.J.).—R. v. LERESCHE, [1891] 2 Q. B. 418; 60 L. J. M. C. 153; 65 L. T. 602; 56 J. P. 37; 40 W. R. 2; 7 T. L. R. 685; 17 Cox, C. C. 384, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Chudley v. Chudley (1893), 69 L. T. 617. Expld. Bradshaw v. Bradshaw, [1897] P. 24. Distd. Cowley v. Cowley (1897), Times, Feb. 3. Consd. Huxtable v. Huxtable (1899), 68 L. J. P. 83. Apld. Synge v. Synge, [1901] P. 317. Consd. Jackson v. Jackson, [1924] P. 19. Refd. Wilkinson v. Wilkinson (1894), 58 J. P. 415; Wassell v. Wassell (1899), 68 L. J. P. 127; Kay v. Kay, [1904] P. 382; Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123.

2911. —— —— ——.]—BRADSHAW v. BRADSHAW, No. 6086, post.

2912. —— Wife removed to lunatic asylum.]—v. PULFORD, No. 2846, ante.

iii. By Petitioner.

2913. Respondent living in adultery.] —Where the intention of the husband clearly was not to live with the wife (he was, in fact carrying on an adulterous intercourse before & after marriage):—Held: it amounted to desertion on his part, though the wife actually left the house in which they last resided together, &, after she was aware of the adulterous connection, refused to return unless she was satisfied that such connection was at an end.—GRAVES v. GRAVES (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 350; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 66; 10 L. T. 273; 10 Jur. N. S. 546; 12 W. R. 1016; 164 E. R. 1310.

Annotations:—Folld. Pizzala v. Pizzala (1896), 12 T. L. R. 451; Koch v. Koch, [1899] P. 221. Consd. Sickert v. Sickert, [1899] P. 278. Refd. Bowron v. Bowron, [1925] P. 187.

2914. ——.]—A husband in 1880 ceased to reside with his wife on the pretence that his business compelled him to be absent, but he supplied her with necessaries & corresponded with her & visited her occasionally, & a child was born in Feb. 1881. In Jan. 1884, the wife discovered that he had for years been living with another woman:—Held: (1) his conduct did not amount to desertion for two years; (2) Semble: desertion commenced from the time when his wife discovered the adultery, & after a lapse of two years from that time she would be entitled to a dissolution of her marriage.

I have on other occasions pointed out that if a man is living with another woman the wife is justified in saying, "I shall not return to you, nor shall I allow you to have access to me while you are living in open adultery with another woman (SIR JAMES HANNEN, P.).—FARMER v.

her husband marital privileges, though she continued to reside in his house:—Held: the husband was entitled to a decree of restitution of conjugal rights on the ground of malicious desertion.—HUSBAND v. WIFE (1923), 44 N. L. R. 172.—S. AF.

2908 i. —— After separation—Mutually agreed upon.]—The parties were married in Dec. 1881, & lived together for a number of years, seven children being born of the marriage. The desertion relied upon was alleged to have commenced in May, 1906. For some years prior to 1906 the parties had not lived happily together, & on Jan. 10, 1905, an agreement of separation was entered into upon the usual terms, & providing for the maintenance of resp. & her children. The actual separation ceased in May, 1905, when the parties resumed cohabitation, which continued till the end of the year. Resp., however, refused to allow petitioner conjugal rights from May, 1906:—Held: petitioner had established a case of constructive desertion, & was entitled to a decree for dissolution of marriage.—LORIE v. LORIE (1913), 32 N. Z. L. R. 634.—N.Z.

2908 ii. —— —— ——.]—While spouses were living apart by mutual consent, formal offers to resume cohabitation were made by the husband by way of defence to actions at the instance of the wife concerning the rate of her aliment. Thereafter the husband brought an action of divorce for desertion in which he founded on the fact that these offers had not been accepted:—Held: that the offers made by the husband were not such as to establish that he had used all reasonable means to induce his wife to adhere, &, in the absence of positive evidence to that effect, that he was not entitled to decree of divorce.—FARROW v. FARROW, [1920] S. C. 707; 57 Sc. L. R. 656; [1920] 2 S. L. T. 214.—SCOT.

o. —— —— —— Condition attached by wife to renewal.]—Petitioner married a woman who at the time was pregnant, but not by him. He believed that she was pregnant by him, & married her thinking that it was his duty to do so. As he had not then a home to which to take her she returned to her own people. Some time afterwards, & before the child was born, she wrote to him confessing her fault, telling him that he was not the father of the child & asking him to forgive her. He replied that he was willing to forgive her, & take her to the home he had then made, but that he would not receive or maintain the expected child. Later, & still before the birth of the child, she absolutely refused to return to him unless he agreed to take the child into his home & bring it up. He having refused to comply with the condition, she made no reply & did not return to him:—Held: petitioner had not been guilty of any wrongful act which could be regarded as reasonable cause or excuse for his wife's refusal to go to him, & that a case of desertion had been made out.—HALL v. HALL (1917), 22 C. L. R. 476.—AUS.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 8, B. (e) iii. & (f).]

FARMER (1884), 9 P. D. 245; 53 L. J. P. 113; 33 W. R. 169.

Annotations:—As to (2) Folld. Garcia v. Garcia (1888), 13 P. D. 216. Distd. Kay v. Kay (1904), 73 L. J. P. 108. Generally, Refd. Lapington v. Lapington (1888), 14 P. D.

2915. -.]—GARCIA v. GARCIA, No. 2856, ante.

2916. -.]—A husband may be guilty of desertion even though he is willing to return to cohabitation with his wife, if at the time he is so willing he is actually cohabiting with another woman.—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS (1893), 62 L. J. P. 33.

2917. Bona fides of respondent's offer.]—A husband, shortly after deserting his wife, had requested her to resume cohabitation, which request the wife disregarded as not made bonâ fide, & had on the few isolated occasions, on which they met casually, disregarded her or made insulting gestures, but not otherwise communicated with her for nine years:—Held: the facts constituted such a sufficient desertion as coupled with adultery to give the wife a right to a divorce.—MARTIN v. MARTIN (1898), 78 L. T. 568.

2918. ——.]—To negative a charge of desertion it is not sufficient that a man should merely write to his wife "Come back," or that he should say to a third party that he is willing to take her back. The ct. will look to the whole of his conduct, & must be satisfied from it that when he offered to take her back he really intended what he said.

H. married a woman, &, after cohabiting with her at her father's house some weeks, left her. At his request she shortly afterwards went to him & remained with him for two or three days. He then sent her back to her father, saying that he could not support her. After a period of more than eighteen months, during which she did not hear from him, he went to her father's house to see her. Her father refused to allow him to have any communications with her except in the presence of himself & her mother, but this he declined. He then asked if he would be allowed to take her back, but this, also, the father refused on hearing from him that he had no home to which to take her. He then left & never returned, or asked her to return to him:—Held: to amount to desertion.—HARRIS v. HARRIS (1866), 15 L. T. 448.

2919. ——.]—MALLINSON v. MALLINSON, No. 4019, post.

2920. ——.]—(1) An order made under Poor Law Amendment Act, 1868 (c. 122), upon a husband whose wife has become chargeable to the parish, though unrevoked, is not a bar to proceedings under Married Women (Maintenance in Case of Desertion) Act, 1886 (c. 52), when the wife has ceased to receive parish relief.

(2) An offer by the husband to resume cohabitation, though made bonâ fide, is not such an offer as will purge previous desertion, if made under such circumstance that the wife is not bound to accept it.—KERSHAW v. KERSHAW (1887), 51 J. P. 646; 3 T. L. R. 507, D. C.

2921. ——.]—The wife petitioned for a divorce on the grounds of desertion & adultery. As to the desertion, the husband left his wife in Aug. 1886, mainly on account of her reiterated objections to associate with a lady & gentleman of his acquaintance, with whom the wife complained that he spent too much of his time, to the consequent neglect of herself & children. There was no charge of cruelty upon the record, but it was proved at the trial that he had struck her before leaving her, & that she had called him a coward on one occasion. It was also proved that he had stated that he would never live with her again, & that he would do anything, short of crime, to injure her. Shortly after leaving her he wrote to her, saying it was no part of his plan to desert her. The husband in Dec. 1887, told an old friend of his that he had heard his wife intended going in for a separation, but he "should take devilish good care to return home before the two years were up." The husband, all through, made his wife an allowance, & continued to provide a home for her. He did not answer several of her letters, & at Christmas, 1887, she wrote to him, saying she had heard from one of the children, by whom he had sent her a present, that he had said he should return home soon; that she hoped he would do so for the children's sake, but that, for herself, she had long ago given up hope. With that letter she sent a memorandum, written by herself a year before, on which occasion she had taken off her wedding ring & put it away along with the memorandum. In the middle of Aug. 1888, about ten or twelve days before the two years' absence had expired, the husband wrote to his wife, who was then in Scotland, saying he had returned to their London house, & requesting her to join him there with the children. The wife was at that time suffering from the effects of an accident which she had met with before she went to Scotland, but the results of which rendered it unadvisable for her to take another long journey just then. She accordingly wrote to her husband to that effect, offering to send the children if he so desired, & saying that she herself would return home as soon as she was well enough to travel. Her sister, with whom she was staying, also wrote, & invited the husband to see his wife in Scotland. He declined this, & wrote to his wife again, repeating his request that she would return home "at her convenience & as soon as she was sufficiently recovered"; &, not wishing to remain in London, he asked her to write to him at his club a few days before she intended to return, to apprise him of the date of her intended arrival in London. The wife did, in fact, return a few days later, but failed to inform her husband as he had requested. On Aug. 31 he wrote to her from Cowes, saying he "believed" she had arrived at their house in London, & that he regretted she had not advised him of her intention, as, had she done so, he would have met her on her arrival but that he would arrive home on the afternoon of the next day, Sept. 1, 1888. The wife had, in the meantime, consulted her solrs., from whom the husband received a letter on the morning of Sept. 1, just before he would have started for London, intimating that proceedings were about to be commenced for a judicial separation, on the ground of desertion without just cause for two years & upwards. The husband thereupon wrote to his wife, saying that, in consequence of that letter, he should not return home that day as he had intended to so, & that while any proceedings were threatened he must decline further intercourse with her. At the trial, the husband, though present, was not called. At the close of the wife's case, it was submitted, as a point of law, that there was no case to go to the jury:—Held: there was a case, & the judge left to the jury the question, whether the conduct of the husband was that of a man honestly intending to resume cohabitation with his wife; whether he was not misrepresenting his real intentions in the letters he wrote in Aug. 1888, & whether the real & only object of those letters was to evade the consequences which might ensue, & to deprive the wife of the remedy which she would be entitled to upon the completion of the two years' absence.—FRENCH-BREWSTER v. FRENCH-BREWSTER, FRENCH-BREWSTER v. FRENCH-BREWSTER & GORE (1889), 62 L. T. 609.

2922. ——.]—R. v. DAVIDSON, ETC., DURHAM JJ. (1889), 5 T. L. R. 199, D. C.

Annotation :—Mentd. Forster v. Forster (1910), 54 Sol. Jo. 403.

2923. – .]—Re DUCKWORTH (1889), 5 T. L. R. 608, D. C.

2924. – .]—In a wife's suit for dissolution on the ground of adultery coupled with desertion, the adultery was proved; & with regard to the desertion, it appeared that after twenty-one years' cohabitation it was in Aug. 1886, agreed between the parties, who were then resident abroad, that the wife & the children of the marriage should come to live in England. They accordingly took lodgings at B., & the wife pressed her husband to return with them, but he refused. She continued willing to receive him & renew cohabitation until Feb. 1887, when she was shown a letter which convinced her that her husband had been carrying on an adulterous intercourse. Upon this she resolved that she never would live with him again. He wrote several letters to her offering to return to cohabitation, to which she did not reply; but her solrs., by her direction, informed him that she would never live with him again :—Held : there being no proof that the husband's offers to live again with his wife were not bonâ fide, she could not treat the separation on which she insisted as desertion by him, & she was only entitled, therefore, to a judicial separation on the ground of adultery.—LODGE v. LODGE (1890), 15 P. D. 159; 59 L. J. P. 84; 63 L. T. 467.

2925. ——.]—A husband who had been guilty of a long series of acts of insult & cruelty towards his wife, ultimately expelled her & some of her children from the matrimonial home. On the following day he apparently repented of his act & endeavoured to get his wife to return to him by repeatedly writing penitent letters to her promising to amend his future conduct towards her. She refused to comply, &, after some months, took out a summons against him for desertion under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39). The justices found the desertion proved, & their decision was upheld by the Div. Ct. The husband appealed to the Ct. of Appeal on the ground that the desertion had been terminated by his repentance & desire for his wife's return :—Held : the desertion was a continuing offence & could not be obliterated by subsequent offers, as to the genuineness of which his wife might reasonably entertain doubts.—THOMAS v. THOMAS, [1924] P. 194; 93 L. J. P. 61; 130 L. T. 716; 40 T. L. R. 250; 68 Sol. Jo. 339; 22 L. G. R. 653, C. A.

Annotation :—Expld. Bowron v. Bowron, [1925] P. 187.

2926. Groundless refusal.]—In 1880 applt., a labourer, married resp. In the following year a child was born, & the wife went, with her husband's full consent, to her mother's house for her confinement. During her absence applt. broke up their home, & took a room in his father's cottage, where the wife refused to live with him, on the ground that the accommodation there was insufficient. Subsequently the husband refused her requests to take her back to live with him as his wife. The husband was in 1894 convicted on a summons for desertion of his wife :—Held : the husband's wish that the wife should live with him at his parents' house was not unreasonable, & there was no evidence of desertion within Married Women (Maintenance in Case of Desertion) Act, 1886 (c. 52), s. 1, to warrant the justices in making an order against him after the lapse of so many years from the time they ceased to live together.—JONES v. JONES (1895), 43 W. R. 424; 11 T. L. R. 317; 39 Sol. Jo. 397, D. C.

2927. Offer made after expiration of two years.]—(1) Where the offence of desertion without cause for two years is once completed, the spouse deserted has, at least since Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), came into operation, a complete right to the relief given by the statute, although the other party may, subsequently to the two years, have made a bonâ fide offer to return.

(2) Semble : the same rule would apply to the wife's right to a dissolution of marriage by reason of adultery coupled with desertion, under sect. 27 of the Act; but not to the "desertion" mentioned in sect. 21 as the foundation of an order for protection of the wife's property.—CARGILL v. CARGILL (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 235; 27 L. J. P. & M. 69; 31 L. T. O. S. 332; 4 Jur. N. S. 764; 6 W. R. 870; 164 E. R. 708.

Annotations :—As to (1) Distd. Brookes v. Brookes (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 38. Apld. Usher v. Usher (1922), 128 L. T. 26. As to (2) Consd. Mahoney v. M'Carthy, [1892] P. 21. Refd. Heard v. Heard, [1896] P. 188; Houghton v. Houghton, [1903] P. 150.

2928. .]—Where the husband has been guilty of adultery & desertion for two years & upwards, an offer to return to cohabitation can be no bar to the wife's petition on the ground of adultery & desertion, for she is under no obligation to condone the adultery.—BASING v. BASING (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 516; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 150; 10 L. T. 756; 10 Jur. N. S. 806; 164 E. R. 1375.

2929. Former law—Remedy before Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85).]—A husband deserted his wife without cause in 1833. In 1850 he personally proposed to the wife to renew cohabitation, which she refused; in 1858 she petitioned for a judicial separation, under sect. 16 of above Act, by reason of his wilful desertion :—Held : no remedy having accrued to the wife in 1850 under the then state of the law, the offer of the husband in that year terminated the desertion, & the petition must be dismissed.—BROOKES v. BROOKES (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 326; 28 L. J. P. & M. 38; 32 L. T. O. S. 228; 23 J. P. 72; 5 Jur. N. S. 76; 7 W. R. 143; 164 E. R. 750.

(f) Constructive Desertion—Wife forced out of Matrimonial Home.

2930. General rule.]—In order to constitute desertion, there must be a cessation of cohabitation & an intention on the part of accused party to desert the other.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 8.—B. (f).

2930 i. General rule.]—A husband having for some years without foundation, continually accused his wife of impropriety of conduct, & of actual misconduct with other men so as to justify her in leaving him, she threatened to leave him. He then made overtures for a reconciliation which the wife rejected, but for two months afterwards cohabitation between them continued, & during that time the husband continued to make the same charges against the wife. She thereupon left him. After the separation the husband's conduct was such as to render the wife's return to him practically impossible. On a petition by the wife for a dissolution of the marriage on the ground of desertion for three years & upwards :—Held : that an intention to drive his wife away from him & to make the separation between them permanent should be imputed to the husband, &, therefore, that the desertion was established.—Moss v. Moss (1912), 15 C. L. R. 538.—AUS.

2930 ii. ——.]—Where a husband leaves his wife in consequence of

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect 8, B. (f) & (g)

It is not always, or necessarily, the guilty party who leaves the matrimonial home: the party who intends to bring the cohabitation to an end, & whose conduct in reality causes its termination, commits the act of desertion.

There is no substantial difference between the case of a husband who intends to put an end to a state of cohabitation & does so by leaving his wife, & that of a husband who, with the like intent, obliges his wife to separate from him.

In a case where a husband is carrying on an adulterous intercourse with another woman or other women, although he does not bring the adulteress into the matrimonial home & commit adultery with her there, the wife may express her willingness to remain with him on condition that he give up the connection complained of; &, if the husband refuse to do so, & the wife withdraw from cohabitation in consequence of the refusal, the husband is guilty of desertion, as he must be taken to intend the consequences of his action. The situation then produced is just the same as if the guilty husband left his wife. At the end of two years the statutory offence of desertion is complete, & the wife is entitled to relief on that ground.—SICKERT v. SICKERT, [1899] P. 278; 68 L. J. P. 114; 81 L. T. 495; 48 W. R. 268; 15 T. L. R. 506.

Annotations:—Consd. Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123. Apld. Bowron v. Bowron, [1925] P. 187. Refd. Dodd v. Dodd, [1906] P. 189; Eastbourne Grdns. v. Croydon Grdns., [1910] 2 K. B. 16; Blackledge v. Blackledge, [1913] P. 9; Thomas v. Thomas, [1924] P. 194.

2931. .] If a wife leaves her husband in consequence of a mere expression on his part that she can go where she likes & do what she likes, & then refuses to return home at his request, the husband is not guilty of desertion.

To constitute desertion, although it is not actually necessary that the husband should drive his wife away from him, there must be an intention on his part to break off matrimonial relations.

Where a husband treated a wife with persistent cruelty, but such cruelty did not cause the wife to leave him & live apart, the magistrate allowed the summons to be amended, charging the husband with desertion. The husband, in answer to the magistrate, said that he would not maintain his wife away from home. The magistrate then found that the husband had been guilty of desertion:—Held: reversing the magistrate's decision, there was no desertion.

It is perfectly good law that it is not necessary for a husband in order to desert his wife, to actually turn his wife out of doors; it was sufficient if, by his conduct, he compelled her to leave the house. It is obvious in this case that the wife left the house of her own free will & not compelled to do so by the husband. The separation was not against the wish of the wife, but was a separation by consent of both parties (JEUNE, P.).—CHARTER v. CHARTER (1901), 84 L. T. 272; 65 J. P. 246; 17 T. L. R. 327, D. C.

Annotations:—Consd. Bowron v. Bowron, [1925] P. 187. Refd. Thomas v. Thomas, [1924] P. 194.

2932. Wife turned away from home—"For good cause."]—BAKER v. BAKER, No. 4417, post.

2933. Subsequent discovery of husband's adultery—Unwillingness of wife to return.] GRAVES v. GRAVES, No. 2913, ante.

2934. Paramour brought to house by husband.]—A wife petitioned for the dissolution of her marriage on the grounds of adultery & desertion. The parties were married in 1866, & in 1872 the husband brought to the house a woman with whom he had immoral relations. The wife refused to admit her, but the husband insisted. The wife remained a short time in the house, & then told her husband that either she or the woman must leave the house. The husband told her she might do as she liked, but that the woman would remain. The wife thereupon left, & never afterwards cohabited with her husband:—Held: the husband was guilty of deserting his wife.—DICKINSON v. DICKINSON (1889), 62 L. T. 330.

Annotations:—Consd. Sickert v. Sickert, [1899] P. 278. Refd. Bowron v. Bowron, [1925] P. 187.

2935. Adultery by husband—Further cohabitation impossible.]—FARMER v. FARMER, No. 2914, ante

2936. —— ——.]—Where the husband was living in adultery with a woman & refused to break off the connection, & thereby made it impossible for his wife to live with him, & in consequence she left his house:—Held: this amounted to desertion, which, coupled with the adultery, entitled the wife to a divorce.—PIZZALA v. PIZZALA (1896), 68 L. J. P. 91, n.; 12 T. L. R. 451.

Annotations:—Folld. Koch v. Koch, [1899] P. 221; Sickert v. Sickert, [1899] P. 278.

2937. —— ——.]—SICKERT v. SICKERT, No. 2930, ante.

2938. —— —— Adultery with servant.]—Upon a wife's petition for divorce on the grounds of desertion & adultery, it appeared that resp. had refused to break off relations with & to discharge a servant with whom, when taxed, he admitted that he had committed adultery. Petitioner thereupon left the house, &, although overtures were subsequently made by resp. for a resumption of cohabitation, petitioner never returned home, owing to the persistent refusal of resp. to discharge the servant in question:—Held: the conduct of the husband constituted "desertion" within the Divorce Acts.—KOCH v. KOCH, [1899] P. 221; 68 L. J. P. 90; 81 L. T. 61.

Annotations:—Consd. Sickert v. Sickert, [1899] P. 278. Refd. Bowron v. Bowron, [1925] P. 187.

2939. Ill-usage & cruelty of respondent.]—THOMAS v. THOMAS, No. 2925, ante.

conduct on her part which justifies him in believing that she has committed adultery, her conduct does not amount to constructive desertion by her unless it is marked by persistence regardless of consequences or is accompanied by refusal to discontinue that conduct, so as to show an intention on her part to break off matrimonial relations or an intention to persevere in intolerable conduct.

Decision of the Supreme Court of New South Wales (GORDON, J.) affirmed.—DEARMAN v. DEARMAN (1916), 21 C. L. R. 261.—AUS.

p. Wife turned away from home—Charge of adultery not proved.]—In an alimony action deft. in his defence alleged that he had refused, & still refused, to support pltf. by reason of her having committed adultery with M. Pltf., on being charged by deft. with adultery, & ordered to go away, left his home, though, before she actually departed, he forbade her to go. Deft. persisted in the charge of adultery, but did not attempt to prove it. Pltf. proved none of the acts of violence alleged in her statement of claim:—Held: the statements in the defence, taken in connection with the above facts, must be treated as sufficient proof of desertion on his part, & he must be taken to have dispensed with the necessity for pltf. offering to return.—FERRIS v. FERRIS (1885), 7 O. R. 496.—CAN.

2933 i. —— Subsequent discovery of husband's adultery—Unwillingness of wife to return.]—The wife had been ejected by her husband on a charge of adultery; & a petition had subsequently been presented by the husband, & a verdict found in the wife's favour; & that they had continued to live apart, the wife having obtained against her husband an order for maintenance. No attempt at a reconciliation had been made by either party, & the husband had lived with another woman in continuous adultery for upwards of two years preceding the filing of her petition:—Held: these facts sustained the charge of desertion by the husband. LAMB v. LAMB (1890), 8 N. Z. L. R. 424.—N.Z.

q. Ill usage & cruelty.]—DENNING v. DENNING (1922), 53 O. L. R. 130.—CAN.

(g) Deeds of Separation—Effect of.

2940. General rule.]—Desertion cannot arise apart from a separation without the consent of the party alleging desertion.

A separation by deed implies consent of the parties & negatives desertion. If one party fails to pay the allowance provided by the deed, & the other, relying upon the deed, takes steps to enforce payment thereunder, the latter cannot successfully plead desertion.—ROE v. ROE, [1916] P. 163; 85 L. J. P. 141; 114 L. T. 1184; 32 T. L. R. 490; 60 Sol. Jo. 495; subsequent proceedings, 115 L. T. 792.

Annotation :—Refd. Walsh v. Walsh (1919), 122 L. T. 463.

2941. Whether evidence of consent to negative desertion—Deed not acted upon.]—A separation, which was never acted upon, either as to the husband & wife living apart, or as to certain stipulations about money matters contained in it, does not deprive the husband's subsequently leaving the wife against her will of the character of desertion.—COCK v. COCK (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 514; 4 New Rep. 413; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 157; 10 L. T. 726; 10 Jur. N. S. 806; 13 W. R. 189; 164 E. R. 1375.

2942. —— —— Petitioner not consenting to separation.]—After a husband had deserted his wife, he wrote to her asking for assistance to save him from starving, but he refused to return to her or to allow her to come to him. She consented to make him an allowance. & a few months after the desertion they both signed a deed of separation, whereby the payment of the allowance was secured to him. The deed was not carried into effect, but she paid the allowance to him for three months, & then stopped it, because she thought that by continuing the payment she was encouraging him to keep apart from her. She afterwards wrote & asked him to resume cohabitation, which he refused to do. More than two years having elapsed since the commencement of the desertion, she filed a petition :—Held : as she never consented to his remaining apart from her, the desertion for two years & upwards was established.—NOTT v. NOTT (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 251; 36 L. J. P. & M. 10; 15 L. T. 299.

Annotations :—Distd. Parkinson v. Parkinson (1869), L. R. 2 P. & D. 25. Refd. Piper v. Piper, [1902] P. 198.

2943. —— Failure to make allowance secured by deed.]—CRABB v. CRABB, No. 2489, ante.

2944. —— —— —.]—A husband deserted his wife, but within two years from the desertion a deed of separation was agreed to, by which he covenanted to make her an allowance & to charge it upon his reversionary interest in a sum of money. This deed was executed by the husband & wife, & by a trustee on behalf of the wife, but no part of the allowance had been paid :—Held : the wife had bargained away her right to relief, & could not establish a charge of desertion without cause for two years.—PARKINSON v. PARKINSON (1869), L. R. 2 P. & D. 25; 39 L. J. P. & M. 14; 21 L. T. 732.

Annotation :—Consd. Piper v. Piper, [1902] P. 198.

2945. Upon a summons by a married woman under Married Women (Maintenance in Case of Desertion) Act, 1886 (c. 52), it appeared that disputes had arisen between her & her husband & that they had lived apart under an agreement for separation, by which he undertook to pay her a weekly allowance so long as she should live chastely & should not molest him. He had ceased to make & had refused to continue the weekly payments under the agreement. He charged his wife with adultery, but the justices found that the charge was not proved :—Held : the refusal of the husband to pay his wife the weekly allowance & to carry out the agreement of separation was not sufficient evidence of "desertion" within the Act to warrant the justices in making an order against him for her support.—PAPE v. PAPE (1887), 20 Q. B. D. 76; 57 L. J. M. C. 3; 58 L. T. 399; 52 J. P. 181; 36 W. R. 125; 4 T. L. R. 76, D. C.

Annotations :—Distd. R. v. Birwistle, etc. JJ. (1889), 58 L. J. M. C. 158. Apprvd. R. v. Leresche, [1891] 2 Q. B. 418. Distd. Chudley v. Chudley (1893), 62 L. J. M. C. 97. Refd. Wilkinson v. Wilkinson (1894), 58 J. P. 415.

2946. R. v. LERESCHE, No. 2910, ante.

2947. PIPER v. PIPER, No. 6088, post.

2948. — — —.]—A husband & wife separated under a deed. After four months the former ceased to make payments under the deed. The wife subsequently petitioned for a divorce on the ground of the husband's desertion & adultery :—Held : the deed of separation did not prevent petitioner relying upon the charge of desertion.—HUSSEY v. HUSSEY (1913), 109 L. T. 192; 29 T. L. R. 673.

Annotations :—Folld. Smith v. Smith, [1915] P. 288. Consd. Roe v. Roe, [1916] P. 163.

2949. —— — — Deed repudiated by conduct.]—A husband having threatened to break up the matrimonial home, entered into a deed of separation, but, after a short time he made no further payment to his wife under the deed. Upon a petition by the wife :—Held : he was guilty of desertion, &, upon proof of his adultery the wife was entitled to a decree nisi dissolving the marriage.

Qu. : whether the mere failure to pay an allowance provided by the terms of a deed of separation would constitute desertion.—SMITH v. SMITH, [1915] P. 288; 85 L. J. P. 16; 113 L. T. 1166; 32 T. L. R. 43; 60 Sol. Jo. 25.

2950. —— — — —.]—ROE v. ROE, No. 2940, ante.

2951. —— —— ——.]—A deed of separation provided for the parties living apart & contained a covenant by the husband to pay the wife a weekly allowance & a mutual covenant not to sue for restitution. The husband had failed to pay the allowance & repudiated the deed; the wife had not sued under the deed. The wife sued for dissolution of marriage on the grounds of desertion & adultery :—Held : the ct. would not take notice of the deed, & even, if defending, the husband could not avail himself of the deed.—LOOKER v. LOOKER, [1918] P. 132; 87 L. J. P. 72; 118 L. T. 654; 34 T. L. R. 270; 62 Sol. Jo. 405.

Annotation :—Refd. Holroyd v. Holroyd (1920), 36 T. L. R. 479.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 8.—B. (g).

2940 i. (General rule.)—Where a deed of separation has been entered into by husband & wife the husband cannot be afterwards held guilty of desertion during the continuance of such separation. Resumption of cohabitation prevents such deed from being pleaded as a bar to subsequent desertion.—cf. FISHER (1901), 23 N. Z. L. R. 386.—N.Z.

2941 i. Whether evidence of consent to negative desertion—Failure to make allowance secured by deed.]—The parties had signed a deed of separation in which the husband agreed to allow his wife the sum of £100 a year for maintenance. Petitioner had received this allowance for one year only, resp. having refused to continue it. Since that time petitioner had been earning her own living. No attempt to resume cohabitation had been made by either party since their separation, & the husband had lived with another woman in continuous adultery for upwards of two years prior to the filing of the petition :—Held : these facts sustained the charge of desertion against the husband.—COOMBS v. COOMBS (1897), 16 N. Z. L. R. 56.—N.Z.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 8, B. (g), C. & D. (a) & (b), E. & F. (a) & (b).]

2952. ——————.]—WALSH v. WALSH, No. 2880, ante.

2953. —— No covenant to condone—No covenant not to sue.]—MOORE v. MOORE, CHADWICK & GRIFFITHS, No. 3045, post.

2954. —— Deed obtained mala fide.]—A husband, before leaving his wife, told her that, if she would sign a deed of separation, he would make her an allowance of £1 a week, otherwise he would give her nothing. He thereupon took her to his solr.'s office where the deed of separation was already drawn up. The solr. told her that the only way to get any money from her husband was to sign the deed. At first she refused to do so, but at length consented, her child being then three months old. She had no independent advice. She received the allowance under the deed for some years. The husband having subsequently committed adultery, she brought an action for divorce, alleging adultery & desertion:—Held: the wife was not a consenting party to the deed, having been forced into signing it by the circumstances of her position, & therefore she was not prevented from relying on the desertion.—ADAMSON v. ADAMSON (1907), 23 T. L. R. 434.

Annotation:—Apld. Holroyd v. Holroyd (1920), 36 T. L. R. 479.

2955. ——————.]—HARRISON v. HARRISON, No. 2973, post.

2956. ——————.]—A husband for four years before deserting his wife pressed her continuously to sign a paper under which he agreed to pay her a small weekly sum for the maintenance of herself & her three young children, but she always refused to do so. Finally, in 1917, he left her, taking with him all the money in the house with the exception of a sum of 4*d*. Some weeks later, when she discovered his whereabouts, he declined to come home or to provide her with any money unless she signed a document which he had prepared after consulting a solr. He threatened if she did not sign to leave the country & let her & her children starve or go into the workhouse. In these circumstances she signed the paper & had been receiving a small weekly sum which had become wholly inadequate:—Held: the wife was not a consenting party, but had been forced into signing the document by her husband's threats, her own ill-health & destitution, & she was not prevented from relying on desertion, coupled with the husband's adultery.—HOLROYD v. HOLROYD (1920), 36 T. L. R. 479.

C. Statutory Desertion.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 185 (1).

2957. Desertion for two years & upwards.]—Judicial separation decreed by reason of the wife's desertion of her husband for two years & upwards without reasonable cause.—MILLAR v. MILLAR (1883), 8 P. D. 187; 32 W. R. 95.

2958. Failure to obey restitution decree.]—In a petition by a wife for divorce on the ground of adultery & desertion it appeared that the husband had failed to comply with a decree for restitution of conjugal rights, & that he had also been guilty of adultery before the date of the decree:—Held: sufficient proof of adultery & desertion had been given to satisfy Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 5, & the wife was entitled to a decree for divorce.—BIGWOOD v. BIGWOOD (1888), 13 P. D. 89; 57 L. J. P. 80; 58 L. T. 642; 36 W. R. 928.

Annotation:—Consd. Beauclerk v. Beauclerk, [1895] P 220.

2959. Not where compliance impossible.]—Where a husband had refused to comply with a decree ordering him to resume cohabitation within fourteen days of the service thereof, the ct., under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 5, granted a decree of judicial separation, although the period of two years had not elapsed.

If resp. had failed to comply with the order of restitution because he had not the means of doing so, & because he did not know where his wife was, I would not make a decree of judicial separation (HANNEN, P.).—HARDING v. HARDING (1886), 11 P. D. 111; 55 L. J. P. 59; 56 L. T. 919.

2960. —— Effect of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 5.]—The effect of above sect. which enacts that resp. who fails to comply with a decree for restitution of conjugal rights shall be deemed guilty of desertion without reasonable cause, & that a suit for judicial separation may be forthwith instituted, is to give the ct. power to refuse a decree for restitution whenever the result of such a decree would be to compel the ct. to treat one of the spouses as deserting the other without reasonable cause, contrary to the real truth of the case.—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL, [1895] P. 315; 64 L. J. P. 105; 73 L. T. 295; 44 W. R. 213; 11 T. L. R. 579; 39 Sol. Jo. 722, C. A.; on appeal, [1897] A. C. 395, H. L.

Annotations:—Apld. Oldroyd v. Oldroyd, [1896] P. 175. Consd. Beer v. Beer (1906), 94 L. T. 704; Brooking-Phillips v. Brooking-Phillips, [1913] P. 80; Greene v. Greene, [1916] P. 188. Apld. Walter v. Walter, [1921] P. 302. Consd. Thomas v. Thomas, [1924] P. 194. Refd. Armytage v. Armytage (1898), 78 L. T. 689; Walker v. Walker (1898), 77 L. T. 715; Synge v. Synge, [1900] P. 180; Jeapes v. Jeapes (1903), 89 L. T. 74; Frowd v. Frowd, [1904] P. 177; Baron v. Baron (1908), 52 Sol. Jo. 282; Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123; Butland v. Butland (1913), 29 T. L. R. 729; Moss v. Moss, [1916] P. 155; Fisk v. Fisk (1920), 122 L. T. 803; Foster v. Foster, [1921] P. 438; Harnett v. Harnett, [1924] P. 126.

2961. ——————.]—WALTER v. WALTER, No. 2494, ante.

2962. — Wife's right of election.]—LESLIE v. LESLIE, No. 5516, post.

2963. —— Time for obedience—Inclusion of Sundays.]—Where the period limited for compliance with a decree for restitution of conjugal rights includes one or more Sundays, those days will be included in computing the time, the lapse of which, without compliance with the decree, constitutes statutory desertion within the meaning of the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 5.—BLACKWELL v. BLACKWELL (1920), 89 L. J. P. 143; 123 L. T. 175; 36 T. L. R. 478.

Proof of service of restitution decrees.]—See Nos. 3925, 3926, post.

D. Commencement of Desertion.

(a) In General.

2964. From time of intention to desert.]—WALSH v. WALSH, No. 2880, ante.

Whether possible during cessation of cohabitation.]—See Nos. 2837, 2845, 2846, 2850, 2910, ante.

Effect of petition in matrimonial court or order of justices, see Sub-sect. 8, F. (b), post.

(b) Where Separation originally by Consent.

2965. Intention to desert—& live in adultery.]—Desertion held to commence, not at the time when the husband & wife ceased to cohabit, but at the time when the husband made up his mind to abandon the wife & live with another woman.—GATEHOUSE v. GATEHOUSE (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 331; 36 L. J. P. & M. 121; 16 L. T. 34.

Annotations:—Folld. Stickland v. Stickland (1876), 35 L. T. 767. Refd. Fitzgerald v. Fitzgerald (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 694; Pulford v. Pulford, [1923] P. 18.

2966. Repudiation of separation deed.]—WALSH v. WALSH, No. 2880, ante.

2967. Commencement of adultery.]—A husband left his house in England, with the consent & knowledge of his wife, for Australia, & for some years regularly corresponded with her. The correspondence having suddenly been broken off, & nothing heard of the husband, inquiries were made, when it was found that he had been living with another woman as his wife, who had born him three children :—Held : there was evidence of an intention to desert from the time when the intimacy with the woman in Australia commenced or from the time when the correspondence with the wife at home ceased.—STICKLAND v. STICKLAND (1876), 35 L. T. 767 ; 25 W. R. 114.

Annotation :—Refd. Chudley v. Chudley (1893), 62 L. J. M. C. 97.

2968. ——.]—The wife petitioned for a divorce on the grounds of desertion coupled with adultery. The marriage took place in Apr. 1875, & in 1876 or early in 1877 there was a temporary separation, which petitioner stated to have been on account of resp.'s intemperate habits. In 1877 resp., who was a hosier at the date of the marriage, finally left his wife, but they continued to correspond for some years. In or about the year 1884 the wife heard rumours as to her husband's mode of life ; & subsequently, in 1886, she went to Australia, partly with the object of ascertaining the truth of these rumours, & partly with the object of singing at concerts, by which latter means she was supporting herself & child. She found he was living with a woman, & had children by her. The wife made no request to her husband to return to her, or to take her back to live with him. Subsequently she returned to England, & eventually instituted this suit, charging adultery & desertion in & since 1886 :—Held : although there was in law no desertion prior to 1886, yet the fact of his taking up with another woman & starting in another home, & not contributing anything to her support, constituted desertion in & since 1886 ; & petitioner was entitled to a decree nisi for the dissolution of the marriage upon that ground, coupled with adultery.—DREW v. DREW (1891), 64 L. T. 840.

2969. Discovery of adultery.]—FARMER v. FARMER, No. 2914, ante.

2970. Resumption & continuance of adultery.]—DAVIS v. DAVIS, No. 2875, ante.

2971. Cessation of correspondence.]—STICKLAND v. STICKLAND, No. 2967, ante.

2972. Cessation of occasional cohabitation.]—GARCIA v. GARCIA, No. 2856, ante.

2973. Separation obtained mala fides—Husband living abroad in adultery.]—Where the ct. was satisfied that resp. had mala fide persuaded his wife to agree to a temporary deed of separation for six months, & was now living abroad in adultery, a decree of divorce was granted to the wife, notwithstanding that the commencement of the desertion was calculated prior to the date on which the separation should have come to an end.—HARRISON v. HARRISON (1910), 54 Sol. Jo. 619.

E. Continuance of Desertion.

Effect of filing of petition or order of justices—Whether desertion terminated.]—See Sub-sect. 8, F. (b), post.

2974. During imprisonment.]—A., on Oct. 4, 1854, deserted his wife, without reasonable excuse, & never returned to her again. On Nov. 16, 1856, he was arrested on a charge of felony, & was subsequently convicted & sentenced to four years' penal servitude. Between Oct. 4, 1854, & Nov. 16, 1856, he was twice imprisoned for debt ; on the first occasion for seven, on the second for nineteen days. The above facts having been proved in a suit by the wife, commenced before the expiration of the term of penal servitude, for dissolution of marriage, on the ground of adultery & desertion :—Held : after consideration, the husband had been guilty of desertion for two years & upwards.—ASTROPE v. ASTROPE (1859), 29 L. J. P. & M. 27.

2975. —— Manifest intention to desert.]—In a wife's suit for dissolution on the ground of adultery & desertion, it appeared that resp. when he left his wife stated to her that he was going to Ireland for a week's shooting, but in fact he went to Australia to escape arrest on a charge of embezzlement. Up to the time of his flight he had been carrying on an adulterous intercourse with a woman with whom he made arrangements to go away, & he was found living in adultery with another woman at Sydney. Subsequently he was brought back to this country in custody, tried, & sentenced to ten years' penal servitude :—Held : the circumstances under which resp. left his wife constituted desertion, & the desertion would continue notwithstanding the fact that he was brought back to this country in custody & prevented by his imprisonment from returning to his wife.—DREW v. DREW (1888), 13 P. D. 97 ; 57 L. J. P. 64 ; 58 L. T. 923 ; 36 W. R. 927.

Annotations :—Apld. Wynne v. Wynne, [1898] P. 18. Distd. Wilson v. Wilson (1908), 72 J. P. 112.

2976. Same state of things must continue.]—KAY v. KAY, No. 2850, ante.

2977. Intermittent visits after wilful desertion—No intention to resume cohabitation.]—Where a husband has wilfully separated from his wife without her consent, intermittent visits by him to her during the statutory period necessary for desertion, without the intention on his part of remaining, or of resuming marital intercourse, does not constitute a return to cohabitation.—THURSTON v. THURSTON (1910), 26 T. L. R. 388.

Necessity for withdrawal from existing state of cohabitation.]—See Sub-sect. 8, B. (b), ante.

F. Termination of Desertion.

(a) In General.

Refusal to resume cohabitation.]—See No. 2929, ante.

Entry into deed of separation.]—See No. 2944, ante.

(b) Effect of Petition in Matrimonial Court or Order of Justices.

2978. General rule.]—KAY v. KAY, No. 2850, ante.

2979. ——.]—(1) Desertion as contemplated by the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), must be persistent for two years, & cannot be relied on by a spouse who has so acted as to prevent the time from running.

(2) The insertion in orders of justices, made

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 8.—E.

r. During absence on military service.]—In 1917 resp. went to the war, & petitioner received a compulsory allotment from his pay of 3*s.* day, & further received from the Defence Department 3*s.* per day separation allowance & 1*s.* 6*d.* per day for each of her two children. These payments ceased in 1919 on his return. Since his return resp. had not contributed to petitioner's support :—Held : there was no continuing desertion during resp.'s absence at the war, & there was no continuous period of 3 years during which resp. could be held to have habitually & without just cause left petitioner without reasonable maintenance.—MORRIS v. MORRIS, [1920] N. Z. L. R. 706.—N.Z.

Sect. 5,—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 8, F. (b), & G. (a) & (b).]

under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), of the non-cohabitation provision is unnecessary in cases of desertion or neglect to maintain. If inserted it puts an end to any desertion on the part of the husband that may have commenced within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85).

(3) Justices should not grant such orders where the wife's safety does not require it, & where a maintenance order is sufficient.—DODD v. DODD, [1906] P. 189; 75 L. J. P. 49; 94 L. T. 709; 70 J. P. 163; 54 W. R. 541; 22 T. L. R. 484; 50 Sol. Jo. 528.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Bristol Union Grdns. v. Paddington Grdns. (1906), 70 J. P. 447. Consd. Failes v. Failes, [1906] P. 326. Folld. Wilson v. Wilson (1908), 99 L. T. 307. Apprvd. Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123. Refd. Taylor v. Taylor (1907), 23 T. L. R. 566. As to (2) Folld. Robinson v. Robinson, [1919] P. 352. Consd. Timmins v. Timmins, [1919] P. 75. Refd. Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123.

2980. — —.]—Where proceedings are pending in the Divorce Div. of the High Ct. between husband & wife, justices ought not to entertain any application by the wife against her husband under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39). In Oct. 1906, a husband filed a petition for divorce, & an order was made for a weekly payment of alimony to the wife pendente lite. The weekly payments were made down to Jan. 4, 1907. On Feb. 19, 1907, an order was made by the President that petitioner should pay resp. her taxed costs, & should deposit £20 in ct. as security for the wife's costs, & the usual order was made staying the suit until the order was complied with. On Apr. 15, 1907, a summons was taken out by the wife under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4, on the ground that the husband had deserted her. The justices made an order, dated Apr. 22, for separation & maintenance, & recited in the reasons they gave for their decision that "the husband not going on with his proceedings in the High Ct., that ct., by the registrar, ordered a stay of proceedings therein":—Held: as the divorce suit was still pending, there could be no desertion, & the justices had no jurisdiction to make the order.—CRAXTON v. CRAXTON (1907), 71 J. P. 399; 23 T. L. R. 527; 51 Sol. Jo. 484, D. C.

2981. Whether desertion terminated—Filing of petition.]—A wife's petition for dissolution of marriage by reason of cruelty & adultery was, by leave of the ct., withdrawn & petition afterwards filed for dissolution of marriage by reason of the same adultery & also by reason of desertion for two years, which had not accrued at the date of the first petition.—KNAPP v. KNAPP (1880), 6 P. D. 10; 49 L. J. P. 69; 43 L. T. 384; 29 W. R. 80.

Annotation:—Consd. Kay v. Kay, [1904] P. 382.

2982. — — —.]—Where an undefended suit, in which no appearance had been entered on behalf of resp., for dissolution on the ground of resp.'s adultery & cruelty, was part heard, & the ct. was satisfied with the evidence adduced on behalf of petitioner in confirmation of the charge of adultery alleged against resp., but adjourned the case for the production of further evidence as to the alleged charges of cruelty, the ct. granted leave to amend the petition by adding a charge of desertion, the requisite two years, though complete at the time of the making of the application, not having been completed until subsequent to the filing of the petition in the suit.—KETTLEWELL v. KETTLEWELL (1880), 41 L. T. 737.

Annotation:—Consd. Kay v. Kay, [1904] P. 382.

—.]—WOOD v. WOOD, No. post.

2984. — — —.]—A petition presented by a wife for dissolution on the ground of adultery & cruelty was filed in Aug. 1886. In June, 1886, resp. deserted his wife & had never afterwards returned to cohabitation, & in July, 1888, she obtained leave to amend her petition by adding a charge of desertion. The ct. at the hearing, when the charge of cruelty was abandoned, declined to entertain the charge of desertion on the ground that the cause of action was not complete at the time of filing the petition, & while ready to grant a judicial separation on the ground of adultery:—Held: further relief could only be obtained by filing a fresh petition.—LAPINGTON v. LAPINGTON (1888), 14 P. D. 21; 58 L. J. P. 26; 59 L. T. 608; 52 J. P. 727; 37 W. R. 384.

Annotations:— Consd. Kay v. Kay, [1904] P. 382. Folld. Stevenson v. Stevenson, [1911] P. 191.

2985. KAY v. KAY, No. 2850, ante.

2986. — — —.]—The filing & prosecution of a suit for judicial separation precludes petitioner from successfully pleading that the period of desertion was running during the time the suit was being maintained.—STEVENSON v. STEVENSON, [1911] P. 191; 80 L. J. P. 137; 105 L. T. 183; 27 T. L. R. 517, C. A.

2987. — — —.]—A woman who has obtained a decree for judicial separation by reason of her husband's adultery may afterwards obtain a dissolution of the marriage on the grounds of desertion prior to the petition for judicial separation & of adultery subsequent to such decree.—FULLERTON v. FULLERTON (1922), 39 T. L. R. 46.

2988. — — Order of justices.]—A. deserted his wife, & cohabited with another woman. On two occasions he was taken before magistrates, & compelled to contribute to his wife's support:—Held: nevertheless, she was entitled to a dissolution of her marriage by reason of her husband's adultery coupled with his desertion.—OLIVER v. OLIVER (1859), 5 Jur. N. S. 606.

2989. — — — Non-cohabitation clause.]—Although it is provided by Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 5 (a) that an order of a ct. of summary jurisdiction made under that Act, that appct. is no longer bound to cohabit with her husband, is, while in force, to have the effect in all respects of a decree of judicial separation, such order cannot extend, abridge, or alter the jurisdiction of the Divorce Div. of the High Ct. of Justice under the Matrimonial Causes Acts.

An order was obtained by a married woman against her husband from justices, under the Act of 1895, on the ground of desertion. Such desertion need not continue for two years. Subsequently a state of things arose which constituted desertion for two years under the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85):—Held: the order of the justices need not be taken into consideration in determining whether there had been desertion of which the High Ct. would take cognisance.—SMITH v. SMITH, [1905] P. 249; 74 L. J. P. 113; 93 L. T. 457; 54 W. R. 220.

Annotations:—Consd. Dodd v. Dodd, [1906] P. 189. Folld. Failes v. Failes, [1906] P. 326. N.F. Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123.

2990. — — — —.]—DODD v. DODD, No 2979, ante.

2991. — — — Clear intention to desert.]—Where a husband leaves his wife in circumstances which clearly point to an intention to desert her, the fact that she subsequently applies to a ct. of summary jurisdiction & obtains a separation order there is not a bar to her right to plead such deserton under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), &, after two years, upon proof of adultery, to obtain against her husband, who has continued to desert her, a decree of divorce.—FAILES v. FAILES, [1906] P. 326 ; 75 L. J. P. 95 ; 95 L. T. 547 ; 22 T. L. R. 687.

Annotations :—Distd. Taylor v. Taylor (1907), 23 T. L. R. 566. Dbtd. Wilson v. Wilson (1908), 99 L. T. 307. N.F. Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123.

2992. Two years' desertion complete before order.]—A wife having been deserted by her husband for more than two years, obtained from a ct. of summary jurisdiction a separation order under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39). She subsequently discovered that her husband had both before & after the separation order committed adultery. She then filed a petition for divorce :—Held : as there had been desertion for two years & upwards at the time when the separation order was made, & as her husband had then committed adultery, the jurisdiction of the ct. was complete, &, as she was unaware of her husband's adultery at the time when she obtained the separation order, the latter was no bar to her setting up the desertion with his adultery as a ground for divorce.—LETT v. LETT (1907), 23 T. L. R. 569 ; 51 Sol. Jo. 532.

Annotation :—Folld. Churner v. Churner (1912), 106 L. T.

2993. — A husband deserted his wife, & she applied to justices under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), for an order upon him for the payment to her of an allowance. The justices made an order for separation & also for the payment of an allowance. The husband, who was living in adultery with a woman, made some payments under the order, & some years afterwards he was committed for non-payment of arrears of the allowance, & the wife filed a petition for divorce upon the ground of his adultery & desertion. Subsequently she agreed to accept a smaller sum than the full amount due for the arrears of the allowance, & he was released from prison :—Held : after the order of the justices there was no desertion, & the petition for divorce upon that ground must fail.—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR (1907), 23 T. L. R. 566 ; 51 Sol. Jo. 515 ; 71 J. P. Jo. 244.

2994. ——.]—A wife obtained an order from the justices under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), under which she was to live separate & apart from her husband, the grounds upon which the order was granted being his desertion. The desertion took place within two years before the order was made. The husband subsequently committed adultery, & the wife, after the expiration of two years from the date of the separation order, filed a petition for divorce :—Held : the husband had not been guilty of desertion for two years & upwards, as required by statute, & the wife was not entitled to a decree of divorce.—WILSON v. WILSON (1908), 99 L. T. 307 ; 72 J. P. 112 ; 24 T. L. R. 256 ; 52 Sol. Jo. 283.

2995. —.]—(1) In July, 1905, resp. deserted petitioner & never returned to her or contributed to her support. In Mar. 1906, a stipendiary magistrate, upon the complaint of petitioner that resp. had deserted her, made an order under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 5, that resp. should pay a specified weekly sum to petitioner for her support ; the order contained also a provision under s. 5 (a) of the Act that petitioner should no longer be bound to cohabit with resp. In 1907 resp. committed adultery, & in Dec. 1907, petitioner presented a petition for dissolution of the marriage on the grounds of adultery & of desertion for two years without reasonable excuse :—Held : the effect of the non-cohabitation clause in the magistrate's order was to prevent the continuance of the desertion after the date of the order ; there had therefore not been desertion without reasonable excuse for two years by resp. so as to satisfy the requirements of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 27 ; & petitioner was not entitled to a decree for dissolution of the marriage.

(2) Where a married woman applies for an order under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 5, upon the ground of desertion only, a non-cohabitation clause is in general an inappropriate remedy & should not be inserted in the order.—HARRIMAN v. HARRIMAN, [1909] P. 123 ; 78 L. J. P. 62 ; 100 L. T. 557 ; 73 J. P. 193 ; 25 T. L. R. 291 ; 53 Sol. Jo. 265, C. A.

Annotations :—As to (1) Expld. Stevenson v. Stevenson, [1911] P. 191. Distd. Churner v. Churner (1912), 106 L. T. 769. Consd. Robinson v. Robinson, [1919] P. 352. Rcfd. Eastbourne Grdns. v. Croydon Grdns., [1910] 2 K. B. 16 ; Timmins v. Timmins, [1919] P. 75 ; Rutherford v. Rutherford, [1922] P. 144.

2996. ——.]—A wife obtained from justices, under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), an order in her favour on the ground of her husband's desertion for a period of two years & over, & that order contained a non-cohabitation clause. Subsequently the husband committed adultery :—Held : as there had been desertion for two years when the separation order was made, & as the husband had been guilty of adultery, petitioner was entitled to her decree.—CHURNER v. CHURNER (1912), 106 L. T. 769 ; 28 T. L. R. 318.

2997. ——.]—NILAND v. NILAND, No. 3638, post.

2998. ——.]—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON, No. 6133, post.

2999. —— Clause subsequently struck out.]—A wife whose husband had deserted her in June 1916, obtained in July 1916, a separation order under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 5. The order provided inter alia, that she should no longer be bound to cohabit with her husband. In Apr. 1919, the order was varied on the wife's application with notice to the husband, & the "non-cohabitation clause" was struck out. In June 1921, the wife presented a petition for dissolution of marriage, alleging adultery & desertion for two years & upwards :—Held : although the effect of the "non-cohabitation clause" in the order had been to prevent the continuance of desertion from July, 1916, until Apr. 1919, the husband's continued absence from the wife for two years & upwards after he was aware that the clause had been struck out of the order constituted such desertion as, coupled with proof of adultery, entitled the wife to a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage.—BOULTON v. BOULTON, [1922] P. 229 ; 91 L. J. P. 157 ; 127 L. T. 558 ; 38 T. L. R. 611.

G. Defences to Charge of Desertion.

(a) Separation by Consent.

See Sub-sect. 8, B. (d), (g), ante.

(b) Offer to resume Cohabitation.

See Sub-sect. 8, B. (e) ii. & iii., ante.

Sect. 5.—Matrimonial offences and remedies therefor: Sub-sect. 8, G. (c), H. & I. Sects. 6 & 7: Sub-sects. 1 & 2.]

(c) Reasonable Cause for Withdrawal from Cohabitation.

Reasonable cause for withdrawal as defence to suit for restitution of conjugal rights, see Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, F. (b), ante.

3000. General rule.]—In answer to a petition for judicial separation on the ground of desertion, resp. may set out facts showing that there was reasonable cause for the desertion, but such facts should be stated succinctly.—HILL v. HILL (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 187; 10 Jur. N. S. 371.

3001. Necessity to show reasonable cause.]—A husband who withdraws from cohabitation with his wife may be guilty of the offence of "desertion" within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), although he continues to support her. Desertion "within cause" means "without reasonable cause." Such reasonable cause is not necessarily a distinct matrimonial offence on which a decree of judicial separation or dissolution could be founded; but it must be grave & weighty. Mere frailty of temper & habits which are distasteful to a husband, are not reasonable grounds for depriving a wife of the protection of his home & society.—YEATMAN v. YEATMAN (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 489; 37 L. J. P. & M. 37; 18 L. T. 415; 16 W. R. 734.

Annotations:—Consd. Oldroyd v. Oldroyd, [1896] P. 175. Refd. Cowley v. Cowley (1897), Times, Feb. 3; Frowd v. Frowd, [1904] P. 177; Fisk v. Fisk (1920), 122 L. T. 803. Mentd. Yeatman v. Yeatman (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 187.

3002. ——.]—FROWD v. FROWD, No. 6106, post.

3003. What is "reasonable cause"—Conduct falling short of matrimonial offence—Not mere frailty of temper & habits.]—YEATMAN v. YEATMAN, No. 3001, ante.

3004. —— Belief that wife impotent.]—The parties were married in Dec. 1868. In May, 1869, petitioner separated from resp., she being, as he alleged, either incapable or unwilling to consummate the marriage. Three years afterwards resp. formed an adulterous connection with co-resp., & gave birth to a child. At the hearing she was called as a witness in her own behalf, & attributed the fault of the non-consummation of the marriage to petitioner. The ct., being satisfied that petitioner had separated from resp. in consequence of the bonâ fide belief that the incapacity lay with her:—Held: he had not been guilty of such desertion or wilful separation without reasonable excuse, as should disentitle him to a decree for dissolution of his marriage.—OUSEY v. OUSEY & ATKINSON (1874), L. R. 3 P. & D. 223; 43 L. J. P. & M. 35; 30 L. T. 911; 22 W. R. 556; subsequent proceedings (1875), 1 P. D. 56.

Annotations:—Consd. Synge v. Synge, [1900] P. 180; Davis v. Davis, [1918] P. 85; Wickins v. Wickins, [1918] P. 265. Refd. Russell v. Russell, [1924] A. C. 687. Mentd. Otway v. Otway (1888), 13 P. D. 141.

3005. —— Not refusal of wife to exonerate suspected rival.]—The husband withdrew from cohabitation, & refused to return & live with his wife, unless she wrote a letter exonerating a certain lady of whom she had reason to be jealous. The wife, having grounds for believing that her suspicions were well founded, refused to comply with the condition, but was desirous to live with her husband, & pressed him to return to cohabitation. The husband occasionally met & corresponded with her, but persisted in his refusal to live with her:—Held: the denial of consortium by the husband amounted to desertion, & the desertion was without reasonable excuse.—DALLAS v. DALLAS (1874), 43 L. J. P. & M. 87; 31 L. T. 271.

3006. —— Not conviction & imprisonment of wife for criminal offence.]—Semble: the conviction of a wife for an offence against the criminal law is no justification for refusing further cohabitation with her, &, if such refusal conduces to her adultery, the ct. will not grant her husband a dissolution of his marriage.

The conviction & imprisonment of a husband or wife for an offence against the criminal law is no justification to the other party for refusing to live with him or her. However painful it may be for a respectable man to have a wife who has been convicted of felony, such conviction does not in this ct. justify him in deserting her. . . . In this case I have to consider not only whether there was desertion by the husband without legal excuse . . . (SIR JAMES HANNEN, P.).—WILLIAMSON v. WILLIAMSON (1882), 7 P. D. 76; 51 L. J. P. 54; 46 L. T. 920; 30 W. R. 616.

3007. —— Refusal to comply with restitution decree.]—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL, No. 2960, ante.

3008. —— Petitioner's cruelty—Apprehension of physical restraint.]—In an action by a husband against his wife for divorce on the ground of desertion for the statutory period, it appeared that she had left him because of conduct on his part causing her mental distress sufficient to interfere with her restoration to health, & because of menaces by him sufficient to create in her a well-founded apprehension of physical restraint & culminating in an act of violence against her person:—Held: she had reasonable cause for leaving her husband's house & for declining to return to it.—MACKENZIE v. MACKENZIE, [1895] A. C. 384, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Re Mackenzie, Mackenzie v. Edwards-Moss, [1911] 1 Ch. 578. Refd. Synge v. Synge, [1900] P. 180; Greene v. Greene (1916), 115 L. T. 127. Mentd. Oldroyd v. Oldroyd, [1896] P. 175; Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395; Harnett v. Harnett [1924] P. 126.

3009. —— Refusal to permit marital intercourse.]—SYNGE v. SYNGE, No. 3631, post.

3010. —— Statement made before marriage—Regarding paternity of child born in wedlock.]—Where a husband had deserted his wife on account of a statement made before marriage as to the paternity of a child born in wedlock:—Held: this was not a reasonable cause or excuse.—HOLT v. HOLT (1908), 53 Sol. Jo. 84; 72 J. P. Jo. 580, D. C.

3011. —— Not innocent contraction of venereal disease before marriage—Though communicated to spouse.]—The innocent contraction of a venereal disease by a wife before marriage, though communicated to her husband, does not afford the husband sufficient ground for leaving his wife, &, therefore, is no defence to her complaint to a ct. of summary jurisdiction for maintenance on the ground of desertion.—BUTLER v. BUTLER, [1917] P. 244; 86 L. J. P. 135; 117 L. T. 542; 33 T. L. R. 494; 61 Sol. Jo. 631, D. C.

3012. Making of monetary allowance—No defence.]—A wife is entitled to the society & protection of her husband, & if, after refusing to live with her, he gives her an allowance, the payment of such allowance to her is no answer to the charge of wilful desertion.—MACDONALD v. MACDONALD (1859), 4 Sw. & Tr. 242; 164 E. R. 1508.

Annotation:—Refd. Cowley v. Cowley (1897), Times, Feb. 3.

3013. —— ——.]—YEATMAN v. YEATMAN, No. 3001, ante.

PART XIII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 8.—G. (c).

s. What is reasonable cause—Unfaithfulness of wife—deserted by her husband.]—Unfaithfulness of a wife deserted by her husband during the five years following the desertion is a just cause for the husband keeping away from the wife even if the husband did not know it.—DOUGLAS v. DOUGLAS (1903), 23 N. Z. L. R. 584.—N.Z.

H. Evidence.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 198.

3014. Decree in previous suit.]—STOATE v. STOATE, No. 2671, ante.

3015. Order of justices.]—A wife obtained an order from justices, under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 5 (a), that she was no longer bound to cohabit with her husband on account of his desertion. More than two years after the desertion & the order she filed a petition for divorce, the husband having committed adultery since the order. The ct. pronounced a decree nisi for divorce upon the ground of the adultery & desertion for two years.—LEVY v. LEVY (1904), 21 T. L. R. 157.

Annotation :—Refd. Dodd v. Dodd, [1906] P. 189.

I. Remedies.

NOTE.—It is no longer necessary for a wife to prove desertion & adultery ; adultery of the husband alone being a sufficient ground for divorce.—See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 176 (b).

Judicial separation—Desertion without cause for not less than two years.]—See Supreme Court Judicature (Consolidation) Act (c. 49), s. 185 (1).

Divorce.]—See Note above.

withhold a decree of dissolution of marriage on the ground of the suppression of material facts by a petitioner, when it appears upon all the facts being disclosed to the ct. that the petitioner is entitled to a decree. A petition contained two charges of adultery, & alleged that neither of them had been condoned. The Queen's Proctor intervened & proved condonation of one adultery but not of the other, & the ct. made a decree absolute on the ground of the uncondoned adultery, notwithstanding the suppression of the material fact of condonation of the other adultery.—ALEXANDRE v. ALEXANDRE (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 164 ; 39 L. J. P. & M. 84 ; 23 L. T. 268 ; 18 W. R. 1087.

Annotations :—Consd. Butler v. Butler (1890), 15 P. D. 66 ; Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292. Expld. Rogers v. Rogers, [1894] P. 161 ; Roche v. Roche (1905), 21 T. L. R. 332. Consd. Hunter v. Hunter, [1905] P. 217. Refd. Brooke v. Brooke (1912), 28 T. L. R. 314.

Absence of consummation of marriage—Whether bar to suit—On ground of adultery.]—See Nos. 2697–2701, ante.

—— —— On ground of desertion.]—See No. 2838, ante.

Defences to suit for restitution of conjugal rights.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, F., ante.

Defences to charges of cruelty.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 2, E., ante.

Defences to charge of desertion.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 8, G., ante.

SECT. 6.—LEGITIMACY DECLARATIONS.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 188 ; BASTARDY, Vol. III., pp. 369, 370, Nos. 100–121.

SECT. 7.—BARS TO RELIEF.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

3016. Disorderly conduct after separation.]—Pltf. sued her husband, after affirming that she had a right to be restored to his home & marital affection. Pltf. was married to deft. in 1812 ; soon after which a separation, by mutual consent, took place, deft. allowing her a specific sum annually. Deft. opposed the libel & pleaded the disorderly conduct of his wife as a bar to the libel : —Held : Mrs. D. was not entitled to her remedy of restitution of conjugal rights, partly in consequence of the length of time between the separation of the parties, but more especially on account of her conduct since she & deft. separated.—DRAPER v. DRAPER (1837), 1 Jur. 872.

3017. Pendency of appeal in previous suit.]—EVANS v. EVANS & ROBINSON, No. 3027, post.

3018. Failure of proof.]—On the husband's petition for dissolution, co-resp. put the charge of adultery in issue ; but the wife did not answer the petition. On trial of the issue, the jury found a verdict of adultery against co-resp. ; & the judge ordinary, not being satisfied that the adultery was proved by the evidence, refused to make a decree against the wife but permitted petitioner to amend his evidence if he could.—DOLBY v. DOLBY & HEWITT (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 228 ; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 110 ; 3 L. T. 679 ; 9 W. R. 476 ; 164 E. R. 982.

3019. Suppression of material facts—Petitioner otherwise entitled to relief.]—Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), s. 7, does not empower the ct. to

SUB-SECT. 2. INSANITY.

See, generally, LUNATICS.

3020. Restitution suit—Cohabitation unsafe.]—The wife libelled for restitution of conjugal rights. The husband alleged the wife's insanity & a morbid hatred towards himself which rendered cohabitation unsafe. The wife's responsive allegation allowing that she had been insane, but asserting her recovery & denying the facts on which the husband relied to show continuance on insanity, admitted to proof.—HAYWARD v. HAYWARD (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 81 ; 31 L. T. O. S. 24 ; 6 W. R. 638 ; 164 E. R. 638.

Annotation :—Refd. Russell v. Russell, [1895] P. 315.

3021. —— ——.]—In a wife's petition for restitution of conjugal rights the husband's answer alleged all the circumstances & the evidence in a former suit for judicial separation, on the ground of his wife's cruelty. It also alleged that the husband allowed his wife £260 a year to live separately from him, & it set out at a great length a series of subsequent acts tending to show his wife's insanity. The ct., on motion to reform the answer, directed all the particulars of the cruelty & the former suit to be struck out, & the fact of the suit simply to be pleaded. It also struck out the allegation of the allowance ; &, as to the insanity, directed that only such facts should be pleaded as tended to show that it was unsafe for the husband to live with his wife.—RADFORD v. RADFORD (1869), 20 L. T. 279.

Annotation :—Consd. Fisk v. Fisk (1920), 122 L. T. 803.

3022. Judicial separation—Inference of insanity from petitioner's evidence.]—Where the evidence on behalf of petitioner discloses facts from which resp.'s insanity may be inferred, the ct. will require to be satisfied that such facts admit of a different explanation, before it will make a decree in favour of petitioner.—HALL v. HALL (1864), 3

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 1.

1. Nullity—Separation order.] — A summary separation order obtained by resp. against petitioner is not in itself a bar to a petition for nullity of marriage on the ground of the malformation of resp.—A. v. A. (1915), 34 N. Z. L. R. 1039.—N.Z.

Sect. 7 —Bars to relief: Sub-sects. 2 & 3, A. (a), (b), (c) & (d).]

Sw. & Tr. 347; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 65; 9 L. T. 810; 164 E. R. 1309.

Annotation:—Consd. Baron v. Baron (1908), 24 T. L. R. 273.

3023. Dissolution of marriage—Adultery before insanity.]—The ct. refused to allow a husband to proceed with a petition against his wife, who was a lunatic, for the dissolution of their marriage on the ground of adultery, alleged to have been committed by her previous to her lunacy.—BAWDEN v. BAWDEN (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 417; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 94; 6 L. T. 27; 8 Jur. N. S. 157; 10 W. R. 292; 164 E. R. 1057.

Annotation:—N.F. Mordaunt v. Moncreiffe (1874), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 374.

3024. —— Incapacity to understand act alleged —Intermittent mania.]—(1) To a suit by the wife for dissolution of marriage on the ground of cruelty & adultery, resp. pleaded that at the time of the commission of the offences alleged he was a lunatic & of unsound mind, & incapable of understanding their nature & consequences:—Held:—such plea was not proved by evidence that resp. suffered from intermittent or recurrent mania.

(2) Qu.: whether proof of the commission of the offences charged under the influence of permanent insanity would constitute a defence to the suit.—HANBURY v. HANBURY (1892), 8 T. L. R. 559, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Fisk v. Fisk (1920), 122 L. T. 803.

3025. —— —— Delusions.]—(1) In a petition by the husband for a dissolution of the marriage on the ground of the wife's adultery, the guardian ad litem of the wife, who was insane at the time of the presentation of the petition, pleaded that if she had committed adultery she was not of sound mind or responsible for her actions at the time, & that she was incapable of understanding the guilty nature of her acts, & legally incompetent to consent to them:—Held: though the wife might have been subject to insane delusions on some points, if at the time she committed adultery she was capable of appreciating the nature of the act & its probable consequences, her insanity was not a defence to the petition.

(2) Qu.: whether such insanity as would entitle deft. in an indictment for a criminal offence to an acquittal would constitute a valid answer to a suit for divorce on the ground of adultery.—YARROW v. YARROW, [1892] P. 92; 61 L. J. P. 69; 66 L. T. 383; 8 T. L. R. 215.

SUB-SECT. 3.—ABSOLUTE BARS.

A. Res judicata; Estoppel.

(a) In General.

See, generally, ESTOPPEL, Vol. XXI., pp. 159 et seq.

3026. Dissolution suit—Previous judicial separation.]—A wife, in answer to the husband's petition for dissolution on the ground of adultery, pleaded that in a former suit she had been judicially separated from him. The ct. refused to hold the prior decree as a bar to the husband's suit.—YEATMAN v. YEATMAN & RUMMELL (1870), 21 L. T. 733.

Whether desertion terminated—By proceedings in matrimonial court or order of justices.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 8, F. (b), ante.

(b) Previous Findings of Fact.

See, generally, ESTOPPEL, Vol. XXI., p. 163, Nos. 222–224.

3027. Suit for dissolution—Same evidence as in former suit—For judicial separation.]—The answer to a petition for a dissolution of marriage, by reason of the wife's adultery, pleaded that the husband had instituted, in the Ct. of Arches, a suit for a divorce a mensâ et thoro, on the ground of the same acts of adultery, & that judgment had been given against him for defect of proof of the adultery. It also pleaded that the husband had appealed from that judgment to the Privy Council:—Held: (1) by such judgment the husband was not estopped from bringing a suit for dissolution of marriage; (2) the pendency of the appeal was no bar to such a suit.—EVANS v. EVANS & ROBINSON (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 173; 27 L. J. P. & M. 57; 31 L. T. O. S. 170; 6 W. R. 640; 164 E. R. 680.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Ciocci v. Ciocci (1860), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 60; Finney v. Finney (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 483.

3028. —— —— ——.]—WELLS v. WELLS & HUMMERSTON (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 65, n.

3029. —— —— ——.]—Where there were cross suits, & the wife in her suit, which was for a judicial separation on the ground of cruelty, was by the verdict of the jury acquitted of the charges of adultery alleged in the husband's answer, the ct. refused to allow this verdict to be pleaded in answer to the husband's petition for dissolution in which the same acts of adultery were charged.—BANCROFT v. BANCROFT & RUMNEY (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 597; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 14; 164 E. R. 1407.

Annotation:—Refd. Butler v. Butler, [1894] P. 25.

3030. —— —— ——.]—A wife petitioned for judicial separation on the ground of cruelty, & the charges of cruelty being traversed by the husband, the ct. found that they were not proved, & dismissed the petition:—Held: she was estopped from setting up the same charges of cruelty coupled with adultery in a subsequent petition for dissolution.—FINNEY v. FINNEY (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 483; 37 L. J. P. & M. 43; 18 L. T. 489.

Annotations:—Consd. Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123. Refd. Stokes v. Stokes, [1911] P. 195.

3031. —— Same allegations as in prior suit—For dissolution—Additional evidence.]—A wife had filed a petition for a dissolution of marriage, on the ground of adultery, coupled with desertion & cruelty. The case was tried before the passing of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), which renders the wife competent to give evidence of desertion & cruelty. The full ct. refused to dissolve the marriage, on the ground that there was not sufficient evidence of desertion & cruelty, but pronounced a decree of judicial separation, on the ground of adultery. After the passing of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), petitioner applied for leave to file a second petition for a dissolution of marriage, containing the allegations that she had before failed to establish. The judge ordinary granted leave, but expressed a strong opinion that the full ct. would refuse to re-hear the case.—BEVAN v. BEVAN (1859), Sea. & Sm. 76; 4 Sw. & Tr. 265; L. J. P. & M. 45; 164 E. R. 1517.

3032. —— Charges against petitioner—Con-

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3.—A. (b).

3032 i. Suit for dissolution—Charges against petitioner—Conclusiveness of finding in previous suit.]—In a previous suit for dissolution of marriage instituted by petitioner, in which another party had been cited as co-resp., the petition had been dismissed in consequence of alleged misconduct on petitioner's part:—Held: the ct.

clusiveness of finding in previous suit.]—CONRADI v. CONRADI, WORRALL & WAY, No. 2764, ante.

3033. —— —— ——.]—BUTLER v. BUTLER, No. 2760, ante.

3034. Suit for restitution—Same charges as in previous suit—For judicial separation—Identical issues triable by same evidence.]—B. petitioned for restitution of conjugal rights, C. in answer alleged (inter alia) B.'s adultery between certain dates. B. replied, by way of estoppel, that same charges of adultery had been put in issue in a suit for judicial separation brought by C. against him, in which she had failed to prove the adultery. On demurrer to this reply of estoppel:—Held: C. was not entitled, in answer to the petition for restitution, to allege same facts of adultery, which she failed to prove in the previous suit.

Semble: if the identical issue were triable by different evidence in the one case, & in the other, the doctrine of estoppel would not apply.—SOPWITH v. SOPWITH (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 160; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 131; 4 L. T. 256; 7 Jur. N. S. 554; 164 E. R. 954.

Annotation:—Consd. Bancroft v. Bancroft & Rumney (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 597.

3035. Previous finding that no desertion existed—No bar to finding subsequent desertion.]—A previous finding by a competent ct. that desertion at an earlier date had not been proved is no bar to a finding of desertion between same parties at a later date.—FROUD v. FROUD (1920), 123 L. T. 176 36 T. L. R. 501 26 Cox, C. C. 605, D. C.

(c) Admissions and Agreements as to Procee

3036. Admission of validity of marriage in former proceedings.]—(1) Citation, in a suit of nullity of marriage, by reason of incurable impotence, not sustained. Complainant having confessed the validity of the marriage in former proceedings for divorce, by reason of adultery, against him.

(2) The length of time which has elapsed is, in itself, almost a bar; for I do not remember any instance in which such a suit has been allowed to be instituted after such an interval. That a period of seven years should be allowed to elapse in a case, where even a very short cohabitation would have sufficed for the discovery, is not allowed by any principle of the law with which I am acquainted (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—GUEST v. SHIPLEY (FALSELY CALLING HERSELF GUEST) (1820), 2 Hag. Con. 321; 161 E. R. 757.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Anon. (1857), Dea. & Sw. 295. As to (2) Apld. B——n v. B——n (1854), Ecc. & Ad. 248. Refd. Castleden v. Castleden (1861), 9 H. L. Cas. 187; W. (falsely called R.) v. R. (1876), 1 P. D. 405; G. v. M. (1885), 10 App. Cas. 174, n.

3037. Dismissal of suit by consent—Fresh evidence.]—Semble: an inhibition does not remain in force so as to prevent the inferior ct. from proceeding on same, & also on additional facts in a subsequent suit, the original suit having been dismissed in the Ct. of Appeal by consent of parties.—SMYTH v. SMYTH (1831), 4 Hag. Ecc. 72; 162 E. R. 1374.

3038. Subsequent suit involving same charges.]—Husband filed a petition for dissolution of marriage in May, 1873. In July, 1874, the petition was dismissed before hearing on petitioner's application, & with the consent of resp. & co-resp. In Oct. 1878, petitioner filed a fresh petition, which included the charges of adultery against resp. & co-resp. contained in the first petition:—Held: he was not precluded by the dismissal of the first petition from repeating those charges.—HALL v. HALL & RICHARDSON (1879), 48 L. J. P. 57; 40 L. T. 525; 27 W. R. 664.

3039. Settlement of suit.]—On a wife's petition for dissolution of marriage, certain issues of cruelty & adultery came on for trial on Mar. 12, 1861, when an agreement was signed by the respective counsel of the parties, by which (inter alia) a separation deed was to be executed, & petitioner agreed not to take further proceedings in this ct. Petitioner moved the ct. to set down the case again for trial on the ground that the agreement was not signed by counsel with her consent; the full ct., on appeal, confirmed the judge ordinary's rejection of this motion. In 1863 petitioner filed a fresh petition alleging same acts of adultery as in the former petition, certain other acts previous to Mar. 1861, which she alleged had only come to her knowledge in the early part of 1863, certain other acts of adultery since Mar. 1861, & various acts of cruelty, some alleged to be different from those contained in the former petition. In the result, the ct. held that petitioner was bound by the agreement of Mar. 1861, not to take any proceedings in respect of any matter before that date; & as the subsequent acts of adultery, to which the ct. held the agreement not to extend, would not of themselves support the wife's petition for dissolution, it refused to give any directions as to the mode of trial.—ROWLEY v. ROWLEY (1866), L. R. 1 Sc. & Div. 63; 35 L. J. P. & M. 110, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Besant v. Wood (1897), 12 Ch. D. 605; Rose v. Rose (1883), 8 P. D. 98; Aldridge v. Aldridge (1888), 13 P. D. 210; Gooch v. Gooch, [1893] P. 99. Refd. Brown v. Brown (1868), L. R. 7 Eq. 185; Newsome v. Newsome (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 306; Hall v. Hall & Richardson (1879), 27 W. R. 664; Wood v. Wood (1887), 4 T. L. R. 39; McGregor v. McGregor (1888), 21 Q. B. D. 424; Balcombe v. Balcombe, [1908] P. 176.

3040. Agreement to stay proceedings.]—The wife filed a petition for restitution of conjugal rights, but agreed that the suit should be stayed upon terms which her husband was willing & ready to fulfil. She subsequently sought to proceed with the suit, but the ct. held that she was bound by the agreement, & refused to allow the petition to be set down for hearing.—STANES v. STANES (1877), 3 P. D. 42; 47 L. J. P. 19; 39 L. T. 46; 26 W. R. 238.

Proceedings before justices—Withdrawal of summons.]—See Nos. 6170–6172, post.

(d) Where the Parties are Separated.

Whether restitution suit barred.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, F. (c).

Answer to charge of desertion—Consent of petitioner to separation.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 8, B. (d).

—— Effect of deeds of separation.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 8, B. (g).

Revival of matrimonial offence condoned by separation.]—See Sect. 7, sub-sect. 3, D. (h).

3041. Whether bar to judicial separation—On ground of cruelty—Suit not instituted bonâ fide.]—In answer to a petition for judicial separation on should not take cognisance of what might have been alleged at the former trial, & the judgment given on that occasion was no bar to the granting of a decree.—BANNISTER v. BANNISTER (1894), 12 N. Z. L. R. 355.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3.—A. (d).

a. Whether dissolution suit barred by decree of judicial separation.]—An existing decree of judicial separation must be set aside by the ct. before either of the parties to it can sue for a divorce on the ground of desertion.—PETERS v. PETERS (1924), 45 N. L. R. 223.—S. AF.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 3, A. (d) & B. (a) & (b) i.] the ground of cruelty, resp. pleaded a traverse & condonation, & further alleged that petitioner had consented to a deed of separation, & that the suit was not instituted bonâ fide, but for the purpose of obtaining an increased allowance. The ct. refused to order these allegations to be struck out. An allegation that by reason of the deed of separation petitioner was not entitled to institute the suit, was ordered to be struck out. —WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 178; 35 L. J. P. & M. 85; 14 L. T. 770; 14 W. R. 1022.

Annotation:—Consd. Powell v. Powell (1874), L. R. 3 P. & D. 186.

3042. —— —— Suit for dissolution by husband —Acts of cruelty prior to separation.]—The husband & wife lived apart, under a deed of separation, in which a trustee was appointed, a sufficient allowance was secured to the wife, & she had the custody of two children & access to the third. Subsequently the husband petitioned this ct. for a dissolution of marriage, by reason of his wife's adultery. She denied the adultery, pleaded cruelty, & prayed for a judicial separation. The acts of cruelty alleged all took place previous to the separation of the parties. The jury found that resp. had not been guilty of adultery & that petitioner had been guilty of cruelty:—Held: resp. was entitled to a decree of judicial separation.—BROWN v. BROWN & SHELTON (1874), L. R. 3 P. & D. 202; 43 L. J. P. & M. 47; 31 L. T. 272.

Annotations:—Distd. Besant v. Wood (1879), 12 Ch. D. 605. Expld. Gandy v. Gandy (1882), 51 L. J. P. 41. Consd. Bishop v. Bishop, Judkins v. Judkins, [1897] P. 138. Refd. Kunski v. Kunski & Josephs (1907), 23 T. L. R. 615.

3043. —— —— Lapse of time.]—BESANT v. WOOD, No. 2490, ante.

3044. —— Application for alimony—Arising out of suit.]—In a separation deed, the husband covenanted with trustees to allow his wife £50 a year for her support, he being indemnified against all debts & liabilities on her account, & it being agreed on her behalf that she would not in any way endeavour to compel the husband again to live with her, or to allow her "any further, or greater, or other support, maintenance, or alimony" than the annuity of £50:—Held: in the absence of any act showing an unqualified acceptance by the wife of the provisions of the separation deed, or of any attempt to enforce it against her husband, the ct. would not, upon interlocutory motion, restrain her from proceeding in the Divorce Ct. to obtain an allowance for alimony, as incident to her petition for a judicial separation on the ground of cruelty, but the ct. put her under an undertaking to deal with the alimony as this ct. should direct.—WILLIAMS v. BAILY (1866), L. R. 2 Eq. 731.

Annotations:—Consd. Gandy v. Gandy (1882), 51 L. J. P. 41; Cahill v. Cahill (1883), 8 App. Cas. 420. Refd. Powell v. Powell (1874), L. R. 3 P. & D. 186; Fearon v. Aylesford (1884), 32 W. R. 718; Greenhill v. North British & Mercantile Insce., [1893] 3 Ch. 474; Re Hodson, Williams v. Knight, [1894] 2 Ch. 421; Bishop v. Bishop, Judkins v. Judkins (1897), 76 L. T. 409.

3045. —— No covenant not to sue—No agreement to condone.]—In a suit by the husband for dissolution on the ground of his wife's adultery the wife in her answer made a cross-petition of desertion, & prayed for a judicial separation. It appeared that the husband left his wife in Nov. 1884, & in Jan. 1887, a deed was executed by which the wife agreed to live apart from her husband, but there was no covenant not to sue & no agreement to condone past offences. The jury found all the issues in favour of the wife:—Held: the deed was not a bar to the wife's remedy, & she was entitled to a decree of judicial separation.—MOORE v. MOORE, CHADWICK & GRIFFITHS (1887), 12 P. D. 193; 56 L. J. P. 104; 57 L. T. 568; 51 J. P. 632; 36 W. R. 110.

3046. Proceedings for judicial separation restrained—Agreement not to "molest, trouble or disturb husband."]—By a deed of separation, a husband covenanted with the trustee of the deed to make an allowance to his wife, & the trustee covenanted, on behalf of the wife, neither to sue for restitution of conjugal rights, alimony, nor to "molest, trouble, or disturb" the husband. Shortly after the execution of the deed, the wife who had duly received her allowance, commenced proceedings in the Divorce Ct. for a judicial separation & for alimony. Thereupon the husband filed a bill against his wife, praying that she might be restrained from continuing the proceedings, & from doing any act to molest, trouble, or disturb him:—Held: he was entitled to a perpetual injunction to the extent, only, of restraining the proceedings in the Divorce Ct.—FLOWER v. FLOWER (1871), 25 L. T. 902; 20 W. R. 231.

Annotation:—Consd. Besant v. Wood (1879), 12 Ch. D. 605.

3047. Whether nullity suit barred by.]—In a petition by husband against wife praying that the marriage celebrated between them might be declared null & void on the ground of her incapacity, resp. pleaded that she & petitioner after a year's cohabitation had agreed to live apart, & had bound themselves not to make any claim against each other either in a ct. of law or equity; & that if either party should break the agreement the other should be entitled to an injunction to restrain such breach. That it was further agreed that if resp. committed a breach of the agreement petitioner should be entitled to proceed in this ct. for a declaration of nullity. Averment that there had been no breach of the agreement on the part of resp.:—Held: resp.'s agreement not to sue was a sufficient consideration for the husband's engagement to do the like, & such an agreement although not by deed was therefore a bar to a petition for declaration of nullity.—ALDRIDGE v. ALDRIDGE (OTHERWISE MORTON) (1888), 13 P. D. 210; 59 L. T. 896; 37 W. R. 240; sub nom. A. v. M. (OTHERWISE A.), 58 L. J. P. 8.

Annotation:—Mentd. Re Weston, Davies v. Tagart, [1900] 2 Ch. 164.

3048. Agreement not under seal.]—ALDRIDGE v. ALDRIDGE (OTHERWISE MORTON), No. 3047, ante.

3049. ——.]—WALTER v. WALTER, No. 2494,

3050. Agreement obtained by duress.]—ADAMSON v. ADAMSON, No. 2954, ante.

3051. ——.]—HOLROYD v. HOLROYD (1920), 36 T. L. R. 479.

B. Connivance.

(a) In General.

3052. An absolute bar.]—In an action for adultery, proof that the husband willingly suffered his wife to live in a state of prostitution goes to bar the action, & not merely to mitigate the damages.—HODGES v. WINDHAM (1791), Peake, 53, N. P.

3053. ——.]—Where the wife made no defence to a suit for divorce by reason of her adultery, the ct. dismissed the suit on the ground that the husband, having connived at his wife's adultery with A. could not complain of an adultery, nearly contemporary, with B.—LOVERING v. LOVERING (1792), 3 Hag. Ecc. 85 ; 162 E. R. 1089.

Annotations :—Consd. Rogers v. Rogers (1830), 3 Hag. Ecc. 57 ; Gipps v. Gipps & Hume (1864), 11 H. L. Cas. 1. Refd. Phillips v. Phillips (1846), 4 Notes of Cases, 523 ; Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298.

3054. ——.]—DENNISS v. DENNISS (1808), 3 Hag. Ecc. 348, n. ; 2 Rob. Eccl. 268, n. ; 162 E. R. 1182.

Annotations :—Consd. Phillips v. Phillips (1846), 4 Notes of Cases, 523. Refd. Chambers v. Chambers (1810), 1 Hag. Con. 439 ; Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. App. II. 665 ; Connelly v. Connelly (1851), 2 Rob. Eccl. 201.

3055. Distinguished from condonation — Conclusive evidence of criminality essential.]—TURTON v. TURTON, No. 2711, ante.

3056. Test of innocence—Honesty of intention.]—Mere imprudence & error of judgment are not connivance ; &, in determining whether the husband's behaviour has barred him from relief on proof of his wife's adultery, the honesty of his intentions, not the wisdon of his conduct, is to be considered.—HOAR v. HOAR (1801), 3 Hag. Ecc. 137 ; 162 E. R. 1108.

Annotation :—Consd. Phillips v. Phillips (1846), 4 Notes of Cases, 523.

3057. Husband conniving at adultery of wife during cohabitation—Whether entitled to relief on ground of adultery with another after separation.]—HODGES v. HODGES, No. 3088, post.

3058. Husband conniving at adultery of wife with one man—Whether entitled to relief on ground of adultery with another.]—(1) A suit for a divorce, by reason of adultery, by the wife against the husband, met by a plea charging adultery against the wife, not denied, but replied to by an allegation of connivance on the part of the husband :—Held : the proof of the husband's adultery & connivance failed, & he was entitled to a sentence.

(2) Obiter. A husband, who has connived at his wife's adultery with one man, is not entitled to a separation on the ground of her adultery with another.

(3) Obscene & disgusting language on the part of a husband, entire disregard of decorum will not alone constitute connivance. Facts to constitute connivance must have a direct & necessary tendency to cause adultery to be committed or continued, & such adultery must be clearly proved.

Cruelty & desertion, though tending to induce the wife to disregard her own duties, are not connivance (DR. LUSHINGTON).—STONE v. STONE (1844), 1 Rob. Eccl. 99 ; 3 Notes of Cases, 278 ; 163 E. R. 978 ; affd. (1845), 4 Notes of Cases, 274.

3059. Husband conniving at one act—Whether entitled to divorce on ground of later act with same man.]—GIPPS v. GIPPS & HUME, No. 3064, post.

3060. Presumption against connivance.]—MOORSOM v. MOORSOM, No. 3082, post.

(b) What is Connivance.

i. In General.

Conduct not amounting to connivance.]—See Sub-sect. 3, B. (c), post.

3061. Intentional concurrence in conduct complained of.]—An allegation pleading facts to infer connivance as a bar to the husband's prayer for a sentence of separation, by reason of his wife's adultery rejected, because as no single fact pleaded necessarily inferred a knowledge of the wife's guilt, nor a suspicion that an adulterous intercourse had been or was about to be formed ; & as the whole taken together, did not warrant an imputation on the husband of consenting to, or intending his wife's adultery, his conduct laid in the allegation, even if proved, would not amount to connivance ; to constitute which there must be intentional concurrence. To constitute connivance, active corruption is not necessary ; passive acquiesence, with the intention, & in the expectation that guilt will follow is sufficient ; but on the other hand there must be consent, not mere negligence, inattention, confidence, or dullness of apprehension. Connivance is generally proved by circumstantial evidence.—ROGERS v. ROGERS (1830), 3 Hag. Ecc. 57 ; 162 E. R. 1079.

Annotations :—Consd. Phillips v. Phillips (1846), 4 Notes of Cases, 523. Refd. Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. App. II. 665 ; Glennie v. Glennie & Bowles (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 17 ; Lankester v. Lankester & Cooper, [1925] P. 114.

3062. — .]—BOULTING v. BOULTING, No. 3075, post.

3063. — Corrupt intention essential.]—In order to establish connivance by the husband at his wife's adultery, it must be shown that he gave a willing consent to it, & was an accessory before the fact. Mere negligence, inattention, dullness of apprehension or indifference will not suffice ; but there must be an intention on his part that she should commit adultery. If such a state of things exists as would, in the apprehension of reasonable men, result in the wife's adultery, whether produced by the connivance of the husband or independently of it, & he intending the adultery should take place, does not interfere when he might do so, he is guilty of connivance.

In a suit for dissolution of marriage, on the ground of the wife's adultery, a jury having found that the husband had connived at the adultery, the ct. being satisfied of the propriety of the verdict, dismissed the petition.

If there be a voluntary return to conjugal cohabitation, the innocent party agreeing to restore the offending party to the position he or she occupied before the offence, that is undoubtedly condonation in law. There is a difference between the case of a wife & that of a husband in this respect. It may be that the husband is living under the same roof with the wife when she gets the first information of his guilt, & that she has no one at hand to advise her, & has a difficulty in leaving his house, & may be constrained from the necessity of the case to occupy the same bed with him ; & yet, looking at all the circumstances, a reasonable man would be loth to come to the conclusion that she had condoned. But if she brings her husband voluntarily back to her house, & they continue to cohabit together, she treating him as a husband, reasonable people on those facts would come to a different conclusion (HILL, J.).—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY (1859), Sea. & Sm. 84 ; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 2.

Annotation :—Refd. Glennie v. Glennie & Bowles (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 17.

3064. —— ——.]—(1) The word "conniving" in Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 29, means not merely refusing to see an act of adultery, but also wilfully abstaining from taking any step to prevent adulterous intercourse, which, from what passes before the husband's eyes, he must reasonably expect will occur. So if he takes money from the adulterer not to complain of the wrong, but to abandon his legal remedy for it, & then leaves the wife in a situation likely to occasion a renewal of the adulterous intercourse with the same person, he is "accessory" to it. Therefore, where A. presented a petition for a divorce in respect of the wife's adultery with B., & received from B. a sum of money not to include in the petition a prayer for damages, & afterwards, on receiving a promise from B. to execute a bond to pay a farther sum, offered no evidence in support of his petition, & allowed a verdict to be given for resp. & co-resp., & the petition to be dismissed, but made no provision for his wife, nor took any precaution to protect her against future intercourse with B.:—Held: his conduct was such as to bring him within the statute, so that his fresh petition in respect of renewed acts of adultery, occurring after the compromise, was properly dismissed.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (a).

3059 l. Husband conniving at one act—Whether entitled to divorce on ground of later act with same man.]—NOTMANN v. NOTMANN (1911), 30 N. Z. L. R. 696.—N.Z.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 3, B. (b) i., ii.

(2) Qu.: whether the word "adultery" in sect. 31 of the Act is confined to the adultery alleged in the petition for the dissolution of marriage, so that if A. has connived at the adultery of his wife with B., he cannot obtain a divorce on account of her adultery with C.

(3) A husband cannot obtain a divorce in respect of an act of adultery committed with a particular person at one time, if at a previous time he has connived at her adultery with the same person.

To constitute connivance there must be a corrupt intention. The first arrangement in this case did not, in itself, amount to connivance, & did not bar the remedy in respect of a fresh act of adultery (LORD WENSLEYDALE & LORD CHELMSFORD).

(4) Renewed adultery with the same person is not a fresh act of adultery, but merely evidence of the adultery (LORD CHELMSFORD).

(5) A covenant to pay damages to a petitioner for a divorce on the ground of adultery, is altogether void as contrary to the policy of sect. 33 of above Act (LORD WENSLEYDALE).

(6) Where, by consent, a jury has been dispensed with on the trial of a petition for a divorce, if a new trial should be ordered, the consent previously given would no longer be binding, & petitioner might demand to have his case tried before a jury (LORD WENSLEYDALE).—GIPPS v. GIPPS & HUME (1864), 11 H. L. Cas. 1; 4 New Rep. 303; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 161; 10 L. T. 735; 10 Jur. N. S. 641; 12 W. R. 937; 11 E. R. 1230, H. L.

Annotations:—As to (1) & (3) Refd. Dotzauer v. Dotzauer (1925), 41 T. L. R. 289; Lankester v. Lankester & Cooper, [1925] P. 114.

3065. ——— ———.]—BARNES v. BARNES & GRIMWADE, No. 3151, post.

3066. ——— Though no active steps taken to procure adultery.]—A husband who gives a willing assent to an act of adultery by his wife, desiring that it shall be committed, is guilty of connivance, although he may take no active step towards procuring it to be committed, & may not be an accessory before the fact. No blindness & weakness on the part of the husband, short of an actual willing consent beforehand to the wife's adultery, will constitute connivance, so as to bar his title to a dissolution of marriage by reason of the wife's adultery.

Qu.: whether, in conducting a suit on behalf of the Queen's Proctor, the A.-G. can claim any privilege as in Crown cases.—MARRIS v. MARRIS & BURKE (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 530; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 69; 5 L. T. 768; 164 E. R. 1102.

Annotations:—Refd. Lankester v. Lankester & Cooper, [1925] P. 114. Mentd. Pollack v. Pollack (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 648; Harding v. Harding (1865), 5 Sw. & Tr. 145.

3067. Acts directly tending to cause adultery. STONE v. STONE, No. 3058, ante.

3068. Foreign decree of divorce obtained—At petitioner's instance.]—A domiciled Englishman in 1850 left his wife in England, & went to America. In 1852 his wife joined him there. In 1856, at her suit, an American ct. dissolved the marriage on the ground of the husband's adultery, giving both parties liberty to marry again. The husband subsequently married A., & remained in America, but whether he had abandoned his English domicil did not appear. In a suit, by the wife for dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery & cruelty, the only evidence of adultery was the husband's cohabitation with A. after the American sentence of divorce:—Held: the cohabitation with A. would not support the charge of adultery, for if the sentence of the American ct. was valid, the husband was at liberty to marry again; & if invalid, inasmuch as it was obtained at the wife's instance, she could not complain of the probable consequences, but might be considered to have connived at the adultery.—PALMER v. PALMER (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 551; 29 L. J. P. & M. 26; 23 J. P. 535; 164 E. R. 855.

Annotation:—Consd. Lankester v. Lankester & Cooper, [1925] P. 114.

3069. ——— Acquiescence & active co-operation of petitioner.]—With the acquiescence & active co-operation of her husband, who was domiciled in England, a wife obtained a decree of divorce in South Dakota & afterwards remarried. The husband afterwards, having ascertained that the American decree was invalid in England, presented a petition here for dissolution of his marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery in remarrying after the American decree. The husband knew when he acquiesced in the American divorce proceedings, that his wife would remarry if she obtained a decree; & the ct. was not satisfied that he genuinely believed at that time that the American decree would dissolve his marriage:—Held: (1) the husband had connived at & been accessory to his wife's adultery & was therefore disentitled to relief; (2) had it been possible to hold that his conduct did not amount to connivance, it was conduct which conduced to his wife's adultery, & in the circumstances the ct. would not, in its discretion, have pronounced a decree.—LANKESTER v. LANKESTER & COOPER, [1925] P. 114; 94 L. J. P. 71; 133 L. T. 349; 41 T. L. R. 594; 69 Sol. Jo. 663.

3070. Wilful abstention from preventing adultery—Abandonment of legal remedy.]—GIPPS v. GIPPS & HUME, No. 3064, ante.

ii. Knowledge of Adultery.

3071. Necessity for proof of.]—To establish connivance, in bar to a suit on account of the wife's adultery, it is not necessary to show knowledge of, & privity to, the actual commission of adultery. Such extreme negligence to the conduct of his wife & such encouragement of acquaintance & familiar intimacy as are likely to lead to an adulterous intercourse are sufficient.—GILPIN v. GILPIN (1804), 3 Hag. Ecc. 150; 162 E. R. 1112.

Annotations:—Distd. Rogers v. Rogers (1830), 3 Hag. Ecc. 57. Consd. Gipps v. Gipps (1864), 11 H. L. Cas. 1. Refd. Phillips v. Phillips (1846), 4 Notes of Cases, 523.

3072. ——— Of adultery or improper familiarities—By direct or circumstantial evidence.]—Connivance, plea of, by the wife, in bar to a suit by the husband for a divorce by reason of her adultery, not sustained, judgment of the ct. below, for the divorce, being affirmed.

In order to establish & make out the plea of what is called connivance, there must be proof, either by direct evidence, or by evidence of acts which would justify a legal presumption, that a husband charged with conniving at his wife's adultery knew the fact. Anything which falls short of that, amounting only to negligence, is not connivance. To constitute connivance, there must be actual knowledge, that is, proof of knowledge, or irresistible presumption of knowledge, of the adultery, or of the improper familiarities (LANGDALE, M.R.).—PHILLIPS v. PHILLIPS (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 435, P. C.

Annotations :—Consd. Gipps v. Gipps (1864), 11 H. L. Cas. 1. Refd. Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. App. II. 665; Glennie v. Glennie & Bowles (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 17; Boulting v. Boulting (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 329; Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167.

3073. Permission of prostitution.]—SMITH v. ALLISON (1765), Bull. N. P. 27.

3074. ——.]—HODGES v. WINDHAM, No. 3052, ante.

3075. Acquiescence in husband's adultery—Wife in receipt of allowance—Lapse of time.]—(1) Connivance is knowledge of, & acquiescence in, the conduct complained of.

Where a wife, who was petitioner in a suit for judicial separation on the ground of adultery, had for many years before the commencement of the suit known of such adultery without complaint or remonstrance, & had been in receipt of an allowance from her husband :—Held : those facts were evidence to go to a jury in support of a charge of connivance.

(2) A. married B. in 1833. A. since 1835 lived apart from B., her husband, under an ordinary separation deed. About 1842, B. commenced an adulterous cohabitation with C., which continued to the date of the trial. A. was aware of the fact of the adulterous cohabitation in 1843, & thenceforward. A. petitioned for judicial separation, & issues of connivance & undue delay were found against her by the verdict of a special jury. A rule nisi for a new trial, on the ground of insufficient evidence of connivance, was granted, but discharged on argument.

Semble : undue delay cannot be pleaded in bar to a suit for judicial separation; but lapse of time between knowledge of the conduct complained of & the commencement of the suit requires explanation, & may, along with the circumstances of the case, induce the ct. to withhold the relief sought. In such cases the ct. will require to be satisfied of the sincerity of the complaint of petitioner.—BOULTING v. BOULTING (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 329; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 33; 9 L. T. 779; 10 Jur. N. S. 182; 12 W. R. 389; 164 E. R. 1302.

3076. —— —— Consent given to obtain allowance.]—ROSS v. ROSS, No. 3094, post.

3077. Continued cohabitation—Not amounting to condonation.]—HARE v. HARE & DAVIDSON (1920), 36 T. L. R. 331.

iii. Where there is Likelihood of Adultery.

3078. General rule.]—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY, No. 3063, ante.

3079. Permitting co-respondent to reside in house—After suspicion of adultery communicated.]—It is not a bar to an action of crim. con. that pltf. allowed deft. to remain in his house after a suspicion of his wife's fidelity has been intimated to him.—FOLEY v. PETERBOROUGH (LORD) (1785), 4 Doug. K. B. 294; 99 E. R. 888.

3080. Permitting co-respondent to visit house frequently—Wife partly maintained by co-respondent.]—In a husband's suit for dissolution on the ground of adultery, resp. pleaded connivance, wilful neglect, & conduct conducing to adultery. In support of these pleas it was proved that petitioner had permitted co-resp. to visit frequently at his house in his absence, to send provisions into his house, & to make his wife an allowance of £1 a week, & that he had sent his wife to borrow money from co-resp. Also that he had allowed him to escort his wife to London. The jury found the issue of adultery in favour of petitioner, & they acquitted him of connivance, but they found that he had been guilty of wilful neglect & conduct conducing to the adultery. The ct. refused to grant a decree nisi, & dismissed the petition. It also condemned him in his wife's costs, but made no order as to co-resp.'s costs.—BROWN v. BROWN & ROBEY (1869), 21 L. T. 181.

3081. Invitation to commit adultery.]—TIMMINGS v. TIMMINGS, No. 3195, post.

3082. Connivance at improper familiarity—Inference of corrupt intent.]—(1) Passive connivance is as much a bar to relief as active conspiracy, but there must be an intention that guilt should ensue. Connivance of a passive & permissive kind, is to be proved by a train of conduct & circumstances. It is not necessary to show connivance at actual adultery. The ct., from connivance at improper familiarity, will infer corrupt intent as to the result. To establish connivance as a bar, it is not sufficient that the man did not act as a wise, or prudent, or attentive man nor even that he in fact contributed to his wife's guilt; he must be shown intentionally to contribute thereto; there must be intentional permission or corrupt facility.

(2) Indifference, ill behaviour, or cruelty is not pleadable in answer to a charge of adultery nor relevant to a plea of connivance.

(3) The presumption of law is against connivances; & if the facts can be accounted for without supposition of intention, the ct. will incline to that construction (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—MOORSOM v. MOORSOM (1792), 3 Hag. Ecc. 87; 162 E. R. 1090.

Annotations :—As to (1) Consd. Phillips v. Phillips (1846), 4 Notes of Cases, 523; Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167. Refd. Gipps v. Gipps & Hume (1864), 4 New Rep. 303; Lankester v. Lankester & Cooper, [1925] P. 114. As to (2) Refd. Eldred v. Eldred (1840), 2 Curt. 376; Cocksedge v. Cocksedge (1844), 1 Rob. Eccl. 90. As to (3) Refd. Phillips v. Phillips (1846), 4 Notes of Cases, 523. Generally, Refd. Glennie v. Glennie & Bowles (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 17.

3083. —— Proof of actual knowledge.]—PHILLIPS v. PHILLIPS, No. 3072, ante.

3084. Long continued toleration—Presumption of knowledge.]—CREWE v. CREWE, No. 3133, post.

3085. Consent to residence in paramour's house.]—The adultery of the wife being proved, but she having, with her children, but without her husband, resided in a gentleman's house (of which she was treated as the mistress, & where she was delivered of three children) without the husband sufficiently accounting for his absence or providing for her, or interfering with such residence, the ct. dismissed her, on the ground that the husband, by such conduct, had consented to the connection & adultery.—MICHELSON v. MICHELSON (1804), 3 Hag. Ecc. 147; 162 E. R. 1111.

3086. Extreme negligence—Encouragement of intimacy.]—GILPIN v. GILPIN, No. 3071, ante.

3087. Acquiescence in transactions—Likely to lead to adultery.]—(1) To establish connivance, it is not necessary to prove that the husband was an accessory before the fact, or that he took active measures to bring about the result of adultery; but it must appear that he was cognisant that such a result would follow from transactions of which he approved, & to which he consented.

(2) Resp.'s counsel is not at liberty to abstain from comment upon the evidence produced in support of the petition in opening resp.'s case, & to reserve his comments for his summing up. The proper course is to confine his summing up to the evidence for resp.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 3, B. (b) iii., iv., v. & vi., & (c).]

(3) If co-resp.'s counsel does not intend to call evidence, he must address the ct. after resp.'s counsel has opened his case, & before the examination of resp.'s witnesses.

(4) If co-resp.'s counsel puts questions to any of resp.'s witnesses, he adopts that witness as his own.—GLENNIE v. GLENNIE & BOWLES (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 17; 8 Jur. N. S. 1158; 11 W. R. 28; subsequent proceedings (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 109.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Gipps v. Gipps (1864), 11 H. L. Cas. 1. As to (4) Dbtd. Allen v. Allen, [1894] P. 248. Refd. Brown v. Brown, [1915] P. 83.

Procurement of adultery—Through agent.]—See Sub-sect. 7, B. (b) v., post.

iv. Where the Parties are Separated.

3088. Connivance at acts previous to separation—No bar on proof of subsequent adultery.]—Where a husband proved his wife's adulterous connection with one individual, five years after separation, of which connection two children were born:—Held: the husband's knowledge of, & consent to gross indelicacies, or even adultery, with three other persons during cohabitation would not bar him.—HODGES v. HODGES (1795), 3 Hag. Ecc. 118; 162 E. R. 1100.

Annotations:—N.F. Stone v. Stone (1844), 3 Notes of Cases, 278. Mentd. Steward v. Bateman (1842), 3 Curt. 201.

Connivance at adultery with one or more persons—Whether bar to relief on grounds of adultery with another.]—See Nos. 3058, 3088, ante.

3089. Connivance at acts during separation—Construction of separation deed.]—If a deed of separation be so worded as rightly to found a presumption that it might (so intended) go to sanction even adultery committed by the wife, living apart from the husband under that deed, that presumption must be rebutted by evidence, to entitle the husband to a sentence of divorce, as by reason of such adultery committed by the wife.—BARKER v. BARKER (1824), 2 Add. 285; 162 E. R. 298.

Annotations:—Apld. Thomas v. Thomas (1860), 2 Sw. & Tr. 113. Consd. Ross v. Ross (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 734. Refd. Studdy v. Studdy (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 321.

3090. —— ——.]—A husband & a wife executed an agreement to live separate on certain conditions. The last clause in the agreement was as follows: "Mrs. S. (the wife) promises, that if she does not fulfil her part of the agreement, Major S. (the husband) shall have the full power of a husband over her, whatever his way of living may be." The wife petitioned for a judicial separation, by reason of her husband's adultery before the separation, unknown to her, & also since the separation. The husband pleaded connivance, & in support of his plea relied on the last clause in the agreement:—Held: the words in the agreement, "whatever his way of living may be," might be construed to apply to the place where & to the mode in which the husband might choose to live in reference to his establishment, & as an innocent meaning might fairly be given to these words, the ct. would not presume the immoral contract asserted to have been intended, & petitioner was entitled to the relief prayed.—STUDDY v. STUDDY (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 321; 28 L. J. P. & M. 44; 32 L. T. O. S. 228; 5 Jur. N. S. 22; 7 W. R. 144; 164 E. R. 747; affd. (1859), 28 L. J. P. & M. 105.

Annotation:—Refd. Higgins v. Higgins (1924), 41 T. L. R. 25.

3091. Corrupt facilities—Intentional permission.]—All separations, merely voluntary, are illegal. . . . There was "an express understanding" . . . that the husband, if the wife consented to the separation, would not object to any connection she might form, or any course of life she might adopt. . . . Mrs. D., deprived of the society & protection of her husband, & banished from her natural home, fell into a course of adultery, the husband, perfectly insensible to his own dishonour, looked at the whole transaction in a pecuniary point of view, & directed his immediate object to the reduction of 4*s.* in the amount of her allowance. . . . I cannot but regard this as a case in which the husband has given a corrupt facility, if not an intentional permission, to his wife's adultery, &, by so doing, has barred himself from the remedy to which he would otherwise be entitled (DR. PHILLIMORE).—DREW v. DREW (1842), 1 Notes of Cases, 315; 6 Jur. 110.

Annotation:—Expld. Wilson v. Glossop (1887), 19 Q. B. D. 379.

3092. —— Deed entered into between husband, wife & co-respondent.]—A wife having carried on an adulterous intercourse with co-resp. from 1852 till Jan. 1855, then left her home & went to reside in the house of co-resp., & subsequently lived with him as his wife. In Feb. 1855, a deed of separation was entered into between the husband, his wife & co-resp., by which the husband covenanted with co-resp. to permit his wife to live separate from him, as if she were unmarried, & to allow her a certain sum for her maintenance, & co-resp. covenanted that the wife should not molest her husband, that she should maintain a child to which she gave birth in 1853, & that he would indemnify the husband against her debts. The husband was aware of the adulterous intercourse, & he admitted, on being examined by the ct., that he had always believed that co-resp. was the father of the child born in 1853. He had nevertheless allowed co-resp. subsequently to its birth to visit at his house. A petition being presented by the husband for a dissolution of marriage, was dismissed on the ground that the husband knew of the adulterous intercourse, & that the deed of separation was virtually an assignment by him of his wife to co-resp.—WALTON v. WALTON & HIBELL (1859), 28 L. J. P. & M. 97.

3093. —— Knowledge of adultery at date of execution of deed.]—A husband & wife executed a deed of separation in 1854, which recited, amongst other things, that the husband had for some months been living with a Miss H., & referred to certain articles of agreement concerning certain trust moneys & other property to which Miss H. as well as the husband & wife had been party. In 1860 the wife petitioned for a judicial separation on the ground of the husband's adultery with H. in 1858–1859:—Held: the execution of the deed of separation by the wife, knowing at the time that the husband was cohabiting with H., was virtually a consent to the continuance of such cohabitation, & dismissed the petition.—THOMAS v. THOMAS (1860), 2 Sw. & Tr. 113; 3 L. T. 180; 164 E. R. 935.

Annotations:—Distd. Ross v. Ross (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 734; Dotzauer v. Dotzauer (1925), 41 T. L. R. 289. Refd. Gandy v. Gandy (1882), 7 P. D. 77.

3094. —— —— Absence of evidence as to.]—(1) A deed of separation securing an allowance to a wife, held not to prove the wife's connivance at the husband's adultery, in the absence of evidence that at the time when it was entered into the wife was aware of the adulterous intercourse which the husband had then established with another woman, & that she consented to its being continued.

(2) If a wife, although unwilling to consent that her husband should live in adultery, ultimately gives her consent for the sake of obtaining an allowance from him she is guilty of connivance.—Ross v. Ross (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 734; 38 L. J. P. & M. 49; 20 L. T. 853.

Annotation :—As to (1) Refd. Higgins v. Higgins (1924), 41 T. L. R. 25.

3095. ——— ——— ———.]—DOTZAUER v. DOTZAUER (1925), 41 T. L. R. 289; 69 Sol. Jo. 587.

v. Adultery induced by Agent.

Conduct conducing to adultery, see Sub-sect. 4, C., post.

3096. With petitioner's knowledge & concurrence.]—If a husband, whose wife is leading a life of prostitution, pay money, or cause money to be paid to a person to commit an act of adultery with her, in order that he may obtain evidence to enable him to institute a suit for a dissolution of his marriage, the ct. will not grant a decree in consequence of the act of adultery so committed with his concurrence.

Where A., a friend of petitioner, offered B. £5 if he would obtain evidence against resp., & B. made an arrangement with co-resp. that he should commit adultery with resp. & receive half the money, & the adultery was accordingly committed, & the money paid by A. & divided between B. & co-resp., the judge ordinary directed the jury that if the arrangement between B. & co-resp. was made without the knowledge & concurrence of petitioner, petitioner would be entitled to a decree by reason of the adultery committed in pursuance of the arrangement.—SUGG v. SUGG & MOORE (1861), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 41.

Annotations :—Consd. Gower v. Gower (1872), L. R. 2 P. & D. 428. Refd. Roche v. Roche (1905), 21 T. L. R. 332.

3097. ———.]—POLLARD v. POLLARD (1904), Times, Mar. 17 & 31, Apr. 21 & 22.

3098. Without petitioner's knowledge or concurrence.]—A decree of dissolution of marriage on the ground of the wife's adultery will not be granted when the adultery has been brought about by persons acting on behalf of petitioner, although without his knowledge.

Whilst the husband was abroad, his father employed A. to watch the wife. A. employed B. At B.'s instigation, but without the knowledge or concurrence of petitioner or his father, co-resp. induced the wife to commit adultery. The ct. dismissed the petition.—PICKEN v. PICKEN & SIMMONDS (1864), 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 22.

Annotation :—Refd. Roche v. Roche (1905), 74 L. J. P. 50.

3099. ———.]—If a person employed by a husband to watch his wife for the purpose of obtaining evidence of her adultery, brings about an act of adultery, the husband cannot obtain a decree of dissolution on the ground of such adultery, although he may not have directed or authorised his agent to bring it about.—GOWER v. GOWER (1872), L. R. 2 P. & D. 428; 41 L. J. P. & M. 49; 27 L. T. 43; 20 W. R. 889.

Annotation :—Refd. Roche v. Roche (1905), 74 L. J. P. 50.

3100. ———.]—The wife, who was living apart from her husband, employed her solrs. to watch him. Unknown to her, & without her authority, the solr.'s clerk induced resp. to commit adultery. A decree nisi for the dissolution of the marriage was granted on his evidence, & the wife's as to acts of cruelty. The Queen's Proctor intervened on the ground that petitioner was not entitled to a decree on the ground of such adultery :—Held : the decree nisi must be rescinded; but, as the intervention of the Queen's Proctor did not touch the wife's charge of cruelty, the petition would not be dismissed, so as to give her an opportunity of applying for a judicial separation.—BELL v. BELL (1889), 58 L. J. P. 54.

3101. ———.]—THOMPSON v. THOMPSON (1908), Times, Nov. 25.

vi. Passive Connivance.

3102. As much a bar as active conspiracy—On proof of corrupt intention.]—MOORSOM v. MOORSOM, No. 3082, ante.

3103. ——— ———.]—ROGERS v. ROGERS, No. 3061, ante.

3104. ——— Presumption of knowledge.]—CREWE v. CREWE, No. 3133, post.

3105. Proved by train of conduct & circumstances.]—MOORSOM v. MOORSOM, No. 3082, ante.

3106. Acquiescence with expectation of guilt.]—ROGERS v. ROGERS, No. 3061, ante.

(c) Conduct not amounting to Connivance.

3107. Great inattention—Unless husband privy to wife's guilt.]—On proof, either directly or presumptively, of the wife's adultery, great inattention on the part of the husband will not bar him. To establish such a defence, he must have been privy to her guilt, or have led her into the crime.—RIX v. RIX (1777), 3 Hag. Ecc. 74; 162 E. R. 1085.

Annotation :—Refd. Davidson v. Davidson (1856), Dea. & Sw. 132.

3108. The law on this subject is now clearly settled to be, that if the husband consent to his wife's adultery, it goes in bar of his action; if he be only guilty of negligence, or even loose or improper conduct, not amounting to a consent, it only goes in reduction of damages (BULLER, J.).—DUBERLEY v. GUNNING (1792), 4 Term Rep. 651; 100 E. R. 1226.

Annotations :—Refd. Price v. Severn (1831), 7 Bing. 316; Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292. Mentd. Jones v. Sparrow (1793), 5 Term Rep. 257; Goldsmith v. Sefton (1796), 3 Anst. 808.

3109. Mere permission of opportunity.]—TIMMINGS v. TIMMINGS, No. 3195, post.

3110. Mere imprudence—& error of judgment.]—HOAR v. HOAR, No. 3056, ante.

3111. Leaving wife—After conviction of adultery—Not amounting to legal proof.]—Separation on proof of the adultery of the wife, not barred by the conduct of the husband.

If the husband connives at, or acquiesces in adultery, the law is clear, he loses his remedy volenti non fit injuria; still more so, if he actively promotes it. But, to say that a husband quitting his wife because he is convinced of her adultery, & only waiting for full proof before he institutes proceedings, & not supporting her because he had no means of doing so, is guilty of connivance, would be to state a principle void of authority (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—REEVES v. REEVES (1813), 2 Phillim. 125; 161 E. R. 1097.

Annotations :—Expld. Phillips v. Phillips (1844), 1 Rob. Eccl. 144. Consd. Hodgson v. Hodgson, [1905] P. 233. Refd. Morgan v. Morgan (1841), 2 Curt. 679; Clowes v.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (c).

3109 i. Mere permission of opportunity.]—A husband who was not on good terms with his wife, & had reason to suspect her conduct, was informed that she intended to visit a man at G., with whom he knew she had been corresponding, & he instructed detectives to watch her movements. His wife informed him that she desired to visit friends at S. & asked if she should go. She also asked for money. He replied, " certainly go " & gave her £2. She went to G., where an act of adultery was committed :—Held : the facts did not support a plea of lenocinium, & decree of divorce granted.—THOMSON v. THOMSON (1908), S. C. 179; 45 Sc. L. R. 95; 15 S. L. T. 503.—SCOT.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 3, B. (c) & C. (a) & (b) i.] Clowes (1844), 2 L. T. O. S. 427; Clowes v. Clowes (1845), 4 Notes of Cases, 1; Grant v. Grant (1846), 10 Jur. 103.

3112. Mere patience & forbearance—Of wife.]—Divorce by reason of the adultery of the husband. Connivance on the part of the wife from forbearance not inferred. Objection to libel overruled.—KIRKWALL (LADY) v. KIRKWALL (LORD) (1818), 2 Hag. Con. 277; 161 E. R. 742.

3113. —— ——.]—ANGLE v. ANGLE, No. 3219, post.

3114. Mere use of obscene language—& disregard of decorum.]—STONE v. STONE, No. 3058, ante.

3115. Cruelty & desertion—Though tending to induce wife to disregard duties.]—STONE v. STONE, No. 3058, ante.

3116. Mere negligence.]—PHILLIPS v. PHILLIPS, No. 3072, ante.

3117. —— Inattention or indifference.]—ROGERS v. ROGERS, No. 3061, ante.

3118. —— ——.]—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY, No. 3063, ante.

3119. Agreement with adulterer to send wife home—At adulterer's expense.]—RATCLIFF v. RATCLIFF & ANDERSON, No. 3368, post.

3120. Mere blindness & weakness—Short of actual willing consent.]—MARRIS v. MARRIS & BURKE, No. 3066, ante.

3121. Execution of separation deed—With knowledge of previous adultery.]—Where a husband has been guilty of adultery & of cruelty to his wife & the parties have then entered into a deed of separation & the husband has, subsequently to the deed, committed adultery & been guilty of desertion for more than two years, the ct., on a petition by the wife for divorce, ought not to hold that the execution of the deed was an anticipatory connivance by the wife at further adultery by her husband unless there is clear evidence of an intention to connive.—HIGGINS v. HIGGINS (1924), 41 T. L. R. 25, C. A.

3122. Mere assent to separation—Consenting to Jewish divorce.]—Petitioner & resp., who were of the Jewish religion, were married in a synagogue in 1917, but in 1919 they agreed to separate & shortly after the execution of a deed of separation went through the ceremony before a rabbi by which a husband divorces a wife according to the law of Moses & Israel. Both parties, however, knew that such a ceremony had not the effect of dissolving the marriage according to English law; & at the time of the ceremony no other marriage according to Jewish law was contemplated by either party. In 1921 resp. in Berlin went through what was said to be a form of marriage according to the law of Moses & Israel with a Rumanian woman, & they had since lived together as man & wife. In a suit by petitioner for divorce on the ground of resp.'s adultery resp. pleaded that petitioner had connived at his adultery & conduced to it by consenting to a Jewish divorce & to resp.'s marrying again according to Jewish laws:—Held: on the evidence there was no assent to anything except to a separation, & resp. had failed to prove connivance & conduct conducing, & there must be a decree nisi.—PREGER v. PREGER (1926), 42 T. L. R. 281.

C. Collusion.

(a) In General.

3123. Distinguished from fraud.] — Circumstances stated in an allegation, which, though they may amount to fraud in the obtaining a decree, do not amount to collusion, & which do not prove that the judge was misled.

Distinction between fraud & collusion. The collusion must have been between pltf. & deft. in the suit. Collusion between either of them & a third party is insufficient.—MEDDOWCROFT v. HUGUENIN (1844), 4 Moo. P. C. C. 386; 8 Jur. 431; 13 E. R. 352, P. C.

Annotations:—Refd. Perry v. Meddowcroft (1846), 10 Beav. 122. Mentd. The Justyn (1862), 6 L. T. 553.

3124. Criminal offence—Liability of solicitors aiding parties.]—KYNASTON v. HICKMAN & BROWN (1919), Times, Nov. 6.

3125. Transactions tainted with suspicion of collusion—Necessity for parties & legal advisers to avoid.]—Every transaction either between the parties or between their legal advisers during the pendency of divorce proceedings, which makes the material elements of a decree of divorce the subject of negotiation, taints the transaction with suspicion of collusion, & must be avoided both by the parties & by their representatives.—CARMICHAEL v. CARMICHAEL (1925), 42 T. L. R. 133.

3126. Agreement for maintenance prior to instituting petition.]—CLARKE v. CLARKE (1925), 42 T. L. R. 132.

3127. Bar to judicial separation.]—The ct. refused to pronounce a decree for a judicial separation upon the application of a wife, who had obtained a verdict of cruelty & adultery against her husband, but who had subsequently, upon the intervention of the Queen's Proctor, been found guilty of colluding with her husband.—BUTLER v. BUTLER (1890), 63 L. T. 256.

Annotation:—Consd. Synge v. Synge, [1900] P. 180.

3128. Must be between plaintiff & defendant—Collusion of either with third party insufficient.]—MEDDOWCROFT v. HUGUENIN, No. 3123, ante.

3129. Collusion between solicitors—Parties to 3116 i. Mere negligence. To constitute connivance it is essential that there should be on the part of the injured spouse willingness & mental assent to the commission of a matrimonial offence with full knowledge of the circumstances; mere knowledge, negligence or inaction are not sufficient.—BELL v. BELL (1909), T. S. 500.—S. AF.

b. Mere inaction.]—A wife, without just cause, left her husband's house, & refused to return to it, or to allow him to live with her. Having reason to suspect her of adultery with a certain man, the husband, for the purpose of obtaining proof of her guilt, secretly watched the house in which she lived. On one occasion he saw the man whom he suspected enter the house in the evening & leave at an early hour the following morning, &, on another occasion, saw the pair in the act of adultery. He did not interfere on either occasion:—Held: these facts did not establish connivance.—DAVIS v. DAVIS & HUGHES (1904), 2 C. L. R. 178.—AUS.

c. ——.]—Petitioner & a friend watched the window of a room in a boarding-house occupied by resp., for about an hour, & then forced an entrance, & discovered resp. & co-resp. in the act of adultery:—Held: petitioner was not guilty of connivance.—BEWES v. BEWES (1903), 22 N. Z. L. R. 665.—N.Z.

3121 i. Execution of separation deed—With knowledge of previous adultery.]—A man who married a prostitute with whom he had lived for some time on several occasions both before & after the marriage in the presence of witnesses cast up to her her former mode of life & told her to return to it. Some months after the marriage he left her & went to America but gave directions to his man of business to carry out an arrangement for a separation. This was done within 2 months. Under the deed of separation suitable aliment in proportion to the husband's means was provided for her. Two years after the husband went away the wife entered again on a course of continuous prostitution:—Held: as the expressions above referred to had been used in nixa & were not intended or understood to be intended to be acted upon the provision made for the wife being inconsistent with such intention & as the wife's return to her former manner of life was so far disconnected with those expressions in point of time there was no ground for the plea of lenocinium & decree of divorce granted.—HUNTER v. HUNTER (1883), 11 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 359.—SCOT.

suit not implicated.]—Where the solrs. for petitioner & resp. conducted the proceedings in a suit for dissolution of marriage in such a way as to give rise to a reasonable suspicion of collusion, & the Queen's Proctor thereupon obtained leave to intervene & show cause against the decree nisi being made absolute, but it appeared, on showing cause, that neither of the partes to the suit had been implicated in the irregularities of their solrs., the ct. made absolute the decree nisi, & made no order as to the costs of the intervention.—COX v. COX (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 306; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 255; 4 L. T. 450; 9 W. R. 924; 164 E. R. 1013.

3130. Collusion in previous proceedings—Marriage not dissolved by decree obtained in previous suit.]—The fact that petitioner has been guilty of fraud & collusion in obtaining a decree of divorce between resp. & her first husband, petitioner himself being the co-resp. in the divorce proceedings, is no bar to his obtaining a decree of nullity upon the ground that the decree for divorce upon which his subsequent marriage with resp. was founded was bad.—BONAPARTE v. BONAPARTE (OTHERWISE MEGONE), [1892] P. 402; 62 L. J. P. 1; 8 T. L. R. 759; 1 R. 490; sub nom. BONAPARTE v. MEGONE (FALSELY CALLED BONAPARTE), 67 L. T. 531.

Annotation: —Expld. Bater v. Bater, [1906] P. 209.

——Previous petition not actually brought—Collusive agreement spent.]—Collusion at an earlier period in respect of proceedings then contemplated does not preclude the ct. granting petitioner relief on a petition subsequently presented & prosecuted in good faith, & with full & frank disclosure of all material facts.—WATKIN v. WATKIN & MALCOLM (1919), 122 L. T. 225.

Annotation: —Expld. Laidler v. Laidler (1920), 90 L. J. P. 28.

3132. Evidence to rebut—Admissibility of respondent's confession to witness.]—(1) Upon the trial of issues as to a co-resp.'s alleged adultery & as to a cross-petition of collusion put forward in co-resp.'s answer, the evidence of a witness, called by petitioner to prove statements made to him by the witness detailing a confession alleged to have been made by resp., who had not appeared to the citation, was admitted as being relevant to the cross-petition of collusion to present a false case to the ct. & to obtain a decree contrary to the justice of the case.

(2) A person, who attends in ct. on subpœna, cannot against his will be asked to stand up in ct. for identification.—FARULLI v. FARULLI & PEDERZOLI, [1917] P. 28; 86 L. J. P. 35; 116 L. T. 18; 61 Sol. Jo. 116.

(b) What is Collusion.

i. In General.

3133. Agreement to commit or appear to commit adultery.]—(1) On proof of the wife's adultery, continued for four years, under circumstances which raised a strong suspicion that the husband could not have been ignorant, the ct., after much hesitation & difficulty, granted the sentence of separation, as it could not affect the husband with a direct knowledge of the adultery, & as three witnesses had positively sworn they believed the husband was ignorant.

(2) On proof of adultery, sentence may be barred by compensatio criminis, by condonation, by active procurement or passive toleration, &, possibly, by other conduct.

(3) Collusion is an agreement between the parties, for one to commit, or appear to commit, a fact of adultery, so as to suffer the other to obtain a remedy at law as for a real injury. The law permits no co-operation for such purpose, & refuses a remedy for adultery committed with such intent; but it is not proof of collusion that, after the crime is committed, both parties are desirous of a separation.

(4) The 105th Canon requiring that divorce should not go on confession alone, the ct. is almost bound to reject an affirmative issue in a suit for separation for adultery.

(5) Passive connivance, or toleration, arising from the husband's insensibility to his own honour, or unwillingness to seek redress is a bar to relief; if there be proved a long course of criminal conduct, of which he was, or of which he must be presumed to be, cognisant, he may wait for adequate proof, but no longer.

(6) A judgment by default against the paramour, & no defence on the part of the wife, are not proof of collusion.—CREWE v. CREWE (1800), 3 Hag. Ecc. 123; 162 E. R. 1102.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Phillips v. Phillips (1844), 1 Rob. Eccl. 144. As to (3) & (4) Expld. Churchward v. Churchward, [1895] P. 7. As to (5) Refd. Phillips v. Phillips (1816), 4 Notes of Cases 523; Gipps v. Gipps & Hume (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 116.

3134. Action in concert in conduct of suit.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage on the ground of the wife's adultery the adultery was proved, but it appeared from the evidence of witnesses called by the ct., that an agent employed by petitioner to procure evidence & serve the citations on resps., then living together as man & wife, had, whilst on that mission, associated with them on intimate terms; had received money from the co-resp.; & had paid him money, which was afterwards repaid by the wife's father, in order that he might be enabled to complete the chain of evidence; that the father of the wife had paid money to petitioner on his signing the petition, & also to induce him to proceed with the suit; had acted in concert with petitioner in the conduct of the suit; & had aided in getting up the case by giving facilities for obtaining evidence of the adultery. The ct., being of opinion that the petition was prosecuted in collusion with resp., in compliance with Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 30, dismissed it.—LLOYD v. LLOYD & CHICHESTER (1859), Sea. & Sm. 39; 1 Sw. & Tr. 567; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 97; 1 L. T. 335; 164 E. R. 862.

Annotations:—Consd. Churchward v. Churchward, [1895] P. 7. Refd. Plumer v. Plumer & Bygrave (1859), Sea. & Sm. 147; Todd v. Todd (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 121. Mentd. Y. v. Y. (1860), 1 Sw. & Tr. 598.

3135. Agreement or understanding between parties.]—GETHIN v. GETHIN, No. 3144, post.

3136. Improper act or improper refraining from act—For dishonest purpose.]—Collusion is an improper act done, or an improper refraining from doing an act, for a dishonest purpose.

Where a wife (petitioner), who had obtained a PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3. C. (b) i.

d. Evidence must be clear.]—MCDONALD v. MCDONALD, [1923] 3 D. L. R. 319; 50 N. B. R. 56.—CAN.

e. Action in concert in conduct of suit.]—Subsequently to the institution of a suit for dissolution of marriage, & on the same day on which the suit came on for hearing, petitioner & resp. each filed petitions, setting out that it was agreed between them that from that date the marriage between them should be dissolved; that neither of them should have any claim against the other; that each should marry again at pleasure, & prayed that dissolution of the marriage might be granted on these terms, each party bearing his & her own costs:—Held: this amounted to collusion.—CHRISTIAN v. CHRISTIAN (1885), I. L. R. 11 Calc. 651.—IND.

3135 i. Agreement or understanding between parties.]—On a petition for divorce at the suit of the husband, it was held that a direct agreement between petitioner & resp. is not necessary to establish collusion sufficient to defeat the petition.—HAYES v. HAYES (1911), 1 W. W. R. [illegible] CAN.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 3, C. (b) i., ii., iii., iv. & v.]

decree of judicial separation on the ground of desertion with permanent alimony at the rate of £160 a year, informed her husband's brother, through whom it was paid, that the allowance was insufficient for the support of herself & her daughter, & was thereupon informed by him that, if she would institute proceedings for divorce, the necessary information for which would be supplied, her husband would pay her a sum of £300 down on the filing of the petition, another £300 on the decree being made absolute, & £500 a year by way of permanent maintenance in lieu of £160 a year theretofore paid as permanent alimony:—Held: there was in the circumstances no misconduct on the part of petitioner in consenting to these proposals, & pronounced a decree nisi accordingly.—SCOTT v. SCOTT, [1913] P. 52; 82 L. J. P. 39; 108 L. T. 49; 29 T. L. R. 206.

Annotation:—Consd. Laidler v. Laidler (1920), 90 L. J. P. 28.

3137. Not merely desire for separation—After crime committed.]—CREWE v. CREWE, No. 3133, ante.

ii. Agreements to Institute Proceedings.

3138. Initiation & conduct provided for by agreement—Though no facts falsely dealt with or withheld.]—CHURCHWARD v. CHURCHWARD & HOLLIDAY, No. 3143, post.

3139. Payment to petitioner with request to initiate suit—Made on behalf of respondent.]—A wife instituted a suit for divorce against her husband on the ground of his cruelty, desertion, & adultery. For some time the parties had been living apart under a separation deed, & at the time of the divorce proceedings being taken there was due to petitioner under this deed a sum of £325. Resp., who had left the country, had never communicated with petitioner, but he corresponded with his sister, who sent a friend to petitioner urging her to divorce resp. & expressed her willingness to pay a sum of £100 to petitioner & the costs if she would do so. Thereupon, petitioner agreed to institute divorce proceedings:—Held: as the wife was only obtaining from the resp. in a different way that which by process of law she might have compelled him to pay, the arrangement as to the payment by resp.'s sister did not amount to collusion within Churchward v. Churchward & Holliday, No. 3143, so as to disentitle petitioner to a decree.—MALLEY v. MALLEY (1909), 25 T. L. R. 662; 53 Sol. Jo. 617.

Annotations:—Consd. Scott v. Scott (1913), 108 L. T. 49; Laidler v. Laidler (1920), 90 L. J. P. 28.

3140. —— Petitioner not moved by any improper motive.]—SCOTT v. SCOTT, No. 3136, ante.

iii. Agreements Not to Defend.

3141. General rule.]—BARNES v. BARNES & GRIMWADE, No. 3151, post.

3142. ——.]—An agreement between the parties to a divorce suit to withhold any relevant evidence from the ct. amounts to collusion.

A husband, before commencing a suit for dissolution of marriage, agreed with his wife that, if no opposition were offered to his petition, he would pay the costs of all parties. Resp. & co-resp. did not appear. After a decree nisi the Queen's Proctor intervened, & resp. gave evidence of petitioner's promise as to the costs, & also alleged that he had been guilty of cruelty & had connived at her cohabitation with the co-resp. The ct. held that the parties had been guilty of collusion, & rescinded the decree nisi.—BACON v. BACON & ASHBY (1877), 25 W. R. 560.

Annotation:—Consd. Churchward v. Churchward, [1895] P. 7.

3143. —— No material fact withheld.]—If the initiation of a divorce suit be procured, & its conduct, especially if abstention from defence be a term provided for by agreement, this constitutes collusion, although it does not appear that any specific fact has been falsely dealt with or withheld.

Petitioner made an agreement with resp., who had committed adultery with co-resp., by which she undertook to settle money on the child of the marriage, & he to take proceedings for divorce, which she was not to defend & of which she was to pay the costs, he not claiming damages against co-resp. The agreement was disclosed to the ct. Petitioner did not connive at the adultery, & no false testimony was adduced before the ct. in proof of it. It was not shown that there were any specific facts, material in defence or recrimination, which might have been brought forward by resp.; but it was not proved that there were no material facts which she might have brought forward by way of defence or recrimination. On the intervention of the Queen's Proctor:—Held: the agreement constituted collusion between petitioner & resp., so as to disentitle petitioner to a divorce.—CHURCHWARD v. CHURCHWARD & HOLLIDAY, [1895] P. 7; 64 L. J. P. 18; 71 L. T. 782; 43 W. R. 380; 11 T. L. R. 69; 11 R. 626.

Annotations:—Distd. Malley v. Malley (1909), 25 T. L. R. 662; Scott v. Scott, [1913] P. 52. Consd. Laidler v. Laidler (1920), 90 L. J. P. 28.

3144. Necessity to prove agreement or understanding between parties.]—In order to establish a charge of collusion against petitioner & resp. in a suit for dissolution of marriage, it is necessary to prove that there was some understanding or agreement between them.

Where a husband & wife, both of them being anxious to obtain a divorce, presented cross-petitions, & the husband's petition was dismissed upon his own application, & he abstained from making any defence to his wife's petition, the judge ordinary directed the jury that if that course had not been taken in consequence of any understanding or agreement between the parties, but each had acted independently of the other, petitioner was not guilty of collusion.—GETHIN v. GETHIN (1861), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 43; subsequent proceedings (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 560.

Annotation:—Consd. Churchward v. Churchward, [1895] P. 7.

iv. Suppression of Material Facts.

3145. General rule.]—Where the Queen's Proctor obtains the leave of the ct. to intervene, &

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3.—C. (b) ii.

3138 i. Initiation & conduct provided for by agreement—Though no facts falsely dealt with or withheld.]—Collusion exists where the initiation of the proceeding for dissolution of marriage is procured & its conduct, especially if abstention from defence be a term, provided for by agreement or bargain between the spouses or their agents, although it does not appear that any specific fact has been falsely dealt with or withheld.—STE. CROIX v. STE. CROIX (1917), I. L. R. 44 Calc. 1091.—IND.

3138 ii. —— ——.]—Where no specific fact has been falsely dealt with or withheld from the ct., an agreement by which a divorce suit is initiated, but which contains no term to abstain from a defence, is not collusion for the purpose of obtaining a divorce contrary to the justice of the case within the meaning which should be given to those words in N.Z., having regard to the present form of the divorce law in the colony as laid down by statutory enactments.—LIVINGSTONE v. LIVINGSTONE (1902), 21 N. Z. L. R. 626.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3.—C. (b) iii.

3141 i. General rule.]—Collusion is the permitting a false case to be substantiated or keeping back a just defence.—WALKER v. WALKER, [1911] S. C. 163.—SCOT.

pleads collusion between petitioner & resp., such plea is a good plea; but petitioner is entitled to be acquainted with the character of the collusion intended to be charged, by way of specification or particulars.

With reference to amending the plea, by stating evidence or the facts on which the collusion is supposed to be founded, it is quite out of question. As to oppression, I think the Legislature has guarded against that by putting it in the hands of a public officer. My difficulty is this: collusion is not, like condonation, a well-understood term; it may be by keeping back evidence of what would be a good answer, or by agreeing to set up a false case (per CUR.).

In this case I think it is by no means necessary to state the facts that are intended to be proved; but the character of the collusion pleaded should be given as by way of particulars (per CUR.).—JESSOP v. JESSOP (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 301; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 193; 4 L. T. 308; 7 Jur. N. S. 609; 9 W. R. 640; 164 E. R. 1011.

Annotation:—Consd. Churchward v. Churchward, [1895] P. 7.

3146. Criminal offence.]—In my view when parties agree together to take steps to obtain a divorce by suppressing or concealing facts from the ct., they are guilty of a criminal offence, & any solr. who assists the parties is also guilty of a criminal offence (LORD READING, C.J.).—KYNASTON v. HICKMAN & BROWN (1919), Times Nov. 6.

3147. Agreement to withhold relevant evidence.]—BACON v. BACON & ASHBY, No. 3142, ante.

3148. —— In support of counter charge—Though facts suppressed insufficient to establish charge.]—If, by agreement between the parties to a divorce suit, pertinent & material facts, which might be adduced in evidence in support of a cross-petition against petitioner by resp. or co-resp., be withheld from the ct., such agreement will amount to collusion, even though the suppressed facts might not have been sufficient to establish the cross-petition.—HUNT v. HUNT & WRIGHT (1877), 47 L. J. P. 22; 39 L. T. 45.

Annotations:—Consd. Butler v. Butler (1890), 15 P. D. 66; Churchward v. Churchward, [1895] P. 7.

3149. —— —— ——.]—A wife having petitioned for a divorce from her husband on the ground of his cruelty & adultery with several women, the husband presented a cross-petition on the ground of his wife's adultery. During the trial of the petitioners, the husband & wife, by their respective solrs., entered into an agreement that the wife should give evidence of cruelty to the satisfaction of the ct., & of the husband's adultery with W., one of the women charged, & that if the ct. was satisfied on that evidence the decree should go, the wife should withdraw the other charges, & the husband should withdraw his petition. The wife's counsel proceeded with the trial as if the agreement had not been entered into; but the husband's counsel acted in accordance with instructions based on the agreement, & did not cross-examine the wife. The jury found that the husband had committed adultery with W. only, that he had been guilty of cruelty, & that the wife had not committed adultery. On these findings a decree nisi was granted. The Queen's Proctor intervened, & after a hearing at which further evidence was adduced, the judge left to the jury the questions (a) Were material facts withheld from the knowledge of the ct.? (b) Was there collusion? (c) Did the wife commit adultery? The jury answered the two first questions in the affirmative, but were unable to agree as to the third:—Held: (1) under the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), a wife was deprived of her right to a decree, not only if she had been guilty of a matrimonial offence, but also if her petition had been presented or prosecuted in collusion with resp.; (2) an agreement between the parties to a divorce suit to withhold from the ct. pertinent & material facts, which might have been adduced on the trial in support of a counter-charge, amounted to collusion, even though the facts suppressed might not have been sufficient to establish such counter-charge.—BUTLER v. BUTLER, BUTLER v. BUTLER & BURNHAM (1890), 15 P. D. 66; 59 L. J. P. 25; 62 L. T. 344; 38 W. R. 390; 6 T. L. R. 148, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (2) Apld. Rogers v. Rogers, [1894] P. 161. Consd. Churchward v. Churchward, [1895] P. 7; Hunter v. Hunter, [1905] P. 217. Refd. Roche v. Roche, [1905] P. 142; Wain v. Wain & Eves (1909), 26 T. L. R. 131.

3150. Petitioner's adultery.]—DRUMMOND v. DRUMMOND, No. 3158, post.

Suppression by petitioner of own adultery.]—See Sect. 20, sub-sect. 3, B. (b), post.

3151. Conduct conducing to adultery.]—(1) Petitioner obtained a decree nisi in a suit in which neither resp. nor co-resp. appeared. Afterwards the Queen's Proctor intervened, & alleged (inter alia) collusion between petitioner & resp., & that material facts respecting the conduct of petitioner had not been brought before the ct. The ct. reversed the decree, upon the ground that the fact of petitioner having before & after the institution of the suit given money to resp. to offer no opposition to the suit, & urged her so to do, as he should get a decree cheaper, established collusion; that the facts that petitioner was in the habit of going with resp. & co-resp. to places of amusement, allowing her to dance frequently with co-resp., & on leaving left her in his care, were material facts conducing to the adultery, which ought to have been brought before the ct. Semble: the above facts do not establish a plea of connivance, as connivance to be a bar must be a corrupt connivance.

(2) A wife, being entitled to alimony pendente lite, the voluntary gift of money during progress of a suit by him for a divorce, does not, per se, prove collusion.

(3) Where the suppression of material facts is averred without specifying such facts, petitioner is entitled to particulars.

(4) Where a charge of collusion was sustained against petitioner by the Queen's Proctor, but a further charge of adultery, which petitioner had come prepared to meet was abandoned, the ct. made no order as to costs.—BARNES v. BARNES & GRIMWADE (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 505; 37 L. J. P. & M. 4; 17 L. T. 268; 16 W. R. 281.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Churchward v. Churchward, [1895] P. 7. Refd. Butler v. Butler, Butler v. Butler & Burnham (1890), 38 W. R. 390; Laidler v. Laidler (1920), 90 L. J. P. 28.

3152. Agreement to conceal condonation.]—ROGERS v. ROGERS, No. 5172, post.

v. Other Cases.

3153. Co-respondent suffering judgment by default—No defence on part of wife.]—CREWE v. CREWE, No. 3133, ante.

3154. Agreement to collect evidence.]—Semble: it is collusion for both parties to a suit instituted on grounds which would entitle petitioner only to sue, to concur in getting up evidence in support of the petition, though the evidence be true.

Qu.: whether it would be so if either party might have instituted a suit on same grounds.—

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 3, C. (b) v., & D. (a) & (b) i.]

MIDGLEY (FALSELY CALLED WOOD) v. WOOD (1860), as reported in 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 57.
Annotation :—Consd. Churchward v. Churchward, [1895] P. 7.

3155. Request for evidence of past adultery.]—A request by a proposed petitioner for production by the proposed resp. of evidence of past acts of misconduct does not, apart from any arrangement as to the conduct of the proposed proceedings, constitute the offence of collusion.—LAIDLER v. LAIDLER (1920), 90 L. J. P. 28 ; 123 L. T. 208 ; 36 T. L. R. 510.

3156. Agreement to provide evidence—By committing adultery.]—(1) On the hearing of a suit by a wife for a dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery, coupled with desertion, it was shown that the adultery charged & proved was committed by the husband in fulfilment of a promise previously made by him to the wife that he would give her an opportunity of obtaining a divorce ; that the adultery had been committed in order that it might be proved ; that evidence of it had been obtained by means of information supplied to the wife by the husband ; & that the wife was acting in concert with the husband to obtain evidence of it by the means indicated by him :—Held : the husband & wife were guilty of collusion within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 30.

(2) The husband was ordered to pay the costs of the wife, although her petition for dissolution was dismissed on the ground that they had been guilty of collusion.—TODD v. TODD (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 121 ; 35 L. J. P. & M. 34 ; 13 L. T. 759 ; 12 Jur. N. S. 237 ; 14 W. R. 350.

3157. Agreement to set up false case.]—JESSOP v. JESSOP, No. 3145, ante.

3158. Failure to countercharge.]—(1) Where the Queen's Proctor intervenes in a suit for dissolution of marriage before the hearing, & pleads collusion & that petitioner has been guilty of adultery, his right to intervene cannot be defeated by petitioner asking only for a decree of judicial separation ; but he will be allowed to prove his pleas.

(2) The ct. will not, at the hearing in such a case, allow the prayer of the petition to be altered into a prayer of judicial separation for the purpose of ousting the Queen's Proctor.

(3) A wife who has been guilty of adultery since the commencement of the suit is not entitled to a decree of judicial separation on the ground of cruelty ; but upon proof of such adultery the ct. will dismiss the petition, although resp. may not have recriminated.

(4) Semble : if resp. is aware that petitioner has been guilty of adultery, his omission to recriminate is evidence of collusion.—DRUMMOND v. DRUMMOND (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 269 ; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 177 ; 4 L. T. 416 ; 164 E. R. 998 ; sub nom. FORTH (VISCOUNTESS) v. FORTH (VISCOUNT), 7 Jur. N. S. 762.
Annotations :—As to (1) Refd. Dering v. Dering (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 531 ; Sottomayer v. De Barros (1879), 5 P. D. 94. As to (3) Apprvd. Otway v. Otway (1888), 13 P. D. 141. Refd. Synge v. Synge, [1900] P. 180 ; Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner, [1905] P. 233 ; Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298.

3159. Respondent assisting in identification—Undefended suit.]—Where resp., who did not appear, & gave petitioner's solr. a photograph to aid in her identification, & attended in ct. for same purpose, for which attendance she received from petitioner's solr. £1, the ct. having reason to believe that the parties were not acting in collusion, pronounced the decree.—HARRIS v. HARRIS & LAMBERT (1862), 4 Sw. & Tr. 232 ; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 160 ; 164 E. R. 1505.
Annotations :—Consd. Churchward v. Churchward, [1895] P. 7. Refd. Laidler v. Laidler (1920), 90 L. J. P. 28.

3160. Allowance in lieu of alimony—Pendente lite.]—BARNES v. BARNES & GRIMWADE, No. 3151, ante.

D. Condonation.

(a) In General.

3161. Absolute bar.]—DUNN v. DUNN, No. 3130 post.

3162. Distinguished from connivance.]—TURTON v. TURTON, No. 2711, ante.

3163. Condonation of adultery—Distinguished from condonation of cruelty.]—MOSS v. MOSS, No. 3261, post.

3164. Question for jury.]—PEACOCK v. PEACOCK, No. 3207, post.

3165. ——.]—A husband who had received from his wife a confession of adultery, thereupon went home with her & they slept together upon that & the following night. He then sent her away to her relations, & they parted upon affectionate terms. The same day he saw her off at the railway station, he signed a petition praying for a divorce. Upon the plea of condonation put forward by the wife, the learned judge directed the jury that the fact of the parties sleeping together was not conclusive, but that they must take that fact in conjunction with the other facts of the case in forming a conclusion as to whether the adultery had been condoned.—HALL v. HALL & KAY (1891), 64 L. T. 837 ; subsequent proceedings, 60 L. J. P. 73, C. A.
Annotations :—Consd. Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158. Refd. Crocker v. Crocker, [1921] P. 25.

Question for judge—Where condonation not pleaded.]—See Sub-sect. 3, D. (g), post.

3166. Must be followed by conjugal cohabitation.]—(1) A wife was charged in a petition with adultery, to which she pleaded condonation ; counsel for the husband, in order to repel this plea, by showing that at the time of the alleged condonation the husband was not cognisant of the whole of the wife's adultery, tendered evidence of acts of adultery not laid in the petition, & which were committed prior to, but were unknown to the husband at the time of the alleged condonation ; the judge ordinary ruled, hæsitanter, that, as the petition contained no averment of the acts of adultery, the evidence was inadmissible. There can be no condonation, by the law of England, which is not followed by conjugal cohabitation.

Qu. : whether condonation may not be constituted per verba ?

I have come to the conclusion that condonation means a blotting out of the offence imputed, so as to restore the offending party to the same position he or she occupied before the offence was committed (CRESSWELL, J. O.).

(2) On a decree of dissolution of marriage by reason of the wife's adultery, she having under a

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3.—D. (a).

f. What amounts to.]—The circumstances held to show condonation by a husband of his wife's adultery, & his petition for divorce was, therefore, dismissed.—PITMAN v. PITMAN, [1922] 1 W. W. R. 1106 ; 66 D. L. R. 702.—CAN.

3166 i. Must be followed by conjugal cohabitation.]—In an action for crim. con. :—Held : the fact of pltf., having after verdict in his favour, from mere motives of compassion & consideration for their child, taken back his wife to live with him, was not such a condonation as would induce the ct. to grant a new trial.—MCMILLAN v. JELLY (1867), 17 C. P. 702.—CAN.

3166 ii. ——.]—W. v. W., [1922] 1 W. W. R. 238 ; 63 D. L. R. 332.—CAN.

marriage settlement the interest, settled by her husband, after her husband's death, of £10,000, & a right to dispose of one-fifth of that sum, the ct. directed the husband to secure her an annuity during his life of £150, quamdiu casta vixerit, on condition of her giving up the right to dispose of the £2,000; & directed the damages assessed against co-resp. to go, first, in payment of wife's costs; secondly, in payment of husband's; & thirdly, any surplus in satisfaction of the annuity to wife.

(3) The wife's costs will not be taxed against the husband after trial, when she has failed in her suit. —KEATS v. KEATS & MONTEZUMA (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 334; 28 L. J. P. & M. 57; 32 L. T. O. S. 321; 5 Jur. N. S. 176; 7 W. R. 377; 164 E. R. 751.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apprvd. Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292. Consd. Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158; Crocker v. Crocker, [1921] P. 25. Refd. Hall v. Hall (1891), 60 L. J. P. 73. As to (2) Refd. Latham v. Latham & Gethin (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 43. As to (3) Refd. Whitmore v. Whitmore (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 96; Smith v. Smith (1882), 7 P. D. 84; Russell v. Russell, [1892] P. 152; Waudby v. Waudby & Bowland (1901), 84 L. T. 571.

3167. Condonation of adultery with one person—Whether avoided by uncondoned adulterous acts with another.]—ALEXANDRE v. ALEXANDRE, No. 3019, ante.

3168. ——— ———.]—BERNSTEIN v. BERNSTEIN, TURNER & SAMPSON, No. 3213, post.

(b) What is Condonation.

i. In General.

Condonation by wife—Distinguished from condonation by husband.]—See Sub-sect. 3, D. (d), post.

3169. Conditional forgiveness.]—Dr. Bever has very fully explained the effect of a condonation by matrimonial intercourse. It is a conditional forgiveness, which does not take away the right of complaint in case of a continuation of adultery, which operates as a reviver of former acts. The objection appears to be founded on a supposition, that the facts of adultery, pleaded subsequent to the condonation would not be proved, in which case the proof of those facts, previous to the forgiveness, could not weigh. The general objection is to the acquiescence of Lady Ferrers, from the year 1780, which is said to amount to condonation. It is contended also, that she is barred by length of time. But in this ct. it is not the measure of the injury which is to undergo consideration, but whether the party pltf. is entitled to a separation or not? So that the cts. of common law do not afford any conclusive rule which should bind this ct. in a question of this kind.

I will not lay it down as a rule, that a woman not bringing her complaint immediately on the discovery, shall be afterwards barred from laying her case before the ct.—FERRERS (LADY) v. FERRERS (LORD) (1791), 1 Hag. Con. 130; 1 Hag. Ecc. 781, n.; 161 E. R. 500.

Annotation:—Refd. D'Aguilar v. D'Aguilar (1794), 1 Hag. Ecc. 773.

3170. ———.]—D'AGUILAR v. D'AGUILAR, No. 4064, post.

3171. — -.]—(1) In a suit for divorce on account of the husband's adultery after a condonation of former adulteries; there must be, in order to establish condonation of subsequent adultery as a bar to the wife's remedy, evidence that she was aware of this renewed misconduct; nor can such knowledge be inferred from slight facts, & from cohabitation, but it must be clearly & distinctly proved.

(2) If a wife forgives earlier adultery upon condition & assurance of future amendment, on the husband's again committing adultery, that previous injury revives.

(3) Condonation is not presumed, as a bar, so readily against the wife as against the husband.

(4) A groundless & malicious charge against the wife's chastity followed up by turning her out of doors, & not attempted to be pleaded nor proved, may be alleged with other acts of cruelty as a ground for separation. Qu.: whether it would not revive condoned adultery.—DURANT v. DURANT (1825), 1 Hag. Ecc. 733; 162 E. R. 734; previous proceedings (1824), 2 Add. 267.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Dempster v. Dempster (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 438; Collins v. Collins & Eayres (1884), 9 App. Cas. 205. Refd. Bramwell v. Bramwell (1831), 3 Hag. Ecc. 618; Bernstein v. Bernstein, Sampson & Turner, [1893] P. 292; Rogers v. Rogers, [1894] P. 161. As to (2) Expld. Palmer v. Palmer (1860), 2 Sw. & Tr. 61. Refd. Snow v. Snow (1842), 2 Notes of Cases Supp. 1; Sopwith v. Sopwith (1860), 2 Sw. & Tr. 160. As to (3) Refd. Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158. As to (4) Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395. Refd. Eldred v. Eldred (1840), 2 Curt. 376; Dysart v. Dysart (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 191; Gale v. Gale (1852), 2 Rob. Eccl. 421. Generally, Refd. R. v. Clarence (1888), 22 Q. B. D. 23.

3172. ———.]—All condonation is conditional on no offence of which the Matrimonial Ct. can take cognisance being in future perpetrated. Cruelty once condoned may be so revived by subsequent adultery as to form, coupled with that adultery, ground for a sentence of dissolution.—PALMER v. PALMER (1860), 2 Sw. & Tr. 61; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 124; 2 L. T. 363; 8 W. R. 504; 164 E. R. 914.

Annotations:—Refd. Blandford v. Blandford (1883), 8 P. D. 19; Collins v. Collins (1884), 9 App. Cas. 205; Rogers v. Rogers, [1894] P. 161.

3173. ———.]—From 1851 to Jan. 1855, a wife received great cruelty at the hands of her husband; besides acts of personal violence, he excluded her from the head of his table, & from the management of the household. On various occasions between Jan. 1855, & Sept. 1856, the wife left & returned to her husband's house; but after Jan. 1855, refused to return to her husband's bedroom, unless she were placed in her proper position in the household, which the husband refused to do. In Sept. 1856 she left, & did not return to her husband's house. In Sept. 1857, an arrangement was made, through the medium of friends, that she should pay to her husband a portion of income settled to her separate use, & he should allow the children from time to time to visit her. She paid the money, but in the early part of 1862 three years had elapsed since the husband had allowed any of the children to visit her, & he then refused to do so, though she was very ill. In July, 1862, she petitioned for judicial separation; the answer of the husband denied the cruelty, & alleged condonation & undue delay:—Held: the wife's return to the house showed a willingness to condone; but she annexed, as she had a right to do, a condition precedent, with which the husband never complied; therefore there was no

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3.—D. (b) i.

3169 i. Conditional forgiveness.] —Condonation of matrimonial offences is always on the condition that there shall be no repetition of any matrimonial offence in the future; & the effect of a husband's subsequent adultery is to revive previously condoned acts of cruelty.—ALDRICH v. ALDRICH (1891), 21 O. R. 447.—CAN.

3169 ii. ———.]—Condonation is only a conditional forgiveness, the condition being that the offending party shall transgress no more. Where, after condonation, a party is again guilty of misconduct, the latter offence revives that which has been condoned, & the party offended against is entitled to the same relief as if there had been no condonation at all.—AKERSTEN v. AKERSTEN (1908), 27 N. Z. L. R. 1152.—N.Z.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 3, D. (b) i. & ii.]

condonation so as to bar her suit for judicial separation; but, if there had been, the husband's conduct & demeanour whilst she remained in the house would have sufficed to revive the gross acts of cruelty; less being sufficient to destroy condonation than to found an original suit. The whole of the transactions subsequent to the wife leaving the house in Sept. 1856, grew out of & were connected with the misconduct of the husband, & raised no suspicion that the suit was brought in 1862 with any other object than to obtain that legal protection to which the wife was entitled. Undue delay in bringing the suit is no plea, strictly speaking, to a petition for judicial separation.—COOKE v. COOKE (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 246; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 154; 8 L. T. 644; 9 Jur. N. S. 754; 11 W. R. 957; 164 E. R. 1221.

Annotations:—Consd. Houghton v. Houghton, [1903] P. 150. Refd. Moss v. Moss, [1916] P. 155.

3174. ——.]—Condonation is only conditional forgiveness, & condoned adultery & cruelty may be revived by misconduct which falls short of adultery. A husband was guilty of adultery & cruelty, which were condoned by his wife. He afterwards made improper overtures to, & attempted to take liberties with, a female servant in his house:—Held: the husband's misconduct revived his condoned adultery, & the wife was entitled to a decree for dissolution of the marriage.—RIDGWAY v. RIDGWAY (1881), 29 W. R. 612.

3175. ——.]—Condonation is forgiveness upon condition that no matrimonial offences are committed in the future, & therefore one matrimonial offence committed after condonation is sufficient to revive all the matrimonial offences committed before it.

The parties to the suit were married in 1869. In 1874 resp. formed an adulterous connection with a married woman, & in 1875 he was guilty of an act of cruelty. He deserted petitioner from 1876 till 1878, in which year petitioner commenced a suit for a judicial separation, which was discontinued upon a deed of separation being signed. Later in the same year a reconciliation was effected, & the parties cohabited till 1882, when petitioner discovered that resp. had resumed his former adulterous connection, & commenced a suit for a dissolution of marriage:—Held: the condoned desertion, as well as the condoned adultery, had been revived by the subsequent adultery, & petitioner was entitled to a decree dissolving the marriage.—BLANDFORD v. BLANDFORD (1883), 8 P. D. 19; 52 L. J. P. 17; 48 L. T. 238; 31 W. R. 508.

Annotations:—Consd. Collins v. Collins (1884), 9 App. Cas. 205. Refd. Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158.

3176. —— Doctrine applicable equally to both sexes.]—COPSEY v. COPSEY, No. 3275, post.

3177. Forgiveness whereby offending party restored to former position.]—KEATS v. KEATS & MONTEZUMA, No. 3166, ante.

3178. ——.]—A mere forgiveness by a husband of a guilty wife whether expressed verbally or by letter, without restoration of the wife to her former position, cannot amount to condonation.

A husband whose wife had been guilty of adultery wrote to her a conditional letter of forgiveness. In answer the wife wrote a letter in which she accepted without qualification his offer of forgiveness. On receiving the husband's letter the wife refused an offer of a place in domestic service which she had intended to accept. The husband subsequently withdrew his offer & filed his petition for divorce:—Held: the two letters taken together did not constitute an agreement binding the husband not to take proceedings for divorce.—CROCKER v. CROCKER, [1921] P. 25; 90 L. J. P. 136; 124 L. T. 493; 37 T. L. R. 137; 65 Sol. Jo. 153, C. A.; affg. (1920), 122 L. T. 749.

Annotation:—Refd. Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158.

3179. —— Conditional reinstatement.]—(1) Condonation, as applied to matrimonial offences, though frequently defined as conditional forgiveness, is not forgiveness in the ordinary sense, but would be more properly defined as conditional reinstatement of the offending spouse. It is always subject to the condition that the offence must not recur. (2) Resumption by the husband of connubial intercourse with his wife, when he has full knowledge of her adultery, is conclusive proof of condonation. It cannot be rebutted by the fact that he never forgave her, though that fact is admitted by the wife.—CRAMP v. CRAMP & FREEMAN, [1920] P. 158; 89 L. J. P. 119; 123 L. T. 141; 36 T. L. R. 333.

Annotation:—As to (2) Folld. Turnbull v. Turnbull & Coats (1925), 41 T. L. R. 507.

3180. Unconditional forgiveness — Condonation of adultery.]—ROSE v. ROSE, No. 3470, post.

3181. Forgiveness legally releasing injury—Express or implied.]—In a suit for separation a mensâ et thoro by reason of the wife's adultery, she, having in a plea of recrimination, or compensatio criminum, proved a long series of misconduct, adultery, solicitation of the servants' chastity, & venereal disease communicated to her, for which she separated from him long prior to the adultery committed by her, is entitled to her dismissal; nor will a return to live in the same house, after a former separation on account of the husband's adultery, operate as a condonation so as to extinguish her right to set up his guilt as a bar to his prayer. Condonation is forgiveness legally releasing the injury & may be express or implied, as by the husband cohabiting with a delinquent wife; but the effect of cohabitation is less stringent on the wife, & condonation by implication is not held a strict bar against her, for it is not improper she should for a time show a patient forbearance & entertain hopes of her husband's reform. Unpleaded condonation can only avail as a bar so far as it is fully established by evidence. The general presumption is that a husband & wife, living in the same house, live on terms of matrimonial cohabitation; but particular circumstances may repel that presumption.

It does not follow that because condonation

3177 i. Forgiveness whereby offending party restored to former position.]—Even if condonation may be made by words alone it is necessary that there should be complete forgiveness. Evidence of an intention or an inclination to resume marital relations & to forgive past misdeeds will not alone establish it.—MORAN v. MORAN, [1920] 1 W. W. R. 612; 52 D. L. R. 339.—CAN.

3177 ii. ——.]—Condonation means the complete forgiveness & blotting out of a conjugal offence followed by cohabitation, the whole being done with full knowledge of all the circumstances of the particular offence forgiven. The forgiveness which is to take away the husband's right to a divorce must not fall short of reconciliation.—STE. CROIX v. STE. CROIX (1917), I. L. R. 44 Calc. 1091.—IND.

3180 i. Unconditional forgiveness—Condonation of adultery.]—Full condonation of adultery, remission expressly or by implication in full knowledge of the acts forgiven, followed by cohabitation as man & wife, is a remissio injuriæ absolute & unconditional, & affords an absolute bar to any action of divorce founded on the condoned acts of adultery. Nor can condonation of adultery, cohabitation following, be made conditional by any arrangement between the spouses.—COLLINS v. COLLINS (1884), 9 App. Cas. 205; 11 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 19; 21 Sc. L. R. 579, H. L.—SCOT.

will bar the remedy of a party agent it will destroy the defence of a party recriminating.—BEEBY v. BEEBY (1799), 1 Hag. Ecc. 789; 1 Hag. Con. 142, n.; 162 E. R. 755.

Annotations:—Consd. Anichini v. Anichini (1839), 2 Curt. 210; Hope v. Hope (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 94; Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298. Refd. Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. 665; Angle v. Angle (1848), 1 Rob. Eccl. 634; Keats v. Keats & Montezuma (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 334; Seller v. Seller (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 482; Suggate v. Suggate (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 492; Goode v. Goode & Hamson (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 253; Roberts v. Roberts & Temple (1917), 117 L. T. 157; Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158; Pullen v. Pullen & Holding (1920), 123 L. T. 203.

3182. Forgiveness obtained by fraud.]—The wife had confessed to the husband that she had committed adultery with co-resp., & the husband agreed to forgive her on condition that she was not pregnant as a consequence of her said adultery. The wife falsely alleged that she was not pregnant, & in consequence the husband slept with her & had intercourse with her:—Held: there was no real condonation of her offence, & the husband was entitled to a decree nisi for the dissolution of his marriage.—ROBERTS v. ROBERTS & TEMPLE (1917), 117 L. T. 157; 33 T. L. R. 333; 61 Sol. Jo. 492.

Annotation:—Consd. Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158.

3183. Same meaning in Divorce Acts—As formerly in Ecclesiastical Courts.]—The word "condonation" has the same meaning in the Divorce Acts that it had in the Ecclesiastical Cts. Condoned adultery, therefore, may be so revived by subsequent cruelty as to found a sentence of dissolution. The ct. will, at the prayer of petitioner, at the hearing make a decree of judicial separation instead of a decree nisi for dissolution, although the petition prays for dissolution, & facts are proved on which the dissolution might have been granted.—DENT v. DENT (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 105; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 118; 13 L. T. 252; 164 E. R. 1455.

Annotations:—Consd. Collins v. Collins (1884), 9 App. Cas. 205; Moore v. Moore, [1892] P. 382; Rogers v. Rogers, [1894] P. 161; Houghton v. Houghton, [1903] P. 150. Refd. Price v. Price & Brown, [1911] P. 201; Moss v. Moss, [1916] P. 155; Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158.

Forgiveness with full knowledge of offence.]—See Sub-sect. 3, D. (c), post.

ii. Return to or Continuation of Matrimonial Cohabitation.

3184. General rule.]—SNOW v. SNOW, No. 3231, post.

3185. ——.]—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY, No. 2532, ante.

3186. ——.]—KEATS v. KEATS & MONTEZUMA, No. 3166, ante.

3187. ——.]—RATCLIFF v. RATCLIFF & ANDERSON, No. 3368. post.

3188. ——.]—The cohabitation between the parties lasted from Oct. 1872 to Mar. 1873. The adultery & cruelty were not denied, &, though there had been various attempts to bring the parties together again, & the wife was willing to forgive her husband, the ct. was satisfied that petitioner had done nothing in the interval to forfeit her right to a divorce, & granted a decree nisi.—PITT v. PITT (1875), 33 L. T. 136.

3189. ——.]—D'AGUILAR v. D'AGUILAR, No. 4064. post.

3190. — -.]—CRAMP v. CRAMP & FREEMAN. No. 3179, ante.

3191. — -.]—Sexual intercourse by a husband with knowledge of his wife's adultery is conclusive proof of condonation & cannot be rebutted by the fact that he never forgave her.—TURNBULL v. TURNBULL & COATS (1925), 41 T. L. R. 507; 69 Sol. Jo. 574.

3192. Parties occupying separate beds—Presumption of intercourse.]—Where the parties have separate beds, there must, in order to found condonation, be something of matrimonial intercourse presumed; it does not rest merely on the wife's not withdrawing herself.—DANCE v. DANCE (1799), 1 Hag. Ecc. 794, n.; 162 E. R 757.

Annotation:—Refd. Anichini v. Anichini (1839), 2 Curt. 210.

-.]—| v. BEEBY, No. 3181, ante.

3194. Parties occupying same bed—Whether conclusive as to condonation.]—HALL v. HALL & KAY, No. 3165, ante.

3195. Parties sleeping in same house—Whether cohabitation presumed—Onus of proof.]—If by evidence which the husband brings to establish adultery he implicates himself the wife has the full benefit of any condonation or connivance disclosed. Facility of condonation shows that he does not duly estimate the injury & induces the ct. to scrutinise jealously his subsequent conduct. A mere permission of opportunity for adultery is not a bar to the husband's suit but conduct amounting to an invitation to it is. Where a husband alleges that his wife slept at his house on the night after the act of adultery charged of which he was at the time informed he takes on himself the onus of showing that they did not cohabit & thereby condone the offence.—TIMMINGS v. TIMMINGS (1792) 3 Hag. Ecc. 76; 162 E. R. 1086.

Annotations:—Consd. Dillon v. Dillon (1842), 3 Curt. 86; Phillips v. Phillips (1844), 1 Rob. Eccl. 144; Gipps v. Gipps (1864), 11 H. L. Cas. 1. Refd. Drew v. Drew (1842), 1 Notes of Cases, 315; Snow v. Snow (1842), 2 Notes of Cases, Supp. i; Phillips v. Phillips (1846), 4 Notes of Cases, 523.

3196. —— Occupying separate bedrooms—No matrimonial intercourse.]—(1) To entitle a wife to separation by reason of cruelty there must be ill-treatment & personal injury, or the reasonable apprehension of personal injury.

(2) The force of condonation as a bar varies according to circumstances. The condonation by a husband of a wife's adultery, still more, repeated reconciliations after repeated adulteries create a PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3.—D. (b) ii.

3184 i. General rule.]—Resumption of cohabitation is a necessary ingredient of condonation by the husband of any matrimonial offence committed by the wife, such as would prevent him from relying upon it as a defence to an alimony suit.—A. v. A. (1905), 15 Man. L. R. 483; 3 W. L. R. 113.—CAN.

3184 ii. ——.]—A decree for judicial separation & for permanent alimony granted to a wife is annulled by subsequent cohabitation of the parties & does not revive on subsequent separation.—MA NOO v. PO. THIT (1924), I. L. R. 2 Ran. 163.—IND.

3184 iii. ——.]—To establish a plea of condonation it must be proved that the injured spouse had knowledge of the offence, fully forgave it & was prepared to take back the offender, that the latter accepted the forgiveness & that a reconciliation ensued. Such reconciliation is most conclusively shown by subsequent cohabitation, though it is conceivably possible that there may be cases of reconciliation not followed by cohabitation.—BELL v. BELL (1909), T. S. 500.—S. AF.

g. After husband's adultery.]—In actions of judicial separation ob sævitiam, a renewal of intercourse after acts of cruelty, will not be held a remissio injuriarum, like the renewal of intercourse after knowledge of adultery in cases of divorce.—MACFARLANE v. MACFARLANE (1849), 11 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 533.—SCOT.

3194 i. Parties occupying same bed—Whether conclusive as to condonation.]—In order to establish condonation, it is sufficient to prove that the spouses occupied the same bed, although marital intercourse is not proved.—ALEXANDER v. ALEXANDER, [1920] S. C. 327.—SCOT.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 3, D. (b) ii., (c) bar of far greater effect, than does the condonation by a wife of repeated acts of cruelty.

(3) Cruelty generally consists of successive acts of ill-treatment, if not of personal injury, so that something of a condonation of the earlier ill-treatment necessarily takes place.

If a wife, after legal cruelty, consents to a reconciliation & to matrimonial cohabitation, former injuries would revive by subsequent misconduct of a slighter nature than would constitute original cruelty, though the reconciliation would be a bar if no further ill-treatment took place.

The law does not require that there should be many acts; for if one act should be of that description which should induce the ct. to think that it is likely to occur again, & to occur with real suffering, there is no rule that should restrain it from considering that to be fully sufficient to authorise its interference (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).

(4) A deed of separation, upon mutual agreement, on account of unhappy differences, though containing a covenant not to bring a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, is no bar to such a suit.—WESTMEATH v. WESTMEATH (1827), 2 Hag. Ecc. Supp. 61; 162 E. R. 1012; on appeal (1829), 2 Hag. Ecc. Supp. 134.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Dysart v. Dysart (1847), 1 Rob. Eccl. 470; Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395. Refd. Neeld v. Neeld (1831), 4 Hag. Ecc. 263; Geils v. Geils (1848), 6 Notes of Cases, 97; Gale v. Gale (1852), 2 Rob. Eccl. 421. As to (2) Consd. Curtis v. Curtis (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 192. Refd. Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. 665; Collins v. Collins (1882), 9 App. Cas. 209, n. As to (3) Consd. Snow v. Snow (1842), 2 Notes of Cases, Supp. i.; Curtis v. Curtis (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 192. Refd. Waddell v. Waddell (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 584. Generally, Mentd. Frankfort de Montmorency v. Frankfort de Montmorency (1843), 2 Notes of Cases, 494; Brown v. Brown (1850), 2 Rob. Eccl. 302; Covell v. Covell (1872), 41 L. J. P. & M. 81.

3197. Cohabitation by order of court.]—SNOW v. SNOW, No. 3231, post.

3198. ——.]—A suit for restitution & return to cohabitation, is a complete condonation of cruelty & affords reason to believe that there was no apprehension of cruelty incurring danger to life & limb; in order to revive cruelty that has been condoned, there must be something of the same kind, it is not necessary that it should be so strong as the original cruelty, but something to show that the husband continues of the same disposition & in the same state of mind, & that there is a well-grounded fear that he would be guilty of the same acts of cruelty originally complained of. Where the husband compelled his wife to sleep in one of the garrets of the house, notwithstanding her lameness, occasioned by paralysis, whilst he slept apart from her in another & a separate room, that, standing alone, is no act of legal cruelty, since the ct. cannot undertake to compel parties to sleep in one & the same bed. Where meat of inferior quality was provided for her, &, by the express order of the husband, generally boiled beef, notwithstanding the same had been on former occasions peremptorily forbidden by her medical attendants, on the ground of its being injurious to her health, which prohibition was well known to the husband, it was held not an act of cruelty. Mere intoxication, unless it lead to personal violence, is not sufficient to support a charge of cruelty; personal abuse may be very reprehensible, but it is not capable of being made a subject for the ct.'s investigation.—EVANS v. EVANS (1843), 2 Notes of Cases, 470; 7 Jur. 1046.

Annotation:—Refd. Hart v. Hart (1855), 2 Ecc. & Ad. 193.

3199. ——.]—Husband & wife separated by mutual consent, in consequence of the conduct of the husband towards the wife, which in itself amounted to legal cruelty; the wife afterwards sued in the Arches Ct. for restitution of conjugal rights, &, by virtue of a decree of that ct. the parties again cohabited, when the husband renewed his acts of cruelty towards his wife, who continued to cohabit with him notwithstanding for six months. Upon a suit brought by the wife for a divorce, by reason of cruelty:—Held: the former cruelty was revived by the subsequent acts, & was not condoned by the cohabitation enjoined by the sentence for restitution of conjugal rights.—WILSON v. WILSON (1849), 6 Moo. P. C. C. 484; 13 E. R. 771, P. C.; affg., 6 Notes of Cases, 290.

Annotations:—Refd. Cooke v. Cooke (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 126; Moss v. Moss, [1916] P. 155.

3200. Condonation of cruelty by.]—SNOW v. SNOW, No. 3231, post.

3201. ——.]—SIMMONS v. SIMMONS, No. 2797, ante.

3202. ——.]—Return to husband's bed does not necessarily condone previous cruelty.—TURNER v. TURNER (1854), 2 Ecc. & Ad. 201, n.: 164 E. R. 387.

Annotation:—Refd. Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158.

3203. ——.]—When, on an issue before a jury of cruelty or not cruelty, condonation, by cohabitation continued after the last act of cruelty laid, appears on the evidence, the ct. would probably refuse to pronounce a decree on a verdict finding cruelty. But if, in such circumstances it would notice condonation, though not pleaded, it would also admit evidence of acts of cruelty subsequent to the condonation, though not pleaded.

Semble: regard being had to the maintenance of the children, the wife, when she succeeds in her suit, has a primâ facie right to the custody of the children under fourteen years of age: for she is not to buy the relief to which she is entitled owing to her husband's misconduct at the price of being deprived of the society of the children.

In dealing with the custody of children the ct. will consider the interests of the parents & of the children.—SUGGATE v. SUGGATE (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 492; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 167; 34 L. T. O. S. 54; 23 J. P. 551; 8 W. R. 20; 164 E. R. 828.

Annotations:—Refd. Chetwynd v. Chetwynd (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 39. Mentd. Sant v. Sant (1874), 43 L. J. P. C. 73.

(c) Full Knowledge of Act Condoned.

3204. Whether essential.]—TURTON v. TURTON, No. 2711, ante.

3205. ——.]—(1) Condonation is a conditional forgiveness on a full knowledge of all antecedent guilt.

(2) Less cruelty is necessary to revive condoned adultery than to found an original suit.

Cruelty, to revive condoned adultery, may be

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3.—D. (c).

3204 i. Whether essential.]—Condonation is forgiveness with a full knowledge of all the facts, subject to the implied condition that the injury shall not be repeated.—SAYER v. SAYER & COWMAN (1910), 30 N. Z. L. R. 351.—N.Z.

3204 ii. ——.]—Letters even if they amount to condonation of an act of adultery which the wife had expressed cannot be pleaded in condonation of a previous act of which the husband was ignorant when he wrote them.—RALSTON v. RALSTON & LORD ADVOCATE (1881), 8 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 371; 18 Sc. L. R. 233.—SCOT.

h. Presumption of condonation rebuttable.]—Condonation by a husband less violent in degree & less stringent in proof than when it forms the original charge (DR. LUSHINGTON).—BRAMWELL v. BRAMWELL (1831), 3 Hag. Ecc. 618; 162 E. R. 1285.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Dempster v. Dempster (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 438. Refd. Collins v. Collins (1882), 9 App. Cas. 214, n.; Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292. As to (2) Refd. Sopwith v. Sopwith (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 160. Generally, Refd. Sant v. Sant (1874), 43 L. J. P. C. 73.

3206. ——.]—SNOW v. SNOW, No. 3231, post.

3207. ——.]—Condonation is forgiveness of a conjugal offence with full knowledge of the facts, & in each particular case it is a question to be decided by the jury.

When the wife proceeds for a judicial separation & it is granted she is entitled to her costs as a matter of right. In the absence of any order of the ct. to the contrary they would follow the decree for a separation as a matter of course (per CUR.).—PEACOCK v. PEACOCK (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 183; 27 L. J P. & M. 71; 31 L. T. O. S. 302; 6 W. R. 866; 164 E. R. 684.

Annotations:—Consd. Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292; Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158.

3208. ——.]—Before the ct. can come to the conclusion of condonation by the husband, it must be satisfied that the husband continued to live with his wife with full knowledge of the acts of adultery alleged to be condoned.

Where, to an action for maintenance, the husband had alleged the wife's adultery, but failed to prove it, & afterwards lived with her, the ct. refused to come to the conclusion of condonation.—ELLIS v. ELLIS & SMITH (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 154; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 100; 13 L. T. 211; 11 Jur. N. S. 610; 13 W. R. 964; 164 E. R. 1475.

3209. ——.]—CRAMP v. CRAMP & FREEMAN, No. 3179, ante.

3210. —— Condonation of subsequent adultery.]—DURANT v. DURANT, No. 3171, ante.

3211. —— Separation deed executed in ignorance.]—Upon motion by a wife for an injunction to restrain her husband from proceeding in the Divorce Ct. to obtain a dissolution of marriage, on the ground of a contract by deft. to condone all former causes of complaint, & not to take legal proceedings in respect thereof:—Held: as the contract might be set up by way of defence in the Divorce Ct., & as it was executed by the husband in ignorance of the fact that his wife had committed adultery, & on her positive assertion of innocence, this ct. would not interfere to stay proceedings in the Divorce Ct.—BROWN v. BROWN (1868), L. R. 7 Eq. 185; 38 L. J. Ch. 153; 19 L. T. 594; 17 W. R. 98.

Annotations:—Mentd. Hood v. N. E. Ry. (1870), L. R. 11 Eq. 116; Fearon v. Aylesford (1884), 32 W. R. 718.

3212. Knowledge saltem probabilem criminis commissi.]—DILLON v. DILLON, No. 2712, ante.

3213. Condonation of adultery with particular person—Whether affected by previous undisclosed adultery with others.]—(1) At the trial of a petition by a husband for divorce, on the ground of the adultery of his wife, with two co-resps. & claiming damages against one of such co-resps. the jury found that resp. had been guilty of adultery with both co-resps. but that petitioner had condoned the adultery with the one against whom damages were claimed, & that no damages were payable by such co-resp. in respect of the adultery committed by him. It appeared that the condonation was subsequent to the adultery with both co-resps. & that at the time of the condonation petitioner did not know of the adultery with the other co-resp. A decree nisi was granted by the President on the ground of the adultery with co-resp. whose adultery had not been condoned; but as against the other the petition was dismissed with costs:—Held: the decision of the President was right; for a condonation by a husband of adultery with one person is not avoided by the fact that the wife had previously to the condonation committed acts of adultery with another person of which he was not aware; & although at common law condonation by the husband of an act of adultery was no bar to an action for criminal conversation against the adulterer, but only went in mitigation of damages, the case is different under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), & where, on a petition for divorce & for damages against co-resp. a divorce is refused on the ground that the adultery has been condoned, petitioner is not entitled to a judgment, even for nominal damages, against co-resp. but the petition will be dismissed, & petitioner may be ordered to pay co-resp.'s costs.

(2) Claims for damages are placed wholly under the jurisdiction of the Divorce Ct., & can only be made by petition, & the damages recovered are placed under the control of the ct. The petition must be served on the wife, unless the ct. dispenses with such service. The petition must be dismissed, if petitioner has been accessory to or conniving at the adultery complained of, or has condoned the same. The claim for damages is subject to all these overriding provisions (LINDLEY, L.J.).—BERNSTEIN v. BERNSTEIN, [1893] P. 292; 69 L. T. 513; sub nom. BERNSTEIN v. BERNSTEIN TURNER & SAMPSON, 63 L. J. P. 3; 9 T. L. R. 639; 37 Sol. Jo. 730; 6 R. 609, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Roberts v. Roberts & Temple (1917), 117 L. T. 157; Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158. Refd. Crocker v. Crocker, [1921] P. 25. As to (2) Folld. Hyman v. Hyman & Goldman, [1904] P. 403; Cox v. Cox, [1906] P. 267. Distd. Stocker v. Stocker, Brice & Patterson, [1917] P. 264. Refd. Brydges v. Brydges & Wood, [1909] P. 187; Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126; Kent v. Atkinson, [1923] P. 142. Generally, Mentd. Harris v. Taylor (1914), 111 L. T. 564.

(d) Condonation by Wife.

3214. Distinguished from condonation by husband.]—D'AGUILAR v. D'AGUILAR, No. 4064, post.

3215. ——.]—BEEBY v. BEEBY, No. 3181, ante.

3216. —— .]—DURANT v. DURANT, No. 3171, ante.

3217. ——.]—WESTMEATH v. WESTMEATH, No. 3196, ante.

3218. ——.]—SNOW v. SNOW, No. 3231, post.

3219. ——.]—Divorce by reason of adultery by the wife against the husband; plea in bar, that the wife was privy to the adultery:—Held: although the wife might have been too patient & forgiving, she had not condoned or connived at her husband's adultery, the doctrine of condonation being totally different when applied to a wife from that applied to a husband; it being meritorious in a wife to continue cohabitation as long as there is a possible chance of reclaiming her husband.—ANGLE v. ANGLE (1848), 1 Rob. Eccl. 634; 6 Notes of Cases, 192; 12 Jur. 525; 163 E. R. 1161.

3220. ——.]—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY (1859), Sea. & Sm. 84; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 2.

Annotation:—Refd. Glennie v. Glennie & Bowles (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 17.

of his wife's adultery was not to be inferred from his allowing her to return to his home after he had knowledge of the fact.—EDGAR v. EDGAR (1902), 4 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 632; 39 Sc. L. R. 424; 9 S. L. T. 495.—SCOT.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 3, D. (e), (f), (g) & (h) i.

(e) Condonation after Decree Nisi.

3221. Suspension of further proceedings—Petition not dismissed.]—LEWIS v. LEWIS, No. 4539, post.

3222. Decree absolute refused—Decree nisi rescinded.]—HYMAN v. HYMAN & GOLDMAN, No. 3227, post.

3223. —— ——.]—SNEYD v. SNEYD & BURGESS (1925). Times, Dec. 22; previous proceedings, 42 T. L. R. 106.

(f) Effect on Claim for Damages against Co-Respondent.

3224. General rule.] — BERNSTEIN v. BERNSTEIN, TURNER & SAMPSON, No. 3213, ante.

3225. Whether claim barred.] — Condonation of the wife's adultery is no answer to the husband's claim for damages against co-resp.—POMERO v. POMERO & HADLEY (1884), 10 P. D. 174; 54 L. J. P. 93; 34 W. R. 124.

Annotations:—Overd. Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292. Consd. Hyman v. Hyman & Goldman, [1904 P. 403.

3226. ——.]—BERNSTEIN v. BERNSTEIN, TURNER & SAMPSON, No. 3213, ante.

3227. ——.]—The effect of condonation of a wife's adultery by her husband, after decree nisi & before decree absolute, considered.

If a petition is dismissed by reason of condonation it is dismissed for all purposes, & cannot be kept alive temporarily for the purpose of enabling a petitioner to recover damages which have been awarded against a co-resp. in the suit, but co-resp. may still be held liable for, & may be ordered to pay, the costs of the suit, which, on the intervention of the King's Proctor & by reason of condonation subsequent to decree nisi, has been dismissed.

Petitioner, in such a case, may be ordered to pay the costs of the King's Proctor's intervention, but he may add the amount of these costs to the costs which he is still held entitled to recover from co-resp.

If the decree absolute cannot be pronounced then the prayer for damages fails also (JEUNE, P.). —HYMAN v. HYMAN & GOLDMAN, [1904] P. 403; 73 L. J. P. 106; 91 L. T. 361; 20 T. L. R. 696.

Annotations:—Refd. Brydges v. Brydges & Wood, [1909] P. 187; Quartermaine v. Quartermaine & Glenister, [1911] P. 180; Hope v. Hope & Johnson (1924), 130 L. T. 761.

3228. ——.]—Condonation by the husband would be an answer to a claim for damages against a co-resp. even if brought by a separate petition under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 33; but a petition for damages does not in all cases stand or fall with a petition for dissolution of marriage.

Where a petition for dissolution was filed against one co-resp. & afterwards a second co-resp. was added & a decree nisi was obtained & made absolute on evidence of adultery with the second co-resp. without any trial of the case against the first:—Held: petitioner's cause of action against co-resp. A. for damages was not abated & A. was not entitled to have the petition against him dismissed with costs; & an application by the wife for her costs of the original petition was premature until the petition had been heard on the question of damages.—STOCKER v. STOCKER, BRICE & PATTERSON, [1917] P. 264; 86 L. J. P. 156; 117 L. T. 543; 33 T. L. R. 533; 62 Sol. Jo. 232.

Annotations:—Refd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126; Kent v. Atkinson, [1923] P. 142.

(g) Pleading and Proof.

3229. Pleading condonation up to certain date.]—To a petition alleging adultery on divers occasions in Sept. & Oct. 1862, resp. pleaded a denial of the adultery, &, further, that if she had committed adultery as alleged, petitioner condoned it up to Sept. 29, 1862. The ct. refused to order the latter plea to be struck out upon motion.—WINDHAM v. WINDHAM & GIUGLINI (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 89; 9 Jur. N. S. 82.

3230. Where condonation not pleaded—Whether considered by court—Not unless fully established by evidence.]—BEEBY v. BEEBY, No. 3181, ante.

3231. —— —— ——.]—When condonation is to be inferred from evidence only, without any facts being pleaded on either side which would raise the question . . . unless such condonation was established by the clearest & most conclusive evidence, the ct. would not be satisfied to act upon it; for if it had been expressly pleaded, the other party might have produced further evidence to explain & disprove the defence. . . . This reasoning does not apply to the case where the alleged condonation is to be inferred from the statements in the libel alone. A return by the husband or wife to the marriage bed is, in almost all ordinary cases, a præsumptio juris et de jure of connubial intercourse; a return to connubial intercourse is primâ facie a condonation of past adultery & previous cruelty, liable to be rebutted, in many cases, as, where the return to connubial intercourse was compulsory no such inference could be drawn. . . . There would be no condonation in a case of adultery where the whole of the adultery committed is not known to the party aggrieved. A great distinction respecting condonation exists between a husband's adultery & a wife's adultery, & much would be considered culpable in a husband which is praiseworthy in a wife. . . . When once condonation has actually taken place, the right to complain of previous cruelty or adultery is gone, unless revived by the commission of the like offences, or something approaching to or savouring of them; cruelty may be revived by a less degree of cruelty than is necessary to found a suit for divorce in the first instance, & adultery may be revived in a case of attempting to have adulterous intercourse with other persons. . . . With respect to condonation of cruelty by cohabitation, where such cohabitation is the effect of force or fraud, it never could amount to legal condonation; connubial cohabitation after the last act of cruelty is not necessarily & universally a bar, as condonation to a wife's suit, even though such cohabitation may be in one sense a voluntary cohabitation, or may not be forced or fraudulently brought about by the husband. There are many circumstances in which it would be exceedingly difficult, if not impossible, for the wife to withdraw from cohabitation, especially when abroad; & if such continued cohabitation were wholly unaccompanied with any intention to condone, & attended by a determina-

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3.—D. (e).

3222 i. Decree absolute refused—Decree nisi rescinded.]—JOBSON v. JOBSON (1910), 30 N. Z. L. R. 48.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3.—D. (f).

3225 i. Whether claim barred.]—No claim to damages for adultery, where party continued to cohabit with his wife after he had discovered her guilt.—AITKEN v. MACREE (1810), 15 Fac. Coll. 562.—SCOT.

3225 ii. ——.]—Where a husband has condoned his wife's adultery he is not tion to separate on the first safe opportunity, the ct. could not hold the wife to be entirely deprived of all remedy in cases of great cruelty, where there was no reason to believe that the husband was emendatus moribus (DR. LUSHINGTON).—SNOW v. SNOW (1842), 2 Notes of Cases, Supp. i; 6 Jur. 285.

Annotations:—Refd. Turner v. Turner (1854), 2 Ecc. & Ad. 201, n.; Cooke v. Cooke (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 126; Collins v. Collins (1892), 9 App. Cas. 209, n.; Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158.

3232. —— —— Proved at hearing.]—CURTIS v. CURTIS, No. 4650, post.

3233. —— —— Admissibility of acts subsequent to condonation.]—SUGGATE v. SUGGATE, No. 3203, ante.

3234. —— Evidence of condonation—Question for judge.]—A wife & husband presented cross-petitions for dissolution of their marriage. During the hearing before the jury the husband admitted adultery, but alleged that it had been subsequently condoned by the wife. There was no allegation of condonation on the pleadings, & the wife denied in evidence that she had condoned her husband's adultery. It was contended by counsel for the husband that the ct. was bound to take notice of condonation even if not pleaded, &, if thought advisable, could seek a jury's assistance:—Held: where condonation had not been pleaded, the ct. would take upon itself the responsibility of deciding whether it existed.—MOOSBRUGGER v. MOOSBRUGGER, MOOSBRUGGER v. MOOSBRUGGER & MARTIN (1913), 109 L. T. 192; 29 T. L. R. 715.

3235. Necessity for strict proof—Condonation or renewal of conjugal intercourse.]—CAMPBELL v. CAMPBELL, No. 4369, post.

(h) Revival of Condoned Offence.

i. In General.

Condonation—Defined as conditional forgiveness.]—See Sub-sect. 3, D. (b) i., ante.

3236. All matrimonial offences revived—By one offence committed after condonation.]—BLANDFORD v. BLANDFORD, No. 3175, ante.

3237. ——.]—COLLINS v. COLLINS, No. 3272, post.

3238. Evidence of acts subsequent to condonation—Admitted where condonation not pleaded.]—SUGGATE v. SUGGATE, No. 3203, ante.

3239. Revival of condoned offence not pleaded—Whether petitioner entitled to decree.]—In a wife's suit for dissolution of marriage, evidence was given of resp.'s cruelty & adultery from Mar. 1908, to July, 1909, in which latter month petitioner left resp. on account of his cruelty. In Aug. 1909, petitioner filed a petition for divorce, which, however, was not served, as resp. fell ill & at his request she returned to nurse him. In 1910, as resp. was again guilty of cruelty, she finally left him & filed her petition:—Held: petitioner was entitled to a decree, although revival of the previous misconduct on the part of resp. had not been specifically pleaded.—BRADDOCK v. BRADDOCK (1910), 27 T. L. R. 55 Sol. Jo. 79.

3240. Subsequent discovery of contemporaneous offence.]—Where, on an unopposed petition by the wife for dissolution by reason of the husband's cruelty & adultery, it appeared that after the cruelty, which was proved to have taken place, the wife had continued to cohabit with her husband, in ignorance, however, of the adultery which had then in fact taken place, though it did not come to her knowledge till afterwards, the ct. inclined to hold that cruelty condoned in such circumstances would, in effect, revive upon the subsequent knowledge of the adultery & action taken thereupon; the wife's acquaintance with the husband's delinquencies of every sort may be a branch of the condition on which all condonation depends; but under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), ss. 30, 31, petitioner was clearly entitled to a decree nisi.—DEMPSTER v. DEMPSTER (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 438; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 20; 5 L. T. 433; 8 Jur. N. S. 44; 164 E. R. 1066.

Annotations:—Consd. Brown v. Brown (1868), L. R. 7 Eq. 185; Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292.

ii. Where Condonation before Separation.

3241. Separation deed—Commission of subsequent offence.]—A husband & wife entered into a deed of separation, in which it was provided that, in case either party should take proceedings against the other in respect of any cause of complaint which might afterwards arise, no offence or misconduct committed before the execution of the deed, & no act, deed, neglect, or default of either party in relation to such offence or misconduct should be pleaded or alleged by either party to be admissible as evidence.

The husband having subsequently sued for a divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery committed with co-resp. after the date of the deed:—Held: he was not barred by the deed from introducing evidence as to familiarities having taken place between resp. & co-resp. previously to the deed, in order to support the charge of adultery.—HARRIS v. HARRIS & WOODDEN (1872), 41 L. J. P. & M. 61; 27 L. T. 428; 21 W. R. 80.

3242. —— ——.]—ROSE v. ROSE, No. 3470, post.

3243. —— ——.]—AUBOURG v. AUBOURG, No. 2614, ante.

3244. —— ——.]—A husband & wife separated under a separation deed which provided that the wife should not take any proceedings of any sort against her husband in respect of anything done up to that date. Subsequently, while they were living apart, the husband committed two acts of cruelty towards his wife:—Held: she was not precluded by the separation deed from suing for a judicial separation.—KUNSKI v. KUNSKI & JOSEPHS (1907), 23 T. L. R. 615.

3245. —— ——.]—A covenant by a wife in a deed of separation, to the effect that all proceedings in a suit which she had instituted against her husband on the ground of cruelty shall be stayed & that she "shall in no wise attempt to revive barred thereby from suing her alleged paramour for solatium & damages.—MACDONALD v. MACDONALD (1885), 12 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 1327; 22 Sc. L. R. 896.—SCOT.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3. D.

3235 i. Necessity for strict proof—Condonation or renewal of conjugal intercourse.]—Where a wife has become infected by disease, the result of her husband's adultery & suffers from that disease for months, so that conjugal intercourse cannot be resumed, then in order that the husband's adultery may be condoned there must be conclusive evidence of such complete reconciliation that the only inference is that as soon as she recovers she will restore him to the conjugal rights which he forfeited by his adultery.—A. v. B. (1911), 30 N. Z. L. R. 669.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3.—D. (h) i.

3236 i. All matrimonial offences revived—By one offence committed after condonation.]—Condonation of matrimonial offences by the resumption of cohabitation is generally subject to the implied condition that no such further offence shall occur; &, if such an offence should be subsequently committed, the forgiveness is cancelled & the former causes of complaint are revived, even if the new offence is not ejusdem generis with the former ones.—Re BRIZARD & BRIZARD (No. 2) (1914), 26 W. L. R. 734; 5 W. W. R. 1013, 1160; 15 D. L. R. 578; 24 Man. L. R. —CAN.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 3, D. (h) ii., iii. & iv.]

the same in any manner whatever" :—Held: no bar to relief in a subsequent suit by the wife for the dissolution of marriage on the ground of the husband's subsequent adultery coupled with the former cruelty.—NORMAN v. NORMAN, [1908] P. 6; 77 L. J. P. 8; 98 L. T. 61; 24 T. L. R. 37.

3246. —— —— Deed repudiated by respondent.] —Where there was a deed of separation with a covenant not to sue for antecedent cause in an undefended suit for divorce proceeding in part on the ground of such antecedent cause, & resp. whose offence had thus been condoned by the deed had wholly repudiated the obligations of it :—Held: the deed did not debar petitioner from the right to divorce.—BALCOMBE v. BALCOMBE, [1908] P. 176; 77 L. J. P. 81; 99 L. T. 308.

3247. —— ——.]—By a clause in a deed of separation a husband & wife covenanted that "neither . . . shall be at liberty to take any legal proceedings against the other of them in respect of any matters which have hitherto occurred, & neither . . . shall be at liberty to take any proceedings in the future for a judicial separation or any proceedings whatsoever other than proceedings for a dissolution of marriage." The husband having subsequently to the execution of the deed committed adultery, the wife filed a petition for dissolution of marriage, coupling the adultery with the alleged cruelty anterior to the date of the deed :—Held: the deed was no bar to the wife relying upon the alleged cruelty being revived by the subsequent adultery.—EHLERS v. EHLERS (1915), 113 L. T. 1215.

3248. —— ——.]—WILSON v. WILSON (1916), 32 T. L. R. 484.

3249. —— —.]—A husband was guilty of cruelty to his wife, & this led to a separation by deed. The deed contained a covenant not to sue for any offence before the date of its execution, but with a proviso that this & all the other covenants should become void in the event of a judicial separation being pronounced. The husband committed adultery after the date of the deed, & the wife petitioned to have the marriage dissolved :—Held: it would not be just or reasonable to put petitioner to the expense, delay, & inconvenience of a second suit, based upon the same evidence of cruelty & adultery; & upon her present petition, founded upon adultery since the date of the deed, coupled with the previous cruelty, both of which offences were proved to the satisfaction of the ct. she was entitled at once to a decree nisi.—THOMPSON v. THOMPSON, [1916] P. 165; 85 L. J. P. 159; 114 L. T. 1211; 32 T. L. R. 507; 60 Sol. Jo. 512.

Annotation :—Follд. Lister v. Lister (1922), 91 L. J. P. 180.

3250. —— ——.]—By a deed of separation the wife covenanted not to take proceedings in respect of prior offences, but the deed contained a proviso that the covenants should be void if the parties should be judicially separated on the ground of the subsequent misconduct of either. After the date of the deed the wife brought a petition for divorce & proved that the husband had committed adultery after, & cruelty before, the date of the deed :—Held: the wife was entitled to a divorce without first obtaining a decree for judicial separation.—LISTER v. LISTER, [1922] P. 227; 91 L. J. P. 180; 127 L. T. 493; 38 T. L. R. 609.

3251. —— —— Deed not set up by respondent.] —A husband having been guilty of cruelty, he & his wife separated upon the terms of a deed by which they agreed that neither party should take proceedings against the other for dissolution of marriage or judicial separation on the ground of previous misconduct, but that the deed should be void in case the marriage should be dissolved or a judicial separation granted on the ground of subsequent misconduct by either. The husband afterwards committed adultery. He did not plead the deed in answer to his wife's petition. The ct. granted a decree nisi for the dissolution of the marriage.—DOWLING v. DOWLING, [1898] P. 228; 68 L. J. P. 8; 47 W. R. 272.

Annotations :—Follд. Bourne v. Bourne, [1913] P. 164. Refd. Lipman v. Lipman, [1916] P. 25.

3252. —— —— ——.]—A separation deed whereby husband & wife agree not to institute proceedings in respect of past matrimonial offences, & containing an express condonation of such offences, being valid, the clauses in such deed must be interpreted according to the ordinary rules of construction.

A husband & wife entered into a deed of separation, whereby (inter alia) they expressly & mutually agreed that any matrimonial offences which might have been committed by either of them before the execution of the deed were thereby condoned; but, by a subsequent clause, it was agreed (inter alia) that if the marriage should be dissolved or the parties should be judicially separated by reason of any misconduct occurring after the date of the deed, then all the covenants & provisions contained in the deed should become void. The husband had been guilty of cruelty & adultery before the date of the deed, & it was proved that he had been guilty of adultery after the date of the deed :—Held: although it was doubtful whether the subsequent adultery revived, either by virtue of or apart from the deed, the offences which by the deed had been expressly condoned, yet, inasmuch as the subsequent adultery of the husband would entitle the wife to a judicial separation, &, thereupon, the covenants in the deed, including the condonation clause, would become void, & she might then in a subsequent proceeding obtain a dissolution of marriage, the ct. would not put her to such a circuitous mode of obtaining relief as would thereby be involved, but would at once grant a decree nisi dissolving the marriage.—BOURNE v. BOURNE, [1913] P. 164; 82 L. J. P. 117; 108 L. T. 1039; 29 T. L. R. 657.

Annotations :—Follд. Thompson v. Thompson, [1916] P. 165. Refd. Lipman v. Lipman, [1916] P. 25.

3253. —— —— ——.]—A husband & wife separated under a deed after, as subsequently proved, cruelty on his part. The deed contained (inter alia) a clause that no proceedings should be instituted relating to the relationship of husband & wife, & it also contained a proviso that if the marriage should be dissolved, or if the parties should be judicially separated by reason of any misconduct occurring after the date of the deed, all the covenants & provisions thereof should be void. The husband subsequently committed adultery & the wife petitioned for dissolution of the marriage :—Held: although the deed was not set up by the husband, the suit being undefended, the ct. should take cognisance of its contents, & petitioner was therefore not entitled to a decree of dissolution of marriage upon her present petition; but inasmuch as the decree of judicial separation, which the ct. now pronounced on the ground of adultery put an end to the deed, by reason of the proviso therein contained, petitioner would, on a subsequent petition, be entitled to have her marriage dissolved on the ground of that adultery coupled with the antecedent cruelty.—LIPMAN v.

LIPMAN, [1916] P. 25; 85 L. J. P. 23; 114 L. T. 376; 32 T. L. R. 173; 60 Sol. Jo. 157.
Annotation:—N.F. Thompson v. Thompson, [1916] P. 165.

3254. Judicial separation—Cruelty—Subsequent adultery.]—GREEN v. GREEN, No. 3283, post.

iii. Sufficiency of Offence to constitute Revival.

3255. General rule.]—COOKE v. COOKE, No. 3173, ante.

3256. Conduct short of cruelty.]—WESTMEATH v. WESTMEATH, No. 3196, ante.

3257. ——.]—BRAMWELL v. BRAMWELL, No. 3205, ante.

3258. ——.]—SNOW v. SNOW, No. 3231, ante.

3259. —— Fear of repetition of original cruelty.]—EVANS v. EVANS, No. 3198, ante.

3260. —— Threats & abuse—Further cohabitation endangered.]—Acts of violence & cruelty which have been condoned may be revived, without actual violence, by threats of such a nature & so expressed as to satisfy the ct. that further cohabitation would be attended with danger to the party threatened. Where, after thirty years of married life, during which the parties had continually quarrelled, & the husband had been guilty of unjustifiable violence, & up to May, 1855, there was undoubted condonation, the wife left her husband's house in June, 1856, & brought a suit for divorce a mensâ et thoro, relying on threats alleged to have been uttered by the husband between Feb. & June, 1856, the ct., not being satisfied that the threats were such as to cause a reasonable apprehension of bodily injury, or that, in fact, the wife quitted her husband's house on that account, dismissed the suit.—BOSTOCK v. BOSTOCK (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 221; 27 L. J. P. & M. 86; 31 L. T. O. S. 331; 6 W. R. 868; 164 E. R. 701.

3261. —— —— Past acts of violence recalled—Fear of recurrence.]—Where there has been condonation of acts of legal cruelty, subsequent matrimonial offences not in themselves sufficient to constitute legal cruelty may support a decree for judicial separation, because in the case of cruelty it is impossible to dissociate recent from past conduct, & acts not so grievous in themselves may operate grievously on the mind of the sufferer, either a recalling past acts of violence or as causing fear of their recurrence.

A husband committed acts of legal cruelty at various dates up to Sept. 1912. The wife, however, continued to live with him until Nov. 1914, & there were acts of conjugal intercourse up to Mar. or Apr. 1914. In Nov. 1914, the wife left her husband, & in Feb. 1915, she commenced proceedings for a judicial separation. Acts of cruelty by the husband relied on after Sept. 1912, were first, his striking her & snatching her hat off her head, variously stated as happening in Nov. 1912, & Nov. 1913, & secondly various instances of abuse & threats & accusations of sexual immorality down to the time of parting:—Held: the original acts of legal cruelty had been condoned, but they had been revived by the subsequent matrimonial offences, although these offences did not in themselves amount to legal cruelty.

When an act of adultery has been condoned it is wiped out & can never be referred to again just as if it had never taken place; but it is not so in an action of separation on the ground of violence (per CUR.).—MOSS v. MOSS, [1916] P. 155; 85 L. J. P. 182; 114 L. T. 1147; 32 T. L. R. 468, C. A.

3262. —— Harsh & irritating conduct.]—MYTTON v. MYTTON, No. 2561, ante.

3263. Conduct short of adultery—Attempt to commit adultery.]—SNOW v. SNOW, No. 3231, ante.

3264. —— Conduct tending to adultery.]—Semble: condoned adultery may be revived, so as to found a sentence of dissolution, by subsequent misconduct & improprieties, short of, but tending to adultery.—WINSCOM v. WINSCOM & PLOWDEN (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 380; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 45; 10 L. T. 100; 10 Jur. N. S. 321; 12 W. R. 535; 164 E. R. 1322.
Annotation:—Mentd. Redfern v. Redfern, [1891] P. 139.

3265. —— Familiarity with servant.]—RIDGWAY v. RIDGWAY, No. 3174, ante.

iv. Revival of Condoned Adultery.

By conduct falling short of adultery.]—See Sub-sect. 3, D. (h) iii., ante.

3266. By cruelty.]—WORSLEY v. WORSLEY, No. 3277, post.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3.—D. (h) iii.

3255 i. General rule.]—A lesser degree of cruelty is necessary to revive a condoned offence than to found an original charge.—THOMPSON v. THOMPSON (1911), I. L. R. 39 Calc. 395.—IND.

3255 ii. ——.]—Less is required to revive an offence previously condoned where petitioner is seeking a judicial separation than where the relief sought is a dissolution of marriage. In a suit for a judicial separation a condoned act of adultery was held to be revived by nine months' desertion.—MILLIKEN v. MILLIKEN, [1920] N. Z. L. R. 452.—N.Z.

3256 i. Conduct short of cruelty.]—Held: although an act of adultery will revive condoned acts of cruelty & vice versâ, yet the exclusion from the matrimonial home, deft. having offered to receive pltf. back, & the exclusion itself not being an act of cruelty, could not be relied upon as a matrimonial offence which had the effect of reviving the earlier offences.—GOULD v. GOULD (1921), 64 D. L. R. 621; 50 O. L. R. 622.—CAN.

3256 ii. ——.]—In an action of separation & aliment at the instance of a wife against her husband defender was of consent assoilzied & the spouses thereafter resumed cohabitation. The wife subsequently raised a second action of separation & aliment & founded [inter alia] upon the alleged acts of cruelty which had occurred prior to the first action:—Held: while pursuer was entitled to prove them in order to give colour to subsequent acts which might not in themselves be sufficiently gross to amount to cruelty she was not entitled to found another as separate & substantive grounds of separation.—SMEATON v. SMEATON (1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 837; 37 Sc. L. R. 595; 7 S. L. T. 468.—SCOT.

j. —— Violent & harsh treatment.]—Where the husband had been guilty of cruelty, which had been condoned, but within the six months subsequent to the condonation had been guilty of violent & harsh treatment which would not originally of itself constitute a ground for separation, the ct. granted a separation to the wife.—TOWN v. TOWN (1900), 7 B. C. R. 122.—CAN.

3264 i. Conduct short of adultery—Conduct tending to adultery.]—By a separation agreement in 1910 a husband admtted desertion & cruelty & arranged for conveying certain property to his wife to enable her to live apart from him, each of the parties releasing the other from all claims incurred or accrued to the date of said agreement. In this action there was evidence of adultery by the husband in 1905 & of immoral associations by him subsequent to 1910, of which the wife swore she had no notice until recently:—Held: the separation agreement & release therein contained could not now avail the husband, & his wife was granted a decree for dissolution of marriage on the grounds of cruelty, desertion & adultery.—HOLLAND v. HOLLAND, [1919] 2 W. W. R. 966; 48 D. L. R. 26.—CAN.

3264 ii. —— ——.]—When a husband having received reasonably, probable information of his wife's adultery, has, by continuing cohabitation, condoned the offence, subsequent misconduct of the wife tending to, though falling short of, adultery, revives the condoned adultery.—PEREIRA v. PEREIRA & BOUNJOUR (1882), I. L. R. 5 Mad. 118.—IND.

k. ——.]—Admissions of undue familiarity short of adultery are sufficient to revive acts of adultery previously condoned.—HALLIGAN v. HALLIGAN (1910), 30 N. Z. L. R. 366.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3.—D. (h) iv.

3266 i. By cruelty.]—THOMPSON v. THOMPSON (1911), I. L. R. 39 Calc. 395.—IND.

3266 ii. ——.]—Subsequent cruelty revives previous condoned adultery & entitles petitioner to a decree.—KING v. KING (1924), I. L. R. 47 All. 50.—IND.

3266 iii. ——.]—MAY v. MAY (1890), 8 N. Z. L. R. 763.—N.Z.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 3, D. (h) iv., v. vi.; sub-sect. 4, A.] 3267. -.]—DENT v. DENT, No. 3183, ante.

3268. Effect on petition claiming damages only.]—RAMSDEN v. RAMSDEN & LUCK, RAMSDEN v. RAMSDEN (1886), 2 T. L. R. 867.

Annotations:—Consd. Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292. Refd. Stocker v. Stocker, Brice & Patterson, [1917] P. 264.

3269. By adultery.]—B. received back his wife, after adultery by her committed, in May, 1856. In June, 1857, he left England for Australia, to ascertain his prospects in settling, leaving his wife in business in Devonport, close to her own mother. The wife, during his absence, committed adultery with co-resp. & sold off the stock-in-trade. The ct. dissolved the marriage, & condemned co-resp. in the costs.—WILTON v. WILTON & CHAMBERLAIN (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 563; 1 L. T. 243; 8 W. R. 160; 164 E. R. 861.

3270. —— Adultery with different paramour.]—Where a husband has condoned adultery committed with a co-resp., which has been revived by adultery committed by another person, costs will not be given against the co-resp. whose adultery was condoned.—NORRIS v. NORRIS, LAWSON & MASON (1861), 4 Sw. & Tr. 237; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 111; 164 E. R. 1506.

Annotations:—Distd. Pomero v. Pomero (1884), 10 P. D. 174. Consd. Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292.

3271. —— Condoned incestuous adultery.]—A wife knowing that her husband had been guilty of incestuous adultery with her sister, signed an agreement that she would forgive him, & would not take proceedings against him on account of such incestuous adultery, in consideration of his retirement from a then subsisting partnership in business with her father & brother. It was further agreed that they should not live together, but that they should see each other from time to time. The agreement also contained this clause: "The agreement or contract binds me, the wife, only so long as you remain true to me in love & duty." After the date of the agreement the husband was guilty of adultery, but not of incestuous adultery:—Held: this subsequent adultery restored to the wife her right to have the marriage dissolved on the ground of the previous incestuous adultery. Condoned incestuous adultery is revived by subsequent adultery not incestuous.—NEWSOME v. NEWSOME (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 306; 40 L. J. P. & M. 71; 25 L. T. 204; 19 W. R. 1039.

Annotations:—Refd. Collins v. Collins (1882), 9 App. Cas. 209, n.; Blandford v. Blandford (1883), 8 P. D. 19; Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158.

3272. —— Subsequent to condonation.]—By the law of Scotland full condonation of adultery, remission expressly or by implication in full knowledge of the acts forgiven, followed by cohabitation as man & wife, is a remissio injuriæ absolute & unconditional, & affords an absolute bar to any action of divorce founded on the condoned acts of adultery. Nor can condonation of adultery, cohabitation following, be made conditional by any arrangement between the spouses. Although the condoned adultery cannot be founded on, condonation does not extinguish the guilty acts entirely, & they may be proved so far as they tend to throw light upon charges of adultery posterior to the condonation. A wife confessed to several acts of adultery with E. Her husband forgave her & resumed cohabitation on the alleged condition that she should not speak or hold any communication with E. again. Subsequently she met E. by appointment several times under suspicious circumstances; but, admittedly no act of adultery could be proved. The husband sued for a dissolution of the marriage on the ground that the condoned adultery was revived by the wife's subsequent conduct:—Held: to obtain a divorce he must prove adultery subsequent to the condonation & no less.

The doctrine of revival of adultery as a ground on which a divorce has been granted is to be strongly objected to as varying the status of married persons. On principle, a reconciliation being entered into with full knowledge of the guilt & with free & deliberate intention to forgive it where that reconciliation is followed by living together as man & wife, the status of the couple ought to be the same as & not more precarious than if there was a new marriage (LORD BLACKBURN).

Assuming it to be now established English Law that any matrimonial offence though forgiven may be revived by any other matrimonial offence of which the cts. take cognisance, it is very modern law & not so obviously just & expectant that this House ought to infer that it either was or ought to have been introduced into the law of Scotland (LORD BLACKBURN).—COLLINS v. COLLINS (1884), 9 App. Cas. 205; 32 W. R. 501, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Rogers v. Rogers, [1894] P. 161; Moss v. Moss, [1916] P. 155. Refd. Moore v. Moore, [1892] P. 382; Gooch v. Gooch, [1893] P. 99; Braddock v. Braddock (1910), 27 T. L. R. 94; Price v. Price & Brown, [1911] P. 201; Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158.

3273. By attempting to have adulterous intercourse.]—SNOW v. SNOW, No. 3231, ante.

3274. By desertion—For two years without reasonable excuse.]—Desertion for two years without reasonable excuse revives condoned adultery. Where a husband was guilty of incestuous adultery, which was condoned by the wife, & he was afterwards guilty of desertion:—Held: the desertion revived the condoned adultery, & the wife was entitled to a decree dissolving her marriage.

When judgment has been reserved the decree nisi, if pronounced, will not be antedated, but the ct. may allow the time for decree absolute to run from the date of the hearing.—HOUGHTON v. HOUGHTON, [1903] P. 150; 72 L. J. P. 31; 89 L. T. 76; 52 W. R. 272; 19 T. L. R. 505; 47 Sol. Jo. 548.

Annotations:—Folld. Copsey v. Copsey, [1905] P. 94. Apld. Price v. Price & Brown, [1911] P. 201. Refd. Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158.

3275. —— ——.]—Desertion for two years without reasonable excuse revives condoned adultery, whether petitioner be husband or wife.—COPSEY v. COPSEY, [1905] P. 94; 74 L. J. P. 40; 91 L. T. 363; 20 T. L. R. 728.

Annotations:—Apld. Price v. Price & Brown, [1911] P. 201. Refd. Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158.

3276. —— Non-compliance with decree for restitution.]—The matrimonial offence of desertion created by reason of non-compliance with a decree for restitution of conjugal rights revives condoned adultery.—PRICE v. PRICE & BROWN, [1911] P. 201; 80 L. J. P. 145; 105 L. T. 441; 27 T. L. R. 560; 55 Sol. Jo. 689.

Annotation:—Refd. Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158.

3269 i. By adultery.]—Where a husband has condoned adultery committed with one co-resp., which has been revived by adultery committed with another co-resp., a decree nisi will be granted against both co-resps.—YOUD v. YOUD (1900), I. L. R. 28 Calc. —IND.

1. By desertion.]—Condoned adultery is revived by subsequent desertion, & may form the ground for a suit for dissolution of marriage.—HENDERSON v. HENDERSON (1885), 4 N. Z. L. R. 211 (S. C.).—N.Z.

m. ——.]—Held: petitioner was entitled to a decree nisi, the condoned adultery having been revived by the subsequent matrimonial offence of desertion.—STEWART v. STEWART, [1920] N. Z. L. R. 425.—N.Z.

v. Revival of Condoned Cruelty.

By conduct falling short of cruelty.]—See Sub-sect. 3, D. (h) iii., ante.

3277. By cruelty.]—After a reconciliation fresh acts of cruelty will revive acts of cruelty, & also of adultery.—WORSLEY v. WORSLEY (1730), 2 Lee, 572; 161 E. R. 444.

Annotations :—Apld. Durant v. Durant (1825), 1 Hag. Ecc. 733. Refd. Eldred v. Eldred (1840), 2 Curt. 376; Collins v. Collins (1884), 9 App. Cas. 205.

3278. ——.]—A wife is not barred of her right to a separation by reason of cruelty, by cohabitation after the occurrence of the actual cruelty, when the subsequent conduct of the husband has been of the same tenor as during the time when the actual cruelty took place.—FRANKLIN v. FRANKLIN (1842), 7 Jur. 135.

3279. EVANS v. EVANS, No. 3198, ante.

3280. MOSS v. MOSS, No. 3261, ante.

3281. By desertion.]—Cruelty fully condoned is not revived by subsequent desertion. In order to revive condoned cruelty the acts must be ejusdem generis.—HART v. HART (1855), 2 Ecc. & Ad. 193; 164 E. R. 383.

Annotation :—Apld. Palmer v. Palmer (1860), 2 Sw. & Tr. 61.

3282. By adultery.]—PALMER v. PALMER, No. 3172, ante.

3283. Cruelty before judicial separation—Revival by adultery after decree.]—A woman, who has obtained a decree of judicial separation by reason of her husband's adultery, may afterwards institute a suit to dissolve the marriage on the ground of her husband's adultery committed subsequently to the decree for judicial separation, coupled with his cruelty to her during the cohabitation.—GREEN v. GREEN (1873), L. R. 3 P. & D. 121; 43 L. J. P. & M. 6; 29 L. T. 251; 21 W. R. 824.

Annotations :—Apld. Mason v. Mason (1883), 8 P. D. 21; Fullerton v. Fullerton (1922), 39 T. L. R. 46.

vi. Revival of Condoned Desertion.

3284. By adultery.]—BLANDFORD v. BLANDFORD, No. 3175, ante.

3285. —— Statutory desertion.]—Desertion by not complying with a decree for restitution of conjugal rights may, after condonation, be revived by adultery committed by the party who was guilty of the statutory desertion.—PAINE v. PAINE, [1903] P. 263; 73 L. J. P. 1; 89 L. T. 588; 52 W. R. 271; 20 T. L. R. 12.

Annotation :—Refd. Price v. Price & Brown, [1911] P. 201.

SUB-SECT. 4.—DISCRETIONARY BARS.

A. Discretion of Court Generally.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 178 (repealing & re-enacting Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31).

Exercise of discretion in particular instances.]—See Sub-sect. 4, B., C., D., E., post.

3286. Unfettered.]—BULLOCK v. BULLOCK, No. 3476, post.

3287. ——.]—POINTON v. POINTON & SUTTON, No. 3459, post.

3288. —— Uniformity of decisions desirable.]—(1) The discretion to be exercised under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, must be a regulated discretion. The ct. cannot grant or withhold a divorce on the mere footing that petitioner's adultery is more or less pardonable or capable of excuse. There must be some special circumstances attending the commission of such adultery, or special features placing it in some category capable of distinct statement & recognition, in order that the discretion may be fitly exercised in favour of a petitioner.

A loose & unfettered discretion of this sort upon matters of such grave import, is a dangerous weapon to entrust to any ct., still more so to a single judge. Its exercise is likely to be the refuge of vagueness in decision, & the harbour of half-formed thought. Under cover of the word "discretion" a conclusion is apt to be formed upon a general impression of facts too numerous & minute to be perfectly brought together & weighed, & sometimes not perfectly proved; while the result is apt to be coloured with the general prejudices, favourable or otherwise, to the person whose conduct is under review, which the course of the evidence has evoked. Upon such materials so used two minds will hardly ever form a judgment alike, & the same mind will often appear to others to form contradictory judgments on what seem to be similar facts. This invites public criticism, & shakes public confidence in the justice of the tribunal.

I hold, therefore, that the discretion to be exercised under sect. 31 of the statute should be a regulated discretion, & not a free option subordinated to no rules. It was probably reposed in the ct. because the legislature found it impossible to forsee & specify the classes of cases fit for its application which might arise under the new law. The duty of reducing its exercise to method devolves upon the ct. Past experience has already pointed out some classes of cases to which it fitly applied; & the future may probably furnish more. But the facts of this case present no definite features beyond more lapse of time to justify its exercise; & the ct. must refuse a decree (per CUR.).

(2) The wife, resp. in the suit, recriminated adultery, which she charged as having taken place with A. & B. At the trial no evidence was offered in support of the charge with B. The ct. ordered that the costs incurred by petitioner in respect of the charge of adultery with B. should be deducted from the sum paid into ct. to meet resp.'s costs of trial.—MORGAN v. MORGAN & PORTER (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 644; 38 L. J. P. & M. 41; 20 L. T. 588; 17 W. R. 688.

Annotations :—As to (1) Apld. M'Cord v. McCord, Ogle & Coxon (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 237; Grosvenor v. Grosvenor (1885), 34 W. R. 140. Consd. Story v. Story & O'Connor (1887), 57 L. T. 536; Whitworth v. Whitworth & Thomasson, [1893] P. 85; Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167; Constantinidi v. Constantinidi & Lance, [1903] P. 246; Hynes v. Hynes & Lake (1904), 20 T. L. R. 781; Wyke v. Wyke, [1904] P. 149; Evans v. Evans & Elford, [1906] P. 125; Hines v. Hines & Burdett, [1918] P. 364; Wickins v. Wickins, [1918] P. 265; Pullen v. Pullen & Holding (1920), 123 L. T. 203; Tickner v. Tickner, [1924] P. 118. Refd. Noble v. Noble (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 691; Duplany v. Duplany, Cohen intervening (1891), 8 T. L. R. 169; Gooch v. Gooch, [1893] P. 99. As to (2) Consd. Waudby v. Waudby & Bowland, [1902] P. 85.

3289. —— ——.]—Though the discretion is unfettered, uniformity of decision is desirable, & the ct. will therefore exercise its discretion in a case clearly within the principles laid down in Wilson v. Wilson, No. 3448, post, but petitioner, even if a poor person, will be required to pay the costs of an intervention which his conduct has

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 3.—D. (h) v.

3277 i. By cruelty.]—Condonation by a wife of acts of cruelty & ill-treatment by the husband which would justify her leaving him & claiming alimony, is removed by subsequent ill-treatment & threats after condonation.—BAVIN v. BAVIN (1896), 27 O. R. 571.—CAN.

3277 ii. ——.]—Abusive language & threats after the resumption of cohabitation, having regard to earlier acts, constituted legal cruelty & were sufficient to revive the former acts sworn to, which were quite clearly matrimonial offences.—CHERRINGTON v. CHERRINGTON (1915), 32 W. L. R. 9 W. W. R. 146.—CAN.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 4, A. & B. (a)

occasioned.—ELLIOTT v. ELLIOTT & BOWERS (1921), 126 L. T. 28; 37 T. L. R. 834.

3290. —— Strict rules undesirable.]—WOLTERECK v. WOLTERECK & WALTERS, No. 3485, post.

3291. —— ——.]—HOLLAND v. HOLLAND, No. 5124, post.

3292. —— —— Not confined to matters connected with petitioner's offence.]—(1) No general rule can be laid down for the exercise by the judge of the Divorce Div. of the discretion vested in him by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31.

The Ct. of Appeal is not entitled to, & in any case ought not to, lay down a rule that in exercising the discretion under s. 31 the only facts & matters to which the judge may have regard are those bearing upon, or directly connected with, the matrimonial offence of which the party seeking dissolution of marriage may have been guilty. The discretion permitted by s. 1 should be left as free as the legislature has left it. The sect. does not prescribe or define limits within which alone it may be exercised, & having regard to the very varying circumstances of different cases, it would be very inexpedient for the Ct. of Appeal to attempt to do so.

(2) There is no distinction in meaning between the expressions "without reasonable cause" in sect. 5 of the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), & "without reasonable excuse" in sect. 31 of the Act of 1857.

A wife obtained a decree for restitution of conjugal rights. The husband not having complied with the decree, the wife presented a petition for dissolution of marriage on the ground of his adultery & desertion. The husband did not appear & the petition was set down as undefended. He subsequently obtained leave to file an answer, & put in an answer denying his adultery & alleging that petitioner had herself committed adultery & asking the Ct. to reject the prayer of the petition & to decree that his marriage might be dissolved. At the hearing the wife's adultery was proved & her petition was dismissed. The judge found as a fact that the husband had separated from his wife without any justification for doing so. He commented adversely on the conduct of the husband in allowing the petition in the first instance to remain unanswered although he was charged with adultery. The husband gave evidence denying the adultery, & there was no evidence that such adultery had been committed. Having regard to all the facts & circumstances of the case, the judge declined to exercise in favour of the husband the discretion vested in him under sect. 31 of the Act of 1857, & he dismissed the husband's cross-petition. On an appeal by the husband:—Held: the Ct. of Appeal would not interfere with the discretion exercised by the judge.—WICKINS v. WICKINS, [1918] P. 265; 119 L. T. 268; 87 J. P. 155; 34 T. L. R. 447; 62 Sol. Jo. 583, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Hines v. Hines & Burdett, [1918] P. 364; Tickner v. Tickner, [1924] P. 118.

3293. —— Exercised with extreme care.]—The discretion given to the ct. by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), is unfettered, but it should be exercised with extreme care, not only with respect to the parties in the case, but also in the interests of public morality.—BROOKE v. BROOKE, [1912] P. 205, n.; 81 L. J. P. 147, n.; 107 L. T. 202; 28 T. L. R. 577.

Annotations:—Apprvd. Holland v. Holland, [1918] P. 273. Consd. Hines v. Hines & Burdett, [1918] P. 364; Pullen v. Pullen & Holding (1920), 123 L. T. 203.

3294. Judicial discretion.]—PRYOR v. PRYOR, COWIE & MACDONALD, No. 3581, post.

3295. ——.]—CONSTANTINIDI v. CONSTANTINIDI & LANCE, No. 3491, post.

3296. ——.]—The discretion of the ct. under the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, to grant a decree of dissolution to a spouse who has been guilty of a matrimonial offence must be exercised in a judicial manner, & relief will hardly ever be given to those who have themselves been guilty of matrimonial infidelity.

The guiding rule is that the matrimonial offence of one spouse will not excuse the matrimonial offence of the other. Exceptional circumstances alone will lead the ct. to overlook the matrimonial default of petitioner, & this principle does not rest upon any such doctrine as those of compensation or recrimination, known to the former Ecclesiastical Cts. but is based on the requirements of public morality, & will not be enfeebled by an unduly sensitive regard to the hardship of particular cases.—HINES v. HINES & BURDETT, [1918] P. 364; 87 L. J. P. 220; 120 L. T. 126; 34 T. L. R. 480.

Annotations:—Refd. Bebb v. Bebb & Ross (1920), 123 L. T. 93; Hensley v. Hensley & Nevin (1920), 122 L. T. 814; Long v. Long (1920), 36 T. L. R. 398; Pullen v. Pullen & Holding (1920), 123 L. T. 203.

3297. Each case considered on its merits.]—CONSTANTINIDI v. CONSTANTINIDI & LANCE, No. 3491, post.

3298. ——.]—BULLOCK v. BULLOCK, No. 3476, post.

—PRETTY v. PRETTY, No. 3458, post.

3300. .]—WOLTERECK v. WOLTERECK WALTERS, No. 3485, post.

3301. ——.]—HOOK v. HOOK & BROWN, No. 5123, post.

3302. Interests of society & public morality considered.]—EVANS v. EVANS & ELFORD, No. 3455, post.

3303. ——.]—BROOKE v. BROOKE, No. 3293, ante.

3304. ——.]—HINES v. HINES & BURDETT, No. 3296, ante.

3305. ——.]—HOLLAND v. HOLLAND, No. 5124, post.

3306. —— Circumstances mitigating petitioner's offence.]—PULLEN v. PULLEN & HOLDING, No. 3454, post.

3307. Exercised with due regard to consequences of refusal—Present & future.]—PRETTY v. PRETTY, No. 3458, post.

3308. Conduct of petitioner true criterion.]—MUNZER v. MUNZER & SWAIN, No. 3477, post.

3309. When petitioner's default will be overlooked—Exceptional circumstances.]—HINES v. HINES & BURDETT, No. 3296, ante.

3310. —— ——.]—The discretion given to the ct. by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, to grant a decree nisi to a guilty petitioner should be exercised in special circumstances only.—BERLYN v. BERLYN & WATT (1919), 35 T. L. R. 237.

3311. Exercised stringently.]—WILSON v. WILSON, No. 3448, post.

B. Undue Delay.

(a) In General.

3312. Must be explained.]—Delay in instituting proceedings in a matrimonial cause to be accounted for.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (a).

3312 i. Must be explained.]—Whilst on the one hand there is no absolute limitation in the case of a petition for dissolution of marriage, yet the first thing which the ct. looks to when the charge of adultery is preferred is, whether there has been such delay as to lead to the conclusion that petitioner had either connived at the adultery or was wholly indifferent to it; but any Affidavit of the husband admitted to satisfy the ct. as to the reason of his delay in instituting proceedings.—BEST v. BEST (LADY) (1814), 2 Phillim. 161; 161 E. R. 1107.

Annotation :—Refd. Cood (otherwise Coode) v. Cood (otherwise Coode) (1838), 1 Curt. 755.

3313. —— Charge of adultery.]— (1) The first thing which the ct. looks to, when a charge of adultery is preferred, is the date of the charge, relatively to the date of the criminal fact charged, & known by the party; because if the interval be very long between the date & knowledge of the fact, & the exhibition of them to this ct., it will be indisposed to relieve a party, who appears to have slumbered in sufficient comfort over them; & it will be inclined to infer either an insincerity in the complaint, or an acquiescence in the injury, whether real or supposed, or a condonation of it. It therefore demands a full & satisfactory explanation of the delay (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).

(2) It would be a pretty harsh injunction of law to compel a man, whether he would or no, to live with a wife who had acknowledged her infidelity to his bed (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—MORTIMER v. MORTIMER (1820), 2 Hag. Con. 310; 161 E. R. 753.

Annotations :—As to (1) Consd. Boulting v. Boulting (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 329. Generally, Refd. Noverre v. Noverre (1846), 1 Rob. Eccl. 428; Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. 665; Tucker v. Tucker (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 458; Hope v. Hope (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 94; Hunt v. Hunt (1862), 4 De G. F. & J. 221; Williams v. Williams, [1921] P. 131.

3314. Delay on part of wife.]—POPKIN v. POPKIN, No. 2544, ante.

3315. Where separate subsequent offence proved.]—Failure to take action in respect of a separate matrimonial offence, though one of the same kind, is not delay as to the reasonableness of which the ct. has to decide on a petition which also alleges a separate subsequent offence, if the latter is proved, & is one which entitles petitioner to the relief claimed.—RUTTER v. RUTTER (1920), 123 L. T. 585.

(b) In Suits for Dissolution of Marriage.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 178 (3) (a).

Excuses for delay.]—See Sub-sect. 4, B. (f), post.

3316. Nature of delay—Petitioner's insensibility to injury complained of.]—PELLEW v. PELLEW & BERKELEY, No. 3384, post.

3317. —— Must be culpable.]—The word "delay" in Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, means culpable delay, something in the nature of connivance or acquiescence.—RICKARD v. RICKARD & BOND (1921), 37 T. L. R. 511, C. A.

3318. Whether delay unreasonable—Exercise of judge's discretion as to—Not interfered with on appeal.]—Where there has been great delay in instituting proceedings for a divorce, the motive for commencing the suit may be taken into consideration when deciding whether there has been unreasonable delay in presenting the petition within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, & where the judge in the exercise of his discretion under that sect. has refused to grant a divorce on the ground of unreasonable delay, the Ct. of Appeal will not interfere unless he has decided the case on some wrong principle of law.—PEARS v. PEARS (1912), 107 L. T. 505; 28 T. L. R. 568; 56 Sol. Jo. 720, C. A.

3319. —— —— ——.]— On a petition by a husband for divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery the judge at the trial refused a decree for the reason that petitioner had been guilty of three years' delay without any excuse :—Held : in the circumstances it was within the judge's discretion to hold that there had been unreasonable delay, & therefore the appeal must be dismissed.—HUGHES v. HUGHES & WILLIAMS (1915), 32 T. L. R. 62, C. A.

3320. —— Matters considered in ascertaining—Motive in commencing suit.]—PEARS v. PEARS, No. 3318, ante.

3321. What delay unreasonable—More than two years.]—If petitioner, with a full knowledge of the facts of the case, does not present his petition for two years, he must give some sufficient reason for the delay, otherwise his petition may be dismissed under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31.—NICHOLSON v. NICHOLSON (1873), L. R. 3 P. & D. 53; 29 L. T. 108.

Annotations :—Consd. Brougham v. Brougham, [1895] P. 288; Hughes v. Hughes & Williams (1915), 32 T. L. R. 62. Refd. Pears v. Pears (1912), 107 L. T. 26.

3322. —— ——.]—DIXON v. DIXON, No. 3333, post.

3323. —— Three years.]—HUGHES v. HUGHES & WILLIAMS, No. 3319, ante.

3324. —— Thirteen years.]—A husband & wife parted in 1871, & between that date & 1879 the wife had three illegitimate children. There was evidence that the husband knew of the wife's adultery as far back as 1880. In 1893 he presented a petition for dissolution, & obtained a decree nisi. On the intervention of the Queen's Proctor the ct. left the following questions to the jury: Did petitioner know or have reason to believe that his wife had been guilty of adultery two years before, he took action for a divorce? Were material facts withheld from knowledge of the ct.? On these questions being answered in the affirmative, the ct. rescinded the decree, & dismissed the petition with costs to the Queen's Proctor.—BROUGHAM v. BROUGHAM, [1895] P. 288; 64 L. J. P. 125; 11 R. 667.

Annotation :—Refd. Hughes v. Hughes & Williams (1915), 32 T. L. R. 62.

3325. —— Sixteen years.]—PEGG v. PEGG & GOWING (1904), 20 T. L. R. 353.

3326. —— Twenty years.]—In Aug. 1890, a wife presented a petition for a divorce upon the ground of adultery coupled with cruelty. The marriage had taken place in Dec. 1858; the only child of the marriage, a son, was born in 1866, & the parties separated by agreement in 1870. A separation deed was then executed by them, which contained the usual covenant by the husband that he would not molest the wife; & they had lived apart ever since. The wife never took any proceedings before the petition; the cruelty charged took place between 1861 & 1870, & the adultery charged was in 1889. No act of personal violence was alleged, & the cruelty charged against the husband was his conduct in living for many years with successive mistresses, & telling his wife of his infidelities & of his preference of other presumption arising from apparent delay may always be rebutted by an explanation of the circumstances.—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS (1878), I. L. R. 3 Calc. 688.—IND.

---

3312 ii. ——.]—WIREMU TAURUA v. NIHO TAURUA (1900), 18 N. Z. L. R. 754.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (b).

3324 i. What delay unreasonable—Thirteen years.]—In an action of divorce on the ground of adultery, raised by the husband thirteen years after the acts of adultery relied on had come to his knowledge, the ct. dismissed the action, refusing to allow proof of the adultery before answer.—A. B. v. C. D. (1853), 15 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 976; 25 Sc. Jur. 555; 2 Stuart, 600.—SCOT.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 4, B. (b), (c) (d) i.]

women to her. The suit was undefended; & the witnesses gave evidence that the wife's health was delicate, & that the husband's conduct had to his knowledge impaired it. The only explanation given by petitioner of her delay in taking proceedings was in effect that she did not wish to proceed until her son had grown up & she could ascertain his wishes, & the judge held that the husband's conduct did not amount to legal cruelty, & that the wife was not entitled to a divorce.

On appeal:—Held: even assuming legal cruelty to have been proved against the husband, the wife's delay of twenty years in taking proceedings had not been sufficiently explained, & was so unreasonable that the ct., in exercise of its discretion under the Divorce & Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, ought to refuse to decree dissolution of the marriage.—BEAUCLERK v. BEAUCLERK, [1891] P. 189; 60 L. J. P. 20; 64 L. T. 35; 7 T. L. R. 203, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Pears v. Pears (1912), 107 L. T. 26.

3327. —— —— Suit brought for collateral purpose.]—A wife instituted a suit for divorce against her husband on the grounds of desertion & adultery. The desertion was complete & the adultery had been committed seventeen or twenty years before the petition was filed. Petitioner stated that she did not wish to marry again, but had brought the proceedings in order that her husband might be free to marry the woman he was living with:—Held: as the wife had not brought the suit to protect herself or to get relief a vinculo matrimonii, but for a collateral purpose, the undue delay in bringing proceedings should prevent the ct. exercising its discretion in her favour.—PEARS v. PEARS (1912), 107 L. T. 26; 28 T. L. R. 475; 56 Sol. Jo. 596; on appeal, 107 L. T. 505, C. A.

3328. Petition on non-compliance with restitution order—Delay in presenting petition for restitution.]—BEAUCLERK v. BEAUCLERK, No. 3393,

(c) In Suits for Judicial Separation.

Excuses for delay.]—See Sub-sect. 4, B. (f), post.

3329. Undue delay alone—Not absolute bar.]—In a suit for judicial separation, brought by the wife, on the ground of cruelty:—Held: lapse of time, though not an absolute bar, yet taken in connection with other circumstances, e.g. a deed of separation, may show that the application was not made, bonâ fide, for the protection of the wife, but for some collateral purpose; & if the ct. was satisfied of this, the petition ought to be dismissed.—MATTHEWS v. MATTHEWS (1860), 3 Sw. & Tr. 161; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 118; 2 L. T. 472; 6 Jur. N. S. 659; 8 W. R. 591; 164 E. R. 1235.

Annotations:—Distd. Cooke v. Cooke (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 126. Consd. Williams v. Williams (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 178. Apld. Besant v. Wood (1879), 12 Ch. D. 605. Consd. Williams v. Williams, [1921] P. 131. Refd. Green v. Green (1873), L. R. 3 P. & D. 121. Mentd. Mahoney v. M'Carthy (1891), 8 T. L. R. 97.

3330. —— ——.]—SMALLWOOD v. SMALLWOOD, No. 2551, ante.

3331. —— ——.]—COOKE v. COOKE, No. 3173, ante.

3332. —— ——.]—BOULTING v. BOULTING, No. 3075, ante.

3333. —— ——.]—The husband, a domiciled Englishman, contracted a valid marriage in Switzerland with a Swiss woman in 1872, & they thereupon came to England & lived together in lodgings in London. The marriage was never consummated, owing to the persistent refusal of the wife to submit to any marital intercourse. After remaining together for some months, they separated, & the wife returned to her parents in Switzerland. About two years later the husband contracted a bigamous marriage with another woman, & lived with her as his wife, & had children by her. About 1886 the wife, having heard rumours of her husband's bigamy & adultery, came to England to make inquiries, but took no proceedings thereupon, her reason being that she did not then ascertain sufficient details. In 1889 she obtained full knowledge of all the facts, but did not institute proceedings till 1891, when she filed her petition for a divorce, on the grounds of bigamy & adultery:—Held: this was unreasonable delay, & her refusal to allow the marriage to be consummated was misconduct on her part which had directly conduced to the subsequent adultery of her husband, & constituted a discretional bar to her suit for divorce, which was opposed by her husband & refused by the ct. But she was entitled to a judicial separation, inasmuch as neither wilful misconduct conducing to adultery, nor unreasonable delay, constituted any bar, discretional or absolute, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, to a prayer for judicial separation.—DIXON v. DIXON (1892), 67 L. T. 394.

3334. Effect of undue delay—Where deed of separation—Proof of applicant's bona fides necessary.]—MATTHEWS v. MATTHEWS, No. 3329, ante.

3335. —— —— Counterclaim by wife in action to enforce deed—Barred after five years.]—BESANT v. WOOD, No. 2490, ante.

3336. —— Petition on ground of cruelty—Apprehension of further violence.]—SMALLWOOD v. SMALLWOOD, No. 2551, ante.

3337. —— Court may require explanation—To be satisfied of petitioner's sincerity.]—BOULTING v. BOULTING, No. 3075, ante.

(d) In Suits for Nullity.

i. On Ground of Impotence.

Excuses for delay, see Sub-sect. 4, B. (f), post.

3338. General rule.]—(1) In a suit for declaration of nullity of marriage by reason of alleged impotence, the onus of proof is on complainant.

(2) The objection of delay in asking relief may be got over when the proof of impotence is complete; but not otherwise.

To open the door to lax & easy declarations of matrimonial nullity would be a grave public mischief; & it is therefore imperative to proceed only upon strict & thoroughly satisfactory proof (LORD SELBORNE, C.).

In 1863 the marriage took place. In 1868 the wife became aware, according to her own evidence, of the husband's impotency, but she continued co-habitation until 1870, when a deed of separation was executed. In 1871 she became aware of her remedy, & she instituted a suit for declaration of nullity. The medical evidence was not conclusive. Her own evidence & that of the husband were conflicting:—Held: looking at the evidence & considering the delay, she had failed to make out the charge of impotency. As she had separate property, the suit was dismissed with costs.—CUNO v. CUNO (1873), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 300; sub nom. MANSFIELD (FALSELY CALLED CUNO) v. CUNO, 42 L. J. P. & M. 65; 29 L. T. 316, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. M. (FALSELY CALLED C.) v. C. (1872), L. R. 2 P. & D. 414.

Annotation:—Consd. Reynolds (otherwise Wilkins) v. Reynolds (1876), 45 L. J. P. 89.

3339. ·.]—(1) In a suit for nullity of marriage on the ground of impotency, there may be facts & circumstances proved, which so plainly imply on the part of the complaining spouse, a recognition of the existence & validity of the marriage, as to render it most inequitable & contrary to public policy, that he or she should be permitted to go on to challenge it with effect; but the doctrine designated as the "doctrine of want of sincerity" in an action of this kind, has been too much extended in recent English decisions & that doctrine apart from "approbate" & "reprobate" has never been recognised by the law of Scotland.

(2) Delay in raising a suit of nullity on the ground of impotency is a material element in the investigation of a case which upon the facts is doubtful but there is no definite or absolute bar arising from it. The canon law rule of triennial cohabitation has not been recognised in England beyond this point, that where a husband or a wife seeks a decree of nullity on the ground of propter impotentiam, if there is no more evidence than that they have for a period of three years lived together in the same house & with ordinary opportunities of intercourse & it is clearly proved there has been no consummation, then if that is the whole state of the evidence inability on the part of the one or of the other will be presumed. On the other hand the presumption to be drawn from non-consummation after three years' cohabitation is capable of being rebutted. But every case need not be fortified with the presumption; for although no presumption can be raised from the absence of consummation within a less period than three years, yet positive evidence may be given from which the same inference of inability may be drawn. G. & M. were married in 1877. They slept in the same bed for nineteen months, but during only two months & a half of that time did G., the husband, make any attempt to consummate the marriage. He desisted on account, he alleged, of his wife's increasing coldness & repugnance to him. It was admitted that the marriage had never been consummated. In 1879 the parties finally separated, the wife living on her own income with her relations, the husband not giving anything towards her support. In 1882 the wife gave birth to a child of which G. was not the father. G. instituted an action for divorce which M. defended, & she then raised this action of declarator of nullity of marriage on the ground of G.'s impotence. G. denied his impotence. He was personally examined & the medical evidence was that no malformation was apparent from his appearance:—Held: M. was not barred personali exceptione from insisting in this action, & G.'s impotence had been proved.

(3) Where an appeal involves a question of applt.'s status the House will allow it to be proceeded with notwithstanding the bkpcy. of applt. —G. v. M. (1885), 10 App. Cas. 171; 53 L. T. 398; sub nom. GORDON v. MERRICKS, 1 T. L. R. 326, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. L. (otherwise B.) v. B., [1895] P. 274; S. (otherwise G.) v. S., [1907] P. 224; C. (otherwise H.) v. C., [1921] P. 399.

3340. Must be satisfactorily explained.]—A husband having been about eighteen years married, & having constantly cohabited with his wife for several years, instituted a suit for nullity by reason of the incurable malformation of the wife:—Held: (1) time alone will not, but coupled with other facts proving insincerity, will operate as a bar to such a suit; (2) lapse of time must be accounted for; (3) the evidence in the present case did not sufficiently account for lapse of time, but showed partial connection to have taken place between the parties, & the suit was instituted alio intuitu; (4) under the whole circumstances of the case, the husband was not entitled to a decree of nullity.—B——N v. B——N (1854), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 248; 23 L. T. O. S. 99; 164 E. R. 144, P. C.; sub nom. B——N v. M——E (FALSELY CALLING HERSELF B——N), 2 Rob. Eccl. 580.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Anon. (1857), Dea. & Sw. 295. Refd. Matthews v. Matthews (1860), 3 Sw. & Tr. 161; Castleden v. Castleden (1861), 9 H. L. Cas. 186. As to (2) Consd. W. v. R. (1876), 1 P. D. 405. Refd. M. v. D. (1885), 10 P. D. 75. As to (4) Consd. Napier v. Napier (1915), 84 L. J. P. 177. Generally, Refd. Cavell v. Prince (1866), 15 L. T. 83; Scott v. Scott, [1912] P. 241.

3341. ——.]—Where a delay of some years occurs in bringing a suit of this nature the ct. will require an explanation of such delay.

In this case . . . the main fact is proved, but a delay of eleven years before the ct. was applied to requires to be explained (per CUR.).—E—— v. T—— (FALSELY CALLED E——) (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 312; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 37; 12 W. R. 444; 164 E. R. 1295; sub nom. EWENS v. TYTHERLEIGH (FALSELY CALLED EWENS), 9 L. T. 421; 9 Jur. N. S. 1301.

3342. ——.]—LEWIS (FALSELY CALLED HAYWARD) v. HAYWARD, No. 2382, ante.

3343. ——.]—W. (FALSELY CALLED R.) v. R. (1876), No. 3351, post.

3344. Undue delay alone—Not absolute bar.]—B——N v. B——N (1854), No. 3340, ante.

3345. —— ——.]—Delay in instituting a suit for nullity of marriage on the ground of impotence is not an absolute bar to the suit, but renders it necessary that the evidence to support the suit should be of the clearest & most satisfactory kind.

Where, therefore, a woman who had married in 1834, lived with her husband till 1838, then separated from him, in 1853 caused him to be sued for her debts, obtained from him an allowance, which was continued till Oct. 1858, & in Nov. 1858, instituted a suit for nullity of marriage on the ground of incompetence:—Held: she was bound to give unequivocal proof of the truth of the allegation in the petition; & the Lords not being satisfied that the evidence was of that character, the decree of the ct. below, dismissing the petition, was confirmed.—CASTLEDEN v. CASTLEDEN (1861), 9 H. L. Cas. 186; 5 L. T. 164; 11 E. R. 701; sub nom. HALL v. CASTLEDEN, 8 Jur. N. S. 1; sub nom. H—— (FALSELY CALLED C——) v. C——, 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 103, H. L.

Annotations:—Apld. M—— (falsely called B——) v. B—— (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 550. Consd. W. (falsely called R.) v. R. (1876), 1 P. D. 405; M. (otherwise D.) v. D. (1885), 10 P. D. 75. Refd. Cavell v. Prince (1866), L. R. 1 Exch. 246; T. (falsely called D.) v. D. (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 127; G. v. M. (1885), 10 App. Cas. 171. Mentd. Serrell v. Serrell & Bamford (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 55.

3346. —— — ·.]—CUNO v. CUNO, No. 3338, ante.

3347. —— —— .]—M. (OTHERWISE D.) v. D. (1885), No. 3568, post.

3348. —— ——.]—S. v. B. (FALSELY CALLED S.) (1905), No. 2378, ante.

3349. Delay coupled with proof of petitioner's insincerity—Absolute bar.]—B——N v. B——N (1854), No. 3340, ante.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (d) i.

3344 i. Undue delay alone—Not absolute bar.]—Delay in raising a suit of nullity on the ground of impotency is a material element in the investigation of a case which upon the facts is doubtful; but there is no definite or absolute bar arising from it.—G. v. M. (1885), 10 App. Cas. 171; 12 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 36; 22 Sc. L. R. 461, H. L.—SCOT.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 4, B. (d) i. & ii., (e)

3350. —— ——.]—M. married B. in Aug. 1853, & slept in the same bed with him for about two years, when, at his request, she occupied a separate room, but lived in his house till June, 1863, when she left it, & in the early part of the present year petitioned for a decree of nullity, by reason of B.'s impotence. The medical evidence showed her to be a virgin. B. did not submit himself to inspection:—Held: the lapse of time, coupled with indirect motives in bringing the suit (mentioned in the judgment), disentitled petitioner to the relief sought.—M—— (FALSELY CALLED B——) v. B—— (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 550; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 203; 10 L. T. 847; 164 E. R. 1389; sub nom. MARRIOTT (FALSELY CALLED BURGESS) v. BURGESS, 10 Jur. N. S. 885.

Annotations:—Refd. G. v. M. (1885), 10 App. Cas. 174, n.; Scott v. Scott, [1912] P. 241.

3351. — — ——.]—In Aug. 1875, a wife, then aged 47, instituted a suit for a declaration of the nullity of a marriage contracted in May, 1849. There was evidence that petitioner was virgo intacta, & that resp. was incurably impotent. The petition was dismissed, the ct. being of opinion that there was no satisfactory explanation of the delay in taking proceedings, & that the proceedings had been taken partly in consequence of the disagreements & quarrels between petitioner & resp., & not with the single object of obtaining redress for the injury done to petitioner by resp.'s incapacity.—W. (FALSELY CALLED R.) v. R. (1876), 1 P. D. 405; sub nom. REYNOLDS (OTHERWISE WILKINS) v. REYNOLDS, 45 L. J. P. 89; sub nom. R. (FALSELY CALLED W.) v. W., 25 W. R. 25.

Annotation:—Refd. G. v. M. (1885), 10 App. Cas. 171.

3352. —— ——.]—A wife, seven years after her marriage, took proceedings for nullity on the ground that (as the fact was) the marriage had not been consummated owing to the impotence of her husband. It appeared that the impossibility of sexual intercourse had caused unhappy relations between petitioner & resp., in consequence of which they had separated, but that since the filing of the petition she had offered to return to him:—Held: the conduct of petitioner had not been such as to constitute an estoppel by reason of want of sincerity, & she was entitled to a decree of nullity.—L. (OTHERWISE B.) v. B., [1895] P. 274; 64 L. J. P. 121; 11 R. 673.

Annotation:—Refd. C. (otherwise H.) v. C., [1921] P. 399.

3353. — — — — Conduct not amounting to insincerity.]—M. (OTHERWISE D.) v. D. (1885), No. 3568, post.

3354. What is undue delay—Seven years.]—HARRIS (OTHERWISE BALL) v. BALL (1790), cited 3 Phillim. 155; 161 E. R. 1286.

Annotations:—Expld. Ferrers v. Ferrers (1791), 1 Hag. Con. 130. Apld. Norton v. Seton (1820), 3 Phillim. 147. Consd. Miles v. Chilton (1849), 1 Rob. Eccl. 684. Dbtd. B——n v. B——n (1854), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 248. Refd. Briggs v. Morgan (1820), 2 Hag. Con. 324.

3355. —— ——.]—GUEST v. SHIPLEY (FALSELY CALLING HERSELF GUEST), No. 3036, ante.

3356. —— Eleven years.]—E—— v. T—— (FALSELY CALLED E——) (1863), No. 3341, ante.

3357. —— Eight years.]—In a suit by a woman for nullity on the ground of the man's impotence, petitioner's evidence that the marriage had never been consummated was neither corroborated nor contradicted, the medical evidence being consistent both with consummation & non-consummation. It appeared that cohabitation had continued for eight years without complaint on the part of petitioner, & that the separation was caused by resp.'s ill-treatment of her. The ct. found that the charge was not sufficiently proved, & dismissed the petition.

(2) The wife's costs of the hearing of a suit of nullity instituted by her on the ground of the husband's impotence were ordered to be paid by the husband to the extent of the sum for which he had deposited security in the registry, although the petition was dismissed.—T. (FALSELY CALLED D.) v. D. (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 127; 14 L. T. 227; 12 Jur. N. S. 673; sub nom. TAVERNOR (FALSELY CALLED DITCHFIELD) v. DITCHFIELD, 35 L. J. P. & M. 51; 12 Jur. N. S. 344.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. G. v. M. (1885), 10 App. Cas. 174, n.

3358. —— Three years—After knowledge of respondent's impotency.]—CUNO v. CUNO, No. 3338, ante.

3359. Effect of undue delay—Strict proof rendered essential.]—CASTLEDEN v. CASTLEDEN, No. 3345, ante.

3360. — — ——.]—CUNO v. CUNO, No. 3338, ante.

ii. On Ground of Minority.

3361. General rule.]—Lapse of time offered no bar to a suit for nullity of marriage by licence by reason of minority & want of consent of the father.—DUINS v. DONOVAN (OTHERWISE DUINS) (1830), 3 Hag. Ecc. 301; 162 E. R. 1165.

(e) In Suits for Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

Excuses for delay.]—See Sub-sect. 4, B. (f), post.

3362. Whether bar to relief.]—MORDAUNT v. MORDAUNT (1794), 1 Hag. Con. 135, n.; 161 E. R. 502.

3363. ——.]—Delay is no bar to a suit for restitution of conjugal rights.—BEAUCLERK v. BEAUCLERK (1894), 71 L. T. 376; 59 J. P. 8; 6 R. 657; subsequent proceedings, [1895] P. 220.

3364. Twenty-five years' delay—Disorderly conduct after separation.]—DRAPER v. DRAPER, No. 3016, ante.

(f) Excuses for Delay.

i. In General.

3365. May be set out in affidavit.]—BEST v. BEST (LADY), No. 3312, ante.

3366. Few excuses for delay.]—CAMPBELL v. CAMPBELL, No. 4369, post.

ii. Poverty.

3367. General rule.]—A husband who, upon the discovery of his wife's adultery, commences a suit against her for divorce, but abandons such suit through want of funds to carry it on, is not thereby barred from seeking a divorce at a subsequent period.—COOD (OTHERWISE COODE) v. COOD (OTHERWISE COODE) (1838), 1 Curt. 755; 163 E. R. 262.

3368. ——.]—On the termination of an adulterous intercourse an agreement was entered into between the husband & the adulterer, officers in the same regiment, then stationed in India, that n. Ignorance of fact.]—Petitioner did not become aware of resp.'s adultery until shortly before instituting these proceedings:—Held: petitioner was not guilty of any laches.—FRASER v. FRASER, 21 C. L. T. 356.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (f) i.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (f) ii.

3367 i. General rule.]—A delay of several years in instituting a suit will not disentitle petitioner to relief if the delay has arisen through want of means.—MAY v. MAY (1890), 8 N. Z. L. R. 763.—N.Z.

the latter should pay the expenses of the wife's return to England, & should allow her £100 a year, & should exchange into another regiment, the husband undertaking that the adulterer should be put to no expense by any proceedings to be taken for the purpose of obtaining a divorce. The adulterer fulfilled the agreement, with the exception of his promise to exchange into another regiment:—Held: (1) as the agreement was made not with a view to the continuation of the adulterous intercourse, but for the purpose of restoring the wife to her friends, it was no bar to a divorce; (2) the adulterer, as he had not fulfilled his promise, ought to be condemned in costs.

(3) A petitioner is not guilty of "unreasonable delay" in presenting his petition within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, notwithstanding a long period may have elapsed since the adultery, if he is prevented by poverty from taking earlier steps to obtain a divorce.

(4) The ct. will not order a husband, who has obtained a decree of dissolution of marriage, to secure to the wife a gross or annual sum of money under sect. 32 of above Act unless proof of the husband's ability to pay it be given.

The plea of condonation entirely fails as the doctrine on this subject is now settled; for whatever Christian forgiveness petitioner may have been ready to extend to his wife after her fall, it is clear that he never intended nor gave her or any one else reason to believe that he intended to live with her again as his wife (LORD CAMPBELL, C.J.). —RATCLIFF v. RATCLIFF & ANDERSON (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 467; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 171; 33 L. T. O. S. 262; 5 Jur. N. S. 714; 7 W. R. 726; 161 E. R. 816.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Medley v. Medley (1882), 51 L. J. P. 74. Generally, Mentd. Niboyet v. Niboyet (1878), 4 P. D. 1; Regan v. Regan (1892), 67 L. T. 720.

3369. ——.]—PEARSON v. PEARSON, No. 2432, ante.

3370. Four years.]—A husband in 1878 obtained a judicial separation, & £50 damages against the co-resp., but he took no steps to recover the damages. The wife continued to cohabit with the co-resp., & in 1882 the husband petitioned for a dissolution of his marriage. The reason which he gave for the delay & for not enforcing the claim for damages was that he had no money, being only in receipt of weekly wages, & that he hoped his wife would come back & live with him: —Held: the delay was not unreasonable, & petitioner was entitled to a decree.—MASON v. MASON (1883), 8 P. D. 21; 52 L. J. P. 27; 48 L. T. 290; 31 W. R. 361; 2 T. L. R. 266, C. A.

3371. Eight years.]—A lapse of eight years from the discovery of the wife's adultery till the petition for a divorce was presented, sufficiently accounted for by the husband's inability to bear the expenses of a divorce bill.—Re BROOKS' DIVORCE BILL (1847), 1 H. L. Cas. 159; 9 E. R. 714, H. L.

3372. Nine years.]—A lapse of nine years from the admitted discovery, & of nineteen years from the fact, of the wife's adultery, was not a bar to petitioner's right to a divorce a vinculo, he having shown that he was not able, for want of funds, to apply to Parliament sooner.—Re LARDNER'S DIVORCE (1839), 6 Cl. & Fin. 569; 7 E. R. 812, H. L.

3373. ——.]—The husband, in 1881, found a letter in his wife's possession, & taxed her with adultery with a certain man. She admitted it, & he, the husband, left her. He was a journeyman jeweller, & had no means at that time to commence proceedings. He, about 1890, found that she was living with another man as his wife, by whom she had four children. The ct., finding that he was justified in leaving his wife upon her confession of adultery in 1881, & that his explanation of want of means was sufficient to explain the delay in taking proceedings to have his marriage dissolved, granted him a decree nisi.—FAULKES v. FAULKES & STAINTON (1891), 64 L. T. 834.

3374. Ten years.]—Petitioner married her husband in 1876 & lived with him till 1880, when he left her, & went to live with another woman. Upon the advice of resp.'s brother she instituted a suit for judicial separation on the ground of adultery, but abandoned it at his request, & entered into a deed, resp.'s brother allowing her £1 a week. In 1883 he returned to petitioner, & she forgave him, & lived with him for a short time, when he again left her, without notice, & had contributed nothing to the support of herself or their four children. She knew that he went back to the woman he had previously been living with, but, having no means, she was unable to take proceedings till now, when her mother lent her the money to do so: —Held: she had not been guilty of any misconduct disentitling her to a divorce upon the grounds of adultery & desertion.—BINNEY v. BINNEY (1893), 69 L. T. 498.

Annotations: —Refd. Houghton v. Houghton, [1903] P. 150; Copsey v. Copsey & Erney, [1905] P. 94.

3375. Fourteen years—After separation.]—MAXWELL'S DIVORCE BILL, [1911] W. N. 220.

3376. —— Poverty not proved—Petition dismissed.]—A husband discovered his wife in adultery in Sept. 1859, & separated from her, but did not present a petition for the dissolution of his marriage till July, 1873. He was a coal hauler, & admitted that, at the time when the petition was presented, he had stock-in-trade of the value of about £600, & nine horses, besides some cottages which he had purchased through a building society. The ct. refused to accept want of means as a sufficient explanation of the time which he allowed to elapse before taking proceedings, & dismissed the petition on the ground of unreasonable delay.—SHORT v. SHORT & BOLWELL (1874), L. R. 3 P. & D. 193.

Annotation:— Refd. Pears v. Pears (1912), 107 L. T. 26.

3377. Fifteen years.]—MAXWELL'S DIVORCE BILL, [1911] W. N. 220.

3378. Sixteen years.]—A petitioner for a divorce bill held excused for not having brought an action for damages against the adulterer, upon the statement of his witnesses, that they did not find him until three years after the discovery of the adultery, & petitioner was not able to pay the expenses of an action. A lapse of sixteen years from the adultery not made an objection to the application for divorce at the end of that time.—Re MARTIN'S DIVORCE (1847), 1 H. L. Cas. 79; 9 E. R. 681, H. L.

3379. Twenty years.]—The wife finally left her husband in 1844, who had been guilty of cruelty & adultery; no subsequent acts of adultery were proved; till shortly before the petition was filed, the wife had been without the means of proceeding in the Ecclesiastical or this ct.; the husband had led a wandering life, without any regular employment:—Held: the wife had not been guilty of unreasonable delay in presenting her petition.—HARRISON v. HARRISON (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 362; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 44; 10 L. T. 138; 10 Jur. N. S. 371; 12 W. R. 808; 164 E. R. 1315.

3380. ——.]—The ct., in the circumstances,

3379 i. Twenty years.]—Continuous poverty a sufficient excuse for a delay of twenty years in the presenting of a petition for dissolution of marriage by a husband.—SNELLGROVE v. SNELLGROVE 13 N. Z. L. R. 150.—N.Z.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 4, B. (f) ii. & iii., & C. (a) i. & ii.] granted a decree nisi for a dissolution of marriage, though a delay of twenty years had taken place.—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS & DONCASTER, [1900] 17 T. L. R. 38.

iii. Other Excuses.

3381. Illness.]—A husband, immediately after his wife's elopement, brought an action & obtained a verdict for damages against the adulterer, & also proceeded against the wife in the Ecclesiastical Ct. & obtained a divorce there, but did not for five years from the elopement apply for a divorce in Parliament:—Held: the delay was sufficiently accounted for by the absence of the wife in America, & by the inability of the husband, in consequence of his affliction, to attend to any business.—Re HEAVISIDE'S DIVORCE BILL (1845), 12 Cl. & Fin. 333; 8 E. R. 1435, H. L.

3382. Absence of respondent abroad.]—Re HEAVISIDE'S DIVORCE BILL, No. 3381, ante.

3383. Ignorance of co-respondent's whereabouts.]—Re MARTIN'S DIVORCE, No. 3378, ante.

3384. ——.]—F. married in 1851. In 1853 he took the command of the squadron in China, but returned to Europe in the summer of 1854. In Oct. his wife eloped with B. from Paris, with whom she had continued to live near Brussels. F. obtained a sentence of divorce a mensâ et thoro, & steps were also taken to obtain a divorce bill, but discontinued, in consequence of F. being unable to bring an action for crim. con. against B. who remained abroad. F. now petitioned for a dissolution of the marriage:—Held: there had been no such "unreasonable delay" in presenting the petition, as to raise a case for the discretion of the ct. under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31.

"Unreasonable delay" is delay from which it would appear that petitioner is insensible to the injury of which he complains.—PELLEW v. PELLEW & BERKELEY (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 553; 29 L. J. P. & M. 44; 2 L. T. 89; 164 E. R. 856.

3385. Ignorance of husband respondent's whereabouts.]—HARRISON v. HARRISON, No. 3379, ante.

3386. Mistake of law—Belief that foreign decree good in England—Opinions of counsel.]—B., a domiciled Englishman, intermarried with C., a Scotchwoman, at Gretna Green & at St. George's, Hanover Square, in Aug. 1837. B. & C. cohabited together in Wales, England & Scotland, but principally in the latter, till March, 1841, soon after which date C. eloped with P., whereupon B. obtained a sentence of divorce in the Ct. of Session in Scotland, on July 3, 1841. On July 26, 1841, C. intermarried with P. at Glasgow, & lived with him till his death in June, 1855. B. supposed the sentence of the Scotch ct. to be of universal operation, & that supposition was confirmed by opinion of counsel in 1846. In 1854 he obtained the opinions of two counsel, which were against the validity of the Scotch sentence in England; in consequence of which he presented a petition for leave to bring into the House of Lords a Bill, declaring his marriage with C. absolutely void since July 3, 1841, which petition was rejected. In 1858 B. petitioned the ct. for dissolution of marriage by reason of C.'s adultery in Apr. 1841, & at other times:—Held: there was no such lapse of time as to constitute unreasonable delay under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31.—TOLLEMACHE v. TOLLEMACHE (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 557; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 113; 2 L. T. 87; 23 J. P. 679; 164 E. R. 858.

Annotations:—Consd. Rickard v. Rickard & Bond (1921), 37 T. L. R. 511. Mentd. Le Sueur v. Le Sueur (1876), 1 P. D. 139; Niboyet v. Niboyet (1878), 4 P. D. 1; Green v. Green, [1893] P. 89; Le Mesurier v. Le Mesurier, [1895] A. C. 517.

3387. Belief that own adultery an absolute bar.]—POINTON v. POINTON & SUTTON, No. 3459, post.

3388. Ignorance of right to remedy.]—The parties were married in 1887, & the wife refused to consummate the marriage. The husband, three months afterwards, in the honest belief & being so advised that he could not obtain relief from the ct. as the marriage had taken place so recently, executed a separation deed. In 1905 he consulted other solrs. & filed a petition for nullity of marriage. Upon evidence, the ct. pronounced a decree nisi.—M. v. M. (OTHERWISE H.) (1906), 22 T. L. R. 719.

Annotation:—Mentd. Dickinson v. Dickinson (otherwise Phillips) (1913), 109 L. T. 408.

3389. Deference to parent's wishes.]—A wife separated from her husband in 1850, in consequence of his incestuous adultery with her sister; & in 1868 she presented a petition for a dissolution of marriage on the ground of that adultery. Her explanation of the delay which had occurred in presenting the petition was, that her mother was very anxious to avoid a public exposure of the scandal, & she yielded to her mother's urgent entreaties, & forbore to take proceedings until her mother's death:—Held: petitioner had been guilty of unreasonable delay, but not of such a character as to deprive her of her right to a decree.—NEWMAN v. NEWMAN (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 57; 39 L. J. P. & M. 36; 22 L. T. 552; 18 W. R. 584.

Annotation:—Mentd. Parry v. Parry, [1896] P. 37.

3390. ——.]—MAXWELL'S DIVORCE BILL, [1911] W. N. 220.

3391. Hope of wife's return.]—MASON v. MASON, No. 3370, ante.

3392. ——.]—Petitioner knew of his wife's adultery & the birth of an illegitimate child in Jan. 1914, & though his wife continued to live in adultery he delayed taking proceedings until July, 1917, as the idea of a divorce was against his religious scruples & as he had hopes until then that resp. would give up co-resp. The judge at the trial dismissed the petition on the ground of unreasonable delay in presenting it:—Held: there has been unreasonable delay & the judge had properly exercised his discretion under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31.—COPPINGER v. COPPINGER & LUTWYCHE (1918), 34 T. L. R. 588, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Rickard v. Rickard & Bond (1921), 37 T. L. R. 511.

3393. Separation deed—Preventing petitioner from charging respondent with desertion—Until

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 4.—B. (f) iii.

3389 i. Deference to parent's wishes.]—Resp. deserted her husband, petitioner, in 1885. In 1887 petitioner presented a petition for divorce in Melbourne, but withdrew it on the representations of resp., so that it might not cause pain & annoyance to her mother. In 1903 resp. came to New Zealand & claimed to be his wife. Petitioner then presented another petition for divorce on the ground of desertion:—Held: petitioner's right to a divorce was not barred by the delay which had taken place, in the circumstances, nor by his own adultery, this not having induced or contributed to the misconduct of resp.—DUFF v. DUFF (1904), 23 N. Z. L. R. 674.—N.Z.

o. Absence of petitioner abroad.]—Held: a husband who whilst resident in Australia had been cognisant of his wife's adultery at home for 10 years before raising an action of divorce was not barred by mora since the adultery was continued till close on his return immediately after which the action was raised.

Mora as a bar to an action of divorce after order for restitution.]—In a petition by a wife for the dissolution of her marriage, it appeared that her husband & she were married in 1858 but had lived voluntarily apart under a separation deed since 1870. In 1890 she had petitioned for a divorce on the ground of adultery coupled with cruelty but her petition had been dismissed on the ground of unreasonable delay. She afterwards wrote to her husband proposing that they should live together, & upon his refusal, sued in 1894 for restitution of conjugal rights. Her husband did not plead the deed of separation & she obtained a decree. Her husband did not comply with the decree, & had been guilty of adultery. The wife now claimed a divorce on the ground of adultery coupled with desertion under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 5, it would have been impossible for her to prove a desertion before the refusal of her husband to resume cohabitation:—Held: as there was nothing to show when the husband became unable or unwilling to use the deed of separation as an answer to the suit for restitution of conjugal rights it was impossible to say that such suit was practicable before it was in fact instituted, & the ct. was therefore justified in holding that there had been no unreasonable delay, & in granting a decree nisi for the dissolution of the marriage.—BEAUCLERK v. BEAUCLERK, [1895] P. 220; 64 L. J. P. 102; 43 W. R. 655; 11 T. L. R. 379; 11 R. 654.

3394. Suit to free respondent to re-marry.]—Petitioner is of course entitled to his own opinions as to the morality & the legality of the decrees of this ct. but if he allows those opinions to render him indifferent to seeking for relief then he falls within what the law calls "undue delay." He says that in his opinion & belief a decree for divorce is useless to free either himself or his wife & yet he admits that the real inducement he had to file his petition was the fact that his wife had given birth to an illegitimate child. The real reason for this suit was that the wife might be released & put in a position to marry the co-resp. That is no excuse for "undue delay" (JEUNE, P.).—PUGHE v. PUGHE & OWEN (1897), 13 T. L. R. 465.

3395. Hope or expectation of respondent's death—Respondent becoming insane after adultery.]—The hope or expectation operating in the mind of a husband, that he may be released from the matrimonial tie by the death of his wife, who, after committing adultery, has become insane, may be accepted as a valid excuse & explanation of what would otherwise be "unreasonable delay" in taking proceedings for the dissolution of the marriage.—JOHNSON v. JOHNSON, [1901] P. 193; 70 L. J. P. 44; 84 L. T. 725.

Annotation:—Consd. Rickard v. Rickard & Bond (1921), 37 T. L. R. 511.

3396. Religious objections.]—COPPINGER v. COPPINGER & LUTWYCHE, No. 3392, ante.

must be such as to infer a remissio injuriæ.—HELLON v. HELLON (1873), 11 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 290; 45 Sc. Jur. 192.—SCOT.

p. Uncertainty as to respondent's adul-.]—BAKER v. BAKER, 21 C. L. T. .—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 4.—C. (a) i.

3397 i. How exercised—General rule.]—On an appeal by a husband from the dismissal of a petition for divorce:—Held: the evidence warranted the trial judge in finding that petitioner by his wrongful treatment of his wife which culminated in driving her from her home, or at least justified her in leaving it, had conduced to her infidelity, & that, therefore, the refusal of the divorce had been a proper exercise of discretion.—TORGERSON v. TORGERSON, [1924] 3 W. W. R. 451; 4 D. L. R. 850.—CAN.

3397 ii. ——.] In a suit for dissolution of marriage the question whether petitioner's conduct has conduced or contributed to resp.'s misconduct is for the ct.; & the ct. can, where it is of opinion that petitioner's conduct has induced or contributed to the wrong complained of, dismiss the petition notwithstanding a finding by a jury to the contrary.—OWEN v. OWEN & PATIRA (1911), 31 N. Z. L. R. 93.—N.Z.

C. Conduct conducing to Adultery.

(a) In Suits for Dissolution of Marriage.

i. Discretion of Court.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 178 (3) (d); & Sect. 7, sub-sect. 4, A., ante.

3397. How exercised—General rule.]—As between the parties, two limitations have been fixed by authority on the exercise of the discretion given by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, namely, that the ct. cannot give relief to a petitioner whose misconduct has conduced to the adultery of resp., or to a resp. whose misconduct has conduced to the adultery of petitioner. Within those limits & so far as the public interest is concerned the application of a well-known principle like that laid down in Constantinidi v. Constantinidi, No. 3491, post, namely, that the ct. should endeavour to promote virtue & morality, & to discourage vice & immorality, is more consistent with the statutory provision creating the discretion of the ct. than the determination of cases upon any classification laid down in advance.—TICKNER v. TICKNER, [1924] P. 118; 93 L. J. P. 39; 131 L. T. 159; 40 T. L. R. 367; 22 L. G. R. 692.

3398. —— On terms—Papers sent to King's Proctor.]—STEVENS v. STEVENS & FIELD, No. 3426, post.

3399. —— —— Maintenance of wife.]—LANDER v. LANDER, No. 5427, post.

3400. —— —— ——.]—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS & FRANCIS, No. 3412, post.

3401. ·.]—PARRY v. PARRY, No. 3433, post.

3402. —— Where petitioner not charged with wilful misconduct or neglect.]—If it appears to the ct., as the result of the evidence, that a petitioner has been guilty of such wilful neglect & misconduct as has conduced to the adultery, the ct., taking cognisance of it, may dismiss the petition, although no charge of such neglect or misconduct has been pleaded. Tacit acquiescence may amount to such neglect or misconduct.

Where, in a petition for divorce by the husband on the ground of his wife's adultery, it appeared that he had taken no steps beyond mere verbal remonstrances to terminate a course of conduct on the part of his wife & co-resp. which, if it did not bring about actual adultery at the time, eventually resulted in it:—Held: petitioner was not entitled to relief, & the petition should be dismissed.—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON & DEARDEN, [1903] P. 155; 72 L. J. P. 63; 89 L. T. 74.

ii. "Wilful Neglect or Misconduct."

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 178 (3) (d).

Where the parties have separated, see Sub-sect. 4, C. (a) iii., post.

3403. Failure to give wife security & comfort

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 4.—C. (a) ii.

3403 i. Failure to give wife security & comfort—Of home & society.]—A husband by throwing his wife aside & by wilful neglect of her, & by refusal to continue to act the part of a husband to her, & notwithstanding that she had ample money for her necessities:—Held: to have forfeited his right, in the discretion of the ct., to a divorce on the ground of her subsequent adultery.—KESLERING v. KESLERING & A.-G. FOR SASKATCHEWAN, [1921] 2 W. W. R. 967; 14 Sask. L. R. 367.—CAN.

3403 ii. ——.]—Where a husband has wilfully separated himself from his wife without reasonable excuse, &

Sccl. 7.—& iii.] to relief: Sub-sccl. 4, C. (a) ii.

Of home & society.]—(1) It is not however to be considered as a matter perfectly light in the behaviour of a complaining husband, that he has withdrawn himself without cause, & without consent, from the discharge of duties that belong to the very institution of marriage. . . . A husband is expected by the law to pay a due attention to the behaviour of his wife & to give her the benefit of some superintendence, where she is placed in dangerous situations (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).

(2) A third plea of defence offered, but with less effect, is, that his treatment of his wife was, as it really appears to have been, marked with unkindness & disaffection. I say with less effect, because if the course of unkindness was such as the law would notice, the remedy is not that to which she has unhappily resorted, but an application to this ct. for the protection of a separation by reason of cruelty: & if the ill treatment is not of that gross kind, against which the law would relieve in this form, still she is not to find her remedy in the contamination of her own mind & person, but in the purity of her own conduct, & in a dignified submission to an undeserved, affliction. At the same time, though such a plea has no absolute effect, it has a very proper relative effect where infidelity, on the part of the husband, is likewise charged; because it adds greatly to the probability that such a charge is well founded, if it appears that his affections were visibly estranged from his wife, & therefore more likely to be diverted to other less worthy objects (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—FORSTER v. FORSTER (1790), 1 Hag. Con. 144; 161 E. R. 504.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Synge v. Synge, [1900] P. 180. Consd. Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner, [1905] P. 233. Refd. Chettle v. Chettle (1821), 3 Phillim. 507; Wily v. Wily, [1918] P. 1; Jackson v. Jackson, [1924] P. 19. As to (2) Consd. Eldred v. Eldred (1840), 2 Curt. 376. Refd. Cocksedge v. Cocksedge (1844), 3 Notes of Cases, 218. Generally, Refd. Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. App. II., 679; Sopwith v. Sopwith (1860), 2 Sw. & Tr. 160; Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298; Pullen v. Pullen & Holding (1920), 123 L. T. 203.

3404. ——— ———.]—The husband is bound to give the wife the security & comfort of his home & society so far as his position & business will admit, & if the ct. is satisfied that the husband has failed in this duty it will, in the exercise of its discretion, refuse to dissolve the marriage by reason of the wife's adultery.—JEFFREYS v. JEFFREYS & SMITH (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 493; 4 New Rep. 73; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 84; 10 L. T. 309; 10 Jur. N. S. 572; 12 W. R. 809; 164 E. R. 1366.

3405. ——— Belief in private means of wife Petitioner entrapped into marriage.]—Petitioner, an officer of marines, when only twenty years of age, in Dec. 1883, married resp., relying upon statements made by her as to her having been previously entrapped into a ceremony of marriage with a man whom she afterwards found had a wife then living. Petitioner, soon after his marriage, found that his wife's statements as to the alleged bigamous marriage were false, & that she had, in fact, been guilty of pre-marital incontinence, & was in an advanced stage of pregnancy. Still believing, however, that her former statements, as to her being possessed of private means, were true, petitioner told her to go to her friends, & he never contributed to her support, & did not see her again for about seven years, being most of that time on service. During that time resp. committed adultery:—Held: petitioner's conduct did not disentitle him to relief.—KENNEDY v. KENNEDY & SCHURCH (1890), 62 L. T. 705.

3406. Breach of marital duty.]—CUNNINGTON v. CUNNINGTON & NOBLE, No. 3423, post.

3407. Conducing to respondent's first fall from virtue.]—The wilful neglect or misconduct which deprives a petitioner of his right to a decree under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, is wilful neglect or misconduct which has conduced to resp.'s first fall from virtue. Conduct which would have amounted to wilful neglect & misconduct within the sect., if committed prior to resp.'s first act of adultery, but not amounting to connivance, will not deprive petitioner of his right to a decree when not committed until after an adulterous intercourse has been established between resp. & co-resp.—ST. PAUL v. ST. PAUL & FARQUHAR (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 739; 38 L. J. P. & M. 57; 21 L. T. 108; 17 W. R. 1111.

Annotations:—Folld. Millard v. Millard & Bastone (1898), 78 L. T. 471. Refd. Cox v. Cox (1893), 70 L. T. 200.

3408. ———.]—Where a wife has committed several acts of adultery with a co-resp., & the husband has been guilty of conduct conducing to some of these acts, the husband will not lose his right to a divorce if the first of these acts occurred prior to any such conduct.—MILLARD v. MILLARD & BASTONE (1898), 78 L. T. 471.

3409. Deliberate inducement to adultery.]—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY, No. 3063, ante.

3410. Cruelty.]—PEARMAN v. PEARMAN & BURGESS, No. 3579, post.

3411. ———.]—BADHAM v. BADHAM & GORST, No. 3592, post.

3412. ———.]—Upon a petition by a husband for divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery, in which resp. countercharged cruelty & adultery, the jury found that resp. & co-resp. had committed adultery; that petitioner had not committed adultery, but that he had been guilty of cruelty towards his wife. There was no finding as to whether petitioner's cruelty had conduced to resp.'s adultery.

The ct., being of opinion that the adultery of resp. with co-resp. was not brought about by petitioner's cruelty, exercised its discretion under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, by pronouncing a decree nisi, at the same time directing that the decree should not be made absolute unless petitioner secured to his wife by deed, an allowance of £36 a year for her maintenance.

The ct. further ordered that the deed should contain a clause, providing that the allowance to the wife should only be payable so long as she should remain chaste & unmarried.—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS & FRANCIS, [1894] P. 33; 63 L. J. P. 62; 70 L. T. 39.

Annotations:—Refd. Parry v. Parry, [1896] P. 37; Tannam v. Tannam, Beeson & Ballard (1897), 13 T. L. R. 453; Pryor v. Pryor, Cowie & Macdonald, [1900] P. 157; Squire v. Squire & O'Callaghan (1904), 21 T. L. R. 41.

3413. ———.]—PRYOR v. PRYOR, COWIE & MACDONALD, No. 3581, post.

3414. Disregard of dangerous intimacy—Between wife & co-respondent.]—DERING v. DERING & BLAKELEY, No. 5146, post.

has wilfully neglected her, such conduct may conduce to adultery by the wife & is a bar to the husband's right to divorce on the grounds of adultery.—S. v. S., [1922] 3 W. W. R. 462; 69 D. L. R. 311.—CAN.

3406 i. Breach of marital duty.]—Divorce refused a husband on the ground of neglect.—G. v. G. & M., [1922] 1 W. W. R. 463; 69 D. L. R. 770.—CAN.

3406 ii. ———.]—If a husband has wilfully neglected or ill-treated his wife & refused to act towards her as a husband should, he may be held to have forfeited his right to a divorce on the ground of her subsequent adultery.—L. v. L. & K. (1922), 62 D. L. R. 581; [1922] 1 W. W. R. 224.—CAN.

q. Husband's conduct—Remotely conducing to wife's adultery—No bar.]

3415. Mere verbal remonstrances.]—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON & DEARDEN, No. 3402, ante.

3416. Permitting co-respondent to pay frequent visits—Permitting wife to receive allowance from co-respondent—Receiving provisions from co-respondent.]—BROWN v. BROWN & ROBEY, No. 3080, ante.

3417. Flirtation by husband—Despite respondent's remonstrances.]—A husband petitioned for a divorce upon the ground of his wife's adultery. The wife, in her answer, denied the adultery, pleaded condonation, & alleged as follows: "That in & since the year 1887 petitioner had paid marked attention to an unmarried lady with whom petitioner & resp. were acquainted, & when resp. has remonstrated with him he has told her that he would not & could not give up his intimacy with the said lady, & he has invited the said lady to his house, & corresponded with her notwithstanding resp.'s repeated objections & remonstrances, & has made her presents, & that he has absented himself from resp.'s society in order to enjoy the society of the said lady, & has frequently told resp. that he has been fascinated by the said lady, & that he would have run away with her if she had consented; that in & since the year 1890, petitioner has paid marked attention to another lady, & has refused to give up his intimacy with her, notwithstanding resp.'s objections & remonstrances, & that he has been guilty of acts of undue familiarity with the said lady"; & that petitioner, by such wilful neglect & misconduct, had conduced to the adultery (if any) of resp. The following particulars were subsequently filed in respect of the statements: "The name of the unmarried lady was A., & the flirtation extended from the year 1887 to the filing of the petition. The name of the unmarried lady was B., & the flirtation extended from Nov. 12, 1892, to the filing of the petition; & the act of familiarity spoken of, petitioner putting his arm round her waist, & she sitting on his knee at . . . in the month of Dec. 1892, & his arm round her waist on Jan. 2":—Held: if the facts alleged were proved, it was not impossible that the judge might come to the conclusion that the husband had by his neglect conduced to the wife's adultery, & therefore the ct. would not order them to be struck out.—COX v. COX (1893), 70 L. T. 200, C. A.

3418. Tacit acquiescence.]—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON & DEARDEN, No. 3402, ante.

3419. Acquiescence in adultery—Intercourse after knowledge of guilt.]—HARE v. HARE & DAVIDSON (1920), 36 T. L. R. 331.

3420. Actively aiding respondent in obtaining foreign divorce decree—Adultery subsequent to decree.]—LANKESTER v. LANKESTER & COOPER, No. 3069, ante.

Adultery brought about by petitioner's agent.]—See Sub-sect. 3, B. (b) v., ante.

iii. Where the Parties are Separated.

Wilful neglect or misconduct generally, see Sub-sect. 4, C. (a) ii., ante.

3421. Small allowance to wife—Acquiescence in late hours.] A. shortly after his marriage was, with his wife, residing in the house of his mother. The wife, in consequence of some disagreement with her mother-in-law, insisted on leaving the house, & on her husband declining to do so, she, with his consent, left & took lodgings elsewhere, where she remained three months. During this time her husband continued to reside apart from her, allowing her a small sum weekly for her maintenance, & visiting her occasionally, but only passed the night with her three times. On calling at her lodgings he frequently found her absent as late as eleven & twelve o'clock at night, she having no occupation which necessitated her absence, but he made no inquiries as to the mode in which she spent her time, nor remonstrated with her on her absence from home. The wife having committed adultery whilst living apart from her husband, the ct., under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, refused to dissolve the marriage at the suit of the husband, although his case was proved, on the ground that he had been guilty of wilful neglect, which had conduced to the adultery.—GROVES v. GROVES & TOMPSON (1859), 28 L. J. P. & M. 108.

3422. —— Separation by consent—Discovery of adultery after sixteen years.]—Petitioner & resp. separated by mutual consent shortly after the marriage, & only met once afterwards. Petitioner allowed her a small sum for her support, & sixteen years after the marriage discovered that she had committed adultery:—Held: in the circumstances, petitioner had conduced to the adultery. Petition dismissed.—HAWKINS v. HAWKINS (1885), 10 P. D. 177; 54 L. J. P. 94; 34 W. R. 47.

3423. Failure to support wife—Husband in prison.]—The "wilful misconduct" intended by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, which, in a suit for dissolution of marriage, gives the ct. an option as to dissolving the marriage, although the case of petitioner may have been proved, if he has been guilty of "such wilful neglect or misconduct as has conduced to the adultery," is misconduct amounting to a breach of marital duty.

A., being a clerk in the Post Office, married in Sept. 1849; in Nov. 1850, he was apprehended & convicted of feloniously opening a letter, etc., & imprisoned. The wife was maintained by her relations but an affectionate correspondence subsisted between herself & A. In 1853 she, however, formed a connection with co-resp., & a child was born in Mar. 1854, of which she did not inform her husband till Mar. 1855. He was soon after liberated, & upon the passing of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), brought the present suit for dissolution of the marriage:—Held: although the adultery would in all probability never have taken place but for the absence of the husband it was not, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, such wilful neglect or misconduct as had conduced to the adultery so as to raise a case for the discretion of the ct.; such neglect or misconduct to come within the meaning of the sect. must be neglect of or misconduct towards the other spouse on the part of petitioner.—

—On a husband's petition for divorce on the ground of adultery evidence was given to show that the husband's conduct early in his married life was the cause of his wife's falling into drunken habits, & that this conduct induced the wrong complained of in the petition:—Held: the husband's conduct only remotely induced or contributed to the wife's adultery & a decree should not be refused.—TRINDER v. TRINDER (1914), 34 N. Z. L. R. 78.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 4.—C. (a) iii.

r. Failure to support wife—Wife's drunken habits.]—Where a husband separates from his wife on account of her intemperance, but makes no provision for her, thereby leaving her without any means of support, he is not entitled to a divorce on the ground of adultery committed by her after the separation.—FORREST v. FORREST & MORTON (1901), 8 B. C. R. 19.—CAN.

s. Petitioner's misconduct must induce the conduct complained of—For court to refuse discretion.]—HALL v. HALL (1902), 21 N. Z. L. R. 231.—N.Z.

t. Refusal to cohabit — Conducing

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 4, C. (a) iii., iv.

CUNNINGTON v. CUNNINGTON & NOBLE (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 475; 28 L. J. P. & M. 101; 34 L. T. O. S. 45; 8 W. R. 3: 164 E. R. 820.

Annotation:—Expld. Cox v. Cox (1893), 70 L. T. 200.

3424. —— Minor—Refusal of funds by guardian.]—A ward in Chancery who had no means of his own, at the age of sixteen, married clandestinely a prostitute of about the age of thirty-five. By an order of the Master of the Rolls made a month after the marriage, it was ordered that the husband should be delivered into the custody of his guardian, with liberty for the guardian to send him abroad, & that the wife should be restrained from holding any communication with him. In pursuance of this order, he was sent abroad against his will. The wife being left without means of support, she applied to her husband's guardian for money, but it was refused. For some months after the marriage she conducted herself properly, & then relapsed into her former course of life. In a suit by the husband for dissolution of marriage:—Held: as the separation was, on the husband's part, involuntary, & he had no means wherewith to contribute to his wife's support, he had not wilfully separated himself from her nor been guilty of such neglect or misconduct as had conduced to the adultery so as to give the ct. a discretionary power, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, to refuse to dissolve the marriage.—BEAVAN v. BEAVAN (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 652; 1 New Rep. 70; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 36; 7 L. T. 435; 8 Jur. N. S. 1110: 11 W. R. 155; 164 E. R. 1151.

Annotations:—Mentd. Martin v. Martin, [1919] P. 283; Rutter v. Rutter, [1921] P. 136.

3425. —— Wife's drunken habits—No inquiries for eight years.]—(1) A decree of dissolution of marriage refused to a husband whose wife had been guilty of adultery, where, after living with her for eleven years, he had broken up the home in order to get rid of her because of her drunken habits, & had made no inquiries about her for eight years, when he discovered she had been cohabiting with another man during the interval, & five years after that he had filed his petition.

(2) By rule 62 of the Rules in Divorce & Matrimonial Causes, an application for the rehearing of a cause should be made to a Div. Ct.—HEYES v. HEYES & MASON (1887), 13 P. D. 11; 57 L. J. P. 22; 57 L. T. 815; 51 J. P. 775; affd. (1888), 36 W. R. 527, D. C.

3426. —— Husband abroad at work.]—Petitioner, who was a carpenter, went to New Zealand in 1875, with the object of improving his position. He asked his wife to accompany him, but she refused, & she & the two children of the marriage remained in England. On his arrival in New Zealand petitioner wrote to his wife asking her to go out to him & to take the children with her, & he offered to nominate her for a free passage. She again refused to go. Petitioner remained some years in New Zealand, earning during that period from £1 to £3 per week. He never sent any money whatever to his wife, nor contributed in any way to her support or that of the two children. In 1884, hearing that his wife was misconducting herself, he returned to England & subsequently instituted these proceedings. The ct. granted a decree nisi, but directed that the papers relating to the case should be sent to the Queen's Proctor, for the latter to make further inquiries & to take further proceedings if he should see fit.—STEVENS v. STEVENS & FIELD (1889), 61 L. T. 844.

3427. —— Separation through wife's debts.]—The husband & wife were married in 1876. The husband was employed on a railway, &, subsequently, as the driver of a locomotive engine at some lime works. His wages were about 24*s.* a week. Early in the year 1878 they separated, the wife going into domestic service. She shortly afterwards made the acquaintance of co-resp., &, later in the same year, went to live with him, & committed adultery with him. There was no suggestion of misconduct prior to the separation, save that she was a slatternly & thriftless woman, & ran her husband into debt. He made no inquiries as to his wife's mode of life after they separated, nor contributed in any way to her support:—Held: the fact of a woman running her husband into debt does not justify him in caring nothing as to her future; & the husband had been guilty of such misconduct as, in the discretion of the ct., barred him from relief.—STARBUCK v. STARBUCK & OLIVER (1889), 59 L. J. P. 20; 61 L. T. 876.

3428. Refusal to cohabit—Conviction of wife for criminal offence.]—WILLIAMSON v. WILLIAMSON, No. 3006, ante.

3429. Separation consequent upon medical advice—Payment of allowance made conditional on communications through solicitors.]—LANDER v. LANDER, [1891] P. 161; 60 L. J. P. 65; 64 L. T. 120; 55 J. P. 152; 39 W. R. 416.

Annotations:—Consd. Wood v. Wood (1891), 64 L. T. 586; Squire v. Squire, [1905] P. 4; Ollier v. Ollier, [1914] P. 240. Refd. Kettlewell v. Kettlewell, [1898] P. 138; Woodcock v. Woodcock & Codesido (1914), 111 L. T. 924.

iv. Where the Wife is known to be frail.

3430. Facile forgiveness—Of previous adultery.]—Adultery forgiven is no ground of separation, condonation bars sentence; but not necessarily where there is subsequent adultery, though it will induce the ct. to look with particular jealousy into the case; for if the adultery is forgiven with such extreme facility as to show no sense of injury, & no case is taken to prevent it from happening again, then the husband has no ground of complaint, for he has encouraged the adultery by his conduct (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—DUNN v. DUNN (1817), 2 Phillim. 403; on appeal (1818), 3 Phillim. 6.

Annotation:—Refd. Gipps v. Gipps (1864), 11 H. L. Cas. 1.

3431. Wilful separation—Failure to support.]—COULTHART v. COULTHART & GOUTHWAITE, No. 3613, ante.

3432. —— Exposure to temptation.]—(1) In answer to a husband's petition for dissolution of marriage, the wife pleaded that petitioner had separated from her without reasonable cause, & thereby conduced to her adultery. The ct. refused to examine petitioner under sect. 43 of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), as to the circumstances leading to the separation, having no power to examine resp. as to these circumstances.

to adultery—Court may exercise discretion.]—Although the refusal of a husband to live with his wife is conduct of a character likely to induce or contribute to the wife's adultery, the whole of the circumstances must be taken into account, including the husband's reason for refusal to cohabit with her; &, even though the ct. be of opinion that the conduct of the husband has conduced to the wife's adultery, it still has a discretion to grant a decree.—PATON v. PATON (1909), 28 N. Z. L. R. 840.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 4.—C. (a) iv.

3431 i. Wilful separation—Failure to support.]—Where a man who had married a prostitute some years after suggested to her that she should return to her former mode of life & deserted her:—Held: he was barred by his conduct from insisting in an action of divorce for alleged adultery on her part.—MARSHALL v. MARSHALL (1881), 8 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 702; 18 Sc. L. R. 500.—SCOT.

A husband having married a woman of loose character, with whom he had previously cohabited, separated from her against her will shortly after the marriage, & sent her to live by herself in a place where she would be accessible to temptation, & where she was guilty of adultery. There was no evidence that there was any reasonable cause for the separation. The ct. was of opinion that this was conduct conducing to her adultery, & dismissed the petition.

(2) In a defended suit for dissolution of marriage, the ct. will not allow petitioner to be examined under sect. 43 of the Act, for the purpose of explaining his conduct, where the matter requiring explanation is one as to which resp., if a competent witness, would have been able to give evidence.—BAYLIS v. BAYLIS, TEEVAN & COOPER (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 395; 36 L. J. P. & M. 89, 130; 16 L. T. 613; 15 W. R. 1092.

3433. Enforced absence—Adequate allowance.]—On a petition by a husband for the dissolution of his marriage, adultery by the wife was admitted, but the jury found that petitioner had been guilty of "wilful neglect or misconduct conducing to the adultery" within sect. 31 of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85).

It appeared that the parties were domestic servants. Resp. had had an illegitimate child by petitioner before the marriage. During their married life, between 1883 & 1894, petitioner was abroad for long periods with his master; & resp. meanwhile kept a lodging house, petitioner remitting to her regularly an adequate weekly allowance. The parties lived unhappily owing to the enforced separation. In 1894 a child was born, the result, as resp. admitted, of the adultery imputed to her in the petition. The ct., notwithstanding the verdict of the jury, pronounced a decree nisi for the dissolution of the marriage, but directed that it should not be made absolute until petitioner had secured to resp., by a proper deed, the annual sum of £20, payable in equal monthly instalments, commencing from the date of the decree nisi, during their joint lives, dum sola et casta vixerit.—PARRY v. PARRY, [1896] P. 37; 73 L. T. 759; 12 T. L. R. 126; sub nom. PARRY v. PARRY, MILLIS v. MILLIS & BROWN, 65 L. J. P. 35.

Annotations:—Refd. Tannam v. Tannam, Beeson & Ballard (1897), 13 T. L. R. 453; Millard v. Millard & Bastone (1898), 78 L. T. 471.

v. Wife Conducing to Husband's Adultery.

3434. Cruelty—Desertion.]—BOREHAM v. BOREHAM, No. 3439, post.

3435. Insolence & neglect—Withdrawal from cohabitation.]—In answer to a petition by a wife charging adultery & cruelty, resp. denied both those charges, & further alleged that petitioner had habitually treated him with insolence & neglect, & frequently absented herself from home, & refused to inform him where she had been, & constantly set his orders & wishes at defiance; & that she had withdrawn herself from cohabitation for two years without reasonable cause. The ct. refused to order those allegations to be struck out, being of opinion that resp. was entitled to give evidence of them, for the purpose of showing that his misconduct, if any, had been caused by that of petitioner.—HUGHES v. HUGHES (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 219; 35 L. J. P. & M. 94.

3436. Refusal to consummate marriage.]—DIXON v. DIXON, No. 3333, ante.

3437. Consenting to Jewish divorce—Mere assent to separation.]—PREGER v. PREGER, No. 3122, ante.

(b) In Suits for Judicial Separation.

3438. Whether a bar.]—DIXON v. DIXON, No. 3333, ante.

3439. —— Cruelty & wilful separation—By wife.]—In a wife's suit for dissolution the husband was proved to have been guilty of adultery, but of no other misconduct; & the wife was proved to have been guilty of cruelty, & of wilful separation from resp. before his adultery & without reasonable excuse, & of wilful neglect & misconduct conducing to his adultery. The ct. refused to grant a decree of judicial separation on the ground of the husband's adultery, & in the exercise of its discretion under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, dismissed the petition.—BOREHAM v. BOREHAM (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 77; 35 L. J. P. & M. 49; 14 W. R. 317.

Annotations:—Consd. Synge v. Synge, [1900] P. 180. Refd. Lempriere v. Lempriere (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 569; Mycock v. Mycock (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 98; Edwards v. Edwards, [1894] P. 33; Hodgson v. Hodgson, [1905] P. 233.

3440. —— Cruelty & adultery.]—(1) In a suit by a husband for dissolution of marriage, it was established that the wife was guilty of adultery, & the husband of cruelty & misconduct, conducing to her adultery. The ct. refused to amend the husband's petition by allowing a prayer for judicial separation to be substituted for the prayer for dissolution, & the petition was dismissed.

(2) It is doubtful whether, since the passing of the Divorce Act, a husband who has been guilty of cruelty & desertion can obtain a judicial separation on the ground of his wife's adultery.—LEMPRIERE v. LEMPRIERE & ROEBEL (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 569; 37 L. J. P. & M. 78; 19 L. T. 50; 16 W. R. 1192.

Annotation:—Consd. Edwards v. Edwards, [1894] P. 33.

3441. —— Desertion.]—HODGSON v. HODGSON & TURNER, No. 3629, post.

(c) In Suits claiming Damages only.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 189.

3442. Petitioner barred.]—WINTER v. HENN, No. 2822, ante.

D. Petitioner's Adultery.

(a) In Suits for Dissolution of Marriage.

i. In General.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 178 (3).

3443. Adultery of wife—Not condoned.]—DRUMMOND v. DRUMMOND, No. 3158, ante.

3444. —— ——.]—OTWAY v. OTWAY, OTWAY v. OTWAY & HOFFER, No. 3539, post.

Petitioner's adultery condoned by respondent.]—See Sub-sect. 4, D. (a) v., post.

3445. Disclosure of petitioner's adultery—Duty of counsel & solicitor.]—Where petitioner has committed adultery it is the duty of his counsel & solr. to disclose the fact to the ct. if they are aware of it.—ABRAHAM v. ABRAHAM & HARDING (1919), 120 L. T. 672; 35 T. L. R. 371; 63 Sol. Jo. 411.

Adultery of respondent—As matrimonial offence.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 3, ante.

ii. Discretion of Court.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 178 (repealing & re-enacting Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 31).

Discretion of court, generally, see Sect. 7, sub-sect. 4, A., ante.

3446. Principle on which court acts.]—Petitioner, at the hearing of his petition, volunteered a confession, that on one occasion, during a separation from his wife, & before her adultery, he had been guilty of an act of adultery. The ct. refused to exercise the discretion vested in it by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, by granting a decree, & dismissed the petition.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 4, D. (a) ii.

One of the principles upon which this ct. proceeds, is that the persons who resort to it for relief must come with clean hands, & in accordance with this principle it is the daily practice of the ct. to refuse a divorce to a husband who has himself been guilty of adultery (per CUR.).—CLARKE v. CLARKE & CLARKE (1865), 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 94; 13 W. R. 848.

Annotations:—Consd. McCord v. McCord (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 237; Wain v. Wain & Eve (1909), 101 L. T. 815. Refd. Wilson v. Wilson (1872), 20 W. R. 891; Evans v. Evans & Elford, [1906] P. 125.

3447. ——.]—Though the ct. was more lenient now than it was formerly, people must understand that it was still the rule that petitioners should come to the ct. with clean hands & could not commit adultery with impunity (HORRIDGE, J.).—DEAN v. DEAN & HARGREAVES (1921), 37 T. L. R. 798.

3448. Factors governing exercise of.]—The discretion given to the ct. by the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, to grant relief to petitioner who has been guilty of misconduct is not to be exercised readily but with stringency. When the guilty petitioner is the husband, & the ct. is convinced of his bona fides, the following facts may be taken into consideration: (a) the position & interests of his children; (b) the interest of the woman with whom he has misconducted himself, that she may be in a position to marry him; (c) the fact that the withholding of a decree will not be likely to reconcile husband & wife; (d) the interest of the husband himself that he may remarry & lead a respectable life.—WILSON v. WILSON, [1920] P. 20; 89 L. J. P. 17; 122 L. T. 223; 36 T. L. R. 91; 64 Sol. Jo. 133.

Annotations:—Apld. Bebb v. Bebb & Ross (1920), 123 L. T. 93; Long v. Long (1920), 36 T. L. R. 398. Distd. Hensley v. Hensley & Nevin (1920), 122 L. T. 814; Pullen v. Pullen & Holding (1920), 123 L. T. 203; Dean v. Dean & Hargreaves (1921), 37 T. L. R. 798. Apld. Elliott v. Elliott & Bowers (1921), 126 L. T. 28. Distd. Armistead v. Armistead (1922), 38 T. L. R. 626. Consd. Tickner v. Tickner, [1924] P. 118.

3449. ——.]—In this case petitioner petitioned on the ground of his wife's alleged adultery. He obtained leave to proceed under the Poor Persons' Rules, & the proceedings against his wife were initiated in 1919.

The married life had been an unhappy one, & there is evidence before me of repeated acts of irregularity on the part of petitioner's wife. The first act of adultery charged in the petition relates to the month of June, 1916. Petitioner became aware that his wife had committed adultery in 1916, but he did not commence proceedings against his wife until 1918 or 1919. The delay was considerable, but the circumstances of the war must be held to introduce some elasticity in the view one takes of delay. After becoming aware of the adultery of his wife, petitioner himself committed adultery, & became the father of an illegitimate child, of which a woman called R. was the mother. He met this woman in 1917, & has informed the ct. that he is desirous of marrying her. He appeared in the divorce proceedings, & did not acquaint the ct. of the fact of his own adultery. It is the duty of every petitioner in this ct. to place the facts of his or her case most fully before the ct., & the wholesome & well-established rule that on the intervention of the King's Proctor a decree may be rescinded, if there is a failure to deal with the ct. with the utmost good faith, is one that is not to be relaxed. But the decision in this ct. must be followed, & in particular it is laid down, & in my judgment reasonably laid down, that four considerations may be borne in mind, & may, although they need not necessarily, affect the discretion of the ct. The first point which may be considered is that of the position & interest of the children. I am favourably impressed in this case. so far as it is before me, by the record of the petitioner. His war record was meritorious, & I find that the care with which he discharged himself with regard to the maintenance of the four children of the marriage is to his credit, & it gives me a favourable impression of him in that respect.

The second circumstance is the interest of the woman with whom petitioner has misconducted himself, with special regard to the prospect that she may be in a position to marry him. I agree that this is a legitimate consideration, & one by which the discretion of the ct., if it thinks proper, may be influenced. Petitioner has told us that it is his wish & his intention to marry this woman, & I cannot conceive that I am forwarding any purpose of public justice by rescinding a decree which will make the regularisation of this union possible. The third element, which is proper to be considered, is whether the rescission of the decree in this matter would be likely to reconcile husband & wife. I see no prospect that such a rescission would produce such a condition, nor am I satisfied that it would be in the interest of any of the parties. The fourth circumstance which may properly be borne in mind in these circumstances is concerned with the interest of the husband himself. It is desirable that he should, if it be possible, remarry & lead a respectable life He is the father of the illegitimate child by the woman whom he has sworn he is ready & willing to marry, & I should be making a reasonable exercise of my discretion if I gave effect to these considerations.

Applying all these facts, I am of opinion that this is a proper case for the exercise of my discretion. I so exercise it, & will not rescind (LORD BIRKENHEAD, C.).—WILKINSON v. WILKINSON & SEYMOUR (1921), 126 L. T. 29, n.; 37 T. L. R. 835, n.

Annotations:—Distd. Armistead v. Armistead (1922), 38 T. L. R. 626. Consd. Tickner v. Tickner, [1924] P. 118.

3450. Exercised only in exceptional circumstances—Insufficient evidence of petitioner's guilt.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage which was tried before the judge ordinary & a special jury, the jury found that resp. had committed adultery with the co-resp. & that petitioner had committed adultery also, but they declined to answer with whom or in what place, or whether or not it was with the knowledge & consent of resp. Co-resp. having obtained an order for a new trial the ct. signified that petitioner might also have a new trial on the question of his adultery, but he refused it. The ct. declined to exercise its discretion under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, on the ground that the evidence of petitioner's adultery was insufficient, & the verdict thereon unsatisfactory, & to make a decree nisi notwithstanding the verdict.—BARNES v. BARNES & BEAUMONT (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 572; 38 L. J. P. & M. 10; 19 L. T. 526; 17 W. R. 75.

Annotation:—Refd. Waudby v. Waudby, [1902] P. 85.

3451. —— Circumstances of petitioner's adultery.]—MORGAN v. MORGAN & PORTER, No. 3288, ante.

3452.]—— Circumstances specially favouring petitioner.]—The discretionary power given to the ct. by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, to pronounce a decree nisi in favour of petitioner who has been guilty of adultery, is to be exercised only under very exceptional circumstances In cross-petitions by the husband & wife for dissolution of marriage the jury found that the wife had committed adultery, & that the husband had committed adultery with the wife's sister & with another woman, & that the wife had condoned his adultery. The ct. in the circumstances refused to make any decree, & dismissed both petitions.—STOKER v. STOKER, SKIDMORE & MURRAY, STOKER v. STOKER (1889), 14 P. D. 60; 58 L. J. P. 40; 60 L. T. 400; 37 W. R. 576.

Annotations :—Consd. Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167. Refd. Boucher v. Boucher & Judd (1892), 9 T. L. R. 70; Gooch v. Gooch, [1893] P. 99; Edwards v. Edwards, [1894] P. 33; Hines v. Hines & Burdett, [1918] P. 364.

3453. —— In favour of guilty petitioner.]—HINES v. HINES & BURDETT, No. 3296, ante.

3454. —— Circumstances mitigating petitioner's offence.]—Though recent decisions have favoured an extension of the limits formerly recognised to the exercise of discretion, the test is still that circumstances must be proved which mitigate petitioner's offence, & enable the ct. to grant relief without offending the judicially established view of the interests of public morality: viz., that a spouse, who has himself been guilty of adultery, is primâ facie debarred from relief.—PULLEN v. PULLEN & HOLDING (1920), 123 L. T. 203; 36 T. L. R. 506.

3455. Exercised in interests of parties & public—Respondent responsible for separation prior to adultery—Insufficient to excuse petitioner's guilt.]—(1) The guiding principle on which the ct. will exercise its discretion under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, in favour of petitioner guilty of adultery, is that the ct. must have regard not only to the rights & liabilities of the matrimonial person wronged & the wrongdoer respectively, but also to the interests of society & public morality. It is insufficient to excuse the adultery of petitioner that a separation prior to such adultery was brought about by the conduct of resp.

(2) It is the duty of petitioner to place all material facts before the ct. To do otherwise is a fraud upon the ct.—EVANS v. EVANS & ELFORD, [1906] P. 125; 75 L. J. P. 27; 94 L. T. 616; 22 T. L. R. 322.

Annotations :—As to (1) Consd. Todd v. Todd (1907), 24 T. L. R. 28; Hines v. Hines & Burdett, [1918] P. 364; Pullen v. Pullen (1920), 123 L. T. 203; Tickner v. Tickner, [1924] P. 118. As to (2) Refd. Brooke v. Brooke (1912), 28 T. L. R. 314; Munzer v. Munzer (1912), 28 T. L. R. 596.

3456. —— Not where petitioner guilty of flagrant adultery—Though condoned.]—The ct. will act with great circumspection when there has been a suppression of material facts in a suit for divorce. The interests of public morality must receive consideration. When the admitted adultery of the petitioner has been of a flagrant character, the ct. will refuse to exercise its discretionary powers in his favour, even though the adultery has been condoned by a resumption of cohabitation between the parties.—WAIN v. WAIN & EVE (1909), 101 L. T. 815; 26 T. L. R. 131; 54 Sol. Jo. 119.

Annotation :—Refd. Munzer v. Munzer (1912), 28 T. L. R. 596.

3457. —— Birth of illegitimate child.]—SCHOFIELD v. SCHOFIELD, No. 3462, post.

3458. Sexes not treated on equal footing.]—In exercising the discretion conferred upon it by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, the ct. ought to look at every aspect & circumstance of the case, including the consequences that would ensue, not only in the present but in the future, from a refusal to exercise that discretion in favour of petitioner.

In exercise of its discretion under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, the ct. is not bound by any rules but will consider each case entirely on its own merits, & this discretion will, under certain circumstances be exercised in spite of the fact that there had been an intervention on the part of the King's Proctor & that the finding of the ct. had been adverse to petitioner.

In exercising the discretion given it by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, to pronounce a decree of dissolution at the instance of a petitioner guilty of adultery, the ct. does not treat the sexes on an equal footing. That which would not be excusable in the man may be excusable in the woman, & when her adultery has resulted from her husband's treatment she may retain a decree obtained on the ground of his misconduct, even although she has concealed her own fault from the ct., & committed perjury in denying it, provided that the ct. is of opinion on the facts that leniency towards the erring petitioner may result in her moral re-instatement.

A wife petitioner obtained a decree nisi for the dissolution of her marriage on the grounds of the adultery & cruelty of her husband. At the hearing of her petition, she was advised, in view of her denial of actual misconduct, that no disclosure was to be made of circumstances communicated by her to her solr., in consequence of which, on the subsequent hearing of an intervention by the King's Proctor, a jury, disbelieving her denial on oath, found her guilty of adultery & of suppression of material facts :—Held : nevertheless, that, having regard to her future in life, & to the fact that her misconduct had been brought about by the treatment of her husband, the case was one fit for the exercise of the discretion of the ct. in her favour. The ct. expressed disapproval of the course adopted at the original hearing.—PRETTY v. PRETTY, [1911] P. 83; 80 L. J. P. 19; 104 L. T. 79; 27 T. L. R. 169.

Annotations :—Consd. Brooke v. Brooke, [1912] P. 136. Dbtd. Belcher v. Belcher (1919), 35 T. L. R. 581.

3459. Undue delay caused by ignorance of law.]—The discretion conferred on the ct. under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, is an unfettered one. The ct. exercised its discretion in favour of petitioner who had been guilty of adultery with the same woman over a period of thirty years, & who had known of his wife's adultery for about twenty-eight years but had not instituted proceedings until 1922 because he thought that his own adultery would be a bar.—POINTON v. POINTON & SUTTON (1922), 38 T. L. R.

iii. Petitioner guilty of Single Lapse.

3460. Discretion exercised in favour of petitioner—Conduct otherwise good.]—Before the ct. will exercise the discretion which it possesses under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, to dissolve the marriage, notwithstanding that petitioner has also been guilty of adultery, it must be shown that in all other respects he is free from 3453 i. Exercised only in exceptional circumstances—In favour of guilty petitioner.]—The ct. will not, unless in very exceptional circumstances of excuse or palliation, grant a divorce to a petitioner guilty of adultery.—A. v. A. & K. (1909), 14 B. C. R. 165.—CAN.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 4, D. (a) blame, & that, with the exception of the particular lapse proved or confessed, he had been a good & faithful husband to his wife.

Where the husband, petitioner, confessed adultery on intervention of the Queen's Proctor, & where his conduct to his wife was blamable, the ct. reversed the decree nisi & dismissed the petition.—HUTCHINSON v. HUTCHINSON & BARKER (1866), 14 L. T. 338; 12 Jur. N. S. 491.

3461. —— Lapse unconnected with respondent's adultery.]—CONRADI v. CONRADI, WORRALL & WAY, No. 2764, ante.

3462. —— No condonation by reason of separation—Interests of mother & child.]—A husband, who had been living apart from his wife for some years, committed an isolated act of adultery, resulting in the birth of a child, & in an undefended suit obtained a decree nisi for dissolution of the marriage without disclosing the fact of his own adultery.

By reason of the separation, there had been no condonation by the wife of the husband's adultery.

The Ct., the King's Proctor showing cause, exercised its discretion in favour of petitioner upon the grounds of public morality & in the interests of the woman with whom the misconduct had been committed & of her child.—SCHOFIELD v. SCHOFIELD, [1915] P. 207; 84 L. J. P. 186; 112 L. T. 1000; 31 T. L. R. 236.

Annotations:—Consd. Hines v. Hines & Burdett, [1918] P. 364; Pullen v. Pullen (1920), 123 L. T. 203.

Condonation of single act of adultery.]—See No. 3485, post.

iv. Prospect of Regularising Illicit Union.

3463. Between petitioner & paramour—Whether ground for exercising discretion in petitioner's favour.]—In the special circumstances of the case, on the promise to marry her of the man with whom she had misconducted herself, a wife's decree for divorce was allowed to be made absolute, the ct. exercising its discretion in her favour in spite of the intervention of the King's Proctor on the grounds that petitioner had suppressed material facts & denied the misconduct on oath, being thereby guilty of perjury. The ct. intimated that in future the discretion would only be exercised in favour of petitioners making full disclosure. Semble: misconduct of a petitioner should not only be disclosed at the hearing, but also admitted in the petition.—HAMPSON v. HAMPSON, [1914] P. 104; 83 L. J. P. 53; 110 L. T. 992; 30 T. L. R. 392; 58 Sol. Jo. 474.

Annotation:—Refd. King v. King, [1915] P. 88.

3464. —— ——.]—A petitioning wife who had herself been guilty of adultery [after having been deserted & left destitute by resp.] was granted a decree nisi for divorce in the exercise of the discretion of the ct. upon evidence being given that a man with whom she had lived was willing to marry her.—HALE v. HALE (1915), 32 T. L. R. 53.

Annotation:—Refd. Ostick v. Ostick (1916), 33 T. L. R. 28.

3465. —— ——.]—WILSON v. WILSON, No. 3448, ante.

3466. —— ——.]—WILKINSON v. WILKINSON & SEYMOUR, No. 3449, ante.

3467. —— ——.]—The ct. refused to exercise its discretion in favour of a husband petitioner who admitted that he had committed adultery on two occasions with a woman whom he was willing to marry & who was anxious to marry him.—ARMISTEAD v. ARMISTEAD (1922), 38 T. L. R. 626.

v. Petitioner's Adultery Condoned by Respondent.

Condonation of respondent's adultery—Absolute bar to relief.]—See Sect. 7, sub-sect. 3, D., ante.

3468. Whether conclusive in favour of petitioner.]—(1) The adultery or cruelty of petitioner, though condoned, enable the ct. to exercise the discretionary power given to it by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, & to dismiss the petition if it think fit, though the adultery of resp. is proved.

(2) If the petition against the wife be dismissed on any grounds she will be entitled to her full costs; & even although the adultery with the co-resp. be proved, he, the co-resp. will not be liable to costs under these circumstances.—GOODE v. GOODE & HAMSON (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 253; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 105; 4 L. T. 122; 7 Jur. N. S. 317; 9 W. R. 552; 164 E. R. 992.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. McCord v. McCord (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 237. Refd. Gooch v. Gooch, [1893] P. 99; Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167.

3469. ——.]—On one occasion subsequent to his marriage petitioner had connection with a female with whom he had cohabited before marriage. The fact became known to resp. shortly afterwards, & was by her forgiven, & her cohabitation with her husband was continued for some considerable time:—Held: the condonation by resp. was not a fact to justify the ct. in exercising its discretion in favour of petitioner, & therefore it dismissed the petition.—MCCORD v. MCCORD, OGLE & COXON (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 237; 44 L. J. P. & M. 38; 33 L. T. 264; 23 W. R. 684.

Annotations:—Consd. Wildey v. Wildey & Ryder (1878), 26 W. R. 239. Folld. Grosvenor v. Grosvenor (1885), 34 W. R. 140. Consd. Story v. Story & O'Connor (1887), 12 P. D. 196. Folld. Boucher v. Boucher & Judd (1892), 9 T. L. R. 70. Consd. Wyke v. Wyke, [1904] P. 149. Refd. Gooch v. Gooch, [1893] P. 99; Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167; Waudby v. Waudby & Bowland, [1902] P. 85; Hynes v. Hynes & Lake (1904), 20 T. L. R. 781; Evans v. Evans & Elford, [1906] P. 125.

3470. ——.]—A husband had been guilty of cruelty. He & his wife separated under the provisions of a deed by which it was agreed that no proceedings should be taken by either party against the other in respect of any cause of complaint which had arisen before the date of the deed, & that every offence, if any, committed by either party against the other should be considered as condoned, & that in any proceedings by either party against the other in respect of any cause of complaint which might thereafter arise, no offence committed by either party before the deed should be pleaded or be admissible in evidence:—Held: (1) subsequent adultery by the husband did not revive the wife's right to complain of the cruelty committed before the deed, so as to enable her to obtain a decree for dissolution of the marriage.

(2) Qu.: whether adultery by a husband which has been condoned is a bar to his obtaining a dissolution on the ground of subsequent adultery of the wife.—ROSE v. ROSE (1883), 8 P. D. 98; 52 L. J. P. 25; 48 L. T. 378; 31 W. R. 573, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Gooch v. Gooch, [1893] P. 99; Dowling v. Dowling, [1898] P. 228; Norman v. Norman, [1908] P. 6. Consd. Thompson v. Thompson, [1916] P. 165. Refd. Wood v. Wood (1887), 36 W. R. 33; Balcombe v. Balcombe, [1908] P. 176; Bourne v. Bourne, [1913] P. 104; Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158. Generally, Refd. Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292.

3471. ——.]—In a suit by a husband for divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery with the co-resp. the jury found that the wife & the co-resp. had committed adultery, & assessed the damages at £300. The wife in her answer made a cross-petition of adultery committed by her husband in the house in which he resided with his wife with a domestic servant in their employment five years before. The husband admitted the charge but pleaded & proved that his wife had condoned the offence & continued to live with him :—Held : (1) under the circumstances the husband's adultery disentitled him to a decree, & his petition being accordingly dismissed ; (2) he was not entitled to the damages.—STORY v. STORY & O'CONNOR (1887), 12 P. D. 196 ; 57 L. J. P. 15 ; 57 L. T. 536 ; 51 J. P. 680 ; 36 W. R. 190.

Annotations :—As to (1) Consd. Boucher v. Boucher & Judd (1892), 9 T. L. R. 70 ; Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167 ; Constantinidi v. Constantinidi & Lance, [1903] P. 246. Refd. Gooch v. Gooch, [1893] P. 99 ; Waudby v. Waudby & Bowland, [1902] P. 85 ; Wyke v. Wyke, [1904] P. 149. As to (2) Apprvd. Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292. Refd. Hyman v. Hyman & Goldman, [1904] P. 403 ; Stocker v. Stocker, Brice & Patterson, [1917] P. 264.

3472. ——.]—Upon a husband's petition for dissolution of marriage, the wife, in her answer, made cross-petitions of cruelty & adultery against her husband, who denied the alleged cruelty, but admitted that, while living apart from his wife, he had, for a considerable period, lived & cohabited with another woman, but that the adultery had been condoned. The condonation was admitted. At the trial, upon the opening by counsel for petitioner, the ct. intimated that relief would be refused, upon the ground of petitioner's adultery. Petitioner, notwithstanding this intimation insisted upon putting all the facts of the case before the jury :— Held : he could not be precluded from doing so.—BOUCHER v. BOUCHER & JUDD (1892), 67 L. T. 720 ; 9 T. L. R. 70 ; 1 R. 491.

3473. ——.] — Condonation of petitioner's adultery held, on the facts, not to justify the ct. in exercising its discretion in his favour.—MAGGS v. MAGGS & CREEDY (1896), 12 T. L. R. 509.

3474. ——.]—Where a wife, guilty of adultery which had been condoned, presented a petition for divorce against her husband, the ct. exercised its discretion by granting her a decree nisi.—HARDEN v. HARDEN (1919), 36 T. L. R. 121.

3475. ——.]—The ct. exercised its discretion by granting a decree nisi to a petitioning wife, who had been guilty of adultery, which had been condoned.—OWEN v. OWEN (1919), 35 T. L. R. 284.

3476. —— Exercise of discretion influenced by —Propriety of conduct subsequent to condonation.]—In the exercise of its discretion under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, the ct. is not bound by any rigid rules, but will consider every case entirely on its merits. I am, however, of opinion that this adultery has not only been condoned by resp., but also that the adultery has been actually conduced to by the previous desertion of the husband in 1893. I cannot see any reason, under the circumstances, why I should not exercise the discretion vested in me by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, in favour of petitioner. It has been said that condonation in itself is not sufficient to permit the ct. to exercise its discretion. But I think it goes a long way towards it, especially when one assumes, as one is entitled to do here, proper conduct on the part of the person seeking relief, that is proper conduct subsequent to the condonation (EVANS, P.).—BULLOCK v. BULLOCK (1910), 103 L. T. 847.

3477. —— —— Unless circumstances aggravating—Refusal in public interest.]—(1) The conduct of petitioner is the right criterion upon which to decide whether the court should exercise the discretion given by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31 in his favour.

(2) Where the misconduct of petitioner had been fully forgiven & completely condoned by the other party, the ct. should exercise its discretion in petitioner's favour, unless there are special or aggravating circumstances in the case, or unless there are strong overriding public reasons existing for its refusal.

(3) The ct. declined to assist petitioner who had not disclosed the fact of his adultery on the hearing of his petition for dissolution of marriage, & who had denied it on oath after the King's Proctor had intervened.—MUNZER v. MUNZER & SWAIN (1912), 107 L. T. 203 ; 28 T. L. R. 596 ; 57 Sol. Jo. 45.

3478. Infection of wife with venereal disease.]—In a husband's suit for dissolution of marriage, the jury found that resp. had committed adultery with the co-resp. ; that petitioner had been guilty of adultery & cruelty, & had infected his wife with a venereal disease ; & that petitioner's misconduct had been condoned, & had not conduced to resp.'s adultery ; & they refused to award damages against the co-resp.

The ct., in the exercise of its discretion under the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, dismissed the petition, & directed that the wife should have the general costs of the suit.—WILDEY v. WILDEY & RYDER (1878), 26 W. R. 239.

3479. Adultery under influence of liquor.]—In a husband's suit for dissolution the wife's adultery was proved, & the husband confessed to an act of adultery in the year 1874, which he alleged had been committed under the influence of liquor, & which had been condoned by the wife.

The ct., on the authority of Morgan v. Morgan & Porter, No. 3288, ante, dismissed the petition.—GROSVENOR v. GROSVENOR (1885), 34 W. R. 140 ; 2 T. L. R. 35.

Annotations :—Consd. Waudby v. Waudby & Bowland, [1902] P. 85. Refd. Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167 ; Hynes v. Hynes & Lake (1904), 20 T. L. R. 781 ; Evans v. Evans & Elford, [1906] P. 125.

3480. Flagrant adultery.]—WAIN v. WAIN & EVE, No. 3456, ante.

3481. Where adultery concealed.]—WAIN v. WAIN & EVE, No. 3456, ante.

3482. ——.]—BEBB v. BEBB & ROSS, No. 5133, post.

3483. After full disclosure.]—Circumstances in which the ct. will exercise its discretion in favour of guilty petitioner considered.

The evidence disclosed complete condonation of the husband. Petitioner had striven since that time to earn her own livelihood & to maintain herself & the children . . . Petitioner's own adultery had been condoned & it would be a hardship upon her if he (the President) were to refrain from exercising his discretion in her favour (EVANS, P.).—COVERDALE v. COVERDALE (1913), 30 T. L. R. 20.

3484. ——.]—Where, in a petition for dissolution of marriage by a husband who had been guilty of adultery during the marriage, the adultery was fully disclosed to the ct. & had also been disclosed to the wife & condoned by her, the ct. exercised its discretion in favour of the husband & granted him a decree.—HABRA v. HABRA & HABAL, [1914] P. 100 ; 83 L. J. P. 54 ; 110 L. T. 991 ; 30 T. L. R. 391.

Annotations :—Distd. Bebb v. Bebb & Ross (1920), 123 L. T. 93. Refd. Hampson v. Hampson, [1914] P. 104 ; King v. King (1915), 112 L. T. 1047.

3485. Single act of adultery—Complete condonation.]—The discretion conferred upon the Court by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, is to be exercised according to the facts & circumstances of each particular case, & no strict rules ought to be laid down, fettering the discretion conferred upon the ct. by that sect.

Where a husband, resp. in previous proceedings, had been found guilty of cruelty &, after his wife had left him, of a single act of adultery, & these offences had been condoned by subsequent cohabitation :—Held : as petitioner had given a straightforward & honest account of his matrimonial affairs & differences & as the wife had completely condoned his past offences, the ct. was acting in just accordance with the discretion it passed in granting him a decree nisi.—WOLTERECK v. WOLTERECK & WALTERS, [1912] P. 201 ; 81 L. J. P. 145 ; 107 L. T. 27 ; 28 T. L. R. 532 ; 56 Sol. Jo. 706.

Annotations :—Distd. Munzer v. Munzer & Swain (1912), 28 T. L. R. 596. Consd. Hines v. Hines & Burdett, [1918] P. 364.

3486. Coupled with discretion.]—In this undefended suit, in which the wife prayed for the dissolution of her marriage on the grounds of her husband's desertion & adultery, the ct. in the exercise of its discretion granted petitioner a decree notwithstanding that she had herself committed adultery.

Petitioner when her husband deserted her was left in a difficult position & the circumstances were such as to dispose the ct. to exercise its discretion in her favour. Further resp. with full knowledge of his wife's guilt had condoned her offence (BARGRAVE DEANE, J.).—MORTON v. MORTON (1916), 32 T. L. R. 484.

3487. Written permission by wife to commit adultery.]—The ct. refused to exercise its discretion by granting a decree nisi to a petitioning husband who had committed adultery & had obtained from his wife a document giving him permission to do so.—WINGFIELD v. WINGFIELD & WRIGHT-MOTION (1919), 36 T. L. R. 159 ; on appeal (1921), 37 T. L. R. 300, C. A.

3488. Exercise of discretion on terms—Allowance to wife respondent.]—On a divorce petition by a husband who had been guilty of adultery which had been condoned, the ct. granted a decree nisi on the terms that petitioner's father should entered into a deed making an allowance to the wife.—STRUTT v. STRUTT & HITCHING (1915), 31 T. L. R. 156.

3489. ——.]—The petitioning husband had been guilty of adultery, which had been condoned, & the ct. exercised its discretion in petitioner's favour on the terms that before the decree nisi was made absolute he should secure a weekly allowance to resp.—FREMANTLE v. FREMANTLE & BOIS (1915), 31 T. L. R. 180.

vi. Respondent's Conduct Conducing to Petitioner's Adultery.

Petitioner's conduct conducing to respondent's adultery, see Sect. 7, sub-sect. 4, C., ante.

3490. General rule.]—(1) The circumstances to be considered by the ct in exercising its discretion under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, to grant a divorce to a wife who has been guilty of adultery, include the case of the husband causing or conducing to her adultery by his own wilful neglect or misconduct.

A husband, who had treated his wife with great cruelty during cohabitation, finally deserted her & went to live with another woman. More than seven years after the desertion the wife, not knowing whether her husband was alive, & without making inquiry, commenced to live with another man ; the cohabitation continued long after the time when it came to the wife's knowledge that her husband was alive. Subsequently, & after the wife had ceased to live in adultery, her husband was convicted under the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1885 (c. 69), of an aggravated offence on a young girl not amounting to rape :—Held : under the circumstances the wife's adultery did not disentitle her to a decree of dissolution of marriage.

(2) No order as to costs, the Queen's Proctor's intervention being thoroughly justifiable. —SYMONS v. SYMONS, [1897] P. 167 ; 66 L. J. P. 81 ; 77 L. T. 142 ; 13 T. L. R. 353.

Annotations :—As to (1) Apld. Burdon v. Burdon, [1901] P. 52. Folld. Constantinidi v. Constantinidi, [1903] P. 246. Distd. Shaw v. Shaw (1904), 20 T. L. R. 795. Consd. Wyke v. Wyke, [1904] P. 149 ; Evans v. Evans & Elford, [1906] P. 125. Distd. Todd v. Todd & Cunniam (1906), 23 T. L. R. 9 ; Tulk v. Tulk (1906), 23 T. L. R. 120. Consd. Tickner v. Tickner, [1924] P. 118. Refd. Hynes v. Hynes & Lake (1904), 20 T. L. R. 781 ; Constantinidi v. Constantinidi, [1905] P. 253 ; Hunter v. Hunter, [1905] P. 217 ; Brooke v. Brooke (1912), 28 T. L. R. 314 ; Pullen v. Pullen & Holding (1920), 123 L. T. 203.

3491. ——.]—In a husband's suit for dissolution of marriage upon findings of fact that petitioner & resp. had both committed adultery the Ct., finding as a further fact that the adultery of petitioner had not conduced to the adultery of resp., exercised in favour of petitioner the discretion conferred by the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, & pronounced a decree nisi, dissolving the marriage.

Although the discretion conferred by s. 31 is a judicial & not an arbitrary discretion, the causes for, & the circumstances under, which the ct. may exercise its discretion in favour of a guilty petitioner are to be taken in combination & according to their several degrees of force ; & the list of such causes is not a closed book, but may be extended as occasion arises.

. . . No principles of justice in regard to this matter seem to me clear that these : first, that a petitioner who has been convicted of adultery should not be allowed to obtain a divorce if such adultery in any serious degree contributed to the misconduct of resp. ; & secondly, that resp. should not be allowed to avoid the consequences of proved misconduct by putting forward an act or acts of misconduct on the part of petitioner for which the respondent was, himself or herself, in any serious degree responsible (JEUNE, P.).—CONSTANTINIDI v. CONSTANTINIDI & LANCE. [1903] P. 246 ; 72 L. J. P. 82 ; 89 L. T. 340 ; 52 W. R. 190 ; 19 T. L. R. 699 ; 47 Sol. Jo. 739 ; subsequent proceedings, [1905] P. 253, C. A.

Annotations :—Apld. Coombs v. Coombs & Hopkins (1903), 73 L. J. P. 23. Distd. Wyke v. Wyke, [1904] P. 149. Consd. Pegg v. Pegg & Gowing (1904), 20 T. L. R. 353 ; Constantinidi v. Constantinidi & Lance, [1905] P. 253 ; Evans v. Evans & Elford, [1906] P. 125 ; Tulk v. Tulk (1906), 23 T. L. R. 120. Dbtd. Todd v. Todd & Cunniam (1907), 24 T. L. R. 28. Consd. Tickner v. Tickner, [1924] P. 118. Refd. Hynes v. Hynes & Lake (1904), 20 T. L. R. 781 ; Craven v. Craven & Robinson (1909), 26 T. L. R. 4.

3492. ——.]—Where a wife had obtained a decree nisi for a divorce on the ground of her husband's cruelty & adultery, & the King's Proctor, on the ground of the wife's adultery, intervened to show cause why the decree should not be made absolute but was satisfied that the husband's conduct had conduced to the wife's adultery, the ct. exercised its discretion in favour of petitioner & made the decree absolute.—FIRMAN v. FIRMAN (1915), 32 T. L. R. 50.

Annotation :—Refd. Hines v. Hines & Burdett, [1918] P. 364.

3493. Responsibility for petitioner's misconduct.]—In order that the ct. should exercise the discretion conferred by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, in favour of petitioner guilty of adultery, it is not enough that petitioner's misconduct was more or less pardonable or capable of excuse, but the ct. must find, as a fact, that petitioner's misconduct was caused directly by the matrimonial offence or offences of resp.—WYKE v. WYKE, [1904] P. 149; 73 L. J. P. 38; 90 L. T. 172; 20 T. L. R. 193.

Annotations :—Apld. Shaw v. Shaw (1904), 20 T. L. R. 795. Consd. Tulk v. Tulk (1906), 23 T. L. R. 120. Apld. Belcher v. Belcher (1919), 35 T. L. R. 581. Refd. Hynes v. Hynes & Lake (1904), 20 T. L. R. 781.

3494. ——.]—Held : petitioner had failed to show that her husband's misconduct had directly conduced to her adultery, & therefore she had failed to make out any ground which would justify the ct. in exercising its statutory discretion in her favour by granting a decree for a divorce.—SHAW v. SHAW (1904), 20 T. L. R. 795.

3495. ——.]—To enable the ct. to exercise its discretion in favour of a wife who is petitioning for a divorce & who has herself committed adultery, she must show that her adultery was the necessary & reasonable consequence of her husband's conduct.—TULK v. TULK (1906), 23 T. L. R. 120.

3496. ——.]—BELCHER v. BELCHER, No. 3541, post.

3497. Petitioner coerced into prostitution.]—In a suit by a wife for a dissolution of marriage it was proved that resp. had been guilty of adultery & of cruelty, & also that he had by threats & by personal violence coerced petitioner into leading a life of prostitution, & had lived upon the money which she obtained by prostitution. The ct. being satisfied that she had led this life contrary to her own will & desire, & in consequence of the coercion of resp. exercised the discretion given to it by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (s. 85), s. 31 by dissolving the marriage notwithstanding her adultery.—COLEMAN v. COLEMAN (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 81; 35 L. J. P. & M. 37; 13 L. T. 684.

Annotations :—Consd. Morgan v. Morgan & Porter (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 644; Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167; Burdon v. Burdon, [1901] P. 52. Refd. McCord v. McCord, Ogle & Coxon (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 237; Wyke v. Wyke, [1904] P. 149; Barker v. Barker (1907), 24 T. L. R. 31.

3498. ——.]—Upon an intervention by the Queen's Proctor after petitioner had obtained a decree nisi for the dissolution of her marriage on the ground of the adultery & cruelty of her husband, it appeared that he had by his threats & illtreatment forced her to prostitute herself for his pecuniary benefit, & that she, after she had left him on account of his continued illtreatment, resorted to other acts of prostitution to supplement her insufficient means of livelihood, & also cohabited for a period of three years with a certain man as his wife :—Held : all her subsequent acts were the outcome of her husband's conduct & she was entitled to have the decree which she had obtained made absolute; the three years' cohabitation & some other facts, very material to be considered by the ct. & such as ought not to have been withheld at the hearing of the petition, being insufficient to bar the wife's claim to have her marriage dissolved on the grounds of her husband's adultery & cruelty, though amply sufficient to warrant & justify the intervention of the Queen's Proctor.

As the case was one in which the intervention was not merely justified but was the natural consequence of the Queen's Proctor investigations, there will be no order as to costs (GORELL BARNES, J.).—BURDON v. BURDON, [1901] P. 52; 69 L. J. P. 118.

Annotations :—Consd. Hunter v. Hunter, [1905] P. 217. Apld. Marven v. Marven & Turner (1919), 122 L. T. 227. Refd. Tulk v. Tulk (1906), 23 T. L. R. 120; Barker v. Barker (1907), 24 T. L. R. 31; Brooke v. Brooke (1912), 28 T. L. R. 314.

3499. ——.]—Discretion exercised in favour of a wife of the labouring class, whose adultery had been caused & procured in the first instance by the husband & though continuing was held to be still fairly attributable to his conduct.—MARVEN v. MARVEN & TURNER (1919), 122 L. T. 227; 36 T. L. R. 106; 64 Sol. Jo. 177.

3500. —— Prostitution after separation—Means of livelihood.]—Petitioner was an actress, & was at the time of her marriage sixteen years old & an orphan. Resp. seduced her & afterwards married her; he took her to various places & compelled her to obtain money by prostitution, he taking the money & ill-treating her. After about two years she ran away, & while away occasionally obtained money by prostitution, as she was destitute :—Held : the facts of the case justified it in pronouncing a decree in petitioner's favour, notwithstanding her adultery.—DODSON v. DODSON (1905), 54 W. R. 220.

3501. —— No further adultery after separation.]—A wife was, by the violence & threats of her husband, coerced into committing adultery on three occasions in order to provide him with money, & the husband took from her the money she obtained thereby. Subsequently she left him, & since that time she did not commit adultery. The wife having filed a petition for dissolution of marriage :—Held : the ct. would exercise the discretion given to it by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, by granting her a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage, notwithstanding her adultery.—BARKER v. BARKER (1907), 24 T. L. R. 31.

3502. —— Subsequent bigamous marriage.]—Circumstances in which the ct. exercised its discretion & granted decree of divorce to petitioner, the wife, notwithstanding the fact that she had been guilty of bigamy.—NORTHOVER v. NORTHOVER (1910), 26 T. L. R. 224.

3503. Desertion by respondent.]—SYMONS v. SYMONS, No. 3490, ante.

3504. ——.]—BULLOCK v. BULLOCK, No. 3476, ante.

3505. —— No excuse for petitioner's adultery.]—Where a wife left her husband & some years afterwards he committed adultery with another woman, the ct. affirmed the order of the judge, who, on the husband's petition for dissolution of marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery, in the exercise of his discretion in the circumstances of the case refused to make a decree & dismissed the petition.—TODD v. TODD & CUNNIAM (1907), 24 T. L. R. 28, C. A.

Annotations :—Refd. Barker v. Barker (1907), 24 T. L. R. 31; Brooke v. Brooke (No. 2) (1912), 107 L. T. 202; Munzer v. Munzer & Swain (1912), 28 T. L. R. 596; Hines v. Hines & Burdett, [1918] P. 364.

3506. —— ——.]—Where a wife petitioner, who had been deserted & left destitute with two children by her husband, had herself committed adultery three years afterwards, the ct. refused to exercise its discretion in her favour, being of opinion that though the husband's conduct might have conduced to the adultery it ought not to have done so.—GODDARD v. GODDARD (1915), 113 L. T. 1063; 31 T. L. R. 616.

3507. —— Petitioner rendered desperate.]—Where the ct. was of opinion that the desertion by a wife caused her husband to be absolutely desperate, it exercised the discretion given by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, in his favour notwithstanding his own adultery on two occasions.

I think that petitioner's adultery was the direct result of his wife's conduct towards him (HORRIDGE, J.).—CLUTTERBUCK v. CLUTTERBUCK & LUCE (1915), 113 L. T. 1063; 31 T. L. R. 614.

Annotation :—Refd. Hines v. Hines & Burdett, [1918] P. 364.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 4, D. (a) vi., vii., viii., ix. &

3508. —— Petitioner destitute.]—HALE v. HALE, No. 3464, ante.

3509. ——.]—MORTON v. MORTON, No. 3486,

3510. Conduct causing petitioner to leave home.]—EVANS v. EVANS & ELFORD, No. 3455, ante.

3511. ——.]—PRETTY v. PRETTY, No. 3458, ante.

3512. Gross misconduct.]—Decree granted in favour of wife notwithstanding her adultery, on the ground that her husband's gross misconduct had caused her fall.—CLELAND v. CLELAND, CLELAND v. CLELAND & MCLEOD (1913), 109 L. T. 744; 30 T. L. R. 169; 58 Sol. Jo. 221.

3513. Wilful neglect—Drunken habits.]—BARBOUR v. BARBOUR (1920), 37 T. L. R. 139.

vii. Adultery not Admitted by Petitioner.

See Sect. 20, sub-sect. 3, B. (b), post.

viii. Adultery in Ignorance of Law or under Mistake of Fact.

3514. Ignorance of law — General rule.]—Where petitioner acts purely in ignorance of the law, & has no intention to commit adultery, being in fact unaware that what he is doing amounts to adultery, the discretion conferred upon the ct. by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, should be exercised in his favour.—SNOOK v. SNOOK & WOOLACOTT (1892), 67 L. T. 389.

3515. —— Decree nisi to dissolve previous marriage—Belief that marriage dissolved.]—After a decree nisi in a suit for dissolution of marriage, but before such decree had been made absolute, petitioner went through a form of marriage, & cohabited, with a female, the ct. being satisfied that he did so in ignorance of the law, & in the bonâ fide belief that his first marriage was finally dissolved, determined that it was a case in which it could exercise the discretion given to it by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, & made the decree absolute, notwithstanding such adultery of petitioner.—NOBLE v. NOBLE & GODMAN (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 691; 38 L. J. P. & M. 52; 20 L. T. 1016.

Annotations:—Apld. Snook v. Snook & Woolacott (1892), 67 L. T. 389. Consd. Whitworth v. Whitworth, [1893] P. 85. Refd. Moore v. Moore, [1892] P. 382; Lankester v. Lankester & Cooper (1925), 94 L. J. P. 71.

3516. —— —— ——.]—W. obtained in 1868 a decree nisi for dissolution of her marriage, & in 1871, believing that the decree had been made absolute, she married again. The ct., the Queen's Proctor not opposing, made the decree absolute.—WICKHAM v. WICKHAM (1880), 6 P. D. 11; 49 L. J. P. 70; 43 L. T. 445.

3517. —— —— ——.]—In a petition by the wife for a divorce on the ground of adultery & cruelty, a decree nisi was pronounced; but no steps were taken to make it absolute. Petitioner believing that the marriage was dissolved at the end of six months, went through a form of marriage with a man with whom she cohabited for some years until he died. She then resumed cohabitation with resp.; but he was guilty of cruelty towards her, & she left him after living with him a year & nine months. Upon an application by petitioner to make the decree nisi absolute, the Queen's Proctor intervening:—Held: there was nothing in the circumstances to prevent the cruelty of which resp. had been guilty during the second cohabitation from reviving the matrimonial offences on the ground of which the decree nisi had been pronounced, & inasmuch as it must be taken that she went through the form of marriage with another person in the honest belief that her marriage with resp. was dissolved, the ct. was entitled to make the decree nisi absolute.—MOORE v. MOORE, [1892] P. 382; 62 L. J. P. 10; 67 L. T. 530; 8 T. L. R. 704; 1 R. 488.

Annotations:—Consd. Rogers v. Rogers, [1894] P. 161. Refd. Whitworth v. Whitworth, [1893] P. 85; Braddock v. Braddock (1910), 27 T. L. R. 94.

3518. —— —— ——.]—SPILSBURY v. SPILSBURY (1892), 8 T. L. R. 456.

Annotation:—Refd. Moore v. Moore (1892), 8 T. L. R. 704.

3519. —— —— ——.]—SNOOK v. SNOOK & WOOLACOTT, No. 3514, ante.

3520. —— Agreement to dissolve previous marriage—Belief in validity.]—A husband & wife separated & signed an agreement by which each of them agreed that the other should be at liberty to marry again. The husband, believing that his marriage was legally dissolved, went through the ceremony of marriage with another woman, & cohabited with her; but, being advised that the agreement which he had signed was worthless, he left her, & resumed cohabitation with his wife, who was afterwards guilty of adultery with co-resp. The husband then presented a petition for divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery:—Held: as petitioner acted as he did in the bonâ fide belief that the agreement which he had signed constituted a legal dissolution of the marriage, the ct. was justified in the exercise of its discretion in granting him a divorce.—WHITWORTH v. WHITWORTH & THOMASSON, [1893] P. 85; 62 L. J. P. 71; 68 L. T. 467; 41 W. R. 592; 9 T. L. R. 229; 1 R. 509.

3521. —— Bigamy by respondent—Belief that marriage automatically dissolved.]—DURRANT v. DURRANT (1895), 12 T. L. R. 76.

3522. Mistake of fact—Belief that respondent dead.]—A husband believing that his wife, who had eloped from him & was living in adultery, was dead, married another woman & committed adultery with her.

The ct. in the exercise of the discretion vested in it by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, granted the husband a divorce notwithstanding his adultery.—JOSEPH v. JOSEPH & WENTZELL (1865), 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 96; 13 W. R. 872.

Annotations:—Apld. Potter v. Potter (1892), 67 L. T. 721. Refd. Morgan v. Morgan (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 644; McCord v. McCord (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 237; Whitworth v. Whitworth, [1893] P. 85; Pegg v. Pegg & Gowing (1904), 20 T. L. R. 353; Wyke v. Wyke, [1904] P. 149.

3523. —.]—A husband believing that his wife was dead married again, & subsequently discovered that his wife was alive & had committed adultery:—Held: notwithstanding the bigamy, he was entitled to a dissolution of his marriage.—FREEGARD v. FREEGARD, COWPER & LUCAS (1883), 8 P. D. 186; 52 L. J. P. 100; 32 W. R. 95.

Annotations:—Apld. Potter v. Potter (1892), 67 L. T. 721. Refd. Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167.

3524. —— ——.]—The wife petitioned for a divorce. She married resp. in 1870, & he deserted her in 1873. She, believing him to be dead, contracted a bigamous marriage with T., in 1889, & lived with him as his wife until June, 1892, when she heard that resp. was alive. She thereupon separated from T. & commenced this suit, which was undefended:—Held: she was entitled to a decree dissolving her marriage with resp.—POTTER v. POTTER (1892), 67 L. T. 721; 1 R. 499.

3525. —— —— Disappearance for four years.]—A wife, not having seen her husband for about four years, married again, while her husband was still alive. The wife subsequently petitioned for a divorce on the grounds of his desertion & adultery, & his adultery was proved:—Held: in the circumstances petitioner had lost her right to ask the ct. to exercise its discretion in her favour & the petition must be dismissed.—CRESWICK v. CRESWICK (1916), 32 T. L. R. 677.

3526. —— —— Adultery continued after knowledge of respondent's existence—Warning by solicitors.]—HYNES v. HYNES & LAKE (1904), 20 T. L. R. 781.

3527. —— —— —— Delay in bringing suit.]—PEGG v. PEGG & GOWING (1904), 20 T. L. R. 353.

ix. Proof of Adultery.

3528. Less than to support petition.]—LEICESTER (LORD) v. LEICESTER (LADY) (1737), cited 1 Hag. Con. at p. 153; 161 E. R. 508.

Annotations:—Refd. Astley v. Astley (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 714; Sopwith v. Sopwith (1860), 2 Sw. & Tr. 160; Hodgson v. Hodgson (1905), 53 W. R. 623.

3529. Whether proof of solicitation sufficient.] — In a suit for adultery, solicitation of chastity not proved by the adverse party; & if proved might be doubtful whether it could be considered as a bar to a sentence of divorce.—CHETTLE v. CHETTLE (1821), 3 Phillim. 507; 161 E. R. 1399.

Annotations:—Refd. Eldred v. Eldred (1840), 2 Curt. 376; Cocksedge v. Cocksedge (1844), 1 Rob. Eccl. 90.

x. Other Cases.

3530. Adultery with full knowledge of offence.]—The ct. will not exercise its discretion in favour of a husband who is petitioning for a divorce, & who has himself committed adultery, if petitioner's misconduct was committed by him with full knowledge that he was committing adultery.—CRAVEN v. CRAVEN & ROBINSON (1909), 26 T. L. R. 4.

3531. —— Before & after King's Proctor's intervention.]—Where petitioner has not only committed adultery prior to the King's Proctor's intervention, but has also committed adultery subsequent to the King's Proctor's plea & after he (or she) knew that it was wrong to do so, the ct. will not exercise its discretion in petitioner's favour & grant a decree under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31.—LINGHAM v. LINGHAM (1919), 64 Sol. Jo. 117.

3532. Adultery after filing of petition.]—DRUMMOND v. DRUMMOND, No. 3158, ante.

3533. Adultery after decree for judicial separation.]—Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 29, imposes on the ct. of the judge ordinary the obligation to inquire into any countercharge made against any person petitioning for a divorce.

Adultery, alleged to have been committed by petitioner at any time during the marriage, in which term is included the period between a decree for a divorce a mensâ et thoro, & the actual dissolution of the marriage, is a countercharge into which the ct. is so bound to inquire.

If such adultery has been committed between the time when a decree for a divorce a mensâ et thoro, under the old law, was pronounced, & the time when a petition under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), was presented, praying for a dissolution of the marriage, the judge ordinary, on being duly informed thereof, is "not bound" under sect. 31 to dissolve the marriage. Qu.: whether he may, in his discretion, dissolve it.

The Queen's Proctor under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), can only intervene in his official capacity in a case of collusion, & where no case of collusion has been made out he merely appears to show cause against the decree nisi as one of the public, & the ct. has no jurisdiction to award him costs.—LAUTOUR v. QUEEN'S PROCTOR (1864), 10 H. L. Cas. 685; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 89; 10 L. T. 198; 10 Jur. N. S. 325; 12 W. R. 611; 11 E. R. 1193, H. L.; varying S. C. sub nom. LATOUR v. LATOUR & WESTON (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 524.

Annotations:—Consd. Pullen v. Pullen (1920), 123 L. T. 203; Tickner v. Tickner, [1924] P. 118. Refd. Gipps v. Gipps (1864), 11 H. L. Cas. 1; Masters v. Masters (1864), 4 New Rep. 200; Clarke v. Clarke & Clarke (1865), 3 L. J. P. M. & A. 94; Wilson v. Wilson (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 180; Conradi v. Conradi (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 391; Dering v. Dering (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 531; Morgan v. Morgan & Porter (1869), 38 L. J. P. & M. 41; Vivian v. Vivian (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 100; Hudson v. Hudson (1875), 1 P. D. 65; Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167; Evans v. Evans & Elford, [1906] P. 125; Higgins v. King's Proctor, King's Proctor v. Carter, [1910] P. 151; Hines v. Hines & Burdett, [1918] P. 364.

3534. Adultery after decree nisi—Before decree absolute.]—HULSE v. HULSE & TAVERNOR, No. 5097, post.

3535. Adultery with respondent—Before previous marriage dissolved.]—In 1878 the husband obtained a decree nisi against his first wife. Before decree absolute he married the present resp. The Queen's Proctor not opposing, the decree was afterwards made absolute. Petitioner & resp. subsequently went through a fresh ceremony of marriage. Upon a petition by the husband:—Held: he was entitled to have this marriage dissolved by reason of his wife's adultery, & his claim to relief was not barred by reason of his adultery committed prior to the final dissolution of the first marriage.—STYLES v. STYLES & JACKSON (1890), 62 L. T. 613.

3536. Adultery found in previous suit—Whether conclusive.]—CONRADI v. CONRADI, WORRALL & WAY, No. 2764, ante.

3537. —— —— Petitioner cited as co-respondent in previous proceedings.]—(1) Where petitioner presented his petition for dissolution of marriage & it was pleaded that he had been cited as a co-resp. in a previous suit & found guilty by a jury of adultery & cast in damages, it was held that petitioner in his own suit was entitled to deny that adultery, the finding of which, in the previous suit, was not conclusive against him in his own.

(2) Where it may not be in the interests of anybody to put the evidence of such adultery before the ct. in the second suit, the ct. will communicate with the King's Proctor, who can intervene in that suit if he so desires.—PARTINGTON v. PARTINGTON & ATKINSON, [1925] P 34; 94 L. J. P. 49; 132 L. T. 495; 41 T. L. R. 174; 69 Sol. Jo. 294.

3538. —— Condonation by cohabitation—Respondent convicted for rape.]—A husband obtained a decree nisi for a dissolution of marriage, on the ground of his wife's adultery; but, upon the intervention of the Queen's Proctor, the decree nisi was rescinded, on the ground of the adultery & cruelty of petitioner. The parties afterwards resumed cohabitation, & the husband committed fresh acts of cruelty. He was afterwards sentenced to ten years' penal servitude for a rape upon a girl under twelve years of age. The ct., in the exercise of its discretion, pronounced a decree nisi for dissolution of the marriage on the wife's petition, notwithstanding her previous adultery.—COLLINS v. COLLINS (1884), 9 P. D. 231; 53 L. J. P. 116; 33 W. R. 170.

Annotations:—Refd. Boucher v. Boucher & Judd (1892), 67 L. T. 720; Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167.

(b) In Suits for Judicial Separation.

Adultery of respondent—As matrimonial offence.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 5, sub-sect. 3, ante.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 4, D. (b) & (c).]

3539. General rule.]—(1) A judicial separation can only be granted where petitioner comes to the ct. with a pure character, & is free from all matrimonial misconduct. Accordingly where a husband & wife had both been found guilty of adultery, & the husband had also been found guilty of cruelty:—Held: the ct. had no jurisdiction to make a decree of judicial separation on the ground of such cruelty, however aggravated its character might be.

(2) A husband & wife who were married before 1882, presented cross-petitions for dissolution of marriage, the wife's petition being presented before that of her husband. They were both found guilty of adultery, & the husband was also found guilty of cruelty of an aggravated character. The judge refused to decree dissolution of marriage, but granted the wife a decree for judicial separation, & gave her her costs. The husband having appealed, the Ct. of Appeal discharged the order for judicial separation:—Held: the wife was entitled, notwithstanding her adultery, to her costs both in the ct. below & on the appeal. Semble: if the wife had been herself applt., & had been unsuccessful, she would not have had her costs of the appeal. Qu.: whether the Rules of the Divorce Ct. as to the wife's costs are applicable to women married since Married Women's Property Act, 1882 (c. 75).—OTWAY v. OTWAY, OTWAY v. OTWAY & HOFFER (1888), 13 P. D. 141; 57 L. J. P. 81; 59 L. T. 153; 4 T. L. R. 523, 534, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Duplany v. Duplany, [1892] P. 53. Consd. Gooch v. Gooch, [1893] P. 99; Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner, [1905] P. 233. Folld. Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298. Refd. Stoker v. Stoker, Skidmore & Murray, Stoker v. Stoker (1889), 60 L. T. 400; Dixon v. Dixon (1892), 67 L. T. 394; Synge v. Synge, [1900] P. 180; Constantinidi v. Constantinidi & Lance, [1903] P. 246. As to (2) Apld. Earnshaw v. Earnshaw, [1896] P. 160. Refd. Hall v. Hall, [1891] P. 302; Ash v. Ash, [1893] P. 222; Betton-Bright v. Betton-Bright, [1920] P. 338; Abrahams v. Buckley, [1924] 1 K. B. 903.

3540. ——.]—A wife living in an adulterous alliance, even though brought about by the procurement or connivance of her husband, cannot maintain against him a suit for judicial separation. The husband's connivance does not take such a case out of the general rule laid down in Otway v. Otway, Otway v. Otway & Hoffer, No. 3539, ante.

A husband petitioned for divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery. The adultery was admitted, but the wife pleaded condonation, connivance & conduct conducing, & she brought counter charges of cruelty, & prayed for judicial separation. At the date of the petition she was still living in adultery. The judge found that the wife's charges of cruelty against the husband were proved, & dismissed the petition. He granted judicial separation to the wife on the ground of the husband's connivance:—Held: the case must be decided on principles & rules as nearly as may be conformable to those on which the old Ecclesiastical Cts. would have acted, & that those Cts. would never have given relief to a wife under such circumstances.—EVERETT v. EVERETT & MCCULLUM, [1919] P. 298; 88 L. J. P. 130; 121 L. T. 503; 35 T. L. R. 613; 63 Sol. Jo. 682, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Pullen v. Pullen & Holding (1920), 123 L. T. 203.

3541. Whether adultery a bar—Petition on ground of cruelty—Adultery since commencement of suit.]—DRUMMOND v. DRUMMOND, No. 3158, ante.

3542. —— —— Petitioner without need of court's protection.]—The ct. refused to grant a decree of judicial separation on the ground of the husband's cruelty in a case where the wife had committed adultery, being of opinion that she did not require the protection of the ct. Qu.: whether the ct. can in any case grant a decree of judicial separation on the ground of cruelty to a wife who has been guilty of adultery.—GROSSI v. GROSSI (1873), L. R. 3 P. & D. 118; 42 L. J. P. & M. 69; 28 L. T. 371; 21 W. R. 551.

Annotation:—Consd. Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298.

3543. —— —— Aggravated cruelty.]—OTWAY v. OTWAY, OTWAY v. OTWAY & HOFFER, No. 3539, ante.

3544. —— No conducement to adultery.]—Where petitioning wife has committed adultery & resp. husband has been guilty of adultery & cruelty, the ct. should not exercise its discretion by granting a decree nisi for divorce unless the wife's conduct was caused directly by the husband's cruelty & adultery, but it may, with the wife's assent, grant a decree of judicial separation.—BELCHER v. BELCHER (1919), 35 T. L. R. 581.

3545. —— When condoned—Gross adultery by respondent.]—A suit for restitution of conjugal rights being commenced by the wife, the husband pleaded her adultery in bar, & prayed a separation; the wife then charged the husband with adultery, & prayed a separation. The ct. being of opinion that the wife had been guilty of very gross adultery, & that the husband's adultery with one person long anterior had been fully condoned, pronounced for a separation, at the prayer of the husband.—ANICHINI v. ANICHINI (1839), 2 Curt. 210; 163 E. R. 387.

Annotations:—Consd. Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. App. II., 665; Hope v. Hope (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 91. Folld. Seller v. Seller (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 482. Expld. Goode v. Goode & Hamson (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 253. Consd. Lautour v. Her Majesty's Proctor (1864), 10 H. L. Cas. 685; Morgan v. Morgan (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 644; McCord v. McCord (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 237; Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167; Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298; Pullen v. Pullen & Holding (1920), 123 L. T. 203. Refd. Gooch v. Gooch, [1893] P. 99; Evans v. Evans & Elford, [1906] P. 125; Wain v. Wain & Eve (1909), 101 L. T. 815; Munzer v. Munzer & Swain (1912), 28 T. L. R. 596; Woltereck v. Woltereck & Walters, [1912] P. 201.

3546. Cohabitation after previous decree.]—A wife petitioned for judicial separation by reason of her husband's adultery, setting forth in the petition a sentence of divorce a mensâ et thoro obtained by the husband in 1833 by reason of her adultery, after which the parties were reconciled & cohabited together. On demurrer to this petition:—Held: the adultery of petitioner having been condoned was no bar to her present suit.—SELLER v. SELLER (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 482; 28 L. J. P. & M. 99; 34 L. T. O. S. 46; 23 J. P. 471; 5 Jur. N. S. 686; 8 W. R. 5; 164 E. R. 823.

Annotations:—Consd. Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298. Refd. Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292; Gooch v. Gooch, [1893] P. 99.

3547. —— —— Continued to & existing at date of proceedings.]—EVERETT v. EVERETT & MCCULLUM, No. 3540, ante.

3548. —— —— Covenant in separation deed not to sue for antecedent offences.]—A husband & wife had separated in 1886 under a deed which contained the following clause: "No proceedings shall be commenced or prosecuted by or on behalf of either party against the other in respect of any cause of complaint which now exists or has arisen before the date of these presents." In 1890 the wife presented a petition for judicial separation on the ground of adultery committed in the years 1889 & 1890, & the husband in his answer charged his wife with adultery committed in the years 1884 & 1885. At the trial both parties were found guilty of adultery:—Held: the covenant in the deed of separation was not equivalent to condonation, & it did not preclude the husband from pleading in answer to his wife's petition adultery committed by her before the date of the deed.—GOOCH v. GOOCH, [1893] P. 99; 62 L. J. P. 73; 68 L. T. 462; 41 W. R. 655; 9 T. L. R. 303; 1 R. 516.

PART XIII. SECT. 7, SUB-SECT. 4.—D. (b).

3539 i. General rule.]—A guilty party in a matrimonial suit cannot obtain relief by way of judicial separation.—HILL v. HILL (1923), I. L. R. 47 Bom. 657.—IND.

Annotation:—Refd. Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298.

3549. — Where not condoned—Petitioner's adultery subsequent to respondent's.]—Divorce, by reason of adultery, barred by the compensatio criminis, committed even after the adultery of deft. Recrimination sustained.—PROCTOR v. PROCTOR (1819), 2 Hag. Con. 292; 161 E. R. 747.

Annotations:—Apld. Astley v. Astley (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 714. Consd. Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. App. II., 665; Hope v. Hope (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 94; Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298. Refd. Drummond v. Drummond (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 177; Otway v. Otway (1888), 13 P. D. 141; Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167; Constantinidi v. Constantinidi, [1903] P. 246; Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner (1905), 53 W. R. 623; Evans v. Evans & Elford, [1906] P. 125; Brooking-Phillips v. Brooking-Phillips, [1913] P. 80.

3550. —— When adultery connived at.]—EVERETT v. EVERETT & MCCULLUM, No. 3540, ante.

3551. Suit by husband—Cruelty by wife.]—A suit having been instituted by a husband for a judicial separation from his wife on the ground of her cruelty, the latter, besides traversing the charge, pleaded that the husband had been guilty of adultery. On an application to the ct. by petitioner's counsel on motion to strike out so much of resp.'s answer as contained the recriminatory charge, it was refused, the proper course being to demur to the plea.—HALL v. HALL (1863), 2 New Rep. 85; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 117; 11 W. R. 810.

(c) In Suits for Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

Defences to suit for restitution of conjugal rights, see Part XIII., Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, F., ante.

3552. Whether adultery a bar.]—SAVILE'S CASE (1740), cited in 1 Add. at p. 412; 162 E. R. 146.

Annotations:—Consd. Best v. Best (1823), 1 Add. 411. Refd. Clowes v. Jones (falsely called Jones) (1843), 3 Curt. 185.

3553. ——.]—DENNISS v. DENNISS (1808), 2 Rob. Eccl. 268, n.; 3 Hag. Ecc. 348, n.; 163 E. R. 1313.

Annotations:—Refd. Phillips v. Phillips (1846), 4 Notes of Cases, 523; Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. 665; Connelly v. Connelly (1850), 2 Rob. Eccl. 201. Mentd. Chambers v. Chambers (1810), 1 Hag. Con. 439.

3554. ——.]—MORTIMER v. MORTIMER, No. 3313, ante.

3555. ——.]—BARLEE v. BARLEE, No. 2463, ante.

3556. ——.]—GEILS v. GEILS, No. 2464, ante.

3557. —— Where both parties guilty of offence.]—NAYLOR v. NAYLOR (1777), cited 1 Hag. Ecc. 722; 162 E. R. 731.

Annotations:—Distd. Astley v. Astley (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 714. Consd. Hope v. Hope (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 94. Refd. Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. App. II., 665.

3558. ——.]—ANICHINI v. ANICHINI, No. 3545, ante.

3559. —— Doctrine of compensatio criminis not applicable.]—The doctrine of the canon law that, where husband & wife have both been guilty of adultery, there is a compensatio criminum & both are restored to the position of innocent parties, is not part of the law of England. Therefore, a suit for restitution of conjugal rights cannot be sustained by a wife who has committed adultery, although the husband also has committed adultery.—HOPE v. HOPE (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 94; 27 L. J. P. & M. 43; 31 L. T. O. S. 138; 22 J. P. 308; 4 Jur. N. S. 515; 6 W. R. 585; 164 E. R. 644.

Annotations:—Consd. Seller v. Seller (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 482; Wilson v. Glossop (1887), 19 Q. B. D. 379. Folld. Brooking-Phillips v. Brooking-Phillips, [1913] P. 80. Refd. Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298.

3560. —— —— ——.]—A wife petitioned for restitution of conjugal rights. The husband in his answer alleged adultery against her. In reply the wife denied the charge, & further pleaded that the husband had been guilty of adultery. A summons was taken out by the husband asking that the paragraphs in the reply relating to the allegations of adultery against him should be struck out as irrelevant:—Held: the paragraphs must be struck out, as a decree for restitution would not be granted to a wife guilty of adultery, & the principle of compensatio criminis would not be adopted by the ct.—BROOKING-PHILLIPS v. BROOKING-PHILLIPS, [1913] P. 80; 82 L. J. P. 57; 108 L. T. 397; 29 T. L. R. 288, C. A.; affg. S. C. sub nom. P. v. P. (1912), 107 L. T. 721.

Annotation:—Refd. Wickins v. Wickins (No. 2), [1918] P. 282.

3561. —— No acquiescence by respondent.]—BURGESS v. BURGESS (1817), 2 Hag. Con. 223; 161 E. R. 723.

Annotation:—Distd. Grover v. Grover (1836), 5 Notes of Cases, 463.

3562. — — Not condoned or concealed.]—(1) To a suit for restitution of conjugal rights brought by the wife, the husband pleaded in a responsive allegation the adultery of the wife. The acts pleaded were in substance & form the same as had been previously alleged by the husband in a suit for divorce, in which the libel was rejected:—Held: the defence being one which the husband had a right to set up in bar to the wife's suit, & the acts charged being sufficiently specific to entitle him, if not condoned or concealed, to allege them as grounds for a charge of divorce in such a suit, he was entitled to plead them by way of responsive allegation.

(2) Semble: if the acts of adultery charged are sufficiently circumstantial to admit of proof, it is not necessary to specify time & place.—MOORE v. MOORE (1840), 3 Moo. P. C. C. 84; 13 E. R. 39, P. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Sopwith v. Sopwith (1860), 2 Sw. & Tr. 160. Refd. Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. 665; Stace v. Stace (1868), 37 L. J. P. & M. 51; Russell v. Russell, [1895] P. 315.

3563. —— Adultery subsequent to separation.]—In a wife's suit for restitution of conjugal rights, the husband pleaded that he had been induced to marry her on a false representation that she was pregnant by him; that she had, since their separation, committed adultery; & that he was not able to maintain her. The ct. ordered the first plea to be struck out, & allowed the second to stand. The charge of adultery it directed to be pleaded in the usual manner with particulars.—GREEN v. GREEN (1869), 21 L. T. 401.

3564. Suspicion of adultery.]—BURROUGHS v. BURROUGHS, No. 2457, ante.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 4, D. (d) & (e), E. (a) & (b).]

(d) In Suits for Nullity of Marriage.

Marriage voidable for impotence.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 3, sub-sect. 2, ante.

3565. Whether adultery a bar.]—(1) The husband brought a suit of nullity of marriage, by reason of impotency, against the wife, who pleaded in answer matters in contradiction to the husband's case & also the adultery of the husband:—Held: it was not competent to the wife to plead the husband's adultery at that stage of the cause.

(2) [Counsel] pressed the ct. not to order an inspection. I am very sensible how painful this must be to any lady, & certainly would make no such order save ex debito justitiae. If the allegation had pleaded merely matters in bar, not putting in issue the malformation, I might have deliberated whether I would not have delayed ordering the inspection until publication had passed as to the plea in bar, for if that plea were good & proved there would have been an end of the suit; but this allegation puts in issue the malformation & all the facts to prove the contrary: how is it possible I could receive evidence on one side, & not legal evidence on the other? . . . There is still an additional reason. Deft. has brought with reference to this very question of malformation a most serious charge against pltf. She has charged him with having caused an appearance of malformation, by giving her the venereal disease. Surely it would be against all justice to allow that article to go to proof & not permit pltf. by the only possible process to rebut that charge & prove his original case (DR. LUSHINGTON).—ANON. (1857), Dea. & Sw. 295; 5 W. R. 750; 164 E. R. 581.

Annotation:—Generally, Refd. M. (otherwise D.) v. D. (1885), 10 P. D. 75.

3566. ——.]—A plea to a petition for a decree of nullity of marriage on the ground of the impotence of resp., that petitioner had committed adultery is irrelevant & will be struck out.—TAVERNER (FALSELY CALLED DITCHFIELD) v. DITCHFIELD (1864), 4 New Rep. 28; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 105.

Annotation:—Refd. G. v. M. (1885), 10 App. Cas. 174, n.

3567. ——.]—G. v. M. (1885), No. 3339, ante.

3568. —— Sincerity.]—At the end of seven years' cohabitation a marriage had not been consummated, through the impotence of the alleged husband. The alleged wife subsequently cohabited with another man, & upon the alleged husband discovering her misconduct she instituted a suit for nullity of marriage against him & he a suit for dissolution of marriage against her:—Held: the proof of impotence being clear her conduct did not show such a want of sincerity as to deprive her of her right to have the marriage annulled.

(2) When the impotence is undoubted, mere delay is not sufficient to disentitle the injured party to relief.—M. (OTHERWISE D.) v. D. (1885), 10 P. D. 75; 54 L. J. P. 68; 33 W. R. 657.

3569. —— ——.]—(1) In order to raise the question of insincerity in a suit for nullity, it is necessary that the answer should specifically allege it.

(2) Adultery may be alleged, &, if established, is material matter for consideration on the question of petitioner's insincerity.

(3) Petitioner is, however, not bound to answer questions tending to establish adultery.—S. (OTHERWISE G.) v. S., [1907] P. 224; 76 L. J. P. 118: 23 T. L. R. 460; 51 Sol. Jo. 430.

Annotation:—As to (3) N.F. Hensley v. Hensley & Nevin (1920), 122 L. T. 814.

(e) In Suits claiming Damages only.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 48), s. 189.

3570. Petitioner barred—Unless discretion exercised in his favour.]—COX v. COX & WARDE, No. 2815, ante.

E. Petitioner's Cruelty.

(a) In General.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 178 (3) (b).

Cruelty of respondent—As matrimonial offence.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 5, sub-sect. 2, ante.

3571. Whether pleadable in bar to charge of adultery.]—FORSTER v. FORSTER, No. 3403, ante.

3572. ——.]—MOORSOM v. MOORSOM, No. 3082, ante.

3573. ——.]—Cruelty is not a bar to a charge of adultery, but may be pleaded as introductory to the history of an adulterous intercourse.—ARKLEY v. ARKLEY (1821), 3 Phillim. 500; 161 E. R. 1397.

Annotations:—Refd. Eldred v. Eldred (1840), 2 Curt. 376; Cocksedge v. Cocksedge (1844), 3 Notes of Cases, 218.

3574. ——.]—(1) Cruelty cannot be pleaded by the wife in bar of a charge of adultery.

The wife having failed in a charge of adultery & a recriminating plea having been proved by the husband cruelty & the introduction of the wife to a female of loose character (the wife's guilt not being connected with such introduction) form no bar to his prayer for divorce.

(2) Where the wife is charged with adultery her conduct & declarations on a confession of guilt by the alleged particeps criminis being communicated to her are admissible evidence on behalf of the husband.—HARRIS v. HARRIS (1829), 2 Hag. Ecc. 376; 162 E. R. 894; affd., 2 Hag. Eccl. 511.

Annotations:—As to (1) Folld. Dillon v. Dillon (1842), 3 Curt. 86, 96. Consd. Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner, [1905] P. 233. Refd. Otway v. Otway (1888), 57 L. J. P. 81. As to (2) Refd. Graves v. Graves (1842), 3 Curt. 235. Generally, Refd. Russell v. Russell (1897), 66 L. J. P. 122.

3575. —— Coupled with plea of adultery.]—In a suit for divorce by reason of the wife's adultery, an allegation on her behalf, pleading cruelty by the husband, coupled with a charge of adultery, as a foundation for a prayer of separation against the husband, admitted.

There can be no doubt that cruelty is not pleadable as a bar to adultery; but it is not clear that cruelty, coupled with other circumstances, may not be pleaded as a foundation for a sentence of separation (SIR H. JENNER).—ELDRED v. ELDRED (1840), 2 Curt. 376; 163 E. R. 445.

Annotation:—Folld. Cocksedge v. Cocksedge (1844), 1 Rob. Eccl. 90.

3576. ——.]—DILLON v. DILLON, No. 4008, post.

3577. ——.]—COCKSEDGE v. COCKSEDGE, No. 3598, post.

Cruelty as bar to relief—In petitions for dissolution of marriage.]—See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 178; Part XIII., Sect. 7, sub-sect. 4, E. (b), post.

(b) In Suits for Dissolution of Marriage.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 178.

3578. Discretionary bar.]—A remaining charge is that of cruelty. On this plea the question might arise, whether a party would be entitled to bar her husband from his remedy of divorce for adultery, proved against her, by the plea of cruelty. I am inclined to think, that she would not. It is certain, that the wife has a right to say, "You shall not have a sentence against me for adultery, if you are guilty of the same offence yourself." The received doctrine of compensation would have that effect, because both parties are in eodem delicto ; but this is not so in recrimination of cruelty ; the delictum is not of the same kind. If the wife was the prior petens in a suit of cruelty, I do not know, that she would be barred by a recrimination of that species ; for the consideration would be very different ; the ct. might not oblige her to cohabitation, which would be dangerous. Here the husband is the prior petens in a suit of adultery, & I take the general doctrine to be, " that a wife cannot plead cruelty as a bar to divorce, for her violation of the marriage-bed " (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—CHAMBERS v. CHAMBERS (1810), 1 Hag. Con. 439 ; 161 E. R. 610.

Annotations :—Consd. Eldred v. Eldred (1840), 2 Curt. 376. Folld. Dillon v. Dillon (1842), 3 Curt. 86, 96. Consd. Cocksedge v. Cocksedge (1844), 1 Rob. Eccl. 90. Refd. Otway v. Otway (1888), 13 P. D. 141 ; Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner (1905), 53 W. R. 623 ; Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298.

3579. By what cruelty petitioner barred —Cruelty conducing to respondent's misconduct.]—The jury having found on the issues submitted to them in a suit for dissolution of marriage by the husband against the wife that resp. was guilty of adultery, & petitioner guilty of cruelty to resp. brought on by her drunkenness, the ct. made a decree dissolving the marriage.

Semble : the cruelty contemplated by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, will in most cases be taken to mean such cruelty as has led to the adultery alleged in the petition.—PEARMAN v. PEARMAN & BURGESS (1860), 1 Sw. & Tr. 601 ; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 54 ; 1 L. T. 415 ; 8 W. R. 274.

Annotations :—Consd. Edwards v. Edwards, [1894] P. 33 ; Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167 ; Pryor v. Pryor, [1900] P. 157 ; Wickins v. Wickins, [1918] P. 265. Refd. Parry v. Parry, [1896] P. 37.

3580. —— ——.]—Decree dissolving the marriage pronounced in favour of a husband who had been convicted by justices of an aggravated assault upon his wife, & against whom a separation has been thereupon made.

The rule with reference to cruelty has been, that if it should appear that the conduct of the husband has been such as to conduce to the wife's fault, then that has been sternly visited upon him. In other cases where that has not been so plain, a decree has been made with some provision for the guilty wife. . . . I think on the whole that I can pronounce this decree. It is quite true that the magistrate seems to have convicted this man of what appears to be an aggravated assault. It is also true that the magistrate was obliged to so convict him, in order to grant a separation to the wife. The petitioner seems to have paid the allowance regularly, until he found out his wife's adultery (JEUNE, J.).—SERGENT v. SERGENT & WEAVER (1891), 64 L. T. 236.

3581. —— ——.]—The discretion conferred upon judges of the Divorce Court by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, is not an absolute or arbitrary, but a judicial discretion, & is intended to be exercised in conformity with the former practice of the House of Lords. Cruelty on the part of petitioner, in order to bar a claim for a divorce, must either have led to the adultery of the resp., or be entirely wanton & unprovoked in its character.

In considering what terms should be imposed upon petitioner who has been found guilty of cruelty towards resp. the ct. takes into consideration all the facts of the particular case before it, & considers the interests not merely of the parties, but of the child or children, if any, of the marriage.

Where the means of petitioner, the husband, were very small & uncertain, & resp.'s parents, whose character & goodwill were unquestioned, had offered to look after the only child of the marriage, the ct. in granting a decree, assented to an arrangement which had been arrived at between the parties subsequently to the verdict, whereby the formal custody of the child was given to resp. & no allowance was ordered against petitioner.—PRYOR v. PRYOR, COWIE & MACDONALD, [1900] P. 157 ; 69 L. J. P. 99.

Annotation :—Consd. Squire v. Squire, [1905] P. 4.

3582. —— ——.]—(1) In order that the ct. should exercise its discretionary power under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, to deprive a husband, petitioning for a divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery, of his decree, on the ground that he has himself been guilty of cruelty, it is not of itself a material circumstance that the conduct of petitioner caused the separation of the parties antecedent to the adultery of the wife. The cruelty of the husband must conduce to, if it does not cause, the adultery of the wife ; & if that adultery is, in the opinion of the ct., brought about by other causes than the cruelty of the husband, for example, the habits & inclination of the wife, the husband who has been guilty of cruelty is nevertheless entitled to his decree.

(2) The object of the ct. in ordering a provision for a guilty wife is that she should be protected from temptation & lead a respectable life ; at the same time, a husband should not be called upon to support a wife who is leading an immoral life, & on this ground, as well as for the protection of the wife, the provision for her should be limited dum casta.

In the view I take of this class of case, it is material that the dum casta clause should be inserted. The wife should know & should be made to feel that her livelihood depends upon her leading a chaste life in the future. In cases where the wife has not been proved to have committed adultery I should be slow to insert the dum casta clause.

Although I do not lay so much stress upon the dum sola clause, I think that, too, ought to be inserted, & that the husband ought not to be called upon to contribute to the support of his divorced wife if she should become the wife of another man (JEUNE, P.).—SQUIRE v. SQUIRE & O'CALLAGHAN, [1905] P. 4 ; 74 L. J. P. 1 ; 92 L. T. 472 ; 21 T. L. R. 41.

Annotations :—As to (2) Apld. Woodcock v. Woodcock & Codesido (1914), 111 L. T. 924. Refd. Ollier v. Ollier, [1914] P. 240.

3583. —— Cruelty not serious.]—Decree nisi granted to a husband, although the jury found that he had been guilty of cruelty.—TANNAM v. TANNAM, BEESON & BALLARD (1897), 13 T. L. R. 453.

3584. —— Wanton & unprovoked cruelty.]—PRYOR v. PRYOR, COWIE & MACDONALD, No. 3581, ante.

3585. —— Not cruelty causing separation—Anterior to adultery.]—SQUIRE v. SQUIRE & O'CALLAGHAN, No. 3582, ante.

3586. Respondent's conduct conducing to petitioner's cruelty—Drunken habits.]—PEARMAN v. PEARMAN & BURGESS, No. 3579, ante.

3587. —— ——.]—FORRESTER v. FORRESTER (1884), Times, May 19.

Annotation :—Refd. Higgins v. King's Proctor, King's Proctor v. Carter, [1910] P. 151.

3588. —— ——.]—Upon a husband's petition for divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery, where the adultery is fully established against her, but where she cross-petitions cruelty as having been committed by her husband towards her, & where it appears that the wife is a woman of drunken habits, & that what she alleges as violence has been used upon her in consequence of her drunkenness, the ct. requires a very strong case to be made out against the husband in order to bar his right to relief from the marriage tie. Unless it is proved that he has been guilty of such gross violence towards her as the ct. cannot allow to be excused on the ground that he was provoked to it by her intemperance, the decree in his favour should not be withheld.—FORSYTH v. FORSYTH, ECCLES & FOSTER (1890), 63 L. T. 263.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 4, E. (b), (c) & (d), & F.

3589. —— —— Respondent found in flagrante delicto.]—SMITH v. SMITH (1901), 45 Sol. Jo. 467.

3590. Where cruelty condoned by respondent—Whether discretion exercised in petitioner's favour—Communication of venereal disease.] WILDEY v. WILDEY & RYDER, No. 3478, ante.

3591. —— —— Honest & straightforward account by petitioner.]—WOLTERECK v. WOLTERECK & WALTERS, No. 3485, ante.

3592. Sufficiency of proof of petitioner's cruelty—Former decree for judicial separation.]—The wife obtained in Mar. 1887, a decree for a judicial separation on the ground of cruelty, & was given the custody of her only child. On May 4, 1888, the husband was ordered to pay permanent alimony at the rate of £80 a year from the date of the decree. This he did not pay, although he had the means. On Sept. 17, 1888, a deed was executed by the husband & wife, by which the latter relinquished the custody of the child & all her right to alimony, in consideration of a lump sum of £75 then paid to her by her husband. Some little time after that deed was signed the husband became aware that his wife was committing adultery with the co-resp., with whom she went to live. The husband then filed his petition, asking for the dissolution of his marriage:—Held: as the cruelty on the part of the husband was not of such a nature as would induce the ct. to withhold a decree, & as the deed of release was executed by the wife with her eyes open, the husband should not be refused the relief prayed, & a decree nisi should accordingly be pronounced in his favour.—BADHAM v. BADHAM & GORST (1890), 62 L. T. 663.

Annotations:—Consd. Edwards v. Edwards, [1894] P. 33. Refd. Parry v. Parry, [1896] P. 37.

3593. —— Conviction for aggravated assault—Conviction necessary to grant separation.]—SERGENT v. SERGENT & WEAVER, No. 3580, ante.

3594. Exercise of discretion on terms—Allowance to wife.]—SERGENT v. SERGENT & WEAVER, No. 3580, ante.

3595. —— ——.]—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS & FRANCIS, No. 3412, ante.

3596. —— —— Custody of child to respondent.]—PRYOR v. PRYOR, COWIE & MACDONALD, No. 3581, ante.

3597. —— —— Dum sola et dum casta clause.]—SQUIRE v. SQUIRE & O'CALLAGHAN, No. 3582, ante.

(c) In Suits for Judicial Separation.

3598. On ground of adultery—Whether cruelty a bar.]—Cruelty is not pleadable by a wife in bar to a separation prayed by the husband by reason of her adultery; but cruelty is pleadable by her in conjunction with a cross-petition of adultery against the husband.

Qu.: whether if the proof of adultery fails on both sides, the wife will be entitled to a sentence of separation in the same suit, provided she prove cruelty.—COCKSEDGE v. COCKSEDGE (1844), 1 Rob. Eccl. 90; 3 Notes of Cases, 218; 163 E. R. 975; sub nom. COXSEDGE v. COXSEDGE, 8 Jur. 935.

3599. —— ——.] LEMPRIERE v. LEMPRIERE & ROEBEL, No. 3440, ante.

(d) In Suits for Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

Defences for suit for restitution, see Part XIII., Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, F., ante.

3600. By what cruelty petitioner barred—Sufficient to found petition for judicial separation.]—In a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, no facts are sufficient to bar the proceeding, except such as would be sufficient to have entitled the party to a divorce on an original suit.

"I was of opinion nothing could be offered in bar to her living with her husband, but such facts as would entitle her to a divorce, in case she had brought a suit against him to be separated for cruelty" (SIR GEORGE LEE).—HOLMES v. HOLMES (1757), 2 Lee, 116; 161 E. R. 283.

Annotation:—Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395.

3601. —— Not accidental injuries in course of wrongful resistance—On minor acts.]—OLIVER v. OLIVER, No. 2574, ante.

3602. —— Personal violence or manifest danger—Not mere unkindness or unfounded fears.]—BARLEE v. BARLEE, No. 2463, ante.

3603. —— Conduct rendering cohabitation unsafe.]—To the wife's petition for restitution of conjugal rights, the husband answered alleging violence of language & conduct on her part, & that he could not, without danger to his health, renew the cohabitation, but setting out no facts amounting to primâ facie cruelty.

The ct., it being the husband's answer & the suit at his expense, declined to determine, until it had heard the evidence, whether the conduct attributed to petitioner amounted to legal cruelty, & held the answer sufficient.—STACE v. STACE (1868), 37 L. J. P. & M. 51; 18 L. T. 740; 16 W. R. 1176.

Annotation:—Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1895] P. 315.

3604. —— ——.]—In a suit by a wife for restitution of conjugal rights the husband alleged that petitioner drank to excess, &, further, that she had been guilty of cruelty towards him. The jury found that petitioner had been guilty of physical violence to resp., but not of cruelty; that petitioner drank to excess; that it was not unsafe at the time resp. left petitioner for the parties to live together:—Held: a decree of restitution of conjugal rights should be refused.—BUTLAND v. BUTLAND (1913), 29 T. L. R. 729.

Annotation:—Refd. Fisk v. Fisk (1920), 122 L. T. 803.

3605. —— Charging respondent with unnatural offence.]—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL, No. 2661, ante.

3606. Cruelty condoned—Not subsequently revived.]—GEILS v. GEILS, No. 2464, ante.

F. Petitioner's Desertion or Wilful Separation without Reasonable Excuse.

(a) In Suits for Dissolution of Marriage.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 178 (3) (c).

Respondent's desertion—As matrimonial offence.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 5, sub-sect. 3, ante.

3607. "Without reasonable excuse"—General rule.]—The ct. will not dissolve a marriage on the ground of the wife's adultery when satisfied that before the date of the adultery complained of, the husband deserted her without reasonable excuse.—

YEATMAN v. YEATMAN (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 187; 39 L. J. P. & M. 77; 23 L. T. 283; 18 W. R. 1088.

3608. —— Equivalent to "without reasonable cause"—Separation without justification.]—WICKINS v. WICKINS, No. 3292, ante.

3609. —— Respondent submitting to indecent liberties with men.]—(1) Where the case of petitioner, in a suit for dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery, has been proved, & the ct. do not find that he has been accessory to or conniving at the adultery, or that there had been condonation or connivance, they are bound to pronounce a decree dissolving the marriage, unless it is established affirmatively that petitioner has been guilty of one of the acts which, under the proviso to Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, give the ct. a discretionary power to refuse to dissolve the marriage.

(2) Where it appears doubtful on the evidence in the suit whether or not the conduct of petitioner has been such as to give the ct. such discretionary power, the ct. will, for the purpose of satisfying their minds, examine petitioner adversely under sect. 43, but will not in a suit instituted on the ground of adultery examine him or permit him to be examined for the purpose of proving his own case. After the ct. has examined petitioner adversely, his counsel will be permitted to suggest questions to petitioner for the purpose of clearing up what the ct. may have elicited adversely to the case.

(3) Semble: "deserted," in the proviso to sect. 31 is equivalent to "left destitute."

(4) In a suit for a dissolution of marriage, on the ground of the wife's adultery, it appeared from the evidence in support of the petition, that the husband had "wilfully separated himself from his wife" shortly after the marriage; but it was doubtful whether or not he did so "without reasonable excuse," the only evidence as to the cause of the separation being a statement made by the wife, that "her husband had left her because he had caught her with a young man." The ct., thinking that petitioner might not have had reasonable excuse for leaving her, examined him, when it appeared that he had found her submitting to indecent liberties, & had immediately broken off all intercourse with her:—Held: as, under these circumstances, it did not appear affirmatively that there was not reasonable excuse for the separation, the ct. had no discretionary power, but were bound to dissolve the marriage.—HASWELL v. HASWELL & SANDERSON (1859), 1 & Tr. 502; Sea. & Sm. 32; 29 L. J. P. & M. 21; 1 L. T. 69; 23 J. P. 825; 8 W. R. 76; 164 E. R. 832.

Annotations:—As to (4) Consd. Yeatman v. Yeatman (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 489; Wickins v. Wickins, [1918] P. 265. Refd. Oldroyd v. Oldroyd, [1896] P. 175; Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123; Fisk v. Fisk (1920), 122 L. T. 803.

3610. —— Clandestine marriage of young girl—Petitioner sent abroad on discovery of respondent's unsuitability.]—A., being only sixteen years of age, was privately married to B., aged thirty-six, without the consent of her family. On its being discovered that B. was an unsuitable husband for her, A. was removed to the Continent, & never saw him again. He made no attempts to procure cohabitation with her; & subsequently contracted a bigamous marriage:—Held: there had been a reasonable excuse for the separation, & dissolved the marriage, on the ground of B.'s bigamy & adultery.—DU TERREAUX v. DU TERREAUX (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 555; 28 L. J. P. & M. 95; 23 J. P. 647; 164 E. R. 857.

3611. Marriage to prostitute—Separation at father's instigation—Allowance to respondent.] Petitioner, the son of a clergyman, & having taken his degree at Cambridge, married a woman who had been living as a prostitute in Cambridge, on June 13, 1863. Nothing in the nature of continuous cohabitation took place. In Oct. 1863, petitioner's father became aware of the fact, & in Dec. 1863, a deed of separation, under which resp. was to receive £1 a week, was executed. The adultery took place in the early part of 1864. Petitioner was dependent on his father:—Held: the separation, if wilful, was not without reasonable excuse, & made a decree nisi.—PROCTOR v. PROCTOR & SMITH & PITMAN (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 140; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 99; 12 L. T. 505; 11 Jur. N. S. 531; 13 W. R. 963; 164 E. R. 1469.

3612. —— Respondent's inability to consummate marriage—Bonâ fide belief.]—OUSEY v. OUSEY & ATKINSON, No. 3004, ante.

3613. "Wilfully separated"—Marriage to prostitute—Petitioner going abroad to avoid unhappiness—Failure to maintain.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage, on the ground of the wife's adultery, it appeared that petitioner, a draper's assistant, then twenty-one years of age, married in 1853 a woman whom he well knew to be a prostitute. A month after the marriage they removed from the lodgings to the house of petitioner's father, from which, after a stay of a few weeks, they were compelled to remove in consequence of the wife exhibiting bad temper & making herself disagreeable to the family. Ten days afterwards, the husband went to America, not on business, but because he lived unhappily with his wife, leaving her without any means of subsistence & supplying her with none during an absence of four years. After he left, his family had given the wife a small pittance on one occasion, & had promised to give her further assistance, but in consequence of her annoying them, all intercourse with her was broken off. The wife, after her husband left, returned to her former way of life. The ct., under these circumstances, held that there was a wilful separation of the husband from the wife before the adultery complained of, & that it was without reasonable excuse; & in exercise of the discretion given them by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, refused to decree the dissolution of the marriage.—COULTHART v. COULTHART & GOUTHWAITE (1859), 28 L. J. P. & M. 21; 32 L. T. O. S. 394.

Annotation:—Refd. Beavan v. Beavan (1862), 11 W. R. 155.

3614. —— Separation ordered by court—Clandestine marriage of ward of court.]—BEAVAN v. BEAVAN, No. 3424, ante.

3615. —— Separation necessitated by petitioner's employment.]—Where a husband & wife were living together in service, & the husband left the wife & accepted another situation, & the wife subsequently committed adultery, such a separation by the husband from the wife will not be deemed a "wilful separation" such as under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, would justify the ct. in refusing to dissolve the marriage on proof of the wife's adultery.—DAVIES v. DAVIES & HUGHES (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 221; 1 New Rep. 406; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 111; 8 L. T. 703; 9 Jur. N. S. 828; 11 W. R. 402; 164 E. R. 1258.

3616. —— Voluntary separation by wife.]—CUFLEY v. CUFLEY & LOVECK, No. 2884, ante.

3617. —— Ante-nuptial agreement to live apart—Discontinuance of allowance on discovery of adultery.]—A husband, without reasonable excuse, obtained from his wife an agreement that they should live apart from each other, which they accordingly did, & she subsequently committed adultery:—Held: under the circumstances he had deserted her, & a petition by him for dissolution of the marriage must be dismissed.—DAGG v. DAGG (1882), 7 P. D. 17; 51 L. J. P. 19; 47 L. T. 132; 30 W. R. 431.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 4, F. (a), (b) & (c). Sect. 8: Sub-sect. 1, A., B. & C. (a) & (b).]

Annotation:—Refd. Piper v. Piper, [1902] P. 198.

3618. "Deserted"—Respondent left destitute.]—HASWELL v. HASWELL & SANDERSON, No. 3609, ante.

3619. Statutory desertion—Discretionary bar.]—The ct. will exercise its discretion in favour of petitioner in a divorce suit, even though guilty of statutory desertion.—MULLEY v. MULLEY & SHAW (1909), 53 Sol. Jo. 469.

Annotation:—Apld. Stone v. Stone & Osborne, [1917] P. 125.

3620. —— —— Desertion not conducing to respondent's adultery—No active steps taken to enforce restitution decree.]—The statutory desertion arising under the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), by reason of the failure of a spouse to comply with a decree for restitution of conjugal rights, is only a discretionary bar to his or her claim for relief on the ground of subsequent adultery of the other spouse.

Where the ct. is satisfied that the statutory desertion has not conduced to the adultery & that the deserted spouse took no active steps to enforce the decree for restitution, the ct. may exercise its discretion by granting relief in respect of the subsequent adultery, in spite of the statutory desertion of which the complaining spouse has been guilty.—STONE v. STONE & OSBORNE, [1917] P. 125; 86 L. J. P. 101; 117 L. T. 156; 33 T. L. R. 319; 61 Sol. Jo. 461.

3621. Conviction for desertion—Under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39).]—Where a husband, who presents a petition for a dissolution of his marriage, has been previously convicted of desertion under above Act, the ct. will exercise its discretion as to granting a decree dissolving his marriage. The mere fact of conviction will not be sufficient to establish a bar. The whole circumstances of the case will be considered, & if the ct. is of opinion that petitioner acted upon reasonable grounds, he will not be deprived of the relief prayed for.—LLOYD v. LLOYD (1901), 84 L. T. 728; 45 Sol. Jo. 556.

3622. Exercise of discretion—Where petitioner's default established by affirmative evidence.]—HASWELL v. HASWELL & SANDERSON, No. 3609, ante.

3623. —— On terms—Allowance to wife.]—The ct. while allowing an intervention by the King's Proctor, exercised its discretion in favour of petitioner, who had been guilty of desertion, but ordered him to pay a weekly sum to resp., with liberty to apply to rescind or vary that order.—FREEMAN v. FREEMAN & FREEMAN (1911), 105 L. T. 383; 27 T. L. R. 523.

3624. —— Not interfered with on appeal.]—WICKINS v. WICKINS, No. 3292, ante.

Discretion of court generally.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 7, sub-sect. 4, A., ante.

(b) In Suits for Judicial Separation.

Respondent's desertion.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 5, sub-sect. 8, ante.

3625. On ground of adultery—Whether petitioner barred.]—The mere desertion of a wife by the husband though a malicious desertion will not bar a sentence of divorce [a mensâ et thoro] at the suit of the husband on proof of adultery committed by the wife.—SULLIVAN v. SULLIVAN (1824), 2 Add. 299; 162 E. R. 303.

Annotations:—Apld. Morgan v. Morgan (1841), 2 Curt. 679. Consd. Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner, [1905] P. 233. Refd. Clowes v. Jones (falsely calling herself Clowes) (1845), 4 Notes of Cases, 1; Gandy v. Gandy (1882), 51 L. J. P. 41; Fearon v. Aylesbury (1884), 14 Q. B. D. 792; Pullen v. Pullen & Holding (1920), 123 L. T. 203. Mentd. Steward v. Bateman (1842), 3 Curt. 201.

3626. —— ——.]—Divorce [a mensâ et thoro] by reason of adultery committed by the wife, is not barred by a previous wilful desertion of the wife by the husband.

During the absence of the husband, by the law of England, the wife has no direct remedy, she may pledge his credit for necessaries, but she cannot resort to a ct. for a direct remedy; but although left destitute of aid, it does not follow that she has a licence to commit adultery.

I find, from my own notes, that on the admission of the allegation in Reeves v. Reeves (1813), 2 Phill. 125, SIR JOHN NICHOLL expressly declared that a wilful desertion of a wife was no bar to a suit against her for adultery; & in Sullivan v. Sullivan, No. 3625, ante, the doctrine is repeated; he says, "I am still to learn that even a malicious desertion of the wife by the husband is any bar to a sentence of divorce prayed by the husband for adultery committed by the wife" (DR. LUSHINGTON).—MORGAN v. MORGAN (1841), 2 Curt. 679; 1 Notes of Cases, 23; 163 E. R. 548.

Annotations:—Consd. Duplany v. Duplany (1891), 66 L. T. 267; Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner, [1905] P. 233. Refd. Dillon v. Dillon (1842), 3 Curt. 86; Clowes v. Jones (falsely calling herself Clowes) (1845), 4 Notes of Cases, 1.

3627. —— ——.]—LEMPRIERE v. LEMPRIERE & ROEBEL, No. 3440, ante.

3628. —— —— Practice of Ecclesiastical Courts followed.]—The wife petitioned for a divorce upon the grounds of cruelty & adultery. The husband pleaded (inter alia) that she wilfully separated herself from him without reasonable excuse. At the trial it was admitted that the husband had committed adultery at a date some months after the final separation, & after all the subsequent negotiations for a deed of separation had gone off. The case was most strenuously fought upon the question of cruelty, &, in the result the jury found that the husband was not guilty of that offence. This was taken to imply a finding that the wife had wilfully separated herself from her husband, without just cause, at a date anterior to his admitted adultery. Thereupon, counsel for the wife applied for a decree of judicial separation with costs, & the custody of the child. The husband opposed the application:—Held: (1) inasmuch as desertion was first constituted a matrimonial offence by the Divorce Act, 1857 (c. 85), & would not prior to that Act have been a bar, discretionary or otherwise, to any suit in the Ecclesiastical Ct., in which relief was claimed upon the ground of adultery; & inasmuch as desertion was made by the Act a discretionary bar in suits for divorce, & further, that where the Act was silent, the old ecclesiastical practice was to still prevail, the ct. could not now take upon itself to supply any suggested omission in the Act, & as a matter of law, the wife's claim was not barred.

(2) If the desertion were a bar it could at most be a discretional bar: & in the exercise of his discretion the judge would grant the wife the decree she now asked; but, as each party had been partially successful, & as each had separate property, each would pay their own costs.—

DUPLANY v. DUPLANY, [1892] P. 53 ; 61 L. J. P. 49 ; 66 L. T. 267 ; 8 T. L. R. 169.
Annotations :—As to (1) Apld. Synge v. Synge, [1900] P. 180. Distd. Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner, [1905] P. 233. As to (2) Refd. Cox v. Cox (1893), 70 L. T. 200.

3629. —— —— —— Desertion conducing to adultery of respondent.]—In considering to what extent desertion, not a matrimonial offence in the Ecclesiastical Cts. is to be held now to be a bar to relief, the ct. will especially have regard to the question whether it has conduced to the misconduct of the other spouse, the principles on which the Ecclesiastical Cts. acted having been apparently to refuse relief to petitioner found guilty of conduct conducing to the misconduct of resp.

Where the ct. found that desertion by petitioner had conduced to the adultery of resp. :—Held : petitioner was not entitled to a decree of judicial separation.—HODGSON v. HODGSON & TURNER, [1905] P. 233 ; 74 L. J. P. 140 ; 93 L. T. 446 ; 53 W. R. 623 ; 21 T. L. R. 601.
Annotations :—Consd. Tulk v. Tulk (1906), 23 T. L. R. 120. Refd. Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298.

3630. —— —— —— Refusal by wife of marital relations.]—To the wife's petition for judicial separation, on the ground of the husband's cruelty & adultery, an allegation on his part that the wife had wilfully withdrawn herself from his bed, & refused him conjugal rights, is no answer.—ROWE v. ROWE (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 162 ; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 111 ; 12 L. T. 639 ; 11 Jur. N. S. 568 ; 13 W. R. 1048 ; 164 E. R. 1478.
Annotations :—Refd. Duplany v. Duplany (1891), 66 L. T. 267 ; Synge v. Synge, [1900] P. 180.

3631. —— —— Desertion without reasonable excuse for two years—Adultery committed subsequently.]—(1) A wife who, without cause, refuses to permit marital intercourse to her husband, cannot allege desertion without reasonable cause by him if in consequence he refuses to live with her, & is herself in such circumstances guilty of desertion without reasonable cause.

(2) Desertion without reasonable excuse for two years & upwards is no bar to a petition for judicial separation on the ground of subsequent adultery.—SYNGE v. SYNGE, [1901] P. 317 ; 70 L. J. P. 97 ; 85 L. T. 83 ; 17 T. L. R. 718, C. A.
Annotations :—As to (1) Apld. Davis v. Davis, [1918] P. 85. Refd. Frowd v. Frowd, [1904] P. 177 ; Jackson v. Jackson, [1924] P. 19 ; Russell v. Russell, [1924] A. C. 687. As to (2) Consd. Constantinidi v. Constantinidi, [1903] P. 246 ; Hodgson v. Hodgson, [1905] P. 233. Refd. Evans v. Evans & Elford, [1906] P. 125 ; Todd v. Todd & Cunniam (1906), 23 T. L. R. 9 ; Hines v. Hines & Burdett, [1918] P. 364.

(c) In Suits for Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

Defences to suit for restitution, see Part XIII., Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, F., ante.

3632. Whether petitioner barred—Facts short of matrimonial offence.]—HOLMES v. HOLMES, No. 3600, ante.

3633. —— Desertion for less than two years—Injury to respondent's health.]—It is not a sufficient answer by a husband to a suit for restitution of conjugal rights that his wife had left the home for a less period than two years, had neglected her children, & that resp.'s health had suffered in consequence of her conduct.—WEST v. WEST (1910), 55 Sol. Jo. 48.

SECT. 8.—INSTITUTION AND DEFENCE OF PROCEEDINGS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—PETITIONS AND CONTENTS THEREOF.

A. In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 1, 2 ; Appendix 1.

3634. Domicil of wife—Whether necessary to plead.]—It is sufficient, under Divorce Rule 220 of 1905, to insert in a petition the domicil of the husband without stating that of the wife, unless petitioner is asserting a domicil for the wife different from that of the husband.—Re CLARK (1905), 75 L. J. P. 7 ; 22 T. L. R. 158.

3635. Communication of venereal disease—Must be specially pleaded.]—Where a petitioner relies upon a charge of wilfully communicating a venereal disease, it should be specifically pleaded in the petition.—WALKER v. WALKER (1912), 107 L. T. 655 ; 57 Sol. Jo. 175.

Whether petition must contain prayer for custody.]—See No. 4779, post.

B. Indorsement of Notice to Appear.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 2.

C. Petitions for Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

(a) In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 1, 2 ; Appendix 1.

3636. Contents of—Age of parties need not be pleaded—When lawful solemnisation of marriage alleged.]—In a libel in a cause for the restitution of conjugal rights, it is not necessary to plead specifically, that the parties were of twenty-one years of age ; provided it is pleaded that the marriage was lawfully solemnised in consequence of a licence duly obtained.—POOL v. POOL (1813), 2 Phillim. 119 ; 161 E. R. 1095.

3637. Motives of petitioner—Immaterial to court.]—SIMMONS v. SIMMONS, No. 2797, ante.

3638. Preliminary steps—Previous separation order by justices—Must be discharged.]—A wife who has been deserted by her husband & has obtained from the magistrates an order against him for maintenance under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), in which order a clause has been inserted, without her knowledge or approval, that he "be no longer bound to cohabit with her," must, before filing her petition for restitution of conjugal rights, apply to the magistrates under sect. 7 of same Act for the discharge of such order.—NILAND v. NILAND (1913), 108 L. T. 50 ; 57 Sol. Jo. 248.

(b) Preliminary Demand for Cohabitation.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 3 (A) ; Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, D., ante.

PART XIII. SECT 7, SUB-SECT. 4.—F. (c).

a. Petitioner imposing unreasonable conditions.]—Deft. left the home because of the wayward conduct & disobedience of the daughter, but was willing, & offered to make a home for his wife elsewhere. Pltf., however, distinctly declined to live with her husband without the daughter :—Held : pltf. was imposing a condition which she had no right to impose, & her action was dismissed.—BIRD v. BIRD, [1923] 1 D. L. R. 528 ; 52 O. L. R. 1.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 1.—A.

b. Bill for alimony — Refusal of husband to receive wife—Must be pleaded.]—A bill for alimony should allege that the husband has refused to receive his wife. It is not sufficient to allege merely that they are living apart. —WALSH v. WALSH (1864), 1 Ch. Ch. 234.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 1.—C. (a).

c. Contents of—Inclusion of alternative claim for alimony.]—A wife may make an alternative claim for alimony ; such claim may be allowed by amendment.—O'LEARY v. O'LEARY, [1923] 1 D. L. R. 949 ; 19 Alta. L. R. 224 ; [1923] 1 W. W. R. 501.—CAN.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 1, D., E. &

D. Petitions for Judicial Separation.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 1, 2; Appendix 1.

3639. What should be pleaded—Not non-residence in parish where banns published.]—BROWN v. BROWN, No. 2698, ante.

Publication of banns.]—See Part II., Sect. 7, sub-sect. 1, ante.

3640. —— Want of age.] —BROWN v. BROWN, No. 2698, ante.

3641. —— Not non-consummation—Suit based on adultery.]—BROWN v. BROWN, No. 2698, ante.

3642. Suit based on cruelty—Acts constituting legal cruelty should be alleged—As briefly as possible.]—SUGGATE v. SUGGATE, No. 2641, ante.

3643. Two petitions filed—First not served—Appearance entered to second—Priority of second petition.]—A petition was filed & a citation issued on the part of a wife for a judicial separation on the ground of cruelty; neither this petition nor citation was served. The wife's solr., in consequence of fresh instructions, afterwards filed a second petition for judicial separation, on the ground of adultery coupled with cruelty, & a citation issued thereon. The husband was served & entered an appearance in the second suit. The ct. directed the second suit to proceed.—TURNER v. TURNER (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 426; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 134; 5 L. T. 849; 10 W. R. 292.

E. Petitions for Nullity of Marriage.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 1, 2; Appendix 1.

3644. Fact of marriage—Whether petition must establish—Where parties to marriage are parties to suit.]—In a cause of nullity of marriage, the alleged fact of marriage, of the legal nullity of which, a declaratory sentence is prayed, must be duly proved, in which part of his case if pltf. fails, it is the duty of the ct. to withhold its declaratory sentence of nullity; how clearly soever all the several facts may be established in evidence, upon which, had the marriage itself been established by similar evidence, a sentence declaratory of its nullity might well have been founded. This, at least, is the rule where pltf. & deft. respectively are the alleged contracting parties.—NOKES v. MILWARD (FALSELY CALLING HERSELF NOKES) (1824), 2 Add. 386; 162 E. R. 336.

3645. —— ——.]—G. v. G. (FALSELY CALLED K.) (1908), No. 2360, ante.

3646. —— Bigamous ceremony—Petitioner must plead & admit.]—(1) Allegation on behalf of a woman, responsive to a libel of nullity of marriage by reason of bigamy, pleading deception, fraud & cognisance by the man of the existence of the husband of the first marriage at the date of the second fact of marriage, rejected.

(2) Misconduct, however gross, of a party proceeding, by reason of bigamy, is no bar to a sentence of nullity.

(3) A wife de facto, as a fact of marriage, is necessarily pleaded to such a suit, is entitled pendente lite to alimony.

(4) The party proceeding, who is asking the ct. to pronounce the second marriage null is of necessity bound to admit & plead the fact of that second marriage (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(5) There is a very strong distinction in the different suits of nullity, nullity by reason of impotency, nullity by reason of statutable enactment, & nullity at common law, where there has been a husband or wife living at the date of the second marriage (DR. LUSHINGTON).—MILES v. CHILTON (FALSELY CALLING HERSELF MILES) (1849), 1 Rob. Eccl. 684; 6 Notes of Cases, 636; 163 E. R. 1178.

Annotations: As to (1) Refd. Bonaparte v. Bonaparte, [1892] P. 402. As to (3) Refd. Foden v. Foden, [1894] P. 307; Bateman v. Bateman (otherwise Harrison) (1898), 78 L. T. 472. Generally, Refd. Halpin (otherwise Boddington) v. Boddington (1881), 29 W. R. 444; Andrews v. Ross (1888), 14 P. D. 15; Moss v. Moss, [1897] P. 263.

3647. Who may present—Father of wife.]—(1) The service of a citation sufficient to constitute pendency of suit.

The contestatio litis is not necessary to constitute a lis pendens; there may be a "suit depending in the Ecclesiastical Ct." before the contestatio litis & the lis pendens commences with the extracting & service of the citation; & if not, by analogy with other cts., on the return of the citation, whenever it may be (SIR HERBERT JENNER).

(2) The father, qua father, has sufficient interest to enable him to a suit in the civil form, for the purpose of annulling the marriage of his daughter, when of age.

(3) The interest of Mr. R. [the father] in the legitimacy or illegitimacy of the issue of his daughter is sufficient to entitle him in these cts. to maintain a suit for annulling her marriage (SIR HERBERT JENNER).—RAY v. SHERWOOD & RAY (1836), 1 Curt. 193; 163 E. R. 65; affd. sub nom. SHERWOOD v. RAY (1837), 1 Moo. P. C. C. 353, P. C.

Annotations: As to (1) Refd. Sanders v. Head (1842), 3 Curt. 32; Ditcher v. Denison (1857), 11 Moo. P. C. C. 324; The Helenslea, The Catalonia (1881), 7 P. D. 57. As to (2) Consd. Bevan M'Mahon (1859), 2 Sw. & Tr. 58. Refd. Wells v. Cottam (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 364. Generally, Refd. Brook v. Brook (1861), 9 H. L. Cas. 193; Lowe v. Lowe (1899), 80 L. T. 575. Mentd. Harrison v. Sparrow (1842), 3 Curt. 1; Brookes v. Cresswell (1846), 4 Notes of Cases, 429; Fenton (or Livingstone) v. Livingstone (1856), 27 L. T. O. S. 18; Martin v. Mackonochie, Flamank v. Simpson (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 116; Sheppard v. Bennett (1869), L. R. 2 A. & E. 335; Winchester (Bp.) v. Wix (1869), L. R. 3 A. & E. 19; Elphinstone v. Purchas (1870), L. R. 3 P. C. 245; Fagg v. Lee (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 135; R. v. Oxford (Bp.) (1879), 4 Q. B. D. 525.

F. Petitions for Dissolution of Marriage.

(a) In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 1, 2; Appendix 1.

3648. Addressed to what court—"Court for Divorce & Matrimonial Causes."]—A petition for dissolution of marriage should be addressed "To the Ct. for Divorce & Matrimonial Causes."—EVANS v. EVANS (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 78; 27

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 1.—E.

d. Malformation of respondent—Plea that intercourse impossible.]—In order to support a decree of nullity of marriage on the ground of the malformation of resp. the petition must allege that the malformation is such that intercourse between the parties of an ordinary & complete character is not attainable & that such intercourse as has taken place has been substantially imperfect.—A. v. A. (1915), 34 N. Z. L. R. 1039.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 1.—F. (a).

e. Contents of—Particulars as to issue of marriage—Domicil.]—Where there are issue of the marriage their names & the dates of their births should be set out. This requirement is not complied with by stating their ages in general terms. The petition should also contain a statement as to domicil, especially where the wife is resp. & is resident abroad.—PARSONS v. PARSONS (1913), 32 N. Z. L. R. 723.—N.Z.

f. —— Petitioner's change of domicil.]—When a man marries abroad & subsequently changes his domicil to New Zealand, leaving his wife still resident in the place of his former domicil, resp., when the husband seeks

L. J. P. & M. 31; 30 L. T. O. S. 369; 6 W. R. 356; 164 E. R. 637.

3649. Second petition filed—After first dismissed on appeal—Refusal of court to proceed.]—A suit, for cruelty & adultery, brought by the wife was appealed from the Consistory Ct. of London to the Arches, & in 1828 was there alleged to be agreed, & the husband dismissed; but the inhibition to the Consistory was not relaxed. In 1831 a suit, for cruelty & adultery, was again brought by the wife in the Consistory; the husband appeared under protest; the judge, having directed the wife's libel, which referred to & prayed leave to invoke the proceedings in the former suit, & also pleaded new facts, to be brought in, overruled the protest; but, on the ground that the inhibition was still in force, did not assign the husband to appear absolutely, nor did it dismiss him, nor admit or reject the libel. The wife appealed: that appeal was dismissed for irregularity, & the cause remitted: the judge below, as still inhibited, refused to proceed: the wife again appealed:—Held: the agreement & consequent dismissal of the husband put an end to the former suit, & consequently to the inhibition, & the judge of the Consistory Ct. was bound to proceed in the cause. SMYTH v. SMYTH (1831), 4 Hag. Ecc. 509; 162 E. R. 1534.

3650. Contents of—Grounds for relief—Must be distinctly set out.]—A petition for dissolution of marriage by reason of the husband's adultery & desertion, directed to be amended by a distinct averment of the fact of desertion; some statement of circumstances in such a petition may be necessary, but evidence should not be pleaded.—PYNE v. PYNE (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 80; 30 L. T. O. S. 370; 22 J. P. 180; 6 W. R. 507; 164 E. R. 637.

3651. ——— ——— ———.]—(1) A petition for a divorce on the ground of adultery must allege adultery in distinct terms. A petition by a husband for dissolution of marriage contained an inferential, but not a distinct, charge of adultery at a specified time & place. Personal service on resp. had been dispensed with. Neither resp. nor co-resp. appeared. At the hearing, adultery at the said time & place having been proved, the ct. allowed the petition to be amended by adding a distinct charge of adultery without requiring the petition to be re-served.

(2) If at the hearing the ct. gives leave to amend the petition to meet the case proved, petitioner being in ct., it may be then amended & a decree nisi may be pronounced; but if leave to amend is only granted at a subsequent date after taking time to consider, & petitioner fails to move for a decree until some considerable time after the amendment has been made, the decree must bear date on the day when pronounced, & cannot be ante-dated.—AMBLER v AMBLER & HOGHTON (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 6; 7 L. T. 339; 11 W. R. 111.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Wallace v. Wallace, Guiter & Macnamara (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 47; Forman v. Forman & Davis (1863), 11 W. R. 401.

3652. ——— ——— ———.]—(1) Adultery as the ground of a petition should be distinctly alleged. It is not sufficient that the petition alleges information & belief of petitioner that resp. has committed adultery.

(2) When leave to amend such a petition is granted, where there has been no appearance, it must be re-served.—SPILSBURY v. SPILSBURY (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 210; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 126; 9 L. T. 23; 164 E. R. 1254.

3653. ——— Particulars of charge of adultery—Sufficiency.]—FOSTER v. FOSTER & THOMAS (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 64, n.

Annotation:—Refd. Higgs v. Higgs & Hopkins (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 64.

3654. ——— ——— ———.]—KING v. KING & DENT (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 64, n.

3655. ——— ——— ———.]—FORMAN v. FORMAN & DAVIS, No. 3746, post.

3656. ——— ——— ———.]—A petition for divorce by a husband in para. 3 alleged that resp., since Oct. 8, 1846, had on divers occasions committed adultery; & in para 4 that resp. had, since Apr. 1864, up to the date of the petition, been habitually visited at her residence at, etc., by A., & had on divers of such occasions, & particularly on the night of Aug. 31, 1864, committed adultery with A.:—Held: (1) it was not sufficient to give particulars of the dates when, places where, & persons with whom, the adultery alleged in para. 3 was committed; but the petition must be amended by setting out such particulars; (2) resp. was not entitled to particulars of the adultery charged in para. 4.—PORTER v. PORTER & JAGGARD (1861), 3 Sw. & Tr. 596; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 207; 13 W. R. 108; 164 E. R. 1406.

3657. ——— ——— Must be set out.]—(1) A petition for divorce must specifically allege adultery.

(2) Adultery will not be inferred from bigamy alone being alleged in the petition.—BONAPARTE v. BONAPARTE (1891), 65 L. T. 795; 8 T. L. R. 66.

3658. ——— All material facts.]—BROOKE v. BROOKE, No. 5115, post.

3659. ——— Particular charges of cruelty—Communication of disease.]—WALKER v. WALKER, No. 3635, ante.

3660. Signature to—Leave to solicitor to sign—Petitioner employed abroad.]—Where it appeared that a proposed petitioner was engaged as an engine driver at the diamond fields at Kimberley, in South Africa, & that the acts of adultery to be alleged against his wife in the petition had been committed after he left England; & it further appeared that he could not come to England without risking the loss of his situation.

The ct. gave leave to the solr. to sign the petition & swear the affidavit verifying same on behalf of petitioner; & also gave leave to prove the marriage & cohabitation by affidavit.—Ex p. HOBSON (1894), 70 L. T. 816; 6 R. 661.

3661. Wife's petition—Party cited—Statement of name.]—OLIVER v. OLIVER (1918), 35 T. L. R. 24.

3662. ——— ——— ———.]—Where adultery by a husband is alleged, the woman's name ought always to be disclosed in the petition if it is known.—HIGHLEY v. HIGHLEY (1924), 40 T. L. R. 236.

3663. ——— ——— ———.]—In a wife's petition alleging adultery against the husband the name of the woman must, if known, be inserted, with the result that Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, a divorce, is entitled to find in the petition itself the whole case made against her & a full statement of the facts relating to her husband's change of domicil.—BUSFIELD v. BUSFIELD, GUEST v. GUEST, [1916] N. Z. L. R. 524.—N.Z.

g. Signature to—Leave to solicitor.]—Petition for dissolution of marriage must be signed by petitioner, not by his solicitor, unless leave has been obtained permitting latter to sign.—PLOWMAN v. PLOWMAN (1909), 10 W. L. R. 20; 14 B. C. R. 164.—CAN.

h. Where separation order in existence.]—A woman petitioned for a divorce on the ground of desertion & there was in force a separation order under "The Married Persons Summary Separation Act, 1896." Resp. did not plead the plea in bar:—Held: the order should have been pleaded. MICHAEL v. MICHAEL (1906), N. Z. L. R. 165.—N.Z.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 1, F. (a) & (b), & G.; sub-sects. 2 & 3, B., C. & D.]

r. 17, as to service on such woman will apply, & if the name, though not known when the petition was filed, be subsequently learnt, the petition should be amended, & the rule followed as to service of the amended petition.—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR, WHITE v. WHITE (1925), 133 L. T. 320; 41 T. L. R. 522.

(b) Claiming Damages against Co-Respondent.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 1, 2; Appendix 1.

3664. Must specify amount claimed.]—Where damages are claimed against co-resp. the petition should specify the amount claimed. Qu.: whether the counsel for co-resp. can, upon his own authority, consent to a petition being amended by the insertion of the amount of damages claimed. —SPEDDING v. SPEDDING & SMITH (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 96.

Annotations:—Folld. Pegler v. Pegler & Russell (1901), 18 T. L. R. 13. Refd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

3665. ——.]—In a husband's petition for divorce, by reason of his wife's adultery with co-resp., when there is a claim for damages, the amount claimed must be specified in the petition.—PEGLER v. PEGLER & RUSSELL (1901), 85 L. T. 649; 18 T. L. R. 13.

Petition for damages only.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 3, F. (b), ante.

G. Supplemental Petitions.

3666. New charges—Adultery—Since original petition—Consolidation.]—If it be expedient to bring before the ct. acts of adultery alleged to have occurred after the date of the original petition, a supplemental petition should be filed for the purpose; & on the preliminary proceedings being completed, the two petitions will be consolidated.—BORHAM v. BORHAM & BROWN (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 193; 40 L. J. P. & M. 6; 19 W. R. 215; sub nom. BOREHAM v. BOREHAM & BROWN, 23 L. T. 600.

3667. —— Desertion—Two years incomplete when original petition filed.]—In a wife's suit for a dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery & desertion, resp.'s adultery was proved, but it appeared that his desertion of his wife had lasted for less than two years. The hearing was adjourned, & on a supplementary petition, filed more than a year afterwards the ct. heard further evidence as to desertion, & granted a decree.—WOOD v. WOOD (1887), 13 P. D. 22; 57 L. J. P. 48.

Annotation:—Consd. Kay v. Kay, [1904] P. 382.

3668. —— —— ——.]—LAPINGTON v. LAPINGTON, No. 2984, ante.

3669. Whether new citation necessary.]—On July 30, 1908, the husband filed a petition for divorce alleging adultery by his wife with men unknown. On being advised that he had not sufficient evidence to support the charges in the petition he made further inquiries, & on Nov. 7, 1908, he filed a supplemental petition alleging his wife's adultery with co-resp. on specific dates in Oct. 1908, all the charges in the original petition having been struck out:—Held: the charges contained in the supplemental petition were covered by the citation which had been served with the petition.—HOLMES v. HOLMES & BAWLS (1909), 25 T. L. R. 263.

3670. Lapse of time since filing of original petition—Original petition followed by reconciliation—Proceedings not withdrawn or stayed.]—SCHARRER v. SCHARRER (1909), Times, July 7, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 2.—AFFIDAVITS VERIFYING PETITIONS.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 3, A. & B.

3671. Contents of—Detailed history of parties unnecessary.]—The affidavit required to be filed in verification of a petition should not go into a detailed statement of the history of the parties. The ct. may have no power to order an affidavit to be removed from the file of the ct., but on a question of taxation of costs, the costs of such an affidavit would not be allowed against the other party.—FORSTER v. FORSTER & EVANS (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 167; 31 L. T. O. S. 104; 164 E. R. 677.

3672. —— Truth of adultery charge—"Best of belief."]—A petition for dissolution of marriage on the ground of the wife's adultery charged various acts of adultery in 1856, 1857 & 1858. Resp., in her answer, pleaded, first, a denial of the adultery; secondly, desertion on Sept. 4, 1857; thirdly, condonation; fourthly, connivance. The affidavit of petitioner, filed in pursuance of rule 2, did not verify the statements in the petition as to the adultery. Resp.'s affidavit, filed in pursuance of rule 15, did not verify the third & fourth pleas, it being supposed that by doing so the adultery would be admitted. On motion to disallow the last three pleas & for leave for petitioner to file an affidavit verifying the adultery charged "to the best of his belief":—Held: (1) the second plea was bad, as, though it was pleaded to the adultery charged in the petition, it was only an answer as to part; (2) the third & fourth pleas should be verified by affidavit, as resp., by doing so, would not admit the adultery, each plea being to be construed by itself; (3) petitioner might in his affidavit state that the adultery was committed "to the best of his belief."

All matter in an answer beyond a simple denial must be verified by affidavit, which however need not be in absolute terms.—TOURLE v. TOURLE (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 165; 27 L. J. P. & M. 52; 31 L. T. O. S. 89; 6 W. R. 544; 164 E. R. 676.

3673. How intituled.]—The affidavit verifying the petition should be headed "In the matter of the petition of A. B."—GAPP v. GAPP & LEVERSON (1859), 4 Sw. & Tr. 273; 28 L. J. P. & M. 48; 164 E. R. 1521.

Annotation:—Folld. Steed v. Steed (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D.

3674. .]—The affidavit verifying a petition must not be headed in a cause, but "In the matter of the petition of ——."—STEED v. STEED (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 364; 36 L. J. P. & M. 50; 16 L. T. 125.

3675. Affidavit by person other than petitioner—Petitioner abroad—On military service.]—A petitioner in a divorce suit being on military service, & unable to make the usual affidavit verifying the k. New charges — Adultery — Since original petition.]—Where resp. in a suit for dissolution of marriage, has, after service of the petition, committed adultery with a person other than the co-respondent, petitioner may obtain an order for leave to file a supplemental petition, setting out such acts of adultery, & adding such person as co-resp.—SMITH v. SMITH & CASHION (1877), 3 V. L. R. 122.—AUS.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 1.—G.

petition, the ct. allowed the petition to be filed if verified by the affidavit of his solr., but ordered that petitioner's affidavit should also be filed as soon as possible.—Ex p. BRUCE (1881), 6 P. D. 16; 50 L. J. P. 64; sub nom. BRUCE v. BRUCE & LAING, 29 W. R. 474.

Anotation:—Distd. Ex p. Tartt (1886), 2 T. L. R. 352.

3676. —— —— Of own will.]—The ct. will not allow the affidavit verifying a petition for divorce to be sworn by another person when petitioner is absent from the country by his own will.—Ex p. TARTT (1886), 34 W. R. 368; 2 T. L. R. 352.

3677. —— —— British consul resident abroad.]—Where petitioner was resident abroad as British consul, & as such was himself the only authority in the place where he resided before whom the affidavit in support of his petition for dissolution could be sworn, & by rule 142 he was not competent to swear his own affidavit, the ct. allowed petitioner's solr. to verify the petition to the best of his knowledge & belief.—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL & MACLAREN (1889), 59 L. J. P. 13; sub nom. Re PETITION FOR DISSOLUTION OF MARRIAGE, Ex p. RUSSELL, 62 L. T. 186; 54 J. P. 167.

3678. Swearing of—Petitioner only commissioner available.]—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL & MACLAREN, No. 3677, ante.

3679. —— Where petitioner inmate of asylum—Order for access by solicitor & commissioner.]—A married woman, confined in an asylum, gave instructions to her solr. to institute proceedings against her husband for judicial separation, & the solr. attended with a comr. for oaths in order to obtain from the proposed petitioner the necessary affidavit in verification of the petition, which had been approved & signed by her previously. The superintendent of the asylum, acting upon printed instructions purporting to be signed by the secretary & addressed from the Office of the Comrs. in Lunacy, refused to allow the solr. & comr. for oaths to see the proposed petitioner, &, upon application being made by the solr. to the Comrs. in Lunacy, they upheld the refusal of the superintendent. The ct., upon motion, & upon affidavit, proving notice, made an order, the Comrs. in Lunacy having notice & not opposing, that the Comrs. should forthwith authorise the superintendent of the asylum to permit the solr. & comr. for oaths to have access to the proposed petitioner.—Re PETITION FOR JUDICIAL SEPARATION, Ex p. BEECHAM, [1901] P. 65; sub nom. Re BEECHAM & LUNACY COMRS., 70 L. J. P. 20; 84 L. T. 63.

SUB-SECT. 3.—AMENDMENT OF PLEADINGS.

A. In General.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 25, 26.

3680. Discretion of court.]—An application for an order that a pleading be reformed is an application to the discretion of the ct.; in exercising this discretion the ct. will not, as in case of demurrer, consider whether or not the pleading is good in law, but whether or not it may prejudice the opposite side in the conduct of his case.—GRIFFITH v. GRIFFITH (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 355; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 81; 10 L. T. 308.

3681. Ordered if embarrassing to opponent.]—The ct. will not order a pleading to be amended unless it so framed as to embarrass the opposite side.—GREEN v. GREEN (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 83.

3682. Refusal to amend petition—Prayer for dissolution—Proof only of right to judicial separation—Petition dismissed.]—ROWLEY v. ROWLEY, No. 4582, post.

B. Leave to Amend.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 25, 26.

3683. Notice of application for leave—To respondent.]—Notice of application for leave to amend should be given to the other party, or the petition may be withdrawn & served de novo.—WRIGHT v. WRIGHT (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 80; 27 L. J. P. & M. 32; 30 L. T. O. S. 370; 6 W. R. 507.

3684. —— —— Application of rules.]—(1) An application was made to the ct. to amend an answer by adding to it a fresh charge of adultery. Notice of the intended application was served upon the opposite party the evening previously. The facts in issue were appointed to be tried by a common jury, at the sittings then in progress:—Held: the rules as to notice were not applicable.

(2) Although the opposite party had only four days allowed (Rule 36) to amend his answer to such amended petition or answer, the ct. will, if it be advisable, direct that the cause shall not be heard until the expiration of ten days from that on which the amended answer was filed.—HITCHCOCK v. HITCHCOCK (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 40.

3685. Granted after decree nisi—Two ceremonies of marriage—Omission to plead both.]—HAMPSON v. HAMPSON, No. 6068, post.

3686. —— —— ——.]—A wife having been married to her husband, first by a declaration before witnesses in Edinburgh, & afterwards at the sheriff's ct., Edinburgh, obtained a decree nisi for divorce. In the petition & the decree nisi only the second ceremony was referred to. The ct. allowed the petition & the decree nisi to be amended by alleging also the first ceremony, but without costs against resp.—MARSHALL v. MARSHALL (1909), 25 T. L. R. 716.

C. Where Charges Inferential.

3687. Amendment making charge distinct—Desertion.]—PYNE v. PYNE, No. 3650, ante.

3688. —— Adultery.]—AMBLER v. AMBLER & HOGHTON, No. 3651, ante.

3689. —— ——.]—FORMAN v. FORMAN DAVIS, No. 3746, post.

3690. —— ——.]—SPILSBURY v. SPILS No. 3652, ante.

D. Corrections of Dates, Names, Places, etc.

3691. Name—Mis-statement of Christian name.]—Where in the affidavit verifying the petition for marriage co-resp.'s [illegible] was stated to be John instead of

P. M.

3692. —— [illegible] Where a petition for dissolution of marriage has been served in which a

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 3.—A.

1. Addition of plea of condonation by respondent—After petitioner's evidence denying condonation.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage upon the ground of adultery petitioner in his evidence denied condonation, & resp. then applied for leave to amend her answer by adding a plea of condonation:—Held: petitioner having denied condonation, the application to amend should be refused.—MARYCHURCH v. MARYCHURCH & BUCKLEY (1913), 32 N. Z. L. R. 712.—N.Z.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 3, D., E., F., G. & H.]

mistake is made in the Christian name of the person with whom resp. is alleged to have committed adultery, the ct. will allow it to be amended, but it must be re-served.—LOVE v. LOVE (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 134.

3693. —— Mis-spelling in citation.]—Where co-resp.'s name had been mis-spelt in the citation served, the ct. made an order for a fresh citation to issue.—COTTON v. COTTON & KINNIS (1862), 4 Sw. & Tr. 275; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 133.

3694. —— Misnomer of respondent—Respondent not appearing.]—The misnomer of resp. in a petition is cured by appearance; but if there is no appearance the petition must be amended & re-served.—KISCH v. KISCH (1864), 4 New Rep. 28; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 115.

3695. —— Assumed name of co-respondent.]—NICOLAS v. NICOLAS, No. 3807, post.

3696. —— Wrong name—Of person with whom adultery alleged.]—A wife filed a petition for divorce, alleging adultery by her husband with a certain woman, who intervened & denied the allegation. Subsequently it was discovered that a mistake had been made, & that the adultery alleged should have been with another woman. Petitioner applied, without giving notice to resp. or the intervener, to amend the petition by striking out the name of the intervener & inserting that of the other woman. The ct. allowed the amendment, the petition to be re-served on resp., & the intervener to have her costs.—HARDING-COX v. HARDING-COX (1908), 24 T. L. R. 631; 52 Sol. Jo. 518.

3697. Date—Dates amended to those on which cruelty proved.]—A petition for dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery & cruelty charged cruelty "in & during the months of Apr. & May, 1861." Resp. filed an answer denying the charges of the petition. Upon the trial of the cause, at which resp. did not appear, petitioner failed to prove cruelty at the time alleged, but established cruelty in June & July, 1861:—Held: the petition might be amended by substituting the date of the cruelty proved.—BUNYARD v. BUNYARD (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 176; 11 W. R. 990.

3698. Amendment instead of ordering further particulars—Times, places & persons uncertain.]—KING v. KING & DENT (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 64, n.

3699. —— ——.]—WODEHOUSE v. WODEHOUSE & FARROW (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 90, n.

E. Additional Charges.

3700. Satisfactory reason for previous omission—Necessity for.]—BRITTAIN v. BRITTAIN & CAMP, No. 4010, post.

3701. Knowledge of charge before petition filed—General rule.]—(1) Where petitioner after an adjournment of the case part heard, in order to procure further evidence, asks leave to amend his petition by adding a new charge, it is an objection to granting his application that the charge in question had come to his knowledge before the petition in its original form was drawn.

Semble: (2) where a cause has been part heard before the full ct., & adjourned for further evidence, the Judge Ordinary sitting alone has not power to dismiss the petition, or to allow an amendment to be made thereon; (3) the ct. will not dismiss the petition on the prayer of petitioner after evidence has been given in the cause entitling the resp. to a matrimonial remedy.

Qu.: will the ct. make a decree of judicial separation in favour of a resp., who has proved an answer entitling resp. to a judicial separation unaccompanied by a prayer for same.—BANNISTER v. BANNISTER & DAVIS (1860), Sea. & Sm. 143; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 53.

3702. —— Additional charge of cruelty—Application not vexatious.]—A wife petitioned for a dissolution of her marriage on the ground of her husband's adultery, coupled with desertion. The husband filed no answer. She applied for leave to amend her petition, by adding a charge of cruelty, alleged to have been committed & to have been known to her before she filed her petition. The ct. required her to bring in an affidavit of the acts of cruelty upon which she relied, & of the motives which had induced her to suppress them in her petition:—Held: the wife might amend her petition by adding a new ground for the dissolution of her marriage, the ct. being satisfied that this new charge was not brought forward vexatiously.—ROWLEY v. ROWLEY (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 487; 29 L. J. P. & M. 15; 34 L. T. O. S. 61; 23 J. P. 744; 7 W. R. 653.

3703. —— —— Subsequent to latest act alleged.]—TOPPER v. TOPPER, No. 2673, ante.

3704. —— —— Absence of special circumstances.]—Cruelty being a fact which must be in the knowledge of a petitioner at the commencement of the suit, the ct. will generally refuse to allow fresh charges of cruelty to be added to a petition.—AUSTIN v. AUSTIN (1871), 41 L. J. P. & M. 8; 25 L. T. 856; 20 W. R. 128.

3705. Evidence obtained after petition filed—Additional charge of adultery.]—Adultery committed by either party, husband or wife, at any time before sentence, will bar a sentence of separation, at the suit of the other party; or will compel the ct. to dismiss both parties, adultery being mutually, or reciprocally charged in the cause; & cts. must permit either of such parties to plead adultery against the other in any stage of such a cause, whether before or after publication, & how long soever this may have passed, or the cause may have been depending, it being certified to have been pleaded within a reasonable time after coming to proponent's knowledge.—BRISCO v. BRISCO (1824), 2 Add. 259.

Annotations:—Consd. Webb v. Webb (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 349. Reld. Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. 665; Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298.

3706. —— ——.]—Facts of adultery newly come to the knowledge of the party may be pleaded after publication.—WEBB v. WEBB (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 349; 162 E. R. 609.

3707. —— ——.]—Under a citation for cruelty only in a suit for separation by the wife adultery by the husband occurring prior to the institution of the suit but sworn to have come recently to the wife's knowledge may be pleaded, even though publication of the evidence on the libel & on a responsive plea is about to pass.—SAMPSON v. SAMPSON (1832), 4 Hag. Ecc. 285.

3708. —— ——.]—WORTH v. WORTH (1859), Sea. & Sm. 109.

3709. —— ——.]—DICKENSON v. DICKENSON & CLEMENT (1862), 1 New Rep. 70.

3710. —— Addition of bigamy charge. After the hearing of a petition of a wife for dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery & cruelty, no decree having been pronounced, the ct. allowed the petition to be amended by the addition of a charge of bigamy which came to the knowledge of petitioner in the interval between the cause being set down for hearing & the hearing.

—WALKER v. WALKER (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 214.

3711. Previous ignorance of nature of charge—Acts amounting to legal cruelty.]—The wife petitioned the ct. for a dissolution of marriage by reason of her husband's adultery, coupled with desertion. At the hearing, the ct. held that the desertion was not proved, & adjourned the final decision in order that petitioner might consider whether she would accept a judicial separation. Subsequently, the ct. allowed her to amend her petition by adding a charge of cruelty, being satisfied from the affidavits that until the hearing she was ignorant that the acts she could prove against her husband amounted to legal cruelty.—PARKINSON v. PARKINSON (1869), L. R. 2 P. & D. 27; 39 L. J. P. & M. 21; 21 L. T. 597.

3712. Cause of action arising after petition filed—Desertion.]—KETTLEWELL v. KETTLEWELL, No. 2982, ante.

3713. —— ——.]—LAPINGTON v. LAPINGTON, No. 2984, ante.

3714. Petition incomplete without additional charge.]—BONAPARTE v. BONAPARTE, No. 3057, ante.

F. New Co-Respondents.

Co-respondents as parties, see Sub-sect. 4, E., post.

3715. Petition alleging adultery with specified person—Amendment to "or with person unknown" refused.]—A petition, by a husband, for a dissolution of marriage, alleged that resp. at a specified time & place, committed adultery with A. Resp. did not appear. At the hearing, the ct. refused to allow the petition to be amended by adding to that charge the words "or with some person whose name is unknown to your petitioner," without re-service.—WALLACE v. WALLACE, GUITER & MACNAMARA (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 47; 9 Jur. N. S. 134; 11 W. R. 112.

3716. Petition alleging adultery with co-respondent & other persons—Addition of new co-respondent refused—Application not made bonâ fide.]—CODRINGTON v. CODRINGTON & ANDERSON, No. 3973, post.

G. Countercharges.

3717. Charging petitioner with adultery—Addition to answer generally traversing allegations.]—A co-resp. whose answer merely traversed the allegation of adultery, was not allowed to cross-examine the witnesses called to establish that allegation, for the purpose of eliciting that petitioner had been guilty of adultery, or of such misconduct as would induce the ct. to exercise its discretion by withholding a decree; but upon a statement being made that co-resp. would probably be able to establish a case of such misconduct on the part of petitioner if he had the opportunity, the ct. allowed him to amend his answer by the insertion of various countercharges against petitioner, & reserved the question of the costs of the day until the merits of the case had been ascertained.—PLUMER v. PLUMER & BYGRAVE (1859), Sea. & Sm. 147; 4 Sw. & Tr. 257; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 63; 164 E. R. 1514.

Annotation:—Apld. Seddon v. Seddon & Doyle (1860), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 12.

3718. —— —— Non-payment of petitioner's taxed costs.]—A wife petitioned for judicial separation, on the ground of cruelty & adultery; resp. traversed the charges, & afterwards obtained leave to amend his answer by adding a countercharge of adultery. Before leave to amend was granted, & after an order for payment of the wife's taxed costs, resp. became bkpt. on his own petition. An application to rescind the order for the amendment of the answer, on the ground that resp. had become bkpt. solely for the purpose of avoiding payment of his wife's costs, & that the order was made by the ct. in ignorance of the bkpcy., was rejected.—GREATOREX v. GREATOREX (1864), 4 New Rep. 122; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 9.

3719. —— Amendment of vague charges in answer—Insufficient information as to dates & places.]—WELLS v. WELLS & HUMMERSTON (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 65, n.

3720. Charging petitioner with cruelty—Addition to co-respondent's answer after issue joined—Refused.]—In a husband's suit for dissolution, after the pleadings had been completed & issue joined, the ct. refused to allow co-resp. to add to his answer a charge of cruelty against the husband.—JAYNE v. JAYNE & PROTHERO (1869), 21 L. T. 401; 18 W. R. 53.

H. Amendment of Prayer.

3721. From judicial separation to dissolution—On payment of costs by petitioner.]—The ct. granted an application by a wife that a petition for a judicial separation filed by her might be dismissed, & that she might substitute for it a petition for dissolution of marriage upon the terms of her paying the costs.—LEWIS v. LEWIS (1860), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 123.

3722. —— ——.]—Where both parties are before the ct., a wife's suit for judicial separation may be turned into one for a dissolution of marriage without issuing a fresh citation, but there must be a re-service of the petition on resp.

The costs of the motion must not be taxed against the husband (per CUR.).—CARTLEDGE v. CARTLEDGE (1862), 4 Sw. & Tr. 249; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 135; 8 Jur. N. S. 493; 164 E. R. 1511.

3723. —— Non-payment of costs by respondent.]—The ct. will allow a wife to withdraw her petition for judicial separation & file one for dissolution of marriage, if her proctor has not received from the husband her costs in the former suit.—ASHLEY v. ASHLEY (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 388; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 175; 5 L. T. 139; 164 E. R. 1046.

3724. —— On same grounds as in first petition.]—Leave granted to withdraw a petition for judicial separation & file a petition for dissolution of marriage upon the same grounds as those alleged in the first petition.—MASSEY v. MASSEY (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 141.

3725. —— Cross-charges by wife.]—Where a husband brought a suit for dissolution on the ground of adultery with co-resp., & the wife answered charging petitioner with adultery & cruelty, & prayed for a judicial separation, & the jury found for resp. on all the issues. The ct. allowed the prayer of the answer to be amended, & pronounced a decree nisi for dissolution on the application of resp.—CORPATAUX v. CORPATAUX & STAUB (1875), 23 W. R. 456.

3726. From dissolution to judicial separation—Charges proved.]—DENT v. DENT, No. 3183, ante.

3727. —— Failure of proof.]—SMITH v. SMITH, No. 2883, ante.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 3.—F.

m. No co-respondent named—Power of court to add name suo motu—Necessity for amendment of petition.]—In a suit for divorce petitioner did not make any person a co-respondent but simply averred that his wife was generally leading an immoral life:—Held: the ct. should not add a person as co-respondent suo motu without calling on petitioner to amend the petition by making the necessary allegations against him.—HOWE v. HOWE (1913), I. L. R. 38 Mad. 466,—IND.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 3, H., I. & J.; sub-sect 4, A., B. & C

3728. ·]—DUPLANY v. DUPLANY, No. 3628, ante.

3729. —— Intervention by King's Proctor—Plea of collusion & adultery.]—DRUMMOND v. DRUMMOND, No. 3158, ante.

3730. —— Countercharges established—Giving court discretion to refuse relief.]—BOREHAM v. BOREHAM, No. 3439, ante.

Discretionary bars to relief, see Sect. 7, sub-sect. 4, ante.

3731. —— Attempt to expunge countercharges.]—LEMPRIERE v. LEMPRIERE & ROEBEL, No. 3440, ante.

3732. —— Whether respondent's consent necessary—All charges proved.]—A wife, having presented a petition praying for a dissolution of her marriage by reason of the cruelty & adultery of her husband, at the hearing proved both charges. The decree was suspended at her request, & on applying for a decree for judicial separation instead of a decree nisi for dissolution, resp. opposed the application. The ct. refused to allow her to alter the prayer of her petition until resp. had had an opportunity of bringing before the ct. the facts on which he grounded his opposition.—MYCOCK v. MYCOCK (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 98; 39 L. J. P. & M. 56; 23 L. T. 238; 18 W. R. 1144.

3733. —— —— All charges not established.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage on the ground of cruelty & adultery, if one of the charges only be established, petitioner has a right to a decree of judicial separation without the consent of resp.—BROMFIELD v. BROMFIELD (1871), 41 L. J. P. & M. 17; 26 L. T. 264.

3734. —— After decree nisi—Solicitor's costs.]—COLYER v. COLYER (1904), Times, Nov. 8.

Annotation:—Folld. Parsons v. Parsons (1907), 23 T. L. R. 749.

3735. —— —— Upon respondent's motion to dismiss for want of prosecution.]—A petitioner is entitled to a reasonable time after the expiration of the time at which the decree could, at the earliest possible date, be made absolute, in order to determine whether to proceed further or to have the petition dismissed.

Upon an adjourned motion by a resp. to dismiss a suit for want of prosecution, the ct. allowed petitioner to take a decree of judicial separation in place of the decree nisi previously obtained for dissolution of the marriage.—PARSONS v. PARSONS, [1907] P. 331; 76 L. J. P. 159; 23 T. L. R. 749.

I. Petitions Claiming Damages.

3736. Addition of claim.]—Leave granted to amend a petition for dissolution of marriage by adding a claim for damages.—BARTLETT v. BARTLETT & BALMANNO (1864), 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 64.

3737. —— Application made bonâ fide.]—Petitioner in a suit for divorce, after the petition, but before an answer was filed, applied for leave to amend his petition by adding a claim for damages. The ct., being satisfied that it was made in good faith without any collateral purpose, granted the application.—SYMONDS v. SYMONDS & HARRISON (1870), 23 L. T. 568; 19 W. R. 166.

3738. —— Fresh evidence.]—At the date of filing his petition the only evidence which petitioner had was the confession of resp. He subsequently obtained independent evidence of her alleged adultery with co-resp., & he then applied to amend his petition by adding a claim for damages. The ct. allowed the amendment.—HENSLOW v. HENSLOW & BEARDSLEY (1871), 40 L. J. P. & M. 31; 24 L. T. 846; 19 W. R. 786.

3739. Insertion of amount—Authority of counsel for co-respondent to consent.]—SPEDDING v. SPEDDING & SMITH, No. 3664, ante.

3740. Amendment after verdict—Award of larger sum than claimed.]—Petitioner in a suit for dissolution of marriage claimed £500 damages from co-resp. The jury having awarded £1,000, the ct. allowed petitioner to amend his claim to that amount.—MODERA v. MODERA & BARCLAY (1893), 10 T. L. R. 69.

3741. —— —— Undefended suit.]—Where in an undefended case damages are assessed at a higher figure than that claimed in the petition, a summons must be taken out by petitioner, if he desire to amend his claim, asking for leave to amend & re-serve the petition. The summons should be served upon co-resp., who, although not represented at the trial, will be entitled to be heard in opposition to the application.—BECKETT v. BECKETT & JONES, [1901] P. 85; 70 L. J. P. 17; 84 L. T. 272; 17 T. L. R. 120.

3742. Withdrawal of claim—Whether notice to opposite parties essential—Undefended suit.]—When no appearance has been entered by either resp. or co-resp., against whom damages are claimed, by leave of ct. & without notice to resp. or co-resp. the claim for damages may be withdrawn & the case transferred from the common jury to the undefended list.—CHAMBERLAIN v. CHAMBERLAIN & HARTWELL (1907), 51 Sol. Jo. 357.

3743. Reinsertion after withdrawal—Withdrawal by mistake—Fresh evidence.]—SYKES v. SYKES & SMITH, No. 4442, post.

J. Re-Service of Amended Petitions.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 25.

3744. Necessity for—No notice of motion to respondent.]—WRIGHT v. WRIGHT, No. 3683, ante.

3745. —— Non-appearance by respondents—Amendment making charge more distinct.]—AMBLER v. AMBLER & HOGHTON, No. 3651, ante.

3746. —— —— ——.]—A petition, by a husband, for dissolution of marriage did not charge adultery, but alleged that resp. & co-resp. were "living & cohabiting together." Neither of resps. appeared. At the hearing the ct. refused to allow the petition to be amended, by inserting a charge of adultery, without re-service.—FORMAN v. FORMAN & DAVIS (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 80; 11 W. R. 401.

3747. —— —— ——.]—SPILSBURY v. SPILSBURY, No. 3652, ante.

3748. —— —— Additional adultery "with person unknown."]—WALLACE v. WALLACE, GUITER & MACNAMARA, No. 3715, ante.

3749. —— —— Correction of respondent's name.]—KISCH v. KISCH, No. 3694, ante.

3750. —— —— Amendment of date of adultery.]—The rule that when a petition has been amended by leave of the ct. it must be re-served will not be waived merely because resp. has not appeared. Therefore, where a charge of adultery was wrongly dated in a petition, the ct. allowed the petition

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 3.—J.

n. Necessity for — Non-appearance by respondents.]—Where an amendment is made in a petition to wl no appearance had been entered by resp., if it is clear that resp. cannot by the amendment, then mended petition need not be ; but if it is not clear, then there must be re-service.—PATRICK v. PATRICK, [1921] N. Z. L. R. 514.—N.Z.

o. —— ——.]—A material amendment in a petition will not be allowed without re-service even where to be amended by correcting the date, but ordered that the petition be re-served on resp. although he had not appeared.—CHARTER v. CHARTER (1889), 58 L. J. P. 44 ; 60 L. T. 872.

3751. —— —— Amendment of amount of damages claimed—Verdict for larger sum than prayed.]—BECKETT v. BECKETT & JONES, No. 3741, ante.

3752. —— Respondent cited by advertisement—Advertisement of amended petition not essential.]—Where a resp. is cited by advertisement, & leave to amend the petition is afterwards granted, the amended petition need not be advertised.—SMITH v. SMITH (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 216 ; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 145 ; 9 L. T. 118 ; 7 Jur. N. S. 539 ; 11 W. R. 989 ; 164 E. R. 1257.

3753. —— Amendment of name of person with whom adultery alleged—Christian name.]—LOVE v. LOVE, No. 3692, ante.

3754. —— —— Undefended suit.]—When a resp. in India, who had been served with the citation & petition, had not appeared, & the petition was amended by changing the name only of the woman with whom adultery was alleged, the ct. allowed personal re-service of the amended petition to be dispensed with.—ROBERTS v. ROBERTS (1909), 53 Sol. Jo. 301.

3755. —— Substitution of new party with whom adultery alleged.]—HARDING-COX v. HARDING-COX, No. 3696, ante.

3756. —— Amendment of prayer—From judicial separation to dissolution.]—CARTLEDGE v. CARTLEDGE, No. 3722, ante.

Service generally, see Sub-sect. 5, post.

SUB-SECT. 4.—PARTIES.

A. In General.

Co-respondents.]—See Sub-sect. 4, E., post.

Parties by intervention.]—See Sub-sect. 4, F., post.

3757. Suit for dissolution—Parties recognised by court.]—Y—— v. Y—— (1860), No. 3831, post.

3758. —— Alien enemy.]—An alien enemy, who has been registered as such & who is domiciled in England, has a right to bring a petition for the dissolution of his marriage.—KRAUSS (OTHERWISE DES SALLES D'EPINOIX) v. KRAUSS (OTHERWISE DES SALLES D'EPINOIX) & ORBACH (1919), 35 T. L. R. 637 ; 63 Sol. Jo. 760.

Right of alien enemies to sue or initiate proceedings on own behalf.]—See ALIENS, Vol. II., pp. 154–162, Nos. 250–329.

3759. Suit for nullity on ground of affinity—Interested parties.]—Any interest, however slight, provided it be specific & pecuniary, whether to be secured in a contingent right, or released from a possible legal obligation, is sufficient to entitle a party to sustain a suit in the Ecclesiastical Ct. for nullity of a marriage, on the ground of affinity. Where, therefore, a father brought such suit to dissolve a marriage contracted by his daughter, after she was of age, by reason of incest :—Held : his possible liability, under Poor Relief Act, 1601 (c. 2), to maintain the issue of such marriage, if legitimate, in case of the death or impotency of the parents, was an interest sufficient to entitle him to sustain such suit ; & a sentence of nullity of marriage was pronounced therein.—SHERWOOD v. RAY (1837), 1 Moo. P. C. C. 353 ; 12 E. R. 848, P. C. ; affg. S. C. sub nom. RAY v. SHERWOOD & RAY (1836), 1 Curt. 193.

Annotations :—Consd. R. v. Oxford (Bp.) (1879), 4 Q. B. D. 525. Refd. Bevan v. M'Mahon & Bevan (1859), 2 Sw. & Tr. 58 ; Wells v. Cottam (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 364 ; Sheppard v. Phillimore & Bennett (1869), L. R. 2 P. C. 450 ; Elphinstone v. Purchas (1870), L. R. 3 P. C. 245 ; Fagg v. Lee (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 135 ; Lowe v. Lowe (1899), 80 L. T. 575. Mentd. Harrison v. Sparrow (1842), 3 Curt. 1 ; Sanders v. Head (1843), 2 Notes of Cases, 355 ; Brookes v. Cresswell (1846), 4 Notes of Cases, 429 ; Fenton (or Livingstone) v. Livingstone (1856), 27 L. T. O. S. 18 ; Ditcher v. Denison (1857), 11 Moo. P. C. C. 324 ; Brook v. Brook (1861), 9 H. L. Cas. 193 ; Martin v. Mackonochie, Flamank v. Simpson (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 116 ; Winchester (Bp.) v. Wix (1869), L. R. 3 A. & E. 19 ; The Helenslea, The Catalonia (1882), 7 P. D. 57.

3760. Suit for judicial separation—Persons acting under power of attorney.]—In a suit by S., resident in India, against his wife, resident in England, for a separation by reason of her adultery, the question of the sufficiency of the authority from the husband arose, upon the ct.'s inquiry, previous to signing the sentence. There was a power of attorney authorising certain persons to commence proceedings on the part of the husband, ratifying & confirming what the attorneys had done, & agreeing to ratify & confirm what they should do : —Held : a sufficient authority.—SEWELL v. SEWELL (1840), 1 Notes of Cases, 33.

Suit for jactitation—Only maintainable by one of parties to alleged marriage.]—See Sect. 4, ante.

B. Minors.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 74, &, generally, INFANTS.

3761. Guardian ad litem—Appointment of father—Without consent.]—Appointment of the father of a minor, as curator ad litem, on election of the minor ; but without the consent of the father, in order to substantiate proceedings against the son in a suit of cruelty & adultery, not sustained.—BEAURAINE v. BEAURAINE (1808), 1 Hag. Con. 498 ; 161 E. R. 630.

Annotations :—Distd. Morgan v. Morgan (1841), 2 Curt. 679. Consd. Mordaunt v. Mordaunt (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 109. Mentd. Mordaunt v. Moncreiffe (1874), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 374.

3762. —— —— Need of proxy—Nullity suit.]—DENNIS v. DENNIS (1815), cited in 2 Curt. at p. 687 ; 163 E. R. 552.

Annotation :—Consd. Morgan v. Morgan (1840), 2 Curt. 679.

3763. —— In same position as next friend—Liability for costs.]—RUTTER v. RUTTER, No. 5044, post.

3764. Nullity suit by father of minor—Necessity to state capacity in which father sues—Whether as guardian or in own right.]—In a suit for nullity instituted by the father of a minor, it must appear upon the face of the petition whether the father has instituted the suit in his own right or as guardian of the minor.—WELLS v. COTTAM (FALSELY CALLED WELLS) (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 364 ; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 41 ; 10 L. T. 138 ; 10 Jur. N. S. 444 ; 12 W. R. 672 ; 164 E. R. 1316.

Annotation :—Refd. Gilroy v. Gilroy, [1914] P. 122.

3765. Objection to minority—Time.]—ZYCKLINSKI v. ZYCKLINSKI, No. 3952, post.

C. Persons of Unsound Mind.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 75, &, generally LUNATICS.

3766. Suit by committee—Nullity.]—FUST v.

---

no appearance has been entered. Leave was asked to amend the petition in order to insert an earlier date of the alleged desertion :—Held : such leave could only be granted upon terms that the petition as amended was served.—GOW v. GOW, [1921] N. Z. L. R. 695.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 4.—C.

p. Where respondent insane — Assignment of guardian.]—When the ground of a petition for dissolution of marriage is the unsoundness of resp.'s mind, the ct. on proof of service of the petition & citation on the master in lunacy in accordance with Divorce (Insanity) Act, 1919, s. 5, will dispense

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 4, C., D. & E. (a) & (b) i. & ii.]

BOWERMAN (1790), cited in 2 Hag. Con. at pp. 170, 171; 2 Add. at p. 402; 161 E. R. 705.

Annotations:—Expld. Parnell v. Parnell (1814), 2 Hag. Con. 169. Refd. Nokes v. Milward (1824), 2 Add. 386.

3767. —— Dissolution.]—The committee of a lunatic may institute proceedings against the wife of a lunatic for adultery.—PARNELL v. PARNELL (1814), 2 Hag. Con. 169; 2 Phillim. 158; 161 E. R. 704.

Annotations:—Consd. Mordaunt v. Mordaunt (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 109. Refd. Mordaunt v. Moncreiffe (1874), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 374.

3768. —— ——.]—The lunacy of a husband or wife is not a bar to a suit by the committee for the dissolution of the lunatic's marriage. Such a suit may be instituted by the committee of the lunatic.—BAKER v. BAKER (1880), 5 P. D. 142; 49 L. J. P. 49; 42 L. T. 332; 28 W. R. 630; affd. 6 P. D. 12.

Annotations:—Expld. Stanhope v. Stanhope (1886), 11 P. D. 103. Folld. Burrell v. Burrell & Blake (1900), 17 T. L. R. 41.

3769. —— Judicial separation.]—The committee of a lunatic may maintain a suit for judicial separation on the ground of the adultery of the wife of the lunatic.—WOODGATE v. TAYLOR (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 512; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 197; 5 L. T. 119; 164 E. R. 1095.

Annotation:—Consd. Mordaunt v. Moncreiffe (1874), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 374.

—— Suit to perpetuate testimony—Illegitimacy of children.]—See BASTARDY, Vol. III., p. 371, Nos. 126, 127.

3770. Guardian ad litem—Appointment of.]—(1) A petition for divorce against a wife was met by an allegation of her insanity & consequent inability to defend herself. The ct. below appointed a guardian ad litem on her behalf. Upon a verdict of her insanity, proceedings were suspended; but with liberty to the husband to apply again to the ct. in the event of her recovery. The husband appealed to the House of Lords, insisting that the wife's insanity ought not to bar, or impede, the investigation of the charge of adultery brought against her. The House adopted this view; &, reversing the order appealed against, sent the case back with directions to proceed.

Divorce may be asked & decreed on behalf of, or against, a lunatic, the ct. appointing a guardian ad litem for protection (KELLY, C.B., DENMAN, J., & POLLOCK, B., as consulted judges).

(2) By the law of England, adultery, though a grievous sin, is not a crime, & the analogies & precedents of criminal law have no authority in the Divorce Ct., a civil tribunal.

In the proceedings against a criminal, every step is arrested by his or her becoming a lunatic; but the procedure in divorce is not a criminal proceeding (LORD HATHERLEY).—MORDAUNT v. MONCREIFFE (1874), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 374; 43 L. J. P. & M. 49; 30 L. T. 649; 39 J. P. 4; 23 W. R. 12, H. L.; revsg. S. C. sub nom. MORDAUNT v. MORDAUNT (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 109, 382.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Baker v. Baker (1880), 5 P. D. 142. Refd. Giles v. Giles (1899), 69 L. J. P. 26. As to (2) Consd. Redfern v. Redfern, [1891] P. 139. Refd. Branford v. Branford (1878), 4 P. D. 72.

3771. —— —— Not where dispute as to insanity.]—An order ought not to be made under rule 196, assigning a guardian ad litem to a person alleged to be of unsound mind, where there is a substantial & bonâ fide dispute as to the unsoundness of mind of the person to whom it is proposed to assign the guardian. Qu.: whether rule 196 applies where the person has not been found lunatic by inquisition.—FRY v. FRY (1890), 15 P. D. 50; 62 L. T. 501; sub nom. ROUTH (OTHERWISE FRY) v. FRY, 59 L. J. P. 43; 38 W. R. 615, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Howell v. Lewis (1891), 61 L. J. Ch. 89.

3772. —— —— Application by petitioner.]—GILES v. GILES, No. 2318, ante.

3773. —— Petitioner appearing by—Decree for dissolution granted.]—The ct. granted a decree nisi for a dissolution of marriage on the petition of a person detained in a lunatic asylum under a reception order made by a magistrate, petitioner appearing by his guardian ad litem.—BURRELL v. BURRELL & BLAKE (1900), 17 T. L. R. 41.

3774. Where respondent insane—Adjournment to appoint guardian.]—GILES v. GILES, No. 2318, ante.

3775. —— Answer filed by official solicitor.]—JOHNSON v. JOHNSON, [1901] P. 193; 70 L. J. P. 44; 84 L. T. 725.

Annotations:—Mentd. Coppinger v. Coppinger & Lutwyche (1918), 34 T. L. R. 328; Rickard v. Rickard & Bond (1921), 37 T. L. R. 511.

3776. —— Notice to official solicitor.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage where resp. is a lunatic, notice must be given to the official solr. in case he should think fit to appear & take part in the proceedings.—BURNETT v. BURNETT & PURDY (1922), 39 T. L. R. 111; 67 Sol. Jo. 147.

3777. Insanity at time of trial—Sanity of co-respondent at time of service.]—As co-resp. seems to have been sane when he was served & to have had an opportunity of appearing, it does not lie on petitioner to take steps to have co-resp. represented, & if costs on a finding of adultery are not asked for against him, I think the case may proceed (MCCARDIE, J.).—WHITING v. WHITING & BOTWRIGHT (1920), 36 T. L. R. 215.

D. Pauper Suitors.

See R. S. C., 1925, Ord. 16, rr. 22–31 G; Ord. 36 A.

Costs.]—See Sect. 18, sub-sect. 6, post.

3778. Assignment of counsel by court—Effect of.]—A person suing in formâ pauperis, to whom counsel has been assigned by the ct., cannot appear by another counsel, until there has been a renunciation, or a new assignment of counsel, or he has been dispauperised.—HAMER v. BOREHAM (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 26; 27 L. J. P. & M. 107; 164 E. R. 613.

E. Co-Respondents.

(a) Jurisdiction of Court over Co-Respondents.

Whether dependent on domicil of co-respondent.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 425, 426, Nos. 907–915.

Where co-respondent a foreign ruling prince.]—See ACTION, Vol. I., p. 48, No. 388.

(b) Necessity to make every Alleged Adulterer Co-Respondent.

i. In General.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 177.

Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 4, 5.

3779. General rule.]—Unless petitioner can satisfy the ct. on affidavit that he cannot or ought not to make a co-resp., Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 28, is imperative that he should with service on resp. & will assign the master, where he consents to act as such, as guardian to resp. for the purposes of the suit.—BLACKBELL v. BLACKBELL, [1920] V. L. R. 356.—AUS.

q. Where petitioner insane—Action for judicial separation.]—An action of separation at the instance of an insane wife is incompetent.—THOMSON v. THOMSON (1887), 14 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 634 24 Sc. L. R. 450.—SCOT.

do so.—QUICKE v. QUICKE (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 419; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 28; 5 L. T. 690; 10 W. R. 448.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165; Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89.

3780. ——.]—Petitioner must make every person whom he charges in the petition with having committed adultery with his wife a co-resp., unless he is excused from so doing by the ct. on special grounds.

Qu.: whether the fact that petitioner can only obtain evidence admissible against resp., but inadmissible against the alleged adulterer, would be such special ground.—CARRYER v. CARRYER & WATSON (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 94; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 47; 13 L. T. 250; 11 Jur. N. S. 352; 13 W. R. 507.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165; Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89. Refd. Edwards v. Edwards & Wilson, [1897] P. 316; Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271; Rush v. Rush, Bailey & Pimenta, [1920] P. 242.

3781. ——.]—When a petition charges adultery with a person unknown, & names no adulterer, it is necessary to obtain the leave of the ct. to proceed without making a co-resp.—PITT v. PITT (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 464; 37 L. J. P. & M. 24; 17 L. T. 671.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165; Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89. Refd. Edwards v. Edwards & Wilson, [1897] P. 316.

3782. ——.]—A husband who petitions for dissolution of his marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery must join the alleged adulterer as a co-resp., though he possesses no legal evidence against the alleged adulterer, & though his only knowledge as to the man's name be derived from confessions made by the wife or from other ex p. statements.—JONES v. JONES, [1896] P. 165; 65 L. J. P. 101; 75 L. T. 190; 12 T. L. R. 416.

Annotations:—Consd. Edwards v. Edwards & Wilson, [1897] P. 316. Dbtd. Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89.

3783. "Alleged adulterer"—Person alleged by petitioner.]—SAUNDERS v. SAUNDERS, No. 3784, post.

ii. "Special Grounds" Dispensing with Necessity.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 177; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 4 & 5.

3784. Discretion of court as to—Unfettered—How exercised.]—(1) The discretion given to the judge, by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 28, to allow a petition for a divorce to proceed, on special grounds, without making any co-resp. is to be exercised with regard to the principles laid down in or to be gathered from the Act & the rules, & to the circumstances of each particular case, & cannot be fettered by any general rule of practice.

A husband, who had been absent from England for more than two years, ascertained, when he returned home, that his wife had recently given birth to a child, of which he was not the father. She registered the birth of the child, giving her own name as the mother but without giving the name of any father. She took out a bastardy summons against H., whom she alleged to be the father of the child, but, at the time appointed for its hearing, she did not appear, & the summons was struck out. The husband did not believe that H. was the father of the child, & his solr., after making careful inquiry, was unable to obtain any evidence against H. H. was prepared to swear that he had never had intercourse with the wife. The husband presented a divorce petition, in which he alleged that the wife had committed adultery with a man whose name was unknown to him:—Held: the husband should be allowed to proceed with the petition without naming any co-resp.

(2) The words "alleged adulterer" in Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 28, & rule 4 of the Rules of 1863, mean only the person alleged by petitioner in the petition to be the adulterer.—SAUNDERS v. SAUNDERS, [1897] P. 89; 66 L. J. P. 57; 76 L. T. 330; 45 W. R. 583; 13 T. L. R. 328; 41 Sol. Jo. 404, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Edwards v. Edwards & Wilson, [1897] P. 316. Refd. Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271. As to (2) Refd. Edwards v. Edwards & Wilson, [1897] P. 316. Generally, Refd. Rush v. Rush, Bailey & Pimenta, [1920] P. 242; Franklin v. Franklin & Minshall, [1921] P. 407. Mentd. Field v. Ommanney (1920), 36 T. L. R. 695.

3785. —— —— When interfered with on appeal.]—Petitioner, a British subject domiciled in England, who charged his wife with adultery committed at Lisbon with two foreigners, applied by motion for leave to proceed without citing either of co-resps., on the grounds that they had both left Portugal; that neither he nor resp. knew their addresses; & that he had wholly failed to trace them. The petition contained no claim for damages or costs against either of co-resps. Resp. had not been served with notice of the motion, but at her own request had received copies of the affidavits to be used at the hearing of the motion. At the hearing, counsel for petitioner objected to resp. being heard. The President held that resp. was entitled to be heard, &, on the facts, that petitioner had not shown that co-resps. could not be reached by one or other of the methods by which service or substituted service could be effected; & accordingly refused the motion. On appeal:—Held: (1) Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), ss. 27, 28, 33, showed that a foreign co-resp. domiciled abroad was not entitled as of right to claim to be dismissed from the suit, & in the absence of special grounds the petition ought to be served upon him; but the matter was one entirely within the discretion of the judge of the Probate & Divorce Div., & the Ct. of Appeal would not interfere with the exercise of that discretion unless it appeared that the judge had acted upon a wrong principle, or under some misapprehension, or without consideration: (2) although it was the usual practice for motions for leave to proceed without citing a co-resp. to be made ex p., there was no rule of practice which prevented a resp. from being heard on such an application.—RUSH v. RUSH, BAILEY & PIMENTA, [1920] P. 242; 89 L. J. P. 129; 122 L. T. 792; 36 T. L. R. 302; 64 Sol. Jo. 323, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Franklin v. Franklin & Minshall, [1921] P. 407.

3786. Absence or insufficiency of evidence—Whether sufficient to dispense with necessity.]—CARRYER v. CARRYER & WATSON, No. 3780, ante.

3787. —— ——.]—JONES v. JONES, No. 3782, ante.

3788. —— ——.]—The mere belief of petitioner, founded on the evidence then before him, that a person accused of being the adulterer is not guilty, is not in itself sufficient to excuse him from making that person a co-resp.; if, however, the ct. is satisfied that no evidence can be obtained against

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 4, E. (b) ii., iii. & iv

the accused person, it may exercise its discretion under sect. 28 of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), & allow petitioner to proceed without joining him as co-resp.—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS & WILSON, [1897] P. 316; 67 L. J. P. 1; 77 L. T. 406; 13 T. L. R. 592.

3789. —— Wife's confession sole evidence of guilt.]—Semble: if a husband, who has been allowed to proceed without making a co-resp., afterwards & before the trial acquire evidence as to the person with whom his wife committed adultery, & who was previously unknown, he ought to bring the matter before the ct. He need not do so when the sole evidence is the wife's confession.—MUSPRATT v. MUSPRATT (1861), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 28.

Annotations:— Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165. Refd. Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89.

3790. —— ——.]—The ct. will allow petitioner to proceed without making the alleged adulterer a co-resp., where no evidence can be obtained against him, the only evidence that he is the adulterer being the wife's confession.—JINKINGS v. JINKINGS (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 330; 36 L. J. P. & M. 48; 15 L. T. 512.

Annotations:—Folld. Gill v. Gill (1889), 37 W. R. 623. Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165. Refd. Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89.

3791. —— ——.]—A husband presented a petition to the ct. praying for a dissolution of his marriage on the grounds of his wife's adultery with two men, R. & E., both of whom were mentioned by name in the petition. The charge against E. was made on the strength of certain rumours which reached petitioner, & which were confirmed by a statement made to petitioner's solr. by resp., to the effect that E. was the father of her illegitimate child. The man E. positively denied the truth of resp.'s statement, &, upon petitioner & his solr. making inquiries into the matter, no satisfactory evidence was forthcoming to support resp.'s confession. Petitioner was thereupon advised to apply to the ct. for leave to proceed without citing any co-resp. in respect of the adultery which resulted in the birth of resp.'s illegitimate child:—Held: resp. having given the name of E. as the father of her child, & his name having been inserted in the petition, he must be made a co-resp. & be served with the usual citation.—PAYNE v. PAYNE, RODWAY & EDDELS (1888), 60 L. T. 238.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165. Refd. Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89.

3792. —— ——.]—On a husband's petition for dissolution of the marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery, of which the only evidence was a confession by the wife, the ct., on motion, excused the husband from making the alleged adulterer a co-resp.—GILL v. GILL (1889), 60 L. T. 712; 37 W. R. 623.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165; Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89.

3793. —— ——.]—In a petition by a husband for divorce, it appeared that the address & occupation of the alleged adulterer were known to petitioner, but there was no evidence against him except resp.'s confession:—Held: petitioner could not be excused from making the adulterer a co-resp., & the citation must be personally served upon him as such co-resp.—CORNISH v. CORNISH (1890), 15 P. D. 131; 59 L. J. P. 84; 62 L. T. 667.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165. Refd. Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89.

3794. —— ——.]—Where no evidence was obtainable against the man whom resp. had indicated as the father of one of her illegitimate children, & who was believed to be in America, the ct. gave petitioner leave to proceed without citing the alleged adulterer as co-resp.—BAGOT v. BAGOT (1890), 62 L. T. 612.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165. Refd. Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89.

3795. —— ——.]—JONES v. JONES, No. 3782, ante.

3796. —— ——.]—MILES v. MILES (1896), Times, Mar. 20.

Annotation:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165.

3797. —— ——.]—A wife, in answer to inquiries by her husband touching the paternity of a child with which she was pregnant, & of which he could not be the father gave the name of a man, & made certain statements which she said were within petitioner's knowledge, but of which he declared he knew nothing; neither did he know of the existence of such a man. After petition filed, & upon motion by the husband (petitioner) for leave to proceed without citing any person as co-resp., the ct. directed petitioner's solr. to write to resp. with a view to having a personal interview with & obtaining an explanation from her, & refused to make an order in petitioner's favour until this had been done & the result made known to the ct.—GROSE v. GROSE (1897), 78 L. T. 89.

Annotation:—Consd. Franklin v. Franklin & Minshall, [1921] P. 407.

3798. —— —— Petitioner's belief in innocence of party accused.]—SAUNDERS v. SAUNDERS, No. 3784, ante.

3799. —— —— ——.]—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS & WILSON, No. 3788, ante.

3800. Verdict against co-respondent in previous suit.]—A. having in an action of crim. con. recovered damages against B., applied for leave to present a petition for the dissolution of his marriage without making B. co-resp. to such petition:—Held: the circumstances of A. having recovered damages against B. did not constitute such special ground, within sect. 28 of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), as to justify the ct. to grant the application.—Ex p. ARMITAGE (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 71; sub nom. Re ARMITAGE'S DIVORCE, 4 Jur. N. S. 56; sub nom. Ex p. ——, 27 L. J. P. & M. 4; sub nom. ANON., 30 L. T. O. S. 278; 6 W. R. 222.

3801. ——.]—A. had obtained sentence of divorce a mensâ et thoro in the Ecclesiastical Ct. by reason of the wife's adultery, & had recovered damages in an undefended action for crim. con. from B., the alleged adulterer, who was now at the Cape of Good Hope. A. was allowed to proceed with his petition for dissolution, without making B. a co-resp.—TOMKIN v. TOMKIN (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 182; 27 L. J. P. & M. 54; 31 L. T. O. S. 186.

Annotation:—Refd. Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271.

3802. Adulterer dead.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage, by reason of the wife's adultery, where the alleged adulterer is dead or unknown, petitioner should apply at once to the ct. for an order to be excused from making a co-resp. Qu.: whether the ct. has power to make such an order after the citation has been served on resp.—TOLLEMACHE v. TOLLEMACHE (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 2.

Annotations:—Distd. Hunter v. Hunter & Vernon (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 3. Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165; Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89; Slaytor v. Slaytor & Jackson, [1897] P. 85.

3803. —— One of two alleged adulterers.]—Where, in a petition for dissolution of marriage, adultery is charged with a person who died before the institution of divorce proceedings, petitioner must apply to the ct. for an order to be excused from making him a co-resp., even though adultery be charged against a second person who has been made a co-resp. to the suit.—SLAYTOR v. SLAYTOR & JACKSON, [1897] P. 85 ; 66 L. J. P. 97 ; 77 L. T. 141 ; 13 T. L. R. 244.

3804. Wife leading life of prostitute.]—An application to proceed in a suit for dissolution, without making a co-resp. granted, on the ground that the wife was living in a brothel.

Qu.: whether the wife can object to such an application.—HOOK v. HOOK (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 183 ; 27 L. J. P. & M. 61 ; 31 L. T. O. S. 269 ; 6 W. R. 868.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165. Refd. Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89 ; Rush v. Rush, Bailey & Pimenta, [1920] P. 242.

3805. ——.]—Where the wife, resp., was alleged to be leading the life of a common prostitute & to have committed adultery with several persons, who were necessary witnesses to enable petitioner to establish the charges of adultery, petitioner was allowed to proceed without making a co-resp.—PETERS v. PETERS & WILLETT (1861), 3 Sw. & Tr. 264.

3806. Inability to trace co-respondent—Affidavit in support.]—Where a petition for dissolution of marriage alleged that "in the month of July, 1857, resp., at Birkenhead, committed adultery with a man whose name is to petitioner unknown," the judge ordinary refused to excuse petitioner from making a co-resp., on an affidavit simply stating that petitioner was unable to learn the name of the alleged adulterer, but subsequently granted the application on an affidavit which stated that petitioner had been informed by H. that resp. & a man had taken furnished apartments, & slept together in her house, & that she had not since seen the man, & did not know his name, though she had made efforts to discover it.—EVANS v. EVANS (1859), 28 L. J. P. & M. 20.

3807. —— Adultery admitted by wife.]—A husband petitioned for a dissolution of his marriage with his wife on the ground of her adultery with a man unknown. No evidence could be obtained as to the adulterer, except that the wife had stayed with a man in an hotel in London, where their names were entered in the books as "Mr. & Mrs. E. L. G." The wife, whilst admitting her adultery, would give no information as to the adulterer, beyond that "he would marry her when the divorce was pronounced." The ct. refused to dispense with making a co-resp., but ordered the petition to be amended by charging adultery with "E. L. G." in the ordinary way, co-resp. to be served by advertisement: &, petitioner being in Western Australia, any further affidavit in support of the petition to be dispensed with.—NICOLAS v. NICOLAS (1899), 68 L. J. P. 66 ; 80 L. T. 422.

3808. —— —— Birth of illegitimate child.]—JEFFREYS v. JEFFREYS (1912), 28 T. L. R. 504.

3809. Adulterer domiciled & resident abroad—Notice of proceedings.]—A person whose name has been introduced into a divorce petition as an alleged adulterer is entitled to have notice of the proceedings so as to afford him an opportunity of clearing himself from the charge, if he should desire to do so. The ct., in relieving a petitioner from the necessity of citing an alleged adulterer on the ground that he was a foreigner domiciled & resident out of the jurisdiction, required petitioner to give him notice of the pending proceedings.—BOGER v. BOGER, [1908] P. 300 ; 77 L. J. P. 151 ; 99 L. T. 881 ; 24 T. L. R. 744 ; 52 Sol. Jo. 552.

Annotation:—Consd. Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Bulst, [1910] P. 271.

3810. ·]—RUSH v. RUSH, BAILEY & PIMENTA, No. 3785, ante.

iii. Adultery alleged in Countercharges.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 177 ; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 4 & 5.

Parties by intervention, see Sub-sect. 4, F., post.

3811. Whether adulterer must be made co-respondent—Claim for cross-relief.]—In a wife's petition for divorce, her husband, in his answer, made a countercharge of adultery against his wife, & prayed for a divorce. On an application made on behalf of the husband, by direction of the registrar, to be allowed to proceed without making a co-resp., the ct. granted the application, but reserved the question whether it has power to make a man a co-resp. in such a suit.—CURLING v. CURLING (1888), 14 P. D. 13 ; 58 L. J. P. 20 ; 59 L. T. 899.

Annotation:—Consd. Kenworthy v. Kenworthy, [1919] P. 65.

3812. —— ——.]—WHEELER v. WHEELER & RHODES, No. 3838, post.

3813. —— ——.] v. HARROP, No. 3840, post.

3814. —— — —]—When a husband in his answer to his wife's petition makes a countercharge against her of adultery, & seeks a divorce in the prayer of his answer, pursuant to Matrimonial Causes Act, 1866 (c. 32), s. 2, he must, pursuant to Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 28, make any known man, with whom he charges his wife with committing adultery, a party to the proceedings by citation ; & as regards any unknown man, he must apply, in the manner obligatory upon a petitioning husband under the same sect., for leave to be excused from making such man a party. Until the husband has taken these steps the registrar's certificate under Divorce Rules, r. 206, that the pleadings & proceedings are correct & in order cannot be granted ; but a time should be limited within which the husband is to take such steps &, in default, the part of his answer asking for relief in respect of his countercharge should be struck out, so as to put the pleadings in order & enable the registrar to make his certificate.—KENWORTHY v. KENWORTHY, [1919] P. 65 ; 88 L. J. P. 38 ; 120 L. T. 263 ; 35 T. L. R. 67 ; 63 Sol. Jo. 99, C. A.

3815. Application for leave to proceed without naming co-respondent—Service of notice of motion on petitioner—Whether essential.]—Where a husband in his answer to his wife's petition for divorce alleges that petitioner had communicated to him a venereal disease in consequence of her adultery with some man or men unknown, & the husband moves to proceed without naming the alleged adulterers as parties cited, petitioner ought not to be served with notice of the motion.—MACKENZIE v. MACKENZIE (1916), 114 L. T. 564 ; 32 T. L. R. 318.

——.]—See, generally, Sub-sect. 4, E. (c), post.

iv. Adultery alleged both with Specified and Unknown Persons.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 177 ; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 4 & 5.

3816. General rule.]—If a husband's petition for a dissolution of marriage alleges adultery with A. & B., & also with divers persons unknown, leave must be obtained to dispense with making such unknown persons co-resps.—PENTY v. PENTY, JOHNSON & SABINGIE (1882), 7 P. D. 19 ; 47 L. T.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 4, E. (b) iv., (c), & F. (a) & (b).]

131; sub nom. PENHY v. PENHY, JOHNSON & SABINGIE, 51 L. J. P. 24.

3817. Allegations of adultery with unknown persons struck out.]—A petition for dissolution of marriage alleged that the wife had committed adultery with A., who was made co-resp., & in the fifth paragraph charged her with having committed adultery with a person unknown. On motion that petitioner might be excused from making such unknown person a co-resp., or be allowed to strike the fifth paragraph out of the petition:—Held: either might be done. Qu.: whether, as there was one co-resp. there was any necessity for the application.—HUNTER v. HUNTER & VERNON (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 3.

Annotation:—Consd. Carryer v. Carryer & Watson (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 94.

3818. ——.]—Where a petition in an undefended suit contained allegations of adultery with two co-resps. & also with two unknown persons, the ct. ordered the paragraphs of the petition referring to the two unknown persons to be struck out.—PEACOCK v. PEACOCK (1894), 6 R. 656.

3819. Petitioner excused from making unknown person co-respondent.]—HUNTER v. HUNTER & VERNON, No. 3817, ante.

(c) Leave to proceed without naming Co-Respondents.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 177; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 4 & 5.

3820. Application for leave—Time for.]—An application to dispense with making a co-resp. should be made at an early stage of the suit; but, except under special circumstances, it will be allowed even after resp. has filed her answer to the petition.—JEFFERS v. JEFFERS (1877), 2 P. D. 90; 46 L. J. P. 80; 25 W. R. 513.

Annotations:—Refd. Dobson v. Dobson & Paxton, [1916] P. 110; Rush v. Rush, Bailey & Pimenta, [1920] P. 242.

3821. —— Affidavit of petitioner in support—Necessity for.]—Upon a motion to dispense with citation of any person as a co-resp., an affidavit by petitioner is indispensable.—DRINKWATER v. DRINKWATER (1889), 60 L. T. 398.

3822. —— —— Must be corroborated.]—The ct. will not, upon the affidavit of petitioner only, allow him to proceed without making a co-resp.—LEADER v. LEADER (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 136.

3823. —— —— ——.]—Where, upon a motion for leave to proceed without making a co-resp., it appeared that the affidavit of petitioner was not corroborated, the ct. ordered an adjournment in order that an affidavit in corroboration might be filed, & stated that, in future, if the affidavit of petitioner were not corroborated, any such motion would probably be dismissed.—BARBER v. BARBER, [1896] P. 73; 65 L. J. P. 58.

3824. —— Whether respondent may be heard in opposition—Notice of motion served.]—On a motion to dispense with a co-resp.:—Held: resp. had no locus standi, &, notwithstanding the fact that notice of motion had been served on her solrs., she could not be heard in opposition to the application.—DOBSON v. DOBSON & PAXTON, [1916] P. 110; 85 L. J. P. 150; 114 L. T. 565; 60 Sol. Jo. 387.

Annotation:—Consd. Rush v. Rush, Bailey & Pimenta, [1920] P. 242.

3825. —— —— Motions usually made ex parte.]—RUSH v. RUSH, BAILEY & PIMENTA, No. 3785, ante.

3826. Where leave granted—Application for discharge of order—Whether respondent competent to make.]—The ct. refused to treat a resp. as guilty of contempt for not having complied with an order respecting the custody of a child in the absence of an affidavit that the order had been personally served upon her.

Petitioner having obtained leave to proceed without service of the citation upon co-resp., the ct. held it was not competent to resp. to move to discharge that order, although she alleged that it had been obtained by fraud.—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY (1859), 23 J. P. 360.

3827. —— Subsequent evidence as to adulterer—Must be disclosed to court.]—MUSPRATT v. MUSPRATT, No. 3789, ante.

3828. —— Notice of pending proceedings to alleged adulterer.]—BOGER v. BOGER, No. 3809, ante.

3829. Proper procedure where adulterer domiciled abroad.]—(1) Where, upon a husband's petition for divorce, the alleged adulterer is domiciled abroad, & so is not subject to the jurisdiction of the Divorce Ct. here, the proper practice is for petitioner to move for leave to proceed without citing him as co-resp.

(2) Where co-resp., domiciled in a foreign country, had been dismissed from a suit on his own motion, the ct. declined to give the husband his costs, although co-resp. had entered an unconditional appearance to the citation.—BAKER v. BAKER, BAKER v. BAKER & DWYER, [1908] P. 257; 77 L. J. P. 96; 99 L. T. 313; 24 T. L. R. 493; 52 Sol. Jo. 413.

Annotation:—As to (2) Consd. Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271.

Jurisdiction over adulterers domiciled abroad.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., p. 425, Nos. 907–915.

F. Parties by Intervention.

(a) In General.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 197; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 17 & 19.

Legitimacy declarations, see BASTARDY, Vol. III., p. 370, Nos. 110 et seq.

3830. Whether court will admit—Parties with estates expectant upon issue of marriage—When validity of marriage questioned.]—In a cause of divorce, where the alleged marriage is denied to be valid, the ct. may probably permit third parties, who have estates expectant (inter alia) upon the issue of such alleged marriage being illegitimate; & who consequently are interested in the question of its validity, to be cited to "see proceedings" in the cause, so far as relates to the marriage.—MONTAGUE v. MONTAGUE (1824), 2 Add. 372; 162 E. R. 331.

3831. —— Where no personal interest.]—In a suit for dissolution of a marriage, the only parties who are recognised by the rules of the ct. are petitioner, resp., & co-resp. The ct. has no authority to allow an individual, who has no personal interest, to suggest a charge against one of the parties which has not been imputed by the other, &, for that purpose, to intervene in the suit.—Y—— v. Y—— (1860), 1 Sw. & Tr. 598; 1 L. T. 414; 8 W. R. 273; 164 E. R. 877; sub nom. Re CHADDOCK v. CHADDOCK, Ex p. VERAX, 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 55; 6 Jur. N. S. 348.

Annotation:—Distd. Jessop v. Jessop (1861), 7 Jur. N. S. 609.

s. Inability to discover co-respondent.]—BUSH v. BUSH (1893), 12 N. L. R. 269.—N.Z.

3832. —— Alleged adulteress to be made a respondent—Petition by wife.]—In a suit by a wife for dissolution of marriage, the ct., upon application on behalf of the person with whom it was alleged that the husband had committed adultery, directed that she be made a resp.—BELL v. BELL (1883), 8 P. D. 217.

3833. —— Assignee of damages.]—HUNT v. HUNT & COOPER, No. 5854, post.

3834. Time for intervention—After issue joined.]—An intervener may plead after issue joined by leave of the ct.—JONES v. WILLIAMS (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 19; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 102; 29 J. P. 200; 11 Jur. N. S. 288.

3835. After decree nisi.]—In a divorce suit, between the decree nisi & the application to make it absolute, the ct. on terms, allowed the intervention of a lady who was not a party to the suit, but with whom resp. was alleged by the petition to have committed adultery.—FRENCH v. FRENCH (1914), 30 T. L. R. 584.

3836. Position of intervener—Opposite party—Within Married Women's Property Act, 1893, s. 2.]—A wife, having presented a petition for dissolution of marriage on the ground of cruelty & adultery, in her particulars alleged that the adultery had been committed with M. R. An order was made on Oct. 10, 1911, giving M. R. leave to intervene & directing her to file an answer within fourteen days. The intervener filed an answer, & at the trial the jury found that there had been no misconduct between her & resp., & petitioner was ordered to pay her costs. Under her marriage settlement petitioner was entitled to the income of realty for her life without power of anticipation. The intervener issued a summons for the appointment of a receiver of the life estate. Immediately after the conclusion of the first proceedings petitioner presented a second petition for dissolution of marriage. This was undefended, & a decree nisi was pronounced on July 9, 1912. On July 22 an order was made by the President that the trustees of petitioner's settlement should, notwithstanding the restraint on anticipation, pay half her income to the intervener from the date of the summons up to decree absolute, towards satisfaction of her costs. On Mar. 18, 1913, the summons was ordered to stand over until the decree nisi had been made absolute. Petitioner appealed & the intervener gave cross-notice of appeal:—Held: (1) the intervener was an "opposite party" within the above sect.; (2) the discretionary power of the ct. was not exhausted by the order of July 22, 1912; (3) the property which the ct. could deal with under sect. 2 was the whole property which was subject to the restraint on anticipation, & not merely the portion of the property which for the time being was effectually restrained from anticipation, that was to say, during coverture; & the matter must be remitted to the President to be dealt with according to his discretion.—STUDLEY v. STUDLEY, [1913] P. 119; 82 L. J. P. 65; 108 L. T. 657; 57 Sol. Jo. 425, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (3) Refd. Wood v. Lewis, [1914] 3 K. B. 73.

3837. No evidence offered against intervener at hearing—Dismissal from proceedings.]—In a petition by the wife for dissolution of the marriage on the ground of adultery & cruelty, one of the persons wth whom the husband was alleged to have committed adultery obtained leave to intervene, & her name was added to the title of the suit. Subsequently she obtained an order for a commission to examine witnesses abroad, & for the postponement of the trial of the issues affecting her until the return of the commission. Petitioner obtained a decree absolute, on evidence which satisfied the ct. that resp. had committed adultery with women other than intervener; & the issue affecting her was never tried:—Held: the name of intervener must be struck out of all pending & future proceedings.—CONNEMARA v. CONNEMARA, [1892] P. 102; 61 L. J. P. 96; 66 L. T. 592.

Costs.]—See Sect. 18, sub-sect. 5, post.

(b) Adultery alleged in Countercharges.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 197; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 17–19.

Whether adulterer must be made co-respondent, see Sub-sect. 4, E. (b) iii., ante.

3838. Whether alleged adulterer allowed to intervene—No claim for cross-relief.]—Where in a wife's suit for dissolution of marriage the husband in his answer charged his wife with having committed adultery with a specified person, but did not pray for a dissolution of the marriage, the ct. allowed the alleged adulterer to intervene & file an answer.

Under that sect. [29 & 30 Vict. c. 32, s. 2], where resp., the husband, has in answer to his wife's petition for a dissolution of marriage, made a countercharge of adultery against her, & prays for a dissolution of his marriage on the ground of the adultery, it is the clearly established practice of the ct. to require him to state who the person is who is charged with committing adultery with his wife, & to make him a party to the suit ((BUTT, J.).—WHEELER v. WHEELER & RHODES (1889), 14 P. D. 154; 58 L. J. P. 65; 61 L. T. 306.

Annotations:—Distd. Harrop v. Harrop, [1899] P. 61. Apprvd. Lowe v. Lowe, [1899] P. 204; Kenworthy v. Kenworthy, [1919] P. 65.

3839. —— ——.]—A petition by a husband claiming a divorce from his wife & damages against co-resp. was dismissed, by consent, before trial. Thereupon the wife filed a petition claiming a judicial separation, & the husband, in his answer, countercharged the adultery which he had alleged in the former suit, but he asked for no relief. The alleged adulterer applied for leave to intervene & defend: Held: the practice of the Ecclesiastical Cts. governed the case, &, as that practice afforded no precedent for allowing an intervention in such circumstances, the application must be refused.—FARRELL v. FARRELL (1896), 76 L. T. 167.

3840. —— ——.]—A husband, in his answer to a petition by his wife for dissolution of marriage, made a countercharge against her of adultery with a specified person, without claiming cross-relief, or "such further or other remedy as the nature of the case may require": Held: the ct. had no power to allow the alleged adulterer to intervene.

Where the answer of resp. is, as in this case, merely an answer the ct. cannot make a decree for dissolution. This can only be done where the

---

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 4.—F. (a).

3832 i. Whether court will admit—Alleged adulteress to be made a respondent—Petition by wife.]—In a wife's petition for dissolution of marriage by reason of the husband's adultery, the alleged adulteress obtained a rule calling upon petitioner to show cause why she should not be allowed to intervene.—BAILEY v. BAILEY (1897), I. L. R. 30 Calc. 490, n.—IND.

t. —— —— —— Incestuous adultery.] a wife's suit for divorce against the husband on the ground of incestuous adultery, the ct. has no power under Indian Divorce Act (IV. of 1869) to allow the alleged adulteress to intervene.—RAMSAY v. BOYLE (1903), I. L. R. 30 Calc. 489; 7 C. W. N. 501.—IND.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 4, F. (b) & (c); sub-sect. 5, A., B., C. & D. (a) answer contains a claim for cross-relief, & in that case resp., if a husband, is bound to make the alleged adulterer a co-resp., as he would have had to do if he had presented a cross-petition (GORELL BARNES, J.).—HARROP v. HARROP, [1899] P. 61; 68 L. J. P. 58; 80 L. T. 171; 15 T. L. R. 144.

Annotations:—Follid. Lowe v. Lowe, [1899] P. 204. Apprvd. Kenworthy v. Kenworthy, [1919] P. 65.

3841. Answer not treated as cross-petition.]—Where a husband in his answer to his wife's petition made a countercharge against her of adultery with a person named, but did not ask for any relief whatever beyond the simple dismissal of the petition:—Held: under the circumstances the answer could not be treated as a cross-petition under sect. 2 of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1866 (c. 32), but merely as an ordinary defence, & therefore the ct. had no jurisdiction, on the opposition of the husband, to allow the alleged adulterer to intervene.—LOWE v. LOWE, [1899] P. 204; 68 L. J. P. 60; 80 L. T. 575; 47 W. R. 553; 15 T. L. R. 360; 43 Sol. Jo. 495, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Kenworthy v. Kenworthy, [1919] P. 65.

(c) Where King's Proctor has intervened.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 197; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 17–19.

Intervention by King's Proctor, generally, see Sect. 19, post.

3842. When petitioner charged with adultery—Whether intervention of alleged adulterer permitted.]—A wife obtained a decree nisi, but the Queen's Proctor subsequently intervened, & alleged that petitioner was living in adultery with one J.:—Held: J. was not a party to the suit, & could not be admitted to intervene.—GRIEVE v. GRIEVE, [1893] P. 288; 63 L. J. P. 29; 69 L. T. 462; 1 R.

Annotations:—Follid. Carew v. Carew, [1894] P. 31. Consd. Harrop v. Harrop, [1899] P. 61; Lowe v. Lowe (1899), 80 L. T. 575.

3843. ——— ———.]—Where a wife had obtained a decree nisi, dissolving her marriage on the ground of adultery & cruelty, & the Queen's Proctor intervened, alleging, in his plea, collusion, condonation, & suppression of material facts, leave was given to the Queen's Proctor, in the course of the trial, to add a charge of adultery, which he alleged had been committed by petitioner with one E. who thereupon moved for leave to intervene & defend himself from the charge:—Held: there was no jurisdiction to permit such an intervention.—CAREW v. CAREW, [1894] P. 31; 63 L. J. P. 74; 6 R. 662.

Annotations:—Consd. Harrop v. Harrop, [1899] P. 61; Lowe v. Lowe (1899), 80 L. T. 575.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Act, 1907 (c. 12), s. 3.

3844. ——— ———.]—DAVISON v. DAVISON, No. 5169, post.

3845. Co-respondent dismissed from original suit—Whether intervention by co-respondent or respondent permitted—No charge of collusion.]—In a suit by a husband for dissolution of his marriage on the ground of his wife's alleged adultery with co-resp., the principal evidence consisted of the husband's statement on oath of a confession by his wife that she had committed adultery with co-resp. Co-resp. on the advice of his counsel did not tender himself as a witness. A decree nisi for dissolution of the marriage was pronounced, but the suit was dismissed as against the co-resp. with costs, the ct. holding that there was no evidence against him. The Queen's Proctor afterwards entered an appearance in the suit, & filed a plea wherein he alleged that it would be contrary to justice for the decree nisi to be made absolute, as certain material facts had not been brought to the attention of the ct.; that there was no corroboration of the confession; that certain witnesses who had been referred to in such confession, & whose evidence was material had not been called; & that, apart from the confession, there was no evidence of adultery. The pleas were held sufficient, though redundant.

An application was made by resp. for leave to enter an appearance in, & appear on the hearing of the proceedings by the Queen's Proctor. She also intimated that she intended to give evidence in support of the admission of adultery. A similar application was made on behalf of co-resp. who alleged that he would now have to meet the additional evidence of resp.:—Held: both applications must be refused.

The only issue in such a case is between resp. & petitioner; co-resp. on his dismissal from the suit, is no longer a party & neither he nor resp. (the ground of intervention not being collusion) has any locus standi.—CRAWFORD v. CRAWFORD & DILKE (1886), 55 L. T. 305; 34 W. R. 677; 2 T. L. R. 768, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Lowe v. Lowe (1899), 80 L. T. 575. Refd. Blackhall v. Blackhall (1888), 13 P. D. 94; Taplen v. Taplen (1891), 64 L. T. 870; Grieve v. Grieve, [1893] P. 288.

SUB-SECT. 5.—SERVICE.

A. In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 6–14, 28, 29.

3846. Commencement of proceedings.]—RAY v. SHERWOOD & RAY, No. 3647, ante.

3847. Petition for damages—Service on wife—Necessity for.]—BERNSTEIN v. BERNSTEIN, TURNER & SAMPSON, No. 3213, ante.

3848. Petition charging husband with adultery—Service on person with whom adultery alleged—Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 17.]—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR, WHITE v. WHITE, No. 3663, ante.

3849. Questions put to respondent at time of service—Propriety.]—PURGOLD v. PURGOLD & LAMBART (1903), Times, Oct. 29.

Annotation:—Refd. Hallam v. Hallam (1903), 20 T. L. R. 34.

3850. ——— ———.]—HALLAM v. HALLAM (1903), 20 T. L. R. 34.

Annotation:—Refd. Franklin v. Franklin & Minshall, [1921] P. 407.

3851. Identification of persons served.]—SMITH v. SMITH & ARMSTRONG, No. 3919, post.

3852. Royal palaces exempt from service.]—NYERFORD v. WARREN (EARL) (1293), 3 Co. Inst. 141.

Annotations:—Refd. A.-G. v. Dakin (1867), L. R. 2 Exch. 290; Combe v. De la Bere (1882), 22 Ch. D. 316.

———.]—See, further, CONSTITUTIONAL LAW, Vol. XI., pp. 519 et seq., Nos. 242 et seq.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 5.—A.

a. Where service impossible — Dismissal of co-respondent from suit.]—On a petition for dissolution of marriage the proper course, when personal service or substituted service which may be trusted to reach the co-resp. is impossible, is to move to dismiss him from the suit.—SCOTT v. SCOTT (1913), 32 N. Z. L. R. 979.—N.Z.

B. Necessity for Personal Service.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 7, 8.
Substituted service, see Sub-sect. 5, E., post.

3853. General rule.]—Sect. 42 of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), & the Rules founded thereon require personal service of the citation & copy of petition, unless the ct. authorises a substituted service, or gives petitioner leave to proceed without service. Acceptance of service by an attorney on behalf of resp. is not sufficient.—MILNE v. MILNE (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 183; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 143; 164 E. R. 1487.

3854. Respondents abroad.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage on the ground of the wife's adultery, the affidavits, in support of a motion to dispense with personal service of citations & copies of the petition, stated that the wife had deserted her husband at Liverpool in Aug. 1857; that there was reason to believe that she afterwards lived in this country with Q., co-resp., as his wife; that in Oct. 1857, two persons passing under the name of Mr. & Mrs. Q. sailed from London for Australia, & afterwards landed in Melbourne; that there was reason to believe that the said Mrs. & Mr. Q. were resp. & co-resp.; that inquiries had been made in Melbourne of the agent of the ship in which those persons went to Australia, & of other shipping agents there, also of the inspector of police at Sydney, but that no trace of them or of their movements could be discovered. Upon the above affidavits, service on the resp. & co-resp. was altogether dispensed with.

Semble: if there had been any certain information as to their movements in Australia, further inquiries would probably have led to their discovery, & would have, therefore, been necessary.—COOK v. COOK & QUAILE (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 5; subsequent proceedings, COOKE v. COOKE & QUAILE (1859), 2 Sw. & Tr. 50.

3855. Acceptance of service by respondent's solicitor.]—MILNE v. MILNE, No. 3853, ante.

3856. ——.]—An undertaking by resp.'s solr. to appear is not sufficient: the citation must be served upon resp.—DE NICEVILLE v. DE NICEVILLE (1868), 37 L. J. P. & M. 43.

C. Service on Persons under Disability.

3857. Convict—Prison official—Communication of contents.]—If resp. be in prison the ct. will not be satisfied with substituted service of the petition & citation to be made on an official of the gaol in which he is confined, unless there is a reasonable probability that the contents of those documents will thereby become known to resp.—BLAND v. BLAND (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 233; 44 L. J. P. & M. 14; 32 L. T. 404; 23 W. R. 419.

3858. Lunatic—Not so found—Service on respondent—Presence of asylum officials.]—GILES v. GILES, No. 2318, ante.

3859. Minor—Service on respondent—Presence of guardians.]—Where resp. is a minor it is not necessary for petitioner to see that a guardian ad litem has been appointed. Service on a resp. who has no such guardian is good if effected in the presence of his natural guardians.

Semble: it would be good without their presence.—QUINN v. QUINN, [1920] P. 65; 89 L. J. P. 38; 122 L. T. 464; 36 T. L. R. 170; 64 Sol. Jo. 226.

D. Service out of the Jurisdiction.

(a) In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 10; &, generally, PRACTICE.

Jurisdiction of court over foreign respondents & co-respondents.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 421 et seq., Nos. 874 et seq.

3860. Effect of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 42—Jurisdiction not extended.]—GRAHAM v. GRAHAM, No. 3867, post.

(b) In Suits for Dissolution of Marriage.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 10; &, generally, PRACTICE.

Jurisdiction of court over foreigners—As regards petitioner & respondent.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 421 et seq., Nos. 874 et seq.

—— As regards co-respondent.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 425 et seq., Nos. 907 et seq.

3861. On respondent—Service of citation.]—An attempt was made, at the suit of a wife for a divorce, to serve the husband with a citation taken out in Oct. 1848, at his last-known place of residence, which was within the jurisdiction of the ct. It subsequently appeared he left that residence in Mar. 1847. A decree by ways & means was, on the return of the citation, executed at that house, & at the parish church. On Feb. 5, 1849, he was personally served in the West Indies. The ct. on motion pronounced the husband in contempt, "for the purpose of carrying on the proceedings, & placing the evidence on record." It was stated there was no jurisdiction in the West Indies to enable the wife to institute a suit. Eventually a sentence of divorce was pronounced. The proceedings throughout were in pœnam.—DASENT v. DASENT (1850), 1 Rob. Eccl. 800; 7 Notes of Cases, 126; 14 L. T. O. S. 48; 13 Jur. 832; 163 E. R. 1218.

Annotations:—Consd. Yelverton v. Yelverton (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 574. Refd. Burton v. Burton (1873), 21 W. R. 618; Graham v. Graham, [1923] P. 31. Mentd. L. C. C. v. Dundas, [1904] P. 1.

3862. —— Whether essential—Dissolution suit after dismissal of previous suit for nullity—Respondent resident abroad.]—CATTERALL v. CATTERALL (1847), 1 Rob. Eccl. 580; 5 Notes of Cases, 466; 11 Jur. 914; 163 E. R. 1142.

Annotations:—Refd. Anon. (1857), Dea. & Sw. 295. Mentd. Beamish v. Beamish (1861), 9 H. L. Cas. 274; Sichell v. Lambert (1864), 3 New Rep. 385.

3863. —— On active service abroad—Service by registered letter—Practice in restitution suits not applicable.]—The practice laid down in regard to service of decrees for restitution of conjugal rights upon resps. engaged on active service abroad does not apply to the service of citations & petitions in suits for dissolution of marriage; although it is recognised that where, after service of the citation, it appears that a resp. desires to contest the suit, the further proceedings may have to abide his return to this country, on leave or otherwise.

Where personal service of a citation & petition for divorce could not be effected upon a resp., who was serving as a seaman on board one of His Majesty's ships in the Far East in time of war, the ct. directed that service might be effected by sending the documents in a prepaid registered letter addressed to resp., & fixed the time for

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 5.—B.

3853 1. General rule.]—In a divorce action the trial judge may take into consideration the propriety of an order made dispensing with personal service of the writ of summons, & if in his opinion such order was made on insufficient material he may on that ground refuse a decree.—S. v. S., [1921] 2 W. W. R. 939.—CAN.

b. Respondent abroad · In prison.]—C. filed a petition for dissolution of marriage. Resp. was proved to be undergoing a sentence in a prison in N. S. W.:—Held: in the circumstances resp. should be personally served with the summons & petition.—L. (OTHERWISE C.) v. C. (1912), 31 N. Z. L. R. 1064.—N.Z.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 5, D. (b), (c), (d) & (e), & E. (a) i.]

appearance at one hundred days.—TURNER v. TURNER, [1910] P. 324; 86 L. J. P. 13; 115 L. T. 790; 33 T. L. R. 33; 61 Sol. Jo. 58.

3864. Position of co-respondent.]—(1) Whatever it is that determines the jurisdiction of this ct. with regard to co-resps., that jurisdiction does not depend upon the domicil of co-resp., nor is it to be determined by the question whether co-resp. is or is not a British subject.

(2) So far as a co-resp. is concerned, the citation corresponds with what would have been, before Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), came into operation, the writ in an action for crim. con.

(3) Service of the citation & sealed copy of the petition upon a co-resp., if out of England, places him on the same footing with regard to jurisdiction as a deft. properly served with a writ out of the jurisdiction under R. S. C., Ord. 11, in the K. B. or Ch. Div.

(4) The claim against a co-resp. in a divorce suit is merely a personal claim for money, & is not complicated with questions of international law arising out of status, as in the case of a petitioner & resp.

(5) Although a judgment, following on a verdict for damages in a divorce suit in this ct., could not be enforced against a foreigner in a foreign country, it might possibly be enforced against a Scotsman or an Irishman, in Scotland or Ireland, by means of Judgments Extension Act, 1868 (c. 54).

(6) The enactment in Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 42, providing for service of any person at any place is only a municipal law in favour of those who sue in this ct.; & the Legislature thereby does not concern itself with the question whether an order against a co-resp. for payment of damages or costs in a proceeding began by citation served abroad would or would not be enforceable as a foreign judgment in another country. The object of the provision is that this ct. may make the order & may enforce it against any property which the person against whom the order is made may have within its own jurisdiction or within its own reach.

(7) As the Act gives power to serve anybody as co-resp. anywhere, it gives jurisdiction to make any order against co-resp., & to issue process of execution to enforce the order in this country; & this can be done without in any way affecting any international comity or offending any international susceptibilities.—RAYMENT v. RAYMENT & STUART, CHAPMAN v. CHAPMAN & BUIST, [1910] P. 271; 79 L. J. P. 115; 103 L. T. 430; 26 T. L. R. 634; 54 Sol. Jo. 721.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apprvd. Rush v. Rush, Bailey & Pimenta, [1920] P. 242. Refd. Phillips v. Batho, [1913] 3 K. B. 25. As to (7) Apprvd. Rush v. Rush, Bailey & Pimenta, [1920] P. 242.

3865. Service in France—Requirements of Anglo-French Convention, 1922.]—Where there has been service in France of a divorce petition in accordance with the requirements of the Anglo-French Convention, 1922, that may be taken to be a sufficient compliance with Divorce Rules, rr. 11, 14.—REECE v. REECE (1924), 132 L. T. 349; 41 T. L. R. 24.

(c) In Suits for Judicial Separation.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1921, r. 10; &, generally, PRACTICE.

3866. Service on respondent.]—A citation issued from this ct., addressed to a party then residing & being within the diocese. The party quitted England before service was affected. The citation was personally served on him in parts abroad. Protest to appearing overruled.—COLLETT v. COLLETT (1843), 3 Curt. 726; 2 Notes of Cases, 504; 7 Jur. 1164; 163 E. R. 881.

Annotations:—Refd. Yelverton v. Yelverton (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 574; Graham v. Graham, [1923] P. 31.

3867. ——.]—Statute of Citations, 1531 (c. 9), s. 2, which forbade the Ecclesiastical Cts. to cite any person out of the diocese where he was inhabiting or dwelling, must be taken to have limited the jurisdiction & not only the power of service of the Ecclesiastical Cts., & Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 42, which permits service within or without His Majesty's Dominions, cannot extend the jurisdiction.—GRAHAM v. GRAHAM, [1923] P. 31; 92 L. J. P. 26; 128 L. T. 639; 39 T. L. R. 139; 67 Sol. Jo. 316.

Annotations:—Consd. Eustace v. Eustace, [1924] P. 45. Mentd. Smith v. Smith, [1923] P. 128.

See, also, CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 426, 427, Nos. 916–920.

(d) In Suits for Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 10 &, generally, PRACTICE.

Whether residence within jurisdiction essential.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., p. 427, Nos. 921–923.

3868. Service of petition & citation—Whether court has power to order.]—A wife's remedy for matrimonial wrongs must be usually sought in the place of her husband's domicil. The English Divorce Ct. has not jurisdiction against a foreigner, after he has quitted this country, for not rendering conjugal rights to his wife while he was here. The provisions of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 42 (for service out of Her Majesty's dominions), do not apply to suits for restitution of conjugal rights.—FIREBRACE v. FIREBRACE (1878), 4 P. D. 63; 47 L. J. P. 41; 39 L. T. 94; 26 W. R. 617.

Annotations:—Folld. De Gasquet James v. Mecklenburg-Schwerin, [1914] P. 53. Consd. Graham v. Graham, [1923] P. 31; Eustace v. Eustace, [1924] P. 45. Refd. Niboyet v. Niboyet (1878), 4 P. D. 1; Armytage v. Armytage, [1898] P. 178; Dicks v. Dicks, [1899] P. 275; Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271; Perrin v. Perrin, Powell v. Powell (1914), 83 L. J. P. 69.

3869. —— ——.]—The ct. has no power to allow service abroad of a petition for restitution of conjugal rights.—CHICHESTER v. CHICHESTER (1885), 10 P. D. 186; 34 W. R. 65.

Annotations:—Consd. De Gasquet James v. Mecklenburg-Schwerin, [1914] P. 53. Refd. Dicks v. Dicks, [1899] P. 275.

3870. —— — —.]—(1) A citation & petition in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, as well as the previous letter of demand required by the rules, may now be served out of the jurisdiction; & where a decree is granted the decree may likewise be served out of the jurisdiction.

(2) In any further proceedings arising out of a non-compliance with the decree, petitioner must satisfy the ct. that resp. has been served therewith at a place from which he could reasonably have returned to his wife within the period named in the decree.

(3) If an agreement for separation has previously been entered into between the parties to a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, but such agreement has not been pleaded by resp. in bar to the petition, it is not the duty of the ct. to raise the point how far petitioner's rights to a decree for restitution are affected by such agreement. Nevertheless, if such decree is made the basis of

subsequent proceedings, it is open to the ct. to go into the whole matter.—BATEMAN v. BATEMAN, [1901] P. 136; 84 L. T. 64, 331; 17 T. L. R. 190; 45 Sol. Jo. 295; sub nom. HARDIE v. HARDIE, BATEMAN v. BATEMAN, 70 L. J. P. 29.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. & Distd. De Gasquet James v. Mecklenburg-Schwerin, [1914] P. 53. Folld. Perrin v. Perrin, Powell v. Powell, [1914] P. 135. Refd. Eustace v. Eustace, [1924] P. 45. Generally, Mentd. Kennedy v. Kennedy, [1907] P. 49.

3871. —— ——.]—(1) The amendment of the law effected by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), relates to matters subsequent to the decree; the essence of the suit & of the decree for restitution of conjugal rights remains the same, but its consequences & effects are different.

(2) No power is given, either by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 42, or by any other sect. or Act, to serve a citation & petition for restitution of conjugal rights beyond the jurisdiction of the ct.

Where service of the citation & of a sealed copy of a petition for restitution of conjugal rights had been effected abroad, an order setting aside the service was made.

(3) Qu.: whether, in a case where service is duly & properly effected, & where no question arises as to the jurisdiction of the ct. in pronouncing a decree for restitution of conjugal rights, such decree can be served out of the jurisdiction.

(4) Where neither party to a marriage was domiciled or resident within the jurisdiction, & their only connection with this country at the date of their marriage was that they came over here for one day for the purpose of being married, & their only matrimonial residences were abroad, the ct. cannot decree restitution of conjugal rights.—DE GASQUET JAMES (COUNTESS) v. MECKLENBURG-SCHWERIN (DUKE), [1914] P. 53; 83 L. J. P. 40; 110 L. T. 121; 30 T. L. R. 329; 58 Sol. Jo. 341.

Annotation:—As to (4) Distd. Perrin v. Perrin, Powell v. Powell, [1914] P. 135.

3872. —— —— Both parties domiciled in England—Residence in England when suit instituted.]—In a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, where it appears from the petition that the parties to the suit are domiciled in England at the date thereof, or that they had a matrimonial home in England at the time when cohabitation ceased, or that they were both resident in England at the time of the institution of the suit, the citation & sealed copy of the petition may be served either within or without His Majesty's dominions; & when a suit for restitution of conjugal rights has been duly instituted, & a decree has been made therein, such decree may be served on resp. either within or without His Majesty's dominions.—PERRIN v. PERRIN, POWELL v. POWELL, [1914] P. 135; 83 L. J. P. 69; 111 L. T. 335; 30 T. L. R. 497; 58 Sol. Jo. 513.

Annotation:—Refd. Eustace v. Eustace, [1924] P. 45.

3873. Service of decree—Respondent domiciled in England.]—A decree for restitution of conjugal rights made against a resp. who is domiciled in England may be served on him out of the jurisdiction.—DICKS v. DICKS, [1899] P. 275; 68 L. J. P. 118; 81 L. T. 462; 48 W. R. 302; 15 T. L. R. 482.

Annotations:—Consd. Bateman v. Bateman, [1901] P. 136; De James v. Mecklenburg-Schwerin, [1914] P. 53. Perrin v. Perrin, Powell v. Powell, [1914] P. 135. Refd. Eustace v. Eustace, [1924] P. 45.

3874. Where service of petition & citation effected.]—BATEMAN v. BATEMAN, No. 3870, ante.

3875. —— ——.]—DE GASQUET JAMES (COUNTESS) v. MECKLENBURG-SCHWERIN (DUKE), No. 3871, ante.

3876. —— ——.]—PERRIN v. PERRIN, POWELL v. POWELL, No. 3872, ante.

3877. —— Suspension of service—Till respondent's return to England.]—PEARSON v. PEARSON, No. 2432, ante.

3878. —— —— Until further order—Respondent on active service.]—Where, in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, resp. was on active service abroad, the ct. in pronouncing a decree, directed that the decree should not be served until further order.—MASON v. MASON (1915), 59 Sol. Jo. 530.

Annotations:—Distd. Turner v. Turner, [1916] P. 324. Refd. Lang v. Lang (1915), 113 L. T. 928.

3879. —— —— —— ——.]—In cases where a decree for the restitution of conjugal rights is made against a resp. who is on active service with His Majesty's forces the decree will be drawn up, but ordered to lie in the office until the ct. gives further directions as to its service.—LANG v. LANG (1915), 113 L. T. 928; 31 T. L. R. 467; 59 Sol. Jo. 561.

Annotation:—Distd. Turner v. Turner, [1916] P. 306.

Service of written demand for return to cohabitation.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, D., ante.

3880. Whether leave of court essential.] Where a sealed copy of a petition for the restitution of conjugal rights & a copy of the citation had been duly served upon resp., then resident in Ireland, the ct. granted a decree, although no leave had been previously obtained for service out of the jurisdiction.—BUCKLEY v. BUCKLEY (1912), 107 L. T. 590; 57 Sol. Jo. 9.

3881. Where service effected abroad—Order made setting aside service.]—CHICHESTER v. CHICHESTER (1885), 10 P. D. 186; 31 W. R. 65.

Annotations:—Refd. Dicks v. Dicks, [1899] P. 275; De Gasquet James v. Mecklenburg-Schwerin, [1914] P. 53.

3882. —— ——.]—DE GASQUET JAMES (COUNTESS) v. MECKLENBURG-SCHWERIN (DUKE), No. 3871, ante.

(c) In Suits for Nullity of Marriage.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 10; &, generally, PRACTICE.

Jurisdiction of court as to nullity proceedings, see CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., p. 428, Nos. 924–926.

3883. Personal service abroad.]—TENDUCCI'S CASE (1775), cited in 3 Phillim. at p. 595; 161 E. R. 1425.

Annotations:—Consd. Yelverton v. Yelverton (1859), Sea. & Sm. 49. Refd. Collett v. Collett (1843), 3 Curt. 726; Dasent v. Dasent (1849), 7 Notes of Cases, 126; H. (falsely called C ——) v. C—— (1860), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 81.

E. Substituted Service.

(a) When Granted.

i. In Suits for Dissolution of Marriage.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 9.

3884. Respondent's address withheld.]—A wife filed a petition for dissolution of marriage, but was unable to effect personal service of the citation, etc., in consequence of resp. having gone abroad, but whither she knew not. A. knowing where resp. was, though refusing to give his address, forwarded to him, by post, an office copy & a plain copy of the petition, & two copies of the PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 5.—E. (a) i.

c. General rule.]—An order for substituted service in divorce proceed should not be made unless there is reasonable ground for supposing that the mode of service ordered will bring the proceedings to the knowledge of the party to be served.—LODGE v. LODGE (1906), 26 N. Z. L. R. 385.—N.Z.

d. Power of local master to order.]

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 5, E. (a) i., ii. & iii., (b) & (c) i., ii. &

citation. Resp. returned, by post, to A. the plain copy of the petition & one of the copies of the citation, on which were indorsed memoranda signed by him, acknowledging the receipt of the office copy of the petition, & also a copy of the citation. Resp. not having entered an appearance, petitioner was allowed to proceed without further service.—CHANDLER v. CHANDLER (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 6.

3885. Failure to trace whereabouts after reasonable efforts.]—COOK v. COOK & QUAILE, No. 3854, ante.

3886. ——.]—The service of the citation upon co-resp. will be dispensed with if, after a sufficient search, he cannot be found.—PARKER v. PARKER & MACLEOD (1859), 5 Jur. N. S. 103.

3887. ——.]—Where every reasonable effort has been made to trace resp. for the purpose of effecting a personal service of the citation & petition in a matrimonial suit, but without success, the ct. will dispense with such personal service. —APPLEYARD v. APPLEYARD & SMITH (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 257.

3888. ——.]—Though the fact that resp.'s whereabouts cannot be discovered may be due to petitioner's delay in bringing his petition, substituted service of the petition & citation may be allowed.—JENSON v. JENSON (1898), 78 L. T. 764.

3889. Respondent abroad—Address unknown—Necessity to show that attempts at discovery made.] —To entitle petitioner, in a suit for dissolution of marriage, to proceed without personal service of a citation, it is not sufficient to show that resp. is abroad, & that petitioner does not know where he is; some attempt should be made to discover & serve him.—SUDLOW v. SUDLOW (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 4.

3890. —— —— ——.] — COOK v. COOK & QUAILE, No. 3854, ante.

3891. —— Probability of being in definite place —Personal service not impossible.]—An application on behalf of a wife, who had presented a petition for dissolution of marriage, that a substitutional service of the citation on the father of her husband should be allowed, on the ground that she did not know her husband's address, but that his father was in communication with him, was rejected by the Judge Ordinary, as it appeared probable that the husband was in New York, & the impossibility of serving him personally was not made out.

Qu.: whether the Judge Ordinary has power to dispense with personal service of the citation in a proceeding for dissolution of marriage.—ROWBOTHAM v. ROWBOTHAM (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 73; 30 L. T. O. S. 326; 6 W. R. 328; 164 E. R. 635; sub nom. ROBOTHAM v. ROBOTHAM, 27 L. J. P. & M. 33; 4 Jur. N. S. 148.

3892. —— Right of action against process server by lex loci.]—In a petition for divorce it appeared that resp. & co-resp. were residing together abroad, & that by the law of the place where they resided co-resp., a foreigner, had a right of action against any person serving him with English process:—Held: the citation might be served on co-resp. by inclosing it in a registered letter addressed to him, another copy being sent to resp. so as to make it more probable that it would come to his knowledge.—TRUBNER v. TRUBNER & CRISTIANI (1889), 15 P. D. 24; 59 L. J. P. 56; 62 L. T. 186; 54 J. P. 167; 38 W. R. 464.

3893. Refusal of foreign authorities to serve or allow service.]—Co-resp. in a suit for dissolution of marriage was resident in a sanatorium in the Canton of Neufchatel in Switzerland. The principal of such sanatorium refused to serve him with the citation & petition, or to allow him to be served with them. The Procureur-General of Neufchatel stated that service must be effected through a diplomatic source, but the Foreign Office refused to act in the matter except under an order of the ct. It was shown on affidavit that the mother & uncle of co-resp. resided in Switzerland, & that petitioner was acquainted with their addresses. The ct., after observing that the usual practice was to serve through the foreign tribunal, made an order for the service of the citation & petition on co-resp. by registered letters addressed to his mother & uncle.—STUMPEL v. STUMPEL & ZEPFEL (1900), 70 L. J. P. 6; 17 T. L. R. 17.

3894. —— Letters of request refused.]—Where, upon a citation & petition for dissolution of marriage, it appeared that resp. & co-resp. were known to be residing at certain addresses in Portugal, the ct., after letters of request had been applied for & refused, dispensed with personal service & ordered substituted service to be effected by registered letters.—WRAY v. WRAY & D'ALMEIDA, [1901] P. 132; 70 L. J. P. 32; 84 L. T. 64; 17 T. L. R. 242.

Annotation:—Refd. Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271.

3895. —— Active service.]—TURNER v. TURNER, No. 3863, ante.

3896. Co-respondent's name unknown—Citation in name known to respondent.]—NICOLAS v. NICOLAS, No. 3807, ante.

ii. In Suits for Judicial Separation.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 9.

3897. Respondent's address unknown—After due inquiries made—Affidavits in support.]—In a suit by the wife for judicial separation, application having been made for an order that service of the citation & copy of the petition upon the father of the husband should be deemed good service, upon affidavits which stated that the wife did not know where the husband was, & that his father, though it was believed he knew his address, would not disclose it, & that the wife had last heard from her husband in 1854, when he wrote to her; the Judge Ordinary refused to make the order without an affidavit that inquiries had been made for the husband at the place from which the letter was addressed, but subsequently granted it on an affidavit that such inquiries had been made there, & that he had left & gone to another place which he had also left, & that the person in whose employ he had been at the latter place did not know whither he had gone.—LACEY v. LACEY (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 24.

iii. In Suits for Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 9.

Service of written demand for return to cohabitation.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, D., ante.

3898. Power to order substituted service—Of demand, petition & decree.]—PALMER v. PALMER, Re THOMASSON'S PETITION, No. 4767, post.

3899. When court will order—Respondent's address unknown—Service on solicitor.]—WATERS v. WATERS, No. 2445, ante.

3900. —— Respondent's address withheld.]—If the ct. is satisfied that the residence of an intended resp. is wilfully kept from the knowledge of petitioner, it will order substituted service of the demand for cohabitation required by Additional Rules & Regulations, Jan. 30, 1869, r. 175, as well as of the petition & citation.—Re SHEEHY (1876), 1 P. D. 423; sub nom. O'SHEEHY v. O'SHEEHY, 34 L. T. 367.

—The making of an order for substitutional service of the writ of summons in a divorce action is within the jurisdiction of a local master.—S. v. S. & H. (1922), 63 D. L. R. 279; 15 Sask. L. R. 132; [1922] 1 W. W. R. 221.—CAN.

Annotation:—Apld. Palmer v. Palmer (1921), 125 L. T. 864.

3901. —— —— Service on solicitor.]—In a suit by the husband for restitution of conjugal rights, a decree was made that the wife should return to cohabitation. The wife was abroad; her address was kept secret by her friends, & personal service of the decree could not be effected. Substituted service on her attorney was in consequence allowed, & the decree remaining unobeyed, the ct., without requiring a previous writ of attachment to issue, granted a writ of sequestration against the wife's separate estate, for the purpose of enforcing obedience to its order.—MILLER v. MILLER (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 54; 39 L. J. P. & M. 38; 22 L. T. 418; 18 W. R. 585.

Annotations:—Mentd. Allen v. Allen (1885), 10 P. D. 187; Hyde v. Hyde (1888), 13 P. D. 166; R. v. Wigand, Re Wigand (1913), 82 L. J. K. B. 735.

(b) Application for Leave to Effect.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 12, 13.

3902. Affidavit in support—Necessity for—By petitioner.]—On an application to allow substituted service of a petition on a co-resp., there should be an affidavit by petitioner.—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS & POCOCK, [1896] P. 153; 65 L. J. P. 98.

3903. —— Respondent's address unknown.]—LACEY v. LACEY, No. 3897, ante.

3904. —— ——.]—An affidavit by petitioner of his ignorance of the address of the parties to be served should be filed with applications for substituted service.—MARTIN v. MARTIN & VELLEMAN (1898), 78 L. T. 170.

3905. Divorce bill—Time for making application.]—In proceedings upon a divorce bill application was made in May, 1886, to dispense with personal service on resp. on the ground that his address was unknown to petitioner, that a solr. who had previously acted for the resp. had admitted that he knew of his address but had refused to divulge it & that resp. had been last heard of in Feb. 1886, being then at Montreal, in Canada:—Held: the application was premature, & must be refused.—GIFFORD'S DIVORCE BILL (1886), 12 App. Cas. 361, H. L.

(c) Methods of Substituted Service.

i. In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 11, 12.

3906. Service at address in appearance book.]—NUTTALL v. NUTTALL, No. 4191, post.

3907. Last known address.]—NUTTALL v. NUTTALL, No. 4191, post.

3908. Service on relations.]—STUMPEL v. STUMPEL & ZEPFEL, No. 3893, ante.

ii. By Registered Post.

3909. Service complete on proof of receipt by respondent.]—The ct. made an order for substituted service of a divorce petition & citation upon a husband by registered letter; but directed that such service should not be treated as complete service until the ct. should be satisfied that the letter was actually received by the proposed resp.—COX v. COX (1889), 61 L. T. 698.

3910. Respondent abroad—Protected by foreign law from service.]—TRÜBNER v. TRÜBNER & CRISTIANI, No. 3892, ante.

3911. —— Refusal of authorities to serve or allow service—Service on relations.]—STUMPEL v. STUMPEL & ZEPFEL, No. 3893, ante.

3912. —— Letters of request refused.]—WRAY v. WRAY & D'ALMEIDA, No. 3894, ante.

3913. —— Active service.]—TURNER v. TURNER, No. 3863, ante.

iii. By Advertisement in the Press.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 12.

3914. Respondent's address unknown—Fruitless inquiries made.]—Where the husband had had no tidings of his wife, who left him in 1850, except as living with the adulterer in 1851, & could gain no information of her by inquiring of her relations or at the places she was last supposed to have been at, the ct. directed the citation to be left in the registry, & advertisements of that fact to be inserted in newspapers.—PECKOVER v. PECKOVER & JOLLY (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 219; 31 L. T. O. S. 269; 164 E. R. 700.

Annotation:—Folld. Appleyard v. Appleyard (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 257.

3915. Co-respondent's name unknown—Service by advertisement in name given.]—NICOLAS v. NICOLAS, No. 3807, ante.

3916. Sufficiency of insertions—Twice with the interval of a week.]—(1) When an order has been made, dispensing with personal service upon a resp., a copy of it should be brought in with the other papers, when the ct. is moved to direct the mode of trial.

(2) The insertion in a newspaper of advertisements on the 7th & 14th of a month, is a sufficient compliance with an order to advertise twice with the interval of a week.—ELSLEY v. ELSLEY, BEACHAM & BAGSHAW (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 145.

Re-service of amended petitions.]—See Sub-sect. 3, J., ante.

F. Proof of Service—Affidavits.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 11, 13, 14.

3917. Affidavit of service—Contents—Delivery of certified copy of petition.]—The original citation, together with a copy, as also a certified copy of the petition, were forwarded to Australia, with full directions, for service on resp. On the return of the citation it was found that the affidavit of service made no mention of the certified copy of the petition having been left with resp.:—Held: nevertheless pltf. might proceed to prove her petition.—MOON v. MOON (1859), 5 Jur. N. S. 1365.

3918. —— —— Allegation that party served is party to suit.]—An affidavit of service of the citation, etc., should allege that the party served is a resp. in the suit.—TEMPLE v. TEMPLE & LAING (1861), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 34.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 5.—E. (c) iii.

e. Form of advertisement—Where to be circulated.]—If an application for leave to advertise a petition for dissolution of marriage in lieu of service is granted, the advertisement should be circulated in the district where resp. has most acquaintances, & should contain a footnote requesting friends to bring it to resp.'s notice.—HURLEY v. HURLEY (1909), 28 N. Z. L. R. 725.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 5.—F.

3917 i. Affidavit of service—Contents—Delivery of certified copy of petition.]—Where the affidavit of service on resp. states that the deponent served "a certified copy of the petition under the seal of the ct." & that "a true copy of which petition . . . is hereunto annexed," these statements are not inconsistent.—UPTON v. UPTON, [1924] 2 W. W. R. 1092; 34 Man. L. R. 333; 3 D. L. R. 975.—CAN.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 4, D. (d) E. (a)

(d) In Suits for Nullity of Marriage.

Marriage voidable for impotence.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 3, sub-sect. 2, ante.

3565. Whether adultery a bar.]—(1) The husband brought a suit of nullity of marriage, by reason of impotency, against the wife, who pleaded in answer matters in contradiction to the husband's case & also the adultery of the husband :—Held : it was not competent to the wife to plead the husband's adultery at that stage of the cause.

(2) [Counsel] pressed the ct. not to order an inspection. I am very sensible how painful this must be to any lady, & certainly would make no such order save ex debito justitiae. If the allegation had pleaded merely matters in bar, not putting in issue the malformation, I might have deliberated whether I would not have delayed ordering the inspection until publication had passed as to the plea in bar, for if that plea were good & proved there would have been an end of the suit ; but this allegation puts in issue the malformation & all the facts to prove the contrary : how is it possible I could receive evidence on one side, & not legal evidence on the other ? . . . There is still an additional reason. Deft. has brought with reference to this very question of malformation a most serious charge against pltf. She has charged him with having caused an appearance of malformation, by giving her the venereal disease. Surely it would be against all justice to allow that article to go to proof & not permit pltf. by the only possible process to rebut that charge & prove his original case (DR. LUSHINGTON).—ANON. (1857), Dea. & Sw. 295 ; 5 W. R. 750 ; 164 E. R. 581.

Annotation :—Generally, Refd. M. (otherwise D.) v. D. (1885), 10 P. D. 75.

3566. ——.]—A plea to a petition for a decree of nullity of marriage on the ground of the impotence of resp., that petitioner had committed adultery is irrelevant & will be struck out.—TAVERNER (FALSELY CALLED DITCHFIELD) v. DITCHFIELD (1864), 4 New Rep. 28 ; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 105.

Annotation :—Refd. G. v. M. (1885), 10 App. Cas. 174, n.

3567. ——.]—G. v. M. (1885), No. 3339, ante.

3568. —— Sincerity.]—At the end of seven years' cohabitation a marriage had not been consummated, through the impotence of the alleged husband. The alleged wife subsequently cohabited with another man, & upon the alleged husband discovering her misconduct she instituted a suit for nullity of marriage against him & he a suit for dissolution of marriage against her :—Held : the proof of impotence being clear her conduct did not show such a want of sincerity as to deprive her of her right to have the marriage annulled.

(2) When the impotence is undoubted, mere delay is not sufficient to disentitle the injured party to relief.—M. (OTHERWISE D.) v. D. (1885), 10 P. D. 75 ; 54 L. J. P. 68 ; 33 W. R. 657.

3569. —— ——.]—(1) In order to raise the question of insincerity in a suit for nullity, it is necessary that the answer should specifically allege it.

(2) Adultery may be alleged, &, if established, is material matter for consideration on the question of petitioner's insincerity.

(3) Petitioner is, however, not bound to answer questions tending to establish adultery.—S. (OTHERWISE G.) v. S., [1907] P. 224 ; 76 L. J. P. 118 : 23 T. L. R. 460 ; 51 Sol. Jo. 430.

Annotation :—As to (3) N.F. Hensley v. Hensley & Nevin (1920), 122 L. T. 814.

(e) In Suits claiming Damages only.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 48), s. 189.

3570. Petitioner barred—Unless discretion exercised in his favour.]—COX v. COX & WARDE, No. 2815, ante.

E. Petitioner's Cruelty.

(a) In General.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 178 (3) (b).

Cruelty of respondent—As matrimonial offence.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 5, sub-sect. 2, ante.

3571. Whether pleadable in bar to charge of adultery.]—FORSTER v. FORSTER, No. 3403, ante.

3572. ——.]—MOORSOM v. MOORSOM, No. 3082, ante.

3573. ——.]—Cruelty is not a bar to a charge of adultery, but may be pleaded as introductory to the history of an adulterous intercourse.—ARKLEY v. ARKLEY (1821), 3 Phillim. 500 ; 161 E. R. 1397.

Annotations :—Refd. Eldred v. Eldred (1840), 2 Curt. 376 ; Cocksedge v. Cocksedge (1844), 3 Notes of Cases, 218.

3574. ——.]—(1) Cruelty cannot be pleaded by the wife in bar of a charge of adultery.

The wife having failed in a charge of adultery & a recriminating plea having been proved by the husband cruelty & the introduction of the wife to a female of loose character (the wife's guilt not being connected with such introduction) form no bar to his prayer for divorce.

(2) Where the wife is charged with adultery her conduct & declarations on a confession of guilt by the alleged particeps criminis being communicated to her are admissible evidence on behalf of the husband.—HARRIS v. HARRIS (1829), 2 Hag. Ecc. 376 ; 162 E. R. 894 ; affd., 2 Hag. Eccl. 511.

Annotations :—As to (1) Folld. Dillon v. Dillon (1842), 3 Curt. 86, 96. Consd. Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner, [1905] P. 233. Refd. Otway v. Otway (1888), 57 L. J. P. 81. As to (2) Refd. Graves v. Graves (1842), 3 Curt. 235. Generally, Refd. Russell v. Russell (1897), 66 L. J. P. 122.

3575. —— Coupled with plea of adultery.]—In a suit for divorce by reason of the wife's adultery, an allegation on her behalf, pleading cruelty by the husband, coupled with a charge of adultery, as a foundation for a prayer of separation against the husband, admitted.

There can be no doubt that cruelty is not pleadable as a bar to adultery ; but it is not clear that cruelty, coupled with other circumstances, may not be pleaded as a foundation for a sentence of separation (SIR H. JENNER).—ELDRED v. ELDRED (1840), 2 Curt. 376 ; 163 E. R. 445.

Annotation :—Folld. Cocksedge v. Cocksedge (1844), 1 Rob. Eccl. 90.

3576. ——.]—DILLON v. DILLON, No. 4008, post.

3577. ——.]—COCKSEDGE v. COCKSEDGE, No. 3598, post.

Cruelty as bar to relief—In petitions for dissolution of marriage.]—See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 178 ; Part XIII., Sect. 7, sub-sect. 4, E. (b), post.

(b) In Suits for Dissolution of Marriage.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 178.

3578. Discretionary bar.]—A remaining charge is that of cruelty. On this plea the question might arise, whether a party would be entitled to bar her husband from his remedy of divorce for adultery, proved against her, by the plea of cruelty. I am inclined to think, that she would not. It is certain, that the wife has a right to say, " You shall not have a sentence against me for adultery, if you are guilty of the same offence yourself." The received doctrine of compensation would have that effect, because both parties are in eodem delicto ; but this is not so in recrimination of cruelty ; the delictum is not of the same kind. If the wife was the prior petens in a suit of cruelty, I do not know, that she would be barred by a recrimination of that species ; for the consideration would be very different ; the ct. might not oblige her to cohabitation, which would be dangerous. Here the husband is the prior petens in a suit of adultery, & I take the general doctrine to be, " that a wife cannot plead cruelty as a bar to divorce, for her violation of the marriage-bed " (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—CHAMBERS v. CHAMBERS (1810), 1 Hag. Con. 439 ; 161 E. R. 610.

Annotations :—Consd. Eldred v. Eldred (1840), 2 Curt. 376. Folld. Dillon v. Dillon (1842), 3 Curt. 86, 96. Consd. Cocksedge v. Cocksedge (1844), 1 Rob. Eccl. 90. Refd. Otway v. Otway (1888), 13 P. D. 141 ; Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner (1905), 53 W. R. 623 ; Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298.

3579. By what cruelty petitioner barred—Cruelty conducing to respondent's misconduct.]—The jury having found on the issues submitted to them in a suit for dissolution of marriage by the husband against the wife that resp. was guilty of adultery, & petitioner guilty of cruelty to resp. brought on by her drunkenness, the ct. made a decree dissolving the marriage.

Semble : the cruelty contemplated by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, will in most cases be taken to mean such cruelty as has led to the adultery alleged in the petition.—PEARMAN v. PEARMAN & BURGESS (1860), 1 Sw. & Tr. 601 ; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 54 ; 1 L. T. 415 ; 8 W. R. 274.

Annotations :—Consd. Edwards v. Edwards, [1894] P. 33 ; Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167 ; Pryor v. Pryor, [1900] P. 157 ; Wickins v. Wickins, [1918] P. 265. Refd. Parry v. Parry, [1896] P. 37.

3580. —— ——.]—Decree dissolving the marriage pronounced in favour of a husband who had been convicted by justices of an aggravated assault upon his wife, & against whom a separation has been thereupon made.

The rule with reference to cruelty has been, that if it should appear that the conduct of the husband has been such as to conduce to the wife's fault, then that has been sternly visited upon him. In other cases where that has not been so plain, a decree has been made with some provision for the guilty wife. . . . I think on the whole that I can pronounce this decree. It is quite true that the magistrate seems to have convicted this man of what appears to be an aggravated assault. It is also true that the magistrate was obliged to so convict him, in order to grant a separation to the wife. The petitioner seems to have paid the allowance regularly, until he found out his wife's adultery (JEUNE, J.).—SERGENT v. SERGENT & WEAVER (1891), 64 L. T. 236.

3581. —— ——.]—The discretion conferred upon judges of the Divorce Court by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, is not an absolute or arbitrary, but a judicial discretion, & is intended to be exercised in conformity with the former practice of the House of Lords. Cruelty on the part of petitioner, in order to bar a claim for a divorce, must either have led to the adultery of the resp., or be entirely wanton & unprovoked in its character.

In considering what terms should be imposed upon petitioner who has been found guilty of cruelty towards resp. the ct. takes into consideration all the facts of the particular case before it, & considers the interests not merely of the parties, but of the child or children, if any, of the marriage.

Where the means of petitioner, the husband, were very small & uncertain, & resp.'s parents, whose character & goodwill were unquestioned, had offered to look after the only child of the marriage, the ct. in granting a decree, assented to an arrangement which had been arrived at between the parties subsequently to the verdict, whereby the formal custody of the child was given to resp. & no allowance was ordered against petitioner.—PRYOR v. PRYOR, COWIE & MACDONALD, [1900] P. 157 ; 69 L. J. P. 99.

Annotation :—Consd. Squire v. Squire, [1905] P. 4.

3582. —— ——.]—(1) In order that the ct. should exercise its discretionary power under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, to deprive a husband, petitioning for a divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery, of his decree, on the ground that he has himself been guilty of cruelty, it is not of itself a material circumstance that the conduct of petitioner caused the separation of the parties antecedent to the adultery of the wife. The cruelty of the husband must conduce to, if it does not cause, the adultery of the wife ; & if that adultery is, in the opinion of the ct., brought about by other causes than the cruelty of the husband, for example, the habits & inclination of the wife, the husband who has been guilty of cruelty is nevertheless entitled to his decree.

(2) The object of the ct. in ordering a provision for a guilty wife is that she should be protected from temptation & lead a respectable life ; at the same time, a husband should not be called upon to support a wife who is leading an immoral life, & on this ground, as well as for the protection of the wife, the provision for her should be limited dum casta.

In the view I take of this class of case, it is material that the dum casta clause should be inserted. The wife should know & should be made to feel that her livelihood depends upon her leading a chaste life in the future. In cases where the wife has not been proved to have committed adultery I should be slow to insert the dum casta clause.

Although I do not lay so much stress upon the dum sola clause, I think that, too, ought to be inserted, & that the husband ought not to be called upon to contribute to the support of his divorced wife if she should become the wife of another man (JEUNE, P.).—SQUIRE v. SQUIRE & O'CALLAGHAN, [1905] P. 4 ; 74 L. J. P. 1 ; 92 L. T. 472 ; 21 T. L. R. 41.

Annotations :—As to (2) Apld. Woodcock v. Woodcock & Codesido (1914), 111 L. T. 924. Refd. Ollier v. Ollier, [1914] P. 240.

3583. —— Cruelty not serious.]—Decree nisi granted to a husband, although the jury found that he had been guilty of cruelty.—TANNAM v. TANNAM, BEESON & BALLARD (1897), 13 T. L. R. 453.

3584. —— Wanton & unprovoked cruelty.]—PRYOR v. PRYOR, COWIE & MACDONALD, No. 3581, ante.

3585. —— Not cruelty causing separation—Anterior to adultery.]—SQUIRE v. SQUIRE & O'CALLAGHAN, No. 3582, ante.

3586. Respondent's conduct conducing to petitioner's cruelty—Drunken habits.]—PEARMAN v. PEARMAN & BURGESS, No. 3579, ante.

3587. —— ——.]—FORRESTER v. FORRESTER (1884), Times, May 19.

Annotation :—Refd. Higgins v. King's Proctor, King's Proctor v. Carter, [1910] P. 151.

3588. —— ——.]—Upon a husband's petition for divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery, where the adultery is fully established against her, but where she cross-petitions cruelty as having been committed by her husband towards her, & where it appears that the wife is a woman of drunken habits, & that what she alleges as violence has been used upon her in consequence of her drunkenness, the ct. requires a very strong case to be made out against the husband in order to bar his right to relief from the marriage tie. Unless it is proved that he has been guilty of such gross violence towards her as the ct. cannot allow to be excused on the ground that he was provoked to it by her intemperance, the decree in his favour should not be withheld.—FORSYTH v. FORSYTH, ECCLES & FOSTER (1890), 63 L. T. 263.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 4, E. (b), (c) & (d), & F. (a).]

3589. —— —— Respondent found in flagrante delicto.]—SMITH v. SMITH (1901), 45 Sol. Jo. 467.

3590. Where cruelty condoned by respondent—Whether discretion exercised in petitioner's favour—Communication of venereal disease.]—WILDEY v. WILDEY & RYDER, No. 3478, ante.

3591. —— —— Honest & straightforward account by petitioner.]—WOLTERECK v. WOLTERECK & WALTERS, No. 3485, ante.

3592. Sufficiency of proof of petitioner's cruelty—Former decree for judicial separation.]—The wife obtained in Mar. 1887, a decree for a judicial separation on the ground of cruelty, & was given the custody of her only child. On May 4, 1888, the husband was ordered to pay permanent alimony at the rate of £80 a year from the date of the decree. This he did not pay, although he had the means. On Sept. 17, 1888, a deed was executed by the husband & wife, by which the latter relinquished the custody of the child & all her right to alimony, in consideration of a lump sum of £75 then paid to her by her husband. Some little time after that deed was signed the husband became aware that his wife was committing adultery with the co-resp., with whom she went to live. The husband then filed his petition, asking for the dissolution of his marriage:—Held: as the cruelty on the part of the husband was not of such a nature as would induce the ct. to withhold a decree, & as the deed of release was executed by the wife with her eyes open, the husband should not be refused the relief prayed, & a decree nisi should accordingly be pronounced in his favour.—BADHAM v. BADHAM & GORST (1890), 62 L. T. 663.

Annotations:—Consd. Edwards v. Edwards, [1894] P. 33. Refd. Parry v. Parry, [1896] P. 37.

3593. —— Conviction for aggravated assault—Conviction necessary to grant separation.]—SERGENT v. SERGENT & WEAVER, No. 3580, ante.

3594. Exercise of discretion on terms—Allowance to wife.]—SERGENT v. SERGENT & WEAVER, No. 3580, ante.

3595. —— ——.]—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS & FRANCIS, No. 3412, ante.

3596. —— —— Custody of child to respondent.]—PRYOR v. PRYOR, COWIE & MACDONALD, No. 3581, ante.

3597. —— —— Dum sola et dum casta clause.]—SQUIRE v. SQUIRE & O'CALLAGHAN, No. 3582, ante.

(c) In Suits for Judicial Separation.

3598. On ground of adultery—Whether cruelty a bar.]—Cruelty is not pleadable by a wife in bar to a separation prayed by the husband by reason of her adultery; but cruelty is pleadable by her in conjunction with a cross-petition of adultery against the husband.

Qu.: whether if the proof of adultery fails on both sides, the wife will be entitled to a sentence of separation in the same suit, provided she prove cruelty.—COCKSEDGE v. COCKSEDGE (1844), 1 Rob. Eccl. 90; 3 Notes of Cases, 218; 163 E. R. 975; sub nom. COXSEDGE v. COXSEDGE, 8 Jur. 935.

3599. —— ——.]—LEMPRIERE v. LEMPRIERE & ROEBEL, No. 3440, ante.

(d) In Suits for Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

Defences for suit for restitution, see Part XIII., Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, F., ante.

3600. By what cruelty petitioner barred—Sufficient to found petition for judicial separation.]—In a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, no facts are sufficient to bar the proceeding, except such as would be sufficient to have entitled the party to a divorce on an original suit.

"I was of opinion nothing could be offered in bar to her living with her husband, but such facts as would entitle her to a divorce, in case she had brought a suit against him to be separated for cruelty" (SIR GEORGE LEE).—HOLMES v. HOLMES (1757), 2 Lee, 116; 161 E. R. 283.

Annotation:—Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395.

3601. —— Not accidental injuries in course of wrongful resistance—On minor acts.]—OLIVER v. OLIVER, No. 2574, ante.

3602. —— Personal violence or manifest danger—Not mere unkindness or unfounded fears.]—BARLEE v. BARLEE, No. 2463, ante.

3603. —— Conduct rendering cohabitation unsafe.]—To the wife's petition for restitution of conjugal rights, the husband answered alleging violence of language & conduct on her part, & that he could not, without danger to his health, renew the cohabitation, but setting out no facts amounting to primâ facie cruelty.

The ct., it being the husband's answer & the suit at his expense, declined to determine, until it had heard the evidence, whether the conduct attributed to petitioner amounted to legal cruelty, & held the answer sufficient.—STACE v. STACE (1868), 37 L. J. P. & M. 51; 18 L. T. 740; 16 W. R. 1176.

Annotation:—Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1895] P. 315.

3604. —— ——.]—In a suit by a wife for restitution of conjugal rights the husband alleged that petitioner drank to excess, &, further, that she had been guilty of cruelty towards him. The jury found that petitioner had been guilty of physical violence to resp., but not of cruelty; that petitioner drank to excess; that it was not unsafe at the time resp. left petitioner for the parties to live together:—Held: a decree of restitution of conjugal rights should be refused.—BUTLAND v. BUTLAND (1913), 29 T. L. R. 729.

Annotation:—Refd. Fisk v. Fisk (1920), 122 L. T. 803.

3605. —— Charging respondent with unnatural offence.]—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL, No. 2661, ante.

3606. Cruelty condoned—Not subsequently revived.]—GEILS v. GEILS, No. 2464, ante.

F. Petitioner's Desertion or Wilful Separation without Reasonable Excuse.

(a) In Suits for Dissolution of Marriage.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 178 (3) (c).

Respondent's desertion—As matrimonial offence.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 5, sub-sect. 3, ante.

3607. "Without reasonable excuse"—General rule.]—The ct. will not dissolve a marriage on the ground of the wife's adultery when satisfied that before the date of the adultery complained of, the husband deserted her without reasonable excuse.—

YEATMAN v. YEATMAN (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 187; 39 L. J. P. & M. 77; 23 L. T. 283; 18 W. R. 1088.

3608. —— Equivalent to "without reasonable cause"—Separation without justification.]—WICKINS v. WICKINS, No. 3292, ante.

3609. —— Respondent submitting to indecent liberties with men.]—(1) Where the case of petitioner, in a suit for dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery, has been proved, & the ct. do not find that he has been accessory to or conniving at the adultery, or that there had been condonation or connivance, they are bound to pronounce a decree dissolving the marriage, unless it is established affirmatively that petitioner has been guilty of one of the acts which, under the proviso to Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, give the ct. a discretionary power to refuse to dissolve the marriage.

(2) Where it appears doubtful on the evidence in the suit whether or not the conduct of petitioner has been such as to give the ct. such discretionary power, the ct. will, for the purpose of satisfying their minds, examine petitioner adversely under sect. 43, but will not in a suit instituted on the ground of adultery examine him or permit him to be examined for the purpose of proving his own case. After the ct. has examined petitioner adversely, his counsel will be permitted to suggest questions to petitioner for the purpose of clearing up what the ct. may have elicited adversely to the case.

(3) Semble: "deserted," in the proviso to sect. 31 is equivalent to "left destitute."

(4) In a suit for a dissolution of marriage, on the ground of the wife's adultery, it appeared from the evidence in support of the petition, that the husband had "wilfully separated himself from his wife" shortly after the marriage; but it was doubtful whether or not he did so "without reasonable excuse," the only evidence as to the cause of the separation being a statement made by the wife, that "her husband had left her because he had caught her with a young man." The ct., thinking that petitioner might not have had reasonable excuse for leaving her, examined him, when it appeared that he had found her submitting to indecent liberties, & had immediately broken off all intercourse with her:—Held: as, under these circumstances, it did not appear affirmatively that there was not reasonable excuse for the separation, the ct. had no discretionary power, but were bound to dissolve the marriage.—HASWELL v. HASWELL & SANDERSON (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 502; Sca. & Sm. 32; 29 L. J. P. & M. 21; 1 L. T. 69; 23 J. P. 825; 8 W. R. 76; 164 E. R. 832.

Annotations:—As to (4) Consd. Yeatman v. Yeatman (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 489; Wickins v. Wickins, [1918] P. 265. Refd. Oldroyd v. Oldroyd, [1896] P. 175; Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123; Fisk v. Fisk (1920), 122 L. T. 803.

3610. —— Clandestine marriage of young girl—Petitioner sent abroad on discovery of respondent's unsuitability.]—A., being only sixteen years of age, was privately married to B., aged thirty-six, without the consent of her family. On its being discovered that B. was an unsuitable husband for her, A. was removed to the Continent, & never saw him again. He made no attempts to procure cohabitation with her; & subsequently contracted a bigamous marriage:—Held: there had been a reasonable excuse for the separation, & dissolved the marriage, on the ground of B.'s bigamy & adultery.—DU TERREAUX v. DU TERREAUX (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 555; 28 L. J. P. & M. 95; 23 J. P. 647; 164 E. R. 857.

3611. Marriage to prostitute—Separation at father's instigation—Allowance to respondent.]—Petitioner, the son of a clergyman, & having taken his degree at Cambridge, married a woman who had been living as a prostitute in Cambridge, on June 13, 1863. Nothing in the nature of continuous cohabitation took place. In Oct. 1863, petitioner's father became aware of the fact, & in Dec. 1863, a deed of separation, under which resp. was to receive £1 a week, was executed. The adultery took place in the early part of 1864. Petitioner was dependent on his father:—Held: the separation, if wilful, was not without reasonable excuse, & made a decree nisi.—PROCTOR v. PROCTOR & SMITH & PITMAN (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 140; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 99; 12 L. T. 505; 11 Jur. N. S. 531; 13 W. R. 963; 164 E. R. 1469.

3612. —— Respondent's inability to consummate marriage—Bonâ fide belief.]—OUSEY v. OUSEY & ATKINSON, No. 3004, ante.

3613. "Wilfully separated"—Marriage to prostitute—Petitioner going abroad to avoid unhappiness—Failure to maintain.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage, on the ground of the wife's adultery, it appeared that petitioner, a draper's assistant, then twenty-one years of age, married in 1853 a woman whom he well knew to be a prostitute. A month after the marriage they removed from the lodgings to the house of petitioner's father, from which, after a stay of a few weeks, they were compelled to remove in consequence of the wife exhibiting bad temper & making herself disagreeable to the family. Ten days afterwards, the husband went to America, not on business, but because he lived unhappily with his wife, leaving her without any means of subsistence & supplying her with none during an absence of four years. After he left, his family had given the wife a small pittance on one occasion, & had promised to give her further assistance, but in consequence of her annoying them, all intercourse with her was broken off. The wife, after her husband left, returned to her former way of life. The ct., under these circumstances, held that there was a wilful separation of the husband from the wife before the adultery complained of, & that it was without reasonable excuse; & in exercise of the discretion given them by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, refused to decree the dissolution of the marriage.—COULTHART v. COULTHART & GOUTHWAITE (1859), 28 L. J. P. & M. 21; 32 L. T. O. S. 394.

Annotation:—Refd. Beavan v. Beavan (1862), 11 W. R. 155.

3614. —— Separation ordered by court—Clandestine marriage of ward of court.]—BEAVAN v. BEAVAN, No. 3424, ante.

3615. —— Separation necessitated by petitioner's employment.]—Where a husband & wife were living together in service, & the husband left the wife & accepted another situation, & the wife subsequently committed adultery, such a separation by the husband from the wife will not be deemed a "wilful separation" such as under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, would justify the ct. in refusing to dissolve the marriage on proof of the wife's adultery.—DAVIES v. DAVIES & HUGHES (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 221; 1 New Rep. 406; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 111; 8 L. T. 703; 9 Jur. N. S. 828; 11 W. R. 402; 164 E. R. 1258.

3616. —— Voluntary separation by wife.]—CUFLEY v. CUFLEY & LOVECK, No. 2884, ante.

3617. —— Ante-nuptial agreement to live apart—Discontinuance of allowance on discovery of adultery.]—A husband, without reasonable excuse, obtained from his wife an agreement that they should live apart from each other, which they accordingly did, & she subsequently committed adultery:—Held: under the circumstances he had deserted her, & a petition by him for dissolution of the marriage must be dismissed.—DAGG v. DAGG (1882), 7 P. D. 17; 51 L. J. P. 19; 47 L. T. 132; 30 W. R. 431.

Sect. 7.—Bars to relief: Sub-sect. 4, F. (a), (b) & (c). Sect. 8: Sub-sect. 1, A., B. & C. (a) & (b).]

Annotation:—Refd. Piper v. Piper, [1902] P. 198.

3618. "Deserted"—Respondent left destitute.]—HASWELL v. HASWELL & SANDERSON, No. 3609, ante.

3619. Statutory desertion—Discretionary bar.]—The ct. will exercise its discretion in favour of petitioner in a divorce suit, even though guilty of statutory desertion.—MULLEY v. MULLEY & SHAW (1909), 53 Sol. Jo. 469.

Annotation:—Apld. Stone v. Stone & Osborne, [1917] P. 125.

3620. —— —— Desertion not conducing to respondent's adultery—No active steps taken to enforce restitution decree.]—The statutory desertion arising under the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), by reason of the failure of a spouse to comply with a decree for restitution of conjugal rights, is only a discretionary bar to his or her claim for relief on the ground of subsequent adultery of the other spouse.

Where the ct. is satisfied that the statutory desertion has not conduced to the adultery & that the deserted spouse took no active steps to enforce the decree for restitution, the ct. may exercise its discretion by granting relief in respect of the subsequent adultery, in spite of the statutory desertion of which the complaining spouse has been guilty.—STONE v. STONE & OSBORNE, [1917] P. 125; 86 L. J. P. 101; 117 L. T. 156; 33 T. L. R. 319; 61 Sol. Jo. 461.

3621. Conviction for desertion—Under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39).]—Where a husband, who presents a petition for a dissolution of his marriage, has been previously convicted of desertion under above Act, the ct. will exercise its discretion as to granting a decree dissolving his marriage. The mere fact of conviction will not be sufficient to establish a bar. The whole circumstances of the case will be considered, & if the ct. is of opinion that petitioner acted upon reasonable grounds, he will not be deprived of the relief prayed for.—LLOYD v. LLOYD (1901), 84 L. T. 728; 45 Sol. Jo. 556.

3622. Exercise of discretion—Where petitioner's default established by affirmative evidence.]—HASWELL v. HASWELL & SANDERSON, No. 3609, ante.

3623. —— On terms—Allowance to wife.]—The ct. while allowing an intervention by the King's Proctor, exercised its discretion in favour of petitioner, who had been guilty of desertion, but ordered him to pay a weekly sum to resp., with liberty to apply to rescind or vary that order.—FREEMAN v. FREEMAN & FREEMAN (1911), 105 L. T. 383; 27 T. L. R. 523.

3624. —— Not interfered with on appeal.]—WICKINS v. WICKINS, No. 3292, ante.

Discretion of court generally.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 7, sub-sect. 4, A., ante.

(b) In Suits for Judicial Separation.

Respondent's desertion.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 5, sub-sect. 8, ante.

3625. On ground of adultery—Whether petitioner barred.]—The mere desertion of a wife by the husband though a malicious desertion will not bar a sentence of divorce [a mensâ et thoro] at the suit of the husband on proof of adultery committed by the wife.—SULLIVAN v. SULLIVAN (1824), 2 Add. 299; 162 E. R. 303.

Annotations:—Apld. Morgan v. Morgan (1841), 2 Curt. 679. Consd. Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner, [1905] P. 233. Refd. Clowes v. Jones (falsely calling herself Clowes) (1845), 4 Notes of Cases, 1; Gandy v. Gandy (1882), 51 L. J. P. 41; Fearon v. Aylesbury (1884), 14 Q. B. D. 792; Pullen v. Pullen & Holding (1920), 123 L. T. 203. Mentd. Steward v. Bateman (1842), 3 Curt. 201.

3626. —— ——.]—Divorce [a mensâ et thoro] by reason of adultery committed by the wife, is not barred by a previous wilful desertion of the wife by the husband.

During the absence of the husband, by the law of England, the wife has no direct remedy, she may pledge his credit for necessaries, but she cannot resort to a ct. for a direct remedy; but although left destitute of aid, it does not follow that she has a licence to commit adultery.

I find, from my own notes, that on the admission of the allegation in Reeves v. Reeves (1813), 2 Phill. 125, SIR JOHN NICHOLL expressly declared that a wilful desertion of a wife was no bar to a suit against her for adultery; & in Sullivan v. Sullivan, No. 3625, ante, the doctrine is repeated; he says, "I am still to learn that even a malicious desertion of the wife by the husband is any bar to a sentence of divorce prayed by the husband for adultery committed by the wife" (DR. LUSHINGTON).—MORGAN v. MORGAN (1841), 2 Curt. 679; 1 Notes of Cases, 23; 163 E. R. 548.

Annotations:—Consd. Duplany v. Duplany (1891), 66 L. T. 267; Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner, [1905] P. 233. Refd. Dillon v. Dillon (1842), 3 Curt. 86; Clowes v. Jones (falsely calling herself Clowes) (1845), 4 Notes of Cases, 1.

3627. —— ——.]—LEMPRIERE v. LEMPRIERE & ROEBEL, No. 3440, ante.

3628. —— —— Practice of Ecclesiastical Courts followed.]—The wife petitioned for a divorce upon the grounds of cruelty & adultery. The husband pleaded (inter alia) that she wilfully separated herself from him without reasonable excuse. At the trial it was admitted that the husband had committed adultery at a date some months after the final separation, & after all the subsequent negotiations for a deed of separation had gone off. The case was most strenuously fought upon the question of cruelty, &, in the result the jury found that the husband was not guilty of that offence. This was taken to imply a finding that the wife had wilfully separated herself from her husband, without just cause, at a date anterior to his admitted adultery. Thereupon, counsel for the wife applied for a decree of judicial separation with costs, & the custody of the child. The husband opposed the application:—Held: (1) inasmuch as desertion was first constituted a matrimonial offence by the Divorce Act, 1857 (c. 85), & would not prior to that Act have been a bar, discretionary or otherwise, to any suit in the Ecclesiastical Ct., in which relief was claimed upon the ground of adultery; & inasmuch as desertion was made by the Act a discretionary bar in suits for divorce, & further, that where the Act was silent, the old ecclesiastical practice was to still prevail, the ct. could not now take upon itself to supply any suggested omission in the Act, & as a matter of law, the wife's claim was not barred.

(2) If the desertion were a bar it could at most be a discretional bar: & in the exercise of his discretion the judge would grant the wife the decree she now asked; but, as each party had been partially successful, & as each had separate property, each would pay their own costs.—

DUPLANY v. DUPLANY, [1892] P. 53 ; 61 L. J. P. 49 ; 66 L. T. 267 ; 8 T. L. R. 169.

Annotations :—As to (1) Apld. Synge v. Synge, [1900] P. 180. Distd. Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner, [1905] P. 233. As to (2) Refd. Cox v. Cox (1893), 70 L. T. 200.

3629. —— —— —— Desertion conducing to adultery of respondent.]—In considering to what extent desertion, not a matrimonial offence in the Ecclesiastical Cts. is to be held now to be a bar to relief, the ct. will especially have regard to the question whether it has conduced to the misconduct of the other spouse, the principles on which the Ecclesiastical Cts. acted having been apparently to refuse relief to petitioner found guilty of conduct conducing to the misconduct of resp.

Where the ct. found that desertion by petitioner had conduced to the adultery of resp. :—Held : petitioner was not entitled to a decree of judicial separation.—HODGSON v. HODGSON & TURNER, [1905] P. 233 ; 74 L. J. P. 140 ; 93 L. T. 446 ; 53 W. R. 623 ; 21 T. L. R. 601.

Annotations :—Consd. Tulk v. Tulk (1906), 23 T. L. R. 120. Refd. Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298.

3630. —— —— Refusal by wife of marital relations.]—To the wife's petition for judicial separation, on the ground of the husband's cruelty & adultery, an allegation on his part that the wife had wilfully withdrawn herself from his bed, & refused him conjugal rights, is no answer.—ROWE v. ROWE (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 162 ; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 111 ; 12 L. T. 639 ; 11 Jur. N. S. 568 ; 13 W. R. 1048 ; 164 E. R. 1478.

Annotations :—Refd. Duplany v. Duplany (1891), 66 L. T. 267 ; Synge v. Synge, [1900] P. 180.

3631. —— —— Desertion without reasonable excuse for two years—Adultery committed subsequently.]—(1) A wife who, without cause, refuses to permit marital intercourse to her husband, cannot allege desertion without reasonable cause by him if in consequence he refuses to live with her, & is herself in such circumstances guilty of desertion without reasonable cause.

(2) Desertion without reasonable excuse for two years & upwards is no bar to a petition for judicial separation on the ground of subsequent adultery.—SYNGE v. SYNGE, [1901] P. 317 ; 70 L. J. P. 97 ; 85 L. T. 83 ; 17 T. L. R. 718, C. A.

Annotations :—As to (1) Apld. Davis v. Davis, [1918] P. 85. Refd. Frowd v. Frowd, [1904] P. 177 ; Jackson v. Jackson, [1924] P. 19 ; Russell v. Russell, [1924] A. C. 687. As to (2) Consd. Constantinidi v. Constantinidi, [1903] P. 246 ; Hodgson v. Hodgson, [1905] P. 233. Refd. Evans v. Evans & Elford, [1906] P. 125 ; Todd v. Todd & Cunniam (1906), 23 T. L. R. 9 ; Hines v. Hines & Burdett, [1918] P. 364.

(c) In Suits for Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

Defences to suit for restitution, see Part XIII., Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, F., ante.

3632. Whether petitioner barred—Facts short of matrimonial offence.]—HOLMES v. HOLMES, No. 3600, ante.

3633. —— Desertion for less than two years—Injury to respondent's health.]—It is not a sufficient answer by a husband to a suit for restitution of conjugal rights that his wife had left the home for a less period than two years, had neglected her children, & that resp.'s health had suffered in consequence of her conduct.—WEST v. WEST (1910), 55 Sol. Jo. 48.

SECT. 8.—INSTITUTION AND DEFENCE OF PROCEEDINGS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—PETITIONS AND CONTENTS THEREOF.

A. In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 1, 2 ; Appendix 1.

3634. Domicil of wife—Whether necessary to plead.]—It is sufficient, under Divorce Rule 220 of 1905, to insert in a petition the domicil of the husband without stating that of the wife, unless petitioner is asserting a domicil for the wife different from that of the husband.—Re CLARK (1905), 75 L. J. P. 7 ; 22 T. L. R. 158.

3635. Communication of venereal disease—Must be specially pleaded.]—Where a petitioner relies upon a charge of wilfully communicating a venereal disease, it should be specifically pleaded in the petition.—WALKER v. WALKER (1912), 107 L. T. 655 ; 57 Sol. Jo. 175.

Whether petition must contain prayer for custody.]—See No. 4779, post.

B. Indorsement of Notice to Appear.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 2.

C. Petitions for Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

(a) In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 1, 2 ; Appendix 1.

3636. Contents of—Age of parties need not be pleaded—When lawful solemnisation of marriage alleged.]—In a libel in a cause for the restitution of conjugal rights, it is not necessary to plead specifically, that the parties were of twenty-one years of age ; provided it is pleaded that the marriage was lawfully solemnised in consequence of a licence duly obtained.—POOL v. POOL (1813), 2 Phillim. 119 ; 161 E. R. 1095.

3637. Motives of petitioner—Immaterial to court.]—SIMMONS v. SIMMONS, No. 2797, ante.

3638. Preliminary steps—Previous separation order by justices—Must be discharged.]—A wife who has been deserted by her husband & has obtained from the magistrates an order against him for maintenance under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), in which order a clause has been inserted, without her knowledge or approval, that he "be no longer bound to cohabit with her," must, before filing her petition for restitution of conjugal rights, apply to the magistrates under sect. 7 of same Act for the discharge of such order.—NILAND v. NILAND (1913), 108 L. T. 50 ; 57 Sol. Jo. 248.

(b) Preliminary Demand for Cohabitation.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 3 (A) ; Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, D., ante.

PART XIII. SECT 7, SUB-SECT. 4.—F. (c).

a. Petitioner imposing unreasonable conditions.]—Deft. left the home because of the wayward conduct & disobedience of the daughter, but was willing, & offered to make a home for his wife elsewhere. Pltf., however, distinctly declined to live with her husband without the daughter :—Held : pltf. was imposing a condition which she had no right to impose, & her action was dismissed.—BIRD v. BIRD, [1923] 1 D. L. R. 528 ; O. L. R. 1.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 1.—A.

b. Bill for alimony — Refusal of husband to receive wife—Must be pleaded.]—A bill for alimony should allege that the husband has refused to receive his wife. It is not sufficient to allege merely that they are living apart. —WALSH v. WALSH (1864), 1 Ch. Ch. 234.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 1.—C. (a).

c. Contents of—Inclusion of alternative claim for alimony.]—A wife may make an alternative claim for alimony ; such claim may be allowed by amendment.—O'LEARY v. O'LEARY, [1923] 1 D. L. R. 949 ; 19 Alta. L. R. 224 ; [1923] 1 W. W. R. 501.—CAN.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 1, D., E. & F.

D. Petitions for Judicial Separation.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 1, 2; Appendix 1.

3639. What should be pleaded—Not non-residence in parish where banns published.]—BROWN v. BROWN, No. 2698, ante.

Publication of banns.]—See Part II., Sect. 7, sub-sect. 1, ante.

3640. —— Want of age.]—BROWN v. BROWN, No. 2698, ante.

3641. —— Not non-consummation—Suit based on adultery.]—BROWN v. BROWN, No. 2698, ante.

3642. Suit based on cruelty—Acts constituting legal cruelty should be alleged—As briefly as possible.]—SUGGATE v. SUGGATE, No. 2641, ante.

3643. Two petitions filed—First not served—Appearance entered to second—Priority of second petition.]—A petition was filed & a citation issued on the part of a wife for a judicial separation on the ground of cruelty; neither this petition nor citation was served. The wife's solr., in consequence of fresh instructions, afterwards filed a second petition for judicial separation, on the ground of adultery coupled with cruelty, & a citation issued thereon. The husband was served & entered an appearance in the second suit. The ct. directed the second suit to proceed.—TURNER v. TURNER (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 426; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 134; 5 L. T. 849; 10 W. R. 292.

E. Petitions for Nullity of Marriage.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 1, 2; Appendix 1.

3644. Fact of marriage—Whether petition must establish—Where parties to marriage are parties to suit.]—In a cause of nullity of marriage, the alleged fact of marriage, of the legal nullity of which, a declaratory sentence is prayed, must be duly proved, in which part of his case if pltf. fails, it is the duty of the ct. to withhold its declaratory sentence of nullity; how clearly soever all the several facts may be established in evidence, upon which, had the marriage itself been established by similar evidence, a sentence declaratory of its nullity might well have been founded. This, at least, is the rule where pltf. & deft. respectively are the alleged contracting parties.—NOKES v. MILWARD (FALSELY CALLING HERSELF NOKES) (1824), 2 Add. 386; 162 E. R. 336.

3645. —— —— ——.]—G. v. G. (FALSELY CALLED K.) (1908), No. 2360, ante.

3646. —— Bigamous ceremony—Petitioner must plead & admit.]—(1) Allegation on behalf of a woman, responsive to a libel of nullity of marriage by reason of bigamy, pleading deception, fraud & cognisance by the man of the existence of the husband of the first marriage at the date of the second fact of marriage, rejected.

(2) Misconduct, however gross, of a party proceeding, by reason of bigamy, is no bar to a sentence of nullity.

(3) A wife de facto, as a fact of marriage, is necessarily pleaded to such a suit, is entitled pendente lite to alimony.

(4) The party proceeding, who is asking the ct. to pronounce the second marriage null is of necessity bound to admit & plead the fact of that second marriage (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(5) There is a very strong distinction in the different suits of nullity, nullity by reason of impotency, nullity by reason of statutable enactment, & nullity at common law, where there has been a husband or wife living at the date of the second marriage (DR. LUSHINGTON).—MILES v. CHILTON (FALSELY CALLING HERSELF MILES) (1849), 1 Rob. Eccl. 684; 6 Notes of Cases, 636; 163 E. R. 1178.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Bonaparte v. Bonaparte, [1892] P. 402. As to (3) Refd. Foden v. Foden, [1894] P. 307; Bateman v. Bateman (otherwise Harrison) (1898), 78 L. T. 472. Generally, Refd. Halpin (otherwise Boddington) v. Boddington (1881), 29 W. R. 444; Andrews v. Ross (1888), 14 P. D. 15; Moss v. Moss, [1897] P. 263.

3647. Who may present—Father of wife.]—(1) The service of a citation sufficient to constitute pendency of suit.

The contestatio litis is not necessary to constitute a lis pendens; there may be a "suit depending in the Ecclesiastical Ct." before the contestatio litis & the lis pendens commences with the extracting & service of the citation; & if not, by analogy with other cts., on the return of the citation, whenever it may be (SIR HERBERT JENNER).

(2) The father, qua father, has sufficient interest to enable him to a suit in the civil form, for the purpose of annulling the marriage of his daughter, when of age.

(3) The interest of Mr. R. [the father] in the legitimacy or illegitimacy of the issue of his daughter is sufficient to entitle him in these cts. to maintain a suit for annulling her marriage (SIR HERBERT JENNER).—RAY v. SHERWOOD & RAY (1836), 1 Curt. 193; 163 E. R. 65; affd. sub nom. SHERWOOD v. RAY (1837), 1 Moo. P. C. C. 353, P. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Sanders v. Head (1842), 3 Curt. 32; Ditcher v. Denison (1857), 11 Moo. P. C. C. 324; The Helenslea, The Catalonia (1881), 7 P. D. 57. As to (2) Consd. Bevan v. M'Mahon (1859), 2 Sw. & Tr. 58. Refd. Wells v. Cottam (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 364. Generally, Refd. Brook v. Brook (1861), 9 H. L. Cas. 193; Lowe v. Lowe (1899), 80 L. T. 575. Mentd. Harrison v. Sparrow (1842), 3 Curt. 1; Brookes v. Cresswell (1846), 4 Notes of Cases, 429; Fenton (or Livingstone) v. Livingstone (1856), 27 L. T. O. S. 18; Martin v. Mackonochie, Flamank v. Simpson (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 116; Sheppard v. Bennett (1869), L. R. 2 A. & E. 335; Winchester (Bp.) v. Wix (1869), L. R. 3 A. & E. 19; Elphinstone v. Purchas (1870), L. R. 3 P. C. 245; Fagg v. Lee (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 135; R. v. Oxford (Bp.) (1879), 4 Q. B. D. 525.

F. Petitions for Dissolution of Marriage.

(a) In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 1, 2; Appendix 1.

3648. Addressed to what court—"Court for Divorce & Matrimonial Causes."]—A petition for dissolution of marriage should be addressed "To the Ct. for Divorce & Matrimonial Causes."—EVANS v. EVANS (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 78; 27

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 1.—E.

d. Malformation of respondent—Plea that intercourse impossible.]—In order to support a decree of nullity of marriage on the ground of the malformation of resp. the petition must allege that the malformation is such that intercourse between the parties of an ordinary & complete character is not attainable & that such intercourse as has taken place has been substantially imperfect.—A. v. A. (1915), 34 N. Z. L. R. 1039.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 1.—F. (a).

e. Contents of—Particulars as to issue of marriage—Domicil.]—Where there are issue of the marriage their names & the dates of their births should be set out. This requirement is not complied with by stating their ages in general terms. The petition should also contain a statement as to domicil, especially where the wife is resp. & is resident abroad.—PARSONS v. PARSONS (1913), 32 N. Z. L. R. 723.—N.Z.

f. —— Petitioner's change of domicil.]—When a man marries abroad & subsequently changes his domicil to New Zealand, leaving his wife still resident in the place of his former domicil, resp., when the husband seeks

L. J. P. & M. 31; 30 L. T. O. S. 369; 6 W. R. 356; 164 E. R. 637.

3649. Second petition filed—After first dismissed on appeal—Refusal of court to proceed.]—A suit, for cruelty & adultery, brought by the wife was appealed from the Consistory Ct. of London to the Arches, & in 1828 was there alleged to be agreed, & the husband dismissed; but the inhibition to the Consistory was not relaxed. In 1831 a suit, for cruelty & adultery, was again brought by the wife in the Consistory; the husband appeared under protest; the judge, having directed the wife's libel, which referred to & prayed leave to invoke the proceedings in the former suit, & also pleaded new facts, to be brought in, overruled the protest; but, on the ground that the inhibition was still in force, did not assign the husband to appear absolutely, nor did it dismiss him, nor admit or reject the libel. The wife appealed: that appeal was dismissed for irregularity, & the cause remitted: the judge below, as still inhibited, refused to proceed: the wife again appealed:—Held: the agreement & consequent dismissal of the husband put an end to the former suit, & consequently to the inhibition, & the judge of the Consistory Ct. was bound to proceed in the cause. SMYTH v. SMYTH (1831), 4 Hag. Ecc. 509; 162 E. R. 1534.

3650. Contents of—Grounds for relief—Must be distinctly set out.]—A petition for dissolution of marriage by reason of the husband's adultery & desertion, directed to be amended by a distinct averment of the fact of desertion; some statement of circumstances in such a petition may be necessary, but evidence should not be pleaded.—PYNE v. PYNE (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 80; 30 L. T. O. S. 370; 22 J. P. 180; 6 W. R. 507; 164 E. R. 637.

3651. —— —— ——.]—(1) A petition for a divorce on the ground of adultery must allege adultery in distinct terms. A petition by a husband for dissolution of marriage contained an inferential, but not a distinct, charge of adultery at a specified time & place. Personal service on resp. had been dispensed with. Neither resp. nor co-resp. appeared. At the hearing, adultery at the said time & place having been proved, the ct. allowed the petition to be amended by adding a distinct charge of adultery without requiring the petition to be re-served.

(2) If at the hearing the ct. gives leave to amend the petition to meet the case proved, petitioner being in ct., it may be then amended & a decree nisi may be pronounced; but if leave to amend is only granted at a subsequent date after taking time to consider, & petitioner fails to move for a decree until some considerable time after the amendment has been made, the decree must bear date on the day when pronounced, & cannot be ante-dated.—AMBLER v AMBLER & HOGHTON (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 6; 7 L. T. 339; 11 W. R. 111.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Wallace v. Wallace, Guiter & Macnamara (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 17; Forman v. Forman & Davis (1863), 11 W. R. 401.

3652. —— —— —— ——.]—(1) Adultery as the ground of a petition should be distinctly alleged. It is not sufficient that the petition alleges information & belief of petitioner that resp. has committed adultery.

(2) When leave to amend such a petition is granted, where there has been no appearance, it must be re-served.—SPILSBURY v. SPILSBURY (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 210; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 126; 9 L. T. 23; 164 E. R. 1254.

3653. —— Particulars of charge of adultery—Sufficiency.]—FOSTER v. FOSTER & THOMAS (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 64, n.

Annotation:—Refd. Higgs v. Higgs & Hopkins (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 64.

3654. —— —— ——.]—KING v. KING & DENT (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 64, n.

3655. —— —— ——.]—FORMAN v. FORMAN & DAVIS, No. 3746, post.

3656. —— —— —— ——.]—A petition for divorce by a husband in para. 3 alleged that resp., since Oct. 8, 1846, had on divers occasions committed adultery; & in para 4 that resp. had, since Apr. 1864, up to the date of the petition, been habitually visited at her residence at, etc., by A., & had on divers of such occasions, & particularly on the night of Aug. 31, 1864, committed adultery with A.:—Held: (1) it was not sufficient to give particulars of the dates when, places where, & persons with whom, the adultery alleged in para. 3 was committed; but the petition must be amended by setting out such particulars; (2) resp. was not entitled to particulars of the adultery charged in para. 4.—PORTER v. PORTER & JAGGARD (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 596; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 207; 13 W. R. 108; 164 E. R. 1406.

3657. —— —— —— Must be set out.]—(1) A petition for divorce must specifically allege adultery.

(2) Adultery will not be inferred from bigamy alone being alleged in the petition.—BONAPARTE v. BONAPARTE (1891), 65 L. T. 795; 8 T. L. R. 66.

3658. —— All material facts.]—BROOKE v. BROOKE, No. 5115, post.

3659. —— Particular charges of cruelty—Communication of disease.]—WALKER v. WALKER, No. 3635, ante.

3660. Signature to—Leave to solicitor to sign—Petitioner employed abroad.]—Where it appeared that a proposed petitioner was engaged as an engine driver at the diamond fields at Kimberley, in South Africa, & that the acts of adultery to be alleged against his wife in the petition had been committed after he left England; & it further appeared that he could not come to England without risking the loss of his situation.

The ct. gave leave to the solr. to sign the petition & swear the affidavit verifying same on behalf of petitioner; & also gave leave to prove the marriage & cohabitation by affidavit.—Ex p. HOBSON (1894), 70 L. T. 816; 6 R. 661.

3661. Wife's petition—Party cited—Statement of name.]—OLIVER v. OLIVER (1918), 35 T. L. R. 24.

3662. —— —— —— ——.]—Where adultery by a husband is alleged, the woman's name ought always to be disclosed in the petition if it is known.—HIGHLEY v. HIGHLEY (1924), 40 T. L. R. 236.

3663. —— —— ——.]—In a wife's petition alleging adultery against the husband the name of the woman must, if known, be inserted, with the result that Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, a divorce, is entitled to find in the petition itself the whole case made against her & a full statement of the facts relating to her husband's change of domicil.—BUSFIELD v. BUSFIELD, GUEST v. GUEST, [1916] N. Z. L. R. 524.—N.Z.

g. Signature to—Leave to solicitor.]—Petition for dissolution of marriage must be signed by petitioner, not by his solicitor, unless leave has been obtained permitting latter to sign.—PLOWMAN v. PLOWMAN (1909), 10 W. L. R. 20; 14 B. C. R. 164.—CAN.

h. Where separation order in existence.]—A woman petitioned for a divorce on the ground of desertion & there was in force a separation order under "The Married Persons Summary Separation Act, 1896." Resp. did not plead the plea in bar:—Held: the order should have been pleaded.—MICHAEL v. MICHAEL (1906), 26 N. Z. L. R. 165.—N.Z.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 1, F. (a) & (b), & G.; sub-sects. 2 & 3, A., B., C. & D.]

r. 17, as to service on such woman will apply, & if the name, though not known when the petition was filed, be subsequently learnt, the petition should be amended, & the rule followed as to service of the amended petition.—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR, WHITE v. WHITE (1925), 133 L. T. 320; 41 T. L. R. 522.

(b) Claiming Damages against Co-Respondent.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 1, 2; Appendix 1.

3664. Must specify amount claimed.]—Where damages are claimed against co-resp. the petition should specify the amount claimed. Qu.: whether the counsel for co-resp. can, upon his own authority, consent to a petition being amended by the insertion of the amount of damages claimed.—SPEDDING v. SPEDDING & SMITH (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 96.

Annotations:—Folld. Pegler v. Pegler & Russell (1901), 18 T. L. R. 13. Refd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

3665. ——.]—In a husband's petition for divorce, by reason of his wife's adultery with co-resp., when there is a claim for damages, the amount claimed must be specified in the petition.—PEGLER v. PEGLER & RUSSELL (1901), 85 L. T. 649; 18 T. L. R. 13.

Petition for damages only.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 3, F. (b), ante.

G. Supplemental Petitions.

3666. New charges—Adultery—Since original petition—Consolidation.]—If it be expedient to bring before the ct. acts of adultery alleged to have occurred after the date of the original petition, a supplemental petition should be filed for the purpose; & on the preliminary proceedings being completed, the two petitions will be consolidated.—BORHAM v. BORHAM & BROWN (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 193; 40 L. J. P. & M. 6; 19 W. R. 215; sub nom. BOREHAM v. BOREHAM & BROWN, 23 L. T. 600.

3667. —— Desertion—Two years incomplete when original petition filed.]—In a wife's suit for a dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery & desertion, resp.'s adultery was proved, but it appeared that his desertion of his wife had lasted for less than two years. The hearing was adjourned, & on a supplementary petition, filed more than a year afterwards the ct. heard further evidence as to desertion, & granted a decree.—WOOD v. WOOD (1887), 13 P. D. 22; 57 L. J. P. 48.

Annotation:—Consd. Kay v. Kay, [1904] P. 382.

3668. —— —— ——.]—LAPINGTON v. LAPINGTON, No. 2984, ante.

3669. Whether new citation necessary.]—On July 30, 1908, the husband filed a petition for divorce alleging adultery by his wife with men unknown. On being advised that he had not sufficient evidence to support the charges in the petition he made further inquiries, & on Nov. 7, 1908, he filed a supplemental petition alleging his wife's adultery with co-resp. on specific dates in Oct. 1908, all the charges in the original petition having been struck out:—Held: the charges contained in the supplemental petition were covered by the citation which had been served with the petition.—HOLMES v. HOLMES & BAWLS (1909), 25 T. L. R. 263.

3670. Lapse of time since filing of original petition—Original petition followed by reconciliation—Proceedings not withdrawn or stayed.]—SCHARRER v. SCHARRER (1909), Times, July 7, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 2.—AFFIDAVITS VERIFYING PETITIONS.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 3, A. & B.

3671. Contents of—Detailed history of parties unnecessary.]—The affidavit required to be filed in verification of a petition should not go into a detailed statement of the history of the parties. The ct. may have no power to order an affidavit to be removed from the file of the ct., but on a question of taxation of costs, the costs of such an affidavit would not be allowed against the other party.—FORSTER v. FORSTER & EVANS (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 167; 31 L. T. O. S. 104; 164 E. R. 677.

3672. —— Truth of adultery charge—"Best of belief."]—A petition for dissolution of marriage on the ground of the wife's adultery charged various acts of adultery in 1856, 1857 & 1858. Resp., in her answer, pleaded, first, a denial of the adultery; secondly, desertion on Sept. 4, 1857; thirdly, condonation; fourthly, connivance. The affidavit of petitioner, filed in pursuance of rule 2, did not verify the statements in the petition as to the adultery. Resp.'s affidavit, filed in pursuance of rule 15, did not verify the third & fourth pleas, it being supposed that by doing so the adultery would be admitted. On motion to disallow the last three pleas & for leave for petitioner to file an affidavit verifying the adultery charged "to the best of his belief":—Held: (1) the second plea was bad, as, though it was pleaded to the adultery charged in the petition, it was only an answer as to part; (2) the third & fourth pleas should be verified by affidavit, as resp., by doing so, would not admit the adultery, each plea being to be construed by itself; (3) petitioner might in his affidavit state that the adultery was committed "to the best of his belief."

All matter in an answer beyond a simple denial must be verified by affidavit, which however need not be in absolute terms.—TOURLE v. TOURLE (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 165; 27 L. J. P. & M. 52; 31 L. T. O. S. 89; 6 W. R. 544; 164 E. R. 676.

3673. How intituled.]—The affidavit verifying the petition should be headed "In the matter of the petition of A. B."—GAPP v. GAPP & LEVERSON (1859), 4 Sw. & Tr. 273; 28 L. J. P. & M. 48; 164 E. R. 1521.

Annotation:—Folld. Steed v. Steed (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 364.

3674. .]—affidavit verifying a petition must not be headed in a cause, but "In the matter of the petition of ——."—STEED v. STEED (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 364; 36 L. J. P. & M. 50; 16 L. T. 125.

3675. Affidavit by person other than petitioner—Petitioner abroad—On military service.]—A petitioner in a divorce suit being on military service, & unable to make the usual affidavit verifying the k. New charges — Adultery — Since original petition.]—Where resp. in a suit for dissolution of marriage, has, after service of the petition, committed adultery with a person other than the co-respondent, petitioner may obtain an order for leave to file a supplemental petition, setting out such acts of adultery, & adding such person as co-resp.—SMITH v. SMITH & CASHION (1877), 3 V. L. R. 122.—AUS.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 1.—G.

petition, the ct. allowed the petition to be filed if verified by the affidavit of his solr., but ordered that petitioner's affidavit should also be filed as soon as possible.—Ex p. BRUCE (1881), 6 P. D. 16; 50 L. J. P. 64; sub nom. BRUCE v. BRUCE & LAING, 29 W. R. 474.

Anotation:—Distd. Ex p. Tartt (1886), 2 T. L. R. 352.

3676. —— —— Of own will.]—The ct. will not allow the affidavit verifying a petition for divorce to be sworn by another person when petitioner is absent from the country by his own will.—Ex p. TARTT (1886), 34 W. R. 368; 2 T. L. R. 352.

3677. —— —— British consul resident abroad.]—Where petitioner was resident abroad as British consul, & as such was himself the only authority in the place where he resided before whom the affidavit in support of his petition for dissolution could be sworn, & by rule 142 he was not competent to swear his own affidavit, the ct. allowed petitioner's solr. to verify the petition to the best of his knowledge & belief.—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL & MACLAREN (1889), 59 L. J. P. 13; sub nom. Re PETITION FOR DISSOLUTION OF MARRIAGE, Ex p. RUSSELL, 62 L. T. 186; 54 J. P. 167.

3678. Swearing of—Petitioner only commissioner available.]—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL & MACLAREN, No. 3677, ante.

3679. —— Where petitioner inmate of asylum—Order for access by solicitor & commissioner.]—A married woman, confined in an asylum, gave instructions to her solr. to institute proceedings against her husband for judicial separation, & the solr. attended with a comr. for oaths in order to obtain from the proposed petitioner the necessary affidavit in verification of the petition, which had been approved & signed by her previously. The superintendent of the asylum, acting upon printed instructions purporting to be signed by the secretary & addressed from the Office of the Comrs. in Lunacy, refused to allow the solr. & comr. for oaths to see the proposed petitioner, &, upon application being made by the solr. to the Comrs. in Lunacy, they upheld the refusal of the superintendent. The ct., upon motion, & upon affidavit, proving notice, made an order, the Comrs. in Lunacy having notice & not opposing, that the Comrs. should forthwith authorise the superintendent of the asylum to permit the solr. & comr. for oaths to have access to the proposed petitioner.—Re PETITION FOR JUDICIAL SEPARATION, Ex p. BEECHAM, [1901] P. 65; sub nom. Re BEECHAM & LUNACY COMRS., 70 L. J. P. 20; 84 L. T. 63.

SUB-SECT. 3.—AMENDMENT OF PLEADINGS.

A. In General.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 25, 26.

3680. Discretion of court.]—An application for an order that a pleading be reformed is an application to the discretion of the ct.; in exercising this discretion the ct. will not, as in case of demurrer, consider whether or not the pleading is good in law, but whether or not it may prejudice the opposite side in the conduct of his case.—GRIFFITH v. GRIFFITH (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 355; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 81; 10 L. T. 308.

3681. Ordered if embarrassing to opponent.]—The ct. will not order a pleading to be amended unless it so framed as to embarrass the opposite side.—GREEN v. GREEN (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 83.

3682. Refusal to amend petition—Prayer for dissolution—Proof only of right to judicial separation—Petition dismissed.]—ROWLEY v. ROWLEY, No. 4582, post.

B. Leave to Amend.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 25, 26.

3683. Notice of application for leave—To respondent.]—Notice of application for leave to amend should be given to the other party, or the petition may be withdrawn & served de novo.—WRIGHT v. WRIGHT (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 80; 27 L. J. P. & M. 32; 30 L. T. O. S. 370; 6 W. R. 507.

3684. —— —— Application of rules.]—(1) An application was made to the ct. to amend an answer by adding to it a fresh charge of adultery. Notice of the intended application was served upon the opposite party the evening previously. The facts in issue were appointed to be tried by a common jury, at the sittings then in progress:—Held: the rules as to notice were not applicable.

(2) Although the opposite party had only four days allowed (Rule 36) to amend his answer to such amended petition or answer, the ct. will, if it be advisable, direct that the cause shall not be heard until the expiration of ten days from that on which the amended answer was filed.—HITCHCOCK v. HITCHCOCK (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 40.

3685. Granted after decree nisi—Two ceremonies of marriage—Omission to plead both.]—HAMPSON v. HAMPSON, No. 6068, post.

3686. —— —— ——.]—A wife having been married to her husband, first by a declaration before witnesses in Edinburgh, & afterwards at the sheriff's ct., Edinburgh, obtained a decree nisi for divorce. In the petition & the decree nisi only the second ceremony was referred to. The ct. allowed the petition & the decree nisi to be amended by alleging also the first ceremony, but without costs against resp.—MARSHALL v. MARSHALL (1909), 25 T. L. R. 716.

C. Where Charges Inferential.

3687. Amendment making charge distinct Desertion.]—PYNE v. PYNE, No. 3650, ante.

3688. —— Adultery.]—AMBLER v. AMBLER & HOGHTON, No. 3651, ante.

3689. —— ——.]—FORMAN v. FORMAN & DAVIS, No. 3746, post.

3690. —— ——.]—SPILSBURY v. SPILSBURY, No. 3652, ante.

D. Corrections of Dates, Names, Places, etc.

3691. Name—Mis-statement of Christian name.]—Where in the affidavit verifying the petition for dissolution of marriage co-resp.'s Christian name was stated to be John instead of William, & a similar mistake was made in the citation & petition, the ct. allowed the citation & petition to be amended, & did not require the affidavit to be resworn.—REUSS v. REUSS & APPLEGARTH (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 168.

3692. —— ——.]—Where a petition for dissolution of marriage has been served in which a

---

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 3.—A.

1. Addition of plea of condonation by respondent—After petitioner's evidence denying condonation.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage upon the ground of adultery petitioner in his evidence denied condonation, & resp. then applied for leave to amend her answer by adding a plea of condonation:—Held: petitioner having denied condonation, the application to amend should be refused.—MARYCHURCH v. MARYCHURCH & BUCKLEY (1913), N. Z. L. R. 712.—N.Z.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 3, D., E., F., G. & H.]

mistake is made in the Christian name of the person with whom resp. is alleged to have committed adultery, the ct. will allow it to be amended, but it must be re-served.—LOVE v. LOVE (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 134.

3693. —— Mis-spelling in citation.]—Where co-resp.'s name had been mis-spelt in the citation served, the ct. made an order for a fresh citation to issue.—COTTON v. COTTON & KINNIS (1862), 4 Sw. & Tr. 275; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 133.

3694. —— Misnomer of respondent—Respondent not appearing.]—The misnomer of resp. in a petition is cured by appearance; but if there is no appearance the petition must be amended & re-served.—KISCH v. KISCH (1864), 4 New Rep. 28; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 115.

3695. —— Assumed name of co-respondent.]—NICOLAS v. NICOLAS, No. 3807, post.

3696. —— Wrong name—Of person with whom adultery alleged.]—A wife filed a petition for divorce, alleging adultery by her husband with a certain woman, who intervened & denied the allegation. Subsequently it was discovered that a mistake had been made, & that the adultery alleged should have been with another woman. Petitioner applied, without giving notice to resp. or the intervener, to amend the petition by striking out the name of the intervener & inserting that of the other woman. The ct. allowed the amendment, the petition to be re-served on resp., & the intervener to have her costs.—HARDING-COX v. HARDING-COX (1908), 24 T. L. R. 631; 52 Sol. Jo. 518.

3697. Date—Dates amended to those on which cruelty proved.]—A petition for dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery & cruelty charged cruelty "in & during the months of Apr. & May, 1861." Resp. filed an answer denying the charges of the petition. Upon the trial of the cause, at which resp. did not appear, petitioner failed to prove cruelty at the time alleged, but established cruelty in June & July, 1861:—Held: the petition might be amended by substituting the date of the cruelty proved.—BUNYARD v. BUNYARD (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 176; 11 W. R. 990.

3698. Amendment instead of ordering further particulars—Times, places & persons uncertain.]—KING v. KING & DENT (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 64, n.

3699. —— ——.]—WODEHOUSE v. WODEHOUSE & FARROW (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 90, n.

E. Additional Charges.

3700. Satisfactory reason for previous omission—Necessity for.]—BRITTAIN v. BRITTAIN & CAMP, No. 4010, post.

3701. Knowledge of charge before petition filed—General rule.]—(1) Where petitioner after an adjournment of the case part heard, in order to procure further evidence, asks leave to amend his petition by adding a new charge, it is an objection to granting his application that the charge in question had come to his knowledge before the petition in its original form was drawn.

Semble: (2) where a cause has been part heard before the full ct., & adjourned for further evidence, the Judge Ordinary sitting alone has not power to dismiss the petition, or to allow an amendment to be made thereon; (3) the ct. will not dismiss the petition on the prayer of petitioner after evidence has been given in the cause entitling the resp. to a matrimonial remedy.

Qu.: will the ct. make a decree of judicial separation in favour of a resp., who has proved an answer entitling resp. to a judicial separation unaccompanied by a prayer for same.—BANNISTER v. BANNISTER & DAVIS (1860), Sea. & Sm. 143; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 53.

3702. —— Additional charge of cruelty—Application not vexatious.]—A wife petitioned for a dissolution of her marriage on the ground of her husband's adultery, coupled with desertion. The husband filed no answer. She applied for leave to amend her petition, by adding a charge of cruelty, alleged to have been committed & to have been known to her before she filed her petition. The ct. required her to bring in an affidavit of the acts of cruelty upon which she relied, & of the motives which had induced her to suppress them in her petition:—Held: the wife might amend her petition by adding a new ground for the dissolution of her marriage, the ct. being satisfied that this new charge was not brought forward vexatiously.—ROWLEY v. ROWLEY (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 487; 29 L. J. P. & M. 15; 34 L. T. O. S. 61; 23 J. P. 744; 7 W. R. 653.

3703. —— —— Subsequent to latest act alleged.]—TOPPER v. TOPPER, No. 2673, ante.

3704. —— —— Absence of special circumstances.]—Cruelty being a fact which must be in the knowledge of a petitioner at the commencement of the suit, the ct. will generally refuse to allow fresh charges of cruelty to be added to a petition.—AUSTIN v. AUSTIN (1871), 41 L. J. P. & M. 8; 25 L. T. 856; 20 W. R. 128.

3705. Evidence obtained after petition filed—Additional charge of adultery.]—Adultery committed by either party, husband or wife, at any time before sentence, will bar a sentence of separation, at the suit of the other party; or will compel the ct. to dismiss both parties, adultery being mutually, or reciprocally charged in the cause; & cts. must permit either of such parties to plead adultery against the other in any stage of such a cause, whether before or after publication, & how long soever this may have passed, or the cause may have been depending, it being certified to have been pleaded within a reasonable time after coming to proponent's knowledge.—BRISCO v. BRISCO (1824), 2 Add. 259.

Annotations:—Consd. Webb v. Webb (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 349. Refd. Seaver v. Seaver (1846), 2 Sw. & Tr. 665; Everett v. Everett & McCullum, [1919] P. 298.

3706. —— ——.]—Facts of adultery newly come to the knowledge of the party may be pleaded after publication.—WEBB v. WEBB (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 349; 162 E. R. 609.

3707. —— ——.]—Under a citation for cruelty only in a suit for separation by the wife adultery by the husband occurring prior to the institution of the suit but sworn to have come recently to the wife's knowledge may be pleaded, even though publication of the evidence on the libel & on a responsive plea is about to pass.—SAMPSON v. SAMPSON (1832), 4 Hag. Ecc. 285.

3708. —— ——.]—WORTH v. WORTH (1859), Sea. & Sm. 109.

3709. —— ——.]—DICKENSON v. DICKENSON & CLEMENT (1862), 1 New Rep. 70.

3710. —— Addition of bigamy charge.]—After the hearing of a petition of a wife for dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery & cruelty, no decree having been pronounced, the ct. allowed the petition to be amended by the addition of a charge of bigamy which came to the knowledge of petitioner in the interval between the cause being set down for hearing & the hearing.

—WALKER v. WALKER (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 214.

3711. Previous ignorance of nature of charge—Acts amounting to legal cruelty.]—The wife petitioned the ct. for a dissolution of marriage by reason of her husband's adultery, coupled with desertion. At the hearing, the ct. held that the desertion was not proved, & adjourned the final decision in order that petitioner might consider whether she would accept a judicial separation. Subsequently, the ct. allowed her to amend her petition by adding a charge of cruelty, being satisfied from the affidavits that until the hearing she was ignorant that the acts she could prove against her husband amounted to legal cruelty.—PARKINSON v. PARKINSON (1869), L. R. 2 P. & D. 27 ; 39 L. J. P. & M. 21 ; 21 L. T. 597.

3712. Cause of action arising after petition filed—Desertion.]—KETTLEWELL v. KETTLEWELL, No. 2982, ante.

3713. —— ——.]—LAPINGTON v. LAPINGTON, No. 2984, ante.

3714. Petition incomplete without additional charge.]—BONAPARTE v. BONAPARTE, No. 3657, ante.

F. New Co-Respondents.

Co-respondents as parties, see Sub-sect. 4, E., post.

3715. Petition alleging adultery with specified person—Amendment to "or with person unknown" refused.]—A petition, by a husband, for a dissolution of marriage, alleged that resp. at a specified time & place, committed adultery with A. Resp. did not appear. At the hearing, the ct. refused to allow the petition to be amended by adding to that charge the words "or with some person whose name is unknown to your petitioner," without re-service.—WALLACE v. WALLACE, GUITER & MACNAMARA (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 47 ; 9 Jur. N. S. 134 ; 11 W. R. 112.

3716. Petition alleging adultery with co-respondent & other persons—Addition of new co-respondent refused—Application not made bonâ fide.]—CODRINGTON v. CODRINGTON & ANDERSON, No. 3973, post.

G. Countercharges.

3717. Charging petitioner with adultery—Addition to answer generally traversing allegations.]—A co-resp. whose answer merely traversed the allegation of adultery, was not allowed to cross-examine the witnesses called to establish that allegation, for the purpose of eliciting that petitioner had been guilty of adultery, or of such misconduct as would induce the ct. to exercise its discretion by withholding a decree ; but upon a statement being made that co-resp. would probably be able to establish a case of such misconduct on the part of petitioner if he had the opportunity, the ct. allowed him to amend his answer by the insertion of various countercharges against petitioner, & reserved the question of the costs of the day until the merits of the case had been ascertained.—PLUMER v. PLUMER & BYGRAVE (1859), Sea. & Sm. 147 ; 4 Sw. & Tr. 257 ; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 63 ; 164 E. R. 1514.

Annotation :—Apld. Seddon v. Seddon & Doyle (1860), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 12.

3718. —— —— Non-payment of petitioner's taxed costs.]—A wife petitioned for judicial separation, on the ground of cruelty & adultery ; resp. traversed the charges, & afterwards obtained leave to amend his answer by adding a countercharge of adultery. Before leave to amend was granted, & after an order for payment of the wife's taxed costs, resp. became bkpt. on his own petition. An application to rescind the order for the amendment of the answer, on the ground that resp. had become bkpt. solely for the purpose of avoiding payment of his wife's costs, & that the order was made by the ct. in ignorance of the bkpcy., was rejected.—GREATOREX v. GREATOREX (1864), 4 New Rep. 122 ; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 9.

3719. —— Amendment of vague charges in answer—Insufficient information as to dates & places.]—WELLS v. WELLS & HUMMERSTON (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 65, n.

3720. Charging petitioner with cruelty—Addition to co-respondent's answer after issue joined—Refused.]—In a husband's suit for dissolution, after the pleadings had been completed & issue joined, the ct. refused to allow co-resp. to add to his answer a charge of cruelty against the husband.—JAYNE v. JAYNE & PROTHERO (1869), 21 L. T. 401 ; 18 W. R. 53.

H. Amendment of Prayer.

3721. From judicial separation to dissolution—On payment of costs by petitioner.]—The ct. granted an application by a wife that a petition for a judicial separation filed by her might be dismissed, & that she might substitute for it a petition for dissolution of marriage upon the terms of her paying the costs.—LEWIS v. LEWIS (1860), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 123.

3722. —— ——.]—Where both parties are before the ct., a wife's suit for judicial separation may be turned into one for a dissolution of marriage without issuing a fresh citation, but there must be a re-service of the petition on resp.

The costs of the motion must not be taxed against the husband (per CUR.).—CARTLEDGE v. CARTLEDGE (1862), 4 Sw. & Tr. 249 ; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 135 ; 8 Jur. N. S. 493 ; 164 E. R. 1511.

3723. —— Non-payment of costs by respondent.]—The ct. will allow a wife to withdraw her petition for judicial separation & file one for dissolution of marriage, if her proctor has not received from the husband her costs in the former suit.—ASHLEY v. ASHLEY (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 388 ; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 175 ; 5 L. T. 139 ; 164 E. R. 1046.

3724. —— On same grounds as in first petition.]—Leave granted to withdraw a petition for judicial separation & file a petition for dissolution of marriage upon the same grounds as those alleged in the first petition.—MASSEY v. MASSEY (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 141.

3725. —— Cross-charges by wife.]—Where a husband brought a suit for dissolution on the ground of adultery with co-resp., & the wife answered charging petitioner with adultery & cruelty, & prayed for a judicial separation, & the jury found for resp. on all the issues. The ct. allowed the prayer of the answer to be amended, & pronounced a decree nisi for dissolution on the application of resp.—CORPATAUX v. CORPATAUX & STAUB (1875), 23 W. R. 456.

3726. From dissolution to judicial separation—Charges proved.]—DENT v. DENT, No. 3183, ante.

3727. —— Failure of proof.]—SMITH v. SMITH, No. 2883, ante.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 3.—F.

m. No co-respondent named—Power of court to add name suo motu—Necessity for amendment of petition.]—In a suit for divorce petitioner did not make any person a co-respondent but simply averred that his wife was generally leading an immoral life :—Held : the ct. should not add a person as co-respondent suo motu without calling on petitioner to amend the petition by making the necessary allegations against him.—HOWE v. HOWE (1913), I. L. R. 38 Mad. 466,—IND.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 3, H., I. & J.; sub-sect 4, A., B. & C.]

3728. ·]—DUPLANY v. DUPLANY, No. 3628, ante.

3729. —— Intervention by King's Proctor—Plea of collusion & adultery.]—DRUMMOND v. DRUMMOND, No. 3158, ante.

3730. —— Countercharges established—Giving court discretion to refuse relief.]—BOREHAM v. BOREHAM, No. 3439, ante.

Discretionary bars to relief, see Sect. 7, sub-sect. 4, ante.

3731. —— Attempt to expunge countercharges.]—LEMPRIERE v. LEMPRIERE & ROEBEL, No. 3440, ante.

3732. —— Whether respondent's consent necessary—All charges proved.]—A wife, having presented a petition praying for a dissolution of her marriage by reason of the cruelty & adultery of her husband, at the hearing proved both charges. The decree was suspended at her request, & on applying for a decree for judicial separation instead of a decree nisi for dissolution, resp. opposed the application. The ct. refused to allow her to alter the prayer of her petition until resp. had had an opportunity of bringing before the ct. the facts on which he grounded his opposition.—MYCOCK v. MYCOCK (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 98; 39 L. J. P. & M. 56; 23 L. T. 238; 18 W. R. 1144.

3733. —— —— All charges not established.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage on the ground of cruelty & adultery, if one of the charges only be established, petitioner has a right to a decree of judicial separation without the consent of resp.—BROMFIELD v. BROMFIELD (1871), 41 L. J. P. & M. 17; 26 L. T. 264.

3734. —— After decree nisi—Solicitor's costs.]—COLYER v. COLYER (1904), Times, NOV. 8.

Annotation:—Folld. Parsons v. Parsons (1907), 23 T. L. R. 749.

3735. —— —— Upon respondent's motion to dismiss for want of prosecution.]—A petitioner is entitled to a reasonable time after the expiration of the time at which the decree could, at the earliest possible date, be made absolute, in order to determine whether to proceed further or to have the petition dismissed.

Upon an adjourned motion by a resp. to dismiss a suit for want of prosecution, the ct. allowed petitioner to take a decree of judicial separation in place of the decree nisi previously obtained for dissolution of the marriage.—PARSONS v. PARSONS, [1907] P. 331; 76 L. J. P. 159; 23 T. L. R. 749.

I. Petitions Claiming Damages.

3736. Addition of claim.]—Leave granted to amend a petition for dissolution of marriage by adding a claim for damages.—BARTLETT v. BARTLETT & BALMANNO (1864), 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 64.

3737. —— Application made bonâ fide.]—Petitioner in a suit for divorce, after the petition, but before an answer was filed, applied for leave to amend his petition by adding a claim for damages. The ct., being satisfied that it was made in good faith without any collateral purpose, granted the application.—SYMONDS v. SYMONDS & HARRISON (1870), 23 L. T. 568; 19 W. R. 166.

3738. —— Fresh evidence.]—At the date of filing his petition the only evidence which petitioner had was the confession of resp. He subsequently obtained independent evidence of her alleged adultery with co-resp., & he then applied to amend his petition by adding a claim for damages. The ct. allowed the amendment.—HENSLOW v. HENSLOW & BEARDSLEY (1871), 40 L. J. P. & M. 31; 24 L. T. 846; 19 W. R. 786.

3739. Insertion of amount—Authority of counsel for co-respondent to consent.]—SPEDDING v. SPEDDING & SMITH, No. 3664, ante.

3740. Amendment after verdict—Award of larger sum than claimed.]—Petitioner in a suit for dissolution of marriage claimed £500 damages from co-resp. The jury having awarded £1,000, the ct. allowed petitioner to amend his claim to that amount.—MODERA v. MODERA & BARCLAY (1893), 10 T. L. R. 69.

3741. —— —— Undefended suit.]—Where in an undefended case damages are assessed at a higher figure than that claimed in the petition, a summons must be taken out by petitioner, if he desire to amend his claim, asking for leave to amend & re-serve the petition. The summons should be served upon co-resp., who, although not represented at the trial, will be entitled to be heard in opposition to the application.—BECKETT v. BECKETT & JONES, [1901] P. 85; 70 L. J. P. 17; 84 L. T. 272; 17 T. L. R. 120.

3742. Withdrawal of claim—Whether notice to opposite parties essential—Undefended suit.]—When no appearance has been entered by either resp. or co-resp., against whom damages are claimed, by leave of ct. & without notice to resp. or co-resp. the claim for damages may be withdrawn & the case transferred from the common jury to the undefended list.—CHAMBERLAIN v. CHAMBERLAIN & HARTWELL (1907), 51 Sol. Jo. 357.

3743. Reinsertion after withdrawal—Withdrawal by mistake—Fresh evidence.]—SYKES v. SYKES & SMITH, No. 4442, post.

J. Re-Service of Amended Petitions.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 25.

3744. Necessity for—No notice of motion to respondent.]—WRIGHT v. WRIGHT, No. 3683, ante.

3745. —— Non-appearance by respondents—Amendment making charge more distinct.]—AMBLER v. AMBLER & HOGHTON, No. 3651, ante.

3746. —— —— ——.]—A petition, by a husband, for dissolution of marriage did not charge adultery, but alleged that resp. & co-resp. were "living & cohabiting together." Neither of resps. appeared. At the hearing the ct. refused to allow the petition to be amended, by inserting a charge of adultery, without re-service.—FORMAN v. FORMAN & DAVIS (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 80; 11 W. R. 401.

3747. —— —— ——.]—SPILSBURY v. SPILSBURY, No. 3652, ante.

3748. —— —— Additional adultery "with person unknown."]—WALLACE v. WALLACE, GUITER & MACNAMARA, No. 3715, ante.

3749. —— —— Correction of respondent's name.]—KISCH v. KISCH, No. 3694, ante.

3750. —— —— Amendment of date of adultery.—The rule that when a petition has been amended by leave of the ct. it must be re-served will not be waived merely because resp. has not appeared. Therefore, where a charge of adultery was wrongly dated in a petition, the ct. allowed the petition

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 3.—J.

n. Necessity for — Non-appearance by respondents.]—Where an amendment is made in a petition to ... no appearance had been entered by resp., if it is clear that resp. cannot be prejudiced by the amendment, then the amended petition need not be served; but if it is not clear, then there must be re-service.—PATRICK v. PATRICK, [1921] N. Z. L. R. 514.—N.Z.

o. —— ——.]—A material amendment in a petition will not be allowed without re-service even where to be amended by correcting the date, but ordered that the petition be re-served on resp. although he had not appeared.—CHARTER v. CHARTER (1889), 58 L. J. P. 44 ; 60 L. T. 872.

3751. —— —— Amendment of amount of damages claimed—Verdict for larger sum than prayed.]—BECKETT v. BECKETT & JONES, No. 3741, ante.

3752. —— Respondent cited by advertisement—Advertisement of amended petition not essential.]—Where a resp. is cited by advertisement, & leave to amend the petition is afterwards granted, the amended petition need not be advertised.—SMITH v. SMITH (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 216 ; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 145 ; 9 L. T. 118 ; 7 Jur. N. S. 539 ; 11 W. R. 989 ; 164 E. R. 1257.

3753. —— Amendment of name of person with whom adultery alleged—Christian name.]—LOVE v. LOVE, No. 3692, ante.

3754. —— —— Undefended suit.]—When a resp. in India, who had been served with the citation & petition, had not appeared, & the petition was amended by changing the name only of the woman with whom adultery was alleged, the ct. allowed personal re-service of the amended petition to be dispensed with.—ROBERTS v. ROBERTS (1909), 53 Sol. Jo. 304.

3755. —— Substitution of new party with whom adultery alleged.]—HARDING-COX v. HARDING-COX, No. 3696, ante.

3756. —— Amendment of prayer—From judicial separation to dissolution.]—CARTLEDGE v. CARTLEDGE, No. 3722, ante.

Service generally, see Sub-sect. 5, post.

SUB-SECT. 4.—PARTIES.

A. In General.

Co-respondents.]—See Sub-sect. 4, E., post.

Parties by intervention.]—See Sub-sect. 4, F., post.

3757. Suit for dissolution—Parties recognised by court.]—Y—— v. Y—— (1860), No. 3831, post.

3758. —— Alien enemy.]—An alien enemy, who has been registered as such & who is domiciled in England, has a right to bring a petition for the dissolution of his marriage.—KRAUSS (OTHERWISE DES SALLES D'EPINOIX) v. KRAUSS (OTHERWISE DES SALLES D'EPINOIX) & ORBACH (1919), 35 T. L. R. 637 ; 63 Sol. Jo. 760.

Right of alien enemies to sue or initiate proceedings on own behalf.]—See ALIENS, Vol. II., pp. 154–162, Nos. 250–329.

3759. Suit for nullity on ground of affinity—Interested parties.]—Any interest, however slight, provided it be specific & pecuniary, whether to be secured in a contingent right, or released from a possible legal obligation, is sufficient to entitle a party to sustain a suit in the Ecclesiastical Ct. for nullity of a marriage, on the ground of affinity. Where, therefore, a father brought such suit to dissolve a marriage contracted by his daughter, after she was of age, by reason of incest :—Held : his possible liability, under Poor Relief Act, 1601 (c. 2), to maintain the issue of such marriage, if legitimate, in case of the death or impotency of the parents, was an interest sufficient to entitle him to sustain such suit ; & a sentence of nullity of marriage was pronounced therein.—SHERWOOD v. RAY (1837), 1 Moo. P. C. C. 353 ; 12 E. R. 848, P. C. ; affg. S. C. sub nom. RAY v. SHERWOOD & RAY (1836), 1 Curt. 193.

Annotations :—Consd. R. v. Oxford (Bp.) (1879), 4 Q. B. D. 525. Refd. Bevan v. M'Mahon & Bevan (1859), 2 Sw. & Tr. 58 ; Wells v. Cottam (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 364 ; Sheppard v. Phillimore & Bennett (1869), L. R. 2 P. C. 450 ; Elphinstone v. Purchas (1870), L. R. 3 P. C. 245 ; Fagg v. Lee (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 135 ; Lowe v. Lowe (1899), 80 L. T. 575. Mentd. Harrison v. Sparrow (1842), 3 Curt. 1 ; Sanders v. Head (1843), 2 Notes of Cases, 355 ; Brookes v. Cresswell (1846), 4 Notes of Cases, 429 ; Fenton (or Livingstone) v. Livingstone (1856), 27 L. T. O. S. 18 ; Ditcher v. Denison (1857), 11 Moo. P. C. C. 324 ; Brook v. Brook (1861), 9 H. L. Cas. 193 ; Martin v. Mackonochie, Flamank v. Simpson (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 116 ; Winchester (Bp.) v. Wix (1869), L. R. 3 A. & E. 19 ; The Helenslea, The Catalonia (1882), 7 P. D. 57.

3760. Suit for judicial separation—Persons acting under power of attorney.]—In a suit by S., resident in India, against his wife, resident in England, for a separation by reason of her adultery, the question of the sufficiency of the authority from the husband arose, upon the ct.'s inquiry, previous to signing the sentence. There was a power of attorney authorising certain persons to commence proceedings on the part of the husband, ratifying & confirming what the attorneys had done, & agreeing to ratify & confirm what they should do : —Held : a sufficient authority.—SEWELL v. SEWELL (1840), 1 Notes of Cases, 33.

Suit for jactitation—Only maintainable by one of parties to alleged marriage.]—See Sect. 4, ante.

B. Minors.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 74, &, generally, INFANTS.

3761. Guardian ad litem—Appointment of father—Without consent.]—Appointment of the father of a minor, as curator ad litem, on election of the minor ; but without the consent of the father, in order to substantiate proceedings against the son in a suit of cruelty & adultery, not sustained.—BEAURAINE v. BEAURAINE (1808), 1 Hag. Con. 498 ; 161 E. R. 630.

Annotations :—Distd. Morgan v. Morgan (1841), 2 Curt. 679. Consd. Mordaunt v. Mordaunt (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 109. Mentd. Mordaunt v. Moncreiffe (1874), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 374.

3762. —— —— Need of proxy—Nullity suit.]—DENNIS v. DENNIS (1815), cited in 2 Curt. at p. 687 ; 163 E. R. 552.

Annotation :—Consd. Morgan v. Morgan (1840), 2 Curt. 679.

3763. —— In same position as next friend—Liability for costs.]—RUTTER v. RUTTER, No. 5044, post.

3764. Nullity suit by father of minor—Necessity to state capacity in which father sues—Whether as guardian or in own right.]—In a suit for nullity instituted by the father of a minor, it must appear upon the face of the petition whether the father has instituted the suit in his own right or as guardian of the minor.—WELLS v. COTTAM (FALSELY CALLED WELLS) (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 364 ; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 41 ; 10 L. T. 138 ; 10 Jur. N. S. 444 ; 12 W. R. 672 ; 164 E. R. 1316.

Annotation :—Refd. Gilroy v. Gilroy, [1914] P. 122.

3765. Objection to minority—Time.]—ZYCKLINSKI v. ZYCKLINSKI, No. 3952, post.

C. Persons of Unsound Mind.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 75, &, generally LUNATICS.

3766. Suit by committee—Nullity.]—FUST v.

---

no appearance has been entered. Leave was asked to amend the petition in order to insert an earlier date of the alleged desertion :—Held : such leave could only be granted upon terms that the petition as amended was re-served.—GOW v. GOW, [1921] N. Z. L. R. 695.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 4.—C.

p. Where respondent insane — Assignment of guardian.]—When the ground of a petition for dissolution of marriage is the unsoundness of resp.'s mind, the ct. on proof of service of the petition & citation on the master in lunacy in accordance with Divorce (Insanity) Act, 1919, s. 5, will dispense

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 4, C., D. & E. (a) & (b) i. & ii.]

BOWERMAN (1790), cited in 2 Hag. Con. at pp. 170, 171; 2 Add. at p. 402; 161 E. R. 705.

Annotations:—Expld. Parnell v. Parnell (1814), 2 Hag. Con. 169. Refd. Nokes v. Milward (1824), 2 Add. 386.

3767. —— Dissolution.]—The committee of a lunatic may institute proceedings against the wife of a lunatic for adultery.—PARNELL v. PARNELL (1814), 2 Hag. Con. 169; 2 Phillim. 158; 161 E. R. 704.

Annotations:—Consd. Mordaunt v. Mordaunt (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 109. Refd. Mordaunt v. Moncreiffe (1874), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 374.

3768. —— ——.]—The lunacy of a husband or wife is not a bar to a suit by the committee for the dissolution of the lunatic's marriage. Such a suit may be instituted by the committee of the lunatic.—BAKER v. BAKER (1880), 5 P. D. 142; 49 L. J. P. 49; 42 L. T. 332; 28 W. R. 630; affd. 6 P. D. 12.

Annotations:—Expld. Stanhope v. Stanhope (1886), 11 P. D. 103. Folld. Burrell v. Burrell & Blake (1900), 17 T. L. R. 41.

3769. —— Judicial separation.]—The committee of a lunatic may maintain a suit for judicial separation on the ground of the adultery of the wife of the lunatic.—WOODGATE v. TAYLOR (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 512; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 197; 5 L. T. 119; 164 E. R. 1095.

Annotation:—Consd. Mordaunt v. Moncreiffe (1874), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 374.

—— Suit to perpetuate testimony—Illegitimacy of children.]—See BASTARDY, Vol. III., p. 371, Nos. 126, 127.

3770. Guardian ad litem—Appointment of.]—(1) A petition for divorce against a wife was met by an allegation of her insanity & consequent inability to defend herself. The ct. below appointed a guardian ad litem on her behalf. Upon a verdict of her insanity, proceedings were suspended; but with liberty to the husband to apply again to the ct. in the event of her recovery. The husband appealed to the House of Lords, insisting that the wife's insanity ought not to bar, or impede, the investigation of the charge of adultery brought against her. The House adopted this view; &, reversing the order appealed against, sent the case back with directions to proceed.

Divorce may be asked & decreed on behalf of, or against, a lunatic, the ct. appointing a guardian ad litem for protection (KELLY, C.B., DENMAN, J., & POLLOCK, B., as consulted judges).

(2) By the law of England, adultery, though a grievous sin, is not a crime, & the analogies & precedents of criminal law have no authority in the Divorce Ct., a civil tribunal.

In the proceedings against a criminal, every step is arrested by his or her becoming a lunatic; but the procedure in divorce is not a criminal proceeding (LORD HATHERLEY).—MORDAUNT v. MONCREIFFE (1874), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 374; 43 L. J. P. & M. 49; 30 L. T. 649; 39 J. P. 4; 23 W. R. 12, H. L.; revsg. S. C. sub nom. MORDAUNT v. MORDAUNT (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 109, 382.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Baker v. Baker (1880), 5 P. D. 142. Refd. Giles v. Giles (1899), 69 L. J. P. 26. As to (2) Consd. Redfern v. Redfern, [1891] P. 139. Refd. Branford v. Branford (1878), 4 P. D. 72.

3771. —— —— Not where dispute as to insanity.]—An order ought not to be made under rule 196, assigning a guardian ad litem to a person alleged to be of unsound mind, where there is a substantial & bonâ fide dispute as to the unsoundness of mind of the person to whom it is proposed to assign the guardian. Qu.: whether rule 196 applies where the person has not been found lunatic by inquisition.—FRY v. FRY (1890), 15 P. D. 50; 62 L. T. 501; sub nom. ROUTH (OTHERWISE FRY) v. FRY, 59 L. J. P. 43; 38 W. R. 615, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Howell v. Lewis (1891), 61 L. J. Ch. 89.

3772. —— —— Application by petitioner.]—GILES v. GILES, No. 2318, ante.

3773. —— Petitioner appearing by—Decree for dissolution granted.]—The ct. granted a decree nisi for a dissolution of marriage on the petition of a person detained in a lunatic asylum under a reception order made by a magistrate, petitioner appearing by his guardian ad litem.—BURRELL v. BURRELL & BLAKE (1900), 17 T. L. R. 41.

3774. Where respondent insane—Adjournment to appoint guardian.]—GILES v. GILES, No. 2318, ante.

3775. —— Answer filed by official solicitor.]—JOHNSON v. JOHNSON, [1901] P. 193; 70 L. J. P. 44; 84 L. T. 725.

Annotations:—Mentd. Coppinger v. Coppinger & Lutwyche (1918), 34 T. L. R. 328; Rickard v. Rickard & Bond (1921), 37 T. L. R. 511.

3776. —— Notice to official solicitor.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage where resp. is a lunatic, notice must be given to the official solr. in case he should think fit to appear & take part in the proceedings.—BURNETT v. BURNETT & PURDY (1922), 39 T. L. R. 111; 67 Sol. Jo. 147.

3777. Insanity at time of trial—Sanity of co-respondent at time of service.]—As co-resp. seems to have been sane when he was served & to have had an opportunity of appearing, it does not lie on petitioner to take steps to have co-resp. represented, & if costs on a finding of adultery are not asked for against him, I think the case may proceed (MCCARDIE, J.).—WHITING v. WHITING & BOTWRIGHT (1920), 36 T. L. R. 215.

D. Pauper Suitors.

See R. S. C., 1925, Ord. 16, rr. 22–31 a; Ord. 36 A.

Costs.]—See Sect. 18, sub-sect. 6, post.

3778. Assignment of counsel by court—Effect of.]—A person suing in formâ pauperis, to whom counsel has been assigned by the ct., cannot appear by another counsel, until there has been a renunciation, or a new assignment of counsel, or he has been dispauperised.—HAMER v. BOREHAM (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 26; 27 L. J. P. & M. 107; 164 E. R. 613.

E. Co-Respondents.

(a) Jurisdiction of Court over Co-Respondents.

Whether dependent on domicil of co-respondent.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 425, 426, Nos. 907–915.

Where co-respondent a foreign ruling prince.]—See ACTION, Vol. I., p. 48, No. 388.

(b) Necessity to make every Alleged Adulterer Co-Respondent.

i. In General.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 177.

Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 4, 5.

3779. General rule.]—Unless petitioner can satisfy the ct. on affidavit that he cannot or ought not to make a co-resp., Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 28, is imperative that he should with service on resp. & will assign the master, where he consents to act as such, as guardian to resp. for the purposes of the suit.—BLACKBELL v. BLACKBELL, [1920] V. L. R. 356.—AUS.

---

q. Where petitioner insane—Action for judicial separation.]—An action of separation at the instance of an insane wife is incompetent.—THOMSON v. THOMSON (1887), 14 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 634 24 Sc. L. R. 450.—SCOT.

do so.—QUICKE v. QUICKE (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 419; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 28; 5 L. T. 690; 10 W. R. 448.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165; Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89.

3780. ——.]—Petitioner must make every person whom he charges in the petition with having committed adultery with his wife a co-resp., unless he is excused from so doing by the ct. on special grounds.

Qu.: whether the fact that petitioner can only obtain evidence admissible against resp., but inadmissible against the alleged adulterer, would be such special ground.—CARRYER v. CARRYER & WATSON (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 94; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 47; 13 L. T. 250; 11 Jur. N. S. 352; 13 W. R. 507.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165; Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89. Refd. Edwards v. Edwards & Wilson, [1897] P. 316; Raymont v. Raymont & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271; Rush v. Rush, Bailey & Pimenta, [1920] P. 242.

3781. ——.]—When a petition charges adultery with a person unknown, & names no adulterer, it is necessary to obtain the leave of the ct. to proceed without making a co-resp.—PITT v. PITT (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 464; 37 L. J. P. & M. 24; 17 L. T. 671.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165; Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89. Refd. Edwards v. Edwards & Wilson, [1897] P. 316.

3782. ——.]—A husband who petitions for dissolution of his marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery must join the alleged adulterer as a co-resp., though he possesses no legal evidence against the alleged adulterer, & though his only knowledge as to the man's name be derived from confessions made by the wife or from other ex p. statements.—JONES v. JONES, [1896] P. 165; 65 L. J. P. 101; 75 L. T. 190; 12 T. L. R. 416.

Annotations:—Consd. Edwards v. Edwards & Wilson, [1897] P. 316. Dbtd. Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89.

3783. "Alleged adulterer"—Person alleged by petitioner.]—SAUNDERS v. SAUNDERS, No. 3784, post.

ii. "Special Grounds" Dispensing with Necessity.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 177; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 4 & 5.

3784. Discretion of court as to—Unfettered—How exercised.]—(1) The discretion given to the judge, by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 28, to allow a petition for a divorce to proceed, on special grounds, without making any co-resp. is to be exercised with regard to the principles laid down in or to be gathered from the Act & the rules, & to the circumstances of each particular case, & cannot be fettered by any general rule of practice.

A husband, who had been absent from England for more than two years, ascertained, when he returned home, that his wife had recently given birth to a child, of which he was not the father. She registered the birth of the child, giving her own name as the mother but without giving the name of any father. She took out a bastardy summons against H., whom she alleged to be the father of the child, but, at the time appointed for its hearing, she did not appear, & the summons was struck out. The husband did not believe that H. was the father of the child, & his solr., after making careful inquiry, was unable to obtain any evidence against H. H. was prepared to swear that he had never had intercourse with the wife. The husband presented a divorce petition, in which he alleged that the wife had committed adultery with a man whose name was unknown to him:—Held: the husband should be allowed to proceed with the petition without naming any co-resp.

(2) The words "alleged adulterer" in Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 28, & rule 4 of the Rules of 1863, mean only the person alleged by petitioner in the petition to be the adulterer.—SAUNDERS v. SAUNDERS, [1897] P. 89; 66 L. J. P. 57; 76 L. T. 330; 45 W. R. 583; 13 T. L. R. 328; 41 Sol. Jo. 404, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Edwards v. Edwards & Wilson, [1897] P. 316. Refd. Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271. As to (2) Refd. Edwards v. Edwards & Wilson, [1897] P. 316. Generally, Refd. Rush v. Rush, Bailey & Pimenta, [1920] P. 242; Franklin v. Franklin & Minshall, [1921] P. 407. Mentd. Field v. Ommanney (1920), 36 T. L. R. 695.

3785. —— —— When interfered with on appeal.]—Petitioner, a British subject domiciled in England, who charged his wife with adultery committed at Lisbon with two foreigners, applied by motion for leave to proceed without citing either of co-resps., on the grounds that they had both left Portugal; that neither he nor resp. knew their addresses; & that he had wholly failed to trace them. The petition contained no claim for damages or costs against either of co-resps. Resp. had not been served with notice of the motion, but at her own request had received copies of the affidavits to be used at the hearing of the motion. At the hearing, counsel for petitioner objected to resp. being heard. The President held that resp. was entitled to be heard, &, on the facts, that petitioner had not shown that co-resps. could not be reached by one or other of the methods by which service or substituted service could be effected; & accordingly refused the motion. On appeal:—Held: (1) Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), ss. 27, 28, 33, showed that a foreign co-resp. domiciled abroad was not entitled as of right to claim to be dismissed from the suit, & in the absence of special grounds the petition ought to be served upon him; but the matter was one entirely within the discretion of the judge of the Probate & Divorce Div., & the Ct. of Appeal would not interfere with the exercise of that discretion unless it appeared that the judge had acted upon a wrong principle, or under some misapprehension, or without consideration: (2) although it was the usual practice for motions for leave to proceed without citing a co-resp. to be made ex p., there was no rule of practice which prevented a resp. from being heard on such an application.—RUSH v. RUSH, BAILEY & PIMENTA, [1920] P. 242; 89 L. J. P. 129; 122 L. T. 792; 36 T. L. R. 302; 64 Sol. Jo. 323, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Franklin v. Franklin & Minshall, [1921] P. 407.

3786. Absence or insufficiency of evidence—Whether sufficient to dispense with necessity.]—CARRYER v. CARRYER & WATSON, No. 3780, ante.

3787. ——.]—JONES v. JONES, No. 3782, ante.

3788. —— ——.]—The mere belief of petitioner, founded on the evidence then before him, that a person accused of being the adulterer is not guilty, is not in itself sufficient to excuse him from making that person a co-resp.; if, however, the ct. is satisfied that no evidence can be obtained against the accused person, it may exercise its discretion under sect. 28 of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), & allow petitioner to proceed without joining him as co-resp.—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS & WILSON, [1897] P. 316; 67 L. J. P. 1; 77 L. T. 406; 13 T. L. R. 592.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 4, E. (b) ii., iii. & iv.]

3789. —— Wife's confession sole evidence of guilt.]—Semble: if a husband, who has been allowed to proceed without making a co-resp., afterwards & before the trial acquire evidence as to the person with whom his wife committed adultery, & who was previously unknown, he ought to bring the matter before the ct. He need not do so when the sole evidence is the wife's confession.—MUSPRATT v. MUSPRATT (1861), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 28.

Annotations:— Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165. Refd. Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89.

3790. —— ——.]—The ct. will allow petitioner to proceed without making the alleged adulterer a co-resp., where no evidence can be obtained against him, the only evidence that he is the adulterer being the wife's confession.—JINKINGS v. JINKINGS (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 330; 36 L. J. P. & M. 48; 15 L. T. 512.

Annotations:—Folld. Gill v. Gill (1889), 37 W. R. 623. Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165. Refd. Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89.

3791. —— ——.]—A husband presented a petition to the ct. praying for a dissolution of his marriage on the grounds of his wife's adultery with two men, R. & E., both of whom were mentioned by name in the petition. The charge against E. was made on the strength of certain rumours which reached petitioner, & which were confirmed by a statement made to petitioner's solr. by resp., to the effect that E. was the father of her illegitimate child. The man E. positively denied the truth of resp.'s statement, &, upon petitioner & his solr. making inquiries into the matter, no satisfactory evidence was forthcoming to support resp.'s confession. Petitioner was thereupon advised to apply to the ct. for leave to proceed without citing any co-resp. in respect of the adultery which resulted in the birth of resp.'s illegitimate child:—Held: resp. having given the name of E. as the father of her child, & his name having been inserted in the petition, he must be made a co-resp. & be served with the usual citation.—PAYNE v. PAYNE, RODWAY & EDDELS (1888), 60 L. T. 238.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165. Refd. Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89.

3792. —— ——.]—On a husband's petition for dissolution of the marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery, of which the only evidence was a confession by the wife, the ct., on motion, excused the husband from making the alleged adulterer a co-resp.—GILL v. GILL (1889), 60 L. T. 712; 37 W. R. 623.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165; Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89.

3793. —— ——.]—In a petition by a husband for divorce, it appeared that the address & occupation of the alleged adulterer were known to petitioner, but there was no evidence against him except resp.'s confession:—Held: petitioner could not be excused from making the adulterer a co-resp., & the citation must be personally served upon him as such co-resp.—CORNISH v. CORNISH (1890), 15 P. D. 131; 59 L. J. P. 84; 62 L. T. 667.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165. Refd. Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89.

3794. —— ——.]—Where no evidence was obtainable against the man whom resp. had indicated as the father of one of her illegitimate children, & who was believed to be in America, the ct. gave petitioner leave to proceed without citing the alleged adulterer as co-resp.—BAGOT v. BAGOT (1890), 62 L. T. 612.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165. Refd. Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89.

3795. —— ——.]—JONES v. JONES, No. 3782, ante.

3796. —— ——.]—MILES v. MILES (1896), Times, Mar. 20.

Annotation:—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165.

3797. —— ——.]—A wife, in answer to inquiries by her husband touching the paternity of a child with which she was pregnant, & of which he could not be the father gave the name of a man, & made certain statements which she said were within petitioner's knowledge, but of which he declared he knew nothing; neither did he know of the existence of such a man. After petition filed, & upon motion by the husband (petitioner) for leave to proceed without citing any person as co-resp., the ct. directed petitioner's solr. to write to resp. with a view to having a personal interview with & obtaining an explanation from her, & refused to make an order in petitioner's favour until this had been done & the result made known to the ct.—GROSE v. GROSE (1897), 78 L. T. 89.

Annotation:—Consd. Franklin v. Franklin & Minshall, [1921] P. 407.

3798. —— —— Petitioner's belief in innocence of party accused.]—SAUNDERS v. SAUNDERS, No. 3784, ante.

3799. —— —— ——.]—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS & WILSON, No. 3788, ante.

3800. Verdict against co-respondent in previous suit.]—A. having in an action of crim. con. recovered damages against B., applied for leave to present a petition for the dissolution of his marriage without making B. co-resp. to such petition:—Held: the circumstances of A. having recovered damages against B. did not constitute such special ground, within sect. 28 of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), as to justify the ct. to grant the application.—Ex p. ARMITAGE (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 71; sub nom. Re ARMITAGE'S DIVORCE, 4 Jur. N. S. 56; sub nom. Ex p. ——, 27 L. J. P. & M. 4; sub nom. ANON., 30 L. T. O. S. 278; 6 W. R. 222.

3801. ——.]—A. had obtained sentence of divorce a mensâ et thoro in the Ecclesiastical Ct. by reason of the wife's adultery, & had recovered damages in an undefended action for crim. con. from B., the alleged adulterer, who was now at the Cape of Good Hope. A. was allowed to proceed with his petition for dissolution, without making B. a co-resp.—TOMKIN v. TOMKIN (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 182; 27 L. J. P. & M. 54; 31 L. T. O. S. 186.

Annotation:—Refd. Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271.

3802. Adulterer dead.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage, by reason of the wife's adultery, where the alleged adulterer is dead or unknown, petitioner should apply at once to the ct. for an order to be excused from making a co-resp. Qu.: whether the ct. has power to make such an order after the citation has been served on resp.—TOLLEMACHE v. TOLLEMACHE (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 2.

Annotations:—Distd. Hunter v. Hunter & Vernon (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 3. Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165; Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89; Slaytor v. Slaytor & Jackson, [1897] P. 85.

3803. —— One of two alleged adulterers.]—Where, in a petition for dissolution of marriage, adultery is charged with a person who died before the institution of divorce proceedings, petitioner must apply to the ct. for an order to be excused from making him a co-resp., even though adultery be charged against a second person who has been made a co-resp. to the suit.—SLAYTOR v. SLAYTOR & JACKSON, [1897] P. 85 ; 66 L. J. P. 97 ; 77 L. T. 141 ; 13 T. L. R. 244.

3804. Wife leading life of prostitute.]—An application to proceed in a suit for dissolution, without making a co-resp. granted, on the ground that the wife was living in a brothel.

Qu. : whether the wife can object to such an application.—HOOK v. HOOK (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 183 ; 27 L. J. P. & M. 61 ; 31 L. T. O. S. 269 ; 6 W. R. 868.

Annotations :—Consd. Jones v. Jones, [1896] P. 165. Refd. Saunders v. Saunders, [1897] P. 89 ; Rush v. Bailey & Pimenta, [1920] P. 242.

3805. ——.]—Where the wife, resp., was alleged to be leading the life of a common prostitute & to have committed adultery with several persons, who were necessary witnesses to enable petitioner to establish the charges of adultery, petitioner was allowed to proceed without making a co-resp.—PETERS v. PETERS & WILLETT (1861), 3 Sw. & Tr. 264.

3806. Inability to trace co-respondent—Affidavit support.]—Where a petition for dissolution of marriage alleged that "in the month of July, 1857, resp., at Birkenhead, committed adultery with a man whose name is to petitioner unknown," the judge ordinary refused to excuse petitioner from making a co-resp., on an affidavit simply stating that petitioner was unable to learn the name of the alleged adulterer, but subsequently granted the application on an affidavit which stated that petitioner had been informed by H. that resp. & a man had taken furnished apartments, & slept together in her house, & that she had not since seen the man, & did not know his name, though she had made efforts to discover it.—EVANS v. EVANS (1859), 28 L. J. P. & M. 20.

3807. —— Adultery admitted by wife.]—A husband petitioned for a dissolution of his marriage with his wife on the ground of her adultery with a man unknown. No evidence could be obtained as to the adulterer, except that the wife had stayed with a man in an hotel in London, where their names were entered in the books as "Mr. & Mrs. E. L. G." The wife, whilst admitting her adultery, would give no information as to the adulterer, beyond that "he would marry her when the divorce was pronounced." The ct. refused to dispense with making a co-resp., but ordered the petition to be amended by charging adultery with "E. L. G." in the ordinary way, co-resp. to be served by advertisement : &, petitioner being in Western Australia, any further affidavit in support of the petition to be dispensed with.—NICOLAS v. NICOLAS (1899), 68 L. J. P. 66 ; 80 L. T. 422.

3808. —— —— Birth of illegitimate child.]—JEFFREYS v. JEFFREYS (1912), 28 T. L. R. 504.

3809. Adulterer domiciled & resident abroad—Notice of proceedings.]—A person whose name has been introduced into a divorce petition as an alleged adulterer is entitled to have notice of the proceedings so as to afford him an opportunity of clearing himself from the charge, if he should desire to do so. The ct., in relieving a petitioner from the necessity of citing an alleged adulterer on the ground that he was a foreigner domiciled & resident out of the jurisdiction, required petitioner to give him notice of the pending proceedings.—BOGER v. BOGER, [1908] P. 300 ; 77 L. J. P. 151 ; 99 L. T. 881 ; 24 T. L. R. 744 ; 52 Sol. Jo. 552.

Annotation :—Consd. Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Bulst, [1910] P. 271.

3810. ·.]—RUSH v. RUSH, BAILEY & PIMENTA, No. 3785, ante.

iii. Adultery alleged in Countercharges.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 177 ; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 4 & 5.

Parties by intervention, see Sub-sect. 4, F., post.

3811. Whether adulterer must be made co-respondent—Claim for cross-relief.]—In a wife's petition for divorce, her husband, in his answer, made a countercharge of adultery against his wife, & prayed for a divorce. On an application made on behalf of the husband, by direction of the registrar, to be allowed to proceed without making a co-resp., the ct. granted the application, but reserved the question whether it has power to make a man a co-resp. in such a suit.—CURLING v. CURLING (1888), 14 P. D. 13 ; 58 L. J. P. 20 ; 59 L. T. 899.

Annotation :—Consd. Kenworthy v. Kenworthy, [1919] P. 65.

3812. —— ——.]—WHEELER v. WHEELER & RHODES, No. 3838, post.

3813. —— ——.]—HARROP v. HARROP, No. 3840, post.

3814. —— ——.]—When a husband in his answer to his wife's petition makes a countercharge against her of adultery, & seeks a divorce in the prayer of his answer, pursuant to Matrimonial Causes Act, 1866 (c. 32), s. 2, he must, pursuant to Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 28, make any known man, with whom he charges his wife with committing adultery, a party to the proceedings by citation ; & as regards any unknown man, he must apply, in the manner obligatory upon a petitioning husband under the same sect., for leave to be excused from making such man a party. Until the husband has taken these steps the registrar's certificate under Divorce Rules, r. 206, that the pleadings & proceedings are correct & in order cannot be granted ; but a time should be limited within which the husband is to take such steps &, in default, the part of his answer asking for relief in respect of his countercharge should be struck out, so as to put the pleadings in order & enable the registrar to make his certificate.—KENWORTHY v. KENWORTHY, [1919] P. 65 ; 88 L. J. P. 38 ; 120 L. T. 263 ; 35 T. L. R. 67 ; 63 Sol. Jo. 99, C. A.

3815. Application for leave to proceed without naming co-respondent—Service of notice of motion on petitioner—Whether essential.]—Where a husband in his answer to his wife's petition for divorce alleges that petitioner had communicated to him a venereal disease in consequence of her adultery with some man or men unknown, & the husband moves to proceed without naming the alleged adulterers as parties cited, petitioner ought not to be served with notice of the motion.—MACKENZIE v. MACKENZIE (1916), 114 L. T. 564 ; 32 T. L. R. 318.

——.]—See, generally, Sub-sect. 4, E. (c), post.

iv. Adultery alleged both with Specified and Unknown Persons.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 177 ; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 4 & 5.

3816. General rule.]—If a husband's petition for a dissolution of marriage alleges adultery with A. & B., & also with divers persons unknown, leave must be obtained to dispense with making such unknown persons co-resps.—PENTY v. PENTY, JOHNSON & SABINGIE (1882), 7 P. D. 19 ; 47 L. T.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 4, E. (b) iv., (c), & F. (a) & (b).]

131; sub nom. PENHY v. PENHY, JOHNSON & SABINGIE, 51 L. J. P. 24.

3817. Allegations of adultery with unknown persons struck out.]—A petition for dissolution of marriage alleged that the wife had committed adultery with A., who was made co-resp., & in the fifth paragraph charged her with having committed adultery with a person unknown. On motion that petitioner might be excused from making such unknown person a co-resp., or be allowed to strike the fifth paragraph out of the petition:—Held: either might be done. Qu.: whether, as there was one co-resp. there was any necessity for the application.—HUNTER v. HUNTER & VERNON (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 3.

Annotation:—Consd. Carryer v. Carryer & Watson (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 94.

3818. ——.]—Where a petition in an undefended suit contained allegations of adultery with two co-resps. & also with two unknown persons, the ct. ordered the paragraphs of the petition referring to the two unknown persons to be struck out.—PEACOCK v. PEACOCK (1894), 6 R. 656.

3819. Petitioner excused from making unknown person co-respondent.]—HUNTER v. HUNTER & VERNON, No. 3817, ante.

(c) Leave to proceed without naming Co-Respondents.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 177; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 4 & 5.

3820. Application for leave—Time for.]—An application to dispense with making a co-resp. should be made at an early stage of the suit; but, except under special circumstances, it will be allowed even after resp. has filed her answer to the petition.—JEFFERS v. JEFFERS (1877), 2 P. D. 90; 46 L. J. P. 80; 25 W. R. 513.

Annotations:—Reid. Dobson v. Dobson & Paxton, [1916] P. 110; Rush v. Rush, Bailey & Pimenta, [1920] P. 242.

3821. —— Affidavit of petitioner in support—Necessity for.]—Upon a motion to dispense with citation of any person as a co-resp., an affidavit by petitioner is indispensable.—DRINKWATER v. DRINKWATER (1889), 60 L. T. 398.

3822. —— —— Must be corroborated.]—The ct. will not, upon the affidavit of petitioner only, allow him to proceed without making a co-resp.—LEADER v. LEADER (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 136.

3823. —— —— ——.]—Where, upon a motion for leave to proceed without making a co-resp., it appeared that the affidavit of petitioner was not corroborated, the ct. ordered an adjournment in order that an affidavit in corroboration might be filed, & stated that, in future, if the affidavit of petitioner were not corroborated, any such motion would probably be dismissed.—BARBER v. BARBER, [1896] P. 73; 65 L. J. P. 58.

3824. —— Whether respondent may be heard in opposition—Notice of motion served.]—On a motion to dispense with a co-resp.:—Held: resp. had no locus standi, &, notwithstanding the fact that notice of motion had been served on her solrs., she could not be heard in opposition to the application.—DOBSON v. DOBSON & PAXTON, [1916] P. 110; 85 L. J. P. 150; 114 L. T. 565; 60 Sol. Jo. 387.

Annotation:—Consd. Rush v. Rush, Bailey & Pimenta, [1920] P. 242.

3825. —— —— Motions usually made ex parte.]—RUSH v. RUSH, BAILEY & PIMENTA, No. 3785, ante.

3826. Where leave granted—Application for discharge of order—Whether respondent competent to make.]—The ct. refused to treat a resp. as guilty of contempt for not having complied with an order respecting the custody of a child in the absence of an affidavit that the order had been personally served upon her.

Petitioner having obtained leave to proceed without service of the citation upon co-resp., the ct. held it was not competent to resp. to move to discharge that order, although she alleged that it had been obtained by fraud.—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY (1859), 23 J. P. 360.

3827. —— Subsequent evidence as to adulterer—Must be disclosed to court.]—MUSPRATT v. MUSPRATT, No. 3789, ante.

3828. —— Notice of pending proceedings to alleged adulterer.]—BOGER v. BOGER, No. 3809, ante.

3829. Proper procedure where adulterer domiciled abroad.]—(1) Where, upon a husband's petition for divorce, the alleged adulterer is domiciled abroad, & so is not subject to the jurisdiction of the Divorce Ct. here, the proper practice is for petitioner to move for leave to proceed without citing him as co-resp.

(2) Where co-resp., domiciled in a foreign country, had been dismissed from a suit on his own motion, the ct. declined to give the husband his costs, although co-resp. had entered an unconditional appearance to the citation.—BAKER v. BAKER, BAKER v. BAKER & DWYER, [1908] P. 257; 77 L. J. P. 96; 99 L. T. 313; 24 T. L. R. 493; 52 Sol. Jo. 413.

Annotation:—As to (2) Consd. Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271.

Jurisidiction over adulterers domiciled abroad.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., p. 425, Nos. 907–915.

F. Parties by Intervention.

(a) In General.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 197; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 17 & 19.

Legitimacy declarations, see BASTARDY, Vol. III., p. 370, Nos. 110 et seq.

3830. Whether court will admit—Parties with estates expectant upon issue of marriage—When validity of marriage questioned.]—In a cause of divorce, where the alleged marriage is denied to be valid, the ct. may probably permit third parties, who have estates expectant (inter alia) upon the issue of such alleged marriage being illegitimate; & who consequently are interested in the question of its validity, to be cited to "see proceedings" in the cause, so far as relates to the marriage.—MONTAGUE v. MONTAGUE (1824), 2 Add. 372; 162 E. R. 331.

3831. —— Where no personal interest.]—In a suit for dissolution of a marriage, the only parties who are recognised by the rules of the ct. are petitioner, resp., & co-resp. The ct. has no authority to allow an individual, who has no personal interest, to suggest a charge against one of the parties which has not been imputed by the other, &, for that purpose, to intervene in the suit.—Y—— v. Y—— (1860), 1 Sw. & Tr. 598; 1 L. T. 414; 8 W. R. 273; 164 E. R. 877; sub nom. Re CHADDOCK v. CHADDOCK, Ex p. VERAX, 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 55; 6 Jur. N. S. 348.

Annotation:—Distd. Jessop v. Jessop (1861), 7 Jur. N. S. 609.

s. Inability to discover co-respondent.]—BUSH v. BUSH (1893), 12 N. Z. L. R. 269. N.Z.

3832. —— Alleged adulteress to be made a respondent—Petition by wife.]—In a suit by a wife for dissolution of marriage, the ct., upon application on behalf of the person with whom it was alleged that the husband had committed adultery, directed that she be made a resp.—BELL v. BELL (1883), 8 P. D. 217.

3833. —— Assignee of damages.]—HUNT v. HUNT & COOPER, No. 5854, post.

3834. Time for intervention—After issue joined.]—An intervener may plead after issue joined by leave of the ct.—JONES v. WILLIAMS (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 19; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 102; 29 J. P. 200; 11 Jur. N. S. 288.

3835. —— After decree nisi.]—In a divorce suit, between the decree nisi & the application to make it absolute, the ct. on terms, allowed the intervention of a lady who was not a party to the suit, but with whom resp. was alleged by the petition to have committed adultery.—FRENCH v. FRENCH (1914), 30 T. L. R. 584.

3836. Position of intervener—Opposite party—Within Married Women's Property Act, 1893, s. 2.]—A wife, having presented a petition for dissolution of marriage on the ground of cruelty & adultery, in her particulars alleged that the adultery had been committed with M. R. An order was made on Oct. 10, 1911, giving M. R. leave to intervene & directing her to file an answer within fourteen days. The intervener filed an answer, & at the trial the jury found that there had been no misconduct between her & resp., & petitioner was ordered to pay her costs. Under her marriage settlement petitioner was entitled to the income of realty for her life without power of anticipation. The intervener issued a summons for the appointment of a receiver of the life estate. Immediately after the conclusion of the first proceedings petitioner presented a second petition for dissolution of marriage. This was undefended, & a decree nisi was pronounced on July 9, 1912. On July 22 an order was made by the President that the trustees of petitioner's settlement should, notwithstanding the restraint on anticipation, pay half her income to the intervener from the date of the summons up to decree absolute, towards satisfaction of her costs. On Mar. 18, 1913, the summons was ordered to stand over until the decree nisi had been made absolute. Petitioner appealed & the intervener gave cross-notice of appeal:—Held: (1) the intervener was an "opposite party" within the above sect.; (2) the discretionary power of the ct. was not exhausted by the order of July 22, 1912; (3) the property which the ct. could deal with under sect. 2 was the whole property which was subject to the restraint on anticipation, & not merely the portion of the property which for the time being was effectually restrained from anticipation, that was to say, during coverture; & the matter must be remitted to the President to be dealt with according to his discretion.—STUDLEY v. STUDLEY, [1913] P. 119; 82 L. J. P. 65; 108 L. T. 657; 57 Sol. Jo. 425. C. A.

Annotation:—As to (3) Refd. Wood v. Lewis, [1914] 3 K. B. 73.

3837. No evidence offered against intervener at hearing—Dismissal from proceedings.]—In a petition by the wife for dissolution of the marriage on the ground of adultery & cruelty, one of the persons wth whom the husband was alleged to have committed adultery obtained leave to intervene, & her name was added to the title of the suit. Subsequently she obtained an order for a commission to examine witnesses abroad, & for the postponement of the trial of the issues affecting her until the return of the commission. Petitioner obtained a decree absolute, on evidence which satisfied the ct. that resp. had committed adultery with women other than intervener; & the issue affecting her was never tried:—Held: the name of intervener must be struck out of all pending & future proceedings.—CONNEMARA v. CONNEMARA, [1892] P. 102; 61 L. J. P. 96; 66 L. T. 592.

Costs.]—See Sect. 18, sub-sect. 5, post.

(b) Adultery alleged in Countercharges.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 197; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 17–19.

Whether adulterer must be made co-respondent, see Sub-sect. 4, E. (b) iii., ante.

3838. Whether alleged adulterer allowed to intervene—No claim for cross-relief.]—Where in a wife's suit for dissolution of marriage the husband in his answer charged his wife with having committed adultery with a specified person, but did not pray for a dissolution of the marriage, the ct. allowed the alleged adulterer to intervene & file an answer.

Under that sect. [29 & 30 Vict. c. 32, s. 2], where resp., the husband, has in answer to his wife's petition for a dissolution of marriage, made a countercharge of adultery against her, & prays for a dissolution of his marriage on the ground of the adultery, it is the clearly established practice of the ct. to require him to state who the person is who is charged with committing adultery with his wife, & to make him a party to the suit ((BUTT, J.).—WHEELER v. WHEELER & RHODES (1889), 14 P. D. 154; 58 L. J. P. 65; 61 L. T. 306.

Annotations:—Distd. Harrop v. Harrop, [1899] P. 61. Apprvd. Lowe v. Lowe, [1899] P. 204; Kenworthy v. Kenworthy, [1919] P. 65.

3839. —— ——.]—A petition by a husband claiming a divorce from his wife & damages against co-resp. was dismissed, by consent, before trial. Thereupon the wife filed a petition claiming a judicial separation, & the husband, in his answer, countercharged the adultery which he had alleged in the former suit, but he asked for no relief. The alleged adulterer applied for leave to intervene & defend: Held: the practice of the Ecclesiastical Cts. governed the case, &, as that practice afforded no precedent for allowing an intervention in such circumstances, the application must be refused.—FARRELL v. FARRELL (1896), 76 L. T. 167.

3840. —— —— ——.]—A husband, in his answer to a petition by his wife for dissolution of marriage, made a countercharge against her of adultery with a specified person, without claiming cross-relief, or "such further or other remedy as the nature of the case may require":—Held: the ct. had no power to allow the alleged adulterer to intervene.

Where the answer of resp. is, as in this case, merely an answer the ct. cannot make a decree for dissolution. This can only be done where the

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 4.—F. (a).

3832 i. Whether court will admit—Alleged adulteress to be made a respondent—Petition by wife.]—In a wife's petition for dissolution of marriage by reason of the husband's adultery, the alleged adulteress obtained a rule calling upon petitioner to show cause why she should not be allowed to intervene.—BAILEY v. BAILEY (1897), I. L. R. 30 Calc. 490, n.—IND.

t. —— —— —— Incestuous adultery.]—In a wife's suit for divorce against the husband on the ground of incestuous adultery, the ct. has no power under Indian Divorce Act (IV. of 1869) to allow the alleged adulteress to intervene.—RAMSAY v. BOYLE (1903), I. L. R. 30 Calc. 189; 7 C. W. N. 501.—IND.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 4, F. (b) & (c); sub-sect. 5, A., B., C. & D. (a) & (b).]

answer contains a claim for cross-relief, & in that case resp., if a husband, is bound to make the alleged adulterer a co-resp., as he would have had to do if he had presented a cross-petition (GORELL BARNES, J.).—HARROP v. HARROP, [1899] P. 61; 68 L. J. P. 58; 80 L. T. 171; 15 T. L. R. 144.

Annotations:—Follid. Lowe v. Lowe, [1899] P. 204. Apprvd. Kenworthy v. Kenworthy, [1919] P. 65.

3841. Answer not treated as cross-petition.]—Where a husband in his answer to his wife's petition made a countercharge against her of adultery with a person named, but did not ask for any relief whatever beyond the simple dismissal of the petition:—Held: under the circumstances the answer could not be treated as a cross-petition under sect. 2 of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1866 (c. 32), but merely as an ordinary defence, & therefore the ct. had no jurisdiction, on the opposition of the husband, to allow the alleged adulterer to intervene.—LOWE v. LOWE, [1899] P. 204; 68 L. J. P. 60; 80 L. T. 575; 47 W. R. 553; 15 T. L. R. 360; 43 Sol. Jo. 495, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Kenworthy v. Kenworthy, [1919] P. 65.

(c) Where King's Proctor has intervened.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 197; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 17–19.

Intervention by King's Proctor, generally, see Sect. 19, post.

3842. When petitioner charged with adultery—Whether intervention of alleged adulterer permitted.]—A wife obtained a decree nisi, but the Queen's Proctor subsequently intervened, & alleged that petitioner was living in adultery with one J.:—Held: J. was not a party to the suit, & could not be admitted to intervene.—GRIEVE v. GRIEVE, [1893] P. 288; 63 L. J. P. 29; 69 L. T. 462; 1 R.

Annotations:—Follid. Carew v. Carew, [1894] P. 31. Consd. Harrop v. Harrop, [1899] P. 61; Lowe v. Lowe (1899), 80 L. T. 575.

3843. ——— ———.]—Where a wife had obtained a decree nisi, dissolving her marriage on the ground of adultery & cruelty, & the Queen's Proctor intervened, alleging, in his plea, collusion, condonation, & suppression of material facts, leave was given to the Queen's Proctor, in the course of the trial, to add a charge of adultery, which he alleged had been committed by petitioner with one E. who thereupon moved for leave to intervene & defend himself from the charge:—Held: there was no jurisdiction to permit such an intervention.—CAREW v. CAREW, [1894] P. 31; 63 L. J. P. 74; 6 R. 662.

Annotations:—Consd. Harrop v. Harrop, [1899] P. 61; Lowe v. Lowe (1899), 80 L. T. 575.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Act, 1907 (c. 12), s. 3.

3844. ——— ———.]—DAVISON v. DAVISON, No. 5169, post.

3845. Co-respondent dismissed from original suit—Whether intervention by co-respondent or respondent permitted—No charge of collusion.]—In a suit by a husband for dissolution of his marriage on the ground of his wife's alleged adultery with co-resp., the principal evidence consisted of the husband's statement on oath of a confession by his wife that she had committed adultery with co-resp. Co-resp. on the advice of his counsel did not tender himself as a witness. A decree nisi for dissolution of the marriage was pronounced, but the suit was dismissed as against the co-resp. with costs, the ct. holding that there was no evidence against him. The Queen's Proctor afterwards entered an appearance in the suit, & filed a plea wherein he alleged that it would be contrary to justice for the decree nisi to be made absolute, as certain material facts had not been brought to the attention of the ct.; that there was no corroboration of the confession; that certain witnesses who had been referred to in such confession, & whose evidence was material had not been called; & that, apart from the confession, there was no evidence of adultery. The pleas were held sufficient, though redundant.

An application was made by resp. for leave to enter an appearance in, & appear on the hearing of the proceedings by the Queen's Proctor. She also intimated that she intended to give evidence in support of the admission of adultery. A similar application was made on behalf of co-resp. who alleged that he would now have to meet the additional evidence of resp.:—Held: both applications must be refused.

The only issue in such a case is between resp. & petitioner; co-resp. on his dismissal from the suit, is no longer a party & neither he nor resp. (the ground of intervention not being collusion) has any locus standi.—CRAWFORD v. CRAWFORD & DILKE (1886), 55 L. T. 305; 34 W. R. 677; 2 T. L. R. 768, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Lowe v. Lowe (1899), 80 L. T. 575. Refd. Blackhall v. Blackhall (1888), 13 P. D. 94; Taplen v. Taplen (1891), 64 L. T. 870; Grieve v. Grieve, [1893] P. 288.

SUB-SECT. 5.—SERVICE.

A. In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 6–14, 28, 29.

3846. Commencement of proceedings.]—RAY v. SHERWOOD & RAY, No. 3647, ante.

3847. Petition for damages—Service on wife—Necessity for.]—BERNSTEIN v. BERNSTEIN, TURNER & SAMPSON, No. 3213, ante.

3848. Petition charging husband with adultery—Service on person with whom adultery alleged—Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 17.]—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR, WHITE v. WHITE, No. 3663, ante.

3849. Questions put to respondent at time of service—Propriety.]—PURGOLD v. PURGOLD & LAMBART (1903), Times, Oct. 29.

Annotation:—Refd. Hallam v. Hallam (1903), 20 T. L. R. 34.

3850. ——— ———.]—HALLAM v. HALLAM (1903), 20 T. L. R. 34.

Annotation:—Refd. Franklin v. Franklin & Minshall, [1921] P. 407.

3851. Identification of persons served.]—SMITH v. SMITH & ARMSTRONG, No. 3919, post.

3852. Royal palaces exempt from service.]—NYERFORD v. WARREN (EARL) (1293), 3 Co. Inst. 141.

Annotations:—Refd. A.-G. v. Dakin (1867), L. R. 2 Exch. 290; Combe v. De la Bere (1882), 22 Ch. D. 316.

———.]—See, further, CONSTITUTIONAL LAW, Vol. XI., pp. 519 et seq., Nos. 242 et seq.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 5.—A.

a. Where service impossible — Dismissal of co-respondent from suit.]—On a petition for dissolution of marriage the proper course, when personal service or substituted service which may be trusted to reach the co-resp. is impossible, is to move to dismiss him from the suit.—SCOTT v. SCOTT (1913), 32 N. Z. L. R. 979.—N.Z.

B. Necessity for Personal Service.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 7, 8.
Substituted service, see Sub-sect. 5, E., post.

3853. General rule.]—Sect. 42 of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), & the Rules founded thereon require personal service of the citation & copy of petition, unless the ct. authorises a substituted service, or gives petitioner leave to proceed without service. Acceptance of service by an attorney on behalf of resp. is not sufficient.—MILNE v. MILNE (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 183; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 143; 164 E. R. 1487.

3854. Respondents abroad.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage on the ground of the wife's adultery, the affidavits, in support of a motion to dispense with personal service of citations & copies of the petition, stated that the wife had deserted her husband at Liverpool in Aug. 1857; that there was reason to believe that she afterwards lived in this country with Q., co-resp., as his wife; that in Oct. 1857, two persons passing under the name of Mr. & Mrs. Q. sailed from London for Australia, & afterwards landed in Melbourne; that there was reason to believe that the said Mrs. & Mr. Q. were resp. & co-resp.; that inquiries had been made in Melbourne of the agent of the ship in which those persons went to Australia, & of other shipping agents there, also of the inspector of police at Sydney, but that no trace of them or of their movements could be discovered. Upon the above affidavits, service on the resp. & co-resp. was altogether dispensed with.

Semble: if there had been any certain information as to their movements in Australia, further inquiries would probably have led to their discovery, & would have, therefore, been necessary.—COOK v. COOK & QUAILE (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 5; subsequent proceedings, COOKE v. COOKE & QUAILE (1859), 2 Sw. & Tr. 50.

3855. Acceptance of service by respondent's solicitor.]—MILNE v. MILNE, No. 3853, ante.

3856. ——.]—An undertaking by resp.'s solr. to appear is not sufficient; the citation must be served upon resp.—DE NICEVILLE v. DE NICEVILLE (1868), 37 L. J. P. & M. 43.

C. Service on Persons under Disability.

3857. Convict—Prison official—Communication of contents.]—If resp. be in prison the ct. will not be satisfied with substituted service of the petition & citation to be made on an official of the gaol in which he is confined, unless there is a reasonable probability that the contents of those documents will thereby become known to resp.—BLAND v. BLAND (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 233; 44 L. J. P. & M. 14; 32 L. T. 404; 23 W. R. 419.

3858. Lunatic—Not so found—Service on respondent—Presence of asylum officials.]—GILES v. GILES, No. 2318, ante.

3859. Minor—Service on respondent—Presence of guardians.]—Where resp. is a minor it is not necessary for petitioner to see that a guardian ad litem has been appointed. Service on a resp. who has no such guardian is good if effected in the presence of his natural guardians.

Semble: it would be good without their presence.—QUINN v. QUINN, [1920] P. 65; 89 L. J. P. 38; 122 L. T. 464; 36 T. L. R. 170; 64 Sol. Jo. 226.

D. Service out of the Jurisdiction.

(a) In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 10; &, generally, PRACTICE.

Jurisdiction of court over foreign respondents & co-respondents.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 421 et seq., Nos. 874 et seq.

3860. Effect of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 42—Jurisdiction not extended.]—GRAHAM v. GRAHAM, No. 3867, post.

(b) In Suits for Dissolution of Marriage.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 10; &, generally, PRACTICE.

Jurisdiction of court over foreigners—As regards petitioner & respondent.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 421 et seq., Nos. 874 et seq.

—— As regards co-respondent.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 425 et seq., Nos. 907 et seq.

3861. On respondent—Service of citation.]—An attempt was made, at the suit of a wife for a divorce, to serve the husband with a citation taken out in Oct. 1848, at his last-known place of residence, which was within the jurisdiction of the ct. It subsequently appeared he left that residence in Mar. 1847. A decree by ways & means was, on the return of the citation, executed at that house, & at the parish church. On Feb. 5, 1849, he was personally served in the West Indies. The ct. on motion pronounced the husband in contempt, "for the purpose of carrying on the proceedings, & placing the evidence on record." It was stated there was no jurisdiction in the West Indies to enable the wife to institute a suit. Eventually a sentence of divorce was pronounced. The proceedings throughout were in pœnam.—DASENT v. DASENT (1850), 1 Rob. Eccl. 800; 7 Notes of Cases, 126; 14 L. T. O. S. 48; 13 Jur. 832; 163 E. R. 1218.

Annotations:—Consd. Yelverton v. Yelverton (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 574. Refd. Burton v. Burton (1873), 21 W. R. 648; Graham v. Graham, [1923] P. 31. Mentd. L. C. C. v. Dundas, [1904] P. 1.

3862. —— Whether essential—Dissolution suit after dismissal of previous suit for nullity—Respondent resident abroad.]—CATTERALL v. CATTERALL (1847), 1 Rob. Eccl. 580 5 Notes of Cases, 466; 11 Jur. 914; 163 E. R. 1142.

Annotations:—Refd. Anon. (1857), Dea. & Sw. 295. Mentd. Beamish v. Beamish (1861), 9 H. L. Cas. 274; Sichell v. Lambert (1864), 3 New Rep. 385.

3863. —— On active service abroad—Service by registered letter—Practice in restitution suits not applicable.]—The practice laid down in regard to service of decrees for restitution of conjugal rights upon resps. engaged on active service abroad does not apply to the service of citations & petitions in suits for dissolution of marriage; although it is recognised that where, after service of the citation, it appears that a resp. desires to contest the suit, the further proceedings may have to abide his return to this country, on leave or otherwise.

Where personal service of a citation & petition for divorce could not be effected upon a resp., who was serving as a seaman on board one of His Majesty's ships in the Far East in time of war, the ct. directed that service might be effected by sending the documents in a prepaid registered letter addressed to resp., & fixed the time for

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 5.—B.

3853 l. General rule.]—In a divorce action the trial judge may take into consideration the propriety of an order made dispensing with personal service of the writ of summons, & if in his opinion such order was made on insufficient material he may on that ground refuse a decree.—S. v. S., [1921] 2 W. W. R. 939.—CAN.

b. Respondent abroad — In prison.]—C. filed a petition for dissolution of marriage. Resp. was proved to be undergoing a sentence in a prison in N. S. W.:—Held: in the circumstances resp. should be personally served with the summons & petition.—L. (OTHERWISE C.) v. C. (1912), 31 N. Z. L. R. 1064.—N.Z.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 5, D. (b), (c), (d) & (e), & E. (a) i.]

appearance at one hundred days.—TURNER v. TURNER, [1916] P. 324; 86 L. J. P. 13; 115 L. T. 790; 33 T. L. R. 33; 61 Sol. Jo. 58.

3864. Position of co-respondent.]—(1) Whatever it is that determines the jurisdiction of this ct. with regard to co-resps., that jurisdiction does not depend upon the domicil of co-resp., nor is it to be determined by the question whether co-resp. is or is not a British subject.

(2) So far as a co-resp. is concerned, the citation corresponds with what would have been, before Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), came into operation, the writ in an action for crim. con.

(3) Service of the citation & sealed copy of the petition upon a co-resp., if out of England, places him on the same footing with regard to jurisdiction as a deft. properly served with a writ out of the jurisdiction under R. S. C., Ord. 11, in the K. B. or Ch. Div.

(4) The claim against a co-resp. in a divorce suit is merely a personal claim for money, & is not complicated with questions of international law arising out of status, as in the case of a petitioner & resp.

(5) Although a judgment, following on a verdict for damages in a divorce suit in this ct., could not be enforced against a foreigner in a foreign country, it might possibly be enforced against a Scotsman or an Irishman, in Scotland or Ireland, by means of Judgments Extension Act, 1868 (c. 54).

(6) The enactment in Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 42, providing for service of any person at any place is only a municipal law in favour of those who sue in this ct.; & the Legislature thereby does not concern itself with the question whether an order against a co-resp. for payment of damages or costs in a proceeding began by citation served abroad would or would not be enforceable as a foreign judgment in another country. The object of the provision is that this ct. may make the order & may enforce it against any property which the person against whom the order is made may have within its own jurisdiction or within its own reach.

(7) As the Act gives power to serve anybody as co-resp. anywhere, it gives jurisdiction to make any order against co-resp., & to issue process of execution to enforce the order in this country; & this can be done without in any way affecting any international comity or offending any international susceptibilities.—RAYMENT v. RAYMENT & STUART, CHAPMAN v. CHAPMAN & BUIST, [1910] P. 271; 79 L. J. P. 115; 103 L. T. 430; 26 T. L. R. 634; 54 Sol. Jo. 721.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apprvd. Rush v. Rush, Bailey & Pimenta, [1920] P. 242. Refd. Phillips v. Batho, [1913] 3 K. B. 25. As to (7) Apprvd. Rush v. Rush, Bailey & Pimenta, [1920] P. 242.

3865. Service in France—Requirements of Anglo-French Convention, 1922.]—Where there has been service in France of a divorce petition in accordance with the requirements of the Anglo-French Convention, 1922, that may be taken to be a sufficient compliance with Divorce Rules, rr. 11, 14.—REECE v. REECE (1924), 132 L. T. 349; 41 T. L. R. 24.

(c) In Suits for Judicial Separation.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 10; &, generally, PRACTICE.

3866. Service on respondent.]—A citation issued from this ct., addressed to a party then residing & being within the diocese. The party quitted England before service was affected. The citation was personally served on him in parts abroad. Protest to appearing overruled.—COLLETT v. COLLETT (1843), 3 Curt. 726; 2 Notes of Cases, 504; 7 Jur. 1164; 163 E. R. 881.

Annotations:—Refd. Yelverton v. Yelverton (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 574; Graham v. Graham, [1923] P. 31.

3867. ——.]—Statute of Citations, 1531 (c. 9), s. 2, which forbade the Ecclesiastical Cts. to cite any person out of the diocese where he was inhabiting or dwelling, must be taken to have limited the jurisdiction & not only the power of service of the Ecclesiastical Cts., & Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 42, which permits service within or without His Majesty's Dominions, cannot extend the jurisdiction.—GRAHAM v. GRAHAM, [1923] P. 31; 92 L. J. P. 26; 128 L. T. 639; 39 T. L. R. 139; 67 Sol. Jo. 316.

Annotations:—Consd. Eustace v. Eustace, [1924] P. 45. Mentd. Smith v. Smith, [1923] P. 128.

See, also, CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 426, 427, Nos. 916–920.

(d) In Suits for Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 10; &, generally, PRACTICE.

Whether residence within jurisdiction essential.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., p. 427, Nos. 921–923.

3868. Service of petition & citation—Whether court has power to order.]—A wife's remedy for matrimonial wrongs must be usually sought in the place of her husband's domicil. The English Divorce Ct. has not jurisdiction against a foreigner, after he has quitted this country, for not rendering conjugal rights to his wife while he was here. The provisions of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 42 (for service out of Her Majesty's dominions), do not apply to suits for restitution of conjugal rights.—FIREBRACE v. FIREBRACE (1878), 4 P. D. 63; 47 L. J. P. 41; 39 L. T. 94; 26 W. R. 617.

Annotations:—Folld. De Gasquet James v. Mecklenburg-Schwerin, [1914] P. 53. Consd. Graham v. Graham, [1923] P. 31; Eustace v. Eustace, [1924] P. 45. Refd. Niboyet v. Niboyet (1878), 4 P. D. 1; Armytage v. Armytage, [1898] P. 178; Dicks v. Dicks, [1899] P. 275; Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271; Perrin v. Perrin, Powell v. Powell (1914), 83 L. J. P. 69.

3869. —— ——.]—The ct. has no power to allow service abroad of a petition for restitution of conjugal rights.—CHICHESTER v. CHICHESTER (1885), 10 P. D. 186; 34 W. R. 65.

Annotations:—Consd. De Gasquet James v. Mecklenburg-Schwerin, [1914] P. 53. Refd. Dicks v. Dicks, [1899] P. 275.

3870. —— — —.]—(1) A citation & petition in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, as well as the previous letter of demand required by the rules, may now be served out of the jurisdiction; & where a decree is granted the decree may likewise be served out of the jurisdiction.

(2) In any further proceedings arising out of a non-compliance with the decree, petitioner must satisfy the ct. that resp. has been served therewith at a place from which he could reasonably have returned to his wife within the period named in the decree.

(3) If an agreement for separation has previously been entered into between the parties to a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, but such agreement has not been pleaded by resp. in bar to the petition, it is not the duty of the ct. to raise the point how far petitioner's rights to a decree for restitution are affected by such agreement. Nevertheless, if such decree is made the basis of

subsequent proceedings, it is open to the ct. to go into the whole matter.—BATEMAN v. BATEMAN, [1901] P. 136; 84 L. T. 64, 331; 17 T. L. R. 190; 45 Sol. Jo. 295; sub nom. HARDIE v. HARDIE, BATEMAN v. BATEMAN, 70 L. J. P. 29.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. & Distd. De Gasquet James v. Mecklenburg-Schwerin, [1914] P. 53. Folld. Perrin v. Perrin, Powell v. Powell, [1914] P. 135. Refd. Eustace v. Eustace, [1924] P. 45. Generally, Mentd. Kennedy v. Kennedy, [1907] P. 49.

3871. —— ——.]—(1) The amendment of the law effected by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), relates to matters subsequent to the decree; the essence of the suit & of the decree for restitution of conjugal rights remains the same, but its consequences & effects are different.

(2) No power is given, either by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 42, or by any other sect. or Act, to serve a citation & petition for restitution of conjugal rights beyond the jurisdiction of the ct.

Where service of the citation & of a sealed copy of a petition for restitution of conjugal rights had been effected abroad, an order setting aside the service was made.

(3) Qu.: whether, in a case where service is duly & properly effected, & where no question arises as to the jurisdiction of the ct. in pronouncing a decree for restitution of conjugal rights, such decree can be served out of the jurisdiction.

(4) Where neither party to a marriage was domiciled or resident within the jurisdiction, & their only connection with this country at the date of their marriage was that they came over here for one day for the purpose of being married, & their only matrimonial residences were abroad, the ct. cannot decree restitution of conjugal rights.—DE GASQUET JAMES (COUNTESS) v. MECKLENBURG-SCHWERIN (DUKE), [1914] P. 53; 83 L. J. P. 40; 110 L. T. 121; 30 T. L. R. 329; 58 Sol. Jo. 341.

Annotation:—As to (4) Distd. Perrin v. Perrin, Powell v. Powell, [1914] P. 135.

3872. —— —— Both parties domiciled in England—Residence in England when suit instituted.]—In a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, where it appears from the petition that the parties to the suit are domiciled in England at the date thereof, or that they had a matrimonial home in England at the time when cohabitation ceased, or that they were both resident in England at the time of the institution of the suit, the citation & sealed copy of the petition may be served either within or without His Majesty's dominions; & when a suit for restitution of conjugal rights has been duly instituted, & a decree has been made therein, such decree may be served on resp. either within or without His Majesty's dominions.—PERRIN v. PERRIN, POWELL v. POWELL, [1914] P. 135; 83 L. J. P. 69; 111 L. T. 335; 30 T. L. R. 497; 58 Sol. Jo. 513.

Annotation:—Refd. Eustace v. Eustace, [1924] P. 45.

3873. Service of decree—Respondent domiciled in England.]—A decree for restitution of conjugal rights made against a resp. who is domiciled in England may be served on him out of the jurisdiction.—DICKS v. DICKS, [1899] P. 275; 68 L. J. P. 118; 81 L. T. 462; 48 W. R. 302; 15 T. L. R. 482.

Annotations:—Consd. Bateman v. Bateman, [1901] P. 136; De Gasquet James v. Mecklenburg-Schwerin, [1914] P. 53. Folld. Perrin v. Perrin, Powell v. Powell, [1914] P. 135. Refd. Eustace v. Eustace, [1924] P. 45.

3874. —— Where service of petition & citation effected.]—BATEMAN v. BATEMAN, No. 3870, ante.

3875. —— ——.]—DE GASQUET JAMES (COUNTESS) v. MECKLENBURG-SCHWERIN (DUKE), No. 3871, ante.

3876. —— ——.]—PERRIN v. PERRIN, POWELL v. POWELL, No. 3872, ante.

3877. —— Suspension of service—Till respondent's return to England.]—PEARSON v. PEARSON, No. 2432, ante.

3878. —— —— Until further order—Respondent on active service.]—Where, in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, resp. was on active service abroad, the ct. in pronouncing a decree, directed that the decree should not be served until further order.—MASON v. MASON (1915), 59 Sol. Jo. 530.

Annotations:—Distd. Turner v. Turner, [1916] P. 324. Refd. Lang v. Lang (1915), 113 L. T. 928.

3879. —— —— —— ——.]—In cases where a decree for the restitution of conjugal rights is made against a resp. who is on active service with His Majesty's forces the decree will be drawn up, but ordered to lie in the office until the ct. gives further directions as to its service.—LANG v. LANG (1915), 113 L. T. 928; 31 T. L. R. 467; 59 Sol. Jo. 561.

Annotation:—Distd. Turner v. Turner, [1916] P. 306.

Service of written demand for return to cohabitation.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, D., ante.

3880. Whether leave of court essential.]—Where a sealed copy of a petition for the restitution of conjugal rights & a copy of the citation had been duly served upon resp., then resident in Ireland, the ct. granted a decree, although no leave had been previously obtained for service out of the jurisdiction.—BUCKLEY v. BUCKLEY (1912), 107 L. T. 590; 57 Sol. Jo. 9.

3881. Where service effected abroad—Order made setting aside service.]—CHICHESTER v. CHICHESTER (1885), 10 P. D. 186; 34 W. R. 65.

Annotations:—Refd. Dicks v. Dicks, [1899] P. 275; De Gasquet James v. Mecklenburg-Schwerin, [1914] P. 53.

3882. —— ——.]—DE GASQUET JAMES (COUNTESS) v. MECKLENBURG-SCHWERIN (DUKE), No. 3871, ante.

(e) In Suits for Nullity of Marriage.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 10; &, generally, PRACTICE.

Jurisdiction of court as to nullity proceedings, see CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., p. 428, Nos.

3883. Personal service abroad. TENDUCCI'S CASE (1775), cited in 3 Phillim. at p. 595; 161 E. R. 1425.

Annotations:—Consd. Yelverton v. Yelverton (1859), Sea. & Sm. 49. Refd. Collett v. Collett (1843), 3 Curt. 726; Dasent v. Dasent (1849), 7 Notes of Cases, 126; H. (falsely called C——) v. C—— (1860), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 81.

E. Substituted Service.

(a) When Granted.

i. In Suits for Dissolution of Marriage.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 9.

3884. Respondent's address withheld.]—A wife filed a petition for dissolution of marriage, but was unable to effect personal service of the citation, etc., in consequence of resp. having gone abroad, but whither she knew not. A. knowing where resp. was, though refusing to give his address, forwarded to him, by post, an office copy & a plain copy of the petition, & two copies of the PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 5.—E. (a) i.

c. General rule.]—An order for substituted service in divorce proceedings should not be made unless there is reasonable ground for supposing that the mode of service ordered will bring the proceedings to the knowledge of the party to be served.—LODGE v. LODGE (1906), 26 N. Z. L. R. 385.—N.Z.

d. Power of local master to order.]

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 5, E. (a) i., ii. & iii., (b) & (c) i., ii. & iii., & F.]

citation. Resp. returned, by post, to A. the plain copy of the petition & one of the copies of the citation, on which were indorsed memoranda signed by him, acknowledging the receipt of the office copy of the petition, & also a copy of the citation. Resp. not having entered an appearance, petitioner was allowed to proceed without further service.—CHANDLER v. CHANDLER (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 6.

3885. Failure to trace whereabouts after reasonable efforts.]—COOK v. COOK & QUAILE, No. 3854, ante.

3886. ——.]—The service of the citation upon co-resp. will be dispensed with if, after a sufficient search, he cannot be found.—PARKER v. PARKER & MACLEOD (1859), 5 Jur. N. S. 103.

3887. ——.]—Where every reasonable effort has been made to trace resp. for the purpose of effecting a personal service of the citation & petition in a matrimonial suit, but without success, the ct. will dispense with such personal service. —APPLEYARD v. APPLEYARD & SMITH (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 257.

3888. ——.]—Though the fact that resp.'s whereabouts cannot be discovered may be due to petitioner's delay in bringing his petition, substituted service of the petition & citation may be allowed.—JENSON v. JENSON (1898), 78 L. T. 764.

3889. Respondent abroad—Address unknown—Necessity to show that attempts at discovery made.] To entitle petitioner, in a suit for dissolution of marriage, to proceed without personal service of a citation, it is not sufficient to show that resp. is abroad, & that petitioner does not know where he is; some attempt should be made to discover & serve him.—SUDLOW v. SUDLOW (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 4.

3890. —— —— ——.] — COOK v. COOK & QUAILE, No. 3854, ante.

3891. —— Probability of being in definite place —Personal service not impossible.] — An application on behalf of a wife, who had presented a petition for dissolution of marriage, that a substitutional service of the citation on the father of her husband should be allowed, on the ground that she did not know her husband's address, but that his father was in communication with him, was rejected by the Judge Ordinary, as it appeared probable that the husband was in New York, & the impossibility of serving him personally was not made out.

Qu.: whether the Judge Ordinary has power to dispense with personal service of the citation in a proceeding for dissolution of marriage.—ROWBOTHAM v. ROWBOTHAM (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 73; 30 L. T. O. S. 326; 6 W. R. 328; 164 E. R. 635; sub nom. ROBOTHAM v. ROBOTHAM, 27 L. J. P. & M. 33; 4 Jur. N. S. 148.

3892. —— Right of action against process server by lex loci.]—In a petition for divorce it appeared that resp. & co-resp. were residing together abroad, & that by the law of the place where they resided co-resp., a foreigner, had a right of action against any person serving him with English process:—Held: the citation might be served on co-resp. by inclosing it in a registered letter addressed to him, another copy being sent to resp. so as to make it more probable that it would come to his knowledge.—TRUBNER v. TRUBNER & CRISTIANI (1889), 15 P. D. 24; 59 L. J. P. 56; 62 L. T. 186; 54 J. P. 167; 38 W. R. 464.

3893. Refusal of foreign authorities to serve or allow service.]—Co-resp. in a suit for dissolution of marriage was resident in a sanatorium in the Canton of Neufchatel in Switzerland. The principal of such sanatorium refused to serve him with the citation & petition, or to allow him to be served with them. The Procureur-General of Neufchatel stated that service must be effected through a diplomatic source, but the Foreign Office refused to act in the matter except under an order of the ct. It was shown on affidavit that the mother & uncle of co-resp. resided in Switzerland, & that petitioner was acquainted with their addresses. The ct., after observing that the usual practice was to serve through the foreign tribunal, made an order for the service of the citation & petition on co-resp. by registered letters addressed to his mother & uncle.—STUMPEL v. STUMPEL & ZEPFEL (1900), 70 L. J. P. 6; 17 T. L. R. 17.

3894. —— Letters of request refused.]—Where, upon a citation & petition for dissolution of marriage, it appeared that resp. & co-resp. were known to be residing at certain addresses in Portugal, the ct., after letters of request had been applied for & refused, dispensed with personal service & ordered substituted service to be effected by registered letters.—WRAY v. WRAY & D'ALMEIDA, [1901] P. 132; 70 L. J. P. 32; 84 L. T. 64; 17 T. L. R. 242.

Annotation:—Refd. Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271.

3895. —— Active service.]—TURNER v. TURNER, No. 3863, ante.

3896. Co-respondent's name unknown—Citation in name known to respondent.]—NICOLAS v. NICOLAS, No. 3807, ante.

ii. In Suits for Judicial Separation.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 9.

3897. Respondent's address unknown—After due inquiries made—Affidavits in support.]—In a suit by the wife for judicial separation, application having been made for an order that service of the citation & copy of the petition upon the father of the husband should be deemed good service, upon affidavits which stated that the wife did not know where the husband was, & that his father, though it was believed he knew his address, would not disclose it, & that the wife had last heard from her husband in 1854, when he wrote to her; the Judge Ordinary refused to make the order without an affidavit that inquiries had been made for the husband at the place from which the letter was addressed, but subsequently granted it on an affidavit that such inquiries had been made there, & that he had left & gone to another place which he had also left, & that the person in whose employ he had been at the latter place did not know whither he had gone.—LACEY v. LACEY (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 24.

iii. In Suits for Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 9.

Service of written demand for return to cohabitation.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, D., ante.

3898. Power to order substituted service—Of demand, petition & decree.]—PALMER v. PALMER, Re THOMASSON'S PETITION, No. 4767, post.

3899. When court will order—Respondent's address unknown—Service on solicitor.]—WATERS v. WATERS, No. 2445, ante.

3900. —— Respondent's address withheld.]—If the ct. is satisfied that the residence of an intended resp. is wilfully kept from the knowledge of petitioner, it will order substituted service of the demand for cohabitation required by Additional Rules & Regulations, Jan. 30, 1869, r. 175, as well as of the petition & citation.—Re SHEEHY (1876), 1 P. D. 423; sub nom. O'SHEEHY v. O'SHEEHY, 34 L. T. 367.

—The making of an order for substitutional service of the writ of summons in a divorce action is within the jurisdiction of a local master.—S. v. S. & H. (1922), 63 D. L. R. 279; 15 Sask. L. R. 132; [1922] 1 W. W. R. 221.—CAN.

Annotation:—Apld. Palmer v. Palmer (1921), 125 L. T. 864.

3901. —— —— Service on solicitor.]—In a suit by the husband for restitution of conjugal rights, a decree was made that the wife should return to cohabitation. The wife was abroad; her address was kept secret by her friends, & personal service of the decree could not be effected. Substituted service on her attorney was in consequence allowed, & the decree remaining unobeyed, the ct., without requiring a previous writ of attachment to issue, granted a writ of sequestration against the wife's separate estate, for the purpose of enforcing obedience to its order.—MILLER v. MILLER (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 54; 39 L. J. P. & M. 38; 22 L. T. 418; 18 W. R. 585.

Annotations:—Mentd. Allen v. Allen (1885), 10 P. D. 187; Hyde v. Hyde (1888), 13 P. D. 166; R. v. Wigand, Re Wigand (1913), 82 L. J. K. B. 735.

(b) Application for Leave to Effect.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 12, 13.

3902. Affidavit in support—Necessity for—By petitioner.]—On an application to allow substituted service of a petition on a co-resp., there should be an affidavit by petitioner.—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS & POCOCK, [1896] P. 153; 65 L. J. P. 98.

3903. —— Respondent's address unknown.]—LACEY v. LACEY, No. 3897, ante.

3904. —— ——.]—An affidavit by petitioner of his ignorance of the address of the parties to be served should be filed with applications for substituted service.—MARTIN v. MARTIN & VELLEMAN (1898), 78 L. T. 170.

3905. Divorce bill—Time for making application.]—In proceedings upon a divorce bill application was made in May, 1886, to dispense with personal service on resp. on the ground that his address was unknown to petitioner, that a solr. who had previously acted for the resp. had admitted that he knew of his address but had refused to divulge it & that resp. had been last heard of in Feb. 1886, being then at Montreal, in Canada:—Held: the application was premature, & must be refused.—GIFFORD'S DIVORCE BILL (1886), 12 App. Cas. 361, H. L.

(c) Methods of Substituted Service.

i. In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 11, 12.

3906. Service at address in appearance book.]—NUTTALL v. NUTTALL, No. 4191, post.

3907. Last known address.]—NUTTALL v. NUTTALL, No. 4191, post.

3908. Service on relations.]—STUMPEL v. STUMPEL & ZEPFEL, No. 3893, ante.

ii. By Registered Post.

3909. Service complete on proof of receipt by respondent.]—The ct. made an order for substituted service of a divorce petition & citation upon a husband by registered letter; but directed that such service should not be treated as complete service until the ct. should be satisfied that the letter was actually received by the proposed resp.—COX v. COX (1889), 61 L. T. 698.

3910. Respondent abroad—Protected by foreign law from service.]—TRÜBNER v. TRÜBNER & CRISTIANI, No. 3892, ante.

3911. —— Refusal of authorities to serve or allow service—Service on relations.]—STUMPEL v. STUMPEL & ZEPFEL, No. 3893, ante.

3912. —— Letters of request refused.]—WRAY v. WRAY & D'ALMEIDA, No. 3894, ante.

3913. —— Active service.]—TURNER v. TURNER, No. 3863, ante.

By Advertisement in the Press.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 12.

3914. Respondent's address unknown—Fruitless inquiries made.]—Where the husband had had no tidings of his wife, who left him in 1850, except as living with the adulterer in 1851, & could gain no information of her by inquiring of her relations or at the places she was last supposed to have been at, the ct. directed the citation to be left in the registry, & advertisements of that fact to be inserted in newspapers.—PECKOVER v. PECKOVER & JOLLY (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 219; 31 L. T. O. S. 269; 164 E. R. 700.

Annotation:—Folld. Appleyard v. Appleyard (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 257.

3915. Co-respondent's name unknown—Service by advertisement in name given.]—NICOLAS v. NICOLAS, No. 3807, ante.

3916. Sufficiency of insertions—Twice with the interval of a week.]—(1) When an order has been made, dispensing with personal service upon a resp., a copy of it should be brought in with the other papers, when the ct. is moved to direct the mode of trial.

(2) The insertion in a newspaper of advertisements on the 7th & 14th of a month, is a sufficient compliance with an order to advertise twice with the interval of a week.—ELSLEY v. ELSLEY, BEACHAM & BAGSHAW (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 145.

Re-service of amended petitions.]—See Sub-sect. 3, J., ante.

F. Proof of Service—Affidavits.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 11, 13, 14.

3917. Affidavit of service—Contents—Delivery of certified copy of petition.]—The original citation, together with a copy, as also a certified copy of the petition, were forwarded to Australia, with full directions, for service on resp. On the return of the citation it was found that the affidavit of service made no mention of the certified copy of the petition having been left with resp.:—Held: nevertheless pltf. might proceed to prove her petition.—MOON v. MOON (1859), 5 Jur. N. S. 1365.

3918. —— —— —— Allegation that party served is party to suit.]—An affidavit of service of the citation, etc., should allege that the party served is a resp. in the suit.—TEMPLE v. TEMPLE & LAING (1861), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 34.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 5.—E. (c) iii.

c. Form of advertisement—Where to be circulated.]—If an application for leave to advertise a petition for dissolution of marriage in lieu of service is granted, the advertisement should be circulated in the district where resp. most acquaintances, & should contain a footnote requesting friends to bring it to resp.'s notice.—HURLEY v. HURLEY (1909), 28 N. Z. L. R. 725.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 5.—F.

3917 i. Affidavit of service—Contents—Delivery of certified copy of petition.]—Where the affidavit of service on resp. states that the deponent served "a certified copy of the petition under the seal of the ct." & that "a true copy of which petition . . . is hereunto annexed," these statements are not inconsistent.—UPTON v. UPTON, [1924] 2 W. W. R. 1092; 34 Man. L. R. 333; 3 D. L. R. 975.—CAN.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 5, F. & G.; sub-sects. 6 & 7, A. & B.] 3919. —— —— Identification of party served.]—It is necessary that the person who serves the petition & citation on resp. & co-resp. should have resp. & co-resp. properly identified to him, & he must depose to this fact in his affidavit of service. SMITH v. SMITH & ARMSTRONG (1919), 64 Sol. Jo.

3920. No appearance of respondents.]—In all cases in which a party served with the petition, whether resp. or co-resp., does not appear, the affidavit of service must prove the identity of the person served with the party to the action. If the affidavit fails to do this, the identity must be proved at the hearing.—SPENDLEY v. SPENDLEY & GOARD, HOBBS v. HOBBS, [1920] P. 40; 89 L. J. P. 64, 80; 122 L. T. 464; 36 T. L. R. 121, 187.

3921. —— —— Definite statement of service—Reference to indorsement of service on citation insufficient.]—An affidavit of service of a citation which refers to the certificate of service indorsed on the citation, & states that such indorsement is true, is insufficient. It should state in terms that the citation was served.—RICH v. RICH (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 77.

3922. —— —— Identification of citation served.]—In a matrimonial suit, an affidavit of service which stated that deponent had served resp. with "a citation against the above-named resp., bearing date," etc., was rejected for not stating that it was the citation in the suit.—DICK v. DICK (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 94, n.

3923. Service of divorce bill—Affidavit of personal service out of the jurisdiction—Whether received in lieu of personal attendance—Petitioner in poor circumstances.]—Resp. in a divorce bill being out of the jurisdiction & petitioner in poor circumstances, the House of Lords dispensed with the attendance at the bar of a witness to prove personal service of the bill & the several orders of the House on resp., & ordered that an affidavit proving such personal service, & sworn under 18 & 19 Vict. c. 42, before the British minister or consul at the place where resp. resided should be deemed sufficient proof of such service.—JOYNT'S DIVORCE BILL (1888), 13 App. Cas. 741, H. L.

3924. Admission by respondent—By identified signature in citation.]—The duly identified signature of resp. in the citation admitting service, is, in general, sufficient proof of service.—ALTON v. ALTON (1920), 64 Sol. Jo. 308.

3925. —— Signed admission.]—In suits for dissolution of marriage, after non-compliance with a decree for restitution of conjugal rights, the ct. will not in all cases insist on oral proof of service of the restitution decree by the person who served the decree, but the fact of service may be proved by proof of an admission of service signed by resp.—DROGHEDA (COUNTESS) v. DROGHEDA (EARL) (1921), 38 T. L. R. 113.

3926. Oral proof of service—Necessity for.]—In suits for dissolution of marriage, after non-compliance with a decree for restitution of conjugal rights, the person who served the decree for restitution on resp. should be called to prove that fact.—PEARMAIN v. PEARMAIN (1921), 126 L. T. 223; 38 T. L. R. 21.

Annotation:—Expld. Drogheda v. Drogheda (1921), 38 T. L. R. 113.

3927. —— ——.]—DROGHEDA (COUNTESS) v. DROGHEDA (EARL), No. 3925, ante.

G. Dispensation with Service.

Substituted service in lieu of personal service, see Sub-sect. 5, E., ante.

3928. Whether leave to dispense with service essential—Death of party to be served—Petition for damages only.]—A motion for leave to dispense with service on the wife of a husband's petition for damages only, in a case in which the wife has died, is unnecessary.—KENT v. ATKINSON (1922), 127 L. T. 559; subsequent proceedings, [1923] P. 142.

3929. Order made on ground of inability to trace respondents—Rescinded on subsequent discovery.]—WORTH v. WORTH (1859), Sea. & Sm. 109.

SUB-SECT. 6.—FILING.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 11.

3930. Necessity for return & filing of citation—Although personal service dispensed with.]—(1) The citation must be returned into & filed in the registry, even when personal service has been dispensed with, before the ct. will give directions as to the mode of trial.

I cannot accede to this application. I think I ought not to depart from the old practice in the registry. According to the old practice the proceedings could not go on until the citation had been returned. The requiring the citation to be returned is not a mere matter of form, it is necessary in order that evidence may be preserved that the proper steps have been taken. There would be nothing to show in the registry that a citation had ever issued, unless it were returned & filed (per CUR.).

(2) Where the only witnesses to the acts of adultery relied upon are resident in a brothel, & there is consequently a risk of their evidence being been made, & from whom they have been made, & that a reasonable search has been made to discover the whereabouts of resp. in the place where he or she was last heard of.—BOYD v. BOYD, HUTCHINSON v. HUTCHINSON, WELLSMAN v. WELLSMAN (1905), 25 N. Z. L. R. 260.—N.Z.

3919 i. —— —— Identification of party served.]—UPTON v. UPTON, [1924] 2 W. W. R. 1092; 34 Man. L. R. 333; 3 D. L. R. 975.—CAN.

3919 ii. —— —— —— ——.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage where there is no appearance of resp., the ct. will insist on proof of the identity of the latter with the person served with the summons & petition before making a decree.—JELLY v. JELLY (1902), 22 N. Z. L. R. 550.—N.Z.

3926 i. Oral proof of service—Necessity for.]—In divorce proceedings, where resp. does not appear, it is not a safe practice to rely on an affidavit of service, for if there is doubt the ct. will require oral evidence of the service of the citation.—HENDERSON v. HENDERSON (1885), 4 N. Z. L. R. 211 (S. C.).—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 5.—G.

f. Order made on ground of inability to trace respondents.]—Service of citation upon resp. or co-resp. may be dispensed with if after a bonâ fide effort has been made to trace them, they cannot be found.—PARKER v. PARKER & GORST (1922), 30 B. C. R. 560.—CAN.

g. Application to dispense with service—Affidavit in support—Requirements of.]—Where an application is made to dispense with personal service of the writ of summons & petition in a suit for dissolution of marriage an affidavit by petitioner is necessary, & his statements must be corroborated by the affidavit or affidavits of some reputable independent person or persons, & the affidavits must show sufficient facts to satisfy the judge that every effort has been made to find out resp. & to give him or her an opportunity of appearing, & must show with particularity the inquiries that have lost, the ct. will allow a commission to issue for their immediate examination.

h. Principles on which exercised.]—Although the ct. has power to dispense with service of a petition for dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery on a co-resp., who is beyond the jurisdiction, even against his wish, & although he does not submit to the jurisdiction, that power ought not under ordinary circumstances to be exercised, for the co-resp. is entitled to have the charge made against him brought to his knowledge in order that he may have an opportunity of denying it.—HUBBARD v. HUBBARD (1909), 28 N. Z. L. R. 551.—N.Z.

(3) In the absence of resps., the ct., & not petitioner, should select the comr. before whom the evidence is to be taken.—COOKE v. COOKE & QUAILE (1859), 2 Sw. & Tr. 50 ; 28 L. J. P. & M. 37 ; 23 J. P. 72 ; 164 E. R. 910.

3931. Indorsement of service—Power of court to dispense with.]—A citation cannot be filed in the registry without an indorsement thereon of personal service, as required by Rule 13 ; but the ct. can dispense with that rule, & direct the citation to be filed, notwithstanding the absence of such indorsement.—COGHILL v. COGHILL & LAURIERO (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 26 ; 35 L. J. P. & M. 32.

3932. Lost citation—Loss by petitioner—Filing of duplicate.]—The citation was personally served on resp. by petitioner's attorney, but the clerk who was directed to file it with certificate of service in the registry misappropriated the fee & lost the citation. The ct. ordered a duplicate to be filed in the registry.—CHILLCOTT v. CHILLCOTT & SMITH (1873), 43 L. J. P. & M. 8 ; 29 L. T. 548 ; 22 W. R. 166.

3933. —— —— Dispensation with filing—Proof of service.]—The ct. will not make an order dispensing with the necessity for the return of a citation into the registry as required by Rule 14, even where it is satisfied that the original citations have been lost by the carelessness or fraud of a defaulting solr., without proof of the service thereof upon both resp. & co-resp.—PERRET v. PERRET & ALLT (1876), 35 L. T. 910.

3934. —— Alleged loss in registry—Refusal of certificate by registrar.]—In a case where, after repeated searches in the principal Probate Registry at Somerset House, the original citation could not be found, & a clerk to the solr., who was, at the time of the alleged service on resp., acting for petitioner, made an affidavit setting out the facts & stating that, on the day following the alleged service, he lodged the original citation in the principal registry, the registrar, after personally cross-examining the said clerk as to his affidavit, refused to certify that the case was in order & ready for trial. On appeal to the judge, upon motion :—Held : the registrar was right in refusing his certificate.—CRIDLAND v. CRIDLAND (1889), 60 L. T. 398.

3935. Order made of change of solicitor—Must be drawn up & filed—Before new solicitor can take steps.]—Where an order has been made for the change of the attorney in a suit, the order must be drawn up & filed in the registry, before any step can be taken by the fresh attorney.—GRICE v. GRICE & PENFOLD (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 134.

SUB-SECT. 7.—APPEARANCE.

A. In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 15, 16.

Notice to appear—Necessity for indorsement on petition.]—See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 2.

3936. Effect of appearance without answer—No right of audience.]—(1) When co-resp. has appeared to the citation, but has given in no answer to the petition, he cannot be heard even on the question of costs.

(2) In decreeing dissolution of marriage, on the ground of the wife's adultery, the ct. has no power, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 45, to alter a settlement made on the marriage.—NORRIS v. NORRIS & GYLES (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 174 ; 27 L. J. P. & M. 72 ; 31 L. T. O. S. 139 ; 6 W. R. 640 ; 164 E. R. 680.

Annotations :—As to (2) Expld. Michell v. Michell, [1891] P. 208. Consd. Morgan v. Morgan & Kirby, [1923] P. 1. Refd. Loraine v. Loraine & Murphy, [1912] P. 86.

3937. —— —— —.]—A co-resp. who has appeared but not answered is not entitled to cross-examine witnesses, or to address the jury on the question of damages ; but the ct. will allow him on the close of the case, & with reference to the question of costs, to examine the witnesses as to his knowledge that resp. was a married woman.—LYNE v. LYNE & BLACKNEY (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 508 ; 37 L. J. P. & M. 9 ; 17 L. T. 297 ; 16 W. R. 159.

Annotation :—Mentd. Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292.

3938. Appearance after long delay.]—A petition for dissolution had been filed so far back as 1867, & co-resp. had not answered. He had been living abroad, & was entirely without means. In order that he might be heard as to costs, the ct. now allowed him to come in & file an answer, on the condition that it should simply traverse the petition.—ROWLAND v. ROWLAND & MILES (1870), 21 L. T. 733.

3939. Appearance by wrong co-respondent.]—A husband's divorce petition alleged that resp. had committed adultery with one F., who was named as co-resp. W., the father of F., was served with the petition & citation, but F. took the papers to a solr. & an appearance was entered for F. An amended petition was served on F. The evidence showed that W., & not F., had committed adultery with resp. :—Held : the appearance for F. was a nullity, & as no appearance had been entered for W. the case against him was undefended.—DILLON v. DILLON, LESTER, & CHAMBERLAIN (1920), 36 T. L. R. 250.

Effect of intervention by King's Proctor—Non-disclosure of material facts—Right of respondent & co-respondent to appear.]—See No. 3845, ante.

B. Time for Appearance.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 2, 16 A.

3940. Within twenty-one days of service of citation.]—An appearance may be entered in a matrimonial suit at any time within twenty-one days of the service of the citation.—CHILD v. CHILD (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 537 ; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 156 ; 12 W. R. 992 ; 164 E. R. 1384.

3941. Time mentioned in citation—Eight days—Motion for directions before expiry of time for answer.]—If a resp. does not enter an appearance within the time (generally eight days) named in the citation, petitioner can move for directions as to the mode of trial without waiting for the expiration of the time (twenty-one days) allowed by Rule 28 for filing an answer.—WOOD v. WOOD & HUTCHINS (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 266 ; 36 L. J. P. & M. 48 ; 15 L. T. 418.

3942. Not day before trial of issue.]—An issue raised by resp. in a suit by the husband for dissolution of marriage, in which damages were claimed against co-resp., having been set down for trial by a jury, the ct. refused to allow co-resp., on the day previous to that fixed for the trial, to enter an appearance, on the ground that the application was then too late.—POUNSFORD v. POUNSFORD & BULPIN (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 188.

3943. Conditional leave to appear after expiration of time—Respondent prevented by poverty from appearing earlier—Costs not taxed against petitioner.]—In a suit, by the husband, for dissolution of marriage the wife did not appear. Co-resp. filed an answer, & the issue raised was set down for trial. The ct. subsequently allowed the wife to enter an appearance upon an affidavit by her denying the adultery, & stating that she had been prevented by poverty from appearing earlier, but directed that the costs should not be taxed against the husband.—BENT v. BENT & FOOTMAN (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 160.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 7, B., C. & D.; sub-sect. 8, A. & B.]

3944. —— Co-respondent ignorant of suit—Security for costs.]—STONE v. STONE & APPLETON, No. 5246, post.

3945. —— Confrontation for identification.]—Resp. was allowed to appear & answer, after the expiration of the time for entering an appearance, on condition that she would allow herself to be confronted with the witnesses for petitioner, for the purpose of being identified.—HINDMARSH v. HINDMARSH & HUSSEY (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 24; 35 L. J. P. & M. 31.

C. Absolute Appearance.

See, generally, PRACTICE.

3946. Effect of—Submission to jurisdiction—Further time to answer.]—ZYCKLINSKI v. ZYCKLINSKI, No. 3952, post.

3947. —— —— Objection at trial.]—A resp. in a suit for dissolution of marriage having entered an absolute appearance, cannot afterwards plead to the jurisdiction of the ct., nor can she raise such objection by act on petition.

If a resp. intends to plead to the jurisdiction of the ct., she should appear under protest.

Semble: at the hearing she may, notwithstanding object to the jurisdiction.—FORSTER v. FORSTER & BERRIDGE (1862), 3 Sw. & Tr. 144; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 185; 9 L. T. 147; 164 E. R. 1229.

Annotations:—Folld. Garstin v. Garstin (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 73; Wilson v. Wilson (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 341. Refd. Le Sueur v. Le Sueur (1876), 1 P. D. 139.

3948. —— —— Amendment of appearance.]

A resp. who appears absolutely thereby admits the jurisdiction of the ct., & cannot afterwards amend his appearance in order to plead to the jurisdiction.—GARSTIN v. GARSTIN (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 73; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 45; 13 W. R. 508; 164 E. R. 1443.

Annotations: Refd. Cavendish v. Cavendish & Rochefoucauld (1866), 15 W. R. 182. Mentd. Gordon v. Gordon, [1904] P. 163.

3949. —— —— Delay in filing answer on merits.]—WILSON v. WILSON & HOWELL, No. 2325, ante.

3950. —— —— Dismissal from suit.]—A co-resp., after entering an appearance unconditionally, filed an answer alleging that his domicil was German, that the adultery charged, if committed at all, was committed in Germany, & that the citation had been served on him in the United States & claiming to be dismissed from the suit:—Held: the co-resp. might be dismissed from the suit, but as he had not taken the earliest opportunity of disputing the jurisdiction, he was entitled only to his costs of appearance.—GRANGE v. GRANGE & ARENDT, [1892] P. 245; 61 L. J. P. 125; 67 L. T. 360.

Annotations:—Folld. Baker v. Baker, Baker v. Baker & Dwyer (1908), 24 T. L. R. 493. Refd. Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271.

3951. —— —— ——.]—BAKER v. BAKER, BAKER v. BAKER & DWYER, No. 3829, ante.

—— ——.]—See, further, CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 423, 425, 426, Nos. 890–892, 911–913.

D. Appearance under Protest.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 16 B.

3952. General rule.]—According to the practice of the Ecclesiastical Courts an objection to the jurisdiction might be taken at any time, though it was more usual that it should be taken at the commencement of the proceedings. The proper course for a resp. who intends to object to the jurisdiction is to appear under protest, & if he wishes for time to plead to the jurisdiction to apply expressly for time to do so.

Wife filed petition for dissolution of marriage which was served on the husband, who appeared absolutely, & obtained further time to answer. He filed an answer, objecting to the jurisdiction of the ct. by reason of his want of an English domicil, & the incapacity of petitioner to institute a suit in her own name by reason of her infancy. On motion to take this answer off the file:—Held: it was too late for resp. to raise such objection.

A minor should sue by guardian & not by attorney.—ZYCKLINSKI v. ZYCKLINSKI (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 420; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 37; 5 L. T. 690; 164 E. R. 1059.

Annotation:—Folld. Wilson v. Wilson & Howell (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 341.

3953. Application to set aside service out of jurisdiction—Submission to jurisdiction.]—Pltf. brought an action against deft. in the High Ct. of the Isle of Man claiming damages for crim. con. with pltf.'s wife. Deft. was at no material time domiciled or resident in the Isle of Man. Pltf. obtained leave to serve deft. with a writ of summons out of the jurisdiction & deft. was duly served with a writ in England. Deft. subsequently appeared "conditionally" & applied to the ct. to set aside the order for service out of the jurisdiction & the writ on the ground (inter alia) that deft. was domiciled in England. The ct. dismissed the application. Deft. took no further part in the proceedings & pltf. eventually recovered judgment in the action for damages & costs. Pltf. then brought this action against deft. to enforce the judgment:—Held: deft. by reason of his application to the Isle of Man Ct. had voluntarily submitted to the jurisdiction of that ct. & the judgment was, therefore, enforceable against him in England.—HARRIS v. TAYLOR, [1915] 2 K. B. 580; 84 L. J. K. B. 1839; 113 L. T. 221, C. A.

Annotation:—Mentd. Moreland v. Eley, Eley v. Moreland, [1916] 1 K. B. 85.

3954. By co-respondent—Plea to jurisdiction—Application to dismiss from suit.]—On a petition for dissolution of marriage brought by the husband, resp. appeared absolutely, co-resp. under protest. Co-resp. filed an act on petition, in which he set out facts to show that the ct. had no jurisdiction to entertain the suit. Petitioner filed an answer thereto; & there was a replication; & the act on petition was set down for hearing. Petitioner then applied to the ct. to be allowed to withdraw his answer to the act on petition, & that co-resp. should be dismissed from the suit on the payment of his costs. The ct. granted the application, notwithstanding the opposition of co-resp.—WILSON v. WILSON & HOWELL (1872), L. R. 2 P. D. 353; 41 L. J. P. & M. 33; 26 L. T. 139; 20 W. R. 373.

Annotations:—Refd. Grange v. Grange, [1892] P. 245; Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271.

—— ——.]—See, further, CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., p. 425, Nos. 908–910.

3955. By husband—Plea to jurisdiction—Wife's costs.]—A husband cannot refuse to pay & give security for his wife's costs of divorce suit or Act on Petition on the ground that he disputes the jurisdiction. A husband who appears under protest to a wife's petition & disputes the jurisdiction on the ground of his having a foreign domicil may be ordered to pay his wife's costs of suit up to the setting down of the Act on Petition & to give security for her costs attendant on the Act on Petition.—SMITH v. SMITH, [1923] P. 128; 92 L. J. P. 107; 129 L. T. 187; 39 T. L. R. 294.

SUB-SECT. 8.—PARTICULARS OF PLEADINGS.

A. In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 27.

Striking out particulars, see Sub-sect. 9, post.

3956. Right of respondent to—Although further time obtained to plead.]—By obtaining further time to plead resp. waives any objection to the sufficiency of the charge of adultery in the petition. He is still, however, entitled to particulars of the charge.—HEPWORTH v. HEPWORTH (1860), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 215; 6 Jur. N. S. 831.

3957. Explanatory affidavit on failure to give particulars.]—HIGGS v. HIGGS & HOPKINS, No. 3968, post.

3958. —— Deponent must have seen & questioned witnesses.]—C. v. C. & M. (1910), No. 3972, post.

3959. Previous marriage.]—SILVER v. SILVER, No. 4007, post.

B. Particulars of Charges of Adultery.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 27.

3960. Leave to deliver particulars—Granted on application of petitioner—Though respondent making no request.]—Petitioner having made a general charge of adultery against resp., was granted leave to deliver particulars of the charge though resp. did not ask for particulars.—E. v. E. (1907), 23 T. L. R. 364; subsequent proceedings, sub nom. VON ECKHARDSTEIN v. VON ECKHARDSTEIN, 23 T. L. R. 539, 593, C. A.

Annotations:- Refd. Walker v. Walker (1912), 107 L. T. 655. Mentd. Von Eckhardstein v. Von Eckhardstein (1907), 23 T. L. R. 539.

3961. Whether particulars ordered—Instead of amendment.]—KING v. KING & DENT (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 64, n.

3962. —— ——.]—Where co-resp. charged petitioner with having committed adultery with three females, named, without time or place, in one & the same paragraph of the answer, the ct. refused to let the answer be amended by alleging the adultery with each of the three females in three distinct paragraphs, with time & place, on the ground that the inconvenience arising from the mode of pleading might be corrected by applying for particulars.—HUNT v. HUNT & DUKE (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 574; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 163; 6 L. T. 727; 164 E. R. 1120.

3963. —— ——.]—WODEHOUSE v. WODEHOUSE & FARROW (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 90, n.

3964. —— ——.]—PORTER v. PORTER & JAGGARD, No. 3656, ante.

As to amendment of pleadings, see Sub-sect. 3, ante.

3965. —— Of dates—Adultery alleged between specified dates.]—A petition for dissolution of marriage alleged a specific act of adultery, on Aug. 25, & then went on to allege other acts of adultery between that day & Oct. 31. The Judge Ordinary declined to order particulars of the dates of these latter acts of adultery.—BODDY v. BODDY & GROVER (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 16; subsequent proceedings (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 23, 95.

3966. —— Of dates & places—Frequent opportunities for committing offence.]—GRAVES v. GRAVES, No. 2807, ante.

3967. —— —— ——.]—A petition for dissolution of marriage alleged that co-resp. had lived in the same house with petitioner & his wife for two years, & that the adultery was committed "on divers occasions during that period." The ct. refused to order the petition to be amended by the insertion of further particulars of the acts of adultery, being of opinion that it gave sufficient information of the charge to enable resp. to meet it.—SMITH v. SMITH & LIDDARD (1859), Sea. & Sm. 1; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 62; 23 J. P. 809; 5 Jur. N. S. 1318.

3968. —— —— Adultery alleged on divers occasions after specified date.]—(1) A petition by a husband for dissolution of marriage alleged that on divers occasions since a specified date resp. had accompanied co-resp. to divers places in Bristol & its neighbourhood unknown to petitioner, & had committed adultery with co-resp. The ct. ordered that particulars of this charge should be given or that petitioner should file an affidavit that he was unable to do so.

(2) It is the practice to ask for an order for particulars by summons before the judge in chambers, & not by motion in open ct. When an application is made in ct. which might have been made in chambers, appel., if successful, is only entitled to such costs as would have been incurred in chambers.—HIGGS v. HIGGS & HOPKINS (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 64; 11 W. R. 154.

3969. —— —— ——.]—LIDSTONE v. LIDSTONE & EDMONDS (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 66, n.

3970. —— —— Adultery alleged at divers times in particular year—In respondent's answer.]—WELLS v. WELLS & HUMMERSTON (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 65, n.

3971. —— —— —— Respondent charged with being habitually visited—After specified date.]—PORTER v. PORTER & JAGGARD, No. 3656, ante.

3972. —— Of dates & times of day—Adultery alleged at two addresses between various dates.]—In a petition for divorce petitioner alleged adultery by resp. at two addresses between various dates. On an application for further & better particulars, the registrar ordered particulars of "dates & times of day, or explanatory affidavit." Petitioner's solr. filed an affidavit that he personally or through his agent had caused the witnesses who

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 8.—A.

k. Right of defendant to—Affidavit of innocence necessary—Action for criminal conversation.]—In an action of crim. con., after pleading & examination of pltf. for discovery, particulars of the matters complained of should not be ordered except upon a full & satisfactory affidavit of deft. showing his innocence & ignorance of the ground of complaint.—MURRAY v. BROWN (1894), 16 P. R. 125.—CAN.

l. —— —— ——.]—In an action for crim. con., an order for particulars of the times & places of the illicit acts alleged in the statement of claim will not be made unless deft. makes an affidavit denying his guilt, & establishing his good faith in making the demand for particulars. Deft. should have particulars a reasonable length of time before the trial; & pltf. should have every opportunity to ascertain, in a proper manner, all the facts so obtainable, before being compelled to give particulars.—SOMERS v. KINGSBURY, [1924] 2 D. L. R. 195; 54 O. L. R. 166.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 8.—B.

m. Whether particulars ordered—Allegation of adultery—Suit for alimony.]—The statement of claim in an alimony suit contained the following clause: "Pltf. alleges & charges adultery on the part of deft. as a further ground for relief in the premises." Pltf. was ordered to give particulars would be subpœnaed to be carefully questioned & that they were unable to fix the dates:—Held: a person who swears an explanatory affidavit must himself have seen & questioned the witnesses; & therefore the affidavit sworn by petitioner's solr. was insufficient.—C. v. C. & M. (1910), 27 T. L. R. 161: 55 Sol. Jo. 141.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 8, B. & C.; sub-sect. 9.]

3973. Further & better particulars—What are—General charge dependent on wife's admissions—Giving name of alleged adulterer insufficient.]—In answer to an order for particulars of a general charge of adultery, petitioner gave the name of M., as the alleged adulterer, in respect of such general charge. On application for further particulars of time & place, it was stated that petitioner depended on written admissions of the wife as to this charge, & the Judge Ordinary ordered that if particulars were not given to resp.'s attorney earlier than ten days before the trial, petitioner should be confined to documentary evidence. Issue being joined, & directions as to the mode of trial taken, resp. applied for & obtained a commission to examine M., then in India, as a material witness; petitioner then moved to amend his petition by making M. second co-resp., but the ct. refused, holding that in the circumstances of the case the application was not bonâ fide, but with a view to shut M.'s mouth after petitioner knew of respondent's intention to examine him as a witness.

Semble: if M. had himself applied to be made a co-resp., so as to enable him to take part in the suit, the ct. would have granted the application.—CODRINGTON v. CODRINGTON & ANDERSON (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 368; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 62; 10 L. T. 139; 164 E. R. 1317; subsequent proceedings, 3 Sw. & Tr. 496; (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 63.

3974. —— —— Best particulars obtainable from witnesses.]—Under an order to give further & better particulars of the dates & places when & where alleged acts of adultery extending over ten months were committed, petitioner must give the best particulars which he can extract from the witnesses upon whom he relies to prove his case. It is not a sufficient compliance with such an order to allege generally that resp. & co-resp. were constantly meeting & were in resp.'s boudoir & bedroom together, & that they were frequently out riding & driving alone together, from which the ct. will be asked to infer that they committed adultery.—HARTOPP v. HARTOPP & COWLEY (EARL) (1902), 71 L. J. P. 78; 87 L. T. 188, C. A.

3975. —— Affidavit by petitioner of inability to give—Order restraining evidence of acts not included in particulars—In absence of notice before hearing.]—When particulars of a general charge of adultery contained in a petition have been ordered & delivered, petitioner, if he intends at the hearing to prove acts of adultery not included in the particulars, should give notice of them to the other side a reasonable time before the hearing. If he omits to do so the hearing will be adjourned. Where, in answer to an application for better particulars, petitioner makes an affidavit that he is unable to furnish them, the party applying ought to obtain an order that no evidence shall be given of any acts of adultery not included in the particulars, unless notice of it is given a reasonable time before the hearing.

Where a trial was adjourned on the ground that the evidence tendered in support of a general charge of adultery took the opposite party by surprise, the ct. refused to make any order as to the costs of the adjournment, being of opinion that the state of the pleadings & of the record was the fault of both parties.—BANCROFT v. BANCROFT & RUMNEY (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 610; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 31; 11 L. T. 515; 13 W. R. 506; 164 E. R. 1411.

C. Particulars of Charges of Cruelty.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 27.

3976. General rule.]—SUGGATE v. SUGGATE, No. 2641, ante.

3977. ——.]—It is not necessary that every paragraph in a petition by reason of cruelty should allege a fact or facts on which, if proved, the ct. could found a sentence. Some allegations short of this are admissible, as showing the habits & animus of the party charged. Allegations of actual violence, however general as to time & place, can only be met by an application on summons for particulars.

Semble: a party is not at liberty to traverse & demur at the same time, without leave of the ct.—LEETE v. LEETE (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 568; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 121; 6 L. T. 507; 164 E. R. 1118.

Annotation:—Expld. Green v. Green (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 64.

3978. Whether court will order particulars—Or amendment of petition—Charge of "divers acts of cruelty."]—A petition for judicial separation on the ground of cruelty should specify all the acts of resp. intended to be relied on as constituting cruelty. A general allegation, that during a specified time resp. "committed divers acts of cruelty," is bad, & is ground for an order that the petition be amended by specifying such acts, but not for an order that particulars of the acts of cruelty be given.—GOLDNEY v. GOLDNEY (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 13.

3979. General charge—Evidence of specific act.]—BROOK v. BROOK, No. 2669, ante.

3980. Humiliation—Names of persons before whom committed.]—Where in a petition by the wife against the husband he was, for the purpose of establishing cruelty, charged with using insulting language to her in the presence of servants & guests, with the object of humiliating & degrading her, petitioner was ordered to give particulars, setting forth the names of such servants & guests.—BISHOP v. BISHOP, [1901] P. 325; 70 L. J. P. 93; 85 L. T. 173; 17 T. L. R. 616.

SUB-SECT. 9.—STRIKING OUT PLEADINGS AND PARTICULARS.

3981. General rule—Where legal effect of allegations doubtful.]—In answer to a petition by the of the acts of adultery to be proved within a month, & limited to those only at the hearing. In default no evidence to be given under the general charge. Such allegation, without specifying particulars, is bad.—ROSENSTADT v. ROSENSTADT (1882), 9 P. R. 311. —CAN.

n. —— Action for criminal conversation—On application of defendant.]—In an action for crim. con. deft. is to particulars before pleading without filing an affidavit denying guilt.—RHINARD v. GINTHER (1916), 34 W. L. R. 69; 10 W. W. R. 181; 28 D. L. R. 628.—CAN.

o. —— Allegations by respondent & co-respondent.]—In a action for divorce resp. alleged against petitioner adultery, condonation of or connivance at resp.'s alleged adultery, abuse, assault, use of vile language, etc. Co-resp. alleged against petitioner condonation of & connivance at resp.'s alleged adultery. Resp. & co-resp. were ordered to give particulars of their allegations, including, where it was alleged the acts were done before others, the names of such other persons.—B. v. B., [1920] 1 W. W. R. 514; 30 Man. L. R. 366.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 9.

p. General rule—Distinction between pleadings of petitioner & respondent.]—A distinction must be made in wife for restitution of conjugal rights, the husband pleaded that the petition was not presented in good faith with the object of obtaining the relief sought for, inasmuch as petitioner had alleged in a former suit for judicial separation, in which she had failed, & inasmuch as she still alleged, that her husband had been guilty of an abominable crime. Resp. further pleaded that this amounted to cruelty on petitioner's part, & he prayed for a judicial separation on this ground. Upon a summons to strike out the answer on the ground that it contained no allegation of a matrimonial offence & disclosed no bar to the prayer of the petition:—Held: the case ought to be left to be dealt with on the merits, it being the practice of the ct. not to strike out a pleading where a reasonable doubt existed as to the legal effect of the allegation therein contained, &, where such legal effect could properly be discussed after all the facts had been elicited in evidence at the trial.—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL (1894), 71 L. T. 268.

3982. Irrelevancy.]—The answer of the wife, in a suit for dissolution of marriage, by reason of adultery, stated, in para. 2, that the wife, prior to the marriage, had been living with A. another man; that petitioner had frequently visited her, & had induced her to leave A. & cohabit with him, & had lived with her at a house of ill fame:—Held: para. 2 should be struck out, as opening too wide a field of inquiry, & being irrelevant; the conduct therein charged was not "wilful misconduct," which must be taken to be misconduct after the marriage.—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY (1859), 28 L. J. P. & M. 81; 5 Jur. N. S. 128.

3983. ——.]—WELLS v. WELLS & HUMMERSTON (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 65, n.

3984. ——.]—Where, in answer to petition by the wife, the husband alleged, in one paragraph, that the wife had been incontinent before marriage, & in another that she had been incontinent before & had committed adultery with the same person after marriage, the ct. ordered the whole of the former paragraph, & so much of the latter as related to incontinence before marriage to be struck out as irrelevant.—MAWFORD v. MAWFORD (1866), 14 W. R. 516.

3985. ——.]—BROOKING-PHILLIPS v. BROOKING-PHILLIPS, No. 3560, ante.

3986. —— Whether respondent may raise objection—Where default made in not answering.]—Where resp. is in default by failing to file an answer in due course, he cannot object to a paragraph of the petition on the ground of irrelevancy.—BURRELL v. BURRELL (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 136.

3987. Pleading evidence.]—A petition by a wife for a judicial separation on the ground of adultery, contained a paragraph alleging that resp. had had two illegitimate children, the issue of an adulterous connection with H. M., born on certain specified days:—Held: the paragraph was objectionable as pleading merely evidence, & should be struck out.—MATISON v. MATISON (1860), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 80.

3988. Charge abandoned.]—HUDSON v. HUDSON, No. 2598, ante.

3989. Want of prosecution—Failure to obey court's orders.]—WARWICK v. WARWICK & GIOVANNI (1907), Times, July 25.

3990. Wife's petition for restitution—Answer alleging circumstances & evidence in former suit for judicial separation—Allowance to petitioner.]—RADFORD v. RADFORD, No. 3021, ante.

3991. Particulars—Containing fresh charges.]—Where resp. filed as particulars of cruelty alleged in her answer allegations of cruelty which did not correspond with the charge in the answer but were fresh charges, the ct. ordered them to be struck out.—SANDERSON v. SANDERSON, STEPHENS & HISCOX (1871), 41 L. J. P. & M. 24; 25 L. T. 857; 20 W. R. 261.

3992. —— ——.]—In a wife's petition for judicial separation on the ground of cruelty, particulars were ordered to be given, but as they did not correspond with the original charges, the ct. ordered them to be struck out. Subsequently they were allowed to be added to the petition as new charges.—GRAFTON v. GRAFTON (1873), 28 L. T. 144.

3993. —— —— King's Proctor's intervention.]—Upon intervention by the Queen's Proctor, alleging (inter alia) that petitioner (husband) had committed adultery with A. & B., particulars were ordered & delivered, relating to the said adultery. Subsequently, the Queen's Proctor delivered additional particulars, in which, for the first time, petitioner was said to have committed adultery with C.:—Held: the additional particulars were bad, & must be struck out.—PIERCE v. PIERCE (1892), 66 L. T. 861.

3994. Cross-petitions similar to those made in previous suit.]—The husband prayed for a dissolution on the ground of adultery, & the wife, in her answer, pleaded that in his former suit the issue of cruelty had been found in her favour. The ct. refused to strike out this plea.—YEATMAN v. YEATMAN & RUMMELL (1869), 21 L. T. 401.

3995. ——.]—In a suit for dissolution brought by the wife, resp. made countercharges of adultery against her. On the allegation that the charges so made were identically same as those made in a previous suit brought by the husband in which a jury had decided that the wife had not been guilty of adultery, the ct. on motion was asked to strike out the paragraphs containing such charges:—Held: in order that all the facts should appear on the pleadings, the proper course was for petitioner to file a replication, so that resp. might reply to it.—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON (1877), 2 P. D. 75; 46 L. J. P. 47; 36 L. T. 414; 25 W. R. 376.

3996. Answer alleging conduct conducing—Discretion of court.]—COX v. COX, No. 3417, ante.

Discretionary bars to relief.]—See Sect. 7, subsect. 4, ante.

striking out the pleadings of a person who voluntarily asks the assistance of the ct. as a pltf., & a person who is haled before the ct. against his will as a deft. In the former case the ct. can impose conditions before lending assistance; in the latter, it is the duty of the ct. to refuse to permit injustice to be done, even against a person who may be in actual contempt.

Petitioner obtained against resp. an order for alimony & for payment into ct. of a sum of money to cover her costs. Resp. resided beyond the jurisdiction & he had no property within the jurisdiction. He did not obey the order but filed an answer disputing the jurisdiction of the ct. Petitioner made an application to strike out the answer on the ground of resp.'s default & contempt in not obeying the order of the ct.:—Held: even if it could be said that resp. was in contempt there was no authority for a proceeding so drastic as striking out resp.'s answer, thus leaving a divorce action undefended.—YATES v. YATES, [1924] 2 W. W. R. 64; 2 D. L. R. 1175; 34 Man. L. R. 170.—CAN.

q. Answer alleging wife's adultery—Discretion of court—Refusal to strike out—Public morality.]—Where a petition for divorce a mensâ et thoro was brought by a wife, & also a cross-petition by the husband, & the latter had not complied with an order for alimony made in the wife's petition, the ct. refused in the exercise of its discretion on the ground of public morality, to strike out a paragraph in the husband's answer in which the wife's adultery was alleged.—ANNESLEY v. ANNESLEY (1913), 47 I. L. T.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 10, A., B., C., D. & E.]

SUB-SECT. 10.—ANSWER TO PETITION.

A. In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 21, 22, 24.

Bars to relief, see Sect. 7, ante.

3997. Time for filing—Twenty-one days after citation.]—Notwithstanding Rule 14 provides that where resp. does not answer the petition within twenty-one days, petitioner may proceed with the evidence, petitioner cannot at once proceed to give evidence, but before doing so must serve resp. with a summons to show cause.—WARD v. WARD (1858), 27 L. J. P. & M. 34; 4 Jur. N. S. 366.

3998. —— Leave to file after hearing begun—Previous filing prevented by petitioner.]—ALEXANDER v. ALEXANDER & AMOS, No. 2720, ante.

3999. —— Effect of filing answer after expiry of time—Nullity.]—An answer filed, without the leave of the judge ordinary, after the time allowed by the rules for filing it has elapsed, may be treated by petitioner as a nullity.—AVILA v. AVILA (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 104.

4000. Petition for damages—Conduct of petitioner.]—In an action for criminal conversation:—Held: it was not matter of defence, but only in mitigation of damages, that pltf. having married an actress, concealed the marriage from her mother, & very seldom saw his wife, but suffered his wife to remain living with her mother as if she were a single woman, & allowed her to continue her theatrical performances in her maiden name.—CALCRAFT v. HARBOROUGH (EARL) (1831), 4 C. & P. 499, N. P.

Annotations:—Consd. Lord v. Lord, [1900] P. 297; Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126. Refd. Watson v. Watson & Watts (1905), 21 T. L. R. 320.

4001. Completeness of traverse.]—WALLSCOURT v. WALLSCOURT, No. 2684, ante.

4002. ——.]—TOURLE v. TOURLE, No. 3672, ante.

4003. Statement of respondent's case—Reasonable brevity.]—An answer to a petition for dissolution of marriage must not necessarily be in conformity with a common law plea, either by way of traverse, or confession & avoidance. It is intended to be a substantial statement of resp.'s case, but should be within a reasonable degree of brevity. Therefore, the ct. directed an answer to be reformed, which detailed with needless particularity the history of the married life, & pleaded matters which might be given in evidence under a simple traverse.—GASTON v. GASTON (1865), 13 L. T. 412.

B. In Suits for Dissolution of Marriage.

Defences to charges of desertion, see Sect. 5, sub-sect. 8, G., ante.

Defences to charges of cruelty, see Sect. 5, sub-sect. 2, E., ante.

Proof of adultery, see Sect. 5, sub-sect. 3, B., ante.

Bars to relief, see Sect. 7, ante.

4004. Answers open to co-respondent.]—A co-resp. may set up, in answer to a petition for dissolution, conduct of petitioner, which, under the proviso to Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, would give the ct. a discretionary power to dismiss the petition; but he cannot give evidence of it unless it be pleaded. He is not precluded by sect. 33 from pleading it by the insertion in the petition of a claim for damages, though such a defence could not have been pleaded to an action for crim. con.; the meaning of that sect. being, that in such a case the question of damages is to be dealt with, not that the record is to be framed, in the same manner as in actions for crim. con.—SEDDON v. SEDDON & DOYLE (1860), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 12; 7 Jur. N. S. 147.

Annotation:—Consd. Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292.

4005. Nullity of marriage sought to be dissolved.]—Nullity of marriage being asserted in answer to a libel, charging adultery, the question of nullity is first to be disposed of.—MAYHEW v. MAYHEW (1812), 2 Phillim. 11; 3 M. & S. 266, n.; 161 E. R. 1062.

Annotations:—Apld. Re Rutter Donaldson v. Rutter, [1907] 2 Ch. 592. Refd. Anon. (1857), Dea. & Sw. 295.

4006. ——.]—S. v. S. & R. (1912), No. 4033, post.

4007. —— Prior existing marriage.]—A husband, in answer to his wife's petition for divorce, pleaded that she was not his lawful wife as he had contracted a previous marriage. On motion for particulars of the previous marriage the ct. ordered them to be set out in the pleas, & not by way of particulars, but dispenses with their averment on oath on the ground that it might form the basis of a prosecution for bigamy.—SILVER v. SILVER (1870), 21 L. T. 734.

4008. Misconduct subsequent to marriage—Pleas of denial & condonation.]—On debating the admission of a defensive allegation in a suit for divorce by reason of adultery:—Held: (1) a charge of cruelty is not rendered admissible by an averment, that it was designedly committed with the view of inducing the adultery, &, thereby enabling the husband to obtain a separation from his wife; (2) declarations of the husband, expressive of a desire to get rid of his wife, are admissible, as tending to elucidate his conduct in reference to the facts of the case; (3) it is competent to a party charged with adultery, first, to deny such charge specifically; secondly, to plead condonation.

(4) A husband receiving information, impugning his wife's fidelity, sufficient to induce him to investigate her conduct, is bound, pending the inquiry, to abstain from cohabitation, although not bound to remove her from his house.

(5) Cruelty cannot be pleaded in bar to adultery. No cruelty can justify the violation of the marriage bed (DR. LUSHINGTON).—DILLON v. DILLON (1842), 3 Curt. 86; 1 Notes of Cases, 415; 6 Jur. 422; 163 E. R. 663.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Otway v. Otway (1888), 13 P. D. 141. Refd. Lempriere v. Lempriere (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 569; Hodgson v. Hodgson & Turner, [1905] P.

4009. Not ante-nuptial connection with petitioner.]—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY, No. 3982, ante.

4010. Countercharges—Disentitling petitioner to relief—Must be pleaded.]—(1) When a petitioner prays for a dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery, resp. must plead any countercharges by reason of which the ct. is to be asked in its discretion not to grant petitioner's prayer, in the answer to the petition. If they are not so pleaded the ct. will not allow resp. to give evidence of them, nor to amend the answer by inserting them, after issue joined, & previous to decree, unless a satisfactory reason be given for the omission to plead them in the first instance.

(2) The ct., before dissolving a marriage, on the husband's petition by reason of the wife's adultery, ordered him, under the circumstances of the case, to make a provision for her maintenance.

(3) The ct. will order a wife's costs in a divorce & matrimonial suit to be taxed & paid by her husband de die in diem in order that she may have an opportunity of having her case heard. But where no application for her costs was made until after issue had been joined & a verdict entered against her, the ct. would not, between that verdict & the decree, order her costs to be paid by the husband, because her case had been heard, & it had been proved to be without foundation.

The principle of the Ecclesiastical Cts. with regard to the wife's costs was this: the wife having no money to defend herself the ct. caused the husband to pay her costs, & therefore she had a right to have her costs taxed de die in diem (per CUR.).—BRITTAIN v. BRITTAIN & CAMP (1859), Sea. & Sm. 83; 23 J. P. 455.

4011. Mere denial of jurisdiction.]—WILSON v. WILSON & HOWELL, No. 4536, post.

4012. Dissolution of marriage by court of competent jurisdiction—Not plea to jurisdiction.]—Resp. in a suit for dissolution pleaded that the marriage had already been dissolved by a ct. of competent jurisdiction in New York:—Held: this was not a plea to the jurisdiction, & might be pleaded after the entry of an absolute appearance.—COHEN v. COHEN (1876), 34 L. T. 33; 24 W. R. 283.

Necessity to raise question of paternity by specific answer—When custody of children claimed by petition.]—See No. 4252, post.

C. In Suits for Judicial Separation.

Defences to charges of desertion.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 8, G., ante.

Defences to charges of cruelty.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 2, E., ante.

Proof of adultery.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 3, B., Bars to relief.]—See Sect. 7, ante.

4013. On ground of cruelty—Pleading habits of provocation & exaggeration in general terms—Contradiction of all charges not essential.]—WALLSCOURT v. WALLSCOURT, No. 2684, ante.

—— Separation of parties.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 2, A., D., ante.

4014. On ground of cruelty & desertion—Petitioner's adultery—Must be specially pleaded.]—A. petitioned for judicial separation by reason of her husband's cruelty & desertion. The record for the jury merely stated his denial of these allegations, & the ct. refused to admit evidence with the view to prove the wife's unchastity since marriage.—STOATE v. STOATE (1859), 32 L. T. O. S. 394.

4015. On ground of adultery—Whether non-consummation can be pleaded—Invalidity of marriage between parties—Imprisonment of husband.]—BROWN v. BROWN, No. 2698, ante.

4016. —— Impediment to marital intercourse—Arising after marriage.]—An impediment to marital intercourse supervening after marriage in consequence of the disease of the wife cannot be pleaded in bar to a suit by her for judicial separation on the ground of adultery.—M—— v. M—— (1861), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 168.

4017. —— Petitioner's cruelty.]—TUTHILL v. TUTHILL, No. 4035, post.

4018. On ground of desertion—Reasonable cause.]—HILL v. HILL, No. 3000, ante.

4019. —— Offer to resume cohabitation.]—Where the answer to a petition alleging desertion merely traverses the charge, evidence is not, in strictness, admissible of an offer to return subsequent to the alleged desertion, nor is evidence admissible of facts showing the insincerity of such offer to return. The offer to return should be pleaded in the answer, & the facts relied upon to show its insincerity should be pleaded in the replication. Where resp., in a suit by a wife for judicial separation on the ground of desertion, was called to prove that he had made petitioner an offer to return to cohabitation before her right to a judicial separation had accrued, the ct. allowed questions to be put to him in cross-examination, tending to show that at the time when the alleged offer was made, he was adulterously cohabiting with another woman.—MALLINSON v. MALLINSON (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 93; 14 W. R. 353.

D. In Suits for Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

Bars to relief.]—See Sect. 7, ante.

Defences to suits for restitution of conjugal rights.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, F., ante.

4020. Denial of withdrawal from cohabitation without reasonable cause—Necessity to state actual cause.]—An answer to a petition for restitution of conjugal rights, denying that resp. withdrew from cohabitation without just cause, should state the cause of such withdrawal. If it does not, it is bad on demurrer, but the objection is waived by filing a replication.—WARD v. WARD (1861), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 120.

4021. —— Separation deed pleaded.]—Although a deed of separation is no bar to a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, it may be alleged in answer to an allegation in the petition, that from the date of the deed resp. has without just cause refused to cohabit with petitioner.—ANQUEZ v. ANQUEZ (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 176; 35 L. J. P. & M. 93; 14 L. T. 635; 14 W. R. 972.

4022. —— Inference of affirmative allegations of reasonable cause—Respondent entitled to particulars.]—In a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, the wife by her petition alleged that the husband withdrew from cohabitation with her, & had kept & continued away from her without any just cause whatsoever, & had refused & still refused to render her conjugal rights. The husband by his answer denied that he had without any just cause withdrawn from cohabitation or that he had refused or still refused "without reasonable cause" to render to petitioner conjugal rights. On an application by petitioner for particulars of resp.'s answer on the ground that such pleading was embarrassing:—Held: the answer was not a mere traverse by resp. of the allegation in the petition, but involved affirmative allegations by him that he had "just cause" for withdrawing from cohabitation & "reasonable cause" for refusing to render conjugal rights, & petitioner was therefore entitled to particulars of any charges or facts on which resp. relied as justifying his conduct.—MACLULICH v. MACLULICH, [1920] P. D. 439; 89 L. J. P. 242; 124 L. T. 66, C. A.

4023. Willingness to resume cohabitation—Affidavit in support of averment.]—The wife having filed a petition for restitution of conjugal rights, the husband, in his answer, stated his willingness to take his wife home. The ct. refused to give directions as to the mode of trial, but ordered the matter to be adjourned into chambers, & that resp. should file an affidavit in support of the averments in his answer.—CROTHERS v. CROTHERS (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 568; 19 L. T. 661.

4024. Conduct conducing to cruelty—Subsequent separation by mutual consent.]—WOODEY v. WOODEY, No. 2479, ante.

E. In Suits for Nullity of Marriage.

4025. By reason of previous marriage—Whether nullity of first marriage may be pleaded.]—It is competent to a party to set up the nullity of a first marriage, in bar of a sentence prayed of the nullity of a second by reason of that first; though he is convict, already, of bigamy in respect of the said two marriages.—BRUCE v. BURKE (1825), 2 Add. 471; 162 E. R. 367.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 10, E., F. & G.; sub-sect. 11, A., B., C., D. & E.; sub-sect. 12.]

4026. —— Misconduct, deception & fraud of petitioner—No bar.]—MILES v. CHILTON (FALSELY CALLING HERSELF MILES), No. 3646, ante.

4027. On ground of respondent's impotence—Whether petitioner's adultery may be pleaded in answer.]—ANON. (1857), No. 3565, ante.

4028. Petitioner's insincerity—Must be specifically alleged.]—S. (OTHERWISE G.) v. S. (1907), No. 3569, ante.

Whether petitioner's adultery bar to nullity suits on ground of impotence, see Sect. 7, sub-sect. 4, D. (d), ante.

F. In Suits for Jactitation of Marriage.

See Sect. 4, ante.

G. Affidavit verifying Answer.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 22, A., B.

4029. Necessity for—Answer going beyond simple denial.]—TOURLE v. TOURLE, No. 3672, ante.

Affidavit verifying petition.]—See Sub-sect. 2, ante.

SUB-SECT. 11.—CROSS-PETITIONS AND CROSS-PRAYERS.

A. In Suits for Dissolution of Marriage.

4030. Judicial separation.]—ELDRED v. ELDRED, No. 3575, ante.

4031. —— Deed of separation.] — BROWN v. BROWN & SHELTON, No. 3042, ante.

4032. Restitution of conjugal rights—Answer denying adultery—Petitioner charged with desertion & wilful separation.]—A decree of restitution of conjugal rights is not the relief for desertion contemplated by the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1866 (c. 32), s. 2; therefore a wife who filed an answer to a petition for dissolution of marriage, wherein she denied the adultery charged, & alleged desertion & wilful separation, was not allowed to add a prayer for restitution to the answer.—DRYSDALE v. DRYSDALE, DRYSDALE v. DRYSDALE, CORBET & GANE (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 365; 36 L. J. P. & M. 39; 15 L. T. 512.

4033. Nullity—On ground of petitioner's impotence.]—The answer to a petition for dissolution of marriage may set up a claim for a decree of nullity on the ground of the impotence of petitioner, & the issue as to nullity will be tried first.—S. v. S. & R., [1912] P. 16; 81 L. J. P. 16; 106 L. T. 464.

B. In Suits for Judicial Separation.

4034. On ground of adultery—Cross prayer for judicial separation—On ground of adultery.]—HUNT v. HUNT, No. 2733, ante.

4035. —— —— On ground of cruelty.]—Cruelty is no answer to a suit for judicial separation on the ground of adultery.

Qu.: whether resp., in a suit for judicial separation on the ground of adultery, is at liberty to introduce a charge of cruelty into the answer, & to pray for a judicial separation, & to give evidence in support of that charge in the event of petitioner's failure to establish the charge of adultery.—TUTHILL v. TUTHILL (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 214.

4036. On ground of cruelty—Answer denying cruelty & claiming restitution—Necessity to file cross-petition.]—A wife petitioned for a judicial separation on the ground of resp.'s cruelty. Resp., in his answer, denied the cruelty, & claimed a decree for restitution of conjugal rights:—Held: resp.'s proper course would have been to file a cross-petition, & the relief prayed for could not be granted on a mere counter-claim in the answer not verified by affidavit.—WINGFIELD v. WINGFIELD (1898), 78 L. T. 568.

4037. Claim for damages against alleged adulterer — Cross-charge of adultery — Separate petition not necessary.]—A husband, in answer to his wife's petition for judicial separation, which he resists on the ground of her adultery, may claim damages against the alleged adulterer. A separate petition is not necessary.

An answer in this form having been rejected in the Divorce Registry, the judge in chambers, upon an ex p. application, directed same to be accepted & filed as originally tendered.—N. v. N., [1913] P. 75; 82 L. J. P. 56; 108 L. T. 271; 29 T. L. R. 321; 57 Sol. Jo. 343.

C. In Suits for Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

4038. Judicial separation — On ground of adultery.]—RAIBOULD v. RAIBOULD (1788), 2 Curt. 214, n.; 163 E. R. 389.

Annotations:—Refd. Barry v. Butlin (1836), 1 Moo. P. C. C. 98; Anichini v. Anichini (1839), 2 Curt. 210.

4039. —— —— Admissibility of evidence of parties—Proceeding instituted in consequence of adultery.]—If the answer to a suit for restitution of conjugal rights charges adultery, & on that ground prays for a judicial separation, the evidence of the parties is admissible if resp. contents himself with resisting the suit for restitution, but not if he seeks to obtain a decree of judicial separation, as the answer will then be considered a proceeding instituted in consequence of adultery within Evidence Act, 1851 (c. 99), s. 4. When resp. upon such a state of pleadings is examined at the hearing, & the ct. finds the charge of adultery established, it will dismiss the petition, but will not decree a judicial separation. In a suit for dissolution of marriage on the ground of the wife's adultery, resp. & co-resp. denied the charge, & resp. further charged petitioner with adultery. It appeared at the hearing that this latter charge was substantially the joint defence of resp. & co-resp. A jury found that resp. & co-resp. had not been guilty of adultery, & also that petitioner had not been guilty of adultery:—Held: resp. was entitled to the whole of her costs incurred in supporting the first issue, although they should exceed the sum deposited in the registry, but that as to the second issue she was entitled only to a moiety of the costs incurred.—BURROUGHS v. BURROUGHS, BURROUGHS v. BURROUGHS & SILCOCK (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 124; 8 Jur. N. S. 624.

Annotation:—Folld. Blackborne v. Blackborne (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 563.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 11.—A.

r. Cross-petition by husband on ground of wife's adultery—Separate petition not necessary.]—A husband may, in his defence to the wife's petition, cross-petition for divorce against the wife on the ground of her adultery. A separate petition is not necessary.—HILL v. HILL (1923), I. L. R. 47 Bom. 657.—IND.

PART XIII. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 11.—C.

s. Dissolution of marriage—Amendment to counterclaim.]—Under the Alberta practice, in an action for restitution of conjugal rights deft. may 4040. —— On ground of desertion.]—(1) Semble: in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, if it be before a jury, resp.'s counsel has a right to begin; if it be tried by a judge, without a jury, petitioner's counsel has the right to begin.

(2) Where the ct. refused to decree a restitution of conjugal rights on the ground of desertion alleged in the answer, & proved in the evidence, it granted a decree for judicial separation prayed for by resp. on the same ground.—MEARA v. MEARA (1865), 14 W. R. 50.

Suit for nullity on ground of impotence—Trial of issue by jury.]—See No. 4340, post.

D. In Suits for Nullity.

4041. Dismissal of respondent from suit—Petition by father of infant son—Son of age at hearing.]—In nullity of marriage, by reason of minority, at the suit of the father, a prayer, on the part of the wife, "that the minor, now of age, might be called to declare, whether he would carry on the suit, or that otherwise she might be dismissed." Not sustained.—BOWZER v. RICKETTS (FALSELY CALLING HERSELF BOWZER) (1795), 1 Hag. Con. 213; 161 E. R. 529.

4042. Restitution of conjugal rights.]—A libel, by a husband, in a suit of nullity of marriage having been rejected:—Held: it was competent to the wife, in that suit, without taking out a cross-petition to sue the husband for restitution of conjugal rights.—CLOWES v. JONES (FALSELY CALLING HERSELF CLOWES) (1843), 3 Curt. 185; 2 Notes of Cases, 77; 7 Jur. 908; 163 E. R. 697.

Annotations:—Apld. Catterall v. Catterall (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 466. Refd. Anon. (1857), Dea. & Sw. 295. Mentd. Gosling v. Veley (1853), 4 H. L. Cas. 679.

4043. Judicial separation—On ground of cruelty.]—A charge of cruelty, with a prayer for judicial separation, cannot be made in answer to a petition for sentence of nullity of marriage.—HUMPHREY v. WILLIAMS (FALSELY CALLING HERSELF HUMPHREY) (1860), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 62; sub nom. WILLIAMS v. HOMFRAY (FALSELY CALLING HERSELF WILLIAMS), 6 Jur. N. S. 151.

4044. Cross-prayer for nullity.]—T. (OTHERWISE W.) v. T. (1895), cited in Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. XVI., p. 515, n.

E. Withdrawal of Original Petition.

4045. Prosecution of cross-petition.]—Where a husband petitions for a dissolution of marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery, & she in her answer prays for a judicial separation on the ground of desertion, the ct. will not at the husband's instance, the wife opposing, terminate the suit by dismissing the petition.—SCHIRA v. SCHIRA & SAMPAJO (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 466.

4046. ——.]—The answer to a petition for restitution of conjugal rights charged adultery & prayed for a judicial separation. At the trial, petitioner abandoned his prayer for restitution, & offered no evidence:—Held: (1) such abandonment did not take away resp.'s right to go for a judicial separation; (2) the evidence of the parties was admissible upon the question of adultery, there being no "suit or proceeding instituted in consequence of adultery" within Evidence Act, 1851 (c. 99), s. 4.—BLACKBORNE v. BLACKBORNE (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 563; 37 L. J. P. & M. 73; 18 L. T. 450.

4047. ——.]—The ct. will allow an allegation praying for relief to be added to the prayer of an answer containing charges of adultery & cruelty in a suit for dissolution of marriage for the purpose of allowing the suit to be continued.—FIRMINGER v. FIRMINGER & OLLARD (1869), 17 W. R 335.

SUB-SECT. 12.—REPLIES.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 13.

4048. General rule.]—In debating the admissibility of a third plea in a suit for divorce, it is to be recollected, first, that the husband bears the whole expense of the suit; secondly, that the wife is at liberty to plead every fact in her original libel which may tend to support her charge, however apparently incapable of proof; & the facts stated in her responsive allegation should be either in reply to the defence set up, or strictly supplemental to the facts originally stated.—STONE v. STONE (1843), 7 Jur. 1094.

4049. ——.]—Answers to an allegation responsive to a libel in a suit for cruelty contained averments of acts of ill-treatment previous to those charged in the libel:—Held: this amounted to a redundancy, & the answers must be reformed in those particulars.

Each party is at liberty to set out all the facts which may be of benefit to his cause, provided that they can be stated legitimately; but this must be done in plea. The purpose of answers is for the benefit of the party requiring them, in order that if the facts pleaded be admitted he may place this matter before the ct., which otherwise he could only do at a great expense by taking evidence, or upon which possibly no evidence at all could be procured. The answers are never for the benefit of the party giving them in; still he is not compelled to answer simply to the facts pleaded: he is at liberty to offer explanation, & such explanation may consist of matter already pleaded, or to be pleaded or not. This he has a perfect & complete right to insist upon. If matters capable of proof are stated in the answers, they will not be proof in the cause, unless established by other evidence; & putting them in answer will not dispense with the necessity of proving them, stating them in plea & by evidence, or the admission of the other side. I doubt if the answers can ever be for the benefit of the party who gives them in. . . . These answers in fact speak to this effect: "You have been guilty of cruelty towards me; I will go on & state every act, whether pleaded or no." This goes beyond the bounds of explanation. . . . The answers should be confined strictly to the allegation, & they must be referred back for reformation (DR. LUSHINGTON).—SAUNDERS v. SAUNDERS (1847), 1 Rob. Eccl. 549; 9 L. T. O. S. 496; 11 Jur. 738; 163 E. R. 1131.

Annotations:—Refd. Smallwood v. Smallwood (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 397; Waddell v. Waddell (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 584; Sant v. Sant (1874), L. R. 5 P. C. 542; Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395.

4050. Ante-nuptial incontinence.] — JOHN v. JOHN (circa 1820), cited 3 Curt. at p. 238; 163 E. R. p. 715.

Annotation:—Refd. Graves v. Graves (1842), 3 Curt. 235.

4051. ——.]—GRAVES v. GRAVES, No. 2807, ante.

4052. Restitution suit—Cross-charge of adultery—Reply charging respondent with adultery.]—KIRBY v. KIRBY (1801), 2 Curt. p. 214, n.; 163 E. R. 389.

Annotations:—Refd. Anichini v. Anichini (1839), 2 Curt. 210; Hope v. Hope (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 94; Brooking-Phillips v. Brooking-Phillips, [1913] P. 80.

---

counterclaim asking for dissolution of marriage. A plea for such relief was allowed to be added by amendment to the counterclaim. The question raised by such a proposed amendment is one of procedure rather than of substantive law or jurisdiction.—G. v. G., [1922] 3 W. W. R. 1159.—CAN.

Sect. 8.—Institution and defence of proceedings: Sub-sect. 12. Sect. 9: Sub-sect. 1, A. & B. (a) & (b).]

4053. .]—BROOKING-PHILLIPS v. BROOKING-PHILLIPS, No. 3560, ante.

4054. Dissolution suit—Cross-charge of adultery—Power to exclude answers by wife—Or to compel fuller answers.]—In a suit for divorce by the wife, by reason of cruelty & adultery, where the wife, being charged with adultery, chooses to give, uncalled for, her personal answers to such charge, the ct. has no power to exclude them, or to compel her to answer fully.—KING v. KING (1846), 5 Notes of Cases. 59.

4055. —— ——.]—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON, No. 3995, ante.

4056. Suit for judicial separation—On ground of cruelty—Reply charging respondent with ill-treatment previous to acts charged in petition.]—SAUNDERS v. SAUNDERS, No. 4049, ante.

SECT. 9.—PROCEEDINGS PENDING SUIT.

SUB-SECT. 1.—ALIMONY PENDENTE LITE.

A. Jurisdiction to Grant.

4057. Marriage must be proved or admitted.]—It is incompetent to the ct., under any circumstances to make a formal allotment to the wife of any sum, in the nature even, or as on account, of alimony; until a fact of marriage, at least, is either proved against or admitted by, the husband.—SMYTH v. SMYTH (1824), 2 Add. 254; 162 E. R. 287.

4058. —— Suit for divorce.]—Until the marriage is either proved or confessed, in a suit for divorce, the ct. cannot enforce, but only recommend, a payment to the wife in the nature of alimony pendente lite.—MITCHELL v. MITCHELL (1853), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 102; 164 E. R. 59.

4059. Where husband has not appeared.]—The ct. has no power to allot alimony pendente lite in a suit in which the husband has not appeared.—DEANE v. DEANE (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 23; 22 J. P. 180.

Annotation:—Refd. Tomkins v. Tomkins (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 163.

4060. ——.]—Where the husband has appeared to the wife's citation in a suit for judicial separation, the ct. will entertain an application for alimony pendente lite. Secus: where no appearance has been given by the husband.—TOMKINS v. TOMKINS (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 163; 31 L. T. O. S. 104; 6 W. R. 545; 164 E. R. 675.

4061. —— Though application consented to.]—Where the husband, resp., has not entered an appearance, alimony pendente lite by consent will not be allotted.—CLARKE v. CLARKE (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 165.

4062. Where husband pleads to the jurisdiction.]—The fact that there is a plea to the jurisdiction of the ct. in a matrimonial suit does not affect the power of the ct. to allot alimony pendente lite. Where there was a substantial question of jurisdiction, & some months were to pass before it could be determined, the ct., in the exercise of its discretion, allotted alimony pendente lite.—RONALDS v. RONALDS (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 259.

4063. In nullity suit—Marriage within prohibited degrees.]—FODEN v. FODEN, No. 4101, post.

Jurisdiction after decree nisi.]—See Sub-sect. 1, I. (a), post.

B. When Granted.

(a) In General.

4064. General rule.]—(1) All persons who stand in the relation of husband & wife in any way that the law allows have a claim to relief on the violation of any matrimonial duty. The husband's conduct is legal cruelty if by cohabitation the

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 1.—A.

t. General rule.]—Semble: the ct. will, in a proper case, grant interim alimony.—SOULES v. SOULES (1851), 3 Gr. 113.—CAN.

4057 i. Marriage must be proved or admitted.]—In an alimony case where the marriage is admitted, or proved, interim alimony will be granted almost as of course, though deft. swears he is willing to receive & maintain pltf.—CARR v. CARR (1866), 2 Ch. Ch. 71.—CAN.

4057 ii. ——.]—On an application for interim alimony & costs, proof of the marriage is all that is required; it is not necessary to prove any of the other allegations in the bill.—NOLAN v. NOLAN (1866), 1 Ch. Ch. 368.—CAN.

4057 iii. ——.]—Interim alimony will be granted on primâ facie proof of marriage, although the validity of the marriage is disputed.—MCGRATH v. MCGRATH (1869), 2 Ch. Ch. 411.—CAN.

4057 iv. ——.]—On an application for interim alimony, the validity of the alleged marriage cannot be tried. If a marriage de facto is proved, it is sufficient.—BRADLEY v. BRADLEY (1871), 3 Ch. Ch. 329.—CAN.

4057 v. —— .]—The allotment of alimony pendente lite depends upon the marital relationship of the parties existing de facto. The ct. exercises a discretion in granting or withholding alimony pendente lite which is regulated by the circumstances of each case.—WALKER v. WALKER (1885), 10 P. R. 633.—CAN.

a. —— What particulars must be given.]—On an application for an order for interim alimony, the affidavit as to the marriage should state such particulars (by whom solemnised, etc.) as would enable the ct. to judge whether it has been duly solemnised or not.—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR (1864), 1 Ch. Ch. 234.—CAN.

b. In suit for restitution of conjugal rights.]—The ct. for Divorce & Matrimonial Causes in Nova Scotia has jurisdiction in respect to a suit for the restitution of conjugal rights, & can order alimony for the wife pendente lite.—KING v. KING (1904), 37 N. S. R. 204.—CAN.

c. —— The ct. has jurisdiction in a suit by a husband for restitution of conjugal rights to grant alimony to the wife pendente lite.—DONGI v. DONGI (1909), 28 N. Z. L. R. 768.—N.Z.

d. In suit for divorce.]—The Supreme Ct. of British Columbia has jurisdiction to grant interim alimony pending an action for divorce.—MELLOR v. MELLOR (1905), 11 B. C. R. 327.—CAN.

e. In suit for alimony.]—In 1897 a wife brought an action against her husband for alimony & to set aside a judgment pronounced by consent in a former action for alimony begun in 1884, under which the wife had received $200. Deft. pleaded the judgment as a bar, & also adultery by the wife, & a deed of separation. Pltf. disputed the deed of separation, & impeached the judgment as obtained by fraud & without her knowledge or consent; the payment of $200 she attributed to a release of dower given by her. She also alleged expulsion & desertion by her husband, & that he had been living in adultery after the judgment:—Held: pltf. was entitled to an order for interim alimony.—LAFRANCE v. LAFRANCE (1898), 18 P. R. 62.—CAN.

f. ——.]—In an action for alimony the ct. has jurisdiction to, & as a rule will, grant to the wife an order for interim alimony & disbursements.—BROWN v. BROWN, [1920] 3 W. W. R. 1072.—CAN.

Ct. of King's Bench, in Saskatchewan has jurisdiction to grant interim alimony in an action brought for permanent alimony.—ROBERTS v. ROBERTS, [1921] 1 W. W. R. 251; 55 D. L. R. 256; 14 Sask. L. R. 29.—CAN.

h. ——.]—In an action, under King's Bench Act, R. S. S., 1920, c. 39, s. 22, for alimony independent of any other relief, pltf. is not entitled to interim alimony.—ADELKIND v. ADELKIND, [1922] 2 W. W. R. 521; 66 D. L. R. 70; 15 Sask. L. R. 422.—CAN.

k. ——.]—In an action for alimony alone, as in other matrimonial cases where alimony is merely incidental, a wife is entitled to an order for interim alimony.—MCMAIN v. MCMAIN, [1924] 1 W. W. R. 102; 1 D. L. R. 338; 18 Sask. L. R. 303.—CAN.

l. In suit for judicial separation.]—In an action for judicial separation & alimony a wife is entitled to an order for interim alimony.—COOK v. COOK, [1924] 1 W. W. R. 1162; 2 D. L. R. 112.—CAN.

m. Where husband has no property within jurisdiction.]—The Supreme Ct. of Alberta has jurisdiction to order the payment of interim alimony. Deft. was ordered to pay interim alimony to pltf. who was without means & owing to her state of health unable to earn anything, although he swore that he was not the owner of any property in Alberta.—SECREST v. SECREST (1912), 22 W. L. R. 51; 5 Alta. L. R. 389; 2 W. W. R. 928.—CAN.

wife is exposed to bodily hazard & intolerable hardships. Words of abuse & reproach are not, but words of menace intimating a malignant intention of doing bodily harm & even affecting the security of life are legal cruelty. (2) The ct. must not wait till threats are carried into execution, but must interpose when words raise a reasonable apprehension of violence. If words of menace raise a reasonable apprehension it matters not whether they are addressed to the wife or to a third person. (3) Spitting on the wife is a gross act of cruelty.

(4) All condonations by operation of law are expressly or impliedly conditional, for the effect is taken off by repetition of misconduct; & this may be so even though the misconduct would not support an original cause. (5) Condonation is not held so strictly against a wife as against a husband. (6) Conjugal cohabitation after an act of adultery avowed by the husband may be condonation, but it is not a legal consequence that the wife pardons all other acts.

(7) There may be relative cruelty, & what is tolerable by one may not be by another (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).

(8) In general the husband is bound to defray the wife's costs & to provide alimony pendente lite, but when the wife has separate means sufficient for her defence & subsistence she is not entitled to alimony nor costs during suit; she then stands on the common footing of a litigant party, &, on proving her case, has a primâ facie right to costs. It is, however, discretionary with cts. on a consideration of all the circumstances to relax the rule.—D'AGUILAR v. D'AGUILAR (1794), 1 Hag. Ecc. 773; 1 Hag. Con. 134, n.; 162 E. R. 748.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395. Refd. Neeld v. Neeld (1831), 4 Hag. Ecc. 263; Gale v. Gale (1852), 2 Rob. Eccl. 421. As to (2) Refd. Dysart v. Dysart (1847), 1 Rob. Eccl. 470. As to (3) Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395. Refd. Saunders v. Saunders (1847), 1 Rob. Eccl. 549; Sant v. Sant (1874), L. R. 5 P. C. 542. As to (4) Consd. Durant v. Durant (1825), 1 Hag. Ecc. 733; Snow v. Snow (1842), 2 Notes of Cases Supp. I.; Curtis v. Curtis (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 192. Refd. Sopwith v. Sopwith (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 160; Cooke v. Cooke (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 126; Collins v. Collins (1884), 9 App. Cas. 205; Moss v. Moss, [1916] P. 155; Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158. Generally, Refd. Clowes v. Jones (falsely calling herself Clowes) (1843), 3 Curt. 185.

4065. Wife in possession of husband's property.]—LLOYD v. LLOYD (1839), 8 L. T. 612, n.

4066. Appeal pending.]—KEATS v. KEATS (1859), cited in Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. XVI., p. 561.

4067. ——.]—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON (1859), cited in Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. XVI., p. 561.

4068. Wife in prison.]—KELLY v. KELLY, No. 4230, post.

Compare No. 5281, post.

4069. Wife charged with adultery—Petition not answered.]—Where a wife is charged in her husband's petition with adultery, & has filed no answer to it, she is still entitled to have alimony pendente lite allotted to her.—SMITH v. SMITH & TREMSAUX (1863), 4 Sw. & Tr. 228; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 91; 11 W. R. 257; 164 E. R. 1503.

4070. Whether allowed pending hearing of petition.]—A suit was instituted by the wife for restitution of conjugal rights. She also filed a petition for alimony & then applied [before answer made by husband] on the ground of present distress & destitution, that resp. be ordered to pay her a small sum of money pending its hearing. The ct. declined to entertain the application.—FORDE v. FORDE (1867), 15 L. T. 595.

4071. What court will consider—Wife living with co-respondent.]—An averment in the husband's answer to the wife's petition for alimony pendente lite that she is living with the co-resp. is immaterial & need not be noticed by her; but, otherwise, where the allegation is that she is supported by him: Semble: such allegation, if well founded, would be a bar to alimony.—MADAN v. MADAN & DE THOREN (1867), 37 L. J. P. & M. 10; 17 L. T. 326; 16 W. R. 211.

Annotation:—Consd. Bass v. Bass, [1915] P. 17.

4072. ——.]—(1) Resp. is not entitled to alimony whilst she is living with co-respondent as his wife & supported by him.

(2) Resp. in a matrimonial suit cohabited with & was supported by co-resp. for some time after the filing of the petition & service of the citation. In allotting alimony pendente lite the ct. ordered that the alimony should run from the date at which resp. ceased to cohabit with co-resp. instead of from service of citation.—HOLT v. HOLT & DAVIS (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 610; 38 L. J. P. & M. 33; 19 L. T. 662.

Annotation:—Refd. Bass v. Bass, [1915] P. 17.

4073. —— Conduct of wife.]—LESLIE v. LESLIE, No. 5281, post.

4074. Where husband pleads to the jurisdiction—Delay in decision.]—RONALDS v. RONALDS, No. 4062, ante.

(b) Where Husband has Small or No Means.

4075. Husband without means.]—Where, upon the husband's answer to a petition for alimony to an application for interim alimony.—WILSON v. WILSON (1873), 6 P. R. 129.—CAN.

4071 i. What court will consider—Wife living with co-respondent.]—Upon an application for interim alimony, the question whether appct. has been guilty of adultery cannot be inquired into, unless it has already been judicially decided, but the question whether an appct. is living & supported by a co-respondent can be inquired into on the inquiry as to what means of support appct. has.—CUNNINGHAM v. CUNNINGHAM (1907), 5 W. L. R. 514.—CAN.

4073 i. —— Conduct of wife.]—The question whether pltf. has been guilty of adultery cannot be raised on an application for interim alimony.—CAMPBELL v. CAMPBELL (1873), 6 P. R. 128.—CAN.

o. —— Merits of defence.]—The merits of the defence set up should not be looked into or considered on an application for interim alimony.—MCARTHUR v. MCARTHUR (1905), 15 Man. L. R. 151.—CAN.

p. Necessity for notice.]—An application for interim alimony must be upon notice.—SWINARTON v. SWINARTON (1869), 2 Ch. Ch. 453.—CAN.

q. Motion allowed to lapse—Whether bar to second motion—Allegation of cruelty—Offer to resume cohabitation.]—A motion for interim alimony which has been allowed to lapse without a decision thereon is not a bar to a subsequent motion for the same purpose. Where cruelty is alleged, an offer to resume cohabitation is not an answer to a motion for interim alimony.—STANDALL v. STANDALL (1912), 22 W. L. R. 512 22 Man. L. R. 591.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 1.—B. (a).

4065 i. Wife in possession of husband's property.]—Interim alimony was stayed until pltf. had produced on oath, books, papers, etc., belonging to her husband, which she had taken with her when leaving his house, & which deprived him of the means of paying it.—OLD v. OLD (1883), 9 P. R. 552.—CAN.

4065 ii. ——.]—An order directing deft. in an alimony action based upon desertion to pay interim alimony was affirmed, though the wife was in occupation of the deft.'s homestead; she having established that she was in need of interim alimony, & deft. not showing that she was in receipt of annual income from the farm.—LALONDE v. LALONDE (1885), 11 P. R. 143.—CAN.

n. Wife charged with desertion—Whether answer to application.]—The fact that pltf. has left deft., & refuses to return to him although he is willing to take her back to live with him, is no

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 1.—B. (b).

4075 i Husband without means.]—An order for interim alimony will not be made against a deft. where it is not shown that he has the means to comply pendente lite, it appears that he has no means, the ct. will refuse to allot alimony; but the wife will be entitled to her costs of moving for an allotment.—GAYNOR v. GAYNOR & DEGLIANTONI (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 144.

Sect. 9.—Proceedings pending suit: Sub-sect. 1, B.

4076. —— Other than voluntary allowance—Alimony ordered.]—MALO v. MALO (1786), 2 Sw. & Tr. 657, n.; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 67, n.; 7 L. T. 437, n.; 164 E. R. 1153.

Annotations:—Consd. Haviland v. Haviland (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 114. Apld. Martin v. Martin, [1919] P. 283.

4077. —— —— Maintenance ordered.]—The husband being an insolvent debtor, & possessed of no property, & in no business or profession, the ct. refused to make any allotment of alimony to the wife, although the father of the husband had considerable property, & had supported his son. But the ct. suspended the proceedings until something by way of maintenance should be given to the wife.—BRUERE v. BRUERE (1837), 1 Curt. 566; 163 E. R. 198.

Annotation:—Consd. Beavan v. Beavan (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 166.

4078. —— —— ——.]—Although the husband's income consists only of a voluntary allowance from his father, yet, upon motion by wife for alimony pendente lite, the ct. will order the husband to make her some allowance, & will stay the suit by the husband till he has undertaken to do so.—Moss v. Moss & BUSH (1867), 15 W. R. 532.

Annotations:—Consd. Bonsor v. Bonsor, [1897] P. 77. Apld. Martin v. Martin, [1919] P. 283.

Whether voluntary allowance calculated as part of husband's income, see No. 4129, post.

4079. Fraudulent assignment by husband—After suit.]—An assignment, apparently fraudulent & colourable, by the husband of all his property after the commencement of a suit by the wife for divorce, cannot affect her title to alimony pendente lite.—BROWN v. BROWN (1828), 2 Hag. Ecc. 5; 162 E. R. 766.

Annotation:—Expld. Jagger v. Jagger (1926), 42 T. L. R. 315.

4080. Husband's income in kind.]—Where a husband in his answer alleged that he was in insolvent circumstances, & that his only income was weekly wages of meat, drink, washing & lodging, & 4*s.* a week, the ct. refused to allot alimony pendente lite. Semble: a wife, by applying to the ct. for an allotment of alimony, upon the husband's answer is not precluded from afterwards examining witnesses in support of her petition.—CAPSTICK v. CAPSTICK, FURNESS & WINDER (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 105.

4081. Husband temporarily unemployed.]—Where a husband, being a master pilot in Her Majesty's Bengal Pilotage Service, on six months' leave of absence without pay, was in the receipt of no income, & was possessed of no property whatever, the ct. refused to allot to the wife alimony pendente lite.—FLETCHER v. FLETCHER (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 434; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 82; 6 L. T. 132; 10 W. R. 448; 164 E. R. 1064.

4082. —— Alimony allowed on average annual earnings.]—On an application for alimony pendente lite on the husband's answers, from which it appeared that he was a master mariner & a part-owner in a sailing vessel, but that he had not had any employment for three months, the ct. nevertheless, allotted alimony on the average of his earnings during the previous three years.—THOMPSON v. THOMPSON & JOHNSON (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 553; 37 L. J. P. & M. 33; 18 L. T. 212.

Annotation:—Mentd. R. v. Davidson, etc., Durham JJ. (1889), 5 T. L. R. 199.

4083. Husband's sole property contingent reversionary interest.]—(1) In a suit for dissolution of marriage, instituted by an infant husband, by his guardian, it appeared from the answer to a petition for alimony pendente lite that the sole property to which the husband was entitled was a contingent reversionary interest: —Held: the wife was not entitled to alimony.

(2) The guardian who institutes a suit on behalf of an infant husband will be ordered to pay into the Registry, or give security for a sum of money to meet the wife's costs of the hearing.—BEAVAN v. BEAVAN (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 652; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 166; 7 L. T. 435; 8 Jur. N. S. 769; 164 E. R. 1151.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Martin v. Martin, [1919] P. 283. As to (2) Folld. Rutter v. Rutter, [1921] P. 136.

4084. Husband's sole property & legacy payable at future date.]—Where the husband had no property, & his only property was a legacy of £500, not payable until eleven months after the application for alimony, the ct. refused to allot alimony pendente lite.—BROWN v. BROWN & SIMPSON (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 217; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 144; 9 L. T. 118; 164 E. R. 1257.

4085. Husband a "poor suitor."]—GRINHAM v. GRINHAM & PASCOE, No. 4290, post.

Where wife has separate income.]—See Sub-sect. 1, B. (c), post.

(c) Where Wife has Separate Property.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 60.

4086. Where wife has adequate means of subsistence.]—D'AGUILAR v. D'AGUILAR, No. 4064, ante.

4086 i. Where wife has adequate means of subsistence.]—If the husband opposes an application for interim alimony on the ground that the wife has ample means of support, unless she can show the contrary to be the case, her application will be refused.—SMITH v. SMITH (1873), 6 P. R. 51.—CAN.

4086 ii. ——.]—Alimony pendente lite should be allowed only on the ground of necessity; & will not be allowed to a pltf. who is known to have property sufficient for her maintenance until

4075 ii. ——.]—Where husband has neither property nor earning capacity the ct. will not award interim alimony pendente lite.—WHITE v. WHITE (1912), 21 O. W. R. 515; 3 O. W. N. 929; 2 D. L. R. 885.—CAN.

4075 iii. ——.]—Interim alimony will not be ordered where deft.'s inability to pay is shown.—STANDALL v. STANDALL (1912), 22 W. L. R. 512; 22 Man. L. R. 591.—CAN.

4075 iv. ——.]—An order for interim alimony against a penniless deft. resident out of the jurisdiction refused.—MCNAIR v. MCNAIR (1913), 24 O. W. R. 390; 4 O. W. N. 1093; 10 D. L. R. 829.—CAN.

4075 v. ——.]—A wife is not entitled to alimony where although the husband has property of some value, he derives no income from it nor from any other source.—GILBERT v. GILBERT (1914), 29 W. L. R. 714.—CAN.

4075 vi. ——.]—Deft.'s statement on oath that he has no means out of which payment can be compelled is no ground for setting aside an order for payment of interim alimony. Pltf. has the right to test the truth of the statement by an execution.—PEEL v. PEEL (1918), 42 O. L. R. 165; 13 O. W. N. 439.—CAN.

r. —— Discretion of court.]—In a suit against a wife for divorce in which she had obtained an order for interim alimony & payment of money for interim costs the ct., dealing with an appeal from such order on the ground of the husband's poverty, expressed its opinion that the discretion of the judge who made the order should not be interfered with; whatever caution may be exercised in England before an order for alimony is made owing to the fact that failure to comply with the order may entail imprisonment, as no such consequences can follow in Saskatchewan different considerations apply.—PERADSKY v. PERADSKY, [1921] 3 W. W. R. 532; 63 D. L. R. 337; 14 Sask. L. R. 493.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 1.—B. (c).

4086 i. Where wife has adequate means of subsistence.]—If the husband opposes an application for interim alimony on the ground that the wife has ample means of support, unless she can show the contrary to be the case, her application will be refused.—SMITH v. SMITH (1873), 6 P. R. 51.—CAN.

4086 ii. ——.]—Alimony pendente lite should be allowed only on the ground of necessity; & will not be allowed to a pltf. who is known to have property sufficient for her maintenance until

4087. —— Though derived from co-respondent.]—MADAN v. MADAN & DE THOREN, No. 4071, ante.

—— Wife's income self-earned—Husband & wife living apart.]—See No. 4097, post.

See, also, No. 4195, post.

4088. Husband of little or no means.]—PIERCE v. PIERCE (undated), cited in 2 Hag. Con. at p. 206, n.; 161 E. R. 717.

Annotation :—Consd. Davis v. Davis (1789), 2 Hag. Con. 204, n.

4089. ——.]—Where the husband's income did not exceed £60 a year, & the wife had a sum of £70 in her possession at the commencement of the suit, the ct. refused to make an allotment of alimony pendente lite.—COOMBS v. COOMBS (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 218; 14 L. T. 294; 12 Jur. N. S. 673.

4090. — — —.]—The father of resp., on her marriage with petitioner, undertook, in a letter to petitioner, to make her an allowance of £100 per annum during his life. Such allowance had been paid for some years in one sum in a particular month of the year. The ct. refused to grant to resp. alimony out of her husband's income, which did not much exceed her allowance, the month in which it might be expected that the allowance would be paid not having arrived.—EATON v. EATON (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 51; 21 L. T. 733.

Annotation :—Refd. Martin v. Martin, [1919] P. 283.

Compare Nos. 5311–5316, post.

(d) Where Parties have been Separated before Proceedings.

4091. Effect of grant—Wife in better position than before separation.]—GEORGE v. GEORGE, No. 4097, post.

4092. Separation under decree by ecclesiastical court—Divorce a mensâ et thoro.]—HOLT v. HOLT & FLEEMING, No. 4296, post.

4093. Separation by deed—Allowance discontinued—Discovery of adultery.]—Where a husband had, under a deed of separation, allowed his wife a certain sum, & had ceased to pay it after the date on which he alleged that he had obtained evidence of her adultery, the Judge Ordinary, on the wife's petition for alimony pendente lite, directed payment by way of alimony pendente lite, to be made at the same rate.

The practice of the House of Lords on divorce bills warrants the ct. in directing the wife's costs to be taxed from time to time against the husband in his suit for dissolution of marriage.—WEBER v. WEBER & PYNE (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 219; 28 L. J. P. & M. 11; 31 L. T. O. S. 302; 6 W. R. 867; 164 E. R. 701.

Annotation :—Expld. Powell v. Powell (1874), L. R. 3 P. & D. 186.

4094. —— —— Molestation.]—By a separation deed the husband covenanted to pay £9 a month to the wife for her maintenance, & she covenanted not to molest him. The wife afterwards petitioned for a judicial separation. The husband had refused to continue the allowance on the ground that the wife had broken her covenant not to molest him:—Held : the wife was entitled to alimony pendente lite.—WOOD v. WOOD (1887), 57 L. J. Ch. 1; 57 L. T. 746; 36 W. R. 33; 4 T. L. R. 39, C. A.

4095. —— Allowance not discontinued.]—When a husband & wife at the time of the institution of a matrimonial suit are living apart under a deed of separation by which an allowance is secured to the wife, the mere fact of the institution of the suit does not entitle the wife to an increased allowance by way of alimony pendente lite estimated on the husband's present income.—POWELL v. POWELL (1874), L. R. 3 P. & D. 186; 43 L. J. P. & M. 9; 29 L. T. 466; 22 W. R. 62.

Annotations :—Distd. Wood v. Wood (1887), 57 L. J. Ch. 1. Mentd. Bishop v. Bishop, Judkins v. Judkins (1897), 76 L. T. 409.

4096. Effect of protection order.]—(1) By obtaining an order of protection, a wife does not deprive herself of her right to alimony pendente lite in a suit subsequently instituted by her for dissolution of marriage.

(2) The institution of vexatious suits, by the wife against the husband, is a ground for allotting alimony pendente lite at less than the usual rate.—HAKEWILL v. HAKEWILL (1860), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 254.

4097. Wife self-supporting.]—Alimony pendente lite refused to a wife, who, for some time before the institution of the suit had been, & still was, supporting herself in service.—GEORGE v. GEORGE (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 553; 37 L. J. P. & M. 17; 17 L. T. 152; 16 W. R. 112.

Annotations :—Folld. Powell v. Powell (1874), L. R. 3 P. & D. 186. Refd. Wood v. Wood (1887), 36 W. R. 33.

4098. ——.]—BURROWS v. BURROWS (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 553.

See, also, No. 4256, post.

the trial of the action.—ALLISON v. ALLISON (1913), 23 W. L. R. 570; 6 Alta. L. R. 127; 9 D. L. R. 418.—CAN.

4086 iii. ——.]—When applicants own material filed on a motion for interim alimony & disbursements showed that she had sufficient means to maintain herself until the trial of the action the motion was refused.—ROSSWORM v. ROSSWORM (1914), 26 O. W. R. 207; 6 O. W. N. 226.—CAN.

s. Where wife's means inadequate.]—Upon an application for interim alimony deft. set up that pltf. was able to maintain herself out of land which he had conveyed to her & out of moneys which her children might allow her. Although pltf. lived in the house upon the land conveyed to her, the land was tied up by the registration of a certificate of lis pendens, & the allowances from the children would, if made, be no more than compassionate gifts:—Held : what was thus alleged was no ground for setting aside an order for the payment of interim alimony.—PEEL v. PEEL (1918), 42 O. L. R. 165; 13 O. W. N. 439.—CAN.

t. ——.]—Where a wife, married out of community of goods, was possessed of funds sufficient to maintain her, the ct. refused to order the husband to pay alimony pendente lite.—BROWN v. BROWN (1919), 10 N. L. R. 358.—S. AF.

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 1.—B. (d).

4095 i. Separation by deed—Allowance not discontinued.]—In May, 1875, a deed of separation was executed between deft. & pltf., husband & wife, by which deft. was to pay pltf. $100 a year, quarterly, as maintenance. In Sept. 1875, pltf. filed a bill for alimony, & deft. served a notice, agreeing to allow her $100 a year quarterly, for interim alimony. In May, 1876, a decree was made for specific performance of the agreement:—Held : pltf. must give credit for the sums paid as interim alimony; & executions issued for the whole sum payable under the agreement, were set aside.—MAXWELL v. MAXWELL (1876), 7 P. R. 63.—CAN.

a. Desertion without cruelty—Offer to resume cohabitation.]—A wife is not entitled to interim alimony & disbursements where she sues on the ground of desertion not alleging cruelty, & where the husband offers by his defence & by affidavit to resume cohabitation with her.—SNIDER v. SNIDER (1885), 11 P. R. 140.—CAN.

b. ——.]—When desertion but no cruelty is alleged & deft. offers by defence & affidavit to resume cohabitation, no order for interim alimony will be made.—KARCH v. KARCH (1912), 21 O. W. R. 883; 3 O. W. N. 1032; 3 D. L. R. 658.—CAN.

4097 i. Wife self-supporting.]—Where the wife had been living apart from her husband for five years, & had been supporting herself out of the rents of houses owned by her, & by taking boarders, & through assistance rendered by members of her family, the ct. refused to award interim alimony.—KNAPP v. KNAPP (1887), 12 P. R. 105.—CAN.

c. Leaving home unjustifiably—& unwilling to return.]—If a wife leaves her husband's home without justification & is unwilling to return, she is not entitled to alimony, even though her husband's attitude is that, were she willing he would be unwilling to receive her.—MCNAIR v. MCNAIR, [1923] 1 W. W. R. 1022; 1 D. L. R. 1111.—CAN.

Sect. 9.—Proceedings pending suit: Sub-sect. 1, B. (e), C. & D. (a) & (b).]

(e) In Suits for Nullity of Marriage.

4099. General rule.]—Alimony allotted pending [nullity] suit.—BIRD (alias BELL) v. BIRD (1753), 1 Lee, 418; 161 E. R. 154; subsequent proceedings (1754), 1 Lee, 572, 621.

Annotations:—Refd. Foden v. Foden, [1894] P. 307. Mentd. Miles v. Chilton (1849), 1 Rob. Eccl. 684.

4100. —— De facto marriage.] — MILES v. CHILTON (FALSELY CALLING HERSELF MILES), No. 3646, ante.

4101. —— —— Marriage within prohibited degrees.]—As a rule a marriage de facto carries the right to alimony pendente lite until it is finally declared to be void. There is jurisdiction to order alimony pendente lite in a husband's suit for nullity of marriage, on the ground that the wife was within the prohibited degrees. The application may be made by the wife after a decree nisi has been pronounced, if the decree has not been made absolute, even though the time at which it might have been made absolute has passed.—FODEN v. FODEN, [1894] P. 307; 63 L. J. P. 163; 71 L. T. 279; 42 W. R. 689; 10 T. L. R. 608; 38 Sol. Jo. 662; 6 R. 633, C. A.

Annotation:—Mentd. Childers v. Childers (otherwise Burford) (1899), 68 L. J. P. 90.

4102. —— —— Charge of fraud against wife.]—In a suit of nullity of marriage by the husband the wife de facto is entitled to alimony pendente lite, & to payment of the costs incurred in her defence even though fraud in procuring the marriage is charged against the wife & the husband asks that she may be condemned in costs & they may ultimately be awarded against her.—PORTSMOUTH (EARL) v. PORTSMOUTH (COUNTESS) (1826), 3 Add. 63; 162 E. R. 404; subsequent proceedings, sub nom. PORTSMOUTH (COUNTESS) v. PORTSMOUTH (EARL) (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 355.

4103. Exception to general rule—Marriage clearly void on pleading.]—In suits for a decree of nullity of marriage the court will not grant alimony pendente lite, should the marriage be plainly null & void on the face of the petition & answer taken together.—BLACKMORE v. MILLS (FALSELY CALLED BLACKMORE) (1868), 18 L. T. 586; 16 W. R. 893.

Annotation:—Expld. Foden v. Foden, [1894] P. 307.

C. Amount.

4104. General rule.]—This suit is brought by the wife for cruelty & adultery. She now applies for alimony pending the suit; & certainly the ct. will not allow the same as if such a charge was established; yet, I think, the nature of the suit is to be considered; the charge is made, the answers are given in; as yet there is no allegation on the part of the husband; there is no ground to consider the suit as vexatious, no proceednge appear to have been had for the purpose of unnecessary delay. Therefore, the wife has a right to be maintained with some reference to her former comfortable state, yet with moderation (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—SMITH v. SMITH (1813), 2 Phillim. 152; 161 E. R. 1105; subsequent proceedings (1814), 2 Phillim. 235.

4105. ——.]—LESLIE v. LESLIE, No. 5281, post.

4106. Proportion of husband's income allowed.]—MALO v. MALO (1786), 2 Sw. & Tr. 657, n.; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 67, n.; 7 L. T. 437, n.; 164 E. R. 1153.

Annotations:—Consd. Haviland v. Haviland (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 114. Apld. Martin v. Martin, [1919] P. 283.

4107. ——.]—BIGGS v. BIGGS (1791), cited in 2 Phillim. at p. 43; 161 E. R. 1073.

Annotation:—Consd. Cooke v. Cooke (1812), 2 Phillim. 40.

4108. ——.]—DE MONTMORENCY (VISCOUNT) v. DE MONTMORENCY (VISCOUNTESS) (1844), 3 Notes of Cases, 68; 3 L. T. O. S. 41; subsequent proceedings, 3 Notes of Cases, 432.

4109. ——.]—(1) In the Ecclesiastical Ct. one-fifth of the husband's net income was usually allotted as alimony pendente lite, & was made payable from the date of the return of the citation, the statement in the husband's answers to the wife's allegations of faculties being assumed to be correct unless the wife disputed it & examined witnesses. Where £50 had been paid on account of alimony pendente lite before the decree, the ct. made the sum allotted payable from the date of the decree instead of from the date of the return of the citation.

(2) The husband is liable for necessaries supplied to his wife pending the suit, & before the decree of alimony, but he is liable only to a reasonable amount, & therefore, if the wife during that period incurred debts to an extravagant amount, that circumstance cannot be taken into account as a ground for diminishing the amount of alimony.

(3) A husband may deduct from income derived from real property the expense of ordinary current repairs, but not of extraordinary & permanent improvements, which ought to be charged on the fund of the income.—HAYWARD v. HAYWARD (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 85; 28 L. J. P. & M. 9; 31 L. T. O. S. 25; 6 W. R. 639; 164 E. R. 640.

Annotation:—As to (1) Expld. Nicholson v. Nicholson & Ratcliffe (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 165.

4110. ——.]—In allotting alimony pendente lite the ct. will not look minutely into the figures when the income to be dealt with is of large amount.

On an annual income of £8,000, the ct. allotted alimony at the rate of £1,000 a year, pending the wife's suit for restitution of conjugal rights.—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS (1868), 17 L. T. 584.

4111. ——.]—(1) Upon a petition before the registrar for alimony pendente lite, the wife is not entitled as a matter of course, under Divorce Court Rules, 1865, rr. 86, 191, to an order for cross-examination of her husband upon his answer, even though there may be a great discrepancy between the amount of his income as alleged by her in the petition & the amount as stated in his answer.

Whether the husband should be ordered to attend for cross-examination is a matter entirely for the discretion of the registrar, & the ct. will not interfere with the exercise of his discretion unless satisfied that he has either proceeded on a wrong principle or has exercised his discretion wrongly.

(2) Where there is no very great discrepancy between the two figures, it is not the practice of the ct. to order the attendance of the husband for cross-examination.

(3) Where a wife in her petition for alimony pendente lite put the income of her husband, a baronet, at £70,000 a year, while the husband in his answer put it at £16,600 only, supporting his statement by full & detailed particulars, the registrar, on the hearing of the petition, & the

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 1.—C.

4106 i. Proportion of husband's income allowed.]—The allowance & amount of interim alimony in divorce proceedings is in the discretion of the judge. It is not usual to give more than one-fifth of the husband's income.—HUTTON v. HUTTON (No. 2), [2 W. W. R. 993.—CAN.

d. —— Ground for allowing more than usual proportion.]—Where pltf. was supporting two children the ct.

judge on appeal from him, refused an application by the wife for an order on the husband to attend for cross-examination, allotted the wife £3,000 a year as alimony. On appeal:—Held: £3,000 a year was an adequate allowance for the wife pendente lite, & as the registrar had properly exercised his discretion in allotting that sum, the ct. would not interfere by ordering the husband to attend for cross-examination as to his means.

(4) On an appeal from an order of a registrar or master the ct. will only recognise a note of the registrar or master as evidence of what took place before him, an affidavit by either party being inadmissible.—SYKES v. SYKES, [1897] P. 306; 66 L. J. P. 162; 77 L. T. 150; 13 T. L. R. 579; 41 Sol. Jo. 713, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (3) Consd. Kettlewell v. Kettlewell, [1898] P. 138. Expld. & Distd. Dean v. Dean, [1923] P. 172.

4112. —— Dependent on nature of income.]—In allotting alimony pendente lite the reversionary interest of the husband may be pleaded. Secus, a mere expectancy.

The wife is at liberty to plead the income of the husband, & the sources from whence it is derived; with regard to his reversionary property, & by the word reversionary I mean such property as the husband is entitled to for a vested interest expectant on the death of some person, or on the happening of some other contingency, it is usual & proper that such property should be stated. With regard to permanent alimony the ct. will make a different allotment in a case where the income of the husband is derived from his sole personal labour or exertions, from what it will do when he has moreover a large reversionary property in expectancy (DR. LUSHINGTON).—STONE v. STONE (1843), 3 Curt. 341; 7 Jur. 380; 163 E. R. 750.

Annotation: Refd. Beavan v. Beavan (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 652.

4113. —— Grounds for allowing less than usual proportion—Liability to maintain issue of former marriage.]—The circumstance that the husband has to maintain several children, the issue of a former marriage, is no ground for allotting less than one-fifth of his income as alimony pendente lite.—HILL v. HILL (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 104.

See, also, No. 4115, post.

4114. —— No fixed proportion.]—LESLIE v. LESLIE, No. 5281, post.

4115. How husband's income calculated—What may be deducted—Cost of maintaining issue of former marriage.]—Under ordinary circumstances, the expense of educating & maintaining the children by a previous marriage do not form a legitimate deduction from the husband's income in allotting alimony pendente lite.—GRAFTON v. GRAFTON (1872), 27 L. T. 768; 21 W. R. 292.

See, also, No. 4113, ante.

——.]—See, generally, Sect. 22, sub-sect. 1, post.

4116. Proportion of joint income allowed.]—The wife has a separate income of £350 per annum for his life; if she had not had this property, I think the ct. below would have been called upon to grant her more than £100.

I know no such rule as that stated that the ct. usually grants one-sixth; the general proportion of alimony is much higher than has been stated (per CUR.).—REES v. REES (1821), 3 Phillim. 387; E. R. 1361.

4117. ——.]—Alimony pendente lite is usually about one-fifth of the annual income; but the proportion may vary according to the circumstances of the parties; e.g. the rank in life of the husband & the number of children for whose maintenance & education he must provide.—HAWKES v. HAWKES (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 526; 162 E. R. 666.

4118. How joint income calculated—Wife's earned income included.]—Not only the wife's income derived from separate property will be taken into account in allotting alimony pendente lite, but income of which she is in the actual enjoyment, though earned by herself.—GOODHEIM v. GOODHEIM & FRANKINSON (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 250; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 162; 4 L. T. 449; 9 W. R. 853; 164 E. R. 991.

Annotation:—Refd. Madan v. Madan & De Thoren (1867), 37 L. J. P. & M. 10.

4119. Wife formerly in receipt of allowance under separation deed—Amount equal to allowance.]—WEBER v. WEBER & PYNE, No. 4093, ante.

4120. —— ——.]—WOOD v. WOOD (1887), 57 L. J. Ch. 1; 57 L. T. 746; 36 W. R. 33; 4 T. L. R. 39, C. A.

4121. Grounds for reducing amount—Conduct of wife—Extravagant debts incurred for necessaries.]—HAYWARD v. HAYWARD, No. 4109, ante.

4122. —— —— Vexatious suits brought by wife.]—HAKEWILL v. HAKEWILL, No. 4096, ante.

4123. —— —— Adultery.]—CRAMPTON v. CRAMPTON & ARMSTRONG, No. 4136, post.

D. Calculation of Husband's Income.

(a) In General.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 61.

4124. Reference to registrar.]—When the accounts of the husband's income, in his answer to a petition for alimony, are complicated, the ct. may refer it to the registrar to ascertain what is the amount of income admitted by the answer.—SMITH v. SMITH (1860), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 207.

4125. Calculated on previous year's income—Not on average.]—Alimony. The husband's income must be estimated at the amount of the previous year, & not by an average of years.—KELLY v. KELLY (1854), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 412; 164 E. R. 237.

4126. Major part of husband's income a terminable annuity.]—The wife applied for permanent alimony on a decree for judicial separation by reason of cruelty. The husband stated on affidavit that, since the petition for alimony pendente lite an answer had been filed, he had parted with his business, which was the principal source of income, for a yearly payment of £300 for seven years, & 5 per cent. on the value of warehouse, stock-in-trade, debts, etc.:—Held: in allotting alimony the £300 yearly must be taken as income, the ct. observing that, if the income really failed, the husband could apply for reduction of alimony.—MOORE v. MOORE (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 606; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 146; 11 L. T. 459; 161 E. R. 1410.

4127. Husband temporarily unemployed—Average of three years' income.]—THOMPSON v. THOMPSON & JOHNSON, No. 4082, ante.

(b) What must be included.

4128. Voluntary allowance.]—MALO v. MALO, awarded interim alimony in excess of an allowance based on the usual one-fifth rule.—COOK v. COOK, [1924] 1 W. W. R. 1162; 2 D. L. R. 112.—CAN.

4116 i. Proportion of joint income allowed.]—Interim alimony fixed at one-fifth of the joint income.—DIEBERT v. DIEBERT (1908), 7 W. L. R. 458.—CAN.

Sect. 9.—Proceedings pending suit: Sub-sect. 1, D. z), (b) &

(1786), 2 Sw. & Tr. 657, n.; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 67, n.; 7 L. T. 437, n.; 164 E. R. 1153.

Annotations:—Consd. Haviland v. Haviland (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 114. Apld. Martin v. Martin, [1919] P. 283.

4129. ——.]—The wife cannot include in her husband's income liable to alimony any purely voluntary allowance made to him; though possibly there might be circumstances under which the wife might be entitled to alimony out of income to which the husband might have no strict legal right.—HAVILAND v. HAVILAND (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 114; 1 New Rep. 377; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 67; 7 L. T. 757; 9 Jur. N. S. 208; 11 W. R. 550; 164 E. R. 1216.

Annotations:—Consd. Bonsor v. Bonsor, [1897] P. 77. Folld. Martin v. Martin, [1919] P. 283. Refd. Dent v. Dent (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 61.

4130. ——.]—MOSS v. MOSS & BUSH, No. 4078, ante.

4131. ——.]—The ct. had made an order on resp. for payment of permanent alimony at the rate of £110 per annum, so long as he was in receipt of a rentcharge of £400 per annum (his only source of income), the trustees of which had a discretionary power to refuse payment, in which event it enured to the benefit of the tenant for life. Resp. had prior to the date of the order become a bkpt., but the trustees had nevertheless continued to pay to him the rentcharge, & he had failed to comply with the order of the ct. The ct. (resp. & trustees opposing) directed a sequestration in general terms to issue against the property, etc., of resp.—CLINTON v. CLINTON (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 215; 14 L. T. 257; 11 W. R. 545.

Annotations:—Consd. Bonsor v. Bonsor, [1897] P. 77. Folld. Martin v. Martin, [1919] P. 283. Refd. Dent v. Dent (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 61.

4132. ——-BRUERE v. BRUERE, No. 4077, ante.

4133. ——.]-BONSOR v. BONSOR, No. 5346, post.

4134. ——.]—MARTIN v. MARTIN, No. 5322, post.

4135. Property not producing income.]—HARRIS v. HARRIS (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 351; 162 E. R. 610.

4136. ——.]—(1) Where the answer to a petition for alimony alleges that property of which the husband is owner is mortgaged, it should state the date of the mtge. & the name of the mtgee. as well as the amount of the mtge. debt.

(2) All the valuable property of the husband will be taken into account in allotting alimony, although he may derive no income from it. Therefore the value of shares in a joint-stock co. although no dividend is payable upon them, & the annual value of houses occupied by the husband or by others rent free, should be stated in the answer.

(3) Payments made by the husband to the wife since the service of the citation will be deducted from the alimony pendente lite.

(4) The adultery of the wife is no ground for allotting less than the usual amount of alimony pendente lite, & the averment of such adultery in the answer is irrelevant.—CRAMPTON v. CRAMPTON & ARMSTRONG (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 142.

Annotation:—Generally, Refd. Maden v. Maden & De Thoren (1867), 37 L. J. P. & M. 10.

4137. ——Cumulative investment.]—Where, in a petition for alimony pendente lite a portion of the husband's property was invested upon terms that the profits accruing therefrom should not be at once paid, but should accumulate until they should amount to a certain fixed sum, & the investment was a flourishing one, the ct. included this portion of the property in calculating the alimony.—WILSON v. WILSON & HOWELL (1872), 26 L. T. 108; 20 W. R. 320.

4138. Estimated value of marketable securities.]—The estimated value of all marketable securities must be included in the calculation of the husband's income, in order to the allotment of alimony pendente lite.—HARRIS v. HARRIS (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 351; 162 E. R. 610.

4139. Contingent reversionary interest.]—STONE v. STONE, No. 4112, ante.

Where husband's sole property a contingent reversionary interest.]—See No. 4083, ante.

4140. Expectancy.]—STONE v. STONE, No. 4112, ante.

4141. Stock-in-trade, tools, etc.]—HICK v. HICK & KITCHIN (1863), 12 W. R. 444, n.

(c) What may be deducted.

4142. Life insurance premiums.]—HARRIS v. HARRIS (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 351; 162 E. R. 610.

4143. —— Policy settled for benefit of wife & children.]—The general rule in estimating the husband's income for the purposes of alimony is, that he is not entitled to deduct sums paid by way of premium to maintain a policy of insurance on his life; but where the policy was under settlement for the benefit of his wife & children after his death, & the premium was deducted & paid over to the office by his employers, the ct. allowed him to deduct the amount of such premium in estimating his income.—FORSTER v. FORSTER & THOMAS (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 553; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 84; 6 L. T. 693; 10 W. R. 810; 164 E. R. 1111.

4144. Outgoings—Due to husband's extravagance.]—(1) After sentence of separation by reason of gross cruelty & adultery on the part of the husband, the real estate being £6,000 a year, subject, as alleged by the husband, to large incumbrances, the mother's jointure having been £1,000 & the wife's pin-money £500 a year, the ct. allotted £1,000 a year permanent alimony, allowing the husband to deduct from that sum any payment on account of pin-money above £200 a year, the sum agreed to be paid to the wife for the maintenance of the children.

(2) The court [would not] be disposed to allow the full deductions claimed on account of outgoings, occasioned by [the husband's] own extravagance & profligacy (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—MYTTON v. MYTTON (1831), 3 Hag. Ecc. 657; 162 E. R. 1298.

4145. —— Real property—Current repairs—Improvements.]—HAYWARD v. HAYWARD, No. 4109, ante.

4146. Instalments to pay debt.]—Upon the allotment of alimony, if a husband has contracted to pay off a debt by annual instalments, the amount of each instalment may be deducted from

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 1.—D. (c).

e. Change of husband's circumstances.]—A petition by a wife—petitioner in the one & resp. in the other of two cross-suits for an increase of alimony was treated by consent on appeal as a petition for alimony. Resp. was in receipt of a salary from Govt. which was subject to deductions, on account of the pension & annuity funds, his circumstances were involved, & he had agreed with his creditors to discharge his liabilities by instalments; as part of such agreement he was keeping up a policy of insurance on his life, & he was maintaining & educating three children in England, but his salary had increased since the order first made for alimony:—Held: resp. was entitled as of right to have only the deductions on account of pension & annuity funds taken into consideration in the computation of his nett income. In this case, however, the ct., in the exercise of its discretion, took into consideration the his annual income.—PATTERSON v. PATTERSON, CURTIS & DORE (1863), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 36.

Maintenance of issue of former marriage—Calculation of alimony pendente lite.]—See Nos. 4113, 4115, ante, No. 5281, post.

E. Duration.

(a) Commencement.

4147. Ecclesiastical practice—Delay by wife—Return of inhibition.]—GRESSE v. GRESSE (1780), cited 1 Phillim. 208; 161 E. R. 962.

Annotation:—Consd. Loveden v. Loveden (1810), 1 Phillim. 208.

4148. —— —— Date of sentence.]—BRISCO v. BRISCO (1820), 3 Phillim. 206; 161 E. R. 1303.

Annotations:—Refd. Harmar v. Harmar (1857), Dea. & Sw. 282; Leslie v. Leslie, [1911] P. 203.

4149. Return of petition.]—Alimony pendente lite is to be computed from the return only & not from the issue of the citation, even though considerably prior to the return, unless, possibly under special circumstances.—BAIN v. BAIN (1824), 2 Add. 253; 162 E. R. 286.

4150. ——.]—HAYWARD v. HAYWARD, No. 4109, ante.

4151. Service of petition.]—Alimony pendente lite is payable from the date of the service, not of the return, of the citation.—NICHOLSON v. NICHOLSON & RATCLIFFE (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 165.

4152. Date of decree—Where payment on account made before decree.]—HAYWARD v. HAYWARD, No. 4109, ante.

4153. Respondent living with co-respondent—Cessation of cohabitation.]—HOLT v. HOLT & DAVIS, No. 4072, ante.

Whether ordered before husband's answer.]—See No. 4070, ante.

(b) Suspension.

4154. Adjournment of proceedings at request of wife.]—ROGERS v. ROGERS, No. 4303, post.

(c) Termination.

4155. In restitution suit—Obedience to decree.]—Held: she was entitled to alimony subsequently to the decree for restitution, & until the husband received her home; &, for the purpose of alimony, the cause was pendente lite until the husband obeyed the decree of the ct.—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR (1842), 6 Jur. 633, P. C.; subsequent proceedings (1843), 2 Notes of Cases, 174, P. C.

4156. —— Disobedience to decree.]—The jurisdiction of the ct. to provide alimony for a wife pendente lite, in the case of proceedings for restitution of conjugal rights by a wife, extends until the proved disobedience by the husband to a decree for restitution, after which the ct. has jurisdiction under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), to provide her with permanent maintenance. The wife's right to an order for alimony pendente lite is not affected by the fact that the order is not made until after the decree for restitution.—VER MEHR v. VER MEHR, [1921] P. 404; 90 L. J. P. 349; 126 L. T. 108; 66 Sol. Jo. (W. R.) 4.

4157. In dissolution suit—On decree nisi.]—LATHAM v. LATHAM & GETHIN, No. 4184, post.

4158. ·.]—Alimony pendente lite ceases when the wife's adultery is conclusively proved; that is, on the pronouncing of the decree nisi in cases heard before the ct. itself, or in cases tried before a jury, when the time has elapsed for moving for a new trial before the ct.; & if that is refused by the ct., when the further time for appealing from such refusal has elapsed.—WELLS v. WELLS & HUDSON (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 542; 4 New Rep. 446; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 151; 10 L. T. 696; 10 Jur. N. S. 755; 164 E. R. 1386.

Annotations:—Consd. Dunn v. Dunn (1888), 13 P. D. 91. Refd. Whitmore v. Whitmore (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 96.

4159. —— —— Discretion of court to continue.]—Where alimony pendente lite has been allotted to a wife in a petition for divorce, such alimony ceases upon a verdict finding her guilty of adultery, but the ct. may in its discretion make an order for the alimony to continue.—DUNN v. DUNN (1888), 13 P. D. 91; 57 L. J. P. 58; 59 L. T. 385; 36 W. R. 539; 4 T. L. R. 399, C. A.

4160. —— On lapse of time for appeal or application for new trial.]—WELLS v. WELLS & HUDSON, No. 4158, ante.

4161. —— ——.]—Where a decree nisi had been pronounced at the instance of the husband, & the time for moving for a new trial had been allowed to elapse without any such application, the ct. refused to enforce the payment of the wife's alimony pendente lite beyond the fortnight during which she might have moved for a new trial. The lis between the parties is terminated not by the decree absolute, but by the lapse of time allowed for questioning the verdict.—MADAN v. MADAN & DE THOREN (1868), 19 L. T. 612; 17 W. R. 265.

4162. In suit for judicial separation—Whether allowed pending appeal.]—JONES v. JONES, No. 2320, ante.

4163. In nullity suit—Whether on decree nisi or decree absolute.]—In a suit for nullity alimony continues payable after the decree nisi until the decree is made absolute.—S. (FALSELY CALLED B.) v. B. (1884), 9 P. D. 80; 53 L. J. P. 63; 32 W. R. 756.

4164. —— ——.]—The principle on which decrees of nullity of marriage have been ordered to be decrees nisi in the first instance is that the Queen's Proctor may have an opportunity of intervening wherever there is any doubt as to the facts of the case. Where, however, the status of the parties is definitely settled, as where it has been proved beyond question that the marriage which it is sought to set aside was bigamous, there is no reason why the ct. should not at once exercise its discretion & relieve petitioner from the obligation to pay alimony pendente lite between decree nisi & decree absolute.—CHILDERS v. CHILDERS (OTHERWISE BURFORD) (1899), 68 L. J. P. 90.

4165. Where King's Proctor intervenes—At date of proof of wife's adultery.]—WHITMORE v. WHITMORE, No. 4884, post.

4166. —— Wife proved guilty of collusion but not adultery—Decree nisi rescinded—Appeal by wife pending.]—On the trial of cross-petitions presented by husband & wife, the jury found that the husband had, but the wife had not committed adultery, & a decree nisi for dissolution of the expenses resp. was put to in maintaining his children, & also the arrangement he had made for liquidating his debts.—R. v. R. (1890), I. L. R. 14 Mad. 88.—IND.

---

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 1.—E. (a).

4151 i. Service of petition.]—Interim alimony runs from the time of the service of the bill, if there has been no want of diligence on pltf.'s part in making the application.—HOWE v. HOWE (1871), 3 Ch. Ch. 494.—CAN.

f. Date of decree.]—Unless the statement of claim makes a demand for a specific sum by way of interim alimony, it should only be allowed from the date of the order, not from the commencement of the action.—MCARTHUR v. MCARTHUR (1905), 15 Man. L. R. 151.—CAN.

g. ——.]—PARISH v. PARISH (1912), 23 O. W. R. 79; 4 O. W. N. 105; 6 D. L. R. 491.—CAN.

Sect. 9.—Proceedings pending suit: Sub-sect. 1, E. (c), & F., G., H. & I. (a), marriage was accordingly pronounced by the ct. The Queen's Proctor having intervened, a second trial took place, when the jury found that both parties had acted in collusion to suppress material facts, but they could not agree as to the charge of adultery, brought by the Queen's Proctor against the wife. The ct. rescinded the decree nisi. The wife appealed, & the husband had ceased to pay the alimony:—Held: a writ of fi. fa. to enforce the arrears of alimony could not be granted, but the order for payment of the alimony ought to be renewed until further notice.—BUTLER v. BUTLER, BUTLER v. BUTLER & BURNHAM (1889), 15 P. D. 13; 59 L. J. P. 11.

4167. Disobedience by wife of order as to custody.]—HOPE v. HOPE, No. 5319, post.

4168. Charge of maintenance by prostitution—Charge denied by wife—Main issue in suit.]—The ct. refused to rescind an order for alimony pendente lite on an allegation, supported by affidavits, that the wife was maintaining herself by prostitution; the wife in her affidavit denying the truth of the allegation, & the charge of prostitution being the main question in the suit.—PATCH v. PATCH (1869), 38 L. J. P. & M. 27; 19 L. T. 662; 17 W. R. 265.

F. Increase or Reduction of Amount.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 63.

4169. Decrease—Whether allowed.]—An allotment of alimony pendente lite reduced, on the proof that the husband was no longer in a condition to aliment the wife pendente lite, at the rate originally assigned.—COX v. COX (1826), 3 Add. 276; 162 E. R. 480.

Annotation:—Refd. Shirley v. Wardrop (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 317.

4170. —— Sufficiency of particulars of grounds for application.]—In Apr. 1857, in a suit for nullity of marriage brought by the husband against the wife, alimony pendente lite was agreed upon at £300 per annum, & confirmed by order of ct. On application for reduction of such rate of alimony, on the husband's affidavit that his income in 1857 was £1,200, & now only £949, but not explaining how such reduction had been caused, nor stating when or how a certain sum of £10,000 had been spent, the ct. refused to interfere.—SHIRLEY v. WARDROP (FALSELY CALLED SHIRLEY) (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 317; 32 L. T. O. S. 198; 164 E. R. 746.

4171. Increase—Whether allowed—Husband's income not actually ascertained.]—On appeal by the wife in a suit of divorce by reason of adultery, application was made for an increase of alimony pendente lite. The alleged addition to the husband's income, the ground of the application, could not be actually ascertained until the end of the year, & the præsertim of the appeal in effect acknowledged the wife's guilt:—Held: the ct. could not decree an increase of alimony out of an income, not actually ascertained, & the sum allotted in the ct. below was sufficient in the circumstances.—STONE v. STONE (1845), 9 Jur. 381.

G. Payment.

4172. Allowance of payment on account.]—When alimony pendente lite is decreed to commence from the return of the citation all sums paid subsequent to that return are to be allowed as part payment.—HAMERTON v. HAMERTON (1827), 1 Hag. Ecc. 23; 162 E. R. 493.

Annotations:—Refd. Mackonochie v. Penzance (1881), 6 App. Cas. 424; Bailey v. Bailey (1884), 50 L. T. 722.

4173. Payment to solicitor—Husband's right to refuse.]—When alimony is by the terms of the order allotting it made payable to the wife, the husband is not bound, at her request, to pay it to her solr. The ct. allowed such an order to be amended by making the alimony payable to the wife's solr.; but refused to allow her the costs of the motion.—PARR v. PARR & WHITE (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 90; 11 W. R. 257.

4174. —— Necessity for authority by wife—Consent by affidavit—Wife in prison for felony.]—KELLY v. KELLY, No. 4230, post.

4175. —— —— Consent in writing.]—The ct. will not make an order for the payment of alimony pendente lite to the wife's attorney without a written consent from her.—BROWN v. BROWN (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 144; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 102; 164 E. R. 1471.

4176. —— —— ——.]—(1) An order for the payment of alimony to the wife's solr. or proctor will not be made except upon the written application of the wife.

(2) When alimony is so paid, the solr. is not entitled to charge for receiving it.—MARGETSON v. MARGETSON (1865), 35 L. J. P. & M. 80.

4177. —— Right of solicitor to charge.]—MARGETSON v. MARGETSON, No. 4176, ante.

—— Whether subject to lien.]—See Nos. 4179, 4180, post.

4178. Death of wife before payment—Claim by executors to be joined as parties.]—SCHENCK v. SCHENCK, No. 4580, post.

Payment in arrear—Issue of bankruptcy notice against husband.]—See BANKRUPTCY, Vol. IV., p. 91, No. 819.

Deduction of income tax.]—See INCOME TAX.

Enforcement.]—See Sub-sect. 1, K., post.

H. Alienation.

4179. Payment to wife's solicitor—Whether subject to lien.]—The alimony allotted to the wife, petitioner, was, by the order of the ct., made payable to herself. Resp. paid the alimony to the wife's solr., who, from time to time, made payments on account to petitioner. Petitioner never authorised him, by nomination in writing, to receive the alimony, nor was it shown that she had acquiesced in his receiving it:—Held: the solr. had no lien for costs on the money which he had received as alimony.—LEETE v. LEETE (1879), 48 L. J. P. 61; 40 L. T. 788; 27 W. R. 921.

Annotation:—Folld. Cross v. Cross (1880), 43 L. T. 533.

4180. —— ——.]—A solr.'s lien does not extend to alimony pendente lite paid over to him as such, i.e. for the purpose of the wife's maintenance, unless he holds her direct written authority to him to receive it as her agent under r. 94.—CROSS v. CROSS (1880), 43 L. T. 533.

See, generally, SOLICITORS.

4181. Whether alienable—Equitable execution.]—A husband & wife were joint lessees of a dwelling-house. The lease was mortgaged. The husband paid the rent, rates, taxes, & interest on the mtge., which amounted together to £294. The wife with the children of the marriage lived in the lower part of the house. The upper part was let to a tenant at a rent of £200. The husband allowed the wife to receive this rent. The value of her occupation of the lower part was £100. The husband instituted proceedings for divorce. The registrar fixed the amount of alimony pendente lite for the wife & children at £836 a year. He treated her as already receiving £300, & an order was made that the husband should pay the wife alimony at the rate of £45 a month, £540 a year, for herself & the children. Certain creditors of the wife recovered judgment against her & then obtained an order for the appointment of a receiver of the rents, profits, & moneys receivable in respect of her interest in the house :—Held : the order for a receiver must be discharged.—WALLS (J.) LTD. v. LEGGE, [1923] 2 K. B. 240 ; 92 L. J. K. B. 717 ; 129 L. T. 129, C. A.

I. Procedure.

(a) Time for Application.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 57.

4182. After evidence de bene esse—Though evidence proves guilt of wife.]—On the last day of the sittings the judge ordinary allowed petitioner's witnesses to be examined, though the case was not in the list for the day, on the understanding that, if the resp. & co-resp. intimated their intention to defend the suit, the case should be reheard. The evidence proved adultery. On a subsequent application for alimony pendente lite, the judge ordinary held that resp. could not be prejudiced by the evidence so taken ; notice meantime having been given that resp. & co-resp. intended to defend.—PHILLIPS v. PHILLIPS & MEDLYN (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 129 ; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 107 ; 164 E. R. 1465.

4183. In dissolution suit—After decree nisi—On ground of wife's adultery.] — Alimony pendente lite was allotted after there had been a verdict of adultery against the wife, but before the case came on for a final decree before the full ct.—D'OYLEY v. D'OYLEY & BALDIE (1859), 4 Sw. & Tr. 226 ; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 165 ; 23 J. P. 231 ; 164 E. R. 1503.

4184. ——.]—A decree nisi for dissolution of marriage, if not appealed from, puts an end to the lis between the parties. Alimony pendente lite will not therefore be due after the date of the decree nisi ; but where the husband moved to have the decree made absolute, he being resident in India, & it appeared that a sum of money was due to the wife on account of alimony pendente lite, the ct. refused to make the decree absolute.—LATHAM v. LATHAM & GETHIN (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 299 ; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 163 ; 9 W. R. 680 ; 164 E. R. 1011.

Annotations :—Dbtd. Laxton v. Laxton (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 208. Overd. Ellis v. Ellis (1883), 8 P. D. 188. Refd. Wells v. Wells (1861), 3 Sw. & Tr. 542 ; Ousey v. Ousey (1875), 1 P. D. 56 ; Langworthy v. Langworthy (1886), 55 L. J. P. 33 ; Lewis v. Lewis, [1892] P. 212.

4185. ——.]—(1) The ct. has power to order alimony pendente lite notwithstanding a decree nisi has been made for dissolution of marriage. Latham v. Latham, No. 4184, ante, overd.

(2) Until the decree becomes absolute the parties are still husband & wife & the marriage is not severed (COTTON, L.J.).—ELLIS v. ELLIS (1883), 8 P. D. 188 ; 52 L. J. P. 99 ; 49 L. T. 223 ; 31 W. R. 942, C. A.

Annotations :—As to (1) Distd. Dunn v. Dunn (1888), 13 P. D. 91. Refd. Fox v. Fox, [1925] P. 157. As to (2) Refd. Stanhope v. Stanhope (1886), 11 P. D. 103.

4186. —— Effect of delay—Application shortly before husband's petition for leave to withdraw.]—TWISLETON v. TWISLETON & KELLY, No. 4611, post.

4187. .]—The ct. refused to make any order for alimony pendente lite, after a decree nisi had been obtained for a dissolution of marriage by reason of the wife's adultery, the wife having allowed some months to elapse after the commencement of the suit before she filed her petition for alimony.—NOBLETT v. NOBLETT & KERSHAW (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 651 ; 20 L. T. 716.

4188. In nullity suit—After decree nisi—Time for decree absolute passed.]—FODEN v. FODEN, No. 4101, ante.

4189. In restitution suit—After decree to resume cohabitation.]—VER MEHR v. VER MEHR, No. 4156, ante.

(b) Service of Petitions and Orders.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 57.

4190. Substituted service—Of petition—Where allowed—Substituted service of main petition allowed.]—On a motion for substituted service of a petition for alimony pendente lite, in a case where substituted service of the petition for divorce had previously been ordered by service upon resp.'s agents, the ct. granted the motion, & as it appeared that a copy of the petition for alimony, had already been sent in a registered letter to the agent's address, ordered that further service, should be dispensed with.—ODEVAINE v. ODEVAINE (1888), 58 L. T. 564 ; 52 J. P. 280.

4191. —— Of order—How served.] — Where orders had been made that the husband should pay the wife's costs & alimony pendente lite, & the husband had assigned his property, & could not be found, the ct. allowed substituted service of the orders by leaving them at the last known residence of the husband, at his attorney's office, & at the address given in the appearance book.—NUTTALL v. NUTTALL (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 164.

Service generally, see Sect. 8, sub-sect. 5, ante.

(c) Pleadings.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 57–60.

4192. Petition—Amendment after answer—Allegation of further income of husband—Denial of own income.]—Petitioner filed a petition for alimony in which she set forth certain property which she asserted she held to her separate use, & resp. answered the petition on oath. The ct. consequently permitted petitioner to amend her petition for alimony, by adding thereto allegations of further income of resp., & a denial of the greater part of the income she had attributed to herself in her petition.—HARKER v. HARKER (1868), 37 L. J. P. & M. 11.

4193. Answer—Husband's right to put in.]—BUTLER v. BUTLER (1752), 1 Lee, 38 ; 161 E. R. 16.

Annotation :—Refd. Synge v. Synge (1900), 64 J. P. 454.

4194. —— Jurisdiction of court to order.] — In a matrimonial suit the wife filed a petition for alimony, to which resp. did not answer. Under Rules & Regulations, 1866, r. 84, the ct. made a peremptory order upon resp. to file an answer to the petition for alimony within a week.—SNOWDON

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 1.—I. (a).

h. Effect of delay.]—Where a pltf. had neglected to proceed to a hearing at the first hearing term after issue joined, owing to a slip on the part of her solr. :—Held : this was no bar to her obtaining interim alimony.—PETERSON v. PETERSON (1874), 6 P. R. 150.—CAN.

k. ——.] — THOMPSON v. THOMPSON (1883), 9 P. R. 526.—CAN.

l. After defence filed — Or expiration of time allowed for defence.]—An application for interim alimony cannot be made until defence is filed or the time for filing it has expired.—PECK v. PECK (1882), 9 P. R. 299.—CAN.

m. —— ——.] — MCARTHUR v. MCARTHUR (1905), 15 Man. L. R. 151 ; 1 W. L. R. 1.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 1.—I.

n. Answer—Offer to pay for necessaries — Cruelty alleged in petition.] —It is not a sufficient answer to a motion for interim alimony where cruelty is alleged, that the husband has offered to allow the wife to get

Sect. 9.—Proceedings pending suit: Sub-sect. 1, I. (c) & (d) i. & ii., (e), J. & K.]

v. SNOWDON (1871), L. R. 2 P. &. D. 200; 40 L. J. P. & M. 29; 24 L. T. 763; 19 W. R. 760.

4195. —— What particulars must be given.]—On a petition for alimony pendente lite by the wife, the husband is required by the ordinary practice of the ct. to furnish particulars of his income, but such rule or practice is not absolute. If the wife has a separate income sufficient to maintain her in the position to which she has been accustomed, the ct. will not be disposed to order the husband to furnish particulars of his income with a view to the allotment of alimony, more especially if the investigation into his circumstances would tend to the husband's detriment.—BLACKBORNE v. BLACKBORNE (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 88; 16 L. T. 435; 16 W. R. 29.

4196. —— —— Mortgage of property.]—CRAMPTON v. CRAMPTON & ARMSTRONG, No. 4136, ante.

4197. —— —— Whether gross or net annual value—Income from trade.]—It is not sufficient to specify the amount of net annual income derived from trade in an answer to a petition for alimony. The gross annual income, & the deductions, must be specified. It is also necessary to specify the gross rental of houses from which income is derived, & to give particulars of the charges & out-goings, in respect of which deduction is claimed.—NOKES v. NOKES (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 529; 3 New Rep. 215; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 24; 12 W. R. 443; 164 E. R. 1381.

4198. —— —— —— Income from house property.]—NOKES v. NOKES, No. 4197, ante.

4199. —— —— Whether value of stock in trade, tools, etc.]—HICK v. HICK & KITCHIN (1863), 12 W. R. 444, n.

4200. —— When particulars of husband's income dispensed with.]—BLACKBORNE v. BLACKBORNE, No. 4195, ante.

4201. —— Income during previous three years—Whether average income sufficient.]—An answer to a petition for alimony, setting out the average income of the husband for several years, & not setting out his income during the three years previous to the commencement of the suit:—Held: to be insufficient.—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 370; 36 L. J. P. & M. 39; 15 L. T. 249; 15 W. R. 288.

Annotations:—Refd. Powell v. Powell (1874), L. R. 3 P. & D. 186; Gandy v. Gandy (1882), 51 L. J. P. 41.

4202. What particulars may be given—Facts bearing on present income.]—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS, No. 4201, ante.

4203. —— Amendment—Jurisdiction of court to order—Answer ambiguous.]—(1) The ct. has no power to order that the husband should attend at the hearing of a petition for alimony pendente lite, that he may be cross-examined as to the statements in his answer as to the amount of his income.

(2) Where such an answer is ambiguous (e.g.), where it does not appear what are the deductions made by the husband from his gross income, the ct. will direct it to be reformed by inserting an explanation of the ambiguous statements.—HOPPER v. HOPPER (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 26.

4204. —— Further & fuller answer—When ordered—Instead of ordering husband's attendance.]—Where the answer of a husband to a petition for alimony is not sufficiently explicit, he will under r. 12 of Further Rules, be ordered to give a further & fuller answer, but he will not be ordered to attend the hearing that he may be examined in open ct., unless his answer is evasive.—CLARK v. CLARK (1860), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 32.

Annotation:—Folld. Senior v. Senior (1866), 15 W. R. 91.

4205. —— —— —— ——.]—TONGE v. TONGE, ANDERSON & EYKYN, No. 4227, post.

4206. Proceedings after answer—Where husband alleges separate income of wife—Replication.]—Where, in his answer to a petition for alimony pendente lite, the husband alleges that the wife's income exceeds his—if the wife dispute this, the proper course for her to adopt is to deny the allegation by her replication on oath.—WATTS v. WATTS (1859), 28 L. J. P. & M. 125; 23 J. P. 280.

4207. —— —— Amendment of petition.]—HARKER v. HARKER, No. 4192, ante.

(d) Evidence.

i. In General.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 61.

4208. Who may be called—Husband.]—A wife who has presented a petition for alimony has a right to subpœna her husband for the purpose of examining him as a witness in support of her petition.—ANDERSON v. ANDERSON (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 512; 37 L. J. P. & M. 64; 18 L. T. 371.

Power to call husband for cross-examination on his answer, see Sub-sect. 1, (d) ii., post.

4209. Witnesses—Right of wife to call & examine—Where husband has not filed an answer—Whether notice to husband necessary.]—ROBERTS v. ROBERTS (1859), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 158; 23 J. P. 297.

4210. —— —— ——.]—A husband who has not filed an answer on oath to the petition for alimony pendente lite under r. 84, cannot cross-examine the witnesses produced in support of the petition, on the motion for an allotment, or contradict their evidence.—CONSTABLE v. CONSTABLE (1869), L. R. 2 P. & D. 17; 39 L. J. P. & M. 17; 21 L. T. 401.

4211. —— —— Where husband has not appeared to original petition.]—In a suit by a wife for judicial separation on the ground of desertion, the ct. having allowed substituted service of the petition, & petition for alimony pendente lite, & the husband not having appeared, the ct., under r. 89, allowed the wife to examine witnesses in support of her petition for alimony, without giving the usual four days' notice.—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON (1871), 41 L. J. P. & M. 40; 26 L. T. 108; 20 W. R. 260.

4212. —— Right of husband to cross-examine—Or contradict.]—CONSTABLE v. CONSTABLE, No. 4210, ante.

4213. —— Whether entitled to professional advice.]—A witness who has been subpœnaed to attend for examination before a registrar in divorce proceedings is not entitled as of right to have his solr. present to advise him.—ALLPORT v. ALLPORT (1909), 25 T. L. R. 588.

4214. Evidence by affidavit—When allowed.]—The ct. allowed the income of resp., who had not filed any answer to his wife's petition for alimony, to be proved by affidavits; but required that notice should be given to resp. of the filing of the affidavits, & of the wife's intention to apply for alimony upon the income proved therein.—MUMBY v. MUMBY (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 701; 38 L. J. P. & M. 72; 21 L. T. 155; 17 W. R. 1115.

4215. Cross-examination—Of wife—Grounds for whatever is necessary for the house, in which both are living but not on friendly terms, & to pay for all such goods.—THEAKSTONE v. THEAKSTONE (1905), 10 O. L. R. 386; 6 O. W. R. 436.—CAN.

o. Agreement by wife releasing husband—Subsequent adultery of husband.]—MILLER v. MILLER (1914), 27 W. L. R. 607; 6 W. W. R. 168; 16 D. L. R. 557; 19 B. C. R. 563.—CAN.

refusing.]—The husband filed a petition for divorce on the ground of the wife's adultery. By her answer the wife denied the adultery & made a countercharge of cruelty. She then filed a petition for alimony pendente lite, which the husband answered by alleging that the wife was being maintained by the co-resp. The wife filed an affidavit denying this, & an order for alimony pendente lite was made by the registrar. On the application of the husband an order was made suspending the order for alimony & giving the husband leave to cross-examine the wife on her affidavit & to file further evidence. The wife appealed on the ground that to allow the cross-examination upon an interlocutory proceedings would prejudice the fair trial of the issue of adultery in the divorce suit.

The Ct. of Appeal varied the order by directing that the leave to cross-examine & file further evidence should be subject to the condition that no question should be put in cross-examination or affidavit filed or used which directly or indirectly went to the issue of adultery.—BASS v. BASS, [1915] P. 17; 84 L. J. P. 53; 112 L. T. 70; 31 T. L. R. 49, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Franklin v. Franklin & Minshall, [1921] P. 407.

4216. —— Of wife's witnesses—Whether allowed]—CONSTABLE v. CONSTABLE, No. 4210, ante.

ii. Attendance of Husband for Cross-Examination.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 61.

4217. Jurisdiction of court to order.]—HOPPER v. HOPPER, No. 4203, ante.

4218. When ordered—Discretion of registrar.]—SYKES v. SYKES, No. 4111, ante.

4219. —— Answer evasive.]—CLARK v. CLARK, No. 4204, ante.

4220. Where the answer of a husband to a petition for alimony pendente lite is not merely insufficiently explicit, but clearly evasive, he will, under the Further Rules, r. 12, be ordered to attend the hearing, that he may be examined in open ct.—SENIOR v. SENIOR (1866), 15 W. R. 91.

4221. —— ——.]—The ct. will only permit a husband to be cross-examined on a petition for alimony, when his answer is evasive on the face of it.—PARKER v. PARKER (1871), 26 L. T. 108.

4222. —— Discrepancy between husband's & wife's allegations of his income.]—SYKES v. SYKES, No. 4111, ante.

4223. Costs of motion for attendance & examination.]—Costs of application for further time to answer, etc., on behalf of the wife, will, as a general rule, not be taxed against the husband. Nor costs of a motion for the husband to attend & be examined on the wife's petition for alimony, & his answer on oath thereto, where the result of his examination is to establish the truth of his answer on oath.—HARDING v. HARDING & LANCE (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 549; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 76; 6 L. T. 692; 10 W. R. 811; 164 E. R. 1110.

(e) Production and Inspection of Documents.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 61.

4224. Jurisdiction to order—Partnership books.]—In a wife's petition for dissolution of marriage she applied for alimony pendente lite. Resp. filed a balance-sheet, showing a loss on his whole business for the year, & the registrar made an order on him & his partner to produce their account-books. They produced a ledger for the last year, but refused to allow it to be inspected :—Held : the registrar had power under r. 191 to require an inspection of the ledger, & a writ of attachment issued to enforce the order.—CAREW v. CAREW, [1891] P. 360; 61 L. J. P. 24; 65 L. T. 167.

Annotation :—Consd. Tonge v. Tonge, [1892] P. 51.

4225. Whether ordered — Husband refusing further & fuller answers.]—On motion by a wife that her husband be ordered to give a further & fuller answer to her petition for alimony pendente lite, the husband stated his inability to do so.

The ct. ordered that the husband's books should be submitted for inspection to the wife & such other person as might be agreed upon between the parties or named by the registrar.—NEWTON v. NEWTON & ALLEN (1872), 27 L. T. 768; 21 W. R. 292.

4226. —— Objection to disclose partnership accounts.]—HIGGS v. HIGGS (1830), 3 Hag. Ecc. 472; 162 E. R. 1230.

4227. —— ——.]—In a petition by the husband for the dissolution of the marriage, the wife applied for an allotment of alimony pending suit. The husband in his answer admitted that his income from his business amounted to £3,000 a year, but objected to produce the books of the business before the registrar on the ground that they would disclose the accounts of the partnership :—Held : the husband's answer was incomplete, & he must file a fuller & further answer; but he ought not at then existing stage of the proceedings to be ordered to file accounts & to attend for the purpose of being cross-examined upon them.—TONGE v. TONGE, ANDERSON & EYKYN, [1892] P. 51; 61 L. J. P. 87; 67 L. T. 390.

Annotation :—Refd. Sykes v. Sykes, [1897] P. 306.

J. Costs of Application.

4228. Where petition refused—On ground of husband's absence of means.]—GAYNOR v. GAYNOR & DEGLIANTONI, No. 4075, ante.

4229. Amendment of order—Alimony made payable to wife's solicitor—Wife's costs refused.]—PARR v. PARR & WHITE, No. 4173, ante.

4230. —— —— ——.]—(1) A wife who is undergoing a sentence of imprisonment for felony is, nevertheless entitled to alimony pendente lite.

(2) An order that alimony pendente lite be paid to the wife will, on her application, be varied by making the alimony payable to the wife or to her solr., but she must bear the costs of the application.

(3) Where a wife was undergoing a sentence of imprisonment the ct. refused so to vary the order without an affidavit by her that she wished the alteration to be made.—KELLY v. KELLY (1863), 4 Sw. & Tr. 227; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 181; 11 W. R. 958; 164 E. R. 1503.

Annotation :—As to (1) Consd. Leslie v. Leslie, [1908] P. 99.

K. Enforcement of Order.

4231. Whether court of equity will interfere.]—Husband & wife, who were separated, entered into

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 1.—I. (d) ii.

p. When ordered.]—On an application alleging means made by a wife for alimony pendente lite, resp. denied means. The ct. refused to refer the matter to the registrar to inquire & report, but ordered resp. to attend ct. for cross-examination as to his means.—STEVENSON v. STEVENSON (1899), I. L. R. 26 Calc. 764.—IND.

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT 1.—J.

q. Resumption of cohabitation—During pendency of motion—Husband's liability for costs.]—Pltf., during the pendency of a motion for interim alimony, returned to her husband :—Held : deft. must pay the costs as between solr. & client of pltf.'s solr.—LEONARD v. LEONARD (1883), 9 P. R. 450.—CAN.

Sect. 9.—Proceedings pending suit: Sub-sect. 1, K.; sub-sects. 2 & 3, A. (a), (b), (c) & an agreement in writing, providing for their living together again, & stipulating that, in the event of a future separation for a particular cause, the wife should receive the income of her own fortune, which her husband was entitled to receive, & that her mother should indemnify him against her debts. They afterwards separated, for the cause referred to by the agreement, & the wife obtained a divorce in the Ecclesiastical Ct., & a sentence for permanent alimony to an amount exceeding the income of her fortune. That alimony was regularly paid by the husband, & he received the income of her fortune. The wife accepted a bill of exchange in favour of a creditor of her own. In a suit by that creditor, an injunction was granted to restrain the husband from paying to the wife the annual amount of the income of her fortune, as the validity of the agreement for future separation, under which she was entitled to such income, was not in dispute between the husband & wife.

Qu.: whether such an agreement would be held valid, if disputed. Semble: the ct. [of Equity] will not interfere, either to compel or to restrain the payment of alimony, as such, except so far as to grant a writ of ne exeat against the husband.—VANDERCUCHT v. DE BLAQUIERE (1839), 5 My. & Cr. 229; 3 Jur. 1116; 41 E. R. 358, L. C.

Annotations:—Consd. Re Meyrick's Settlmt., Meyrick v. Meyrick, [1921] 1 Ch. 311. Refd. Cartwright v. Cartwright (1853), 10 Hare, 630; Exp. Bremner (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 254; Anderson v. Hay (1890), 7 T. L. R. 113.

Modes of enforcement—Action in King's Bench.]—See No. 5989, post.

—— Attachment & committal.]—See Nos. 5911–5916, post.

—— Injunction restraining husband from dealing with property.]—See Nos. 6005, 6006, post.

—— Sequestration.]—See Nos. 5956, 5957, post.

—— Writ ne exeat regno.]—See Sect. 23, sub-sect. 3, I., post.

See, also, Sect. 22, sub-sect. 1, K., post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—DISPUTES AS TO PROPERTY.

See Part XII., Sect. 1, sub-sect. 2, D., ante.

SUB-SECT. 3.—CUSTODY AND MAINTENANCE OF, AND ACCESS TO CHILDREN.

A. Custody.

(a) In General.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 193, & Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 73.

4232. Discretion of court.]—In making an interim order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 35, as to the custody of the children, the ct. will adhere to, or depart from the common law rule according to its discretion.—SPRATT v. SPRATT (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 215; 31 L. T. O. S. 269; 6 W. R. 860; 164 E. R. 699.

Annotation:—Refd. Thomasset v. Thomasset, [1894] P. 295.

4233. Jurisdiction of court—Children over sixteen.]—RYDER v. RYDER, No. 4250, post.

4234. —— ——.]—The ct. has no power to make provision for the maintenance of children above the age of sixteen years.—BLANDFORD v. BLANDFORD, [1892] P. 148; 61 L. J. P. 97; 67 L. T. 392; 8 T. L. R. 381.

Annotations:—Distd. Midwinter v. Midwinter, [1893] P. 93. Overd. Thomasset v. Thomasset, [1894] P. 295.

4235. ——.]—THOMASSET v. THOMASSET, No. 5780, post.

4236. —— ·.]—Upon a summons by a father that the mother should be deprived of the custody of their eldest child, a girl over sixteen years of age, the judge in chambers refused the father's application, & directed that the mother should retain the custody of the child pending suit.—B. v. B. (1894), 72 L. T. 268.

4237. —— Children out of jurisdiction—Application under Custody of Infants Act, 1873 (c. 12).]—A married woman residing abroad, & having the interim custody of her children pending proceedings in England committed to her by the French tribunals, was ordered by the Lord Chancellor to concur with her husband in taking such steps as should be necessary according to the laws of France to obtain the delivering up the children to him. She having opposed an application by the husband to the French cts. for that purpose, on the ground of the pending of an appeal to the House of Lords against the order of the Lord Chancellor, the application was unsuccessful. An order was now made upon Mrs. H., within one week from service of the order, to deliver up the children to Mr. H., or otherwise concur with him in taking such steps as might be necessary, according to the laws of France, to authorise her to deliver them up.

The Ct. of Ch. has jurisdiction over infants who are natural-born English subjects, though born & resident abroad.—HOPE v. HOPE (1854), 4 De G. M. & G. 328; 23 L. J. Ch. 682; 24 L. T. O. S. 29; 2 W. R. 698; 43 E. R. 534, L. C.

Annotations:—Consd. Re Willoughby (1885), 30 Ch. D. 324. Mentd. Kendall v. Wilkinson (1855), 4 E. & B. 680; Cookney v. Anderson (1863), 1 De G. J. & Sm. 365; Drummond v. Drummond (1866), 2 Ch. App. 32; Re Slade, Slade v. Hulme (1881), 45 L. T. 276; Brown v. Collins (1883), 25 Ch. D. 56.

(b) To Whom Given.

4238. Intimate friend of petitioner.]—In Apr. 1858, the wife left her husband's house, with the view of instituting a suit for dissolution of marriage, by reason of cruelty & adultery, taking with her their boy, between seven & eight years of age, whom she placed in a school kept by an intimate friend of her own. On application for an interim order, to prevent the father removing him from such school:—Held: the wife's intimate friend could not be considered an indifferent person between the parties.

The ct. ordered the child to be given up to the husband's mother, who from the letters appeared to be on good terms with the daughter-in-law & attached to the boy.—BOYNTON v. BOYNTON (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 324; 32 L. T. O. S. 229; 7 W. R. 181; 164 E. R. 749.

4239. Mother of respondent.] — BOYNTON v. BOYNTON, No. 4238, ante.

4240. Father "or his agent"—Father abroad.]—The ct. decreed the custody of the children, in a suit for dissolution by the husband, who was in India, to "the father or his agent" with the view that, in the father's absence, the grandfather should have charge of them.—LING v. LING & PRIOR (1866), 13 L. T. 683.

Compare Sect. 17, sub-sect. 3; Sect. 22, sub-sect. 6, post.

(c) What Court will Consider.

4241. Religion of parent.]—GALLINI v. GALLINI (circa 1815), cited 2 Sim. at p. 37; 57 E. R. 704, L. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Ball v. Ball (1827), 2 Sim. 35.

4242. Conduct of parent—Father's mistress not brought to his house.]—Where a person supposed to be improperly in custody is brought up on habeas corpus, the ct., if there appear no ground for restraint, will order that such person be at liberty to go where he pleases, & will, if necessary, give him the protection of an officer in going. But, if the party be a legitimate child, too young to exercise a discretion, the legal custody is that of the father; &, if the mother has possessed herself of the child adversely to him, & he claims it, the ct. will oblige her to deliver it up. Nor will this rule be departed from on the ground that the father has formed an adulterous connection, which still continues, if it appear that he has never brought the adulteress to his house or into contact with his children, & does not intend to so do. Semble: the child would not be given into the father's custody if it appeared that in his hands it would be exposed to cruelty or to gross corruption.—R. v. GREENHILL (1836), 4 Ad. & El. 624; 6 Nev. & M. K. B. 244; 111 E. R. 922.

Annotations:—Consd. Re Hakewill (1852), 12 C. B. 223. Refd. Ex p. Pulbrook (1847), 11 J. P. Jo. 102; R. v. Smith (1853), 17 Jur. 24; R. v. Clarke (1857), 7 E. & B. 186; R. v. Howes (1860), 3 E. & E. 332; Re Andrews (1873), L. R. 8 Q. B. 153; Re Edwards (1873), 42 L. J. Q. B. 99; R. v. Prince (1875), L. R. 2 C. C. R. 154; Re Agar-Ellis, Agar-Ellis v. Lascelles (1883), 24 Ch. D. 317; Thomasset v. Thomasset, [1894] P. 295.

4243. —— Previous improper attempt to obtain custody.]—Pending a suit for divorce, the wife, in an improper manner, obtained possession of an infant child of the marriage, then living with the husband. On the husband again taking the child from her she endeavoured, by violence, to get it from him, but failing, applied to the ct. for an order that it might be restored to her. The ct. rejected the application, on account of the impropriety of her conduct, & condemned her in the costs of the motion.—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY (1859), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 166; 23 J. P. 247.

4244. Age of infant.]—The father has the common law right to the custody of an infant, however young, & in the case of an infant of seven months the ct. held that the mother must show more than the mere natural desire of a mother to induce the ct. to exercise its discretion under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), in her favour, & as it did not appear that either mother or child were suffering by the separation, refused to make any order.—CARTLIDGE v. CARTLIDGE (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 567; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 85; 6 L. T. 397; 10 W. R. 672; 164 E. R. 1117.

Annotations:—Distd. Barnes v. Barnes (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 463. Refd. Re Andrews (1873), L. R. 8 Q. B. 153; Re Edwards (1873), 42 L. J. Q. B. 99.

4245. ——.]—HAMILTON v. HAMILTON (1887), 4 T. L. R. 27.

4246. ——.]—On an application for an order for access to children pending suit on behalf of the mother, the ct. will require to be satisfied that the motive is natural love & affection for the children, & that appct. has no indirect object in view; as to which, lapse of time in making the application may be material. The ct. will also consider the convenience of all parties in the circumstances, & how the children would probably be affected if the order were made.

Interlocutory appeals to the full ct. must be decided on the same materials that were before the judge ordinary.—CODRINGTON v. CODRINGTON & ANDERSON (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 496; 4 New Rep. 121; 10 L. T. 387; 164 E. R. 1367.

4247. Motives of application—Whether mere desire of mother sufficient.]—CARTLIDGE v. CARTLIDGE, No. 4244, ante.

4248. Effect of separation on mother's health.]—The ct. made an order, giving the custody of two infant children, the one being of the age of between three & four years, the other of eighteen months, to the mother, resp. in a suit for dissolution of marriage, on the ground that the mother's health was suffering from being deprived of their society, & that they were living with a stranger, & not with the father.—BARNES v. BARNES & BEAUMONT (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 463; 16 W. R. 283.

(d) Practice and Procedure.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 34, 73.

4249. Adjournment—To enable wife to answer application—Granted on terms.]—Upon an application by a husband for the custody of a child pendente lite, the wife asked for time to answer the affidavit upon which the application was founded. The ct. granted time, upon an undertaking being given by the wife that the child should not be removed out of the jurisdiction of the ct. until further order.—CARTER v. CARTER (1860), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 167.

4250. Evidence—Whether court bound by affidavits.]—(1) On a motion for an interim order for the custody of children, the ct. will consider all the existing circumstances at the time of the application, but will not follow affidavits to be read as to the truth or falsehood of charges brought by the parties against each other

(2) The court has, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, no jurisdiction to make any order as to custody of children upwards of sixteen years of age. (3) Semble: if necessary it might make an order as to their maintenance. —RYDER v. RYDER (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 225; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 44; 3 L. T. 678; 9 W. R. 440; 164 E. R. 981.

Annotations:—As to (2) Consd. Thomasset v. Thomasset, [1894] P. 295. As to (3) Refd. Thomasset v. Thomasset, [1894] P. 295; Shaftesbury Union v. Brockway (1912), 82 L. J. K. B. 222.

4251. Interim order restraining removal—Whether granted.]—The ct., upon affidavit that petitioner believed her husband intended to remove the only child out of the jurisdiction of the ct., made an order, ad interim, upon petitioner's ex p. application, restraining resp. from removing the child.—HARRIS v. HARRIS (1890), 63 L. T. 262.

4252. Pleading—Paternity of child disputed—Must be specially pleaded.]—Where it is desired by a resp. to question the paternity of a child or children the custody of whom is claimed on a petition, the question of such paternity must be specifically raised in the answer, so that the other side may have due notice to be prepared to meet it, & unless the party opposing the prayer for custody so pleads, such party will not in future be allowed at the hearing to question the paternity of such child or children.—GORDON v. GORDON, [1903] P. 92; 72 L. J. P. 34; 88 L. T. 573.

Annotation:—Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1924] A. C. 687.

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 3.—A. (d).

r. Interim order restraining removal—May be made ex parte.]—An order that resp. in a suit for judicial separation, in whose custody the children are, do not remove them out of the colony until final decree, or until further order may be made on an ex p. application, if, in the opinion of the ct., the matter is so urgent as to require it.—ATKINSON v. ATKINSON (1890), 8 N. Z. L. R. 442.—N.Z.

s. Two orders made—Irregularity in first order—Appearance on second—Waiver.]—Where two interim orders as to custody of children have been made in the same suit, but the second does not assume the existence of the first, a party cannot treat an appearance on the making of the second as a waiver of an irregularity in the first.—ATKINSON v. ATKINSON (1890), 8 N. Z. L. R. 442.—N.Z.

Sect. 9.—Proceedings pending suit: Sub-sect. 3, A. (e) & (f), B. & C.; sub-sect. 4, A., B., C. & D.; sub-sect. 5, A

(e) Costs of Application.

4253. Application refused—For improper conduct of applicant—Applicant condemned in costs.]—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY, No. 4243, ante.

(f) Enforcement of Order.

Peremptory order.]—See No. 4102, post.

Attachment & committal.]—See Nos. 5934–5936, post.

B. Maintenance.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 193; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 73.

4254. Jurisdiction of court to order—Children over sixteen.]—RYDER v. RYDER, No. 4250, ante.

4255. —— ——.]—BLANDFORD v. BLANDFORD, No. 4234, ante.

4256. Whether ousted by separation agreement.]—A wife, having petitioned for the dissolution of her marriage, presented a petition for an allowance by way of alimony pendente lite & for the maintenance & education of the children of the marriage. In answer to this petition the husband alleged that prior to the divorce petition he & his wife had entered into an agreement for separation, by which he had agreed to make her an allowance of £600 a year. The wife denied the existence of the agreement:—Held: the agreement, if it existed, would not affect the jurisdiction of the ct. under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 35, & Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 4, to make provision for the maintenance & education of the children, & the husband must make discovery of his means.—BARRY v. BARRY, [1901] P. 87; 70 L. J. P. 17; 84 L. T. 33; 49 W. R. 370; 45 Sol. Jo. 238, C. A.

4257. Whether granted—One child—Order for alimony pendente lite.]—Where alimony has been allotted to the wife & the only child of the marriage left in her custody, pendente lite, the ct. refused to order the husband to contribute to its maintenance.—CRANWELL v. CRANWELL (1868), 19 L. T. 611.

4258. Order for particulars of husband's income—Jurisdiction of court to order—Effect of prior separation agreement.]—BARRY v. BARRY, No. 4256, ante.

See, also, No. 4787, post.

C. Access.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 34, 73

4259. Jurisdiction of court—Order for access only—No application or order for custody.]—(1) By Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 35, the ct. for divorce is authorised, during the pendency of a matrimonial suit, to make interim orders for the custody, etc., of the children, the marriage of whose parents is the subject of such suit:—Held: the ct. might entertain an application for access to the children, although it may not have made & may not have been applied to to make any order as to their custody.

(2) On appeal from an interlocutory matter, not touching the main issue in the cause, & resting in the judicial discretion of the ct. below, applt. must satisfy the Ct. of Appeal that the discretion of the ct. below was altogether wrongly exercised.—THOMPSON v. THOMPSON & STURMFELLS (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 402; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 213; 5 L. T. 325; 7 Jur. N. S. 1207; 10 W. R. 96; 164 E. R. 1052.

Annotation:—As to (1) Consd. Codrington v. Codrington & Anderson (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 496.

4260. Discretion of court.]—HEATHCOAT v. HEATHCOAT (1864), 10 L. T. 389, n.

4261. What court will consider—Necessity for order—Suit for restitution pending.]—The father of infants, before a petition was presented by their mother for access to them, etc., under 2 & 3 Vict. c. 54, went with them to reside abroad. The ct. ordered substituted service of the petition, but, at the hearing, declined to make the order, although the father had filed affidavits & appeared by counsel, because the father & infants were resident abroad, & because a suit by the mother for restitution of conjugal rights was pending, which, if successful, would have the same effect as the order prayed.

The ct. will not make the order where the wife has left her husband without sufficient cause. Semble: the order may be made ex p. if the necessity of the case requires it.—Re TAYLOR (1840), 11 Sim. 178; 9 L. J. Ch. 399; 4 Jur. 983; 59 E. R. 842.

4262. —— Conduct of applicant—Desertion without cause.]—Re TAYLOR, No. 4261, ante.

4263. —— Motives of application.]—HEATHCOAT v. HEATHCOAT (1864), 10 L. T. 389, n.

4264. —— Welfare of children.]—HEATHCOAT v. HEATHCOAT (1864), 10 L. T. 389, n.

4265. —— ——.]—In exercising its discretion in the matter of access to children by their parents pending a suit, the ct. is mainly influenced by considerations for the interests of the children. Therefore, where it was satisfied that the visits of the mother to the child, who was in a very sickly state, might retard the child's recovery, it refused the mother an order for access pending the suit, though there was reason to apprehend that the separation of the mother from the child would exercise a prejudicial effect on the mother's health.—PHILIP v. PHILIP (1872), 41 L. J. P. & M. 89; 27 L. T. 592.

4266. Practice—Service of petition—Substituted service.]—Re TAYLOR, No. 4261, ante.

4267. —— Whether granted on ex parte application.]—Re TAYLOR, No. 4261, ante.

4268. Variation of order — After verdict — Whether before expiry of time of moving for new trial.]—After the verdict in a petition for dissolution the ct. refused to vary the order as to access to children & to prohibit the guilty wife from seeing her children, until the time for moving for a new trial had expired.

The controversy between the parties is not ended until the period in which a new trial can be moved is exhausted.—GODERICH v. GODERICH & LARA, FORDER & KELSEY (1868), 19 L. T. 611.

4269. Costs of application—Whether wife entitled—Application unsuccessful.]—(1) A wife, who unsuccessfully makes or opposes an interlocutory motion in a matrimonial suit, is not entitled to the costs. Accordingly, it was held that the costs of an unsuccessful motion by a wife for access to the children of the marriage, & of an unsuccessful opposition by her to a motion for further particulars of the charges made by her in her petition, should not be allowed.

(2) The fee of counsel for advising on the sufficiency of an answer, which is special, & not a mere traverse of the allegations in the wife's petition, will be allowed on the taxation of costs.—HEPWORTH v. HEPWORTH (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 253.

SUB-SECT. 4.—SECURITY FOR COSTS.

A. In General.

4270. Application of common law rules.]—BLACKETT v. BLACKETT & FRAIL, No. 4276, post.

B. Against Whom Ordered.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 97.

4271. Guardian instituting proceedings on behalf of infant husband.]—BEAVAN v. BEAVAN, No. 4083, ante.

4272. Wife petitioning for decree of nullity—Out of jurisdiction—Separate estate must be proved.]—The ct. held that it had power to order the wife, who was petitioner in a nullity suit, to give security for costs, but it declined to do so, in that particular instance, as it was not sufficiently proved that she had a separate income.—M. (FALSELY CALLED DE B.) v. DE B. (1875), 44 L. J. P. & M. 41 ; 33 L. T. 263.

4273. Intervener—Stranger to suit.]—A husband's petition for divorce was met by a cross-petition for divorce by the wife. The husband's petition being unsupported by evidence was dismissed, but a decree nisi was granted to the wife upon her petition. Before the decree was made absolute, upon the intervention of a stranger, an order was made for trial of an issue as to the wife's adultery, no terms as to costs being asked for or imposed upon the intervener. Upon a subsequent application by the wife that the intervener should give security for her costs of the intervention :—Held: there was no jurisdiction to make such an order.—GILROY v. GILROY, [1914] P. 122 ; 83 L. J. P. 49 ; 110 L. T. 601 ; 30 T. L. R. 365 ; 58 Sol. Jo. 378, C. A.

Husband—In respect of co-respondent's costs.]—See Sub-sect. 4, C., post.

—— In respect of wife's costs.]—See Sub-sect. 5, post.

C. Costs of Co-Respondent.

4274. When ordered—Only in cases of need.]—The ct., being satisfied that petitioner had, as a fact, assets in this country upon which, if defeated in his suit, execution for any costs ordered to be paid by him could be levied, refused the application of one of co-resps. that petitioner be ordered to give security for his costs. Semble : the ct., if well assured that there is real necessity for it, will make an order, upon a co-resp.'s bonâ fide application, that petitioner give security for the costs of such co-resp.—REDFERN v. REDFERN & HERBERT (1890), 63 L. T. 780.

4275. —— Petitioner husband a bankrupt—Claiming damages.]—In a petition for dissolution of marriage, the husband, who was an uncertificated bkpt. claimed damages. Upon application by the co-resp. :—Held : unless the claim for damages was withdrawn petitioner must give security for the costs of the action.—SMITH v. SMITH & PALK (1882), 7 P. D. 227 ; 47 L. T. 355 ; 31 W. R. 124.

Annotation :—N.F. Blackett v. Blackett & Frail, [1902] P. 170.

4276. —— —— ——.]—There is no settled practice in the Probate & Divorce Div. that petitioner, who is an undischarged bkpt. & who claims damages from the co-resp. must give security for costs unless he withdraws the claim for damages.

The same rules apply in the Probate, Divorce & Admlty. Div. as in other divisions of the High Ct., where damages are claimed under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85).—BLACKETT v. BLACKETT & FRAIL, [1902] P. 170 ; 71 L. J. P. 69 ; 86 L. T. 669 ; 50 W. R. 516 ; 18 T. L. R. 567 ; 46 Sol. Jo. 482, C. A.

D. Wife's Costs.

See Sub-sect. 5, post.

SUB-SECT. 5.—WIFE'S COSTS.

A. In General.

See Matrimonial Rules, 1924, rr. 91–93.

4277. When payment or security ordered—Petitioner's solicitors not attending application—Costs already taxed.]—GOUGH v. GOUGH & BAYNTON, No. 5055, post.

4278. —— Discretion of court.]—(1) Registrar or judge has a discretion under r. 158 of the Divorce Rules to order a husband to pay or secure a sum to meet his wife's costs of a divorce suit

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 4.– A.

t. Whether ordered in suit for alimony.]—An order for security for costs will not be made in an alimony suit.—BENNETT v. BENNETT (1876), 7 P. R. 54.—CAN.

a. ——.]—KNOWLTON v. KNOWLTON (1880), 8 P. R. 400.—CAN.

b. —— Whether husband entitled to order—Wife obtaining divorce decree elsewhere.]—In an action for alimony the fact that the wife has obtained, of her own volition, a divorce in another jurisdiction is not a ground entitling the husband to security for costs.—ACKERMAN v. ACKERMAN, [1918] 2 W. W. R. 759.—CAN.

c. Waiver by plaintiff — What amounts to—Taking steps in action.]—When a petition by deft. to reduce the amount of alimony allowed in the suit, came on to be heard, pltf. procured an enlargement for two weeks to answer deft.'s affidavits & obtained a further enlargement for two weeks, but before the time expired she applied for an order for security for costs :—Held : pltf. had waived her right, if any, to such security.—KNOWLTON v. KNOWLTON (1880), 8 P. R. 400.—CAN.

d. Witness & counsel fees.]—Where pltf., in an alimony suit, is without means, she is not entitled as of course to have the witness fees necessary to enable her to bring the case on to a hearing paid in advance by deft. Such application must be made at the hearing.—HAFFEY v. HAFFEY (1877), 7 P. R. 137.—CAN.

e. ——.]—An order was made in an alimony suit for payment to pltf., before the trial, of $22.35 on account of her disbursements for witness fees, & of $40 on account of counsel fee :—Qu. :—whether the counsel fee should be paid in advance if pltf.'s solr. acts as counsel.—INGRAM v. INGRAM (1883), 10 P. R. 569.—CAN.

f. ——.]—Rule 1144 does not warrant the making of an order for payment by deft. to pltf.'s solrs. in an alimony action, of a sum to cover counsel fees, unless it is shown that the fees are to be paid to counsel who is not solr. for pltf. or the partner of the solr.—GALLAGHER v. GALLAGHER (1897), 17 P. R. 575.—CAN.

g. ——.]—FRAZIER v. FRAZIER [1921] 1 W. W. R. 1116 ; 65 D. L. R. 774.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 5.—A.

h. When payment or security ordered —Action for alimony—Undertaking by solicitor to account.]—Notwithstanding the language of Rule 1144, an order may be made in an action for alimony for payment by deft. to pltf.'s solicitor of a sum to cover prospective witness fees, upon the undertaking of the solr. to account for all sums not actually & properly disbursed.—STEVENSON v. STEVENSON (1899), 19 C. L. T. 392 ; 19 P. R. 48.—CAN.

k. —— Wife's suit for judicial separation.]—A wife, petitioner for judicial separation, is entitled to an order that the husband do give security for her costs under Divorce Rule 42 (Man.)—ONEFREYCHUCK v. ONEFREYCHUCK, [1923] 2 W. W. R. 991.—CAN.

l. —— —— Husband's suit for divorce.]—On an application by the wife for her costs during the pendency of her suit for judicial separation & her husband's suit for divorce :—Held : a wife, whose property is retained by her husband, is entitled to her costs.—GEORGUCOPULAS v. GEORGUCOPULAS (1902), I. L. R. 29 Calc. 619.—IND.

m. —— Wife's suit for divorce.]—In a suit for divorce by a wife having no separate estate, & for whom a solr. has taken up her case bonâ fide, an order will be made for security for, or payment into ct. of her taxed assessed costs by deft., unless exceptional reasons can be shown against making such order.—COUCH v. COUCH, [1924] 3 D. L. R. 358.—CAN.

n. —— Wife petitioner or respondent.]—Divorce & Matrimonial notwithstanding that the wife has separate property.

Sect. 9.—Proceedings pending suit: Sub-sect. 5, A., B., C., D., E., F. & G.]

(2) For the purpose of exercising such discretion in a case where alimony has been ordered the registrar or judge may properly take into consideration the comparative income of husband & wife, as otherwise the basis upon which the alimony was estimated might be disturbed.—ALLEN v. ALLEN, ALLEN v. ALLEN & BELL, [1894] P. 134; 63 L. J. P. 78; 70 L. T. 326; 42 W. R. 230; 10 T. L. R. 161; 38 Sol. Jo. 128; 6 R. 585, C. A.

4279. —— In husband's suit for dissolution—Only where wife has bonâ fide defence.]—KERSHAW v. KERSHAW & BERRY, No. 4915, post.

4280. —— —— —— Evidence required.]—FRANKLIN v. FRANKLIN & MINSHALL, No. 4305, post.

4281. —— Jurisdiction disputed by husband—Whether ground for refusing.]—SMITH v. SMITH, No. 3955, ante.

B. Costs of Particular Proceedings.

Commission to take evidence abroad.] — See Sect. 13, sub-sect. 10, post.

4282. Appeal by wife to House of Lords.]—YELVERTON v. LONGWORTH (OR YELVERTON) (1864), Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. XVI., p. 562.

4283. Intervention of Queen's Proctor—After decree nisi granted to wife.]—(1) A wife who has obtained a decree nisi with costs is entitled to enforce payment of those costs from the husband, notwithstanding the intervention of the Queen's Proctor before the decree is made absolute.

(2) After a wife had obtained a decree nisi the Queen's Proctor intervened & charged her with collusion, with the suppression of material facts, & with adultery, & those charges were denied by her. The ct. declined to order the husband to deposit in the registry or to find security for the wife's costs of trying the issues raised by the Queen's Proctor's intervention.—GLADSTONE v. GLADSTONE (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 260; 44 L. J. P. & M. 46; 32 L. T. 404.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Butler v. Butler (1890), 15 P. D. 126. Generally, Mentd. Robinson v. Robinson (1877), 25 W. R. 376; Crawford v. Crawford (1886), 11 P. D. 150.

4284. —— ——.]—Where there were cross-petitions, & a decree nisi for dissolution had been pronounced on the wife's petition, & subsequently the Queen's Proctor intervened, & the decree nisi was thereupon rescinded, &, the wife having appealed, the decision of the ct. below was confirmed by the Ct. of Appeal, the ct. refused either to order a sum of £90, which had been paid into the registry by the husband, under an order of the ct., to secure the wife's costs, to be paid out to the wife's solrs., or to order the husband to pay the costs incurred by the wife in consequence of the Queen's Proctor's intervention. Semble: it is not the practice of the Probate Div., in matters relating to divorce, to order a husband to give security for his wife's costs of & incidental to the Queen's Proctor's intervention.—BUTLER v. BUTLER, BUTLER v. BUTLER & BURNHAM (1890), 15 P. D. 32; 59 L. J. P. 30; on appeal (1890), 15 P. D. 126, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Russell v. Russell, [1892] P. 152.

4285. Inquiry as to wife's property.] — MIDWINTER v. MIDWINTER, No. 5542, post.

4286. Motion for new trial.]—The Ct. of Appeal will not order security to be given for the costs of a motion for a new trial of a divorce petition, it not having been the practice to require security to be given in such a case before Jud. Act, 1890 (c. 44).—RICKABY v. RICKABY & SWIFT, [1901] P. 134; 70 L. J. P. 24; 84 L. T. 182; 45 Sol. Jo. 326, C. A.

C. Where Husband has No Means.

4287. Whether payment or security ordered—Wife with separate estate.]—DAVIS v. DAVIS (1789), 2 Hag. Con. 204, n.; 161 E. R. 716.

Annotations:—Folld. Fyler v. Fyler (1856), Dea. & Sw. 175. Refd. Wilson v. Wilson (1797), 2 Hag. Con. 203; Beevor v. Beevor (1809), 3 Phillim. 261; Belcher v. Belcher (1836), 1 Curt. 444.

4288. ——.]—The ct. will make an order for

Causes Act, 1867, Rule 156, providing for security to be given by the husband for the wife's costs, applies where the wife is petitioner as well as where she is resp.—SHIRLEY v. SHIRLEY (1896), 15 N. Z. L. R. 227.—N.Z.

o. In husband's suit for dissolution—Only where wife has bonâ fide defence.]—The wife of a petitioner in a suit for dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery pleaded that she was never married to petitioner, but did not deny cohabitation with co-resp.:—Held: resp. was not entitled to security for her costs.—MATIU v. REWETI (1906), 26 N. Z. L. R. 287.—N.Z.

p. —— Whether affidavit of wife necessary.]—In applying for an order under Divorce Rule 42, Man., for security for the wife's costs in a petition by a husband for divorce, an affidavit of merits on the part of the wife is not essential.

While the possession of separate property by the wife & the want of means in the husband may be an answer to an application for security, the Judge's discretion in making the order under the circumstances in question will not be interfered with on appeal unless he has improperly exercised such discretion.—PARSONS v. PARSONS & CHALMERS, [1924] 1 W. W. R. 167; 1 D. L. R. 643; 34 Man. L. R. 84.—CAN.

q. ——.] — Where in a petition for dissolution of marriage upon the ground of adultery filed by her husband, the wife denies the allegations against her, she has an absolute right to require her husband to furnish her with funds sufficient to enable her to make a full & satisfactory defence.—GARLINGE v. GARLINGE (1922), I. L. R. 44 All. 745.—IND.

r. Whether court has jurisdiction to order security.]—In British Columbia, there is no jurisdiction in the ct. to order a husband to put up security for his wife's costs in a suit for divorce when the wife is petitioner, even though it be shown that the wife has no separate estate & that the husband has means to comply with the order if made.—DAVY v. DAVY (No. 2), [1922] 1 W. W. R. 360; 63 D. L. R. 341; 30 B. C. R. 365.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 5.—B.

s. Application by husband for custody of children—Unsuccessful resistance by wife.]—Where a wife leaves her husband without justification she is not entitled against him to her costs of unsuccessfully resisting his appln. by habeas corpus for the custody of the children of the marriage.—Re MCPHALEN (1903), 10 B. C. R. 40.—CAN.

t. Application by wife for alimony—Jurisdiction of taxing master.]—A solr., acting for a wife, instituted on her behalf against her husband a suit for restitution of conjugal rights in which a decree was made in favour of the wife. In the course of the proceedings applications were made for alimony pendente lite & for permanent alimony, for an order charging the alimony on the husband's property, & for an order restraining the husband from selling his property. The husband having died before the applications came before the ct., the solr. rendered his bill of costs in respect of those applications to the husband's exor., & an order was made for its taxation. The taxing officer disallowed all the costs other than out-of-pocket expenses:—Held: the taxing officer had power to determine whether the applications were necessaries.—FEALY v. PUBLIC TRUSTEE (N. S. W.) (1919), 26 C. L. R. 407.—AUS.

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 5.—C.

4288 i. Whether payment or security ordered.]—In a wife's petition for divorce, resp. had failed to pay petitioner's costs incurred before trial & had not provided security to cover petitioner's costs at the trial. Resp. alleged want of means:—Held: petitioner was entitled to the order for resp. to pay the taxed costs & provide security, & if the order is not complied with resp. could not be precluded from appearing at the trial. No order for attachment was made.—BATGER v. BATGER (1899), 17 N. Z. L. R. 572.—N.Z.

a. Inability of husband to pay sum ordered—Whether stay of proceedings granted.]—In a suit brought the taxation & payment of the wife's costs in a matrimonial suit against the husband, notwithstanding his apparent inability to pay them.

Semble: it will not grant an attachment for disobedience to such order, if satisfied of the husband's inability, through poverty, to comply with it.

The ct. refused to allow an attachment to issue against a common workman, dependent upon his weekly earnings of 24*s.* a week, & whose sole property consisted of furniture of the value of £4, for non-payment of £2 4*s.* arrears of alimony pendente lite, but gave the wife leave to sue out a fi. fa. for the sum due.—WARD v. WARD (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 484; 29 L. J. P. & M. 17; 23 J. P. 297; 164 E. R. 824.

4289. —— Husband petitioning as "poor person."]—(1) Subject to the discretion of the ct. under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 51, it is the practice in the Probate Div. to allow a husband suing in formâ pauperis for dissolution of marriage only his or his solr.'s costs out of pocket, including those of the certificate, & in the latter case a reasonable sum for office expenses, against co-resp. Semble: (2) resp. & co-resp. may, if successful, obtain an order for full costs against such pauper petitioner; (3) there is no clear rule of practice as to whether resp. should obtain an order for security for costs against such pauper petitioner, but each case must be dealt with on its own merits.—RICHARDSON v. RICHARDSON & PLOWMAN, [1895] P. 276; 64 L. J. P. 93; 11 T. L. R. 469; affd., [1895] P. 346, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (2) Folld. White v. White, [1898] P. 124. As to (3) Refd. Smith v. Smith & Rutherford, [1920] P. 206. Generally, Mentd. Re Raphael, Ex p. Salomon, [1899] 1 Ch. 853.

4290. —— ——.]—Where a husband is petitioning for a divorce as a "poor person" within the meaning of the Rules of the Supreme Ct. (Poor Persons), 1914, the registrar may, nevertheless, consider an application by the wife, resp., for security for costs & may also make an allotment of alimony pendente lite.

The Rules of the Supreme Ct. (Poor Persons), 1914, do not preclude the old practice of the Divorce Ct. being followed in regard to applications by a wife, resp., for security for costs & for alimony pendente lite.—GRINHAM v. GRINHAM & PASCOE, [1916] P. 1; 85 L. J. P. 20; 113 L. T. 1216; 60 Sol. Jo. 176.

Annotation:—Refd. Smith v. Smith & Rutherford, [1920] P. 206.

4291. —— ——.]—The fact that a husband petitioner for divorce has obtained leave to sue as a poor person does not relieve him from the obligation to give security for his wife's costs. The costs for which security is ordered may in a proper case be limited to such costs as the wife would incur if she had obtained leave to defend as a poor person; but each case must be decided on its own merits.—SMITH v. SMITH & RUTHERFORD, [1920] P. 206; 89 L. J. P. 175; 123 L. T. 174; 36 T. L. R. 480.

4292. For what amount security ordered.]—SMITH v. SMITH & RUTHERFORD, No. 4291, ante.

D. Where Wife has Separate Estate.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 91.

4293. When payment or security ordered—Discretion of court.]—ALLEN v. ALLEN, ALLEN v. ALLEN & BELL, No. 4278, ante.

4294. Wife with adequate income—Incomes of parties substantially equal.]—Costs of the wife, having a sufficient independent income, not allowed to be taxed, against the husband, during the proceedings.—WILSON v. WILSON (1797), 2 Hag. Con. 203; 161 E. R. 716.

Annotations:—Refd. Beevor v. Beevor (1800), 3 Phillim. 261; Belcher v. Belcher (1836), 1 Curt. 444; Fyler v. Fyler (1856), Dea. & Sw. 175; Barrow v. Barrow (1863), 17 Jur. 240; Gilroy v. Gilroy (1914), 58 Sol. Jo. 378.

—— Where husband without means.]—See No. 4287, ante.

4295. What is separate estate—Trust fund under separation deed—Repayable on death of child before twenty-one.]—By a deed of separation a husband covenanted & did actually invest in the hands of trustees a sum of £250 to be applied to the separate maintenance of his wife & her child. But it was also covenanted that in the event of the child dying before attaining the age of twenty-one, the sum was to be repaid to him by the trustees. The wife instituted a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, in which cruelty was pleaded on both sides. The ct. held that the deed made no independent provision for the wife, & that the husband therefore should provide her with the means of trying the issue between them, & the costs not being paid by the husband in pursuance of the order, it directed an attachment to be issued against him, but allowed it to lie for three weeks in the registry, to give him an opportunity of finding the money.—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS (1869), 20 L. T. 332.

E. After Judicial Separation or Separation Order.

4296. Prior judicial separation—On ground of wife's adultery.] — In a suit for dissolution of marriage instituted by the husband, who has previously obtained a divorce a mensâ et thoro in an Ecclesiastical Ct. on the ground of his wife's adultery, the wife is not entitled to alimony pendente lite. She is, however, entitled to costs de die in diem.—HOLT v. HOLT & FLEEMING (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 12.

Annotations:—Consd. Otway v. Otway (1888), 13 P. D. 141; Earnshaw v. Earnshaw, [1896] P. 160.

4297. Separation order by justices.]—Notwithstanding the words of sect. 26 of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), & the construction placed thereon by the decision of the Ct. of Appeal in the case of In re Wingfield & Blew, No. 5354, post, the Divorce Ct. has power to direct a husband, whose wife has obtained a separation order against him, to find security for such costs of the wife as may be considered necessary to enable her to bring a suit for dissolution of marriage.—SHEPPARD v. SHEPPARD, [1905] P. 185; 74 L. J. P. 102; 93 L. T. 443; 53 W. R. 608; 21 T. L. R. 526.

4298. ——.]—GILLET v. GILLET, No. 4306, post.

F. In Nullity Suits.

4299. Allegation of fraud by wife in procuring marriage.]—PORTSMOUTH (COUNTESS) v. PORTSMOUTH (EARL), No. 4102, ante.

4300. Suit instituted by father of husband.]—WELLS v. WELLS & COTTAM, No. 4865, post.

G. Delay in Application.

Delay in application by wife.]—See Nos. 5055, 5056, post.

Delay in application by wife's solicitors.]—See No. 5065, post.

for dissolution of a marriage, resp., being possessed of no separate property of her own, obtained an order directing her husband to deposit in ct. a sum certified by the registrar as sufficient to cover her probable costs of suit. The husband, being a man of next to no means, failed to pay the sum into ct.:—Held: it would be unreasonable to stay proceedings on account of the husband being unable to pay into ct. that which he did not possess.—THOMSON v. THOMSON (1887), I. L. R. 14 Calc. 580.—IND.

Sect. 9.—Proceedings pending suit: Sub-sect. 5, H. Sect. 10: Sub-sect. 1, A., B., & C.]

H. Practice and Procedure.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 91–92.

4301. Husband out of jurisdiction—Deposit in lieu of security.]—Where petitioner is out of the jurisdiction, he may deposit a sum in lieu of giving security for costs, but the undertaking of his solr. is insufficient.—Re NORMAN (1849), 11 Beav. 401; 50 E. R. 872.

4302. —— Undertaking by solicitor.]—Re NORMAN, No. 4301, ante.

4303. Wife's suit—Mala fides—Payment of costs into registry.]—(1) In a suit by the wife for judicial separation, an application was made in chambers for the usual order for the payment by resp. of petitioner's taxed costs, incurred previous to the hearing, to her attorney. Affidavits were filed showing that petitioner had been living in open adultery for several years before the petition was filed, & up to the date of the petition. The ct., having reason to believe that the suit was not instituted bonâ fide, but for the purpose of obtaining costs from the husband, refused to make the usual order for the payment of costs to petitioner's attorney, but directed that they should be paid into the registry to abide the event of the hearing.

(2) The trial of a suit by the wife for judicial separation being postponed at her instance, the ct. directed the payment of the alimony pendente lite which had been allotted to her to be suspended from the date of the postponement until the cause was tried.—ROGERS v. ROGERS (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 82; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 87; 12 L. T. 236; 13 W. R. 546; 164 E. R. 1446.

4304. Application to increase security.]—Where the sum allowed in the registry for the wife's costs of trial is inadequate for the purpose, the proper course is to apply on summons to the judge ordinary at chambers, that the registrar be directed to make a further estimate, & not to move the ct. for the allotment of a specific sum.—MADAN v. MADAN & DE THOREN (1868), 18 L. T. 337; 16 W. R. 712.

4305. Order for security—Time for compliance—Effect of decree nisi before time fixed for registrar.]—(1) The fact that a decree nisi is made before the time fixed by the registrar's order for the husband giving security has expired does not prevent that order being effectual. (2) It is the established principle of the ct. that a wife cannot in any interlocutory proceedings be asked to deny on oath the adultery with which she is charged; & this principle applies as well to proceedings to make the husband pay or give security for costs as to other proceedings. (3) An affidavit by the wife that she is advised she has a good defence on the merits is a sufficient compliance with the memorandum on Divorce Rule 158 issued in 1902, directing the registrars to require an affidavit of the merits from the wife & her solr. on her application against the husband for payment of taxed costs & security for costs of hearing. The practice as to asking a wife resp. for the address of co-resp. discussed.—FRANKLIN v. FRANKLIN & MINSHALL, [1921] P. 407; 90 L. J. P. 306; 126 L. T. 110; 37 T. L. R. 894.

Annotation:—Generally, Mentd. Abrahams v. Buckley, [1924] 1 K. B. 903.

4306. —— Enforcement of order—Injunction restraining husband from receiving legacy.]—In a petition by the wife for dissolution of the marriage it appeared that before the petition, the husband having been convicted of an aggravated assault on his wife, a magistrate made an order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), s. 4, that the wife be not bound to cohabit with her husband, & that he should pay to her the sum of £1 weekly. In the suit in this ct. orders had been made on resp. to pay £16 & secure a further sum of £45 to defray the wife's costs. The husband was entitled to the sum of £1,400 under the will of a deceased testatrix, & the wife had obtained an ex p. injunction restraining the husband from receiving any part of the legacy. On an application for the continuation of the injunction & the appointment of a receiver, the ct. continued the injunction in regard to the costs until the trial or payment of them, but declined to make any order for the enforcement of the magistrate's order for an allowance.—GILLET v. GILLET (1889), 14 P. D. 158; 58 L. J. P. 84; 61 L. T. 401; 38 W. R. 144.

Annotations:—Folld. Brewis v. Brewis, [1893] W. N. 6. Refd. Bullus v. Bullus (1910), 102 L. T. 399.

——.]—See, generally, Sects. 23 & 24, post.

4307. Enforcing security—Wife not allowed costs.]—(1) In a petition by the wife for judicial separation, her solr. has no greater right than his client to recover costs from the opposite party. Where, therefore, a petition by the wife for judicial separation had been dismissed with costs: —Held: the solr. of petitioner could not enforce against resp. the bond executed by resp. under Divorce Ct. Rules, r. 158, as security for petitioner's costs of the trial.

(2) Under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 51, the costs of any suit or proceeding under the Act are in the discretion of the ct. Where, therefore, the ct. has, in the exercise of its discretion, refused an application under Divorce Ct. Rules, r. 199, to allow the bond given by the husband to the wife's solr. under r. 158, to be enforced, the Ct. of Appeal is precluded by Judicature Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 49, & Appellate Jurisdiction Act, 1876 (c. 59), s. 20, from reviewing such decision.—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL, [1892] P. 152; 61 L. J. P. 45; 66 L. T. 436; 8 T. L. R. 442; 36 Sol. Jo. 346, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Betton-Bright v. Betton-Bright, [1920] P. 338; Durnford v. Baker, [1924] 2 K. B. 587. As to (2) Refd. Young v. Thomas (1892), 40 W. R. 468. Generally, Mentd. Allen v. Allen, [1894] P. 134; Pead v. Price (1903), 19 T. L. R. 563.

SECT. 10.—PREPARATIONS FOR TRIAL.

SUB-SECT. 1.—DISCOVERY, INSPECTION, INTERROGATORIES, ETC.

A. Discovery.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 35 (D); & generally, DISCOVERY, Vol. XVIII., pp. 52, 53, Nos. 98–104.

PART XIII. SECT. 9, SUB-SECT. 5.—H.

b. Wife's suit—Right to apply de die in diem.]—In an action for judicial separation by a wife against her husband she is entitled to apply for her costs as against him de die in diem, but the fact that she has omitted to do so should not deprive her thereof.—HOWES v. HOWES, [1923] 3 W. W. R. 33.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 10, SUB-SECT. 1.—A.

c. Whether court will order—In action for criminal conversation—Examination of wife.]—In an action of crim. con. there is no power to order the examination of the wife for discovery as to the alleged acts of adultery.—MURRAY v. BROWN (1894), 16 P. R. 125.—CAN.

Examination of defendant.]—In an action for crim. con. with pltf.'s wife, deft. cannot be compelled to submit to examination for discovery.—MULHOLLAND v. MISENER (1895), 17 P. R. 132.—CAN.

e. —— —— ——.]—In an action for crim. con. deft. cannot be compelled to submit to examination for discovery. But where in the 4308. Against whom order made—Infant litigant.]—REDFERN v. REDFERN, No. 2317, ante.

4309. —— Not King's Proctor—After intervention.]—Where the King's Proctor has intervened in a suit, the ct. will not make an order upon him to give petitioner discovery of documents.—D. v. D. (1909), 25 T. L. R. 411; 53 Sol. Jo. 359.

4310. —— Guardian ad litem—Litigant of unsound mind.]—An order for discovery can be made against a guardian ad litem of a person of unsound mind, though not so found by inquisition, who is a party to a matrimonial suit.—PASPATI v. PASPATI, [1914] P. 110; 83 L. J. P. 56; 110 L. T. 751; 30 T. L. R. 390; 58 Sol. Jo. 400.

4311. Whether court will order—To prove adultery.]—REDFERN v. REDFERN, No. 2317, ante.

4312. —— ——.]—Where, in a suit for dissolution of marriage, the only issue is that of adultery, the ct. will not make an order for discovery.—THOMAS v. THOMAS & HEGNAUR (1918), 34 T. L. R. 434; 62 Sol. Jo. 637.

4313. —— ——.]—In a wife's petition for divorce on the ground of adultery petitioner served resp. with a subpœna duces tecum requiring him to produce his pass book & cheques for a given period; his correspondence with two women with whom adultery was charged; & his diaries. The only issue in the action was that of adultery:—Held: the subpœna must be discharged on the ground that an order for discovery cannot be made against a party to divorce proceedings when it is sought for no other purpose than to prove that party guilty of adultery.—CAVENDISH v. CAVENDISH, [1926] P. 10; 42 T. L. R. 134.

4314. —— —— Order limited to countercharges other than adultery.]—In a complex suit, the judge ordered the wife to file an affidavit & to give discovery of documents, limited to her countercharges other than that of adultery.—SCHOOLCRAFT v. SCHOOLCRAFT & RUHMOOR (1891), 65 L. T. 794.

4315. —— Assessment of damages against co-respondent—Letters from respondent to petitioner.]—P. petitioned for dissolution of marriage & for assessment of damages. The judge, on summons, at the instance of co-resp., ordered petitioner to bring into the registry letters written by resp. to him, or to file an affidavit that he had no such letters, or that they contained no such matters as suggested by the affidavits in support of the summons.—POLLARD v. POLLARD & HEMMING (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 613; 11 L. T. 749; 164 E. R. 1413.

Annotation:—Refd. Redfern v. Redfern, [1891] P. 139.

B. Production and Inspection.

See, generally, DISCOVERY, Vol. XVIII., p. 95, Nos. 469 et seq.

4316. Production—Power to order—Documents material to conduct of petition—Taken by respondent from petitioner.]—SHAW v. SHAW, No. 4513, post.

4317. —— —— Notes of medical practitioner—Not party to suit.]—Where a husband, resp. in a divorce suit, asked for discovery of notes made by a medical man who had attended the wife, petitioner, the ct. refused to make an order.—D. v. D. (1911), 55 Sol. Jo. 331.

——.]—See, generally, DISCOVERY, Vol. XVIII., pp. 95 et seq.

4318. Inspection—Liberty to take copies.]—SHAW v. SHAW, No. 4513, post.

4319. —— Power of court to order—Letters brought into registry in pursuance of order.]—WINSCOM v. WINSCOM & PLOWDEN (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 383, n.; 164 E. R. 1323.

Annotation:—Refd. Redfern v. Redfern, [1891] P. 139.

4320. —— Records of Divorce Division.]—CROPLEY (OTHERWISE INGERSOLL) v. CROPLEY (1920), 150 L. T. Jo. 281.

——.]—See, generally, DISCOVERY, Vol. XVIII., pp. 171 et seq.

C. Interrogatories.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 35 (A)—(C); &, generally, DISCOVERY, Vol. XVIII., p. 178, Nos. 1314 et seq.

4321. Power of court to order—In nullity suits.]—In a suit for nullity of marriage the ct. has power to order interrogatories.—EUSTON v. SMITH (FALSELY CALLED EUSTON) (1884), 9 P. D. 57; 32 W. R. 596.

Annotations:—Apprvd. Harvey v. Lovekin (otherwise Harvey) (1884), 10 P. D. 122. Refd. Redfern v. Redfern, [1891] P. 139.

4322. —— ——.]—In a suit for nullity of marriage, the ct. has power to give leave to administer interrogatories between the parties to the suit; for suits of that kind were formerly within the jurisdiction of the ecclesiastical cts., which had power to allow interrogatories to be administered between the parties, & now all the jurisdiction of the ecclesiastical cts. as to suits for nullity of marriage, including matters of practice & procedure, is vested in the Probate, Divorce, & Admlty. Div. Further, even if the power to allow interrogatories to be administered between the parties did not otherwise exist, it would be conferred upon the Probate, Divorce, & Admlty. Div. by the Supreme Court of Judicature Act, 1873 (c. 66); for at the time of passing that statute the superior cts. of common law & the Ct. of Ch. had power to allow interrogatories to be administered between the parties to a suit; & by sect. 16, all the jurisdiction of those cts., including the ministerial powers & authorities incident thereto, was transferred to & vested in the High Ct. of Justice, & by sect. 23 the jurisdiction transferred to the High Ct. may, so far as regards action damages are also claimed for the alienation of the affections & loss of the society of pltf.'s wife, deft. can be examined upon that branch of the case.—TAYLOR v. NEIL (1896), 17 134.—CAN.

---

f. .]—An action for crim. con. & for alienating the affections of pltf.'s wife is an action instituted in consequence of adultery, & a deft. in such an action cannot be compelled to submit to examination for discovery.—FLEURY v. CAMPBELL (1898), 18 P. R. 110.—CAN.

g. ——.]—In an action for crim. con., which is an action instituted in consequences of adultery, deft. cannot be compelled to be examined for discovery, although R. 398 of the King's Bench Act makes no exception to the right of examination for discovery there generally given; the particular enactment in the Imperial Act, 32 & 33 Vict. c. 68, has not been repealed by necessary implication & is still in force.—WARMBEIN v. ULRICH, [1919] 3 W. W. R. 959.—CAN.

h. —— To prove matters other than misconduct.]—In a petition for dissolution of marriage, resp. applied for an affidavit of documents:—Held: on resp. filing an affidavit showing that discovery was not sought for the purpose of proving the adultery of petitioner, but for the purpose of discovering documents relating to the matters in question, other than the misconduct of petitioner, the discovery ought to be ordered.—LEVY v. LEVY (1906), 12 B. C. R. 60; 3 W. L. R. 514.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 10, SUB-SECT. 1.—B.

k. Production — Documents tending to criminate.]—Pursuer called upon the alleged paramour, as a haver, to produce any documents or correspondence, between him & defender, or any other person concerned in any way, directly or indirectly, with the matters at issue between the parties. The compearer objected to the production of these papers on the ground of their tendency to criminate him. The objection was repelled.—DON v. DON (1848), 10 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 1046; 20 Sc. Jur. 387.—SCOT.

Sect. 10.—Preparations for trial: Sub-sect. 1, C. & D ; sub-sect. 2, A.] procedure & practice, be exercised in the same manner, as it might have been exercised by any of the cts. whose jurisdiction has been transferred.—HARVEY v. LOVEKIN (OTHERWISE HARVEY) (1884), 10 P. D. 122; 54 L. J. P. 1; 33 W. R. 188; 1 T. L. R. 136, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Redfern v. Redfern, [1891] P. 139. Mentd. Martin v. Treacher (1886), 55 L. J. Q. B. 209.

4323. Right to refuse answer—Tendency to criminate.]—A party is not bound to answer, when his answer would criminate himself, nor (semble) when it would tend to degrade him.—SWIFT v. SWIFT (OTHERWISE KELLY) (1832), 4 Hag. Ecc. 139; 162 E. R. 1399.

Annotations:—Refd. Dysart v. Dysart (1843), 3 Curt. 543; Redfern v. Redfern, [1891] P. 139. Mentd H—— (falsely called C——) v. C—— (1860), 1 Sw. & Tr. 605.

4324. Furnishing evidence for other side.]—In a cause of divorce by reason of adultery, resp. will be protected against answering any of the articles of the libel, not only having a direct tendency to criminate him, but which may form one step towards it.—KING v. KING (1850), 2 Rob. Eccl. 153; 7 Notes of Cases, 396; 14 Jur. 276; 163 E. R. 1275.

Annotations:—Refd. Redfern v. Redfern, [1891] P. 139; Cavendish v. Cavendish (1925), 42 T. L. R. 134.

—— ——.]—See, generally, DISCOVERY, Vol. XVIII., p. 238, Nos. 1813 et seq.

4325. What interrogatories allowed—Relating to charge of adultery—Evidence Further Amendment Act, 1869 (c. 68), s. 3.]—REDFERN v. REDFERN, No. 2317, ante.

4326. —— —— —— Charges of cruelty & adultery.]—A wife in her petition for divorce on the ground of her husband's cruelty & adultery alleged in paragraph 4, as an act of cruelty, the wilful communication to her of a venereal disease & in paragraph 7 she alleged an act of adultery with a woman unknown at the same date whereby he had contracted the disease. The wife proposed to interrogate resp. as to whether he was not suffering from venereal disease at the time in question, & whether a doctor did not attend him for it, contending that the interrogatories went solely to the charge of cruelty alleged in paragraph 4:—Held: the interrogatories were not admissible.—E. v. E. (1907), 24 T. L. R. 78.

—See, generally, DISCOVERY, Vol. XVIII., p. 191, Nos. 1398 et seq.

4327. Statements in—Amounting to admissions—Corroborative evidence where witness partly discredited.]—DAVIDSON v. DAVIDSON, No. 2739, ante.

D. Inspection of the Person.

4328. When ordered—Only when absolutely necessary—Feelings to be spared if possible.]—ANON. (1857), No. 3565, ante.

4329. —— Charge against husband of communicating venereal disease.]—ANON. (1857), No. 3565, ante.

4330. —— No evidence of incurable malformation.]—As a general rule, a decree of nullity of marriage on the ground of malformation will not be granted unless the existence of incurable malformation is proved by a medical man who has examined the person of resp.

In a suit of nullity on the ground of the malformation of the woman, resp., who was abroad, & who, in consequence of her address being unknown, had not been personally served, had not been examined by the medical inspectors or other medical men. The ct. suspended its decree, in order that petitioner might have an opportunity of procuring such an examination, if resp. should come to England.—T. v. M. (FALSELY CALLED T.) (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 31; 35 L. J. P. & M. 10; 13 L. T. 644.

Annotation:—Refd. Dickinson v. Dickinson, [1913] P. 198.

4331. —— Triennial cohabitation.]—ALESON v. ALESON, No. 2387, ante.

4332. Notice to attend for inspection—Service on respondent—Proof of.]—In nullity suits strict proof is required of service upon resp. of notice to attend before the medical inspectors, & of the appointment itself.—B. (OTHERWISE W.) v. B. (1909), 25 T. L. R. 713.

4333. —— —— ——.]—In a nullity suit at the instance of the husband an order was made directing resp. to attend before the medical inspectors. An affidavit was filed on behalf of petitioner that this order had been served upon resp., that she had received notice of the appointment before the inspectors, & that she had failed to keep the appointment:—Held: further evidence of those facts was unnecessary.—P. v. P. (OTHERWISE A.) (1909), 25 T. L. R. 530; 53 Sol. Jo. 486.

4334. Whether inspection of both parties essential.]—(1) Where, in a suit for dissolution by husband against wife, the wife pleaded that the marriage was null on account of the husband's impotency, the ct. held that, there being substantially a traverse of the marriage, the petitioner had the right to begin.

(2) Upon the question of incapacity, although no application had been made for a monition or order for a personal inspection of either of the parties, the ct. received medical evidence of an examination.

There is no precedent . . . of a woman seeking for a decree of nullity of marriage when she was no longer virgo intacta. Suppose a case of a person who had wilfully destroyed the primary evidence, as, for instance, if he had burned a deed, & he afterwards sought to put it in evidence in his favour, could he give secondary evidence of it . . . The lady here has destroyed the primary evidence; can she ask me to receive this secondary evidence until she has accounted for the absence of primary evidence? . . . I am not aware of any rule of Westminster Hall which excludes this evidence. . . I shall receive it. (CRESSWELL, J. O.).—SERRELL v. SERRELL & BAMFORD (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 422; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 55; 5 L. T. 691; 164 E. R. 1060.

4335. ——.]—S—— (FALSELY CALLED E——) v. E—— (1863), No. 2351, ante.

4336. Refusal to obey order—Effect of—Presumption of impotence.]—(1) Sentence of nullity of marriage, causa impotentiæ, pronounced on confession of non-consummation, & refusal to undergo inspection.

To satisfy Canon 105 . . . proof by inspection is said to be essential. Their Lordships give no opinion on this construction of the Canon; for if adminicular proof is requisite, they think that the circumstance of applt.'s having taken a legal

PART XIII. SECT. 10, SUB-SECT. 1. D.

4336 i. Refusal to obey order—Effect of—Presumption of impotence.]—In an action to annul a marriage on the ground of impotence, if the proof is otherwise incomplete, deft. may be compelled to submit to a surgical examination, or, in default of so doing, the grounds of action may be taken pro confessis.—DORION v. LAURENT (1843), 17 L. C. J. 324.—CAN.

4336 ii. —— —— ——.]—After a cohabitation lasting six weeks a wife petitioned for a decree of nullity of marriage on the ground of her husband's impotence. A medical examination ordered by the ct. showed opinion on the validity of the marriage . . . coupled with the confession of non-consummation, this refusal in the first instance to undergo inspection, is sufficient extrinsic proof (per CUR.).

(2) A medical certificate of the competency of the party in a suit impotentia causa, not in evidence in the ct. below, refused to be admitted on appeal.—HARRISON v. HARRISON (1842), 4 Moo. P. C. C. 96; 1 Notes of Cases, 294; 6 Jur. 899; 13 E. R. 238, P. C.; affg. S. C. sub nom. SPARROW (FALSELY CALLED HARRISON) v. HARRISON (1841), 3 Curt. 16.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. N——r (falsely called M——e) v. M——e (1853), 2 Rob. Eccl. 625. Generally, Mentd. Handley v. Edwards (1844), 4 Moo. P. C. C. 407; A. (falsely called B.) v. B. (1853), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 112; Hall v. Wright (1859), E. B. & E. 765; M. (otherwise D.) v. D. (1885), 10 P. D. 75.

4337. ——— —.]—B—— v. B—— (1901), No. 2377, ante.

4338. —.]—S. v. B. (FALSELY CALLED S.) (1905), No. 2378, ante.

See, generally, Sect. 3, sub-sect. 2, D., ante.

4339. —— Enforcement—Attachment.]—In a suit of nullity, by reason of the malformation of the woman, the ct. made the usual order for the inspection of her person. This order was personally served upon her, but she refused to submit to such inspection. The ct. directed that a motion for an attachment against her should stand over until after the hearing of the petition.—B. v. L. (FALSELY CALLED B.) (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 639; 38 L. J. P. & M. 35; 20 L. T. 280.

4340. Medical inspectors—By whom appointed—By court—Or parties with consent of court.]—(1) When a question of impotence is raised in a suit, the appointment of two medical inspectors rests with the ct.; but it will allow the parties to select them, & should they not agree, each will be allowed to nominate one.

(2) Resp., in answer to a suit for restitution of conjugal rights pleaded the impotency of petitioner. The ct., upon the application of petitioner, ordered the cause to be tried by a jury, notwithstanding resp.'s objection to that mode of trial.—C—— v. C—— (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 12.

4341. ——— Where parties disagree—One by each party.]—C—— v. C—— (1862), No. 4340, ante.

4342. —— —— Two by each party.]—In a suit of nullity of marriage on the ground of physical incapacity, each party has a right to nominate two medical inspectors to examine him or her. It is not necessary that both parties should be examined by the same inspectors. In a suit of nullity by a woman, the ct., with the consent of resp., allowed petitioner's evidence to be given on affidavit.—B—— (FALSELY CALLED C——) v. C—— (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 135.

4343. —— Who may be—Private adviser of one of the parties.]—G. (OTHERWISE R.) v. G. (1920), 149 L. T. Jo. 234.

4344. Procedure at inspection—Examination of both parties by same inspectors—Not essential.]—B—— (FALSELY CALLED C——) v. C—— (1863), No. 4342, ante.

4345. —— Identification of parties inspected.]—In an undefended suit for nullity on the ground of impotence, although the identity of both parties is proved in the registry at the time of the medical examination, the identity of the party not appearing must be proved again in open ct.—H. (OTHERWISE G.) v. G. (1900), 69 L. J. P. 120.

4346. Report of medical inspectors—Not in evidence in court below—Not admitted on appeal.]—HARRISON v. HARRISON, No. 4336, ante.

4347. —— Whether conclusive as to impotency—Admissibility of evidence to explain or vary.]—(1) On a petition for a decree of nullity by reason of malformation of the woman, neither the ct. nor the parties are concluded by the terms of the report of medical inspectors, but the inspectors themselves & other medical men may be examined. There is no rule as to any particular age constituting a bar to such petitions. (2) Where the result of the medical evidence is that the malformation might possibly, but at great risk to life, & with a doubtful success as to the end desired, be removed, petitioner need not call upon resp. to submit to an operation, & such a state of things is equivalent to a permanent & irremovable malformation.

(3) Although the ct., when the parties have reached an advanced period of life may refuse to inquire into a question of malformation, it would seem no limit as to age has been fixed at which the legal right to complain ceases.—W—— v. H—— (FALSELY CALLED W——) (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 240; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 73; 4 L. T. 89; 9 W. R. 619; 164 E. R. 987; sub nom. WILLIAMS v. HOMFRAY (FALSELY CALLED WILLIAMS), 7 Jur. N. S. 315.

SUB-SECT. 2.—ARRANGEMENTS FOR HEARING.

A. Setting down Causes.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 30-32.

4348. Who may set down—Delay by petitioner—Leave to respondent.]—Where five months had elapsed since the ct. had directed that a cause should be tried without a jury, & petitioner had not set down the cause for trial, the ct., on the application of resp., gave him leave to set it down for trial if petitioner should not do so within a fortnight.—HARE v. HARE (1862), 3 Sw. & Tr. 218; 1 New Rep. 34; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 7; 8 L. T. 703; 164 E. R. 1257.

Annotation:—Refd. Stuart v. Stuart (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 110.

4349. Time for setting down—After amended answer.]—HITCHCOCK v. HITCHCOCK, No. 3684, ante.

4350. Notice of setting down—Form of—Letter to respondent's solicitor.]—FLUISTER v. FLUISTER & HUTTON, No. 5242, post.

4351. Entry in list—When petition amended—Re-entry in usual course.]—Where a petition has been set down for hearing & is afterwards amended & re-served, it must be re-entered in the usual course & cannot be restored to the place the original suit occupied in the list of causes.—MILNER v. MILNER (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 103.

4352. —— Cause must be correctly described—Duty of petitioner's solicitor—Effect of omission of co-respondents' names.]—(1) It is the duty of petitioner's solr. to see that the cause is correctly described in the official term list & in the daily cause list, & the ct. refused to allow the case to proceed where the names of the co-resps. were omitted; but the case being undefended, allowed petitioner to be normal but resp. did not submit himself to examination & did not enter an appearance:—Held: petitioner was entitled to a decree.—A. (——) B.

---

PART XIII. SECT. 10, SUB-SECT. 2.—A.

1. Time for setting down.]—It is sufficient to serve deft. with notice of trial at the time of the service of the citation.—MCCORQUINDALE v. MCCORQUINDALE (1890), 30 N. B. R. 1.—CAN.

m. ——.]—Divorce Rule 31 (Manitoba) which provides that the day appointed for trial shall not be less than ten days after the day on which it to proceed on the following day, the correct description of the case being given in the list for that day.

Sect. 10.—Preparations for trial: Sub-sect. 2, A., B., C., D., E & F. Sect. 11: Sub-sects. 1 & 2.]

(2) The ct. refused to pronounce a decree where it appeared that a former petition of the same petitioner, which had been struck out some time previously, still remained on the files of the ct.—ONSLOW v. ONSLOW, JONES & CAMPBELL (1889), 60 L. T. 680.

4353. —— As from date of completion of pleadings—Where certificate of completion refused.]—Where a registrar had refused a certificate owing to a petition not setting out the addresses where the parties thereto had cohabited, & had thereby caused the case to be too late for insertion in the next term's list, the ct., while refraining from laying down any rule, ordered the case to be entered as on the date when the certificate was refused.—Re LAWTON'S PETITION FOR DISSOLUTION OF MARRIAGE (1912), 107 L. T. 591; 57 Sol. Jo. 61.

4354. Undefended suits—Notice of facts to Queen's Proctor.]—The President, upon a summons for directions in a nullity suit by a husband, the case being undefended, directed the solrs. for petitioner to give information of the facts of the case to the Queen's Proctor, before setting the case down for hearing, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), s. 7, as amended by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1873 (c. 31). Upon receipt by petitioner's solrs. of an intimation from the Queen's Proctor that he did not intend to intervene at this stage of the proceedings, the president allowed the case to be set down forthwith, & to be added to the supplemental list of undefended causes just published.—M. v. M. (OTHERWISE A.) (1897), 76 L. T. 172.

4355. Cases only defended as to damages—Insertion in general undefended list undesirable.]—CLEGG v. CLEGG & BISHOP, [1919] W. N. 36.

B. Application for Directions.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 30–32.

4356. Time for making application—After lapse of time allowed for pleadings.]—LING v. LING & CROKER, No. 4484, post.

4357. —— —— Particulars not delivered.]—When the pleadings are complete the ct. will, upon the application of petitioner, direct the mode of trial, although he may not have complied with an order to furnish particulars of a charge in the petition.—GOUGH v. GOUGH & BAYNTON (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 128.

4358. —— —— Expiration of time to reply.]—In a suit by a husband for dissolution of marriage, resp. & co-resp. traversed the adultery, & resp. further countercharged adultery & cruelty. Petitioner having allowed the time for filing a replication to resp.'s answer to expire without replying or obtaining further time, resp. moved the ct. to order the trial of this cause:—Held: the pleadings being incomplete, the ct. could not order the mode of trial.—BROADWOOD v. BROADWOOD & ST. ALBANS (1864), 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 10.

4359. When service of petition dispensed with—Necessity to file affidavit of search for appearance by respondent.]—Before petitioner applies to the ct. to direct the mode of hearing, an affidavit should be filed that search has been made for an appearance by resp., although service of a citation & copy of a petition upon him may have been dispensed with.—COOKE v. COOKE & LUCY (1859), 28 L. J. P. & M. 56.

4360. —— Order dispensing with service—Must be brought into court.]—ELSLEY v. ELSLEY, BEACHAM & BAGSHAW, No. 3916, ante.

As to service of petition, see Sect. 8, sub-sect. 5, ante.

C. Trial by Jury.

See Sect. 16, sub-sect. 1, post.

D. Trial of Issues.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 40.

4361. Parties to issue—Co-respondent—Not where no answer filed.]—(1) On a petition for dissolution of marriage, when a record is drawn up in order that the case may be tried before a jury, only the issues stated on the record are to be proved at the trial before jury by either party.

(2) Co-resp., if he has put in no answer to the petition, is no party to the issue to be tried by the jury.

(3) Co-resp. having put in no answer, is not entitled to be heard on the question of costs.

Co-resp. condemned in the costs of the suit.—TOURLE v. TOURLE & RENSHAW (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 176; 31 L. T. O. S. 155; 6 W. R. 674; 164 E. R. 681.

4362. Separation of issues for trial—Jurisdiction of court to order—How jurisdiction exercised.]—MYERS v. MYERS, CARPENDALE, RADFORD & THOM, No. 2319, ante.

4363. —— Who may apply for—Any party to suit.]—MYERS v. MYERS, CARPENDALE, RADFORD & THOM, No. 2319, ante.

4364. —— When ordered—Charges of adultery against two co-respondents.]—A petition alleged adultery between resp. & co-resp. A. A. appeared to the citation served upon him, but did not file any answer. The petition was subsequently amended by alleging adultery with co-resp. B. B. appeared & denied the charge. The questions at issue were directed to be tried before the ct. & a special jury. On the application of B., & on the condition that he should pay any extra costs to which petitioner might be put by the order, the ct. ordered that the questions at issue against B. should be tried separately from & before those against A.—COX v. COX, READE & TOBIN (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 201; 40 L. J. P. & M. 23; 21 L. T. 237; 19 W. R. 512.

Annotation:—Apld. Myers v. Myers, Carpendale, Radford & Thom, [1918] P. 260.

4365. —— —— Cases against respondent & co-respondent.]—MILLER v. MILLER & FOWLER (1905), Times, Mar. 9, 10, & 11.

E. Consolidation of Cross-Suits.

4366. Nature & effect of consolidation order—Arrangement for convenience of trying two suits together—Not analogous to consolidation at common law.]—FORBES-SMITH v. FORBES-SMITH & CHADWICK, No. 4985, post.

4367. Wife's suit for restitution—Cross issues of adultery in husband's petition for dissolution—Judgment in restitution suit stayed.]—BURROUGHS v. BURROUGHS, No. 4664, post.

4368. Same issues raised in cross-suits—Stay of one without reference to position in cause list.]—Where the same issues are raised in cross-suits, made necessary by the imperfect powers granted the cause has been set down, save with the consent of the parties, applies, not to defended causes alone, but also to undefended causes, &, where the date fixed for the hearing of an undefended is less than ten days after setting down decree will be refused.—UPTON v. UPTON, [1924] 2 W. W. R. 1092; 3 D. L. R. 975; 34 Man. L. R. 333.—CAN.

by the legislature to the ct., the ct. will, as a general rule, stay one, & that without reference to their relative positions in the cause list. Where the same issues are raised in cross-suits, & an order is made for a commission to examine witnesses, it will be drawn up in such a form that the evidence will be admissible in both suits.—OSBORNE v. OSBORNE, OSBORNE v. OSBORNE & MARTELLI (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 327; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 38; 9 L. T. 456; 10 Jur. N. S. 80; 164 E. R. 1301.

F. Postponement of Trial.

See Sect. 16, sub-sect. 3, post.

SECT. 11.—EVIDENCE.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

4369. Vivâ voce evidence—General rule.]—In a suit for divorce by reason of adultery, promoted by the husband, the proof of the guilt of the wife was conclusive & she had also in terms admitted it. An application on her behalf to stay the proceedings, to enable her to examine witnesses resident in India & Australia, to prove condonation on the part of the husband, was rejected, & sentence of separation pronounced.

As a general rule the ct. will always accede to an application to examine witnesses vivâ voce; & where such application is intended for the whole cause, the pleadings must be concluded before any of the witnesses are examined. Condonation, or the renewal of conjugal intercourse requires strict proof. In matrimonial causes there are few reasons for delay.—CAMPBELL v. CAMPBELL (1857), Dea. & Sw. 285; 29 L. T. O. S. 150; 3 Jur. N. S. 845; 5 W. R. 519; 164 E. R. 578.

Annotations:—Mentd. Keats v. Keats & Montezuma (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 331; Hall v. Hall (1891), 60 L. J. P. 73; Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158; Crocker v. Crocker, [1921] P. 25.

4370. Court bound by rules of evidence—As observed at common law.]—(1) The affidavit of petitioner required by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 41, will not be taken as evidence at the hearing, but the parties must produce sufficient evidence to prove the petition independently of such affidavit.

(2) The ct. is bound by the rules of evidence observed at common law.

(3) Semble: the fact of an appearance having been given to the citation, no further steps in the suit having been taken by deft., will not be considered at the hearing as any proof of identity.—DEANE v. DEANE (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 90; 28 L. J. P. & M. 23; 31 L. T. O. S. 25; 22 J. P. 180; 4 Jur. N. S. 268; 164 E. R. 642.

Annotations:—As to (2) Refd. Redfern v. Redfern, [1891] P. 139. Generally, Mentd. Tomkins v. Tomkins (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 163.

4371. Evidence of petitioner—May be dispensed with.]—The ct. pronounced a decree nisi for divorce upon a husband's petition, without requiring his evidence.—NICOLSON v. NICOLSON & FAIRLEY (1892), 68 L. T. 28; 1 R. 498.

4372. Police constables—Employment to obtain evidence.]—Persons actually in the police force ought not to be employed in getting up divorce cases. It is a practice that ought to be discouraged (SIR FRANCIS JEUNE, P.).—STEPHENSON v. STEPHENSON & JACKSON (1897), 61 J. P. 729.

SUB-SECT. 2.—PROOF OF MARRIAGE.

How marriages proved, see Part II., Sect. 12, ante.

4373. Whether formal proof essential—Suit for nullity.]—NOKES v. MILWARD (FALSELY CALLING HERSELF NOKES), No. 3644, ante.

4374. —— ——.]—The ct. pronounced the articles in a suit for incest against a man for marrying his niece, to be proved, & declared the marriage null & void, but dispensed with penance. Oral evidence alone in this case sufficient, without proof of the entries in the marriage register.—WOODS v. WOODS (1840), 2 Curt. 516; 163 E. R. 493.

Annotation:—Consd. Parkes v. Parkes (1852), 2 Rob. Eccl. 518.

4375. On ground of impotence.]—G. v. G. (FALSELY CALLED K.) (1908), No. 2360, ante.

4376. —— Suit for dissolution.]—PLAYFAIR v. PLAYFAIR & AFFLECK-GRAVES (1908), Times, Mar. 18.

Annotation:—Folld. Eden v. Eden & Batterick (1908), 52 Sol. Jo. 483.

4377. —— —— Proof in previous restitution suit.]—Petitioner obtained a decree of restitution of conjugal rights. In that suit she gave formal proof of her marriage to resp. in Scotland:—Held: in a suit for divorce following on the suit for restitution of conjugal rights, it was unnecessary for petitioner to prove again the marriage in Scotland.—FREER v. FREER (1910), 27 T. L. R. 13; 54 Sol. Jo. 874.

4378. —— —— ——.]—The proof of a marriage appearance had been entered by resp. or co-resp. Petitioner was a poor man who could not afford to bring witnesses from other parts of the country:—Held: a decree nisi should be granted on the evidence of petitioner alone.—DUNSTALL v. DUNSTALL & WILLIAMSON (1912), 32 N. Z. L. R. 669.—N.Z.

t. Action for alimony—Wife's evidence necessary.]—It may not be an absolute condition precedent to the right to recover that the wife should personally testify at the trial of an action for alimony, but it is the policy of the cts. to refuse alimony unless she does.—BATT v. BATT & HUGHES (1916), 33 W. L. R. 550; 9 W. W. R. 1040; 27 D. L. R. 718.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 1.

n. General rule.]—The rule as to the sufficiency of the evidence usually relied on in an action for divorce to establish adultery is closely akin to that followed in criminal cases where the prosecution relies upon circumstantial evidence, & where it is laid down that in order to find the accused guilty the jury must be satisfied not only that the circumstances are consistent with the commission of the offence by him, but that they are such as to be inconsistent with any other rational conclusion.—L. v. L. & K. (1922), 62 D. L. R. 581; [1922] 1 W. W. R. 224.—CAN.

o. Evidence of petitioner—Cannot be dispensed with.]—In all divorce cases petitioner must come into the witness-box, he must be sworn, & he must prove his case, because, amongst other things, the judge has to satisfy himself whether there is any collusion between the parties, & he has further to satisfy himself as to the complete honesty & truth of the petition.—HOWARD v. HOWARD (1922), I. L. R. 44 All. 728.—IND.

p. —— Necessity for corroboration.]—CAMPBELL v. CAMPBELL (1875), 22 Gr. 322.—CAN.

q. —— ——.]—STACK v. STACK (1905), 25 N. Z. L. R. 209.—N.Z.

r. —— ——.]—A divorce cannot be granted on the sworn testimony of petitioner alone, & where a wife petitioner produced as corroboration a letter which she stated was in her husband's handwriting:—Held: she must bring some further proof of her husband's handwriting & that the letter produced was his letter.—OWEN v. OWEN (1905), 25 N. Z. L. R. 64.—N.Z.

s. —— ——.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery the only evidence tendered in support of the petition was that of petitioner, supported by a letter produced by him which he declared was in the handwriting of resp. No

PART XIII. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 2.

a. When evidence conflicting.]—Where the evidence as to the fact of marriage was conflicting, the ct. offered pltf. an opportunity of obtaining better evidence of an issue to in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights is sufficient, without further proof, in a subsequent divorce suit between same parties, unless the validity of the marriage is put in issue.—COWLEY v. COWLEY, [1913] P. 154; 82 L. J. P. 120; 109 L. T. 48; 29 T. L. R. 690.

Sect. 11.—Evidence: Sub-sects. 2 & 3, A. & B. (a), (b) & (c).]

Annotation:—Mentd. Perrin v. Perrin, Powell v. Powell (1914), 30 T. L. R. 497.

In suits for restitution of conjugal rights.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, C., ante.

In actions against husband for ante-nuptial obligations of wife.]—See Part VII., Sect. 1, sub-sect. 3, ante.

SUB-SECT. 3.—IN "PROCEEDINGS INSTITUTED IN CONSEQUENCE OF ADULTERY."

A. Competency of Witnesses.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 198.

4379. Alleged adulterer.] — Testimony of the alleged paramour, negativing the charge against the wife. Such a person is a competent witness, but his evidence must be received with very great caution.—FRASER v. FRASER (1846), 5 Notes of Cases, 11.

Annotations:—Refd. Ling v. Ling (1857), 29 L. T. O. S. 348. Mentd. Jenkyn v. Jenkyn (1856), Dea. & Sw. 268.

4380. Respondent.] — Under the matrimonial Causes Acts resp. is not bound to go into the witness box & deny the adultery (BUTT, J.).—CHAMBERS v. CHAMBERS (1889), 60 L. T. 514.

4381. Parties to proceedings & husbands & wives of parties.]—COWLEY v. COWLEY (1897), Times, Feb. 3.

4382. ——.]—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL, No. 2743, ante.

Admissibility of evidence to rebut presumption of legitimacy, see BASTARDY, Vol. III., p. 364, Nos. 54 et seq.

B. Protection of Witnesses.

(a) In General.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 198.

4383. Necessity to claim protection—Effect of omission—Evidence admissible.]—A witness who is called to prove adultery with one of the parties to a suit may claim the protection of the proviso in Evidence Further Amendment Act, 1869 (c. 68), s. 3, & the judge will not allow such witness to be interrogated on the subject of his or her adultery; but unless the protection of the proviso is claimed by the witness, the evidence is admissible, & it is not competent to counsel for either party to exclude it.—HEBBLETHWAITE v. HEBBLETHWAITE (1869), L. R. 2 P. & D. 29; 39 L. J. P. & M. 15; 21 L. T. 732.

Annotations:—Consd. Hensley v. Hensley & Nevin (1920), 122 L. T. 814. Refd. Allen v. Allen, [1894] P. 248; Evans v. Evans & Blyth (1904), 73 L. J. P. 114.

(b) In What Proceedings.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 198.

4384. "Proceeding instituted in consequence of adultery"—Suit for nullity—Cross-suit for dissolution on ground of adultery.]—A suit had been instituted for nullity of marriage by reason of impotence, & a cross-suit for dissolution of marriage by reason of adultery:—Held: in the first suit, petitioner in that suit might be cross-examined as to her improper intimacy with the co-resp. in the cross-suit.

Mr. Justice Stephen in his book on Evidence, p. 111, considers that the word "such" has been omitted by accident from the section of 32 & 33 Vict. c. 68, & as I incline to the opinion that the intention of the section is to limit the inadmissibility to suits instituted in consequence of adultery, the safer course will be to allow the questions to be put (HANNEN, P.).—M. (OTHERWISE D.) v. D. (1885), 10 P. D. 175; 34 W. R. 48.

Annotations:—N.F. S. v. S., [1907] P. 224. Refd. Evans v. Evans & Blyth (1904), 73 L. J. P. 114; Hensley v. Hensley & Nevin (1920), 122 L. T. 814.

4385. —— —— ——.]—S. (OTHERWISE G.) v. S. (1907), No. 3569, ante.

4386. —— Suit for variation of settlements after final decree—Legitimacy of issue.] — Upon the hearing of an issue [in a suit for variation of settlements after a decree for dissolution of marriage], which had been directed for the purpose of determining the status of a child born of resp. during wedlock, co-resp. in the former proceedings was called as a witness by petitioner, & a question was put to him as to adultery between him & resp.:—Held: he was bound to answer the question.—EVANS v. EVANS & BLYTH, [1904] P. 378; 73 L. J. P. 114; 91 L. T. 600; 20 T. L. R. 612.

Annotation:—Consd. Hensley v. Hensley & Nevin (1920), 122 L. T. 814.

4387. —— Adultery in issue.] — Evidence Further Amendment Act, 1869 (c. 68), s. 3, provides that "the parties to any proceeding try the question, & if refused directed the bill to be dismissed.—BAKER v. WILSON (1858), 6 Gr. 603.—CAN.

---

b. Reputation.]—The testimony of a woman of the ceremony having been performed, & evidence of respectable witnesses of general reputation:—Held: sufficient, without proof that the clergyman who performed the ceremony was duly authorised; & that evidence of reputation alone was sufficient.—BAKER v. WILSON (1860), 8 Gr. 376.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 3.—A.

4379 i. Alleged adulterer.]—In an action of divorce for adultery, at the instance of a husband against his wife, the husband called as a witness the alleged paramour, who objected to his being examined on the ground that as the only acts of adultery libelled were those alleged to have been committed with him, no question could be put to him which would not tend to inculpate himself. Objection repelled, reserving the privilege of the witness to decline answering any question, tending to criminate him, when put.—DON v. DON (1848), 10 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 1046; 20 Sc. Jur. 387.—SCOT.

4381 i. Parties to proceedings & husbands & wives of parties.]—In an action for enticing pltf.'s wife to desert him, & for wrongfully harbouring her, & for wrongfully & carnally knowing her, against her will, the trial judge rejected the evidence of pltf.'s wife, which was tendered in support of the allegation that deft. had committed a rape upon her:—Held: the wife's evidence was properly rejected, she not being a competent witness in such case.—CORKUM v. CORKUM (1902), 40 N. S. R. 488.—CAN.

4381 ii. ——.]—On a petition for dissolution of marriage where there is a charge of adultery, neither resp., co-resp. nor petitioner, even where there is a countercharge, is bound to answer any questions tending to prove him or her guilty of adultery.—ROGERS v. ROGERS (1919), 25 B. C. R. 439.—CAN.

c. Wife of alleged adulterer.]—In an action of divorce on the ground of adultery, at the instance of a husband against his wife, pursuer proposed to adduce as a witness the wife of a man with whom defender was alleged to have committed adultery, & who had been himself examined as a witness for pursuer. It was objected for defender that it was incompetent to adduce a wife as a witness to prove facts inferring a criminal charge against her husband. Objection repelled.—AULD v. AULD (1874), 1 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 1015.—SCOT.

d. Child.]—In a proof in an action of divorce on the ground of adultery:—Held: the evidence of a boy nearly seven years of age could not be received on account of his tender years & the nature of the case.—ROBERTSON v. ROBERTSON (1888), 15 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 1001; 25 Sc. L. R. 708.—SCOT.

instituted in consequence of adultery, & the husbands & wives of such parties, shall be competent to give evidence in such proceeding. Provided that no witness in any proceeding, whether a party to the suit or not, shall be liable to be asked or bound to answer any question tending to show that he or she has been guilty of adultery, unless such witness shall have already given evidence in the same proceeding in disproof of his or her alleged adultery" :—Held : the provisions of this sect. are confined to the adultery in issue in the proceedings.—HALL v. HALL (1909), 25 T. L. R. 524.

Annotations :—Consd. Hensley v. Hensley & Nevin (1920), 122 L. T. 814. N.F. Mourilyan v. Mourilyan, Mourilyan v. Mourilyan & Fazil (1922), 127 L. T. 403. Refd. Brown v. Brown (1915), 113 L. T. 190.

4388. Effect of consolidation of cross-suits —Judicial separation with dissolution.]—LEWIS v. LEWIS, LEWIS v. LEWIS & NEILLY, No. 4396, post.

4389. —— —— Dissolution with nullity.]—Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), & Evidence Further Amendment Act, 1869 (c. 68), must be read together, & where the husband's suit for divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery with co-resp. & the wife's suit for nullity on the ground of the alleged impotence of her husband, had been consolidated, a question in cross-examination of the wife as to whether she had been guilty of adultery was held to be inadmissible.—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR & KING, TAYLOR (OTHERWISE WOODHEAD) v. TAYLOR (1923), 128 L. T. 797 ; 39 T. L. R. 173 ; 67 Sol. Jo. 246.

4390. —— Interlocutory proceedings—Security for costs.]—FRANKLIN v. FRANKLIN & MINSHALL, No. 4305, ante.

4391. —— Intervention by King's Proctor—Condonation after decree nisi—Common law protection.]—An intervention by the King's Proctor on the ground that since the decree nisi petitioner has resumed marital intercourse with resp. & has thereby condoned the adultery on which the decree nisi was founded, is not, within Evidence Further Amendment Act, 1869 (c. 68), s. 3, a "proceeding instituted in consequence of adultery," & therefore the sect. does not prohibit a witness on the hearing of such an intervention from being asked any question tending to show that he or she has committed adultery. But in such a case the common law protection which authorises a witness to refuse to answer questions which criminate him or her does apply.—SNEYD v. SNEYD & BURGESS (1925), 42 T. L. R. 106.

(c) In What Circumstances.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 198.

4392. When no evidence given in disproof—Whether witness protected from cross-examination —Adultery not question in issue.]—A witness cannot be cross-examined as to any act of adultery respecting which he or she has not been examined in chief, although such adultery may not be a question in issue in the cause.—BABBAGE v. BABBAGE (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 222.

Annotations :—Folld. Hensley v. Hensley & Nevin (1920), 122 L. T. 814; Mourilyan v. Mourilyan, Mourilyan v. Mourilyan & Fazil (1922), 127 L. T. 403. Refd. Brown v. Brown (1915), 84 L. J. P. 153.

4393. —— —— ——.]—HALL v. HALL, No. 4387, ante.

4394. — Whether acts of adultery pleaded or not.]—A party to a divorce suit who has not denied adultery in evidence cannot be asked or compelled to answer any question as to any act of adultery, whether pleaded or not.—BETTS v. BETTS & BRODRICK, BETTS v. BETTS (1917), 33 T. L. R. 200.

Annotation :—Consd. Hensley v. Hensley & Nevin (1920), 122 L. T. 814.

4395. —— —— Acts of adultery not alleged in pleadings—Claim for damages.]—Although by claiming damages petitioner puts his whole character & conduct as a husband in issue, & his being protected from cross-examination as to his own adultery is much to be regretted, the words of Evidence Further Amendment Act, 1869 (c. 68), s. 3, were too strong, & obliged the ct. to refuse to allow cross-examination in respect of adultery which had not been alleged in the pleadings, or denied by petitioner in his evidence in chief.—HENSLEY v. HENSLEY & NEVIN (1920), 122 L. T. 814 ; 36 T. L. R. 288.

Annotations :—Refd. Franklin v. Franklin & Minshall, [1921] P. 407 ; Mourilyan v. Mourilyan, Mourilyan v. Mourilyan & Fazil (1922), 127 L. T. 403. Mentd. Ewer v. Ewer & Charlton (1920), 123 L. T. 240.

4396. —— —— Suit for judicial separation on ground of cruelty—Consolidated with cross-suit for divorce on ground of adultery.]—(1) Where, in a suit for a judicial separation brought by a wife on the ground of her husband's cruelty, two of the charges were that he had made false accusations of adultery against her with a man named, with whom, in the answer, he charged her with adultery, & who was now cited as co-resp. in the husband's cross-petition, & the suits had been in due course consolidated :—Held : the wife, after giving evidence in support of her charges of cruelty, might be cross-examined as to the allegations of adultery in her husband's answer & cross-petition, although she had not, in examination-in-chief, been asked to deny the adultery.

(2) Semble : the consolidation for purposes of hearing of a suit for judicial separation with a cross-suit for dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery does not have the effect of making the consolidated suits a "proceeding instituted in consequence of adultery" within Evidence Further Amendment Act, 1869 (c. 68), s. 3.—LEWIS v. LEWIS, LEWIS v. LEWIS & NEILLY, [1912] P. 19 ; 81 L. J. P. 24 ; 106 L. T. 191 ; 28 T. L. R. 174 ; 56 Sol. Jo. 189.

Annotations :—As to (1) Refd. Brown v. Brown (1915), 113 L. T. 190 ; Hensley v. Hensley & Nevin (1920), 122 L. T. 814.

4397. — Plea of conduct conducing—Cross-examination only as to circumstances of acquaintance with co-respondent.]—Where, in a divorce suit, resp. wife pleaded conduct conducing to her adultery, but in her examination-in-chief did not admit or deny that she had committed adultery, the ct. allowed her to be cross-examined, as to the circumstances in which she became acquainted with co-resp., so far as they did not tend to show that she had committed adultery.—CRASTON v. CRASTON & SEAMAN (1917), 34 T. L. R. 165 ; 62 Sol. Jo. 213.

4398. Where evidence given in disproof of charges —Denial of truth of some charges—Whether liable to cross-examination on all charges.]—A party to a cause who is produced as a witness on his own behalf, & in his examination-in-chief denies the truth of some of the charges of adultery contained in the pleadings, & is asked no questions as to others, is liable to be asked, & is bound to answer, questions in cross-examination respecting all the charges contained in the pleadings.—BROWN v. BROWN & PAGET (1874), L. R. 3 P. & D. 198 ; 43 L. J. P. & M. 33 ; 30 L. T. 767 ; 22 W. R. 759.

Annotations :—Consd. Brown v. Brown, [1915] P. 83. Refd. Allen v. Allen, [1894] P. 248 ; Hensley v. Hensley & Nevin (1920), 122 L. T. 814 ; Mourilyan v. Mourilyan, Mourilyan v. Mourilyan & Fazil (1922), 127 L. T. 403.

Sect. 11.—Evidence: Sub-sect. 3, B. (c); sub-sects. 4, 5, 6 & 7.]

4399. Whether witness protected from cross-examination—Adultery added in amended petition.]—COWLEY v. COWLEY (1897), Times, Feb. 3.

4400. —— —— Acts of adultery not charged in pleadings.]—It is contrary to the spirit of Evidence Further Amendment Act, 1869 (c. 68), s. 3, that a witness, called to give evidence in any proceeding instituted in consequence of adultery & having given evidence in the same proceeding in disproof of his or her alleged adultery, should be questioned as to an act or acts of adultery not alleged in the pleadings.

Resp. in a divorce suit, having denied upon oath the charges alleged in the petition, was asked whether he had not committed adultery on an earlier occasion, not charged in the petition; but, objecting to answer, he was not compelled to do so, & the question was disallowed.—BROWN v. BROWN, [1915] P. 83; 84 L. J. P. 153; 113 L. T. 190; 31 T. L. R. 280; 59 Sol. Jo. 442.

Annotations:—Consd. Hensley v. Hensley & Nevin (1920), 122 L. T. 814. Refd. Mourilyan v. Mourilyan, Mourilyan v. Mourilyan & Fazil (1922), 127 L. T. 403.

4401. —— —— —— Witnesses cross-examined if charges relevant to issue.]—A husband who has denied on oath charges of adultery made against him by his second wife cannot be cross-examined as to an act of adultery alleged to have been committed by him during his marriage with his first wife, & not charged in the pleadings; but if proof of the commission by the husband of such an act of adultery is relevant to the issues raised on the pleadings, witnesses called on his behalf may be asked in cross-examination whether they have knowledge of such an act of adultery.—MOURILYAN v. MOURILYAN, MOURILYAN v. MOURILYAN & FAZIL (1922), 127 L. T. 403; 38 T. L. R. 482.

4402. Respondent giving evidence of own adultery—In support of pleas connivance & conduct conducing—Liable to cross-examination.]—Where, in a suit for dissolution of marriage brought by a husband, the wife goes into the witness box & gives evidence of her own adultery in support of pleas of connivance & conduct conducing to adultery raised by her answer, she may be asked questions in cross-examination relating to the time & circumstances of such adultery.—RUCK v. RUCK & CROFT, [1911] P. 90; 80 L. J. P. 17; 104 L. T. 462; 27 T. L. R. 191.

Annotation:—Refd. Brown v. Brown (1915), 113 L. T. 190.

4403. Respondent pleading connivance—Liable to be cross-examined as to own adultery—Although no previous denial on oath.]—Where a wife in answer to a petition for divorce brought by her husband, had filed a plea of connivance:—Held: she might be cross-examined as to her own adultery notwithstanding that she had not previously denied it on oath.—DENNYS v. DENNYS & CROSSMAN (1912), 107 L. T. 591; 57 Sol. Jo. 61.

SUB-SECT. 4.—PRIVILEGE OF WITNESSES.

See EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 392, Nos. 4011 et seq.

SUB-SECT. 5.—ADMISSIBILITY OF EVIDENCE.

Proceedings instituted in consequence of adultery, see Sub-sect. 3, ante.

Evidence of cruelty.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 2, D., ante.

Proof of adultery.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 3, B., ante.

Proof of impotence.]—See Sect. 3, sub-sect. 2, F., ante.

Proof of non-access—Birth of illegitimate child.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 3, B. (c), ante.

Admissibility of evidence taken on commission.]—See Sect. 13, sub-sect. 9, post.

4404. Evidence of one party—Whether evidence against other—Opportunity of cross-examination.]—ALLEN v. ALLEN & BELL, No. 5257, post.

4405. Documents—Evidence of contents without notice to produce.]—Where a letter is pleaded to be in the possession of the adverse party, the contents may be set forth at length, leaving the other party, if she pleases, to produce the letter.—CROFT v. CROFT (1830), 3 Hag. Ecc. 310; 162 E. R. 1169.

Annotation:—Mentd. Latham & Dee v. Woolbert (1858), 7. & Tr. 1.

PART XIII. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 5.

e. Evidence of one party—Whether evidence against other—Necessity for corroboration.]—A suit for divorce by husband against wife on the ground of her adultery with co-resp. was defended by co-resp. alone:—Held: evidence given by the wife of adulterous relations between her & co-resp. was admissible as against co-resp. to show that their relations on a subsequent occasion, the adulterous nature of which would otherwise be improbable, were adulterous. Such evidence of the wife need not be corroborated.—MCCONVILLE v. BAYLEY (1914), 17 C. L. R. 509.—AUS.

f. Documents—Letter from respondent admitting adultery.]—On petition for divorce petitioner submitted in evidence a letter she had received from resp. in England, in which he admitted he had committed adultery on various occasions & that he intended to remain in England:—Held: if the ct. is satisfied as to the bona fides of the letter, the evidence is sufficient proof of adultery, & there should be an order absolute.—SHAW v. SHAW (1910), 27 B. C. R. 532.—CAN.

g. —— Letter from wife to alleged adulterer not received by him.]—A letter was written by the alleged adulteress after her husband's suspicions of her guilt were awakened, & addressed & sent to defender, but was never received by him. It was alleged to contain instructions to him as to the story which he ought to tell the husband regarding their conduct at certain interviews, which they were proved to have recently had:—Held: inadmissible against defender, in respect that he never received it.—BELL v. MURRAY (1833), 12 Sh. (Ct. of Sess.) 554.—SCOT.

h. Stolen from post office by husband.]—In a husband's action for divorce for alleged adultery he founded upon a letter written by defender to co-defender, & posted by her. He obtained it from the post office by the offence of stealing a post letter:—Held: the letter was competent evidence in his favour.—RATTRAY v. RATTRAY (1897), 25 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 315; 35 Sc. L. R. 294; 5 S. L. T. 245.—SCOT.

k. —— Statement dictated by petitioner.]—In an action of divorce on the ground of adultery, pursuer tendered as evidence a statement by his wife's sister, written, as he averred, with reference to a previously contemplated proceeding, for obtaining a separation from his wife on the ground of intemperate habits. The witness stated that this document was written by her from pursuer's dictation, & that its statements were very much exaggerated:—Held: the document was not admissible in evidence.—HOOK v. HOOK (1852), 14 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 544; 1 Stuart, 518.—SCOT.

l. As to matters not pleaded—Misconduct since action commenced.]—During the trial of an action for alimony deft.'s counsel sought to introduce evidence of alleged misconduct on the part of pltf. since the action was commenced:—Held: such evidence was rightly disallowed as the matter had not been pleaded & pltf. might be taken by surprise & not be prepared to meet it.—KEWELUK v. KEWELUK, [1923] 2 W. W. R. 78; 2 D. L. R. 979.—CAN.

m. —— ——.]—Evidence tending to show that the parties charged with the adultery have, since the commencement of the suit, intentionally met in a distant place is relevant in support of that charge.—ATKINSON v. ATKINSON (No. 2) (1891), 10 N. Z. L. R. 374.—N.Z.

n. —— Adultery with person other than co-respondent.]—On trial of an action for judicial separation & alimony on the ground of adultery, evidence was admitted of an attempt by deft. years ago to commit adultery with a person other than the one connected with the charge made by 4406. No appearance by other party.]—CASE v. CASE, No. 4436, post.

Affidavits in support of petitions—Whether admissible as evidence.]—See No. 4370, ante, No. 4473, post.

4407. Statements to third parties—Affecting validity of marriage—Nullity suit.]—Nullity of marriage, by reason of undue publication of banns, on evidence of knowledge of both parties, pronounced for.

I think grave doubts may be entertained whether . . . subsequent declarations . . . made long after the marriage are admissible as evidence; because, in these cases, one party or the other might by admissions affect the status of other parties, by reason that the interests of the parties in the cause are not confined to themselves, but extend to their children & to the public. The declaration of the wife may by possibility be evidence against the husband, & vice versâ; but where it affects the children, I doubt whether such declarations could be received (DR. LUSHINGTON).—BREALY (FALSELY CALLED REED) v. REED (1841), 2 Curt. 833; 1 Notes of Cases, 121; 163 E. R. 601.

4408. Evidence that co-respondent guilty of adultery—Where co-respondent does not appear.]—(1) On an issue of adultery raised between husband & wife, to be tried by a jury, who have also to assess damages against a co-resp. who has not appeared, no evidence which is not admissible against resp. can be given to show that co-resp. has been guilty of adultery; but evidence in aggravation of damages is admissible.

(2) The question whether resp. is proved to have been guilty of adultery with co-resp. & the assessment of damages against co-resp. with reference to the adultery with which he was charged but on which no issue was raised . . . are distinct & must be kept distinct as if they were two separate causes tried by two separate juries (per CUR.).—STONE v. STONE & APPLETON (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 608; 11 L. T. 515; 164 E. R. 1411.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reld. R. v. Manning (1883), 12 Q. B. D. 241. As to (2) Refd. Myers v. Myers, Carpendale, Radford & Thom, [1918] P. 260. Generally, Mentd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4409. Divorce bill—Death of witness—Certified copy of notes of evidence.]—A certified copy of the judge's notes of the evidence of a witness called by petitioner at the hearing of a petition for divorce a mensâ et thoro cannot, in case of the death of the witness, be received as proof of the matters deposed to by him upon the second reading of a bill for divorce presented by petitioner.—GRIFFIN'S DIVORCE BILL, [1896] A. C. 133, H. L.

See, generally, EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 331, Nos. 3292 et seq.

SUB-SECT. 6.—EXAMINATION IN CHIEF.

See, generally, EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 457, Nos. 4783 et seq.

4410. Examination of respondent's witnesses by co-respondent—Adoption as own witnesses.]—GLENNIE v. GLENNIE & BOWLES, No. 3087, ante.

4411. General question as to truth of contents of petition—Consent of parties—Judicial separation.]—BROADFOOT v. BROADFOOT (1902), 46 Sol. Jo.

4412. Leading questions—As to residence of petitioner.]—LODGE v. LODGE & DICK (1921), 152 L. T. Jo. 39.

SUB-SECT. 7.—CROSS-EXAMINATION.

See, generally, EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 459, Nos. 4803 et seq.

Cross-examination of petitioner—Examined under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 43.]—See Sub-sect. 8, A., post.

4413. Right of petitioner to cross-examine—After examination of adverse witness by court.]—LLOYD v. LLOYD & CHICHESTER (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 567; Sea. & Sm. 39; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 97; 1 L. T. 335; 164 E. R. 863.

Annotations:—Mentd. Plumer v. Plumer & Bygrave (1859), 4 Sw. & Tr. 257; Todd v. Todd (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 121; Churchward v. Churchward, [1895] P. 7.

4414. —— As to matters not denied on the record.]—The petition came before the full ct. in proof of facts not in issue, when the ct. refused to allow resp.'s counsel to cross-examine petitioner's witnesses or to contest facts admitted on the pleas, but permitted him, after the proof of the facts of the petition, to argue, rebus sic stantibus, against the decree of dissolution & under the circumstances to examine petitioner. The ct. made a decree dissolving petitioner's marriage, but pltf.—WILSON v. WILSON (1920), 3 W. W. R. 535.—CAN.

o. ——.]—Counsel for petitioner in a suit for dissolution sought to put a question to a witness tending to show that resp. had committed adultery with some person other than co-resp. There was no such charge in the petition, nor was there a general charge of prostitution:—Held: the question should be disallowed in the absence of a specific or general charge in the petition or of notice of intention to adduce evidence supporting such a charge or charges at the trial.—EVANS v. EVANS (1910), 30 N. Z. L. R. 290.—N.Z.

p. ——.]—The ct. will permit a resp. to adduce evidence of petitioner's adultery, although it has not been pleaded, where the admitted facts raise strong suspicion & there is no possibility of surprise.—CRAIG v. CRAIG (1881), 3 N. Z. L. R. 26 (S. C.).—N.Z.

q. Evidence given at former trial.]—In divorce proceedings the evidence of a witness who cannot be found given at a former trial proving misconduct, may be read over to petitioner at the trial & verified by her as a correct note of the evidence as given by the witness & used as proof of misconduct.—CUNLIFFE v. CUNLIFFE (1901), 8 B. C. R. 18.—CAN.

r. ——.]—At the trial of an action for the alienation of the affections of, & crim. con. with pltf.'s wife, pltf. answered questions in such a way as to disclose the financial circumstances of deft., without alleging or endeavouring to prove that deft. had used his fortune as a means of debauching pltf.'s wife:—Held: the questions were properly asked for the purpose of eliciting an explanation of pltf.'s motive in the prior litigation.—MAGUIRE v. MAGUIRE (1921), 64 D. L. R. 564; 50 O. L. R. 579.—CAN.

s. Former proceedings.]—A marriage was contracted in England between a domiciled Scotsman & an Englishwoman. After several years cohabitation in Scotland the wife abandoned her husband & went to reside in England. The husband raised a suit in the Ct. of Arches, for restitution, which was met by a "responsive allegation" by the wife, praying for a divorce a mensâ et thoro on the ground of cruelty & adultery, committed in Scotland. She obtained sentence of divorce:—Held: the proceedings in the previous case in England were admissible as evidence in the case.—GEILS v. GEILS (1855), 17 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 397; 27 Sc. Jur. 162.—SCOT.

t. Evidence of repute—As to paternity of respondent's illegitimate children.]—In an action for divorce on the ground of adultery:—Held: evidence of repute or understanding in the family or among the neighbours of the alleged paramour, as to the paternity of illegitimate children borne by her, was incompetent & inadmissible, but with a view to test evidence given by the alleged paramour, it was competent to ask a witness whether at the time of the birth of a child she heard her say who was the father.—A. v. B. (1858), 20 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 407; 30 Sc. Jur. 204.—SCOT.

a. Evidence to co-respondent's misconduct—With woman other than respondent.]—Pursuer of an action of divorce against his wife cannot lead evidence of misconduct of co-defender with another woman nine years previously.—JOHNSTON v. JOHNSTON (1903), 5 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 659; 40 Sc. L. R. 499; 10 S. L. T. 740.—SCOT.

Sect. 11.—Evidence: Sub-sects. 7 & 8, A. & B.; sub-sects. 9, 10 & 11.]

refused to make any order for payment of wife's costs.—TOLLEMACHE v. TOLLEMACHE (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 557; Sea. & Sm. 149, n.; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 113; 2 L. T. 87; 23 J. P. 679; 164 E. R. 858.

Annotations:—Mentd. Le Sueur v. Le Sueur (1876), 1 P. D. 139; Niboyet v. Niboyet (1878), 4 P. D. 1; Green v. Green, [1893] P. 89; Le Mesurier v. Le Mesurier, [1895] A. C. 517; Rickard v. Rickard & Bond (1921), 37 T. L. R. 511.

4415. —— ——.]—BACON v. BACON & BACON, No. 4673, post.

4416. Right of respondent to cross-examine—Co-respondent's witnesses—Where called before respondent's case opened.]—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON & LANE, No. 2777, ante.

4417. —— Petitioner, as to general conduct—Where cruelty denied—Matters not in issue.]—(1) A resp. who, in his answer, simply denies the cruelty charged in a petition, may cross-examine petitioner, if called, as to her general conduct, for the purpose of impeaching her credit, but her answer as to any matters not bearing upon the issue cannot be contradicted.

(2) Resp., charged with desertion, traversed the charge. On his examination he admitted that he had insisted that his wife should leave his house, but said that he did so for a good cause, which he stated:—Held: he was guilty of desertion.—BAKER v. BAKER (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 213; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 145; 9 L. T. 117; 11 W. R. 502; 164 E. R. 1255.

4418. —— Petitioner as to adultery—In suit for nullity.]—S. (OTHERWISE G.) v. S. (1907), No. 3569, ante.

4419. Whether co-respondent entitled to cross-examine—Petitioner's witnesses—Where no answer filed.]—LYNE v. LYNE & BLACKNEY, No. 3937, ante.

4420. —— Respondent—Evidence tending to criminate.]—ALLEN v. ALLEN & BELL, No. 5257, post.

4421. Cross-examination of respondent wife—By party named in confession by wife—Such party not party to suit.]—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS & WILSON (1899), Times, June 17.

SUB-SECT. 8.—EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES BY ORDER OF COURT.

A. Examination of Petitioner.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 38.

4422. Under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 43—Power of court to order—In suits for judicial separation by reason of adultery.]—The ct. has power under above sect. to order petitioner, in a suit for judicial separation by reason of adultery, to attend at the hearing of the petition.—ROSS v. ROSS (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 629; 38 L. J. P. & M. 33; 20 L. T. 232; 17 W. R. 577.

4423. —— When court will order—To support petition.]—EVANS v. EVANS (1859), Sea. & Sm. 35.

4424. —— —— —— ——.]—In certain circumstances, the ct. will exercise the power given it by above sect., by calling petitioner & examining him on oath as to some of the facts necessary to establish his petition.

In a suit by a husband for dissolution of marriage, the only evidence of the wife's adultery was a confession by her & proof of some slight familiarities between her & co-resp. The ct. deemed this evidence insufficient, & under above sect. examined petitioner, who was the sole witness of an act of impropriety conclusively proving adultery, & upon his evidence pronounced a decree nisi, but refused to condemn co-resp., who had not been personally served, in costs.—TATHAM v. TATHAM & NUTT (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 511; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 140; 10 L. T. 725; 164 E. R. 1374.

Annotations:—Refd. Sanderson v. Sanderson & Gibson (1866), 14 W. R. 972; Blackborne v. Blackborne (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 563.

4425. —— —— ——.]—HARDING v. HARDING & LANCE, No. 5157, post.

4426. ——.]—The ct. will, in some circumstances, allow petitioner in a suit for dissolution of marriage to be called to give evidence, under a discretion given by above sect. notwithstanding the Act which provides that neither of the parties in such a suit is allowed or compellable to give evidence.—SANDERSON v. SANDERSON & GIBSON (1866), 14 W. R. 972.

4427. —— —— Queen's Proctor's intervention.]—When, after a decree nisi, the Queen's Proctor intervened & pleaded collusion & condonation, & petitioner took issue thereon, & the case was ready to be heard before the ct., a motion on behalf of the Queen's Proctor was made to order the attendance of petitioner at the hearing under above sect. The ct. refused to make such order, but ordered the proceedings to be stayed till he should attend.—POLLACK v. POLLACK & DEANE & MACNAMARA (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 648; 1 New Rep. 35; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 28; 7 L. T. 395; 8 Jur. N. S. 1230; 164 E. R. 1149.

4428. —— —— Indentification of petitioner by respondent's witnesses.]—LLOYD v. LLOYD, No. 4441, post.

4429. —— —— Not to explain petitioner's conduct—When respondent able to give evidence.]—BAYLIS v. BAYLIS, TEEVAN & COOPER, No. 3132, ante.

4430. —— When petitioner examined—Re-examination.]—HASWELL v. HASWELL & SANDERSON, No. 3609, ante.

4431. —— Where respondent allowed to call petitioner—No right to cross-examine.]—STUDDY v. STUDDY, No. 4473, post.

4432. —— —— ——.]—Where, at the hearing of a suit for dissolution of marriage, petitioner, in pursuance of an order under above sect. is present, if the ct. allows the counsel of resp. to call him, he must be treated as the witness of resp. He cannot be cross-examined by resp.; & before he is sworn resp.'s case must be opened.—GILES v. GILES & QUARTLEY (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 209; 12 W. R. 20.

B. Other Witnesses.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 38.

4433. Examination of respondent—Where evidence against respondent unsatisfactory—Cross-examination.]—LONG v. LONG & JOHNSON, No. 2704, ante.

4434. Examination of third parties—As to whereabouts of children.]—A husband having obtained a decree nisi for a divorce against his wife, she was ordered to deliver up the children of the marriage to him. She knew of the order, but evaded service of it & disobeyed it. Three relations of the wife were ordered to attend to be examined before the ct. as to their knowledge of the whereabouts of the children:—Held: the ct. had no jurisdiction to order third parties to attend for examination.—HYDE v. HYDE (1888), 13 P. D. 166; 57 L. J. P. 89; 59 L. T. 529; 36 W. R. 708; 4 T. L. R. 586, C. A.

Annotations:—Mentd. Cox v. Bennett, [1891] 1 Ch. 617;

Michell v. Michell, [1891] P. 208 ; Hood Barrs v. Cathcart, [1894] 2 Q. B. 559 ; Re Lumley, Ex p. Hood Barrs, [1894] 3 Ch. 135 ; Pillers & Pershouse v. Edwards (1894), 71 L. T. 788 ; Favard v. Favard (1896), 75 L. T. 664 ; Bolitho v. Gidley, [1905] A. C. 98 ; Kistler v. Tettmar, [1905] 1 K. B. 39 ; Re Tuck, Murch v. Loosemore, [1906] 1 Ch. 692 ; Re Saurez, Saurez v. Suarez, [1918] 1 Ch. 176.

SUB-SECT. 9.—IMPEACHING CREDIT OF WITNESSES.

See EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 482, Nos. 5077 et seq.

4435. By reference to statements made to solicitor —Inconsistent with present testimony.]—A witness called by petitioner to support the charge of adultery swore that she had never seen or stated that she had seen any act of familiarity between resp. & co-resp. Counsel for petitioner then tendered evidence that she had stated to petitioner's attorney that she had seen acts of familiarity & impropriety :—Held : it was inadmissible.—RYBERG v. RYBERG & SMITH (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. A. 112 ; 11 W. R. 502.

SUB-SECT. 10.—PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS AT TRIAL.

See, generally, EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., pp. 427 et seq.

4436. Notice to produce—When essential—Respondent accessible.]—In support of an allegation of desertion, petitioner gave evidence that she had written letters to resp., asking him to provide a home for her. The husband did not appear, & no notice to produce the letters had been served upon him. The ct., without pronouncing a final opinion upon the point, declined to act upon this evidence, but dissolved the marriage upon other evidence, intimating that although a notice to produce might not be necessary, when resp. was not easily accessible, it ought to be served when the service could be effected without difficulty.—CASE v. CASE (1860), 2 Sw. & Tr. 65 ; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 127 ; 2 L. T. 391 ; 8 W. R. 532 ; 164 E. R. 916.

——.]—See, generally, EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., pp. 427 et seq.

4437. Power to order—Letters to medical practitioner—Relative to his examination as witness.]—A witness [a surgeon], upon cross examination, is compellable, if required by the ministrant, to produce all written communications addressed to him, the witness, by the solr. or other agent of the producent relative to his examination as a witness in the cause.—ATKINSON v. ATKINSON (1825), 2 Add. 484 ; 164 E. R. 372.

Annotation :—Refd. Davidson v. Davidson (1856), Dea. & Sw. 132.

4438. —— Documents material to conduct of petition—Letter admitting misconduct.]—NOVERRE v. NOVERRE, No. 2783, ante.

SUB-SECT. 11.—PROOF OF IDENTITY OF PARTIES.

4439. Confrontation—Power of court to order.]—The ct. has no power to decree confrontation in a suit for dissolution of marriage, for the purpose of identification.—HOOKE v. HOOKE (1858), 4 Sw. & Tr. 236 ; 28 L. J. P. & M. 29 ; 164 E. R. 1506.

4440. —— ——.]—The Divorce Ct. will follow the practice of the Ecclesiastical Ct. in making a decree of confrontation in fit cases.—ENTICKNAP v. RICE (FALSELY CALLED ENTICKNAP) (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 136 ; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 110 ; 13 L. T. 211 ; 164 E. R. 1468.

4441. —— ——.]—Where it was necessary for the witnesses of a husband to be confronted with the wife, petitioner, to enable him to establish his defence, & the husband was unable to ascertain her address, the ct. ordered the wife to supply to him her address within three days, or to attend at the hearing.—LLOYD v. LLOYD (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 222 ; 15 W. R. 287.

4442. —— ——.]—(1) Co-resp., who pleaded a counter-charge of adultery against petitioner, & whose case depended on petitioner's identification, applied that he might be ordered to attend at the trial. Petitioner asked that, as a condition of the order, co-resp. might also be ordered to attend. The ct. ordered that both petitioner & co-resp. should attend at the trial.

(2) A claim for damages having been formally withdrawn, the ct. refused to allow it to be reinstated in the petition, petitioner having failed to show that it was withdrawn in error, or that an altered state of circumstances had arisen which would justify its reinsertion.— SYKES v. SYKES & SMITH (1868), 38 L. J. P. & M. 12 ; 19 L. T. 611 ; 17 W. R. 265.

4443. Witness seeing party once only.]—DILLON v. DILLON, No. 2712, ante.

4444. By circumstantial evidence.]—Identity proved by circumstantial evidence.—ROOKER v. ROOKER & NEWTON (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 526 ; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 42 ; 9 Jur. N. S. 1329 ; 12 W. R. 807 ; 164 E. R. 1379.

4445. By photographs only.]—Circumstances in which the ct. acted upon identification by a photograph only.— DAWSON v. DAWSON & REILLY (1907), 23 T. L. R. 716.

4446. ——.]—Circumstances in which the ct. is justified in acting on a photograph of a party to a divorce suit as evidence of identification.—HILLS v. HILLS & EASTON (1915), 31 T. L. R. 541.

4447. —— Special circumstances.]—In matrimonial cases, except in very special circumstances, the ct. will not act upon identification by a photograph only.—FRITH v. FRITH & PAICE, [1896] P. 74 ; 65 L. J. P. 53.

4448. Power to order witness to stand up for identification—Not if witness in court on subpœna.]—FARULLI v. FARULLI & PEDERZOLI, No. 3132, ante.

4449. Necessity for proof of identity.]—In all cases where a dissolution of marriage is the object

PART XIII. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 10.

b. Production at hearing of appeal—Letters written after appeal filed.]—At the hearing of an appeal from a decree dismissing a suit by a wife for dissolution of marriage on the ground of her husband's incestuous adultery with her sister M. & cruelty, applt. produced certain letters written by resp. & M. to each other which showed that a criminal intimacy existed between them. These letters were not written until after applt. had filed the appeal :—Held : such letters were admissible & should be produced.—MORGAN v. MORGAN (1882), I. L. R. 4 All. 306.—IND.

PART XIII. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 11.

4445 i. By photographs only.]—Evidence of identity of defender in an action for divorce, with a person deponed to by certain witnesses by means of a photographic portrait not admitted, without, in the first place, ordaining defender to appear personally, for exhibition to the witnesses. —FORBES v. FORBES (1861), 24 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 145.—SCOT.

4445 ii. ——.]—Where defender in an action of divorce has been cited to appear for identification at the proof, & has not appeared, it is competent for pursuer to show a photograph of defender to witnesses for the purpose of identification.—L. v. L. (1890), 17 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 751.—SCOT.

Sect. 11.—Evidence: Sub-sects. 11 & 12. Sect. 12: Sub-sects. 1 & 2, A.] of the suit, it is the especial duty of the ct. to guard against imposition. Where an existing marriage is proved, it is not to be exposed to the danger of being set aside by any species of collusion; & should only be brought into question upon the most undisputed proofs, although those proofs may be only circumstantial. A married person may afterwards wish the marriage avoided; for this purpose a former marriage might be propounded by the one party & admitted by the other; but the ct. could not rely on declarations thus made, & that too not on oath, in furtherance of the common purpose. They might go further; by substituting false parties, who might admit themselves to be parties in the cause, when they were not, & various impositions of this nature might be resorted to, to destroy the rights of the real parties (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—SEARLE v. PRICE (FALSELY CALLED SEARLE) (1816), 2 Hag. Con. 187; 161 E. R. 710.

Annotations:—Consd. Deane v. Deane (1847), 12 Jur. 63. Refd. Dillon v. Dillon (1842), 1 Notes of Cases, 115.

4450. —— Undefended suit—Service on respondent.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage, if resp. does not appear, proof must be given at the hearing of the identity of resp. & the person served with the citation.—GOLDSMITH v. GOLDSMITH, DALRYMPLE, NICOLLS & WOOLEY (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 163.

4451. —— —— Identification not proved in affidavit of service.]—SPENDLEY v. SPENDLEY & GOARD, HOBBS v. HOBBS, No. 3920, ante.

4452. —— —— Service on co-respondent.]—In undefended divorce actions co-resp. must at the trial be proved to be the person served with the citation, unless an order has been obtained for leave to proceed without making a co-resp.—DUFF v. DUFF & LINDSAY (OTHERWISE TRACY) (1888), 58 L. T. 389; 52 J. P. 232.

Service generally, see Sect. 8, sub-sect. 5, ante.

4453. Sufficiency of proof of identity—Appearance to citation—No further steps.]—DEANE v. DEANE, No. 4370, ante.

4454. Corroboration of evidence of petitioner.]—The ct. will not act upon the evidence of petitioner as to the identity of resp. without some corroboration.—HARRIS v. HARRIS & MILTON (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 77; 39 L. J. P. & M. 86.

4455. Nullity suit—Necessity for proof in open court—Of identity of party not appearing—Though identity of both parties proved at medical examination.]—H. (OTHERWISE G.) v. G. (1900), No. 4345, ante.

SUB-SECT. 12.—PETITIONS FOR DAMAGES ONLY.

4456. Proof of marriage—Necessity for.]—In actions for crim. con. there must be proof of a marriage in fact.—MORRIS v. MILLER (1767), 1 Wm. Bl. 632; 4 Burr. 2057; Bull. N. P. 27 b; 96 E. R. 366.

Annotations:—Folld. Catherwood v. Caslon (1844), 13 M. & W. 261. Refd. Birt v. Barlow (1779), 1 Doug. K. B. 171; Read v. Passer (1791), 1 Esp. 213; R. v. Hassall (1826), 2 C. & P. 434.

4457. —— By person present—Proof of reading of service not essential.]—In an action of crim. con., evidence of a marriage de facto & cohabitation, followed by proof of a criminal intercourse between deft. & a woman who passed for pltf.'s wife, is sufficient to go to a jury, without absolute proof of the identity of the former woman & the latter. Semble: evidence of a marriage, by a person present, is sufficient, without proving expressly the reading of the service.—HEMMINGS v. SMITH (1784), 4 Doug. K. B. 33; 99 E. R. 753.

4458. Whether absolute proof of identity of wife essential—Evidence of marriage de facto—Followed by intercourse between respondent & woman passing as wife.]—HEMMINGS v. SMITH, No. 4457, ante.

4459. What evidence admissible—In mitigation of damages—Adultery by wife with others.]—DONERAILE v. DONERAILE (1734), as reported in Bull. N. P. 296, H. L.

Annotations:—Refd. Wheeler v. Trotter (1736), 1 Hov. Supp. 281. Mentd. Clarke v. Periam (1742), 2 Atk. 333.

4460. —— —— —— Subsequent to adultery by defendant.]—In an action for crim. con. evidence of misconduct in the woman subsequent to her connection with deft., is not admissible. A letter written by the woman previous to her connection with deft., is admissible in mitigation of damages.—ELSAM v. FAUCETT (1797), 2 Esp. 562, N. P.

Annotation:—Consd. Webb v. Fisher (1857), 30 L. T. O. S. 123.

4461. —— —— Wife's letters before meeting defendant.]—ELSAM v. FAUCETT, No. 4460, ante.

4462. —— Relations between spouses—Wife's letters to husband during separation.]—Where the husband & wife necessarily, from their situation in life, live separate, & the wife commits adultery, letters written by her during their separation, but before any suspicion of misconduct in the wife, are admissible evidence to show that the husband & wife lived in a state of connubial affection previous to the adultery; but the time when the letters were written must be shown.—EDWARDS v. CROCK (1801), 4 Esp. 39, N. P.

Annotations:—Apld. Willis v. Bernard (1832), 8 Bing. 376. Refd. Scholey v. Goodman (1823), 8 Moore, C. P. 350; Potez v. Glossop (1818), 2 Exch. 191.

4463. —— —— ——.]—TRELAWNEY v. COLEMAN, No. 4466, post.

4464. —— —— —— .]—In an action for crim. con., the letters of the wife to her husband & others are admissible in evidence to show the state of the wife's feelings, although they may also state a fact which would not strictly be evidence.—WILLIS v. BERNARD (1832), 8 Bing. 376; 5 C. & P. 342; 1 Moo. & S. 584; 1 L. J. C. P. 118; 131 E. R. 439.

4465. —— —— Letters written to third parties.]—WILLIS v. BERNARD, No. 4464, ante.

4466. —— —— Conduct of wife during separation.]—(1) In an action for crim. con., proof that a letter produced corresponds, as to its contents, with a letter which the wife wrote to her husband, whilst she was absent from him, before the criminal intercourse, upon a visit at the house of a friend, & which she read over to the witness, is sufficient to warrant the reception of the letter in evidence, although no explanation is given of the cause of their living apart, there being no ground to suspect collusion.

(2) The judgment which a witness forms from the conduct & expressions of the wife to her husband whilst she lives apart from him, as to her affection for him, is evidence.—TRELAWNEY v. COLEMAN (1817), 1 B. & Ald. 90; 2 Stark. 191; 106 E. R. 33.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Willis v. Bernard (1832), 8

PART XIII. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 12.

4456 i. Proof of marriage—Necessity for.]—In an action for crim. con. the marriage in question must be strictly proved. -MONALUK v. ELASCHUK, [1917] 2 W. W. R. 994.— CAN.

Bing. 376. Refd. Scholey v. Goodman (1823), 8 Moore, C. P. 350.

4467. —— Conduct of wife.]—In an action for crim. con. where the adultery was committed on board a ship during a voyage, a witness may be asked, on the part of pltf., whether the wife did not keep a journal, & whether she stated for what purpose she kept it.—JONES v. THOMPSON (1834), 6 C. & P. 415, N. P.

SECT. 12.—PROOF BY AFFIDAVITS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1921, rr. 36, 37.

Evidence by affidavit generally, see EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 516, No. 5484 et seq.

4468. Power of court to order—Consent of both parties.]—I have . . . power to direct how the evidence shall be taken; & if both parties consent I will make an order under sect. 46 [Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85)] that the case be proved by affidavit, subject to the right of each party to cross-examine the witnesses on the other side in open ct. (per CUR.).—BARNETT v. BARNETT (1859), Sea. & Sm. 20; 29 L. J. P. & M. 28.

Annotations:—Refd. H. (falsely called C.) v. C. (1859), 29 L. J. P. & M. 29; Scott v. Scott, [1913] A. C. 417.

4469. Title of affidavits—Strictly as cause.]—Affidavits in a cause must be entitled strictly as the cause itself is entitled.—SUTHERLAND (FALSELY CALLED CROMIE) v. CROMIE (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 210; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 125; 9 L. T. 23; 164 E. R. 1251.

4470. Filing of affidavit—Grant of further time.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage, triable upon affidavits, in which there was no appearance, a motion for further time to file affidavits was granted notwithstanding rule 35, which directs that, in cases to be tried upon affidavit, petitioner & resp. shall file their affidavits within eight days from the filing of the last proceeding.—DAVIS v. DAVIS (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 139.

Affidavits on showing cause against decree nisi.]—See Sect. 20, post.

4471. Filing of order for proof by affidavit—With other papers before hearing.]—When leave is granted to prove a petition by affidavits, the order granting such leave must be drawn up before the hearing, & should be filed with the other papers.—WEBB v. WEBB (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 63; 11 W. R. 112.

4472. Affidavit in support of pleadings—Whether admissible as evidence.]—DEANE v. DEANE, No. 4370, ante.

4473. —— ——.]—Upon a separation between husband & wife an agreement was entered into by them, which, after certain pecuniary arrangements, contained the following clause:—"Major S. to allow Mrs. S. to reside where she pleases & with whom she pleases, & not to compel her to live with him again, or to go near her or molest her in any way; & Mrs. S. promises that if she does not fulfil her part of the agreement Major S. shall have the full power of a husband over her, whatever his way of living may be":—Held: (1) the concluding words of the agreement did not give Major S. leave & licence to commit adultery; (2) resp. cannot, in the first instance, & without the permission of the ct., cross-examine petitioner who is in attendance at the hearing, in pursuance of an order made on the application of resp., under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 43, but must treat petitioner, as his witness, unless the ct. thinks fit to allow him to cross-examine.

(3) The affidavits filed with the petition & answer cannot, at the hearing, be referred to as evidence by either party.—STUDDY v. STUDDY (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 321, 324; 28 L. J. P. & M. 105; 164 E. R. 747.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Higgins v. Higgins (1921), 41 T. L. R. 25.

4474. Affidavits taken in Chancery—Inadmissible in suit for nullity—On ground of bigamy.]—In a suit for nullity on the ground of bigamy:—Held: the ct. had no power to permit the facts to be proved by reading affidavits taken in a suit in Chancery.—LUMLEY v. VICTOR (FALSELY CALLED LUMLEY (1871), 26 L. T. 141.

4475. Affidavit of deceased person—Admitted by court—Where order could have been applied for before hearing.]—Upon an undefended divorce petition by the husband, making general charges against the wife of acting as a common prostitute & also containing specific charges of acts of adultery with men unknown, upon proof at the hearing of the death of one of the deponents whose affidavit was before the ct. on the motion dispensing with co-resps., the ct. allowed the affidavit of deceased deponent to be read.—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS, [1916] 1 P. 130; 85 L. J. P. 137; 114 L. T. 1183; 32 T. L. R. 485; 60 Sol. Jo. 528.

4476. Power to supplement evidence by affidavit—By oral evidence—Notwithstanding agreement to dispense with oral evidence—No appeal against registrar's report.]—The ct. has power to supplement evidence by affidavit by oral evidence, notwithstanding an agreement of the parties before the registrar to dispense with oral evidence, & although the report of the registrar is not being appealed against.—B. v. B. (1907), 51 Sol. Jo. 430.

SUB-SECT. 2.—WHAT MAY BE PROVED BY AFFIDAVIT.

A. Adultery.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 36, 37.

4477. Only in special circumstances.]—(1) At the hearing of a wife's petition for divorce on the ground of her husband's desertion & adultery, the desertion was proved, & also the fact that the resp. had gone through the ceremony of marriage with another woman in America, but there was no evidence of any subsequent cohabitation between the parties to the bigamous marriage:—Held: the mere proof that the ceremony of marriage had been gone through was insufficient to satisfy the words "bigamy with adultery" used in Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 27, & there must be substantive evidence of the adultery.

(2) Proof of the adultery was allowed to be completed by affidavit in the special circumstances of the case.—ELLAM v. ELLAM (1889), 58 L. J. P. 56; 61 L. T. 338.

Annotation:—As to (2) Consd. Gayer v. Gayer, [1917] P. 64.

PART XIII. SECT. 12, SUB-SECT. 1.

c. Power of court to order.]—On an application for an order for directions in a divorce action, petitioner asked for an order allowing proof of the facts by affidavit at the trial, owing to the remoteness of witnesses & the financial disability of petitioner:—Held: the trial must be held on oral evidence, but a saving clause giving the trial judge power to allow proof by affidavit of such facts as may deem proper may be inserted in the order.—JENSEN v. JENSEN (1919), 25 B. C. R. 513.—CAN.

Sect. 12.—Proof by affidavits: Sub-sect. 2, A. & B.; sub-sect. 3. Sect. 13: Sub-sects. 1, 2, 3 & 4.]

4478. —— Undefended suits—Commission to take evidence preferable.]—GAYER v. GAYER, No. 4500, post.

4479. —— Affidavits admitted as sole proof.]—There is no rule of practice that an affidavit, made in pursuance of leave to give evidence by affidavit, must not contain allegations of adultery. Affidavit evidence cannot without special leave be admitted as sole proof of adultery, though leave to use it even for that purpose may be given in very special circumstances. But a petitioner to whom leave has been given to give his evidence by affidavit should state in his affidavit all the facts in his knowledge which bear upon the case whether they prove adultery or not.—GOODMAN v. GOODMAN & PINFIELD, [1920] P. 67; 89 L. J. P. 94; 122 L. T. 748; 36 T. L. R. 208; 64 Sol. Jo. 242.

4480. When parties abroad—Petitioner unable to afford commission.]—Where the witnesses in a divorce suit were all resident in America & the expenses of a commission would be beyond petitioner's means, the ct., upon motion by petitioner, made an order that the bigamous marriage, the subsequent adultery, & the identity might be proved by affidavit.—BURSLEM v. BURSLEM (1892), 67 L. T. 719; 1 R. 497.

Annotation:—Consd. Gayer v. Gayer, [1917] P. 61.

Commissions to take evidence, see Sect. 13, post.

4481. ——.]—BAILEY v. BAILEY & HODGSON (1909), Times, Jan. 14.

Annotation:—Consd. Gayer v. Gayer, [1917] P. 61.

4482. Where damages recovered against co-respondent—Nominal damages.]—Where petitioner for a dissolution of marriage, on the ground of the wife's adultery, had obtained a divorce a mensâ et thoro, & also a verdict in an action against co-resp. for crim. con., but for nominal damages only, the judge ordinary refused to allow the petition to be heard on affidavits, but required oral evidence.—POTTS v. POTTS (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 181; 27 L. J. P. & M. 59: 31 L. T. O. S. 269; 6 W. R. 860; 164 E. R. 683.

Annotation:—Consd. Gayer v. Gayer, [1917] P. 61.

4483. —— ——.]—WALTON v. WALTON & HIBBERT (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 31, n.

Annotation:—Consd. Gayer v. Gayer, [1917] P. 64.

4484. —— Substantial damages.]—(1) Petitioner for dissolution of marriage, on the ground of the wife's adultery, having recovered substantial damages in a defended action against co-resp. for crim. con., which, with the costs of the action, had been paid, & having also obtained a sentence of divorce a mensâ et thoro, the judge ordinary, on the application of petitioner, the other parties to the suit consenting, directed that the cause should be heard on affidavits.

(2) No application for directions as to mode of trial can be made, even with consent of parties, till after the time allowed for answer, or other pleadings, by the rule, etc., has elapsed.—LING v. LING & CROKER (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 180; 27 L. J. P. & M. 58; 31 L. T. O. S. 186; 6 W. R. 674; 164 E. R. 683.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Walton v. Walton & Hibbert (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 31, n.; Gayer v. Gayer, [1917] P. 64.

4485. Contents of affidavit made in pursuance of leave—Evidence of non-access—Birth of illegitimate child.]—BOULTON v. BOULTON, No. 2751, ante.

4486. —— All relevant facts in knowledge of petitioner—Allegations of adultery.]—GOODMAN v. GOODMAN & PINFIELD, No. 4479, ante.

B. Other Matters.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 36, 37.

4487. Nullity suit by wife—Petitioner's evidence—With consent of respondent.]—B—— (FALSELY CALLED C——) v. C—— (1863), No. 4342, ante.

4488. Identification of respondent.]—Where the evidence of adultery was complete but there was no evidence to identify resp. as the man who had committed adultery the ct. allowed evidence of the identity to be given on affidavit.—CARTER v. CARTER (1919), 36 T. L. R. 121; 64 Sol. Jo. 148.

Marriage—Whether leave granted on ground that witnesses resident abroad.]—See No. 4488, ante, Nos. 4489–4491, post.

—— Suit for restitution—When no answer filed.]
See No. 4499, post.

SUB-SECT. 3.—GROUNDS FOR GRANTING OR REFUSING LEAVE.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 36–37.

Proof of adultery by affidavit, see Sub-sect. 2, A, ante.

4489. Witnesses resident abroad.]—DECK v. DECK (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 30, n.

4490. ——.]—MILLS v. MILLS (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 31, n.

4491. ——.]—In a suit for the dissolution of a marriage which had been celebrated in Scotland, where the parties who could prove it resided, the ct. made an order that petitioner should be allowed to prove it at the hearing by affidavit. No appearance had been entered by resp. or co-resp.—M'KECHNIE v. M'KECHNIE (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 550; 28 L. J. P. & M. 31; 164 E. R. 855.

Annotations:—Consd. Scott v. Scott, [1912] P. 241. Refd. Gayer v. Gayer, [1917] P. 64.

4492. ——.]—BURSLEM v. BURSLEM, No. 4480, ante.

4493. Witnesses resident at distance.]—RYLANCE v. RYLANCE & JONES (1858), 28 L. J. P. & M. 31, n.

4494. ——.]—A husband was convicted of bigamy in 1852. The wife petitioned for a dissolution of their marriage on the ground of his bigamy & adultery. The witnesses to the facts to be proved were resident at Oldham or Huddersfield. The judge ordinary directed that the petition might be proved by affidavit.—MARCH v. MARCH (1858), 2 Sw. & Tr. 49; 28 L. J. P. & M. 30; 164 E. R. 910.

Annotations:—Folld. Macartney v. Macartney (1866), 15

PART XIII. SECT. 12, SUB-SECT. 2.—B.

d. Nullity suit by wife.]—Pltf., a girl under 19 years of age, brought this action, by her next friend, against a man with whom she went through a ceremony of marriage when only 15, to obtain a declaration that a valid marriage was not effected or entered into. Deft. did not appear or defend, & pltf. moved for judgment upon the statement of claim, supported by affidavits of herself, her mother, & deft. Deft. stated that he procured a marriage licence without obtaining the consent of either of pltf.'s parents; & the return of the marriage contained the information that pltf. was then 18 years of age:—Held: in the circumstances, the motion for judgment was properly refused, & the pltf. left to proceed to trial in the ordinary way.—MENZIES v. FARNON (1909), 18 O. L. R. 174; 13 O. W. R. 586, 711.—CAN.

e. Marriage & birth of children—Poor petitioner, resident abroad.]—In an undefended suit for dissolution of marriage, where the husband was domiciled & resident in New Zealand & the petitioner was in poor circumstances & resident out of New Zealand, the ct. allowed the marriage & the births of the children to be proved by affidavit.—HORSLEY v. HORSLEY (1913), 32 N. Z. L. R. 1345.—N.Z.

W. R. 229. Consd. Gayer v. Gayer, [1917] P. 64. Mentd. Yates v. Kyffin-Taylor & Wark, [1899] W. N. 141.

4495. ——.]—If resp. has been convicted of bigamy, & witnesses to prove his bigamy reside at a distance, & cannot be produced without considerable expense, the ct. will permit such bigamy to be proved by affidavit.—MACARTNEY v. MACARTNEY (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 259; 36 L. J. P. & M. 38; 15 L. T. 193; 15 W. R. 229.
Annotation :—Consd. Gayer v. Gayer, [1917] P. 61.

4496. Petitioner resident abroad—Proof of cohabitation & separation.]—In a husband's suit for dissolution, where petitioner was resident in Australia, the ct. allowed the preliminary facts of the cohabitation & separation to be proved by affidavit.—ADAMS v. ADAMS & GUEST (1873), 29 L. T. 699; 22 W. R. 192.
Annotation :—Consd. Gayer v. Gayer, [1917] P. 61.

4497. —— Proof of marriage & cohabitation.]—Ex p. HOBSON, No. 3660, ante.

4498. Controverted facts—Circumstances negativing collusion—Suit for judicial separation.]—When there are controverted facts in a petition for judicial separation the ct. will not generally allow the case to be tried by affidavit, even in circumstances which negative any suspicion of collusion.—SUGGATE v. SUGGATE (1859), 23 J. P. 200.

4499. No answer filed—Suit for restitution of conjugal rights.]—Where no answer was filed in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, the ct. allowed the petition to be proved by affidavit.—FORD v. FORD (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 86.

SECT. 13.—COMMISSIONS TO TAKE EVIDENCE.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 39; &, generally, EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 592, Nos. 6511 et seq.

4500. Preferable to evidence by affidavit—Proof of adultery.]—The Divorce Ct. has a discretion, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 46, to allow affidavit evidence of adultery in exceptional circumstances, but as a general rule should not allow it.

A wife petitioned for divorce on the grounds of desertion & adultery by her husband. She alleged that he was living with a woman, who passed as his wife in New York. The case was undefended. The wife asked for leave to prove the adultery in New York by affidavit evidence of two persons resident there to save the expense of a commission, as she was of limited means. The judge refused the application, & declined to exercise his discretion under the Act, because he disapproved of the recent practice of allowing adultery to be proved by affidavit evidence:—Held: in the circumstances, the judge was justified in refusing leave; &, further, if evidence were to be taken of absent persons, evidence given on commission would be preferable to affidavit evidence.—GAYER v. GAYER, [1917] P. 64; 86 L. J. P. 73; 116 L. T. 322; 33 T. L. R. 182; 61 Sol. Jo. 251, C. A.
Annotations :—Expld. Goodman v. Goodman & Pinfield, [1920] P. 67. Mentd. Laidler v. Laidler (1920), 90 L. J. P. 28.

Proof by affidavit, see Sect. 12, ante.

4501. In what proceedings—Husband's petition for damages only.]—NORTON v. MELBOURNE (LORD), No. 4504, post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—AFFIDAVITS IN SUPPORT OF APPLICATION.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 39.

4502. Necessity for—Affidavit showing legal necessity for examination.]—In a suit for a divorce, a party, alleged to be a necessary witness, about to leave the country, not allowed to be examined de bene esse, without an affidavit, showing a legal necessity for some examination.—BOODE v. BOODE (1847), 5 Notes of Cases, 385.

4503. —— Affidavit showing urgency.]—On being satisfied by affidavit that the matter was urgent, the ct., before service of citation, gave to a wife petitioner leave to send out a commission to examine witnesses abroad at her own expense, subject to the admissibility of such evidence at the trial, & reserved the question of costs.—VALLENTINE v. VALLENTINE, [1901] P. 283; 70 L. J. P. 89; 17 T. L. R. 564; sub nom. VALENTINE v. VALENTINE, 85 L. T. 171.

4504. Contents of—Efforts to procure attendance of witness at trial—Need not be stated.]—An action for crim. con. is a civil action within Evidence on Commission Act, 1831 (c. 22), s. 4, in which the ct. will grant a commission for the examination of a witness out of the jurisdiction. It is not necessary that the affidavit in support of an application for such a commission should state, that exertions have been made to procure the attendance of the witness at the trial.

The ct. granted a commission for the examination of a witness in an action for crim. con. with pltf.'s wife.—NORTON v. MELBOURNE (LORD) (1836), 3 Bing. N. C. 67; 2 Hodg. 114; 3 Scott, 398; 5 L. J. C. P. 343; 132 E. R. 335; sub nom. NORTON v. LAMB, 5 Dowl. 181.

4505. —— Witness resident abroad.]—MILLS v. MILLS, POLLAK v. POLLACK & DEANE & M'NAMARA, No. 4525, post.

SUB-SECT. 3.—WHEN ORDER MADE.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 39.

4506. General rule.]—CAMPBELL v. CAMPBELL, No. 4369, ante.

4507. Not where examination would have to be ex parte.]—An application for the examination of witnesses de bene esse, rejected.—ROBINS v. WOLSELEY (1755), 2 Lee, 149; 161 E. R. 294.
Annotation :—Mentd. Anon. (1857), Dea. & Sw. 295.

4508. Witness out of the jurisdiction.]—HOOD v. HOOD (1858), 2 Sw. & Tr. 112, n.; 161 E. R. 935.

4509. ——.]—HURLY'S DIVORCE BILL, [1908] W. N. 41, H. L.

4510. Risk of losing evidence—Witness residing in brothel.]—COOKE v. COOKE & QUAILE, No. 3930, ante.

4511. Witness about to go abroad.]—HURLY'S DIVORCE BILL, [1908] W. N. 41, H. L.

SUB-SECT. 4.—AT WHAT STAGE OF PROCEEDINGS ORDER MADE.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 39.

4512. After conclusion of pleadings.]—CAMPBELL v. CAMPBELL, No. 4369, ante.

4513. Not before issue joined.]—(1) The wife, petitioning for judicial separation on the ground of cruelty, moved for an order on the husband to deliver to petitioner, or her attorney, certain documents & papers alleged to have been taken from petitioner by the husband, & to be material

Sect. 13.—Commissions to take evidence : Sub-sects. 4, to the conduct of her petition, especially to enable her to comply with an order of the ct. for particulars of dates, etc. The husband objected to give up the papers, but was willing to allow copies to be taken. The ct. ordered the papers to be produced by resp.'s attorney to petitioner's attorney, the latter to be at liberty to take copies, & reserved the question of costs of the motion ; no application having been made to the husband before notice of motion given.

(2) Before issue joined, an application for commission to examine witnesses is premature.—SHAW v. SHAW (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 642 : 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 95 ; 7 L. T. 254 ; 164 E. R. 1147.

Annotation :—As to (2) Refd. Fitzgerald v. Fitzgerald (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 397.

4514. Before expiry of time for appearance by co-respondent—Witness dangerously ill.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage, the ct., before the time for entering an appearance by co-resp. had expired, allowed petitioner to examine a proposed witness who was dangerously ill.—STONE v. STONE & APPLETON (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 136.

4515. Before service of petition—Witness about to go abroad.]—BROWN v. BROWN, No. 4528, post.

4516. —— Risk of losing evidence.] —VALLENTINE v. VALLENTINE, No. 4503, ante.

4517. —— Saving of expense—Witness resident abroad.]—The ct. allowed a commission to issue, before service of the citation & petition for divorce, to examine witnesses at a place abroad, where resp. was, upon the ground that a great saving of expense would be thereby effected.—GRIBBON v. GRIBBON (1907), 24 T. L. R. 160 ; 52 Sol. Jo. 193.

SUB-SECT. 5.—FORM OF ORDER.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 39.

4518. Cross suits—Evidence to be admissible in both suits.]—OSBORNE v. OSBORNE, OSBORNE v. OSBORNE & MARTELLI, No. 4368, ante.

SUB-SECT. 6.—APPOINTMENT OF COMMISSIONER.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 39.

4519. By whom appointed—In absence of respondents — By court—Not petitioner.] — COOKE v. COOKE & QUAILE, No. 3930, ante.

4520. —— —— —— ——.]—When a commission to examine witnesses is granted in a suit in which no appearance has been entered, the comr. is nominated in the registry, & not by petitioner. —LODGE v. LODGE & SMYTHE (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 93.

4521. Who should be appointed—Person skilled in the law—Not shorthand writer.]—We do not think it is a normal practise to appoint a shorthand writer as a comr., &, if it is, it is a practise which ought not to be sanctioned. It is important that these commissions should be taken by a person skilled in the law, who might use such power as was vested in him in guiding & directing the examination (per CUR.).—BICKNELL v. BICKNELL, [1908] W. N. 97, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 7.—THE EXAMINATION.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 39.

4522. Notice of examination—Must be given to other side—Opportunity to attend & cross-examine.] —FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD, No. 4527, post.

SUB-SECT. 8.—RE-OPENING COMMISSIONS.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 39.

4523. Whether court will order—Addition to evidence—Alleged omission.]—A witness, on behalf of petitioner in a matrimonial suit, being about to leave this country was examined under a commission. On the next day he appeared before the comr., & asked to be allowed to add to his evidence certain material facts which he alleged he had forgotten to state, having been flurried during the examination, by the frequent personal observations & interruptions of resp. who was then present. The statement as to the misconduct of resp. was confirmed by petitioner's solr., but not by the comr., though he made an affidavit. The judge ordinary, under these circumstances, refused to allow the commission to be re-opened, that the witness might supply the alleged omission in his evidence.—BEVAN v. M'MAHON & BEVAN (FALSELY CALLED M'MAHON) (1859), 2 Sw. Tr. 50 28 L. J. P. & M. 40 ; 164 E. R. 912

SUB-SECT. 9.—ADMISSIBILITY OF EVIDENCE TAKEN ON COMMISSION.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 39.

4524. Evidence taken according to foreign law—In absence of representatives of other side.]—HERBERT (LADY) v. HERBERT (LORD) (1819), 2 Hag. Con. 263 ; 3 Phillim. 31 ; 161 E. R. 737.

Annotations : —Mentd. Harrison v. Sparrow (falsely called Harrison) (1812), 3 Curt. 1 ; R. v. Millis (1844), 10 Cl. & Fin. 534; Fenton v. Livingstone, Livingstone v. Livingstone (1859), 5 Jur. N. S. 1183 ; Beamish v. Beamish (1861), 9 H. L. Cas. 274 ; Brook v. Brook (1861), 9 H. L. Cas. 193 Ogden v. (otherwise Philip), [1908] P. 46.

4525. Proof that witness out of jurisdiction—When evidence tendered—Presumption that witness resident abroad—From affidavit in support of application.]—Proof to satisfy the ct. that a witness whose evidence has been taken abroad under a commission is out of the jurisdiction when the evidence is tendered, may be less stringent when the witness is resident abroad than when the evidence has been taken of a witness going out of the jurisdiction for a temporary purpose ; & where the affidavit to found the order for the commission had stated that the object was to examine A. B. resident abroad, & the summons was served on co-resps. :—Held : the presumption was that the witness continued abroad, unless the contrary were shown, & allowed the evidence to be used.—MILLS v. MILLS, POLLACK v. POLLACK & DEANE & M'NAMARA (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 310 ; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 183; 4 L. T. 479 ; 164 E. R. 1015.

4526. Evidence taken on commission in another suit.]—The ct. will not order that the evidence taken under a commission in a cross-suit may be used at the hearing of a suit between same parties. —HILL v. HILL (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 197.

4527. Want of sufficient notice of examination to other side.]—Where it is necessary for petitioner to establish two points in order to obtain the prayer of the petition, the ct. would not, even if dissatisfied with the verdict of the jury on one point, send that down for a new trial, because, if a different verdict were found on that point, it would not be sufficient to ground the relief prayed.

The judge ordinary had held that notice given to the opposite solr. at a quarter before two p.m. of Saturday, in London of an examination of a witness to be held at Bath at two p.m. on the following Monday, was not a reasonable & sufficient notice to enable such solr. to attend & cross-examine, & had therefore refused to admit evidence so taken. In the circumstances, the ct. refused to interfere with the ruling of the judge ordinary.—FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 400; 4 New Rep. 157; 10 L. T. 510; 164 E. R. 1330.

4528. Examination before service of citation.]—When a petition has been filed the ct. will allow witnesses who are about to go abroad to be examined before service of the citation. Qu.: whether depositions taken upon such an examination are admissible in evidence at the hearing. —BROWN v. BROWN (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 203.

4529. Commission wrongly addressed—Court ceasing to exist—Whether objection waived by cross-examining witnesses.]—In a divorce suit a commission to examine witnesses in India was issued addressed to "The judges of the Supreme Ct. at Calcutta, or such person or persons as they or one of them may depute." The Supreme Ct. at Calcutta had been abolished in 1861, & all its powers transferred to a new Ct. called "The High Ct. of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal." The witnesses were examined by a person deputed by a judge of the High Ct. at Fort William:—Held: the evidence was receivable, for the commission must be taken to be addressed to the judges of the highest ct. for the time being at Calcutta.—WILSON v. WILSON (1883), 9 P. D. 8; 49 L. T. 430; 32 W. R. 282, C. A.

4530. Consideration of divorce bill.]—Evidence taken in India on commission, & received & acted on by the Q. B. Div. of the High Ct. of Justice in Ireland, admitted to be used on the second reading of an Irish divorce bill.—JONES' DIVORCE BILL, [1899] A. C. 348, H. L.

4531. ——.]—HURLY'S DIVORCE BILL, [1908] W. N. 41 H. L.

SUB-SECT. 10.—SECURITY FOR COSTS.

See, generally, Sect. 9, sub-sect. 4, ante.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1921, r. 39 (B).

4532. Wife's costs.]—£30 ordered to be paid by the husband into the registry, towards defraying the expenses of interrogatories of the wife, before a requisition was allowed to issue to Ireland, to examine witnesses on an allegation.—FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD (LADY) (1756), 2 Lee, 312; 161 E. R. 352.

4533. —— Conditional grant of commission—Payment into registry by husband.]—HOOD v. HOOD (1858), 2 Sw. & Tr. 112, n.; 164 E. R. 935.

4534. ——.]—The ct. having, with the consent of the husband & wife, made an order for a joint commission to issue for the examination of witnesses at Rome, directed the husband to advance to the wife a sum, the amount to be settled by the registrar, to enable her to defray her expenses of the commission.—BAILY v. BAILY & DELLA ROCCA (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 112; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 47; 164 E. R. 935.

4535. —— Petition for alimony pendente lite.]—In a petition for alimony pendente lite, the ct. ordered a commission to issue to examine witnesses in Scotland, as to the husband's faculties, but it declined to make an order on the husband to give security for the wife's costs for the commission.—WILSON v. WILSON & HOWELL (1871), 26 L. T. 107; previous proceedings, L. R. 2 P. & D. 292.

SECT. 14.—STAY OF PROCEEDINGS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 20.

4536. What operates as a stay—Appeal from interlocutory order.]—To a petition for dissolution of marriage resp. appeared absolutely, co-resp. under protest. Resp. then filed an answer, in which she merely stated facts to show that the ct. had no jurisdiction to entertain the suit. The ct. ordered the answer to be removed from the file, unless within a fortnight resp. amended it by pleading to the merits as well as to the jurisdiction. Resp. failed to amend her answer within the time allowed her, & appealed to the full ct. from the order:—Held: the appeal did not operate as a stay of proceedings, & directions were given for the mode of trial of the suit.—WILSON v. WILSON & HOWELL (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 292; 40 L. J. P. & M. 58: 25 L. T. 206; 19 W. R. 1072; subsequent proceedings, 26 L. T. 107.

4537. Appeal from order refusing—Application for leave—Election of remedies.]—The practice of staying proceedings for restitution under Divorce Rules, r. 176, on a summons by resp. is suitable only where the case ought not to be allowed to proceed in the usual course. It ought not to be adopted in cases where the ct. is satisfied that there is an issue fit to be tried whether resp. has deserted petitioner, or whether petitioner has been guilty of misconduct which should deprive him or her of the right to trial.

You must make your election either to file an answer & to defend the suit, or to appeal from my decision. I shall not stay the proceedings to facilitate an appeal from what is in my view a pure matter of discretion (DUKE, P.).—BARCROFT v. BARCROFT, [1921] P. 435; 90 L. J. P. 374; 126 L. T. 113; 37 T. L. R.

SUB-SECT. 2.—WHEN ORDERED.

A. In General.

4538. True bill found against witness for perjury—At former hearing.]—KENRICK v. KENRICK, No. 2758, ante.

4539. Reconciliation of parties—After decree nisi.]—After a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage at the suit of the wife had been pronounced, the wife renewed marital intercourse with her husband & informed her attorney that she did not wish any further proceedings to be taken in the suit. Upon an application by the husband to dismiss the petition, the ct. declined to accede to it, but said that, if both parties consented, it would order all proceedings in the suit to be stayed.—LEWIS v. LEWIS (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 394; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 199; 4 L. T. 772; 7 Jur. N. S. 831; 164 E. R. 1048.

Annotations:—Refd. Laxton v. Laxton (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 208; Ousey v. Ousey (1875), 1 P. D. 56; Rutter v. Rutter (No. 2), [1921] P. 421.

PART XIII. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 9.

4530 i. Consideration of divorce bill.]—The House gave leave for evidence taken on commission to be read, & dispensed with the attendance of the witnesses examined on commission.—CARBERY DIVORCE BILL, [1920] 2 I. R. 345.—IR.

Sect. 14.—Stay of proceedings: Sub-sect. 2, A. & B. Sect. 15: Sub-sect. 1, A. & B.]

4540. Restitution suit—Respondent willing to return to cohabitation.]—CROTHERS v. CROTHERS, No. 4023, ante.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 20.

Effect of separation by mutual consent—Or covenant in deed not to sue.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 1, F. (c), (d), ante.

Cross-suits—Same issues raised—Consolidation.]—See No. 4368, ante.

Proceedings to dissolve marriage pending abroad.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., p. 478, Nos. 1321 et seq.

B. Non-Compliance with Orders of Court.

Enforcement of orders of court, see, generally, Sect. 23, post.

4541. Discretion of court—How exercised.]—LEAVIS v. LEAVIS, No. 5915, post.

4542. Failure to give security for costs.]—(1) The inability of the husband, resp. in a matrimonial suit, to deposit in the registry, or give security for a sum of money to defray the wife's costs of the hearing pursuant to order, is no ground for refusing an attachment against him for non-compliance with the order.

(2) When the husband is petitioner, & does not comply with such an order, the ct. will stay the suit.

(3) Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32, empowers the ct. in a suit for dissolution of marriage, to make such an order as to the wife's costs of the hearing, as it may make in a suit for judicial separation.—HEPWORTH v. HEPWORTH (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 414; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 18; 5 L. T. 365; 10 W. R. 195; 164 E. R. 1057.

Annotation :—Ads. to (1) Consd. Osborne v. Osborne & Martelle, Osborne v. Osborne (1863), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 38.

4543. ——.]—At the trial of a petition by a husband for divorce, the jury disagreed, & were discharged without giving a verdict. Before & during the hearing the wife had obtained the usual orders for security for her costs of the trial, & a sum of £45 had been paid into ct. The husband now proposed to have the petition retried, though he had not paid the balance of the wife's taxed costs not covered by the £45 in ct.:—Held: there was jurisdiction to stay all further proceedings by the husband until the whole of the wife's taxed costs had been paid or secured, & security given for the wife's further costs of the retrial.—KEMP-WELCH v. KEMP-WELCH & CRYMES, [1910] P. 233; 79 L. J. P. 92; 102 L. T. 787; 26 T. L. R. 461, C. A.

Annotations :—Apld. Sanders v. Sanders, [1911] P. 101; Waite v. Waite & Muir (1916), 32 T. L. R. 432. Consd. Silver v. Silver & Grenfell, [1924] P. 163. Refd. Abrahams v. Buckley, [1924] 1 K. B. 903.

4544. ——.]—SILVER v. SILVER & GRENFELL, [1924] P. 163; 93 L. J. P. 53; 130 L. T. 719, C. A.

Security for costs, see, generally, Sect. 9, sub-sect. 4, ante.

4545. Failure to pay wife's costs.]—Where a party to a suit has failed to obey an order for the payment of costs, the ct. will not upon his application give judgment until the costs be paid, or a valid reason for their non-payment be given.—CHICHESTER v. MURE (FALSELY CALLED CHICHESTER) (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 120; 11 W. R. 686.

Annotation :—Apld. Keane v. Keane (1873), L. R. 3 P. & D.

4546. ·.]—(1) Where the wife, petitioner did not appear on the day of hearing, the ct., before dismissing the petition, required that a rule to show cause should be first served upon her, & intimated that in all such cases that practice should be followed.

(2) If in a matrimonial suit the wife be unable to go to trial in consequence of the non-payment of her costs by the husband, she should either apply at chambers to have the case stand over, or appear in ct. on the day of hearing & state her inability to proceed.—CURTIS v. CURTIS (1868), 38 L. J. P. & M. 9; 19 L. T. 610.

4547. ——.]—LEAVIS v. LEAVIS, No. 5915, post.

4548. —— Bankruptcy of husband.]—Where an order was made that the suit be stayed until the wife's costs were paid, the ct. held that the subsequent bkpcy. of petitioner did not cancel or vacate it, & refused to allow the petition to be heard until resp. was put in a position to defend herself. Semble: the ct. would also so rule under similar circumstances (bkpcy. of petitioner, & want of means by resp.) even though no order as to the wife's costs had been made.—MORRIS v. MORRIS & MORRIS (1867), 15 L. T. 545.

4549. —— Admission of husband as pauper suitor.]—Upon a husband's petition for divorce, the solr. for the wife incurred costs which were taxed, & ordered to be paid: but after the pleadings were closed & before the cause was set down, petitioner, without paying them, applied for & obtained leave to proceed in formâ pauperis. The wife's solr. thereupon took out a summons before the judge in chambers, calling upon petitioner to show cause why further proceedings should not be stayed by reason of petitioner not having complied with the order for payment of resp.'s taxed costs. The registrar who taxed the bill had refused to order a stay of proceedings in the event of the amount not being paid by petitioner. The judge ordered proceedings to be stayed until payment of the wife's taxed costs.—JOSEPH v. JOSEPH & BURNHILL (1897), 76 L. T. 236.

Annotations :—Apld. Kemp-Welch v. Kemp-Welch & Crymes, [1910] P. 233. Refd. Jinks v. Jinks, [1911] P. 120.

4550. Where non-payment due to wife's delay.]—Where the wife's costs for the hearing had not been paid into ct. owing to her own delay in filing a bill for taxation, the ct. refused to postpone the trial, or to make any special order to secure her costs after the verdict had gone against her.—BRIDGMAN v. BRIDGMAN & PUCKRIN (1869), 20 L. T. 87.

Annotation :—Refd. Franklin v. Franklin & Minshall, [1921] P. 407.

4551. Expenses of enforcement of order-Order staying proceedings not extended to.]—Resp. having obtained an order upon petitioner to pay to her or her attorney a certain amount of taxed costs, endeavoured to enforce such order by a writ of fi. fa., but failed in recovering them. The ct. ordered the proceedings in the divorce suit to be stayed until the taxed costs had been paid by petitioner, but would not extend the order to the expenses incurred in the suing out & execution of the writ of fi. fa.—KEANE v. KEANE (1873), L. R. 3 P. & D. 52; 42 L. J. P. & M. 12; 27 L. T. 768; 21 W. R. 248.

Annotation :—Consd. Kemp-Welch v. Kemp-Welch & Crymes, [1910] P. 233.

4552. —— Costs in former suit.]—Non-payment of the costs of a suit for dissolution of marriage, in which the husband, petitioner, has failed, is not a ground for staying proceedings in a suit by him for dissolution on the ground of fresh adultery.—YEATMAN v. YEATMAN & RUMMELL (1869), 39 L. J. P. & M. 37; 21 L. T. 647; 18 W. R. 232.

Annotations:—Consd. Sanders v. Sanders, [1911] P. 101. Refd. Abdy v. Abdy (1896), 12 T. L. R. 524.

4553. —— — ·.]—KEMP-WELCH v. KEMP-WELCH & CRYMES, No. 4543, ante.

4554. —— ——.]—A husband's petition for divorce having been dismissed with costs, which had been taxed, & part of which remained unpaid, the husband filed a second petition for divorce, the adultery alleged in the second petition being prior in date to the filing of the first petition but with different co-resps.:—Held: all proceedings in the second petition ought to be stayed until the husband had paid the wife's costs of the first petition.

Adultery with a different co-resp. is not a different cause of action.—SANDERS v. SANDERS, [1911] P. 101; 80 L. J. P. 41; 104 L. T. 231; 55 Sol. Jo. 312, C. A.

Annotation Expld. Silver v. Silver & Grenfell, [1921] P. 163.

4555. —— - —.]—WAITE v. WAITE & MUIR, No. 5225, post.

4556. —— —— Election to proceed to new trial on compliance with order for security.]—A wife, resp. to a petition for divorce upon which the jury have disagreed, is entitled to have proceedings in a second trial stayed until her costs of the abortive trial are paid. But she may waive this right by causing her husband to change his position. She does not however waive it if, on her application to dismiss the petition for want of prosecution, she accepts an order for securing the payment of the costs of a second trial without mention of the unpaid costs of the abortive trial.—SILVER v. SILVER & GRENFELL, [1921] P. 163; 93 L. J. P. 53; 130 L. T. 719, C. A.

4557. Failure of wife to pay costs—Of former suit.]—The ct. refused to stay proceedings in a wife's suit for judicial separation on the ground of desertion, though the wife had not paid the costs of a former suit for judicial separation on the ground of adultery.—ABDY v. ABDY (1896), 12 T. L. R. 524.

Annotations:—Expld. Bishop v. Bishop, [1901] P. 325. Consd. Sanders v. Sanders, [1911] P. 101.

4558. Disobedience of order as to custody.]—CAVENDISH v. CAVENDISH & No. 5234, Custody of children, see Sect. 9, sub-sect. 3, A., ante.

4559. Failure to pay alimony.]—LEAVIS v. LEAVIS, No. 5915, post.

4560. —— Order made in another suit.]—A suit for divorce brought by the husband was stayed by the ct. owing to non-compliance with an order for alimony, pendente lite, obtained by the wife in a subsequent suit for judicial separation, she having by act on petition raised the question of jurisdiction in answer to the husband's suit.—P. v. P. & T. (1910), 26 T. L. R. 607; 54 Sol. Jo. 683.

Alimony, generally, see Sect. 9, sub-sect. 1, ante; sect. 22, sub-sect. 1, post.

SECT. 15.—DISPOSING OF CAUSES.

SUB-SECT. 1.—BY ABATEMENT ON DEATH OF PARTIES.

A. In General.

4561. Nullity suit.]—Suit in the Spiritual Ct. to annul an incestuous marriage, pending which one of the parties dies, prohibition shall go as to annulling the marriage.—HINKS v. HARRIS (1693), Carth. 271; 4 Mod. Rep. 182; 90 E. R. 760; sub nom. HICKS v. HARRIS, Comb. 200; 12 Mod. Rep. 35; sub nom. HARRIS v. HICKS, 2 Salk. 548.

Annotations:—Expld. Brownsword v. Edwards (1751), 2 Ves. Sen. 243. Consd. R. v. Chadwick (1846), 11 J. P. 140. Refd. Ray v. Sherwood & Ray (1836), 1 Curt. 193. Mentd. R. v. Dibdin, [1910] P. 57.

4562. ——.]—The rule that H. shall not be bastardised after his death, holds only in the case of bastard eigne & mulier puisne. Spiritual Ct. cannot give sentence to annul marriage after parties are dead, because they proceed only pro salute animæ.—PRIDE v. BATH (EARL) & MONTAGUE (EARL) (1695), 1 Salk. 120; 3 Lev. 410; 91 E. R. 113.

Annotation:—Mentd. Pendrell v. Pendrell (1732), 2 Stra. 925.

4563. ——.]—Ecclesiastical ct. cannot annul marriage after death of one party as it bastardises the issue, but may punish the other for incest or fornication.—BROWNSWORD v. EDWARDS (1751), 2 Ves. Sen. 243; 28 E. R. 157, L. C.

Annotations:—Mentd. Doe d. Fonnereau v. Fonnereau (1780), 2 Doug. K. B. 487; Doe d. Wheedon v. Lea (1789), 3 Term Rep. 41; Doe d. Usher v. Jessep (1810), 12 East, 288; Doe d. Harris v. Howell (1829), 10 B. & C. 191; Malcolm v. Taylor (1832), 2 Russ. & M. 416; Doe d. Cadogan v. Ewart (1838), 7 Ad. & El. 636; Anon. (1817), 9 L. T. O. S. 168; Mortimer v. Hartley (1848), 6 C. B. 819; Spooner v. Payne (1849), 2 De G. & Sm. 439; Mortimer v. Hartley (1851), 3 De G. & Sm. 316; Mortimer v. Hartley (1851), 6 Exch. 47; Key v. Key (1853), 4 De G. M. & G. 73; Pearson v. Rutter (1853), 3 De G. M. & G. 398; Roberts v. Berry (1853), 3 De G. M. & G. 284; Evans v. Evans (1851), 23 L. J. Ch. 827; Grey v. Pearson (1857), 6 H. L. Cas. 61; Seccombe v. Edwards (1860), 28 Beav. 410; Cochrane v. Willis (1861), 4 De G. J. & Sm. 229; Collingwood v. Russell (1864), 5 New Rep. 1; Lautour v. A.-G. (1865), 5 New Rep. 231; Re Sanders' Trusts (1866), L. R. 1 Eq. 675; Finlason v. Tatlock (1870), L. R. 9 Eq. 258; Reed v. Braithwaite (1871), L. R. 11 Eq. 514; In the Goods of Crippen (1911), 80 L. J. P. 47.

4564. —— Brought by father—Death of father before trial—Whether widow & executrix entitled to continue.]—Under Poor Relief Act, 1601 (c. 2), s. 7, it has been decided that a father has sufficient interest to institute a civil suit to establish the nullity of his daughter's marriage; but where a father died after such suit instituted, & pleadings finished, but before trial:—Held: the ct. had no authority to allow the widow & executrix of the father to take up the suit at the point at which it was left by the father's death.—BEVAN v. MCMAHON & BEVAN (FALSELY CALLED MCMAHON) (1859), 2 Sw. & Tr. 58; 28 L. J. P. & M. 127; 2 L. T. 255; 23 J. P. 472; 5 Jur. N. S. 686; 8 W. R. 453; 164 E. R. 913.

B. Death of Petitioner.

4565. Death after decree nisi—Application to make decree absolute—By guardian of children—To secure variation of settlements.]—G. obtained a decree nisi for dissolution against his wife, & died before it could be made absolute. The petition prayed the ct. to deal with a post-nuptial marriage

PART XIII. SECT. 14, SUB-SECT. 2. B.

4559 i. Failure to pay alimony.]—Where a petition for divorce a mensâ et thoro was brought by a wife, & also a cross-petition by the husband, & the latter had not complied with an order for alimony made in the wife's petition, the ct. stayed the husband's cross-petition in which the wife's adultery was alleged.—ANNESLEY v. ANNESLEY (1913), 47 I. L. T. 38.—IR.

4559 ii. —— .]—Where pltf. in an action for divorce had been ordered to pay alimony, pendente lite, to deft., & was in arrear with payments recently due, the ct., on deft.'s application, stayed all proceedings in such action until the arrears were paid.—BERRY v. BERRY (1924), 45 N. L. R. 161.—S. AF.

Sect. 15.—Disposing of causes: Sub-sect. 1, B., C.,

settlement; & the guardian of the minor children of petitioner prayed to be allowed to intervene for the purpose of making the decree nisi absolute, & of obtaining an order of the ct. in respect of the settlement:—Held: the suit had abated by the death of petitioner, & no other party had any right to move in the matter.—GRANT v. GRANT & BOWLES & PATTISON (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 522; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 174; 6 L. T. 660; 164 E. R. 1099.

Annotations:—Folld. Stanhope v. Stanhope (1886), 11 P. D. 103. Refd. Chichester v. Mure (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 146.

4566. —— —— By personal representatives.]—A husband who had obtained a decree nisi for dissolution of his marriage died before the time for making it absolute had arrived:—Held: the legal personal representative of the husband could not revive the suit for the purpose of applying to make the decree absolute.—STANHOPE v. STANHOPE (1886), 11 P. D. 103; 55 L. J. P. 36; 54 L. T. 906; 50 J. P. 276; 34 W. R. 446; 2 T. L. R. 447, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Dunn v. Dunn (1888), 13 P. D. 91; Arnison v. Smith (1889), 58 L. J. Ch. 335; Thomson v. Thomson & Rodschinka, [1896] P. 263; Evans v. Evans & Blyth, [1904] P. 378; Re Stillwell, Brodrick v. Stillwell, [1916] 1 Ch. 365.

4567. Death after decree absolute—Order for costs against co-respondent—Enforcement by executors.]—Petitioner obtained a decree absolute for dissolution of marriage. Co-resp. was condemned in costs, but as he was out of the jurisdiction, no application was made for an order for taxation. Petitioner died after the decree absolute. On the return of co-resp. to this country, after a lapse of more than six years, the ct. made an order for the taxation of costs against him, on the application of the exor. of petitioner.—HAWKS v. HAWKS & FENWICK (1876), 1 P. D. 137; 45 L. J. P. 41; 34 L. T. 659; 24 W. R. 489.

4568. —— Continuance of suit by executors—To vary settlements.]—THOMSON v. THOMSON & RODSCHINKA, No. 5596, post.

Variation of settlements.]—See Sect. 22, sub-sect. 5, post.

C. Death of Respondent.

4569. General rule—Whether petition & affidavit removed from file.]—A petition for dissolution of marriage abates on the death of resp., but the ct. will not, on the application of petitioner, order that the petition & affidavit in support be removed from the file.—BROCAS v. BROCAS (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 383; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 172; 5 L. T. 137; 164 E. R. 1044.

4570. Effect on claim for damages—Against co-respondent—Distinct causes of action.]—In a petition by a husband for the dissolution of his marriage, damages were claimed against co-resp. in respect of his alleged adultery with resp. After the petition & citations had been duly served upon resp. & co-resp., resp. died:—Held: although the claim for divorce had abated by the death of resp., the claim for damages against co-resp. had not abated, &, therefore, petitioner was entitled to proceed in respect of that claim.—M. v. M. & A. (1910), 26 T. L. R. 305; 54 Sol. Jo. 309.

Annotations:—Consd. Stocker v. Stocker, Brice & Patterson, [1917] P. 264. Folld. Monsell v. Monsell & Cain, [1922] P. 34. Consd. Kent v. Atkinson, [1923] P. 142.

4571. —— ——.]—(1) On a husband's petition for dissolution of marriage a decree nisi was made on Apr. 19, 1921, with an order for co-resp. to pay £600 damages into ct. This sum was paid in, but resp. died before decree absolute. The husband took out a summons for payment out to him of the damages:—Held: the claim for divorce against the wife & the claim for damages against co-resp. were distinct causes of action, & the latter had not abated on the death of resp.

(2) As a matter of procedure the ct. can only deal with the damages after decree absolute. In this case six months having elapsed since the decree nisi, petitioner was given liberty to apply in chambers as to the distribution of the damages without further notice to co-resp.

(3) Leave was also given for the infant children of the marriage to attend on this application, on an undertaking by their solr. to be responsible for costs.—MONSELL v. MONSELL & CAIN, [1922] P. 34; 91 L. J. P. 33; 126 L. T. 541; 38 T. L. R. 197.

Annotation:—As to (1) Consd. Kent v. Atkinson, [1923] P. 142.

D. Death of Co-Respondent.

4572. Death while suit pending—Dismissal from suit.]—Semble:—when co-resp. dies pending a suit for dissolution of marriage, a motion should be made for leave to strike his name out of the proceedings.—SUTTON v. SUTTON & PEACOCK (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 156.

4573. —— ——.]—When co-resp. named in a petition dies after the commencement of the proceedings, the right form of application to be made by petitioner is to strike his name out of the suit.—WALPOLE v. WALPOLE & CHAMBERLAIN, [1901] P. 86; 70 L. J. P. 23; 84 L. T. 63; 17 T. L. R. 113.

4574. —— —— Trial of charges.]—In a husband's petition for divorce an appearance was entered for co-resp. L. Shortly thereafter L. died, & an order was made that he should be dismissed from the suit:—Held: notwithstanding that order, the charge of adultery by resp. with L. could be gone into at the trial.—WIGGLESWORTH v. WIGGLESWORTH, BENNETT & SMITH (1911), 27 T. L. R. 463.

4575. Liability of estate—For petitioner's costs—Petitioner appointed receiver—Opportunity for administration by widow.]—WADDELL v. WADDELL & CRAIG, No. 5983, post.

4576. —— For damages.]—BRYDGES v. BRYDGES & WOOD, No. 5904, post.

E. Wife's Costs and Alimony.

Security for costs, see Sect. 9, sub-sect. 4, ante.

Orders for costs on final decree, see Sect. 18, post.

4577. Death of husband—Liability of estate—Payment into court.]—Where a husband, resp. in divorce proceedings, died on the eve of the trial, an order for the wife's costs, limited to the amount lodged in ct., was afterwards made against the husband's exors., to whom leave was given to attend the taxation.—CUNNINGHAM v. CUNNINGHAM (1897), 77 L. T. 405.

Annotations:—Distd. Maconochie v. Maconochie, Maconochie v. Maconochie & Blake (1916), 86 L. J. P. 10; Coleman v. Coleman & Simpson, [1920] P. 71.

4578. No order for security obtained in husband's lifetime.]—Upon the death of a husband, a party in a consolidated matrimonial suit, the causes of action being purely personal, the suit abates; & the Divorce Div. has no jurisdiction to entertain an application against the legal personal representative of the deceased husband in respect of taxation & payment of the wife's costs of suit, where no taxation or order for security of those costs had been applied for or made by the wife against the husband during his lifetime.—MACONOCHIE v. MACONOCHIE, MACONOCHIE v. MACONOCHIE & BLAKE, [1916] P. 326; 86 L. J. P. 10; 115 L. T. 790; 33 T. L. R. 50; 61 Sol. Jo. 57.

Annotation:—Apld. Coleman v. Coleman & Simpson, [1920] P. 71.

4579. —— —— Death before obedience to order for security.]—Where in a suit brought by a husband for divorce an order has been made that the husband shall pay his wife's taxed costs & pay into ct., or give security for money towards her future costs, & the husband dies before the order has been obeyed, the ct. has no jurisdiction to enforce payment against his exors. In such a case the suit is at end & there is nothing in the Divorce Acts or in the practice of the ct. to enable it to be revived or the petitioner's exors. to be brought before the ct.—COLEMAN v. COLEMAN & SIMPSON, [1920] P. 71; 89 L. J. P. 107; 122 L. T. 801; 36 T. L. R. 255.

4580. Death of wife—Orders for costs & alimony—Enforcement by executors.]—A wife presented a petition for divorce, & the husband was ordered to pay alimony pendente lite & to pay the taxed costs up to a certain stage. The wife died before the petition was heard. Her exors. applied to be added as petitioners so as to enable them to enforce the above orders. The ct. refused to make the order.—SCHENCK v. SCHENCK (1908), 21 T. L. R. 739; 52 Sol. Jo. 551.

BY DISMISSAL OR WITHDRAWAL OF PETITION.

A. In General.

4581. Case not established against respondents—No appearance or further steps by petitioner—Dismissal on motion of co-respondent—Petitioner condemned in costs.]—At the trial of issues joined in a suit for dissolution of marriage on the ground of the wife's adultery, no one appearing on behalf of petitioner, the jury returned a verdict that resp. had not committed adultery with co-resp. No application having been afterwards made for a new trial, the ct., upon the motion of co-resp., dismissed the petition, & condemned petitioner in costs.—POTTS v. POTTS & BATEMAN (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 32; 11 W. R. 192.

4582. Petition for dissolution—Allegations ground for judicial separation only—Refusal to amend prayer.]—Where, on a petition for dissolution of marriage by a wife, the only facts which in the opinion of the ct. petitioner is at liberty to prove would be ground for a decree of judicial separation only, & petitioner refuses to amend the petition by praying for judicial separation, the petition must be dismissed.—ROWLEY v. ROWLEY (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 137; 34 L. J. P. M. A. 97; 12 L. T. 505; 11 Jur. N. S. 532; 164 R. 1468; affd. (1866), L. R. 1 Sc. & Div. 63.

Annotations:—Mentd. Brown v. Brown (1868), L. R. 7 Eq. 185; Newsome v. Newsome (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 306; Besant v. Wood (1879), 12 Ch. D. 605; Hall v. Hall & Richardson (1879), 27 W. R. 664; Rose v. Rose (1883), 8 P. D. 98; Wood v. Wood (1887), 36 W. R. 33; Coe v. Aldridge (otherwise Morton) (1888), 13 P. D. 210; McGregor v. McGregor (1888), 21 Q. B. D. 424; Gooch v. Gooch, [1893] P. 99; Balcombe v. Balcombe, [1908] P. 176.

4583. Suit improperly presented—Affidavit of wife petitioner—Dismissal stayed till after payment of wife's costs.]—A suit having been instituted on the part of a wife for a dissolution of her marriage, in which the husband had appeared & answered, an application was made on his behalf that the petition should be dismissed on an affidavit from the wife that the suit had been improperly instituted, & that she had returned to cohabitation.—The ct. ordered such application to stand over until the wife's attorney had had an opportunity to tax his costs & enforce them against resp.—DIXON v. DIXON (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 253; 40 L. J. P. & M. 38; 25 L. T. 135; 19 W. R. 787.

4584. Whether court will permit withdrawal—Without respondent's consent.]—When resp. has appeared, the ct. will not allow petitioner to withdraw the petition, unless resp. consent or has had notice of the motion.—LUTWYCHE v. LUTWYCHE & COX (1859), 28 L. J. P. & M. 56; 5 Jur. N. S. 76.

4585. —— Issues coming on for trial before jury.]—RYDER v. RYDER, No. 4586, ante.

B. For Want of Prosecution.

(a) In General.

4586. Dismissal by consent—Whether agreement made order of court.]—When issues raised in a suit for dissolution of marriage come on for trial by a jury, petitioner will not be allowed to withdraw the record; but on his application, if there is no opposition by the other parties, the petition will be dismissed. When by agreement between the parties a petition for dissolution of marriage is dismissed, the ct. will not allow such agreement to be made an order of ct. for the purpose of enforcing its terms.—RYDER v. RYDER (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 164.

(b) The Application to 4587. Notice of application—Must be given by applicant—Unless application by consent.]—LUTWYCHE v. LUTWYCHE & COX, No. 4584, ante.

4588. —— —— Notice of abandonment given to applicant.]—Where a notice was given by petitioner's solr. to the solrs. of resp. & co-resp. of the abandonment of the petition, the ct., on a motion made on the part of resp. & co-resp., supported by an affidavit of service of notice of motion on petitioner's solrs., dismissed the petition & condemned petitioner in resp.'s & co-resp. costs.—SYMONS v. SYMONS & PIKE (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 435; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 84; 6 L. T. 163; 10 W. R. 449; 164 E. R. 1065.

4589. —— —— Rescission of decree nisi.]—In a suit for dissolution at the instance of the wife a decree nisi had been pronounced, but subsequently the parties came together again, & on the wife's application the decree nisi was rescinded on proof that notice had been given to the husband.—TROWARD v. TROWARD (1884), 32 W. R. 864.

4590. Mode of application—By rule nisi.]—

PART XIII. SECT. 15, SUB-SECT. 2.—A.

f. Petition for dissolution—Withdrawal after hearing & before decree.]—A petitioner in a divorce suit may, with the leave of the ct., withdraw the petition after the hearing & before a decree has been pronounced, & the ct. should not refuse leave to withdraw it unless resp. has some rights in the suit which the withdrawal would affect. Resp. has no right to ask that a decree of divorce shall be pronounced.

Leave granted to a petitioning wife to withdraw her petition, after hearing & before decree pronounced, on payment to resp. husband of his taxed costs, as between solr. & client, of the suit & of all proceedings in it, including the summons for leave to withdraw.—ALLARDICE v. ALLARDICE (1904), 23 N. Z. L. R. 926.—N.Z.

g. —— Whether notice of discontinuance effective.]—A divorce suit cannot be effectively discontinued by the filing of notice of discontinuance as usual in civil actions.—TAIT v. TAIT (1907), 27 N. Z. L. R. 220.—N.Z.

Sect. 15.—Disposing of causes: Sub-sect. 2, B. (b), (c), (d) & (e); sub-sect. 3.

The ct. refused to grant a rule calling on petitioner to show cause why co-resp. should not be dismissed from a suit for dissolution of marriage, on the ground that it had not been prosecuted with due diligence, but granted a rule nisi for the dismissal of the petition on that ground.—HANCOCK v. HANCOCK & SMITH (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 334; 36 L. J. P. & M. 86.

4591. —— By summons in chambers.]—An application to dismiss a petition for dissolution by consent ought now to be made by summons in chambers & not by motion in open ct.—SLATER v. SLATER & BOLDERSON (1900), 69 L. J. P. 48.

(c) When Order for Dismissal made.

4592. No appearance by petitioner at hearing.]—If at the hearing no one appears on behalf of petitioner, resp. has a right to have the petition dismissed.—DESMAREST v. DESMAREST (1861), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 34.

4593. —— Evidence of petitioner's intention not to go on with suit.]—Where petitioner fails to appear at the hearing, the ct. will either grant a rule nisi to dismiss the petition, or if information be laid before it tending to show that petitioner does not intend to go on with his suit, will dismiss it at once.—ROUND v. ROUND, GINN v. GINN (1869), 20 L. T. 87.

4594. —— ——.]—CLARK v. CLARK, No. 4757, post.

4595. Delay in prosecution.]—If petitioner delay filing the record & setting down the cause as ready for trial for the space of one month from the final settling of the record, resp. may file the record & set the cause down as ready for trial; or resp. may take a rule to show cause why the petition should not be dismissed.—STUART v. STUART (1862), 3 Sw. & Tr. 219; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 110; 8 L. T. 703; 11 W. R. 463; 161 E. R. 1258.

4596. ——.]—HANCOCK v. HANCOCK & SMITH, No. 4590, ante.

Undue delay as discretionary bar to relief, see Sect. 7, sub-sect. 4, B., ante.

4597. Reconciliation between parties.]—Where the wife has petitioned against the husband & the proceedings are ended, before hearing, by her return to cohabitation, the petition will be dismissed, on the husband's application, only on payment of taxed costs.—COOPER v. COOPER (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 392; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 71; 164 E. R. 1327.

Annotations:—Folld. Warwick v. Warwick (1901), 45 Sol. Jo. 639. Consd. Leavis v. Leavis, [1921] P. 299.

4598. ——.]—If the parties return to cohabitation whilst a matrimonial suit is pending, the petition will not necessarily be struck out of the list for want of prosecution whilst the costs of petitioner's solr. are unpaid. The proper course is for the case to be put into the reserved list.—WARWICK v. WARWICK (1901), 85 L. T. 173; 17 T. L. R. 632; 45 Sol. Jo. 639.

Annotation:—Refd. Jinks v. Jinks, [1911] P. 120.

4599. —— Lapse of twenty years—Attempt to revive suit.]—SCHARRER v. SCHARRER (1909), Times, July 7, C. A.

4600. Failure to apply to have decree made absolute.]—Where a resp. husband asks that a wife shall elect to have a decree nisi made absolute, or have her petition dismissed, the decree nisi may be made absolute on the husband providing the necessary costs.—GOLD v. GOLD (1908), 52 Sol. Jo. 715.

4601. —— Pendency of petition for maintenance.]—The wife obtained, in Feb. 1889, a decree nisi for the dissolution of her marriage. She afterwards petitioned for permanent maintenance, & that petition was still pending; the registrar not having, as yet, reported thereon. In Apr. 1889, the husband applied to have the divorce suit dismissed for want of prosecution, in that petitioner had not applied to have the decree nisi made absolute:—Held: the pendency of the proceedings for maintenance was a valid excuse for the delay, & the motion was dismissed with costs.—SOUTHERN v. SOUTHERN (1890), 62 L. T. 5.

(d) Form and Contents of Order.

4602. Form—Rule nisi in the first instance—Delay in prosecuting suit.]—HANCOCK v. HANCOCK & SMITH, No. 4590, ante.

4603. —— —— No appearance by petitioner.]—CURTIS v. CURTIS, No. 4546, ante.

4604. —— —— Unless clear evidence of petitioner's intention not to proceed.]—ROUND v. ROUND, GINN v. GINN, No. 4593, ante.

4605. Contents—Recital of domicil & lex domicilii of respondent.]—CLARK v. CLARK, No. 4757, post.

Dismissal on terms.]—See Sub-sect. 2, B. (e), (e) Dismissal on Terms.

4606. Payment of wife's costs—& costs of motion.]—The ct. will not dismiss a petition by the husband for dissolution of marriage, except upon payment of the wife's taxed costs & the costs of the motion.—PEARCE v. PEARCE (1860), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 182.

4607. —— Reconciliation of parties.]—COOPER v. COOPER, No. 4597, ante.

4608. —— ——.]—WARWICK v. WARWICK, No. 4598, ante.

4609. —— ——.]—(1) A wife, petitioner in a suit for judicial separation, cannot, by merely giving notice of change of solrs., deprive the solr. who has hitherto represented her in the suit of his right to carry in his bill & tax his costs in the Divorce Div., so as to compel him to have recourse to an action at common law against the husband for necessaries.

Where the parties to a matrimonial suit have returned to cohabitation, a solr. who has acted for the wife is entitled to object to an order for dismissal of the petition unless provision is made for his costs, & the proceedings may be stayed, pending the carrying in of his bill & the taxation of his costs.

(2) The reasonableness of the items in the bill can be discussed & dealt with by the taxing officer upon the taxation in the Divorce Div.—JINKS v. JINKS, [1911] P. 120; 80 L. J. P. 84; 104 L. T. 655; 27 T. L. R. 326; 55 Sol. Jo. 366.

4610. Payment of co-respondent's costs—No

PART XIII. SECT. 15, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (c).

h. Failure to take a step in the cause—What amounts to a "step."]—The Supreme Ct. has power to dismiss a petition in divorce for want of prosecution, & a single judge will exercise that power following the ordinary practice of the ct. The costs of the motion are payable by petitioner in any event. The ct. ordered a petition to stand dismissed unless petitioner should take the next step in the suit within fourteen clear days:—Held: (1) a summons for a change of solr. is not a step in a cause; (2) a summons upon which no order is made is not a step in a cause. Semble: a summons taken out by a solr. who is not the solr. in the cause is not a step.—WHITE v. WHITE & MCLELLAND (1880), O. B. & F. 163.—N.Z.

evidence against co-respondent.]—In a suit, by a husband, for dissolution of marriage, the co-resp. appeared, but filed no answer. Upon a motion, by petitioner, for the dismissal of the petition, as against co-resp., on the ground that there was no evidence against him, it was held that the application could only be granted upon payment of co-resp.'s costs.—SMITH v. SMITH & MILLET (1864), 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 11.

4611. Payment of alimony up to time of dismissal—Delay in petitioning for alimony.]—The husband petitioned the ct. for a dissolution of his marriage, by reason of his wife's adultery. In her answer the wife denied such adultery & made counter-charges against petitioner of adultery & cruelty, which he denied, & directions were given as to the mode of trial of the facts in issue. Petitioner then moved for leave to withdraw the petition on payment of the wife's costs. A few days before the motion was made, resp. filed a petition for alimony:—Held: if a wife use due diligence in claiming alimony, the husband will not be allowed to withdraw his petition until he has paid the alimony allotted to her up to the time of the withdrawal; but if the wife delay to present her petition up to the last moment, so that the husband has not had time to answer it, the ct. will not refuse to allow him to withdraw, until he has filed an answer to such petition, & paid what the ct. may allot upon it.—TWISLETON v. TWISLETON & KELLY (1872), L. R. 2 P. & D. 339; 26 L. T. 265; 20 W. R. 448.

Alimony pendente lite.]—See Sect. 9, sub-sect. 1,

3.- COMPROMISE OF PRO

Authority of counsel to consent, compromise or refer, see BARRISTERS, Vol. III., p. 339, Nos. 291 et seq.

4612. Whether binding on petitioner—Agreement to accept separation deed—Reference to adjust terms—Absence of fraud or mistake.]—(1) Where a wife, petitioner in a suit for a judicial separation, had entered into a compromise, by which the record was withdrawn from the jury, & the terms of the separation were to be settled by an arbitrator:—Held: petitioner was not at liberty to repudiate the agreement, except on the ground of fraud, or of such an error in the terms of the agreement that she ought not to be bound by it;

(2) The referee had no need to consider the question of cruelty, as the amount of permanent alimony was not varied by the amount of marital delinquency; (3) in allotting it, regard might properly be had to the status of both parties, but it could never be increased for the purpose of mulcting the guilty party.—HOOPER v. HOOPER (1861), 3 Sw. & Tr. 251; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 49; 164 E. R. 1270.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Newsome v. Newsome (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 306; Hall v. Hall & Richardson (1879), 27 W. R. 664. As to (3) Refd. Phillips v. Barnet (1876), 45 L. J. Q. B. 277.

4613. —— Petitioner agreeing to withdraw for good consideration—No fraud or duress.]—An agreement for good consideration that petitioner in a suit for dissolution of marriage will withdraw from the suit is binding, if it has not been obtained by fraud or duress.—STERBINI v. STERBINI (1870), 39 L. J. P. & M. 82; 22 L. T. 552.

4614. —— Respondent prepared to carry out terms.]—STANES v. STANES, No. 3040, ante.

4615. Validity of compromise—Agreement to withdraw on payment of sum to petitioner by co-respondent—Void as against public policy.]—An agreement, by which co-resp. to a petition by a husband for dissolution of marriage agrees to secure to petitioner a sum of money in consideration of his withdrawing from the suit, will not be enforced in equity at the suit of the husband; such an agreement being void as against public policy, & Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 33.—GIPPS v. HUME (1861), 2 John. & H. 517; 31 L. J. Ch. 37; 5 L. T. 307; 7 Jur. N. S. 1301; 70 E. R. 1163; sub nom. GIBBS v. HUME, 26 J. P. 196; 10 W. R. 38.

*Annotations:—Consd. Brown v. Brine (1875), 1 Ex. D. 5; Distd. Upton v. Henderson (1912), 106 L. T. 839.

4616. Suit on ground of wife's adultery-Compromise giving wife custody of child.]—Pltf., Mrs. H., who was the wife of deft., claimed specific performance of an agreement for a separation deed entered into upon the compromise of a suit in the Divorce Ct. which was instituted by the husband against the wife for a divorce on the ground of adultery. The agreement was signed by both husband & wife after the husband's evidence in support of his case had been heard & before the wife's defence had been commenced, & was in these terms:—"Petition & answer dismissed. Deed of separation with usual covenants; costs of preparing deed to be borne by Mr. H. Mr. H. to pay Mrs. H. for herself & child or children £150 a year quarterly. Mrs. H. to maintain the child or children. Mr. H. to pay wife's costs. In case of difference in working out these terms matter to be referred to Mr. W. & Dr. D.":- Held: (1) this ct. had power to enforce specific performance of an agreement for a separation deed & for the compromise of a suit in the Divorce Ct. without infringing Jud. Act prohibiting interference with proceedings pending in another branch of the ct.; (2) the ct. would not refuse specific performance of an agreement for a separation deed on the ground that it provided for the wife having the custody of the children; (3) the husband & wife were competent to make a binding agreement for compromise of a divorce suit, & this agreement was not too vague to be enforced by the ct.; (4) the agreement on the face of it being complete, the arbn. clause could only come into force in case of difference between the parties, & did not oust the jurisdiction of the ct. to settle the deed itself.—HART v. HART (1881), 18 Ch. D. 670; 50 L. J. Ch. 697; 45 L. T. 13; 30 W. R. 8.

Annotations:—Generally. Refd. Bradley v. Bradley (1882), 51 L. J. P. 87; Harrison v. Harrison (1887), 12 P. D. 130; Wood v. Wood (1891), 64 L. T. 586.

4617. —— Agreement by wife to withdraw countercharges—On payment by husband of wife's taxed costs—Husband guilty of adultery.]—WEEKES v. WEEKES, WEEKES v. WEEKES & MARSHALL (1905), 21 T. L. R. 227.

4618. —— Covenant by co-respondent not to come within fixed radius—Sum payable on breach—Not contrary to public policy.]—A deed of May, 1911, recited that pltf. had filed a petition for dissolution of his marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery with deft., & that it had been agreed that, in consideration of £3,000 paid to trustees, the income of which was to be paid to deft. until breach of his covenant therein contained, & from such breach the £3,000 should be held for pltf. or his wife absolutely, or for deft. if there should be no breach, further proceedings in respect of the adultery should not be taken. Deft. covenanted

k. Whether binding on petitioner.]—JORDAN v. JORDAN (1914), 6 O. W. N. 543; 17 D. L. R. 810.—CAN.

Sect. 15.—Disposing of causes: Sub-sects. 3, 4 & 5. Sect. 16: Sub-sect. 1, A., B. & C.] with pltf. & his wife that he would not during fifteen years come within a radius of ten miles of the mansion house, so long as the pltf. or his wife should continue to reside there without their written consent. Pltf. applied for dismissal of his divorce petition, & deft. admitted breach of his covenant. Pltf. claimed an injunction & payment of the £3,000:—Held: (1) the payment of the £3,000 depended entirely upon deft.'s future conduct, & was not compensation for the wrong; (2) the deed was not void as being contrary to public policy as operating as a restraint of trade, or as imposing an undue restriction upon deft.'s personal liberty, & pltf. not being put to his election between alternative remedies, & the £3,000 not being a penalty, pltf. was entitled to an injunction & to an order that the trustees should pay over to him the £3,000.—UPTON v. HENDERSON (1912), 106 L. T. 839; 28 T. L. R. 398; 56 Sol. Jo. 481.

Annotation:—Generally. Mentd. Denny's Trustee v. Denny & Warr, [1919] 1 K. B. 583.

4619. Power to make agreement rule of court—In King's Bench Division.]—An action for judicial separation in the Divorce Div. was compromised by the parties, & an agreement of compromise signed by them which provided that a separation deed should be executed; that the agreement might be made a rule of the High Ct., & that resp. should pay petitioner's taxed costs. A separation deed was afterwards executed, but resp. refused to pay the taxed costs, & the agreement was made an order of the Q. B. Div. for the purpose of enforcing payment:—Held: there was power to make the agreement an order of ct. in the Q. B. Div., & as the agreement of compromise had been reduced to an agreement to pay costs, the discretion of the ct. to make the order had been rightly exercised.—SMYTHE v. SMYTHE (1887), 18 Q. B. D. 544; 56 L. J. Q. B. 217; 56 L. T. 197; 35 W. R. 346; 3 T. L. R. 357.

Annotation:—Refd. Graves v. Graves (1893), 69 L. T. 120.

4620. —— In Divorce Division.]—In an undefended suit for judicial separation, terms were signed before the case came into the list, the parties agreeing "to an order of the ct. staying proceedings . . . upon the terms hereinbefore contained, except for the purpose of carrying out & enforcing such terms." Upon the case coming into the day's cause list & being called on, counsel for petitioner asked that the proceedings be stayed, & that the terms be filed with the object of making them a rule of ct. thereafter, if it should become necessary to do so:—Held: the ct. had jurisdiction.—HOWARD v. HOWARD (1897), 77 L. T. 140.

4621. Enforcement of compromise—Specific performance—Whether jurisdiction of court ousted by provision for reference—Wife given custody of children.]—HART v. HART, No. 4616, ante.

4622. —— By injunction.]—UPTON v. HENDERSON, No. 4618, ante.

4623. Construction of agreement—Agreement by respondent to pay taxed "costs of suit"—Whether costs of settlement of deed included.]—The parties to a wife's suit for judicial separation entered into an agreement for the settlement of it, which provided (inter alia) that a separation deed should be executed; that the husband should pay the wife's taxed "costs of suit"; & that the agreement might be made a rule of ct.:—Held: the costs of & incident to the preparation & settlement of the deed were not "costs of suit" which the husband was bound to pay.—LANCASTER v. LANCASTER, [1896] P. 118; 65 L. J. P. 34; 74 L. T. 64; 44 W. R. 440; 40 Sol. Jo. 419, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 4.—BY STRIKING OUT.

4624. When cause will be struck out—Necessary papers not filed.]—Where the papers required by the practice of the ct. to be delivered to the judge of the full ct. three days before the hearing of a cause have not been delivered the court will order the cause to be struck out of the list.—EVANS v. EVANS (1859), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 53.

4625. —— —— Minutes.]—If the minutes required by the practice of the ct. to be filed before the hearing are not so filed, the cause will be struck out of the list.—MURPHY v. MURPHY (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 162.

4626. No appearance by parties—Jury discharged.]—When a jury has been sworn to try issues in a matrimonial suit, & neither of the parties appears, the ct. will discharge the jury.—HAYDON v. HAYDON & COOKE (1860), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 112.

4627. —— Absence of petitioner & witnesses—Inadvertence.]—When a petition for divorce came on for hearing, petitioner & his witnesses, owing to an inadvertence in his solr.'s office, were not in attendance. Thereupon the ct. ordered that co-resp. should be dismissed from the suit with costs. Petitioner afterwards moved to have the order set aside. At the date of the motion the order had not been drawn up & no judgment had been sealed:—Held: as the judgment had not taken a final form the ct. had jurisdiction to set aside the order, & in the circumstances the ct. ought to do so.—GEERING v. GEERING & MOCKFORD (1921), 38 T. L. R. 109.

4628. Setting aside order to strike out—Before order drawn up & judgment sealed.]—GEERING v. GEERING & MOCKFORD, No. 4627, ante.

4629. Effect of striking out—Subsequent petition—Original petition not removed from file.]—ONSLOW v. ONSLOW, JONES & CAMPBELL, No. 4352, ante.

SUB-SECT. 5.—BY TRIAL OR HEARING.

See Sect. 16, post.

SECT. 16.—THE TRIAL OR HEARING.

SUB-SECT. 1.—MODE OF TRIAL—TRIAL BY JURY.

A. In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 30 (B).

4630. Application for—To whom made—Jurisdiction of registrar.]—SCULLY v. SCULLY, No. 4638, post.

B. In Suits for Dissolution of Marriage.

See Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 36; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 30 (B).

PART XIII. SECT. 15, SUB-SECT. 4.

1. When cause will be struck out—Of consent—Statements admittedly incorrect—Public policy.]—A petition in divorce ordered to be removed from the file, by consent of petitioner & resp., on the grounds (1) that it was admitted that the statements in it were incorrect, & (2) that it is the policy of the law that matters should not be published, even if they are true, if the publication will serve no good purpose.—P. v. P. (1904), 21 N. Z. L. R. 959.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 16, SUB-SECT. 1.—B.

m. When directed to try issues of fact.]—A jury is properly summoned under Jury Act, 1913, B. C., to try the issues of fact in a divorce action.—

4631. Power of court to direct—Though no request by either party.]—Though neither of the parties desires a jury, the ct. may still direct the issues to be tried before one. Where facts are in dispute before the full ct., it is the most convenient mode of trial; but where the principal issues were addressed to the discretion of the ct. under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, it directed the petition to be heard without a jury.—RATCLIFF v. RATCLIFF & ANDERSON (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 217; 27 L. J. P. & M. 60; 31 L. T. O. S. 269; 6 W. R. 866; 164 E. R. 700.

4632. —— Principal issues addressed to discretion of court.]—RATCLIFF v. RATCLIFF & ANDERSON, No. 4631, ante.

4633. —— ——.]—The power given to the ct. by sect. 36 of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), to direct questions of fact arising in proceedings under the Act to be tried before a jury, does not extend to issues raised between the parties on matters which, under the proviso to sect. 31, give the ct. a discretion as to dissolving a marriage, though petitioner's case may have been proved. When, therefore, the case is directed to be tried before a jury, such issues should not be included in the record prepared under r. 22.—KRETZSCHMAR v. KRETZSCHMAR & REINECKER (1859), 28 L. J. P. & M. 128.

4634. When directed—Facts in dispute before full court.]—RATCLIFF v. RATCLIFF & ANDERSON, No. 4631, ante.

4635. —— New trial—Jury dispensed with by consent in first trial.]—GIPPS v. GIPPS & HUME, No. 3064, ante.

4636. —— Issues unfit to be decided on affidavit—Showing cause against decree nisi.]—(1) The Queen's Proctor can only intervene, in his official capacity, in a suit for dissolution of marriage when he alleges collusion. He may, however, as one of the public, show cause against a decree nisi being made absolute.

(2) Resp., by pleading in answer to a petition for dissolution of marriage material facts, of which no evidence is given at the hearing, does not bring them before the ct., within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), s. 7; but such facts may, after a decree nisi has been pronounced, be set up by one of the public as ground for not making the decree absolute.

(3) When the affidavit filed by a person showing cause against a decree being made absolute & the affidavits in answer raise issues not proper to be decided on affidavits, the ct. will order the issues to be tried by a jury. They cannot be tried by the ct. itself on oral evidence.—MASTERS v. MASTERS (1864), 4 New Rep. 200; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 7.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Hudson v. Hudson (1875), 1 P. D. 65.

4637. —— —— ——.]—Where the Queen's Proctor appeared to show cause against a decree nisi, pronounced upon the wife's cross-petition, being made absolute, & filed affidavits charging adultery at other dates & places than the acts charged in the husband's petition, & affidavits were filed in answer which denied such charges, the ct. refused to reverse the decree upon the affidavits, but directed an issue to be settled for trial by a jury.—STUDHOLME v. STUDHOLME & CULLUM (1876), 25 W. R. 165.

4638. —— Trial of issue of adultery.]—(1) The parties to an issue of adultery are entitled as of right to a trial by jury under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 28, & that right is not affected by Juries Act, 1918 (c. 23), being specially preserved by sect. 1 (d) of that Act. (2) Semble: the application for trial by a jury is competently made by summons returnable before a registrar.—SCULLY v. SCULLY (1920), 90 L. J. P. 104; 124 L. T. 574; 37 T. L. R. 84.

C. In Other Suits.

See Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 36; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 30 B.

4639. Judicial separation—Discretion of court—Trial of questions of fact.]—Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), ss. 28 & 36, leave it in the discretion of the ct. to direct the issues in a suit for judicial separation to be tried by a jury; but the ct. will generally make such order at the prayer of either party, & in the present case did so on the undertaking of resp. not to interfere with or annoy petitioner pending the suit.—MARCHMONT v. MARCHMONT (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 228; 27 L. J. P. & M. 59; 31 L. T. O. S. 302; 6 W. R. 870; 164 E. R. 705.

4640. —— —— ——.]—(1) Although in a suit for judicial separation the ct., under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 36, may in its discretion refuse to direct that questions of fact be tried by a jury, it will generally at the request of either of the parties allow a jury. The circumstance that cruelty is in issue is no ground for refusing a jury.

(2) If the wife asks for a special jury it does not follow as a matter of course that the costs of the special jury will be allowed as against the husband.—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 126; 9 L. T. 24.

4641. Nullity of marriage—Discretion of court.]—C—— v. C—— (1862), No. 4340, ante.

4642. Restitution of conjugal rights—Cross-prayer for nullity on ground of impotence—Discretion of court.]—In suits other than those for dissolution of marriage, the ct. may in its discretion refuse to order the cause to be tried by a jury. The answer to a petition for restitution of conjugal rights, alleged the impotence of petitioner, & prayed for a decree of nullity of marriage. The ct. refused to allow the issue joined on the answer to be tried by a jury, although resp. asked for one.—RICKETTS v. RICKETTS (1866), 35 L. J. P. & M. 92; 13 L. T. 761.

4643. Jactitation of marriage—Where no defence.]—It is not the practice of the ct. to order a suit of jactitation of marriage to be tried by a jury if deft. has put in no defence.—THOMPSON v. ROURKE, [1892] P. 244; 61 L. J. P. 132; 67 L. T. 137; 8 T. L. R. 652; 36 Sol. Jo. 592.

4644. Act on petition—Discretion of court—Issues of fact.]—The ct. has a discretion under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 36, as to the mode of trial of an act on petition. In spite of Divorce Rule 61, which probably did not contemplate issues of fact as likely to arise on the trial of an act on petition, & although on an act on petition questions of law are generally combined with the issues of fact, & inconvenience may result from a trial of such questions with a jury the ct., will not refuse a jury if one of the parties wish for it, although a jury is not the proper tribunal for the purpose according to the old practice.—

n. Claim for damages against co-respondent—Whether trial by jury imperative.]—It is not imperative that a claim for damages against a co-resp. in a divorce action be tried by a jury; the matter is one of procedure entirely & subject to ordinary rules of ct. If either party desires a jury trial he must apply as in an ordinary action.—ELKOWECH v. ELKOWECH, [1921] 2 W. W. R. 345; 16 Alta. L. R. 519.—CAN.

Sect. 16.—The trial or hearing: Sub-sect. 1, C.; sub-sects. 2, 3 & 4, A. & B

LOWENFELD v. LOWENFELD, [1903] P. 177; 72 L. J. P. 57; 89 L. T. 146; 19 T. L. R. 542, C. A.
Annotation:—Refd. Sackville-West v. A.-G. (1909), 26 T. L. R. 33.

Legitimacy suits.]— BASTARDY, Vol. III., p. 370, Nos. 115–117.

SUB-SECT. 2.—PLACE OF TRIAL.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 40.

See, now, Administration of Justice Act, 1920 (c. 81), s. 1; Matrimonial Causes at Assizes Order, 1922, No. 757.

4645. Trial in courts other than Divorce Division —At Assizes—Only in special circumstances.]—Assuming that the ct. has the power to send the main issue in a petition for dissolution to be tried before a judge of Assize, who could pronounce no sentence in the suit, it is power to be exercised very sparingly, & only in peculiar circumstances. —EVANS v. EVANS & ROBINSON (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 216; 31 L. T. O. S. 269; 164 E. R. 699.
Annotation:—Refd. Snowball v. Snowball (1871), 24 L. T. 673.

4646. —— —— Majority of witnesses far from London.]—Where, upon a petition for dissolution of marriage, it appeared that by far the greater part of the witnesses to the facts in the suit resided at a great distance from London, the ct. directed issues upon the charges & countercharges of adultery & cruelty to be tried at the assizes.—RICHARDES v. RICHARDES & JONES (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 48.
Annotation:—Refd. Snowball v. Snowball (1871), 24 L. T. 673.

4647. —— —— Framing of issues—As issue sent by Court of Chancery.]—Where an issue is ordered to be tried at the assizes, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 40, it should be framed as an issue sent by the Ct. of Ch.—HOGG v. HOGG (1860), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 209.
Annotation:—Refd. Snowball v. Snowball (1871), 24 L. T. 673.

4648. —— —— Not where husband objects.]—The ct. will not direct the issues of fact in a matrimonial suit to be tried in another ct. against the wishes of the husband, at whose cost the litigation is carried on.—SNOWBALL v. SNOWBALL (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 263; 40 L. J. P. & M. 56; 24 L. T. 673; 19 W. R. 787.

SUB-SECT. 3.—POSTPONEMENT OF TRIAL.

4649. Notice of application to other side.]—The ct. will not postpone the trial of a cause on the application of one of the parties, if no notice of the motion has been given to the other party.—HEPWORTH v. HEPWORTH (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 514; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 198; 5 L. T. 120; 164 E. R. 1096.

SUB-SECT. 4.—PROCEDURE AT TRIAL.

A. In General.

4650. Where case conducted by respondent in person—Witnesses called without opening speech.]—(1) To entitle a person to a decree of judicial separation on the ground of cruelty the acts relied on must be of such a nature as to show that further cohabitation is unsafe, there must be proof of ill-treatment & bodily injury, or of a reasonable apprehension of such bodily injury. Acts of cruelty condoned & not revived by subsequent misconduct would not be a legitimate foundation for a decree of judicial separation, though condonation were not pleaded. Condonation is not absolute forgiveness, but forgiveness on the implied condition that the misconduct condoned shall not be repeated.

(2) Semble: if the evidence establish a plain case of condonation, the ct. will take notice of it, although not pleaded.

(3) Where resp. conducts his own case, the most convenient course is, that he should at once call his witnesses without making an opening speech, then give his evidence, & reserve any comments on the case for his summing up.—CURTIS v. CURTIS (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 192; 27 L. J. P. & M. 73; 31 L. T. O. S. 272; 164 E. R. 688; affd. (1859), 4 Sw. & Tr. 234.
Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Kelly v. Kelly (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 59; Moosbrugger v. Moosbrugger, Moosbrugger v. Moosbrugger & Martin (1913), 109 L. T. 192. Generally, Mentd. Re Curtis (1859), 28 L. J. Ch. 458.

4651. Order of speeches—As between respondent & co-respondent—May be arranged by counsel.]—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON & LANE, No. 2777, ante.

4652. —— Speech for co-respondent—No evidence called by co-respondent—After opening of respondent's case.]—GLENNIE v. GLENNIE & BOWLES, No. 3087, ante.

4653. —— —— —— After closing speech for petitioner.]—Where counsel for co-resp. has called no evidence, he is entitled to address the jury after petitioner's counsel.—JEFFREE v. JEFFREE & NUTTALL (1910), 54 Sol. Jo. 655.

4654. —— —— Evidence called by co-respondent—After speech for respondent.]—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON & LANE, No. 2777, ante.

Right to begin.]—See Sub-sect. 4, B., post.

Hearing cases in camera.]—See Sect. 1, sub-sect. 2, ante.

4655. Addressing jury as to damages—Whether co-respondent entitled to—Where no answer filed.]—LYNE v. LYNE & BLACKNEY, No. 3937, ante.

4656. Evidence in answer to countercharge—Time for calling.]—At the hearing of a petition by the husband for dissolution of marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery, in which the wife made a countercharge of adultery against him:—Held: petitioner might, as part of the case opened by him, give his own evidence & call his witnesses in answer to resp.'s charge, or that he might in the alternative reserve his answer to the charge until resp.'s witnesses in support of it had been examined, but that he was not entitled to divide his case by giving his own evidence in the opening, & afterwards calling his witnesses in reply to resp.'s case.—JACKMAN v. JACKMAN & WILLOUGHBY (1889), 14 P. D. 62; 58 L. J. P. 72; 60 L. T. 936; 37 W. R. 624.

4657. Time to deny countercharges—Whether in examination in chief—Or after respondent's case.]—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS & GAZZARD (1897), Times, Nov. 4.

PART XIII. SECT. 16, SUB-SECT. 4.—A.

o. Order of speeches—Speech for co-respondent—No evidence called by co-respondent—Co-respondent called as witness for respondent.]—In addressing juries there is no reason why the practice in civil cases ought not to prevail in divorce suits, & counsel for a co-resp. who calls no evidence is not bound to address the jury at the close of petitioner's case, but may wait until he has had an opportunity of hearing co-resp.'s evidence, when called as a witness for resp. & has himself examined him when so called.—THOMSON v. THOMSON (1892), 11 N. Z. L. R. 483.—N.Z.

p. —— —— —— Petitioner's right to reply.]—EVANS v. EVANS (No. 2) (1910), 30 N. Z. L. R. 291.—N.Z.

q. Action for dissolution—Right of petitioner to limit claim to judicial Examination & cross-examination of witnesses, see Sect. 11, sub-sects. 6, 7, ante.

4658. Adjournment—Of motion—Omission to state material facts in affidavits.]—Where affidavits in support of a motion omit to state material facts, which facts existed at the date when the affidavit was made, the ct. may allow such motion to stand over. But where a motion cannot be granted by reason of the non-existence at the date of the affidavit of material facts, such motion must be rejected.—SERRELL v. SERRELL & BAMFORD (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 636; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 114; 7 L. T. 221; 164 E. R. 1145.

4659. —— For further evidence—Amendment of petition & re-service—Treatment as new petition at resumed hearing.]—After the hearing of an undefended petition had been adjourned for further evidence, an allegation was added to the petition by the leave of the ct., & it was re-served upon resp. When it again came on for hearing, the ct. treated it as a new petition, & required evidence of all the facts necessary to found a decree, as well as of the additional allegation.—WALKER v. WALKER (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 117.

4660. Discharge of jury—Right of sheriff to fee for summoning.]—A cause set down in the jury list entitles the sheriff to his fee for summoning the jury, even though taken by the judge alone.—BLACKBURN v. BLACKBURN (1907), 51 Sol. Jo. 345.

Consent of parties.]—Before a jury can be discharged it is necessary that all parties should express their consent.—JONES v. JONES & ROOSEJONES (1913), 108 L. T. 1038.

4662. Exclusion of witnesses from court.]—With regard to contested probate & matrimonial cases, my view is that the rule which has been for so long observed in the Admiralty Ct. should be adopted here—viz. that all witnesses should remain out of ct. until they have given their evidence. Sometimes counsel have to apply that witnesses should remain out of ct., & it must be often unpleasant for them to have to do so. I wish the existing practice in this ct. to be reversed, & that in future in all contested cases the witnesses should remain out of ct. If in any particular case their presence is immaterial, counsel may intimate that there is no objection to the witnesses remaining in ct. I am satisfied that it is most desirable that this rule should be adopted here, as it is on the other side of the ct.; & if I find that the witnesses in a case have remained in ct., their conduct will be open to serious comment (GORELL BARNES, P.).—PRACTICE NOTE (1908), 24 T. L. R. 263.

B. Right to Begin.

Order of speeches as between respondent & co-respondent, see Sub-sect. 4, A., ante.

4663. Petitioner's right to begin—Need to prove fact of marriage—Trial without jury.]—GIBSON v. GIBSON (1859), Sea. & Sm. 116.

4664. —— —— —— Main issue on respondent.]—(1) Where the judge ordinary is sitting without a jury, as the question of the fact of the marriage must be proved before him, the right to begin is not taken from petitioner from the consideration that the only real issue in the case lies upon resp.

(2) There being cross-issues of adultery in the husband's petition for dissolution standing for trial before a jury, the judge ordinary suspended his judgment until these issues were disposed of.—BURROUGHS v. BURROUGHS (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 544; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 56; 5 L. T. 771; 164 E. R. 1108.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Meara v. Meara (1865), 14 W. R. 50. Generally, Mentd. Blackborne v. Blackborne (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 563.

4665. —— —— —— ——.]—MEARA v. MEARA, No. 4040, ante.

4666. —— —— Suit for dissolution—Marriage traversed in cross-suit for nullity.]—SERRELL v. SERRELL & BAMFORD, No. 4334, ante.

4667. —— Judicial separation—Cross-suit for nullity—Amendment of prayer to nullity.]—A wife presented a suit for judicial separation on the ground of the husband's alleged cruelty. The husband by his answer denied the charges of cruelty, & claimed a decree of nullity on the ground of the wife's incapacity. The wife then amended her petition, & after denying the husband's allegation, sought a declaration of nullity on the ground of the husband's incapacity:—Held: the burden of proof was on the wife, who had therefore the right to begin.—L. v. L. (OTHERWISE M.) (1908), 25 T. L. R. 43; 53 Sol. Jo. 32.

4668. Respondent's right to begin—Restitution suit—Cross-charge of cruelty.]—In a petition for restitution of conjugal rights by the husband, to which the wife answered by pleading his cruelty, & the husband took issue thereon, the ct., after hearing counsel, held that substantially the affirmative issue was on resp., & that her counsel had a right to begin.—CHERRY v. CHERRY (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 319; 28 L. J. P. & M. 36; 32 L. T. O. S. 198; 164 E. R. 747.

Annotations:—Distd. Burroughs v. Burroughs (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 544. Apld. Smith v. Smith, Smith v. Smith & Charlesworth, [1900] P. 66.

4669. —— —— Trial with jury.]—MEARA v. MEARA, No. 4040, ante.

4670. —— —— Cross-petition for dissolution on ground of adultery.]—Where a wife petitioned for restitution of conjugal rights, & the husband in answer alleged that she had committed adultery, &, in a cross-petition, claimed the dissolution of his marriage on that ground:—Held: the husband's counsel ought to begin.—SMITH v. SMITH, SMITH v. SMITH & CHARLESWORTH, [1900] P. 66; 69 L. J. P. 44.

4671. —— —— Separation admitted—Proof of justification.]—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL (1895), cited in Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. XVI., p. 541; Times, Apr. 5; on appeal, [1895] P. 315, C. A.; [1897] A. C. 395, H. L.

Annotations:—Mentd. Oldroyd v. Oldroyd, [1896] P. 175; Armytage v. Armytage (1898), 78 L. T. 689; Walker v. Walker (1898), 77 L. T. 715; Synge v. Synge, [1900] P. 180; Jeapes v. Jeapes (1903), 89 L. T. 74; Frowd v. Frowd, [1904] P. 177; Beer v. Beer (1906), 94 L. T. 704; Baron v. Baron (1908), 24 T. L. R. 273; Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123; Brooking-Phillips v. Brooking-Phillips, [1913] P. 80; Butland v. Butland (1913), 29 T. L. R. 729; Greene v. Greene, [1916] P. 188; Moss v. Moss, [1916] P. 155; Fisk v. Fisk (1920), 122 L. T. 803; Foster v. Foster, [1921] P. 438; Walter v. Walter, [1921] P. 302; Harnett v. Harnett, [1924] P. 126; Thomas v. Thomas, [1924] P. 194.

4672. —— Nullity suit—Marriage admitted on pleadings.]—HAYWARD v. HAYWARD (1858), Sea. & Sm. 116, n.

Annotation:—Distd. Gibson v. Gibson (1859), Sea. & Sm. 116.

separation—Respondent not defending—Whether entitled to notice before decree.]—On a petition for divorce on the ground of desertion constituted by failure to comply with an order for the restitution of conjugal rights, the petition asking for further or other relief, it is competent for petitioner before pronouncement of the decree nisi to limit her claim to one for judicial separation. In such case, where resp. has entered an appearance but filed no defence, the decree may be made without notice to resp., & resp. has no right to be heard.—PEARCE v. PEARCE (1905), 25 N. Z. L. R. 683.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 16, SUB-SECT. 4.—B.

r. Question of law—Argued before trial—Right of party bringing question before court, to begin.]—Where a question of law is ordered to be argued

Sect. 16.—The trial or hearing: Sub-sect. 4, B.; sub-sect. 5, A., B., C. & D. (a), (b) & (c).]

4673. —— Dissolution suit—No traverse of adultery—Issues joined on counter-charges of adultery & cruelty.]—Where resp. in her answer has not traversed the adultery alleged in the petition, but sets up countercharges of adultery, cruelty, & misconduct, upon which counter-charges issue has been joined, upon a trial of these issues before a jury, it is for resp. to begin. When these issues have been disposed of by the jury, it is not competent to resp. to cross-examine the witnesses called to establish the allegations in the petition, either as to these allegations or as to the counter-charges contained in the answer.—BACON v. BACON & BACON (1859), 2 Sw. & Tr. 53; Sea. & Sm. 68; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 61; 164 E. R. 911.

4674. —— —— —— Issue joined on plea of connivance.]—PARKER v. PARKER & MCLEOD (1859), 4 Sw. & Tr. 261, n.; Sea. & Sm. 150, n.; 164 E. R. 1516.

4675. —— Jactitation suit.] — ASCROFT v. TREVOR (OTHERWISE FOLEY) (1906), as reported in Times, Mar. 13.

SUB-SECT. 5.—ASSESSMENT OF DAMAGES.

A. In General.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 189.

See, generally, DAMAGES, Vol. XVII., pp. 78, et seq.

Bars to relief disentitling petitioner to damages.] —See Sect. 7, sub-sect. 3, D. (f), ante.

4676. General rule.]—(1) Claims for damages in divorce are, by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 33, to be tried on the same principles & in the same manner as actions for criminal conversation, which were abolished by the Act, were tried at common law. This action was originally considered technically to lie in trespass, &, therefore, the husband was only required to prove the fact of adultery, not to prove special damage. But the action either was, or soon came to be, in substance an action on the case. Thus in divorce a jury could from the first find that the adultery was proved but the husband had substained no damage.

(2) The damages, if any, have always been compensatory only, & not exemplary or punitive. (3) The grounds on which damages are given are: the actual value of the wife lost; compensation to the husband for the injury to his feelings, the blow to his honour, & hurt to his family life. The value of the wife has two aspects: (a) pecuniary, & (b) what may be called the consortium aspects: (a) depends on her fortune & her ability & assistance in the home or business; (b) depends upon her character & abilities as wife or mother. (4) The conduct of the adulterer has little bearing on (a), but may be very relevant as to (b), as an aid to estimating the value of the wife, e.g. the ease with which he effected his purpose may show that the wife was of small value. His conduct may also be relevant in estimating the injury to the husband's feelings.

(5) The husband's own character & conduct are, on a claim for damages, as fully in issue as that of his wife.

(6) The amount of compensation cannot depend on the wealth or poverty of co-resp., but the way in which he has used his wealth in gaining his end may be relevant in the same way as his conduct generally. Both the rank & the fortune of co-resp. are relevant for consideration in so far as either may give assistance in ascertaining the value of the wife, or measuring the extent of the injury inflicted on the husband. Moreover, general evidence may be given as to a co-resp's. rank & fortune, because to give damages which it is impossible for co-resp. to pay might defeat the aim of giving any.

(7) As a matter of strict law the cts. can give damages against a co-resp. who was ignorant that resp. was married, but it is against sound practice to do so, because the balance of authority is against it; such damages savour of a punitive character; a wife who passes herself off as a single woman may well be deemed valueless; to give damages in such a case conflicts with the practice of the ct. as to costs.

(8) As to costs: the ct. has always had a discretion, but it is too late to question the long-established practice that they should not be given against a co-resp. who has no knowledge. (9) The burden of proving knowledge has always, perhaps regrettably, been thrown on petitioner, but this also is settled practice.—BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD, ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, [1920] P. 126; 89 L. J. P. 151; 122 L. T. 804; 36 T. L. R. 265.

Annotations:—As to (3) Refd. Gray v. Gee (1923), 39 T. L. R. 429. As to (5) Refd. Ewer v. Ewer & Charlton (1920), 123 L. T. 240; Hensley v. Hensley & Nevin (1920), 122 L. T. 814. As to (7) Refd. Ewer v. Ewer & Charlton (1920), 123 L. T. 240. As to (8) Consd. Taylor v. Taylor & Kraft (1920), 123 L. T. 112. Refd. Gibbs v. Gibbs & Heathcote (1920), 123 L. T. 206.

4677. Findings necessary before damages can be assessed—Damnification of husband—Wrongful act of co-respondent.]—DARBISHIRE v. DARBISHIRE & BAIRD, No. 4717, B. By Whom Assessed.

By jury.] — See Supreme Court of Judicature Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 189 (2).

C. Duty to Assess.

4678. Power of jury to refuse—Conduct of parties.]—Where a husband petitions for a divorce on the ground of the adultery of his wife with co-resp., & a claim for damages is made against the latter, the jury are not bound to assess the damages at any sum, however small, if they are of opinion that the conduct of the parties has been such as to disentitle petitioner to any compensation, even though the adultery is proved.—GIBSON v. GIBSON & WEST (1906), 94 L. T. 619; 22 T. L. R. 361.

Annotation:—Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4679. —— No damage sustained by petitioner.]—BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD, ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, No. 4676, ante.

before trial the party bringing the question before the ct. is entitled to begin.—SALAMAN v. SALAMAN, [1923] N. Z. L. R. 300.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 16, SUB-SECT. 5.—B.

s. By judge—Trial by consent without jury.]—The parties consented to an order that the trial should take place before a judge without a jury. A decree for divorce was pronounced, & the judge assessed the damages:—

D. Principles governing Assessment.

(a) In General.

See Supreme Court of Judicature Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 189 (2).

4680. Same as in former actions for criminal conversation.]—BELL v. BELL & ANGLESEY (MARQUIS) (1859), Sea. & Sm. 110; 1 Sw. & Tr. 565; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 159; 1 L. T. 243; 8 W. R. 178; 164 E. R. 861.

Annotation:—Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4681. ——.]—In assessing damages against co-resp., the jury are to take into consideration the same circumstances as would have been considered by a jury in an action for crim. con.—COMYN v. COMYN & HUMPHREYS (1860), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 210.

Annotation:—Refd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4682. —— Infringement of petitioner's rights.]—LORD v. LORD, No. 4692, post.

4683. ——.]—BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD, ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, No. 4676, ante.

4684. ——.]—The grounds on which damages may be recovered for adultery are the same as those for damages in an action for crim. con. at common law prior to the enactment of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85). The grounds are for the infringement by co-resp. of the rights of petitioner, & a right to some damages may possibly exist without demonstration of guilty knowledge on the part of co-resp. that the woman, with whom he was misconducting himself, was a wife. But while under the old law the costs of an action for crim. con. followed the general common law practice as to costs then observed, costs under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 34, are in each case in the discretion of the ct., whether of the whole or of any part of the proceedings, & in the case of a co-resp., whether of a claim for damages alone or of the proceedings as a whole, & to say that in every case, where the guilty knowledge of co-resp. does not appear, he must escape being condemned in costs is to limit the clear discretion of the ct. as to costs, the exercise of which must depend upon the peculiar facts of each individual case.

There is no absolute rule of law that a husband who claims damages or costs against a co-resp. must prove that co-resp. knew that resp. was a married woman. The ct. has power to give damages & costs if the circumstances show the co-resp. ought to have known the fact.—LANGRICK v. LANGRICK & FUNNELL, [1920] P. 90; 89 L. J. P. 114; 123 L. T. 94; 36 T. L. R. 308; 64 Sol. Jo. 531.

Annotations:—Consd. Gibbs v. Gibbs & Heathcote (1920), 123 L. T. 206. Expld. Taylor v. Taylor & Kraft (1920), 123 L. T. 112.

(b) Damages Compensatory.

4685. Not punitive.]—BELL v. BELL & ANGLESEY (MARQUIS) (1859), Sea. & Sm. 110; 1 Sw. & Tr. 565; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 159; 1 L. T. 243; 8 W. R. 178; 164 E. R. 861.

Annotation:—Refd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4686. ——.]—KEYSE v. KEYSE & MAXWELL, No. 4715, post.

4687. ——.]—DARBISHIRE v. DARBISHIRE & BAIRD, No. 4717, post.

4688. ——.]—The claim for damages is based on the idea that the husband has suffered for the loss of his wife, & you are not here to punish, & you are failing in your duty & are violating your oath if you give damages by way of punishing co-resp. (HANNEN, P.).—THORMAN v. THORMAN & GREENBANK (1890), 54 J. P. 409.

4689. ——.]—BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD, ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, No. 4676, ante.

(c) Where Co-Respondent ignorant that Respondent married.

Liability of co-respondent for costs, see Sect. 18, Sub-sect. 4, C., post.

4690. Whether bar to claim for damages.]—DARBISHIRE v. DARBISHIRE & BAIRD, No. 4717, post.

4691. ——.]—At the time when co-resp. first became improperly intimate with the resp. he was not aware that she was a married woman. Within about a month after the first act of adultery he had reason to believe that she was a married woman. He still continued the adulterous intercourse:—Held: costs could not be ordered against co-resp.

The law is, to my mind, quite clear. The co-resp. cannot be condemned in costs any more than he could be ordered to pay damages (JEUNE, P.).—NEWBY v. NEWBY & WHITE (1897), 77 L. T. 142.

Annotation:—Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4692. ——.]—(1) Where in a petition by the husband for divorce on the ground of adultery claiming damages against co-resp., no evidence was given on behalf of petitioner that co-resp. knew that resp. was a married woman:—Held: damages might, nevertheless, be assessed against co-resp.

(2) In a proceeding for dissolution of marriage, the burden of showing that co-resp. knew that resp. was a married woman is cast on petitioner, &, in the absence of evidence, a jury should assume that co-resp. had no reason for believing resp. was other than a single woman.

(3) Although co-resp. accepts the risk of his conduct, if he did not know resp. was married, then the wrong he did to petitioner was done unwittingly, & in assessing the amount of damages, the jury ought to bear this in mind.

(4) The rules at common law in actions for crim. con. applied to claims for damages in divorce cases.—LORD v. LORD, [1900] P. 297; 69 L. J. P. 54.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Watson v. Watson & Watts (1905), 21 T. L. R. 320; Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126. Refd. Sweeting v. Sweeting & Rowlands (1919), 36 T. L. R. 15; Smith v. Smith & Reed, [1922] P. 1. As to (2) Refd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126; Gibbs v. Gibbs & Heathcote (1920), 123 L. T. 206; Smith v. Smith & Reed, [1922] P. 1. As

Held: having consented to a trial without a jury, co-resp. was estopped from insisting upon an assessment by a jury.—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS & HUTTON (1909), 14 B. C. R. 313; 11 W. L. R. 498.—CAN.

Sect. 16.—The trial or hearing: Sub-sect. 5, D. (c) & & E. (a) to (3) Refd. Sweeting v. Sweeting & Rowlands (1919), 36 T. L. R. 15; Langrick v. Langrick & Funnell, [1920] P. 90.

4693. ——.]—Where a man commits adultery with a woman, who is in fact a married woman, but there is no evidence that he knew that she was married, he takes the risk as regards damages being assessed against him, but where the woman held herself out to commit adultery as if she were not a married woman, then the damages, if any, should be reduced to next to nothing.—WATSON v. WATSON & WATTS (1905), 21 T. L. R. 320.

Annotation:—Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4694. ——.]—A husband petitioned for a divorce & claimed damages on the ground of his wife's adultery with a named co-resp. There was no evidence that co-resp. knew that the woman was married when he had intercourse with her:—Held: petitioner was entitled to recover damages against co-resp., but the fact that there was no evidence to prove that the latter knew resp. was a married woman should be taken into account by the jury in assessing the amount.—VENABLES v. VENABLES & WHEELER (1916), 114 L. T. 566; 32 T. L. R. 330.

Annotation:—Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4695. ——.]—SWEETING v. SWEETING & ROWLANDS, No. 5033, post.

4696. ——.]—LANGRICK v. LANGRICK & FUNNELL, No. 4684, ante.

4697. —— Co-respondent reckless as to status of respondent.]—SMITH v. SMITH & REED, No. 4848, post.

4698. —— Damages savouring of punitive character—Conflict with practice as to costs.]—BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD, ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, No. 4676, ante.

4699. Matter in mitigation of damages—Absence of evidence of knowledge.]—LORD v. LORD, No. 4692, ante.

4700. —— ——.]—VENABLES v. VENABLES & WHEELER, No. 4694, ante.

4701. —— Respondent passing as single woman.]—WATSON v. WATSON & WATTS, No. 4693, ante.

4702. —— ——.]—BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD, ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, No. 4676, ante.

——.]—See, generally, Sub-sect. 5, F., post.

4703. Whether co-respondent must plead ignorance—Effect of absence of plea.]—Although a co-resp. is not bound to plead that he had not known that resp. was a married woman, still the absence of such a plea is a matter which the jury may fairly take into consideration.—JONES v. JONES & PHILLIPS (OTHERWISE REDFERN) (1893), 9 T. L. R. 590.

4704. Onus of proof of knowledge—On petitioner.]—LORD v. LORD, No. 4692, ante.

(d) Conduct of Parties.

4705. General rule.]—In order that it may assess damages on the principles that have been held to govern their assessment, the ct. requires to be fully informed as to the history of the marriage & as to the character & conduct of both the husband & the wife. If the evidence of petitioner is taken on commission or is allowed to be given by affidavit, it should none the less, if he claims damages, give all possible information on these matters.—EWER v. EWER & CHARLTON (1920), 123 L. T. 240; 36 T. L. R. 517.

4706. Relations of petitioner & respondent before adultery.]—BELL v. BELL & ANGLESEY (MARQUIS) (1859), Sea. & Sm. 110; 1 Sw. & Tr. 565; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 159; 1 L. T. 243; 8 W. R. 178; 164 E. R. 861.

Annotation:—Refd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4707. Circumstances of adulterer's introduction into family.]—BELL v. BELL & ANGLESEY (MARQUIS) (1859), Sea. & Sm. 110; 1 Sw. & Tr. 565; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 159; 1 L. T. 243; 8 W. R. 178; 164 E. R. 861.

Annotation:—Refd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4708. Ground for refusing to assess damages at all.]—GIBSON v. GIBSON & WEST, No. 4678, ante.

4709. Conduct of wife.]—DARBISHIRE v. DARBISHIRE & BAIRD, No. 4717, post.

4710. Conduct of co-respondent.] — BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD, ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, No. 4676, ante.

4711. Conduct of husband.] — BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD, ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, No. 4676, ante.

E. Measure of Damages.

(a) Compensation for Loss of Wife.

4712. General rule.]—GIBBER v. SLOPER (1738), Bull. N. P. 5th ed., p. 27.

Annotations:—Consd. Duberley v. Gunning (1792), 4 Term Rep. 651. Refd. Lynch v. Knight (1861), 5 L. T. 291.

4713. ——.]—BELL v. BELL & ANGLESEY (MARQUIS) (1859), Sea. & Sm. 110; 1 Sw. & Tr. 565; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 159; 1 L. T. 243; 8 W. R. 178; 164 E. R. 861.

Annotation:—Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4714. ——.]—In an assessment of damages against a co-resp. the measure of damages is the value of the wife of whom the husband has been deprived. As a general rule, evidence of co-resp.'s means is inadmissible. Semble: the jury may take his wealth into consideration, if he has used it as a means of seducing the wife.—COWING v. COWING & WOLLEN (1863), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 149.

Annotation:—Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4715. ——.]—(1) In assessing damages against a co-resp. the jury is not to seek to punish him, but is only to give compensation for the loss which the husband has sustained, & is to consider whether this loss has been caused by the action of co-resp. (2) In a case where the wife has not been seduced away from the husband by co-resp. the jury must take into consideration the conduct of the husband & the protection or assistance which he may have afforded to her after the separation. (3) The means of co-resp. are not in any way to be considered as a measure of damages.—KEYSE v. KEYSE & MAXWELL (1886), 11 P. D. 100; 55 L. J. P. 54; 34 W. R. 791.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126; Ewer v. Ewer & Charlton (1920), 123 L. T. 240. As to (3) Refd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4716. ——.]—In an undefended suit for dissolution of marriage brought by the husband against his wife upon the ground of her adultery with co-resp., damages were claimed against the latter, & the jury awarded £150, adding, that, if co-resp. had been in a better position, they would have awarded more. The judge thereupon told them that this would not do, as the real question to be considered in such cases was the injury done to petitioner through the wrongful act of co-resp., whose means & position were irrelevant upon the assessment by the jury of the quantum of damages. The jury then reconsidered their verdict upon this point, & awarded £500.—BIKKER v. BIKKER & WHITEWOOD (1892), 67 L. T. 721; 1 R. 496.

Annotation:—Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4717. —— Distinction between wives virtuous & otherwise—Wife's separate income.]—A claim for damages in a divorce case is founded upon the hypothesis that the husband has suffered injury by being deprived of his wife's society through the wrongful act of co-resp. In order to award any damages, it is necessary to find, (a) that the husband has in fact been damnified, (b) that such damage has been brought about by the wrongful act of co-resp., without any fault on the part of the husband. It is no part of the functions of the jury to punish the adulterer for his immorality. Their sole duty is to compensate the husband for the injury, if any, which he had suffered through the wrongful act of co-resp. If a husband has a virtuous wife taken from him by the contrivance of another man, he is entitled to damages commensurate with the loss of such a wife; but if she has led a loose life before marriage, her value is not the same as that of a virtuous woman. In estimating the amount of damages to be awarded, the fact that the wife was earning money, of a portion of which petitioner had the advantage, may properly be taken into account; but co-resp.'s means must be left entirely out of the question.

If the man's wife goes & walks the streets, the husband is not entitled to come here & recover damages against any man who goes & consorts with that woman. If the man does not know that the woman with whom he commits adultery is a married woman, then is not consciously committing wrong to any man & is not liable in damages; & so far is that doctrine carried that this ct. never even gives costs against a co-resp. who is proved not to have known that the woman was married, because he is only the unconscious instrument with which the wife carries out her wrong against her husband (HANNEN, P.).—DARBISHIRE v. DARBISHIRE & BAIRD (1890), 62 L. T. 664; 54 J. P. 408.

Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126. Refd. Gibbs v. Gibbs & Heathcote (1920), 123 L. T. 206.

4718. —— Loss of consortium.]—EVANS v. EVANS & PLATTS, No. 4723, post.

4719. —— —— Pecuniary value of wife—Conduct of adulterer.]—BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD, ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, No. 4676, ante.

4720. Death of wife after action brought—Compensation to date of death.]—If, in an action for adultery, it appear that the wife has died since the commencement of the action, the jury should give damages for the loss of the society of the wife from the time of the discovery of the adultery to the time of the wife's death, & also for the shock to the feelings of the husband; & this is so, though it appear that there was no suspicion of the wife's infidelity till she was on her death-bed, & though the husband continued to treat her kindly up to the time of her death.—WILTON v. WEBSTER (1835), 7 C. & P. 198, N. P.

Annotations:—Consd. Lynch v. Knight (1861), 5 L. T. 291; Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126. Refd. Kent v. Atkinson, [1923] P. 142.

—— Whether petition for damages only maintainable.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 3, F. (b), ante.

(b) Where the Parties have Separated.

Whether petition for damages only maintainable.]—See Sect. 8, sub-sect. 1, F. (b), ante.

4721. Petitioner not precluded from recovery.]—A husband is not precluded from recovering damages from co-resp. by reason of the fact that there had been a separation between himself & his wife before adultery was committed by her.—GARDNER v. GARDNER & BAMFIELD (1901), 17 T. L. R. 331.

Annotation:—Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4722. Separation in consequence of intimacy with co-respondent.]—In a petition by the husband for dissolution of marriage claiming damages, it appeared that petitioner & his wife had entered into a separation deed in consequence of her intimacy with co-resp., & that she committed adultery with him after the date of the deed:—Held: petitioner was entitled to the same amount of damages as he would have been had no separation deed been executed.—IZARD v. IZARD (1889), 14 P. D. 45; 58 L. J. P. 83; 60 L. T. 399; 37 W. R. 496.

Annotation:—Refd. Evans v. Evans, [1899] P. 195.

4723. —— Separation caused by wife's cruelty—Adultery destroying hopes of reconciliation.]—Upon a husband's petition for dissolution of marriage claiming damages, it appeared that the husband & wife separated after a cohabitation of only a few months on account of the wife's overbearing & insulting conduct & language towards her husband, culminating in actual violence to him on more than one occasion. It was proved, & not denied, that, rather more than a year after the separation, co-resp., who had been acting as her solr., committed adultery with resp., & that this improper intimacy continued for about twelve months:—Held: notwithstanding the separation & the fact that it had been caused by the violent conduct of resp. towards petitioner, the latter was entitled to some damages; loss of

Sect. 16.—The trial or hearing: Sub-sect. 5, E. (b) & (c), F. & G. Sect. 17: Sub-sects. 1 & 2.]

"consortium" was not the only ground on which damages ought to be assessed against a co-resp., the fact of co-resp.'s frequent adultery having rendered reconciliation absolutely out of the question was a material element for consideration in fixing damages; the jury were entitled to consider also, & to decide as a matter to be inferred from all the circumstances of the case, whether resp. & co-resp. had not misconducted themselves together at a time anterior to the date proved by affirmative evidence & admitted & alleged by co-resp. as the first date when adultery took place between himself & resp.—EVANS v. EVANS & PLATTS, [1899] P. 195; 68 L. J. P. 70; 81 L. T. 60.

Annotations:—Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126. Refd. Gardner v. Gardner & Bamfield (1901), 17 T. L. R. 331.

4724. Conduct of petitioner after separation material—Whether protection & assistance afforded to wife.]—KEYSE v. KEYSE & MAXWELL, No. 4715, ante.

(c) Co-Respondent's Rank and Fortune.

4725. Co-respondent's means — Damages not determined by.]—In an action for crim. con. evidence on the part of pltf. to show the amount of deft.'s property is not admissible; but, in an action for breach of promise of marriage, it is otherwise.—JAMES v. BIDDINGTON (1834), 6 C. & P. 589, N. P.

Annotation:—Refd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4726. —— ——.]—KEYSE v. KEYSE & MAXWELL, No. 4715, ante.

4727. —— ——.]—DARBISHIRE v DARBISHIRE & BAIRD, No. 4717, ante.

4728. —— ——.]—BIKKER v. BIKKER & WHITEWOOD, No. 4716, ante.

4729. —— ——.]—BURNE v. BURNE & HELVOET, No. 5016, post.

4730. —— Wealth used to seduce respondent.]—BELL v. BELL & ANGLESEY (MARQUIS) (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 565; Sea. & Sm. 110; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 159; 1 L. T. 243; 8 W. R. 178; 164 E. R. 861.

Annotation:—Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4731. —— ——.]—COWING v. COWING & WOLLEN, No. 4714, ante.

4732. —— ——.]—BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD, ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, No. 4676, ante.

4733. Co-respondent's rank—Factor for consideration.]—BELL v. BELL & ANGLESEY (MARQUIS) (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 565; Sea. & Sm. 110; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 159; 1 L. T. 243; 8 W. R. 178; 164 E. R. 861.

Annotation:—Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4734. —— Material in determining capacity to pay.]—BURNE v. BURNE & HELVOET, No. 5016, post.

4735. —— ——.]—BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD, ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, No. 4676, ante.

4736. —— Considered when of assistance in ascertaining value of wife—Or measuring extent of injury to husband.]—BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD, ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, No. 4676, ante.

F. Matters in Aggravation and Mitigation.

See, generally, DAMAGES, Vol. XVII., p. 120, Nos. 290 et seq.

Conduct of parties, see Sub-sect. 5, D. (d), ante.

Means of co-resp., see Sub-sect. 5, E. (c), ante.

Loss of wife, see Sub-sect. 5, E. (a), ante.

4737. Matters in mitigation—Neglect of wife by husband.]—CALCRAFT v. HARBOROUGH (EARL), No. 4000, ante.

4738. —— Ill-treatment of wife by husband.]—In an action for crim. con. evidence may be given, in reduction of damages, that the wife, before the criminal intercourse took place, had complained of her husband's treatment of her.—WINTER v. WROOT (1834), 1 Mood. & R. 404, N. P.

Annotation:—Refd. Plumer v. Plumer & Bygrave (1859), Sea. & Sm. 147.

4739. —— Worthlessness of wife—Immorality.]—WINTER v. HENN, No. 2822, ante.

4740. —— —— ——.]—DARBISHIRE v. DARBISHIRE & BAIRD, No. 4717, ante.

4741. —— —— ——.]—BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD, ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, No. 4676, ante.

Co-respondent ignorant that respondent married.]—See Sub-sect. 5, D. (c), ante.

4742. Matters in aggravation—Marriage settlements.]—HEAVISIDE v. LARDNER (prior to 1860), cited 29 L. J. P. M. & A. at p. 160.

Annotation:—Folld. Bell v. Bell & Anglesey (1860), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 159.

4743. —— ——.]—Qu.: whether the ct. has power to deal with marriage-settlements on a decree for dissolution of marriage under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, unless there be children of the marriage: Semble: the position of the husband, as regards the marriage settlements, may properly be submitted to the jury for their consideration in the assessment of damages.—BELL v. BELL & ANGLESEY (MARQUIS) (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 565; Sea. & Sm. 110: 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 159; 1 L. T. 243; 8 W. R. 178; 164 E. R. 861.

Annotation:—Refd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4744. —— Frequency of adultery—Reconciliation rendered impossible.]—EVANS v. EVANS & PLATTS, No. 4723, ante.

4745. —— Injury to feelings of husband—Blow to honour—Hurt to family.]—BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD, ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, No. 4676, ante.

G. Agreements as to Damages.

4746. Agreement before trial—Between counsel—Whether court bound by.]—(1) The ct. is not at liberty to recognise an agreement made between the counsel of petitioner & co-resp. in respect of the amount of damages to be paid, but is bound by the assessment of the jury.

(2) Where petitioner had entered into a covenant binding his estate with the payment of an annuity to resp., in the event of her surviving him, the ct. directed the annuity, when recovered, to be paid for the benefit of the children of the marriage. —CALLWELL v. CALLWELL & KENNEDY (1860), 3 Sw. & Tr. 259; 164 E. R. 1274.

Annotations:—As to (2) Refd. Blandford v. Blandford (1892), 67 L. T. 392. Generally, Mentd. Le Sueur v. Le Sueur (1876), 1 P. D. 139; Niboyet v. Niboyet (1878), 4 P. D. 1.

Extent of authority for counsel to compromise.]—See, generally, BARRISTERS, Vol. III., p. 339, Nos. 291 et seq.

4747. Agreement after trial—Whether court will sanction.]—FORSTER v. FORSTER & BERRIDGE, No. 5846, post.

4748. —— ——.]—If an order be made that the damages be paid to petitioner in the suit, there is nothing to prevent him from coming to terms with co-resp., & accepting a less sum than that assessed. Where there was reason to apprehend that little or nothing would be recovered if co-resp. were pressed for the full amount of the assessed damages, the ct., on receiving an assurance that no application would be made on behalf of petitioner, who declared his ability & willingness to maintain the only child of the marriage, to alter the settlement, ordered the damages to be paid to him, with the view of enabling him to come to terms in respect of them with co-resp., who was willing to pay part, but unable to pay all. —DALE v. DALE & MACDONELL (1867), 15 L. T. 595.

question for the opinion of the ct. under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85). If the facts ascertained by the verdict are sufficient for the ct. to found a decree on, the function of the jury is discharged.

(2) The ct., being of opinion that cruelty was not proved against the husband, but being satisfied with his conduct towards his wife, directed the damages, after payment of the surplus costs of petitioner, if any, to be settled on resp. dum casta vixerit, & for life; after her death, or on breach of the above condition, the fund to go to the two children of the marriage; Semble: (3) in some cases the ct. would grant a new trial on the ground of excessive damages.—NARRACOTT v. NARRACOTT & HESKETH (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 408; 4 New Rep. 158; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 132; 10 L. T. 389; 10 Jur. N. S. 640; 12 W. R. 1064; 164 E. R. 1333; subsequent proceedings (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 76.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Barnes v. Barnes & Beaumont (1868), 38 L. J. P. & M. 10. As to (2) Refd. Gladstone v. Gladstone (1876), 1 P. D. 442.

4750. —— —— Issue not referrable to new jury —Alternatives open to petitioner.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage, brought by the wife by reason of the cruelty & adultery of her husband, the jury found a verdict for petitioner on the question of cruelty, but were unable to agree to a verdict on that of adultery, & were discharged. The ct. refused to allow the question of adultery only to be referred to a new jury, but gave petitioner the alternative, either to have a rule, calling upon resp. to show cause why a decree of judicial separation should not be made on the ground of his cruelty, or to set down all the questions at issue, both adultery & cruelty, for, a second trial.—GODRICH v. GODRICH (1872), L. R. 2 P. & D. 392; 41 L. J. P. & M. 45; 26 L. T. 855; 20 W. R. 616.

SECT. 17.—FINDING AND DECREE.

SUB-SECT. 1.—JUDGMENTS AND VERDICTS.

4749. Disagreement of jury on one issue—Jury discharged—Validity of discharge—Allegation of cruelty.]—(1) The husband petitioned for dissolution of marriage, & prayed damages. Co-resp. traversed the adultery, & charged the husband generally with cruelty to his wife, which latter fact might call for the exercise of the discretion of the ct. under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85). During petitioner's case, some witnesses were asked as to the general terms on which he lived with his wife. On the part of co-resp. witnesses deposed to certain acts of violence committed on the wife by the husband, & the ct. admitted evidence in reply limited to those particular acts & occasions. The jury found a verdict for petitioner on the issue of adultery, & assessed the damages at £2,500. On stating that they could not agree on the issue of cruelty, they were discharged by the judge ordinary. On motion for a new trial, the ct. held that it had rightly discharged the jury from giving a verdict on the issue of cruelty, as it was ultimately a SUB-SECT. 2.—DECREE.

4751. Decree of nullity—Declaratory sentence.] —HESELTINE v. MURRAY (LADY AUGUSTA) (1794), 2 Add. 400, n.; 162 E. R. 341.

Annotations:— Consd. Nokes v. Milward (falsely called Nokes) (1824), 2 Add. 386. Refd. Sussex Peerage Claim (1844), 6 State Tr. N. S. 79.

4752. —— Contemplated marriage settlement—Property to be in settlor—"Until said intended marriage."]—By a settlement made in contemplation of marriage a father transferred £25,000 to the trustees of the settlement to be held upon trust for him "until the said intended marriage," & thereafter upon the trusts of the settlement. The marriage took place, but afterwards a decree absolute was made declaring it "to be & to have been absolutely null & void" on the ground of the husband's impotence:—Held: "until the said intended marriage" meant a valid & effectual marriage, & as the marriage had been declared null & void ab initio. the settlor was absolutely entitled to the settled funds, under the express

PART XIII. SECT. 17, SUB-SECT. 1.

t. Duty of judge to determine issue between parties.]—In an action of separation & aliment brought by a wife against her husband, the Lord Ordinary, after proof, found one act of cruelty proved which might entitle pursuer to decree, but he superseded further consideration of the case in order that defender, if so advised, might tender to pursuer an unconditional undertaking to refrain in future from acts of violence, under certification that, if he failed to give that undertaking, decree of separation & aliment would be pronounced. Thereafter defender having given the required undertaking, the Lord Ordinary dismissed the action: Held: the Lord Ordinary was bound to determine the issue between the parties by granting or refusing decree of separation & aliment, & the course which he had adopted was incompetent. —DAWSON v. DAWSON, [1925] S. C. 221.—SCOT.

PART XIII. SECT. 17, SUB-SECT. 2.

a. Decree of judicial separation—On ground of cruelty—Granted when divorce decree refused.]—Where a decree of divorce is refused on petition by a wife, a decree of judicial separation on the ground of cruelty proved may be sought & granted even though it is not asked for in her petition.—DAVEY v. DAVEY, [1923] 2 W. W. R. 686; 4 D. L. R. 1199; 32 B. C. R. 267.—CAN.

b. Decree nisi—Whether granted.]

Sect. 17.—Finding and decree: Sub-sects. 2 & 3, A., B. & C.] trust in his favour.—Re WOMBWELL'S SETTLEMENT, CLERKE v. MENZIES, [1922] 2 Ch. 298; 92 L. J. Ch. 18; 127 L. T. 295.

Annotation:—Refd. Nepean (otherwise Lee Warner) v. Nepean (1925), 94 L. J. P. 42.

4753. Decree of judicial separation—Wife's cruelty—Attachment of condition—Provision of alimony.]—The ct. has no jurisdiction to order that a husband who obtains a decree of judicial separation by reason of his wife's cruelty, should make any provision for her maintenance.—DART v. DART (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 208; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 125; 9 L. T. 23; 9 Jur. N. S. 474; 11 W. R. 551; 164 E. R. 1254.

Annotations:—Expld. Goodden v. Goodden, [1891] P. 395. Refd. Goodden v. Goodden, [1892] P. 1.

4754. Decree nisi—Ground of refusal—Intended application for new trial.]—When petitioner in a suit for dissolution has obtained the verdict of a jury, it is no ground for refusing to make a decree nisi that notice of an intended application for a new trial has been given.—STONE v. STONE & APPLETON (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 212; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 117; 9 L. T. 24; 11 W. R. 809; 164 E. R. 1255; subsequent proceedings (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 608.

Annotations:—Refd. Yeatman v. Yeatman (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 54. Mentd. R. v. Manning (1883), 12 Q. B. D. 241; Myers v. Myers, Carpendale, Radford & Thom, [1918] P. 260; Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

4755. —— Date of decree—Petition amended.]—AMBLER v. AMBLER & HOGHTON, No. 3651, ante.

4756. —— Form of decree—Where petition dismissed—Appeal pending.]—In a case where a petition for dissolution of marriage had been dismissed on the ground that petitioner had been guilty of connivance, & petitioner had appealed from that decree to the House of Lords, the ct., upon the application of petitioner, inserted in the decree the ground upon which the petition had been dismissed.—GIPPS v. GIPPS & HUME (1863), 2 New Rep. 135; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 179; 11 W. R. 1063; subsequent proceedings (1864), 11 H. L. Cas. 1, H. L.

4757. —— —— —— Evidence as to respondent's domicil.]—A wife whose domicil of origin was in the State of New York, having married in England a husband of the same domicil, obtained in France a decree of divorce which was binding between the parties in the State of New York. She subsequently filed a petition for restitution of conjugal rights in the English cts., & by her reply put resp. to the proof of his domicil & of the law of his domicil as to the validity of the French divorce. Shortly before the hearing she gave notice that she did not intend to proceed with the petition & did not in fact appear. Resp. was allowed to adduce evidence as to his domicil & as to the law of his domicil with regard to the validity of the French decree of divorce & to have these facts embodied in the order dismissing the petition.—CLARK v. CLARK (1921), 37 T. L. R. 815.

4758. —— Effect of—On status of parties—Marriage undissolved.]—HULSE v. HULSE & TAVERNOR, No. 5097, post.

4759. —— —— —— —.]—The status of a married woman is not affected by the pronouncing of a decree nisi for the dissolution of the marriage. She continues to be subject to all the disabilities of coverture until the decree is made absolute. Action for taking goods of pltf. Plea: coverture of pltf. at the time of the alleged taking & of plea pleaded. Prior to the alleged taking a decree nisi had been pronounced for the dissolution of pltf.'s marriage which was made absolute after plea & before the trial:—Held: pltf. was still a married woman notwithstanding the decree nisi, & the plea was proved.—NORMAN v. VILLARS (1877), 2 Ex. D. 359; 46 L. J. Q. B. 579; 36 L. T. 788; 42 J. P. 292; 25 W. R. 780, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Stanhope v. Stanhope (1886), 11 P. D. 103. Apld. Sinclair v. Fell, [1913] 1 Ch. 155. Refd. Ellis v. Ellis (1883), 8 P. D. 188.

4760. —— —— —— —.]—ELLIS v. ELLIS, No. 4185, ante.

4761. —— —— Covenant to settle after-acquired property.]—Testator, who died in 1824, gave property, after certain trusts which determined, to his brother S. for life, remainder to the children of S. F., one of the children of S., who had acquired a vested interest subject to S.'s life interest, married H. On the marriage the husband & wife covenanted to assign to the trustees of the settlement any personal estate which the wife or the husband in her right should "become possessed of or entitled to during the coverture." There was issue of the marriage. On May 27, 1871, a decree nisi for the dissolution of the marriage was pronounced by the Divorce Ct. On Aug. 11, H. & F. executed a deed appointing a new trustee of their marriage settlement. On Oct. 26, S., the tenant for life, died. On Dec. 5, the decree nisi was made absolute. F. married again:—Held: the interest of F. in testator's personal estate was not bound by the covenant in her marriage settlement.—Re PEARSON'S TRUSTS (1872), 26 L. T. 393; 20 W. R. 522.

Annotation:—Consd. & N.F. Sinclair v. Fell, [1913] 1 Ch. 155.

4762. —— —— —— —.]—By a marriage settlement dated in 1879, it was expressly agreed that if the wife during the then intended coverture, or her husband in her right, should at one & the same time & from the same source become entitled to any real or personal property of the value of £200 or upwards the property should be settled. On Jan. 12, 1911, a decree nisi for the dissolution of the marriage was pronounced. On Jan. 22, 1911, the wife became entitled under her mother's will to certain funds which exceeded in value the amount mentioned in the settlement. On July 24, 1911, the decree nisi was made absolute:—Held: the funds fell into possession during the coverture contemplated by the settlement & were therefore bound by the covenant to settle after-acquired property.—SINCLAIR v. FELL, [1913] 1 Ch. 155; 82 L. J. Ch. 105; 108 L. T. 152; 29 T. L. R. 103; 57 Sol. Jo. 145.

4763. —— —— Suit by trustees to administer marriage settlement—Whether husband necessary party.]—A husband, against whom a decree nisi for divorce has been pronounced, is not a necessary party to a suit instituted by the trustees of his marriage settlement against his wife & child for the purpose of having the trusts of the settle-—There is no provision under the divorce law in force in British Columbia for granting a decree nisi in the first place.—PURDY v. PURDY (1910), 16 B. C. R. 493.—CAN.

c. —— Grant of simultaneous decrees.]—Where husband & wife have both claimed a dissolution of the marriage, & petitioner has established his case, the ct. can nevertheless go on & hear the case of resp., &, if this is established, grant, simultaneously, decrees nisi on the suit of each.—HALL v. HALL (1902), 21 N. Z. L. R. 251.—N.Z.

d. —— ——.]—DONALD v. DONALD (1863), 1 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 741; 35 Sc. Jur. 434.—SCOT.

e. —— ——.]—WALKER v. WALKER (1871), 9 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 1091; 43 Sc. Jur. 477.—SCOT.

f. Decree for restitution—Form

ment administered.—STEPHENSON v. STRUTT (1872), 26 L. T. 690; 20 W. R. 745.

4764. —— Rectification—Place of marriage.]—A decree nisi by mistake misstated the place where the marriage was solemnised. On motion, the ct. ordered it to be amended.—SKEATS v. SKEATS & WHITE (1865), 35 L. J. P. & M. 47.

4765. —— —— ——.]—MARSHALL v. MARSHALL, No. 3686, ante.

4766. ·.]—HAMPSON v. HAMPSON, No. 6068, post.

Decree absolute—Effect of.]—See Sect. 25, subsect. 6, post.

4767. Decree for restitution—Service—Substituted service.]—In suits for restitution of conjugal rights, substituted service on resp. of the decree may be ordered as well as of the petition & the demand for return to cohabitation. The divorce rules 221 & 222, as to service out of the jurisdiction, apply to substituted as well as personal service.—PALMER v. PALMER, Re THOMASSON'S PETITION, [1921] P. 378; 90 L. J. P. 361; 125 L. T. 864; 37 T. L. R. 867; sub nom. PALMER v. PALMER, THOMASSON v. THOMASSON, 65 Sol. Jo. 736.

Decree absolute.]—See Sect. 25, post.

SUB-SECT. 3.—CUSTODY OF AND ACCESS TO CHILDREN.

A. In General.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 193; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 73.

Orders for custody pendente lite.]—See Sect. 9, sub-sect. 3, A., ante.

Orders for custody after decree.]—See Sect. 22, sub-sect. 6, A., post.

B. Jurisdiction of Court.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 193.

4768. To order permanent custody—Whether before decree absolute.]—In the interval between a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage being pronounced & its being made absolute, the only order the ct. can make as to the custody of children is an interim order, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 35.—CUBLEY v. CUBLEY & SMITH (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 161.

4769. In proceedings for dissolution—Petition dismissed.]—SEDDON v. SEDDON & DOYLE, No. 4991, post.

4770. To make interim order—On decree for restitution.]—The ct. has power, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 6, to make an interim order as to custody of the children of the marriage, & to save expense will make such an order at the time of the pronouncing of a decree of restitution of conjugal rights.—PAINE v. PAINE (1902), 50 W. R. 382.

4771. In restitution suit.]—The ct has no power in suits of restitution of conjugal rights, to make any order as to the custody of children of the marriage.—CHAMBERS v. CHAMBERS (1870), 39 L. J. P. & M. 56; 22 L. T. 727; 18 W. R. 528.

4772. ——.]—PAINE v. PAINE, No. 4770, ante.

4773. In nullity suit.]—LANGWORTHY v. LANGWORTHY, No. 6057, post.

4774. In separation suit—Parties resident within jurisdiction when suit begun—Though matrimonial domicil foreign.]—ARMYTAGE v. ARMYTAGE, No. 2321, ante.

4775. Child over sixteen.]—(1) The ct. has power, as between the father & mother, to order that one of the parents shall have the custody of the child during minority, but it cannot make an order against a child of sixteen years of age contrary to the child's wishes, unless the child is a ward of ct.

(2) Adultery by the wife which justifies a divorce ought not to be regarded for all time & under all circumstances as sufficient to disentitle her to access to, or even to the custody of, her daughter, who is under sixteen. The statutory power of the ct. in respect of the custody of a child is to be exercised with discretion, & the benefit & interest of the infant is the paramount consideration & not the punishment of the guilty spouse.—STARK v. STARK & HITCHINS, [1910] P. 190; sub nom. MOZLEY STARK v. MOZLEY STARK & HITCHINS, 79 L. J. P. 98; 101 L. T. 770; 26 T. L. R. 194, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (2) Consd. B. v. B., [1924] P. 176 Refd. Clarke v. Clarke & Lindsay (No. 1) (1913), 57 Sol. Jo. 644.

4776. When child a ward of court.]—STARK v. STARK & HITCHINS, No. 4775, ante.

C. When Granted.

See, now, Guardianship of Infants Act, 1925 (c. 45), s. 1; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 73.

4777. Principles on which court acts—Benefit of child.]—STARK v. STARK & HITCHINS, No. 4775, ante.

PART XIII. SECT. 17, SUB-SECT. 3.—B.

g. In alimony suit.]—It may be proper in some cases to disregard the intention of Infants Act that applications for the custody of children be made by petition & not by way of statement of claim. But if the question of the custody of children comes up as a corollary of a judgment in an action for alimony it should be dealt with as a distinct matter & only after the question of alimony or no alimony has been determined, otherwise there is danger of all the considerations with regard to the custody of children not being properly taken into account.—O'LEARY v. O'LEARY, [1923] 1 W. W. R. 501.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 17, SUB-SECT. 3.—C.

4777 i. Principles on which court acts—Benefit of child.]—Where a husband has done no wrong & is able & willing to support his wife & child, the ct. will not take away from him the custody of his infant child merely because the wife prefers to live away from him, & because it thinks that living with the father apart from the mother would be less beneficial to the infant than living with the mother apart from the father. It must be the aim of the ct. not to lay down a rule which will encourage the separation of parents, who ought to live together & jointly take care of their children. The discretion given to the ct. over the custody of infants, by R. S. O. 1897, c. 168, s. 1, is to be exercised as a shield for the wife, where a shield is required against a husband with whom she cannot properly be required to live; it is not to be exercised as a weapon put into the hands of a wife with which she may compel an unoffending husband to live where she sees fit.—Re MATHIEU (1898), 29 O. R. 546.—CAN.

4777 ii. —— ——.]—The guiding principle for the Ct. in awarding the custody of an infant between parents living apart under a separation deed is the interest of the child.—WOOD v. WOOD, [1919] 3 W. W. R. 246.—CAN.

4777 iii. —— ——.]—A wife applied for the custody of the children of a marriage which had been dissolved on her petition on the ground of the husband's misconduct. The children had for some time been in the husband's custody, where they were well cared-for & happy. No suggestion of immorality or drunkenness was made against the wife, but it was shown that in the past she had left the children very much to the care of the husband. The children were one boy aged ten & two girls aged seven & six:—Held:

Sect. 17.—Finding and decree: Sub-sect. 3, C., D., E. & F.

4778. Order unnecessary—Children in custody of petitioner—Respondent in America.]—ROBOTHAM v. ROBOTHAM, No. 5467, post.

4779. —— —— Respondent in Australia.]—(1) A. deserted his wife & went to Australia in Mar. 1854; in 1858 the wife filed a petition for judicial separation by reason of desertion; the husband was personally served, but gave no appearance. The ct. pronounced for the judicial separation, but refused to make any order for the custody of children. It seemed unnecessary, as they were now in the mother's custody, & the father in Australia.

(2) Semble: when permanent custody is intended to be asked for, it should be inserted in the prayer of the petition.—SEYMOUR v. SEYMOUR (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 332; 32 L. T. O. S. 286; 7 W. R. 296; 164 E. R. 753.

4780. On decree of dissolution—Though respondent entitled to custody at common law—Age of child.]—BOYD v. BOYD & COLLINS, No. 4997, post.

4781. —— For guilt of wife.]—BENT v. BENT & FOOTMAN, No. 5394, post.

4782. —— Child not to be taken out of jurisdiction.]—(1) A decree of dissolution of marriage at the suit of the wife having been pronounced, the ct. directed that, until further order, she should have the custody of a child [a boy of seven years of age], the only issue of the marriage, that she should not remove it out of the jurisdiction without the permission of the ct. & that the father should have reasonable access to it.

(2) Under a post-nuptial settlement, two-thirds of the dividends of certain stock, to which the wife at the time of the marriage was entitled, were settled upon the wife for life for her separate use, & the remaining one-third on the husband for life, with benefit of survivorship for life, the corpus of the fund, after the death of the survivor, to go to the issue of the marriage. The ct. directed that, until further orders, the husband's portion of the income of the settled property should be paid to the wife, & in the event of her death in his lifetime the whole of the income, until further order, should be applied to the benefit of the child.—BOYNTON v. BOYNTON (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 275; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 156; 4 L. T. 258; 9 W. R. 620; 164 E. R. 1001; previous proceedings (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 324.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Chetwynd v. Chetwynd (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 39. As to (2) Consd. Wigney v. Wigney (1882), 7 P. D. 177.

4783. On decree of nullity.]—JACKSON (OTHERWISE MACFARLANE) v. JACKSON, No. 5045, post.

D. To Whom Custody Given.

See, now, Guardianship of Infants Act, 1925 (c. 45), s. 1; Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 193.

4784. Discretion of court.]—The jurisdiction as to the custody & education of children committed to the English & Scottish cts. by Conjugal Rights Amendment Act, s. 1861 (c. 86), & Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), is identical & very extensive, & involves great responsibility for its judicious exercise. We are bound to have regard, not to any mere technicalities, or hard & fast rules of practice, but to the real interests of all the parties whom our decision may affect, & to do, for all, what may seem most judicious (LORD O'HAGAN).—SYMINGTON v. SYMINGTON (1875), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 415, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Witt v. Witt, [1891] P. 163; B. v. B., [1924] P. 176. Refd. Handley v. Handley, [1891] P. 124.

4785. Successful party.]—HYDE v. HYDE, No. 4803, post.

4786. —— If health satisfactory.]—The ct. in its decree for a judicial separation, on the ground of the husband's adultery, ordered that the wife should have the custody of the children under fourteen until they should attain that age, on proof that the husband continued the adulterous intercourse. The application of the wife for the custody of the children was opposed, on the ground that she was not of sound mind. The evidence of medical men adduced by the parties conflicting, & it appearing that they were not much conversant with affections of the brain, the ct. directed a personal examination of the wife by an eminent physician, & upon his certificate gave her the custody of the children.—DUGGAN v. DUGGAN (1859), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 159; 23 J. P. 647.

4787. —— Though guilty of connivance.]—In a suit for dissolution petitioner had obtained a decree nisi, & before the decree absolute the Queen's Proctor intervened & charged petitioner with connivance, & conduct conducing to resp.'s adultery. On an application by resp. for an order for the custody of the children, & the payment of an allowance for their maintenance, the ct. refused to treat it on the same principles as an interim order, &, on the ground that the suit had gone far enough to convict resp. of adultery, refused to make the order.—SHEWELL v. SHEWELL & FOX (1869), 20 L. T. 404.

4788. —— Though paternity disputed.]—Petitioner obtained a decree for a divorce from his wife, & applied for the custody of two children, both of whom were born during the marriage. The elder child was begotten before the marriage, & petitioner was not the father of it. Resp. contended that the eldest child was illegitimate, & petitioner was not entitled to its custody. The ct. gave petitioner the custody of both children.—M. v. M. (1906), 22 T. L. R. 325.

4789. Guilty wife.]—BENT v. BENT & FOOTMAN, No. 5394, post.

4790. —— Claiming under terms of separation deed.]—By a deed of separation a husband & wife agreed to live separately for the rest of their lives, & the husband covenanted to pay to the wife a sum of 15*s.* per week, & to permit her to have the custody of the children of the marriage, wholly freed from his authority, as if she were a feme sole. The marriage was afterwards dissolved on the ground of the wife's adultery:—Held: the husband's agreement to permit his wife to have the custody of the children ought not to be enforced.—JUMP v. JUMP (1883), 8 P. D. 159; 52 L. J. P. 71; 31 W. R. 956.

Annotations:—Mentd. Saunders v. Saunders & Beck (1893), 69 L. T. 498; Ollier v. Ollier, [1914] P. 240.

the interests of the children would be best conserved by giving the custody of the girls to the mother & of the boy to the father.—MORTON v. MORTON (1911), 31 N. Z. L. R. 77.—N.Z.

h. Order unnecessary—Children in custody of respondent—Wife granted judicial separation.]—A wife was held entitled to a judicial separation & aliment from her husband on proof of a single act of personal violence following upon frequent & long continued threats, but she was not entitled to the custody of a child in pupillarity, there being no reason to apprehend danger to its health or morals if allowed to remain with the father.—STEUART v. STEUART (1870), 8 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 821; 42 Sc. Jur. 480.—SCOT.

PART XIII. SECT. 17, SUB-SECT. 3.—D.

4785 i. Successful party.]—When a wife obtains a decree for judicial separation on the ground of her husband's cruelty & adultery, & there is nothing to impeach her own conduct, the ct. will allow her to have the custody of the children.—MACLEOD v. MACLEOD (1871), 6 B. L. R. 318.

4791. Formal custody—Child to be looked after by wife's parents.]—PRYOR v. PRYOR, COWIE & MACDONALD, No. 3581, ante.

Compare Sect. 22, sub-sect. 6, post.

E. Variation or Rescission.

4792. Grounds for—Wishes of child over sixteen.]—STARK v. STARK & HITCHINS, No. 4775, ante.

4793. Jurisdiction.]—ROBOTHAM v. ROBOTHAM, No. 5467, post.

F. Declaration of Unfitness of Guilty Parent.

(a) Conduct of Respondent Justifying Order.

See Guardianship of Infants Act, 1886 (c. 27), s. 7.

4794. General rule—Aggravated misconduct.]—Upon a wife's petition for judicial separation on the grounds of her husband's desertion & adultery, the ct. will require very strong evidence of the aggravated character of the conduct of the husband before making an order, under Guardianship of Infants Act, 1886 (c. 27), s. 7, that he is a person unfit to have the custody of his children.—WOOLNOTH v. WOOLNOTH (1902), 86 L. T. 598; 18 T. L. R. 453; 46 Sol. Jo. 359.

4795. —— ——.]—The ct., on granting, at the instance of a husband, a decree of divorce by reason of the misconduct of the wife, refused to make a declaration under Guardianship of Infants Act, 1886 (c. 27), s. 7, that the wife was unfit to have the custody of the children, there being no aggravated circumstances.—BAGNALL v. BAGNALL & HOBBS (1910), 26 T. L. R. 659; 54 Sol. Jo. 738.

4796. Adultery with aggravated cruelty.]—SKINNER v. SKINNER, No. 4810, post.

4797. Violence to petitioner—Ill-treatment of child.]—The ct., while declining to lay down any general principles which should guide the ct. in making, or refusing to make at the suit of a successful petitioner, a declaration under Guardianship of Infants Act, 1886 (c. 27), s. 7, to the effect that resp. is a person unfit to have the custody of the child or children of the marriage, made such a declaration in a suit by the wife for judicial separation on the ground of cruelty, where the misconduct proved included the taking of the only child of the marriage, an infant at the time under a year old, out of the house in its nightdress, & of threats culminating in a murderous assault upon petitioner & her mother, for which resp. was sentenced to a term of penal servitude.—HANDFORD v. HANDFORD (1890), 63 L. T. 256.

4798. —— ——.]—WEBLEY v. WEBLEY, No. 4802, post.

4799. Gross misconduct—Child not ill-treated.]—The ct. appended to its decree for judicial separation, granted upon the ground of gross misconduct on the husband's part, a declaration in terms of Guardianship of Infants Act, 1866 (c. 27), s. 7, that he was a person unfit to have the custody of the only child of the marriage, a girl, notwithstanding the fact that all the witnesses concurred in saying that resp. was very fond of his child, & had never been cruel in any way to her personally.—HITCHINGS v. HITCHINGS (1892), 67 L. T. 530.

4800. Adultery & desertion.]—WOOLNOTH v. WOOLNOTH, No. 4794, ante.

4801. Sodomy.]—C. v. C. (1905), 22 T. L. R. 26.

(b) Rescission of Order.

4802. On ground of reformation—Onus of proof.]—The wife petitioned for a judicial separation on the ground of her husband's cruelty, & she also prayed that the ct. would append to the decree a declaration, in terms of Guardianship of Infants Act, 1886 (c. 27), s. 7, that resp. was a person unfit to have the custody of the children of the marriage. The cruelty proved was, substantially, that resp. pinched & kicked petitioner, & threw cold water over her, & told her that he did so in order to make her miscarry. One of the children was in bed with her at that time. Resp. put petitioner out of the house at night in her nightdress; it was then raining; the children were very frightened & screamed, & a policeman afterwards went to the house & fetched them away, & took them to a neighbour's house, in which petitioner had sought refuge. Resp. on many occasions ill-used the children & made them cry, he made use of filthy language in their presence, & used epithets to one of the children about petitioner, or to petitioner in presence of that child, & the boy afterwards used those epithets to petitioner:—Held: resp. was a person unfit to have the custody of the children; & the effect of declaring him so to be under Guardianship of Infants Act, 1886 (c. 27), s. 7, was merely to put upon him the onus of affirmatively proving himself a reformed character, & fit to be entrusted with the children's custody, in case of any application which might be made in respect of their custody after petitioner's death.—WEBLEY v. WEBLEY (1891), 64 L. T. 839.

Annotation:—Folld. Hitchings v. Hitchings (1892), 67 L. T. 530.

G. Access.

4803. Guilty father — Boy of thirteen.]—Guardianship for nurture continues until a child attains the age of fourteen. Until that age the child cannot exercise his own choice as to quitting or remaining with his father. The ct., in its decree for a judicial separation, on the ground of the adultery of her husband, on proof that the husband continued to live in adultery & that the child of the marriage, a boy aged thirteen, resided with him, there being no imputation on the wife, ordered that she should have the custody of the child until the age of fourteen, provision being made for the husband having access to it.—HYDE v. HYDE (1859), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 150; 23 J. P. 471.

Annotation:—Folld. Duggan v. Duggan (1859), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 159.

4804. —— Boy of seven.]—BOYNTON v. BOYNTON, No. 4782, ante.

4805. Guilty mother.]—After a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage on the ground of the wife's adultery, the ct. will not order that she have access to the children of the marriage.—CLOUT v. CLOUT & HOLLEBONE (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 391; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 176; 5 L. T. 139; 164 E. R. 1047.

Annotations:—Consd. B. v. B., [1924] P. 176. Refd. Bent

PART XIII. SECT. 17, SUB-SECT. 3. E.

k. Right of parties to action to apply for.]—Where in a final decree of separation or divorce provision has been made with respect to the custody, maintenance & education of the pupil children of the marriage:—Held: it is incompetent for either party to apply in the action for an alteration of such provision unless right to apply has been reserved in the decree.—SANDERSON v. SANDERSON, [1921] S. C. 686; 58 Sc. L. R. 476.—SCOT.

PART XIII. SECT. 17, SUB-SECT. 3. G.

4805 i. Guilty mother.]—When the marriage is dissolved on account of the adultery of the wife, she is not entitled to have access to the children of the marriage.—KELLY v. KELLY & SAUNDERS (1870), 5 B. L. R. 71.—IND.

Sect. 17.—Finding and decree: Sub-sect. 3, G. & H.; s. 4 & 5. Sect. 18: Sub-sects. 1 & 2.]

v. Bent & Footman (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 175; Handley v. Handley & Wroughton (1890), 39 W. R. 97.

4806. ——.]—BENT v. BENT & FOOTMAN, No. 5394, post.

II. Practice and Procedure.

4807. Whether must be specially prayed in petition.]—SEYMOUR v. SEYMOUR, No. 4779, ante.

4808. ——.]—The ct. will not, at the hearing of a suit, order that petitioner have the custody of the children of the marriage unless the petition prays for such custody.—BODDY v. BODDY & GROVER (1860), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 163.

4809. —— On motion to make decree absolute—Notice of intention to apply given to respondent.]—The ct. will grant custody of children on the motion for making a decree nisi absolute without petition, notice having been given previously to the other side of the intention to apply for such custody.—DAVIES v. DAVIES (1866), 15 W. R.

4810. Service of notice of application—Where respondent does not appear.]—The ct., having found resp. guilty of adultery & cruelty [of an aggravated character] pronounced a decree nisi dissolving the marriage, & upon the application of counsel for petitioner, & upon proof of the service, by posting a registered letter containing a notice of this application, upon resp. made an order declaring resp. to be a person unfit to have the custody of the children of the marriage, in terms of Guardianship of Infants Act, 1886 (c. 27), s. 7.—SKINNER v. SKINNER (1888), 13 P. D. 90; 57 L. J. P. 104; 58 L. T. 923; 52 J. P. 406; 36 W. R. 912.

Annotation:—Distd. Woolnoth v. Woolnoth (1902), 18 T. L. R. 453.

4811. Evidence in support of application—At hearing of principal petition—Must be admissible in cause.]—The ct. will not, at the hearing of a cause, entertain an application for the custody of children if it is founded upon evidence not admissible in the cause, nor an application for permanent alimony. They should be made on a motion day. But at the hearing the ct. may direct that petitioner have the custody of children until further order, if the facts proved in the cause would warrant such an order, e.g. if the adultery of resp. be proved.—WALLACE v. WALLACE (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 34; 8 Jur. N. S. 1082; 11 W. R. 30.

4812. Order for custody until further order—When granted.]—WALLACE v. WALLACE, No. 4811, ante.

4813. Inquiry as to fitness of parent—Allegation of insanity.]—DUGGAN v. DUGGAN, No. 4786, ante.

SUB-SECT. 4.—ORDER FOR DAMAGES.

4814. Peremptory order—Inability of co-respondent to pay apprehended.]—Where damages, awarded by a jury against co-resp. in a suit by the husband for dissolution had been ordered to be paid to petitioner, & it appeared that he was in danger of losing them, the ct. ordered they should be paid within ten days after the service of the order.—BENT v. BENT & FOOTMAN (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 189; 5 L. T. 120; 10 W. R. 448.

4815. —— ——.]—In a suit by the husband for dissolution of marriage on the ground of the wife's adultery, damages to the amount of £500 were assessed against co-resp. The ct. granted a decree nisi & condemned him in costs. On affidavits, showing that co-resp. was removing his effects, & evading service of a peremptory order for payment of the damages, the ct. allowed a writ of fi. fa. to issue forthwith, without requiring personal service of the order.—PRITCHARD v. PRITCHARD & BEAN (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 53; 39 L. J. P. & M. 46; 22 L. T. 629.

Annotation:—Refd. Re Muirhead, Ex p. Muirhead (1876), 2 Ch. D. 22.

4816. Bankruptcy of co-respondent—Payment into court ordered—Rescission of order—Payment to petitioner.]—Damages having been given against a co-resp., an order was made that the amount should be paid into the registry of the ct. within a certain time. Before such order had been made, the co-resp. became a bkpt., & a trustee of his property was appointed. The damages were not paid into the registry, nor could they be proved under the bkpcy. In order to facilitate the latter step, the ct. rescinded its former order, & directed that the damages should be paid to petitioner himself.—PATTERSON v. PATTERSON & GRAHAM (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 189; 40 L. J. P. & M. 5; 23 L. T. 568; 19 W. R. 232.

Annotations:—Dbtd. Re Muirhead, Ex p. Muirhead (1876), 2 Ch. D. 22. Consd. Re O'Gorman, Ex p. Bale, [1899] 2 Q. B. 62.

4817. Rescission of decree nisi—Intervention of King's Proctor—Effect on order for damages.]—RAVENSCROFT v. RAVENSCROFT & SMITH, No. 4833, post.

4818. —— —— ——.]—When a petitioning husband has by concealing his own adultery obtained a decree nisi & an award of damages & costs against co-resp. the rescision of the decree on the intervention of the King's Proctor involves setting aside the award of damages & costs.—BALDWIN v. BALDWIN & STOWELL (1919), 35 T. L. R. 616.

4819. Decree nisi refused—Although damages awarded.]—STORY v. STORY & O'CONNOR, No. 3471, ante.

4820. Co-respondent out of jurisdiction—Sanction by court of voluntary payment.] — The ct. sanctioned the voluntary payment of a sum of money in lieu of damages by a co-resp. who was not subject to the jurisdiction of the ct.—LUCAS v. LUCAS & GEORGETTI (1909), 25 T. L. R. 248.

Enforcement—Against representative of co-respondent.]—See EXECUTORS, Vol. XXIV., p. 633, No. 6598.

—— Process of execution.]—See Nos. 5905, 5961–5966, post.

—— Payment into court.]—See No. 5905, post.

SUB-SECT. 5.—ORDER FOR COSTS.

See Sect. 18, post.

SECT. 18.—ORDER FOR COSTS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

4821. Abatement of suit—Death of husband or wife—Application for wife's costs—Court cannot entertain.]—A suit by the wife against her husband, having abated by the wife's death; the ct. will not, at the petition of the Proctor, direct the costs incurred by the wife to be paid by the husband.—CHEALE v. CHEALE (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 374; 162 E. R. 617.

1. When made—Costs not vexatiously incurred.]—The test as to allowance of costs appears to be whether or not they have been vexatiously incurred.—GLENNIE v. GLENNIE (1863), 1 Ch. Ch. 155.—CAN.

4822. —— —— —— ——.]—MACONOCHIE v. MACONOCHIE, MACONOCHIE v. MACONOCHIE & BLAKE, No. 4578, ante.

4823. Postponement of order—Until final verdict—Intervention of King's Proctor.]—In a suit for dissolution by the wife, a decree nisi had been pronounced. The Queen's Proctor intervened, & charged petitioner with adultery. The ct. refused to postpone the payment of the wife's costs by the husband until the result of the Queen's Proctor's intervention was known.—GLADSTONE v. GLADSTONE (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 260; 44 L. J. P. & M. 46; 32 L. T. 404.

Annotation:—Refd. Butler v. Butler (1890), 15 P. D. 126.

4824. —— —— ——.]—Where there were cross-petitions for dissolution & the wife had succeeded in obtaining a decree nisi, & the Queen's Proctor subsequently intervened, & an application was made on behalf of the wife for the payment out to her solicitor of a sum of money paid into the registry by the husband to secure the wife's costs of both trials:—Held: having regard to r. 201 of the Rules & Regulations of the Divorce Court, the whole question of costs must be postponed until the questions raised by the Queen's Proctor's intervention were decided, & the decree either made absolute or dismissed.—BUTLER v. BUTLER, BUTLER v. BUTLER & BURNHAM (1889), 14 P. D. 160; 59 L. J. P. 71; 38 W. R. 272.

4825. Form of order—Terms to be stated—Not "usual order for wife's costs."]—BETTON-BRIGHT v. BETTON-BRIGHT, No. 4952, post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—DISCRETION OF COURT.

4826. Costs within discretion of court.]—WELLS v. WELLS & COTTAM, No. 4865, post.

4827. ——.]—JONES v. JONES, No. 2320, ante.

4828. ——.]—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL, No. 4307, ante.

4829. ——.]—PALMER v. PALMER & STOCKLEY, No. 4961, post.

4830. ——.]—BURNE v. BURNE & HELVOET, No. 5016, post.

4831. ——.]—BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD, ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, No. 4676, ante.

4832. —— Absolute discretion.]—By Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 51, the ct. which hears the suit has absolute authority over costs, & no appeal as to costs only lies. The settled practice of the ct. is, that the wife, if she fails, will not be entitled to taxed costs beyond the sum of money paid into ct. by the husband at the order of the registrar. In the present case the ct. rejected a motion for an order on the husband to pay the balance of the wife's taxed costs above such sum of money paid into ct., & condemned the wife's solr. in costs of the motion. Qu.: whether, if dissatisfied with the registrar's order, the wife's solr. ought not then to have applied to the judge ordinary to vary such order.—GLENNIE v. GLENNIE & BOWLES (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 109; 7 L. T. 696; 164 E. R. 1214.

Annotations:—Refd. Allen v. Allen & Bell, [1891] P. 248; Brown v. Brown, [1915] P. 83.

4833. ——.]—In a husband's suit for dissolution, the jury found that his wife had committed adultery with one of co-resps., & assessed the damages at £100. The ct. pronounced a decree nisi, but, before it was made absolute, the Queen's Proctor intervened, & charged the husband with adultery, connivance, & collusion. The issue of adultery, which was of a very profligate character, was proved against the husband, whereupon the ct. reversed the decree nisi, including that part which condemned the co-resp. in costs, & intimated that it would make no order on him to pay the damages. The ct. has a complete discretionary power over costs & damages, & the verdict of the jury gives the petitioner no indisputable right to the damages assessed.

The question of costs is one entirely within the discretion of the ct. It is a question which must depend upon the circumstances of each case. Without going fully into the matter, it is obvious that there may be a case in which, although the husband may have committed an act of adultery, the ct. would hold that he is entitled to recover his costs against co-resp., whose adultery had been established; on the other hand, there may be cases in which the ct. would come to the conclusion that petitioner's conduct was so bad that he ought never to have come to the ct., & therefore that co-resp. ought not to be condemned in costs (per CUR.).—RAVENSCROFT v. RAVENSCROFT & SMITH (1872), L. R. 2 P. & D. 376; 41 L. J. P. & M. 28; 26 L. T. 265; 20 W. R. 448.

Annotations:— Apld. Yowell v. Yowell, Serrash & Burleigh (1875), 24 W. R. 59. Refd. Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893]

4834. ——.]—HYDE v. HYDE & FELLGATE, No. 4845, post.

4835. —— — —.]—(1) Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, gives the ct. an absolute discretion as to costs.

(2) It is an established rule not to award costs in favour of a husband petitioning for a divorce against a co-resp. who had no knowledge that resp. was a married woman; but is too broad a statement of the rule to say that co-resp. must have such knowledge at the time he first misconducted himself. In a case where adultery after knowledge is established the ct. is not precluded from awarding costs by mere fact that co-resp. has also committed adultery at a date before he had knowledge.

(3) In a case where the proof of such prior misconduct depended only on confession the ct. gave costs against co-resp.—NORRIS v. NORRIS & SMITH,

PART XIII. SECT. 18, SUB-SECT. 2.

4826 i. Costs within discretion of court.]—In divorce proceedings where a wife brings an unsuccessful appeal, her costs of the appeal are in the discretion of the ct.—MOSES v. MOSES (1920), 27 C. L. R. 490.—AUS.

4826 ii. ——.]—Where in an action of divorce a wife has been unsuccessful in the Outer-House, & then presents a reclaiming note, the question whether she is entitled to her expenses, if she is again unsuccessful, must depend on whether the case was a fair one to bring before the ct.—THOMSON v. THOMSON, [1908] S. C. 179; 45 Sc. L. R. 95; 15 S. L. T. 503.—SCOT.

4826 iii. ——.]—A lady possessing a considerable private fortune brought an action of divorce for adultery against her husband, in which the Lord Ordinary assoilzied defender, & on a reclaiming note the Division adhered. Defender was awarded only half his expenses in the Outer-House, on the ground that his conduct had been so indiscreet as to afford reasonable cause for suspicion, but, as in the Inner-House he was defending a judgment in his favour, he was awarded the full expenses of the reclaiming note.—BENNET CLARK v. BENNET CLARK, [1909] S. C. 591; 46 Sc. L. R. 529; 1 S. L. T. 415.—SCOT.

Sect. 18.—Order for costs: Sub-sects. 2 & 3, A.

[1918] P. 129; 87 L. J. P. 119; 118 L. T. 507; 34 T. L. R. 224; 62 Sol. Jo. 585.

Annotations:—Consd. Sweeting v. Sweeting & Rowlands (1919), 36 T. L. R. 15; Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126. Folld. Burne v. Burne & Helvoet, [1920] P. 17.

4836. —— Judicial discretion.]—GIBBS v. GIBBS & HEATHCOTE, No. 5024, post.

4837. Exercise of discretion—Conduct of all parties.]—(1) It is no ground for a new trial that the judge in his summing-up did not give as much weight to some parts of the evidence as they may have deserved.

(2) The exercise of the discretion as to costs vested in the ct. by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 34, depends upon the opinion of the ct. as to the conduct of all the parties in each case; & even if it is proved that co-resp. knew resp. to be a married woman when the adultery was committed, it does not necessarily follow that he will be condemned in the whole of the costs. Where a resp., in her answer, charged petitioner with wilful neglect & misconduct, & that charge was negatived by the verdict of the jury, & a decree was granted on the ground of her adultery with co-resp. & with another person who was not a party to the suit, the ct., being of opinion that the conduct of petitioner had been such as to invite reasonable challenge, refused to condemn co-resp. in the whole of the costs of the suit, & condemned him in those costs only which had been incurred in proving resp.'s adultery with him.—CODRINGTON v. CODRINGTON & ANDERSON (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 63: 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 60; 11 Jur. N. S. 287; 13 W. R. 527; 164 E. R. 1439.

4838. —— Whether restricted—By insertion in petition of claim for damages.]—(1) The insertion in a petition of a claim for damages does not deprive the ct. of the power to make such order as to costs as may seem just, given by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 51.

(2) On the trial of an issue of adultery the alleged adulterer was called as a witness, & simply denied the charge without entering into any details or offering any explanation of his conduct. The jury were unable to agree upon their verdict, & the issue was tried a second time. On the second trial the alleged adulterer was again examined, &, besides denying the adultery, entered into full details & explained his conduct. The jury found that he was not guilty of the charge. The ct. refused to condemn petitioner in his costs on the ground that by his suspicious conduct & by his reticence on the first trial, he had contributed to put petitioner to the expense of a second trial.—WEST v. WEST & PARKER, WEST v. WEST (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 196; 40 L. J. P. & M. 11; 23 L. T. 786; 19 W. R. 392.

4839. —— —— Agreement between husband & wife.]—WEEKES v. WEEKES, WEEKES v. WEEKES & MARSHALL (1905), 21 T. L. R. 227.

4840. Allowance of wife's costs.]—BUTLER v. BUTLER, No. 5216, post.

4841. —— Where wife has separate property.]—In a suit for the restitution of conjugal rights, the wife having a separate property of her own, is liable to pay her own costs.

Under the circumstances of this case . . . the husband ought not to pay the wife's costs: in the general course the husband pays costs because he is supposed to have a fortune & the wife nothing but what she had from him; but here the case is directly the reverse (SIR GEORGE LEE).—HOLMES v. HOLMES (1755), 2 Lee, 90; 2 Hag. Con. 205, n.: 161 E. R. 274.

Annotations:—Folld. Davis v. Davis (1789), 2 Hag. Con. 204, n. Distd. Beevor v. Beevor (1809), 3 Phillim. 261.

4842. —— ——.]—D'AGUILAR v. D'AGUILAR, No. 4064, ante.

4843. —— ——.]—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON & LANE, No. 2777, ante.

4844. —— ——.]—JONES v. JONES, No. 2320, ante.

4845. —— ——.]—On a motion to condemn a wife, resp. in divorce proceedings, in costs incurred by her husband in those proceedings & in endeavouring to enforce an order made against her in favour of petitioner for the custody of the children of the marriage, & for disobeying which she had been declared to be in contempt, the ct. refused to receive affidavits which had been filed by her, in which she gave an illusory address or no address at all, & proceeded upon petitioner's uncontradicted affidavits to deal with the motion. The ct. has absolute discretion to make such order as to costs as to it may seem just, & the ct. will not inquire whether, at the time the wife committed the wrongful act, she had or had not any separate estate, but will only consider what is just at the time when it has to arrive at a decision; & if the ct. finds that at that time there is property of the guilty wife upon which an order for costs, if made, can operate, the guilty wife, like any other unsuccessful litigant, will be condemned in costs.—HYDE v. HYDE & FELLGATE (1888), 59 L. T. 523.

—See, generally, Sub-sect. 3, E., post.

4846. Costs against co-respondent.]—(1) The question of condemning co-resp. in costs is entirely in the discretion of the ct.

(2) If a co-resp. who has misconducted himself with a woman in ignorance of the fact that she was a married woman continues to live in adultery with her after being informed of that fact, he will not necessarily be condemned in costs.—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON & WILSON (1898), 78 L. T. 391; 14 T. L. R. 363.

Annotation:—Folld. Burne v. Burne & Helvoet, [1920] P. 17.

4847. ——.]—LANGRICK v. LANGRICK & FUNNELL, No. 4684, ante.

4848. —— Statutory discretion.]—The awarding of costs against a co-resp. is in the statutory discretion of the ct., & the rule of practice that has obtained, that costs should not be awarded against a co-resp. who is not proved to have been aware that resp. was a married woman, is of questionable justice. In the exercise of its discretion the ct. awarded damages & costs against a co-resp. who, unaware that resp. was a married woman, was reckless & indifferent whether she was married or not.

Though there has grown up a practice in the Divorce Ct. not to condemn a co-resp. in costs unless it is proved that he knew that resp. was a married woman, that practice does not override the general discretion given to the judge by statute to give costs in such a case if the circumstances make it reasonable. A similar rule as to damages is well established.—SMITH v. SMITH & REED, [1922] P. 1; 91 L. J. P. 9; 126 L. T. 350; 38 T. L. R. 57.

4849. Application for costs—Application out of time.]—CONRADI v. CONRADI & FLASHMAN, No. 5057, post.

4850. —— ——.]—SOMERVILLE v. SOMERVILLE & WEBB, No. 5058, post.

SUB-SECT. 3.—BETWEEN HUSBAND AND WIFE.

A. In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules 1924, rr. 91–93.

Discretion of court.]—See Sub-sect. 2, ante.

4851. Husband liable for wife's costs.]—In a suit for nullity of marriage brought by the husband, a de facto marriage being admitted, the husband is to bear the expenses of the wife.—BIRD (alias BELL) v. BIRD (1753), 1 Lee, 209; 161 E. R. 78.

Annotations:—Refd. Miles v. Chilton (1819), 1 Rob. Eccl. 684; Foden v. Foden, [1894] P. 307.

4852. ——.]—In a matrimonial cause, a husband is liable to pay the costs of the wife.—FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD (LADY) (1754), 1 Lee, 649; 161 E. R. 237.

4853. ——.]—HOLMES v. HOLMES, No. 4841, ante.

4854. — —D'AGUILAR v. D'AGUILAR, No. 4064, ante.

4855. — -BEEVOR v. BEEVOR, No. 4918, post.

4856. ——.]—BROWN v. BROWN, No. 5043, post.

4857. ——.]—FYLER v. FYLER, No. 4919, post.

4858. ——.]—BRITTAIN v. BRITTAIN & CAMP, No. 4010, ante.

4859. —— Unless wife has separate property.]—The husband liable to the costs of the wife, unless she has a separate income sufficient both for her own support, & for the payment of her costs.—BELCHER v. BELCHER (1836), 1 Curt. 444; 163 E. R. 156.

4860. —— ——.]—The ct. refused to tax the costs of the wife against the husband, he being possessed of no property whatever, & having been shortly before discharged from prison, as an insolvent debtor, although not proceeding in formâ pauperis, but declined, at his prayer, to appoint a day for hearing the cause.

It is the general practice, that the husband must pay the costs incurred by the wife; but that rule is liable to some modifications; where, for instance, the wife has a separate income (DR. LUSHINGTON). —WALKER v. WALKER (1837), 1 Curt. 560; 163 E. R. 196.

Annotations:—Consd. Ward v. Ward (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 484; Hepworth v. Hepworth (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 411. Refd. Bishop v. Wildbore (1855), 9 Moo. P. C. C. 408; Spratt v. Spratt (1857), Dea. & Sw. 276.

4861. —— ——.]—(1) It is a rule of the Divorce Div. that a wife cannot be condemned in costs unless it is shown that she has separate estate.

(2) This rule is equally applied where the King's Proctor has obtained on motion the rescission of a decree nisi granted to a wife petitioner.—MORRIS v. MORRIS (1915), 112 L. T. 999; 31 T. L. R. 217.

See, further, Sub-sect. 3, E., post.

4862. Although co-respondent condemned in all costs—Recovery from co-respondent unlikely.] —EVANS v. EVANS & ROBINSON, No. 4948, post.

4863. —— Interlocutory motion—Made or opposed unsuccessfully.]—HEPWORTH v. HEPWORTH, No. 4269, ante.

4864. —— Decision adverse to wife—No separate property.]—JONES v. JONES, No. 2320, ante.

4865. Nullity suit by father of husband—No reasonable defence by wife.]—Petitioner, father of a de facto husband, sued for decree of nullity by reason of undue publication of banns. The de facto wife defended the suit, the issue in which was tried by a jury, who found a verdict against her & the ct. made a decree of nullity. On motion to condemn the husband in the wife's costs:—Held: Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 51, gave the ct. power so to do, if the circumstances of the case warranted it; but as the wife, by not going into the witness box, had shown that she had no reasonable ground of defence to lay before the jury, her costs were not made necessary by the conduct of the husband, & rejected the motion.—WELLS v. WELLS & COTTAM (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 593; 11 L. T. 318; 10 Jur. N. S. 1208; 164 E. R. 1405; sub nom. WELLS v. COTTAM (FALSELY CALLED WELLS) & WELLS, 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 12; 13 W. R. 279.

Liability of husband's representative.] — See EXECUTORS, Vol. XXIV., p. 632, Nos. 6595–6597.

B. Petition by Wife.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 91–93.

4866. —— Nullity suit—Impediment known to wife at time of marriage—Infringement of affinity laws.]—AUGHTIE v. AUGHTIE (1810), 1 Phillim. 201; 161 E. R. 961.

4867. —— —— —— ——.]—A decree will be made declaring a marriage with a deceased wife's sister null & void, although it is shown that both parties at the time of the celebration of the marriage were aware of the impediment.

I consider myself called upon to declare this marriage null & void, but I shall refuse petitioner her costs (BUTT, J.).—ANDREWS v. ROSS (1888), 14 P. D. 15; 58 L. J. P. 14; 59 L. T. 900; 37 W. R. 239.

Annotations:—Consd. Bonaparte v. Bonaparte, [1892] P. 402; Moss v. Moss, [1897] P. 263; Grant v. Giannetti, [1913] P. 137.

4868. Petition successful—Wife possessed of separate property—No application by husband for relief.]—BARROW v. BARROW, No. 4935, post.

4869. —— Costs follow decree—Where no order made.]—A wife, in whose favour a decree for a dissolution of marriage is made, is entitled to costs against her husband, where no order has been made.—KAYE v. KAYE (1858), 4 Sw. & Tr. 239; 27 L. J. P. & M. 54; 164 E. R. 1507.

Annotation:—Consd. Chetwynd v. Chetwynd (1865), 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 65.

4870. —— —— ——.]—PEACOCK v. PEACOCK, No. 3207, ante.

4871. —— —— ——.]—Where the ct. decrees a dissolution of marriage at the suit of the wife, costs follow the decree as a matter of course, if the ct., in pronouncing its decree, gives no directions as to costs.—DIXON v. DIXON (1859), 28 L. J. P. & M. 96.

Annotation:—Consd. Chetwynd v. Chetwynd (1865), 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 65.

4872. Petition unsuccessful—Collusion between parties.]—TODD v. TODD, No. 3156, ante.

4873. —— —— Wife's solicitors parties thereto.] —(1) A wife having obtained a decree nisi in a petition for divorce, the Queen's Proctor intervened, & she was proved to have obtained the decree by collusion, to which her solrs. were parties. The petition was accordingly dismissed. The husband in the course of the proceedings had paid into the registry two sums of money to cover the wife's costs of the two proceedings:—Held: the wife was not entitled to an order that such money should be paid out to her or her solrs.

(2) It is not the practice of the ct. to order the husband to give security for his wife's costs

PART XIII. SECT. 18, SUB-SECT. 3.—B.

m. Petition successful.]—A wife obtained a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage on June 1, 1920, & the decree was made absolute on Dec. 15, 1920, & she applied for costs required by her in order to bring the same to a hearing:—Held: she was entitled to an order that resp. furnish the costs.—AVERY v. AVERY, [1921] 2 W. W. R. 873.—CAN.

n. ——.]—NEHEMIA v. NEHEMIA (1913), 32 N. Z. L. R. 1183.—N.Z.

Sect. 18.—Order for costs: Sub-sect. 3, B. & C. (a), (b) & (c).]

incidental to an intervention of the Queen's Proctor.—BUTLER v. BUTLER (1890), 15 P. D. 32; 62 L. T. 477; sub nom. BUTLER v. BUTLER, BUTLER v. BUTLER & BURNHAM, 59 L. J. P. 30; affd. on appeal, 15 P. D. 126. C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1892] P. 152. Generally, Refd. Palmer v. Palmer & Stockley, [1914] P. 116.

4874. —— Conduct of husband condoned.]—DENNING v. DENNING (circa 1886), cited 57 L. T. 375.

Annotation:—Consd. Thompson v. Thompson (1886), 57 L. T. 374.

4875. —— Groundless allegations against husband.]—At the hearing of a suit for divorce preferred by the wife, the charges of cruelty were withdrawn, & those of adultery were found to be not proved, the petition being accordingly dismissed. The question as to the wife's costs was reserved for further argument. No order had been made upon the husband to secure any sum for his wife's costs. The ct., after hearing counsel for both the parties, now refused to order resp. to pay the costs of petitioner.—THOMPSON v. THOMPSON (1886), 57 L. T. 374.

4876. —— ——.]—On a wife's petition for a dissolution of her marriage on the ground of her husband's alleged cruelty & adultery, all the issues were found in favour of resp. An application was made at the trial that the wife might be allowed her full costs over & above the amounts paid into ct. or ordered to be secured:—Held: the costs of attempting to prove the charge of adultery & so much of the charges of cruelty as appeared to be founded on reasonable & probable cause must be allowed; but the costs of proving certain other charges of cruelty that had been made without sufficient reasonable & probable cause, & in respect of which resp. had been put to unnecessary expense & trouble, must be disallowed.—ASH v. ASH, [1893] P. 222; 62 L. J. P. 97; 68 L. T. 500; 1 R. 524.

Annotations:—Consd. Walker v. Walker & Lawson (1897), 76 L. T. 234; Kay v. Kay, [1904] P. 382; Beer v. Beer (1906), 91 L. T. 701; Huntly-Gordon v. Huntly-Gordon (Nicholson cited) (1908), 24 T. L. R. 806.

4877. —— ——.]—In a suit by a wife for judicial separation on the ground of cruelty, where no summons for discovery of documents had been applied for by the wife's solr., it transpired, & was conclusively proved at the hearing, that numbers of affectionate letters had passed between the parties during a period of more than a year after the husband had gone to China to resume his official duties, &, after the acts specified in the petition as cruelty & deposed to by petitioner, were alleged to have been committed. At the close of petitioner's case the petition was dismissed, & the ct. refused to make the "usual order" for the wife's costs.—HOUGH v. HOUGH (1894), 71 L. T. 703; 10 T. L. R. 587.

4878. -.]—KAY v. KAY, No. 2850, ante.

4879. -.]—BEER v. BEER, No. 2474, ante.

4880. Reasonably founded charges against husband.]—ASH v. ASH, No. 4876, ante.

4881. —— ——.]—KAY v. KAY, No. 2850, ante.

4882. —— ——.]—(1) If costs have been reasonably incurred on behalf of a wife in presenting a case of a reasonable character, where the charges she brings against her husband have substance in them, so that she is justified in going to a solr. & obtaining security for herself & indirectly for her solr., the wife is entitled to an order for payment by her husband of her costs, though she has failed to establish her case at the trial.

(2) Where a wife makes charges as petitioner against her husband, the case has to be more carefully scrutinised than where the wife merely makes allegations by way of defence to a petition presented against her.—HUNTLY-GORDON v. HUNTLY-GORDON (NICHOLSON CITED) (1908), 24 T. L. R. 806.

4883. Petition withdrawn—Nullity suit—Suit for separation pending.]—GARSTON v. GARSTON (circa 1869), cited 39 L. J. P. & M. 5.

Annotation:—Consd. Miller v. Miller (1869), 39 L. J. P. & M. 4.

4884. Rescission of decree nisi—Intervention of King's Proctor.]—A wife obtained a decree nisi for the dissolution of her marriage, with costs against resp. Before that decree was made absolute, the Queen's Proctor intervened, & filed affidavits proving that she had committed adultery whilst the suit was pending, & the decree was thereupon rescinded & petition dismissed:—Held: (1) the wife, having obtained an order for alimony pendente lite, was entitled to an attachment against resp. for non-payment of the arrears of alimony up to the date when she was found guilty of adultery; (2) she was entitled to enforce the payment by resp. of all costs which had been taxed, & ordered to be paid up to the same date, including the costs of the hearing, although they had not been taxed.—WHITMORE v. WHITMORE (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 96; 35 L. J. P. & M. 39, 52; 13 L. T. 723; 14 L. T. 171; 14 W. R. 352.

Annotation:—As to (2) Consd. Butler v. Butler (1890), 15 P. D. 126.

4885. Successive proceedings—Only later proceedings successful—Costs of former suit.]—A wife instituted a suit for nullity of marriage on the ground of the husband's impotence. She failed to establish the charge & the suit was dismissed, but the husband was ordered to pay & he paid a certain sum towards her costs. She afterwards instituted a suit for dissolution on the ground of his adultery coupled with cruelty, & she established those charges & obtained a decree. The husband was condemned in the wife's costs of the suit for dissolution, but he was allowed to deduct therefrom the amount which he had paid on account of her costs in the suit for nullity.—

4875 i. Petition unsuccessful—Groundless allegations against husband.] Where a wife petitions for divorce when she has no reasonable grounds for believing her husband guilty of misconduct, & no satisfactory evidence to prove it if she had, the ct. may express disapproval of her action by refusing her costs.—COUCH v. COUCH, [1924] 2 W. W. R. 1220.—CAN.

o. —— In dissolution suit—Judicial separation granted—Reasonable grounds for instituting proceedings.]—A wife, unsuccessful in obtaining divorce, but granted judicial separation, is entitled to costs, if, upon the facts submitted to her solr. & upon which he proceeded to trial, he had reasonable grounds to warrant him in instituting proceedings for divorce.—DAVEY v. DAVEY, [1923] 2 W. W. R. 686; 4 D. L. R. 1199; 32 B. C. R. 267.—CAN.

p. —— Respondent successful in former suit for judicial separation.]—Notwithstanding that two years before resp. husband had obtained on his opposed petition an order of judicial separation against his wife, petitioner, on the grounds of her desertion, she was nevertheless held entitled to an order for costs in her present divorce petition.—CHOLAWCZUK v. CHOLAWCZUK, [1924] 2 W. W. R. 948.—CAN.

q. —— Wife without means—No security for wife's costs.]—In a divorce suit, where it is shown that the wife has no money of her own, the mere fact that no deposit has been made or security given for payment of the wife's costs is no obstacle to the making of an order against the husband to pay her costs, although her petition is dismissed.—BOYLE v. BOYLE (1903), I. L. R. 30 Calc. 631; 7 C. W. N. 565.

r. —— Wife guilty of adultery—Appeal costs.]—Where the wife has been herself found guilty of adultery by the ct. of first instance & then actively brings the matter before the DITCHFIELD v. DITCHFIELD (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 729 ; 38 L. J. P. & M. 51 ; 20 L. T. 1016.

Annotation :—Consd. Jones v. Jones (1872), L. R. 2 P. & D. 333.

4886. Cross petitions—Decree nisi on both petitions—Wife without means.]—G. v. G. (1912), No. 2345, ante.

Conduct of wife's solicitor.]—See Sub-sect. 3, D., post.

Part costs.]—See No. 4876, ante.

C. Petition by Husband.

(a) In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 91–93.

4887. Successive proceedings—Failure of earlier proceedings.]—The answer of a wife to her husband's petition for dissolution of marriage, on the ground of her adultery, denied the adultery & alleged cruelty. At the trial the jury found for the husband on the first issue, & for the wife on the second. On a new trial being had, the jury found for resp. on the first issue, & were discharged as to the second. The ct., while declining to lay down any general rule, under the circumstances condemned the husband in all the costs of both trials, including those exceeding the amounts for which he had given security.—NICHOLSON v. NICHOLSON & RATCLIFFE (1864), 4 New Rep. 73; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 114.
Annotation :—Distd. Wight v. Wight (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 368.

4888. —— ——.]—WAUDBY v. WAUDBY & BOWLAND, No. 4994, post.

4889. —— New trial.]—MORPHETT v. MORPHETT, No. 2633, ante.

4890. —— Appeal.]—OTWAY v. OTWAY, OTWAY v. OTWAY & HOFFER, No. 3539, ante.

Part costs.]—See Sub-sect. 3, F. (a), post.

(b) Petition Successful.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 91–93.

4891. Liability of husband—If no contrary order made.]—Where dissolution of marriage, on the ground of the wife's adultery, is decreed, if no order to the contrary is made, the husband pays the wife's costs.—LING v. LING & CROKER (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 187 ; 27 L. J. P. & M. 58 ; 31 L. T. O. S. 268 ; 6 W. R. 736 ; 164 E. R. 685.
Annotation :—Consd. Evans v. Evans & Robinson (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 328.

4892. —— Costs de die in diem.]—WEBER v. WEBER & PYNE, No. 4093, ante.

4893. —— ——.]—HOLT v. HOLT & FLEEMING, No. 4296, ante.

4894. —— Wife's defence groundless.]—STOKES v. STOKES & CLAYBROOK (1897), 76 L. T. 236, n.

4895. —— ——.]—Upon a husband's petition for dissolution of marriage, the wife's answer alleged charges of cruelty & condonation on the part of the husband. A decree nisi having been pronounced, an application was made for the usual order for the wife's costs. The judge thereupon read the proofs of the wife's witnesses, & said that they disclosed no adequate reason for bringing the countercharges, & ordered a sum of money, which had been paid into ct. by the husband for the wife's defence, to be paid out to him.—MARKS v. MARKS & WALTON (1905), 21 T. L. R. 209.

4896. —— Nullity suit—Respondent's knowledge of impediment.]—D'ETCHEGOYEN v. D'ETCHEGOYEN, No. 5824, post.

Conduct of wife's solicitor.]—See Sub-sect. 3, D., post.

(c) Petition Unsuccessful.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 91–93.

4897. General rule—Wife entitled to costs.]—GOODE v. GOODE & HAMSON, No. 3468, ante.

4898. Petitioner guilty of misconduct.]—Where in a suit for dissolution of marriage, on the ground of the wife's adultery, the adultery of the wife is proved, but the petition is dismissed under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, on account of the husband's marital misconduct, the wife is entitled to all her costs, though they may exceed the sum paid into the registry, & co-resp. will not be condemned in costs.—STARKEY v. STARKEY & IRWINN (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 118.
Annotations :—Refd. Goode v. Goode & Hamson (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 105 ; Ellyatt v. Ellyatt, Taylor & Halse (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 503.

4899. ——.]—WATSON v. WATSON & WILKINSON (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 102, n.

4900. ——.]—SEDDON v. SEDDON & DOYLE, No. 4991, post.

4901. ——.]—Inconsistency in a verdict is not necessarily a ground for a new trial, unless it be such that the substantial opinion of the jury cannot be ascertained. Where the jury found that resp. had committed adultery with co-resp. ; that petitioner had connived at such adultery ; & assessed damages against co-resp. :—Held : (1) the inconsistency in the verdict was no ground for a new trial ; (2) co-resp. was entitled to be dismissed from the suit, but was not entitled to his costs ; (3) resp., having established a good defence, was entitled to all her costs.—ELLAYTT v. ELLAYTT, TAYLOR & HALSE (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 503 ; 164 E. R. 1370 ; sub nom. ELYETT v. ELYETT, TAYLOR & HALSE, 4 New Rep. 159 ; sub nom. ELLYATT v. ELLYATT, TAYLOR & HALSE, 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 137 ; 11 L. T. 44 ; 10 Jur. N. S. 1035.
Annotations :—As to (3) Follod. Barnes v. Barnes & Beaumont (1897), 16 N. Z. L. R. 4.—N.Z.

b. —— No evidence adduced by wife.]—A husband filed a petition for a divorce against his wife on the ground of adultery. The wife appeared, & filed an answer denying the adultery. At the hearing counsel for the wife appeared, but did not adduce evidence. No application had been made before trial for payment of or security for the wife's costs :—Held : the wife was not entitled to wife's costs.—MCKINLAY v. MCKINLAY & MCKINLAY (1905), 24 N. Z. L. R. 981.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 18, SUB-SECT. 3.—C. (b).

t. Liability of husband—Wife's defence bonâ fide.]—Where a wife who is sued for divorce has taxed her costs under Divorce Rule 42, & there is nothing to show that she has separate property & her defence appears to be bonâ fide, the husband should be required to pay or secure the sum so taxed, even though he has no property, & the fact that the wife has a small separate estate is not conclusive against her.—WARD v. WARD, [1921] 1 W. W. R. 161.—CAN.

a. —— Wife in receipt of allowance—Husband's means small.]—A wife resp., against whom a decree for dissolution of marriage had been made on the ground of her adultery, allowed her costs against her husband, petitioner, to the extent of the amount for which the husband had been previously ordered to give security, but not in full, it appearing that the wife was in receipt of an allowance, & that the husband was not a person of large means, & a good deal of time having been occupied at the hearing in unfounded inquiries as to the conduct of the husband & the manner of getting up the evidence.—SOLER v. SOLER (1917), 41 Calc. 35.—IND.

s. —— Judicial separation—Appeal costs.]—Where a married woman fails in supporting upon appeal a decree of separation a mensâ et thoro, she cannot have the costs of the appeal ; but the reversal of the decree will not be extended to that part of it which gave her the expenses in the ct. below.—PATERSON v. RUSSELL (1850), 7 Bell, Sc. App. 337 ; 22 Sc. Jur. 628 ; revsg. 11 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 421 ; 21 Sc. Jur. 116.—SCOT.

PART XIII. SECT. 18, SUB-SECT. 3.—C. (c).

4897 i. General rule—Wife entitled to costs.]—Where the wife is successful in her defence to an action of divorce the rule of the law of Scotland is to give the wife her costs as between agent & client.—GRANT v. GRANT, [1905] A. C. 466.—SCOT.

Sect. 18.—Order for costs: Sub-sect. 3, C. (c), D. & E. (a) & (b).]

(1868), 38 L. J. P. & M. 10. Generally, Refd. Yowell v. Yowell, Serrash & Burleigh (1875), 24 W. R. 59; Bernstein v. Bernstein (1893), 69 L. T. 513; Gilroy v. Gilroy, [1914] P. 122.

4902. ——.]—Where on a husband's petition for a dissolution of marriage on the ground of the wife's adultery, resp. proved that he also had been guilty of adultery, the ct. granted an order for her full costs; but allowed the petition to remain on the file for a month, to enable petitioner, if he thought fit, to move in the meantime for a new trial.—BRIDGES v. BRIDGES & BARNETT (1867), 16 L. T. 34.

4903. ——.]—BARNES v. BARNES & BEAUMONT, No. 3450, ante.

4904. ——.]—In a husband's suit for dissolution on the ground of adultery, the wife charged her husband with adultery, & with conduct conducing to her adultery. The jury found both parties guilty, & the petition was dismissed:—Held: that resp. had succeeded in her litigation, & ordertd her all the costs of her defence beyond the sum for which security had been given in the registry.—CHALDECOTT v. CHALDECOTT & CARTWRIGHT (1873), 29 L. T. 699.

4905. Petitioner guilty of neglect & conduct conducing to adultery.]—BROWN v. BROWN & ROBEY, No. 3080, ante.

4906. Abortive trial.]—At the trial of a petition by a husband for divorce the jury disagreed, & were discharged without giving a verdict. The ct. upon the application of the wife, made an order that her costs of the hearing should be taxed & paid in full, & refused to limit such costs to the amount deposited in ct.—HURLEY v. HURLEY & MENZIES, [1891] P. 367; 61 L. J. P. 14; 65 L. T. 353; 8 T. L. R. 416.

Annotations:—Folld. Delaforce v. Delaforce & Driscoll, [1892] W. N. 68. Distd. Waudby v. Waudby & Bowland (1901), 84 L. T. 571. Consd. Kemp-Welch v. Kemp-Welch & Crymes, [1910] P. 233.

4907. ——.]—DELAFORCE v. DELAFORCE & DRISCOLL, [1892] W. N. 68.

Annotation:—Distd. Waudby v. Waudby & Bowland (1901), 84 L. T. 571.

D. Conduct of Wife's Solicitor.

4908. Duty of wife's solicitor—To bring forward any defence — Unless clearly unfounded.]—A husband promoted a suit in the Consistory Ct. of London against his wife for a divorce a mensâ et thoro by reason of her adultery. A libel was brought in by the husband charging the adultery, & a responsive allegation by the wife denying it; witnesses were examined on the libel, & allegation, & after publication of their evidence the wife brought in additional articles, verified, according to the practice of the Ecclesiastical Cts., by the wife's affidavit, pleading condonation during the progress of the suit. Witnesses were examined on the additional articles, but at the hearing the plea of condonation set up by them was abandoned by the counsel for the wife on the ground that the evidence in support of it failed. Upon an application by the proctor for the wife for an order on the husband to pay the costs incurred by him in respect of the additional articles:—Held: in the Ecclesiastical Ct. the proctor of a wife defending a suit for divorce was entitled to receive from the husband the reasonable costs for conducting her defence. A proctor refusing to bring before the ct. any defence set up by the wife not plainly unfounded would incur a very grave responsibility, & the wife's proctor was therefore, in the present case, entitled to have his costs from the husband.—WELLS v. WELLS (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 308; 27 L. J. P. & M. 95; 164 E. R. 742.

Annotation:—Refd. Jones v. Jones (1872), L. R. 2 P. & D. 333.

4909. —— Investigation of defence—Satisfaction as to reasonableness.]—In a suit by a husband for divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery, the wife in her answer denied the adultery, & made countercharges that petitioner had been guilty of great unkindness towards her, & had kept her without food, & had deserted her; & further, that he had committed adultery with a woman unknown. Particulars of this last plea were asked for & given. Petitioner, in his reply, denied the countercharges. At the hearing, the wife did not go into the witness-box, & the ct. found for petitioner upon all the issues & pronounced a decree nisi. Upon application by counsel for resp. that she should be allowed the usual order for her costs, the judge expressed the opinion that, as the case was undefended, no such costs ought to be allowed without an explanation from the solr. as to how he came to put an answer upon the record, & to contest the case at all. Counsel for resp. thereupon called the country solr. who had acted as solr. for resp. & he stated, in effect, that resp. brought him the petition & citation with which she had been served, & asked him to act for her; that she instructed him that the charge made against her in the petition was untrue, but that she had been requested to leave the house where she had been staying. The solr. saw resp.'s sister, in reference to the countercharges of unkindness & desertion, & both she & resp. asserted that no misconduct had taken place prior to the alleged desertion. He did not make inquiries of the people of the house where resp. had resided apart from her husband, as he gathered that the latter had received his information from those people, & that as they were hostile to resp. & one or more of them would probably be called at the hearing in support of petitioner's case, anything that they might be able to say in regard to resp. had better be left to be dealt with in cross-examination. The solr. further stated that this was the first divorce case in which he had been retained, & that he had acted throughout with bona fides:—Held: (1) to warrant a petitioner husband in opposing, & the ct. in refusing, the usual order for a wife's costs, it is not necessary to show "misconduct" on the part of the wife's solr; (2) a solr. acting for the wife in a matrimonial case, is not entitled to rely upon his client's instructions, but, in order to entitle him to look to the husband for payment of the wife's costs, he must fairly investigate for himself the various points put forward by the wife as a defence, & must satisfy himself in regard to their reasonableness; upon the authorities of Robertson v. Robertson, & Favagrossa, No. 4960, post; & Ash v. Ash, No. 4876, ante, the usual order for wife's costs be refused, & the amount in ct. be paid out to petitioner.—WALKER v. WALKER & LAWSON (1897), 76 L. T. 234.

Annotations:—As to (2) Apld. Stokes v. Stokes & Claybrook (1897), 76 L. T. 236, n. Dbtd. Franklin v. Franklin & Minshall, [1921] P. 407.

PART XIII. SECT. 18, SUB-SECT. 3.—D.

c. Wife's defence discredited—Reasonable belief in bona fides.]—Petitioner sought a divorce from his wife on the ground of her alleged misconduct with co-resp. Resp. & co-resp. gave evidence denying the allegations made against them, but the jury discredited their denials & found for petitioner. There was nothing to 4910. Disallowance of wife's costs—Misconduct of solicitor.]—The ct. has power to disallow the wife's costs of the hearing of a suit in which she has been unsuccessful, although security for such costs has been deposited in the registry by the husband, but it will only exercise that power in cases where the wife's attorney has been guilty of some misconduct, or has instituted the suit knowing that it was without reasonable ground.

Husband & wife agreed to live separate & apart, & a deed was executed by which the husband covenanted to allow the wife £60 a year for her maintenance. A year afterwards the wife filed a petition for judicial separation on the ground of cruelty, but failed to support the charge, & the petition was dismissed. The ct., being of opinion that the wife's attorney had acted in the belief of the genuineness of her case, allowed the wife's costs up to the amount for which security had been given.—FLOWER v. FLOWER (1873), L. R. 3 P. & D. 132; 42 L. J. P. & M. 45; 29 L. T. 253; 21 W. R. 776.

Annotations :—Consd. Butler v. Butler (1890), 15 P. D. 126; Ash v. Ash, [1893] P. 222; Hough v. Hough (1894), 10 T. L. R. 587. Refd. Robertson v. Robertson (1881), 6 P. D. 119; Smith v. Smith (1882), 7 P. D. 81; Haddon v. Haddon (1887), 56 L. J. M. C. 69; Hall v. Hall, [1891] P. 302; Russell v. Russell, [1892] P. 152; Beer v. Beer (1906), 94 L. T. 704; Abrahams v. Buckley, [1924] 1 K. B. 903.

4911. —— ——.]—The ct. will not refuse the "usual order" for a wife's costs, unless her solr. has been guilty of improper conduct in the institution or prosecution of the suit. A wife petitioned for a judicial separation upon the ground of cruelty, & the ct., in dismissing her petition, expressed a very strong opinion that the charges she had made against her husband were trumpery. It was shown that she had separate estate producing an annual income of £29, the husband's income being £135, & was supporting her two young children without any assistance from her husband. The ct. declined to condemn her in the costs of the suit, &, being of opinion that no suggestion of improper conduct in bringing the case before the ct. could be made against her solr., upon the wife's application, made the "usual order" for her costs.—AIRES v. AIRES (1891), 65 L. T. 859.

4912. —— ——.]—WALKER v. WALKER & LAWSON, No. 4909, ante.

4913. —— Reasonable belief in bona fides of wife's defence.]—FLOWER v. FLOWER, No. 4910, ante.

4914. —— ——.]—Where a wife had made a confession in the presence of several persons, & there was some evidence that the fact of such confession had come to the knowledge of her solr.: —Held: (1) the money paid into ct. to secure the wife's costs should be paid out to petitioner, unless the wife's solr. should within fourteen days satisfy the ct. he had reason to believe the wife had a bonâ fide defence; (2) the wife's costs should in any event be taxed against co-resp., &, if recovered, paid to the wife's solr., unless he had already received the amount from petitioner.—TOWNSON v. TOWNSON & BUCKNALL (1898), 67 L. J. P. 68; 78 L. T. 54.

Annotation :—As to (1) Refd. Franklin v. Franklin & Minshall, [1921] P. 407.

4915. —— —— Speculation as to strength of husband's case.]—Security for the costs of the wife's defence to a suit for dissolution of marriage is only ordered upon the basis that the wife has a bonâ fide defence. In order that the solr. for the wife, who is unsuccessful in the suit, should obtain an order for the wife's costs there must have been reasonable grounds for defending. It is not enough that the solr. thought that the husband would not be able to establish his case.—KERSHAW v. KERSHAW & BERRY (1907), 23 T. L. R. 296.

4916. —— ——.]—FRANKLIN v. FRANKLIN & MINSHALL, No. 4305, ante.

4917. —— ——.]—Where a wife's claim to restitution of conjugal rights was found to be groundless, & the husband entitled to a decree of judicial separation on the ground of her having deserted him for two years or upwards, & an order for security for the wife's costs of the trial, & payment of her costs to setting down had been conditional on an undertaking by her solrs. to refund any sum paid under it, if required by the ct. to do so:—Held: without thereby intending any reflection on the wife's solrs., the case was not one in which the husband should be required to pay any part of her costs.—USHER v. USHER (1922), 128 L. T. 26.

E. Where Wife has Separate Property.

(a) Discretion of Court.

See Sub-sect. 2, ante.

(b) Wife's Liability for Costs.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 91–93.

4918. Possession of separate property entails liability.]—The general rule is that the wife has a right to have her costs taxed at all times. The reason is because there are no other means of obtaining justice, since marriage gives all the property to the husband. The rule, however, is not universal; the exception is where the reason fails, where the wife has separate property of her own (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—BEEVOR v. BEEVOR (1809), 3 Phillim. 261; 161 E. R. 1319.

Annotation :—Refd. Belcher v. Belcher (1836), 1 Curt. 444.

4919. ——.]—Where the wife is pltf. & fails in her suit, if her income is large enough in proportion to the income of the husband, the ct. will not order her costs to be taxed as against the husband, but will leave her to pay those costs herself.

The general presumption is that the wife has no means, & then the husband must bear the burden; but to this there are exceptions, as where the wife has a large income in comparison with the husband.

When the wife has no income whatever, however great her demerits, whether she be pltf. or deft., the husband must pay the whole costs, even the costs of vexatious appeals (DR. LUSHINGTON).—FYLER v. FYLER (1856), Dea. & Sw. 175; 5 W. R. 9; 164 E. R. 540.

4920. ——.]—MILNE v. MILNE & FOWLER, No. 4926, post.

4921. Liability for own costs—Wife unsuccessful petitioner.]—POMFRET v. POMFRET (1796), cited in 3 Phillim. p. 262; 161 E. R. 1320.

Annotations :—Consd. Beevor v. Beevor (1809), 3 Phillim. 261. Mentd. Cooke v. Cooke (1812), 2 Phillim. 40; Otway v. Otway (1813), 2 Phillim. 109; Smith v. Smith (1814), 2 Phillim. 235; Chetwynd v. Chetwynd (1865), 35 L. J. P. & M. 21; Dean v. Dean, [1923] P. 172.

4922. —— ——.]—FYLER v. FYLER, No. 4919, ante.

4923. —— —— Suit improperly instituted.]—A wife having failed to establish a charge of cruelty, her petition for judicial separation was dismissed. As she had a larger separate income than the income of the husband, & as the ct. was of opinion that the suit had been improperly show that resp.'s solrs. had any reason for doubting the bonâ fide nature of her defence:—Held: resp.'s solrs. were entitled to their costs.—BURKARDT v. BURKARDT (1907), 26 N. Z. L. R. 940.—N.Z.

Sect. 18.—Order for costs: Sub-sect. 3, E. (b) & (c), F. (a) & (b).]

instituted, an order for the payment of her costs of the hearing, under Rule 159, was refused, although they had been taxed, & security for the amount had been deposited in the registry.—HEAL v. HEAL (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 300; 36 L. J. P. & M. 62.

Annotation:—Refd. Russell v. Russell, [1892] P. 152.

4924. —— Wife guilty of adultery.]—Whenever a wife, who has had a decree nisi pronounced against her, on the ground of her adultery, is proved to be absolutely possessed of separate property, the ct. will not only refuse her the usual order for wife's costs, but will, upon petitioner's application, make an order against her that she pay the costs of the suit.—MILLWARD v. MILLWARD & ANDREWS (1887), 57 L. T. 569; 51 J. P. 616.

4925. Liability for costs of proceedings—Petition by husband—Groundless countercharges by wife.]—The husband having sued for restitution of conjugal rights, the wife in her answer made charges of serious misconduct against him, which, however, were abandoned at the hearing. The ct. made a decree in favour of the husband; but the wife evaded service of such decree by remaining out of the jurisdiction of the ct. On being satisfied that the wife had a sufficient separate income, the ct. condemned her in the costs of the proceedings.—MILLER v. MILLER (1869), L. R. 2 P. & D. 13; 39 L. J. P. & M. 4; 21 L. T. 471; 18 W. R. 152; subsequent proceedings (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 54.

Annotation:—Apld. Hyde v. Hyde, Fellgate, etc. (1888), 59 L. T. 523.

4926. —— —— ——.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage by reason of adultery, both resp. & co-resp. appeared & pleaded. At the trial no evidence was offered in support of any of their pleas, & a verdict having been returned in favour of petitioner, with damages, a decree nisi was made. Resp. had a large separate income. The ct. ordered her to pay the costs of the proceedings, & co-resp. to pay such costs as had been incurred by the issues he had raised on his answer.—MILNE v. MILNE & FOWLER (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 202; 40 L. J. P. & M. 13; 23 L. T. 877; 19 W. R. 423.

Annotation:—Apld. Hyde v. Hyde, Fellgate, etc. (1888), 59 L. T. 523.

4927. —— —— Wife guilty of adultery.]—MILLWARD v. MILLWARD & ANDREWS, No. 4924, ante.

4928. —— —— ——.]—HYDE v. HYDE & FELLGATE, No. 4845, ante.

4929. —— —— ——.]—Where there is evidence that the wife, resp., is possessed of separate estate, over which there is no restraint on anticipation, the ct. has power, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 51, to order the costs of the suit to be paid out of the wife's separate estate.—CHALDECOTT v. CHALDECOTT & CARPENTER (1920), 64 Sol. Jo. 242.

4930. —— Unsuccessful petition by wife.]—CUNO v. CUNO, No. 3338, ante.

4931. What property liable—Allowance under separation deed.]—Upon a decree nisi for divorce, granted upon a husband's petition, the ct. made an order for costs against resp. whose separate estate consisted of an allowance payable under a separation deed; but, there being no evidence that resp. was living in adultery at the time of the making of the order, directed that execution should not be enforced beyond one-half of the amount of the allowance.—CLARK v. CLARK & SALDJI, [1906] P. 331; 76 L. J. P. 16; 95 L. T. 550; 22 T. L. R. 796.

Annotation:—Mentd. Paquine v. Snary, [1909] 1 K. B. 688.

4932. —— Property unrestrained from anticipation.]—CHALDECOTT v. CHALDECOTT & CARPENTER, No. 4929, ante.

(c) Wife's Right to Costs.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 91–93.

4933. Wife's petition successful.]—D'AGUILAR v. D'AGUILAR, No. 4064, ante.

4934. ——.]—As to her [the wife] having an independent income & he [the husband] being destitute, that is no reason why she having applied for redress to the ct. & having established her case, should not be entitled to her costs. The insufficiency of the fortune of the husband must be left to his own consideration, as it is his own misconduct that has made him liable to this judgment. I shall therefore condemn him in costs (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—SOILLEUX v. SOILLEUX (1802), 1 Hag. Con. 373; 161 E. R. 586.

Annotations:—Mentd. Durant v. Durant (1825), 1 Hag. Ecc. 733; Taylor v. Taylor (1818), 6 Notes of Cases, 558.

4935. No application by husband for relief—Partial failure of petition.]—Where the wife succeeds in a cause, & the husband makes no application during the progress of the suit to be relieved against her costs; though she has a sufficient independent income, & fails in one part of her case, he will be liable to the whole costs.—BARROW v. BARROW (1853), 17 Jur. 240.

4936. —— No appearance by husband.]—WILCOCKS v. WILCOCKS (1859), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 205.

4937. Wife's property restrained from anticipation.]—On a husband's petition for divorce it appeared that resp. had separate estate, but she was restrained from anticipation under the marriage settlement, & the solr. to the trustees was called to prove that some of resp.'s income passed through his hands to her, but he had not received the trustees' consent that he should give evidence:—Held: the witness could not give evidence on the matter without the leave of the trustees, & as there was no evidence that resp. possessed any property free from restraint on anticipation resp. could not be condemned in costs.—HUMPHERY v. HUMPHERY & WAKE (1917), 33 T. L. R. 433.

—— Removal of restraint for payment of costs.]—See Part VI., Sect. 2, sub-sect. 2, ante.

F. What Costs Allowable.

(a) In General.

4938. Costs of special jury—Discretion of court.]—When, upon the application of a wife, a cause is tried by a special jury, the ct. may in its discretion refuse to allow the wife the costs of the special jury.—SCOTT v. SCOTT (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 40.

4939. —— ——.]—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR, No. 4640, ante.

4940. Part costs—Groundless allegations against husband—Husband's petition.]—BURROUGHS v. BURROUGHS, BURROUGHS v. BURROUGHS & SILCOCK, No. 4039, ante.

4941. —— —— ——.]—Where a wife, in her answer to a petition for dissolution, traversed the

---

PART XIII. SECT. 18, SUB-SECT. 3.—F. (a).

d. Fees of counsel.]—BELL v. BELL, 20 C. L. T. 20.—CAN.

e. —— Solicitor acting as counsel.]—The parties to an alimony suit consented to a decree, whereby deft. was ordered forthwith to pay pltf. all disbursements in the suit as between solr. & client:—Held: the master had adultery charged, & brought several counter-charges against petitioner, which appeared at the hearing to be entirely without foundation, the ct. made the following order as to her costs of the hearing: her costs to be taxed as if she had only traversed the adultery & had gone to trial on that issue alone, all costs of & occasioned by the rest of her answer being disallowed: from her costs thus taxed, any costs to be deducted which petitioner had reasonably incurred for the purpose of meeting the charges made against him in the answer; & the residue, if any, to be paid to resp. out of the sum deposited in the registry by petitioner to meet her costs of the hearing.—CLARK v. CLARK, PERRIN & CUMINS (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 111; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 71; 12 L. T. 148; 13 W. R. 549; 164 E. R. 1458.

Annotation:—Consd. Wilson v. Wilson (1872), 41 L. J. P. & M. 74.

4942. ——— ———.]—MORGAN v. MORGAN & PORTER, No. 3288, ante.

4943. ——— ———.]—After the commencement of the suit the wife, though she had no reason for suspecting her husband, employed detectives to search for evidence of adultery against him. Evidence was procured, but was not believed at the trial. The ct. directed that the wife's costs on this part of the case should be disallowed.—WILSON v. WILSON (1872), L. R. 2 P. & D. 435; 41 L. J. P. & M. 74; 27 L. T. 351; 20 W. R. 891.

Annotations:—Mentd. Le Sueur v. Le Sueur (1876), 1 P. D. 139; Niboyet v. Niboyet (1878), 4 P. D. 1; Le Mesurier v. Le Mesurier, [1895] A. C. 517; Armytage v. Armytage, [1898] P. 178; Bater v. Bater, [1906] P. 209; Ogden v. Ogden (otherwise Philip), [1908] P. 46; Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271; De Montaigu v. De Montaigu, [1913] P. 154; Keyes v. Keyes & Gray, [1921] P. 204.

4944. Wife's petition—Costs in respect thereof disallowed.]—ASH v. ASH, No. 4876, ante.

4945. Husband's costs of wife's appeal—Appeal frivolous—Payment from fund in court—Lien of wife's solicitor.]—The Ct. of Appeal has jurisdiction to order the husband's costs of an unsuccessful appeal by the wife in divorce proceedings to be paid out of money which he has paid into ct. to defray the wife's costs of the hearing; but the ct. will not make such order to the prejudice of the lien of the wife's solr. unless he has so conducted himself as to justify so strong a measure. A husband obtained a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage & the usual order was made for payment of the costs of the wife. The wife appealed, & the appeal was dismissed with costs as frivolous. The wife thereupon applied to have money which had been paid into ct. by the husband as security for her costs paid out to her solr., whose taxed costs under the decree nisi exceeded that amount, & the husband made a cross application that his costs of the appeal might be paid out of the money in ct.:—Held: though the wife's appeal was a hopeless one, there was no ground for affirming that her solr. acted vexatiously or oppressively in conducting it & he ought not to be deprived of his lien on the fund for the costs of the wife's defence.—HALL v. HALL & KAY, [1891] P. 302; 60 L. J. P. 73; 65 L. T. 206; 7 T. L. R. 590, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1892] P. 152. Mentd. Cramp v. Cramp & Freeman, [1920] P. 158; Crocker v. Crocker, [1921] P. 25.

4946. Costs of Official Solicitor—Acting as guardian ad litem to respondent husband.]—JACKSON (OTHERWISE MACFARLANE) v. JACKSON, No. 5045, post.

(b) When Limited to Security in Court.

4947. Wife unsuccessful.]—WHITE v. WHITE (1859), as reported in Sea. & Sm. 77.

Annotations:—Apld. Sopwith v. Sopwith (1860), 6 Jur. N. S. 404. Mentd. Hall v. Hall (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 347; Goodden v. Goodden, [1892] P. 1.

4948. ———.]—On application to the full ct. for a decree of dissolution on the verdict of a jury, the marriage must be proved if it was not put in evidence at the trial before the jury. Generally, where the husband's petition is opposed, & the verdict & decree are in his favour, co-resp. will be condemned in the whole costs of the proceeding.

The money paid into ct. by a husband petitioning for dissolution of marriage to meet his wife's costs of the hearing, is primarily liable to the payment of those costs when taxed, although co-resp. may have been condemned in all the costs, including those of the wife, & the husband may be unable to obtain them from him.

Where the wife's taxed costs up to the trial, & a sum of money to meet her further expenses had been paid into ct. by the husband before the trial was allowed to proceed, the ct., after decreeing dissolution, & on motion that such sum should be at once paid out to the husband, directed such sum to remain in ct. till the whole costs should be taxed; & on subsequent application for payment of the wife's taxed costs, directed such costs to be satisfied out of the sum of money to be paid into ct.—EVANS v. EVANS & ROBINSON (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 328; 28 L. J. P. & M. 136; 32 L. T. O. S. 244; 23 J. P. 407; 5 Jur. N. S. 606; 7 W. R. 181; 164 E. R. 751.

Annotations:—Consd. Smith v. Smith (1882), 7 P. D. 84. Apld. Irwin v. Irwin & Layard (1890), 59 L. J. P. 53. Refd. Keats v. Keats & Montezuma (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 334; Russell v. Russell, [1892] P. 152.

4949. ———.]—GLENNIE v. GLENNIE & BOWLES, No. 4832, ante.

4950. ———.]—In a husband's suit for dissolution of marriage petitioner was ordered by the registrar to pay into ct., or give security for, a certain sum for resp.'s costs. No appeal was brought by resp. on the ground of the insufficiency of the sum named, for which security was afterwards given. At the trial a decree nisi was granted, & the three co-resps. were condemned in costs. The ct. made the usual order as to the wife's costs; no application for the allowance of additional costs being made on her behalf. After the decree had been made absolute the ct. refused to order payment by petitioner of resp.'s taxed costs beyond the amount secured.—SMITH v. SMITH, MAJOR, CHILD & RABETT (1882), 7 P. D. 84; 51 L. J. P. 31; 46 L. T. 696; 30 W. R. 688.

Annotations:—Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1892] P. 152; Palmer v. Palmer & Stockley, [1914] P. 116. Refd. Nairne v. Nairne (1901), 71 L. J. P. 37; Waudby v. Waudby & Bowland (1901), 84 L. T. 571; Jinks v. Jinks (1911), 104 L. T. 355; Betton-Bright v. Betton-Bright, [1920] P. 338 Franklin v. Franklin & Minshall, [1921] P. 407.

4951. ———.]—Where the registrar has directed a sum of money to be paid into ct. to meet the expenses of the wife's petition at the hearing, & her suit fails, the husband will not be liable to a greater amount than the sum so paid in, though the wife's costs as ascertained on taxation exceed that sum.—SOPWITH v. SOPWITH (1860), 2 Sw. & Tr. 105; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 132; 2 L. T. 472; 6 Jur. N. S. 404; 8 W. R. 552; 164 E. R. 932.

Annotation:—Refd. Ellyatt v. Ellyatt, Taylor & Halse (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 503.

4952. "Usual order for wife's costs"—No appeal from order to give security—No order for properly allowed to pltf. a sum paid by pltf. to her solrs., they being also counsel, for counsel fees on the examination & hearing of the cause.—BUCKE v. BUCKE (1874), 21 Gr 77.—CAN.

Sect. 18.—Order for costs: Sub-sect. 3, F. (b) & (c); sub-sect. 4, A., B. & C.

further security.]—(1) On a wife's petition for divorce, where the husband has been ordered to pay petitioner's costs up to a certain date & to lodge in ct. or give security for a fixed sum to cover the costs & expenses of petitioner of & incidental to the hearing of the suit, & there has been no appeal from the registrar as to amount & no order for further security, the wife is not entitled under the "usual order for wife's costs" to a larger sum than that lodged in ct. or for which security has been given.

(2) It appears to me desirable in drawing up the decree that the order for costs should be written at large, & not merely expressed in the form of "the usual order" (ATKIN, L.J.).—BETTON-BRIGHT v. BETTON-BRIGHT, [1920] P. 338; 89 L. J. P. 243; 123 L. T. 797; 36 T. L. R. 777, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Rutter v. Rutter (1920), 90 L. J. P. 129.

(c) When not Limited to Security in Court.

4953. Petition by husband—Wife proved innocent.]—BURROUGHS v. BURROUGHS, BURROUGHS v. BURROUGHS & SILCOCK, No. 4039, ante.

4954. —— ——.]—Where the husband's petition is dismissed, & the wife's costs of the hearing exceeds the sum secured or paid into the registry to meet them, the husband is liable to pay the balance.

Application for the balance should be made on summons, & not on motion.—COOKE v. COOKE & ALLEN (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 603; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 15; 164 E. R. 1409.

4955. —— ——.]—When in a divorce suit the wife has been acquitted of adultery it is the practice, except in very special circumstances, to allow her full costs.—WELLBORNE v. WELLBORNE & EVERED (1890), 7 T. L. R. 170.

4956. —— ——.]—NICHOLSON v. NICHOLSON & RATCLIFFE, No. 4887, ante.

4957. —— Wife proved guilty—Successful cross-charge by wife.]—STARKEY v. STARKEY & IRWINN, No. 4898, ante.

4958. —— —— ——.]—WATSON v. WATSON & WILKINSON (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 102, n.

4959. —— —— ——.]—CHALDECOTT v. CHALDECOTT & CARTWRIGHT, No. 4904, ante.

4960. —— ——.]—Where a decree nisi is made upon a husband's petition for divorce, he must nevertheless pay all the costs properly incurred by the wife in defending herself against the charges brought against her.—ROBERTSON v. ROBERTSON & FAVAGROSSA (1881), 6 P. D. 119; 51 L. J. P. 5; 45 L. T. 237; 29 W. R. 880, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Smith v. Smith (1882), 7 P. D. 84. Apld. Otway v. Otway (1888), 13 P. D. 141. Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1892] P. 152; Ash v. Ash, [1893] P. 222. Apld. Kemp-Welch v. Kemp-Welch & Crymes, [1910] P. 233. Folld. Palmer v. Palmer & Stockley, [1914] P. 116. Consd. Franklin v. Franklin & Minshall, [1921] P. 407; Abrahams v. Buckley, [1924] 1 K. B. 903. Refd. Thompson v. Thompson (1886), 57 L. T. 374; Campbell v. Campbell (1887), 3 T. L. R. 558; Haddon v. Haddon (1887), 56 L. T. 716; Butler v. Butler (1890), 15 P. D. 126; Hall v. Hall, [1891] P. 302; Walker v. Walker & Lawson (1897), 76 L. T. 234; Waudby v. Waudby & Bowland (1901), 84 L. T. 571; Beer v. Beer (1906), 94 L. T. 704; Sanders v. Sanders, [1911] P. 101; Betton-Bright v. Betton-Bright, [1920] P. 338; Silver v. Silver & Grenfell, [1924] P. 163. Mentd. Young v. Thomas, [1892] 2 Ch. 134; Leekhampton Quarries Co. v. Ballinger & Cheltenham R. D. C. (1905), 93 L. T. 93.

4961. —— ——.]—At the trial of a husband's petition for divorce it appeared that a sum, estimated by one of the registrars, had been secured to meet the wife's costs of the hearing. Application was made at the end of the first day that further security should be given, in view of the hearing lasting more than one day. This application was acceded to by the presiding judge. At the conclusion of the case, which resulted in the husband's favour, the "usual order" for wife's costs was made; & the wife's solrs. thereupon carried in a full party & party bill of costs & proceeded to taxation. Objection was then taken by the husband's solr. to all items down to the adjournment of the ct. at the end of the first day of the hearing, including all items subsequent thereto & which would form part of the costs had the hearing terminated on the first day, in so far as the total allowed in respect of these items exceeded the amount actually secured before the hearing:—Held: the objection could not be sustained & the registrar was right in taxing the bill as between party & party, in accordance with the principle laid down in Robertson v. Robertson & Favagrossa, No. 4960, ante.

There was, however, nothing in that case or in the present decision which was to be taken as limiting in any degree the discretion as to costs vested in & exercisable by the judge presiding at the hearing or trial of a matrimonial suit, by statute, & by the Divorce Rules.—PALMER v. PALMER & STOCKLEY, [1914] P. 116; 83 L. J. P. 58; 110 L. T. 752; 30 T. L. R. 409; 58 Sol. Jo. 416.

Annotation:—Refd. Betton-Bright v. Betton-Bright, [1920] P. 338.

4962. —— Trial abortive.]—HURLEY v. HURLEY & MENZIES, No. 4906, ante.

4963. Petition by wife—New trial pending.]—After a wife had obtained a verdict, & a decree nisi had been pronounced, an order was made for the payment by the husband of her surplus costs of the hearing beyond the sum deposited in the registry, although a motion for a new trial & a bill of exceptions were pending.—CHETWYND v. CHETWYND (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 108; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 65; 13 W. R. 528; 164 E. R. 1457.

SUB-SECT. 4.—BETWEEN PETITIONER AND CO-RESPONDENT.

A. Discretion of Court.

See Sub-sect. 2, ante.

B. Liability of Petitioner.

4964. Insufficient evidence against co-respondent—Conduct suspicious.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage the jury found that resp. had been guilty of adultery, but that there was not sufficient evidence against co-resp. Co-resp.'s conduct having been such as to lead to a reasonable suspicion in the mind of petitioner that he had been guilty of adultery, the ct. refused to allow him his costs.—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON & GAMBLE (1860), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 210.

4965. Husband's petition dismissed—As against co-respondent.]—POTTS v. POTTS & BATEMAN, No. 4581, ante.

4966. —— ——.]—SMITH v. SMITH & MILLET, No. 4610, ante.

PART XIII. SECT. 18, SUB-SECT. 4.—B.

f. Insufficient evidence against co-respondent—Conduct suspicious—Costs not allowed.]—Resp. was the servant of co-resp. as a shop assistant or clerk. They were in the habit of meeting in co-resp.'s shop or office on Saturday evenings. On one occasion the office or shop was in darkness for some time. The jury found co-resp.

4967. —— Jury discharged without verdict.]—The ct. will not always order petitioner to pay co-resp.'s costs when the petition is dismissed. In a case where the jury were discharged without giving a verdict, & petitioner did not proceed to a second trial, but allowed his petition to be dismissed, the ct., in the peculiar circumstances of the case, declined to order him to pay co-resp.'s costs.—BANCROFT v. BANCROFT & RUMNEY (1865), 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 144.

Annotation :—Distd. Whitmore v. Whitmore (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 25.

4968. —— ——.]—In a suit by a husband for dissolution the jury were discharged without giving a verdict : petitioner did not go to a second trial, & the petition was dismissed. There was no evidence connecting co-resp. with resp., except that of two witnesses, who swore to acts of adultery, but whose evidence did not satisfy the jury that adultery had been committed. The ct. condemned petitioner in co-resp.'s costs.—WHITMORE v. WHITMORE & BRETTELL (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 25 ; 35 L. J. P. & M. 32 ; 13 L. T. 610.

4969. Successive trials—First trial abortive—Through action of co-respondent—Costs of first trial.]—On the trial of the issues in a husband's suit for dissolution of marriage, no witnesses were called by resp. or co-resp. ; & the jury, being unable to agree, were discharged without giving a verdict. The issues came on for trial a second time, when witnesses were called by co-resp., & the jury found a verdict of not guilty. The ct. refused to condemn petitioner in co-resp.'s costs of the first trial.—WIGHT v. WIGHT & FIELD (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 368 ; 36 L. J. P. & M. 129 ; 16 L. T. 300.

4970. —— —— ——.]—WEST v. WEST & PARKER, WEST v. WEST, No. 4838, ante.

4971. Co-respondent dismissed—Foreign domicil.]—GRANGE v. GRANGE & ARENDT, No. 3950, ante.

4972. —— ——.]—Upon a husband's petition for dissolution of marriage, the alleged adulterer, who was served abroad, entered an absolute appearance, filed an affidavit stating that he was a French subject domiciled in France, & moved the ct. to dismiss him from the suit. The ct. held that it had no jurisdiction over appet. & dismissed him from the suit, but refused to give him his costs, inasmuch as he had entered an absolute appearance to the citation.—LEVY v. LEVY & DE ROMANCE, [1908] P. 256 ; 77 L. J. P. 95 ; 99 L. T. 312 ; 24 T. L. R. 466 ; 52 Sol. Jo. 379.

Annotation :—Refd. Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271.

4973. —— ——.]—BAKER v. BAKER, BAKER v. BAKER & DWYER, No. 3829, ante.

4974. —— ——.]—Co-resp. in a divorce suit, who is resident & domiciled abroad, is entitled upon his own application to be dismissed from the suit on the ground that he is not subject to the jurisdiction of the ct., but he is not entitled to any costs which have been incurred by reason of his being cited as co-resp.—FAIRFAX v. FAIRFAX & DE LA CRUZ (1909), 99 L. T. 892 ; 25 T. L. R. 213.

Annotations :—Refd. Walter v. Walter & Bergmann (1909), 25 T. L. R. 473 ; Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271.

4975. —— ——.]—Co-resp. in a divorce suit, a domiciled Austrian, was served with the citation & petition in Paris. He entered an appearance under protest, & then applied to be dismissed from the suit on the ground that he was not subject to the jurisdiction of the ct. The ct. made an order dismissing co-resp. from the suit, but without costs.—WALTER v. WALTER & BERGMANN (1909), 25 T. L. R. 473.

Annotation :—Refd. Rayment v. Rayment & Stuart, Chapman v. Chapman & Buist, [1910] P. 271.

Effect of petitioner's conduct.]—See Sub-sect. 4, C. (b), post.

C. Liability of Co-Respondent.

(a) In General.

4976. General rule—Husband's petition opposed—Decree in husband's favour.]—EVANS v. EVANS & ROBINSON, No. 4948, ante.

4977. Right to be heard as to costs—No answer filed.]—TOURLE v. TOURLE & RENSHAW, No. 4361, ante.

4978. Agreement between petitioner & co-respondent—That husband be liable for costs—Failure of co-respondent to fulfil all conditions.]—RATCLIFF v. RATCLIFF & ANDERSON, No. 3368, ante.

4979. Liability although no dissolution pronounced.]—On a petition to the Divorce Ct. for the dissolution of marriage the ct., if the adultery is proved, has power to order all the costs of the proceedings to be paid by co-resp. although it does not decree dissolution of the marriage.—Re FORSTER v. FORSTER & BERRIDGE (1863), 4 B. & S. 187 ; 2 New Rep. 353 ; 32 L. J. Q. B. 312 ; 8 L. T. 661 ; 11 W. R. 799 ; 122 E. R. 430.

Annotations :—Mentd. London Corpn. v. Cox (1867), L. R. 2 H. L. 239 ; R. v. Twiss (1869), L. R. 4 Q. B. 407 ; R. v. Surrey JJ. (1870), L. R. 5 Q. B. 466 ; Chambers v. Green (1875), L. R. 20 Eq. 552 ; Worthington v. Jeffries (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 379 ; R. v. Richmond Confirming Authority, Ex p. Howitt, [1921] 1 K. B. 248.

4980. No prayer for costs—By successful petitioner.]—The ct. may order the costs of the proceedings to be paid by co-resp. where the adultery is established, although petitioner may not have prayed for such costs.—FINLAY v. FINLAY & RUDALL (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 104.

4981. Unproved charges against husband.]—HOWE v. HOWE, No. 5012, post.

4982. Where wife possessed of separate property—Wife & co-respondent liable.]—MILNE v. MILNE & FOWLER, No. 4926, ante.

4983. Wife not guilty—Adultery against her will—Petition dismissed.]—LONG v. LONG & JOHNSON, No. 2704, ante.

4984. No defence open to wife.]—TOWNSON v. TOWNSON & BUCKNALL, No. 4914, ante.

4985. Cross petitions—Consolidation—Costs of wife's suit.]—The power to order payment of costs conferred on the ct. by Jud. Act, 1890 (c. 44), s. 5, must be confined to parties to the proceedings. The co-resp. to a petition presented by the husband does not become a party to a cross-petition presented by the wife on the making of an order for the consolidation of the two suits, as such an order is only an arrangement for the convenience of trying the two suits together & involves nothing analogous to "consolidation" at common law. A co-resp., therefore, in such a case not being a "party to the proceedings" within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), there is no jurisdiction not guilty of adultery :—Held : co-resp. having by his own actions brought suspicion on himself that he was in the entitled to costs.—MARLIN v. , [1921] N. Z. L. R. 761.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 18, SUB-SECT. 4.—C. (a).

g. In solicitor & client costs of petitioner—In addition to party & party costs.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery, & damages against co-resp., petitioner obtained a decree & recovered £100 damages, which sum was paid into ct. : —Held : petitioner was entitled out of the sum of £100 to his costs of the suit as between solr. & client over & above

Sect. 18.—Order for costs: Sub-sect. 4, C. (a), (b) & (c) i.] to make him pay the costs of the wife's petition. An order directing payment of costs is not an interlocutory order working out the final judgment, but is part of the final judgment though separated from it by an interval of some days.

A suit for judicial separation was brought by the wife, & a suit for divorce was brought by the husband, to which A. was made a co-resp. These suits were consolidated by an order of the ct., & at the trial the wife's suit was withdrawn & a decree nisi, which was afterwards made absolute, was pronounced in the husband's suit with costs against the co-resp. On taxation of the costs the question was raised whether the husband's costs of the wife's suit ought to be taxed against the co-resp., & the registrar referred the question to the judge, who decided that they ought, holding that by virtue of the consolidation order the two suits became one, & that he therefore had jurisdiction to order the co-resp. to pay the husband's costs of the wife's suit under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 34. The co-resp. appealed from this decision without obtaining leave to appeal:—Held: (1) the appeal lay without leave, the order not being an interlocutory order within Jud. Act, 1894 (c. 16), s. 1 (1) (b); (2) the order consolidating the two suits was not a consolidation within the strict meaning of the term so as to make the two suits one proceeding, & the ct. had no jurisdiction either under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 34, or under Jud. Act, 1890 (c. 44), s. 5, to order the co-resp. to pay any part of the costs of the wife's suit to which he was not a party.—FORBES-SMITH v. FORBES-SMITH & CHADWICK, [1901] P. 258; 70 L. J. P. 61; 84 L. T. 789; 50 W. R. 6; 17 T. L. R. 587; 45 Sol. Jo. 595, C. A.

4986. Co-respondent an infant.]—Where a petitioner obtained a decree of divorce against resp. & co-resp., held that the fact that co-resp. was an infant & had not appeared was no reason for not making an order against him for costs.—BROCKELBANK v. BROCKELBANK & BORLASE (1911), 27 T. L. R. 569; 55 Sol. Jo. 717.

4987. Liability of executor of co-respondent.]—BRYDGES v. BRYDGES & WOOD, No. 5904, post.

Intervention of King's Proctor—Costs of intervention.]—See Sect. 20, sub-sect. 4, A. (g), post.

(b) Effect of Conduct of Petitioner.

4988. Petitioner guilty of adultery.] — GOODE v. GOODE & HAMSON, No. 3468, ante.

4989. ——.]—STARKEY v. STARKEY & IRWINN, No. 4898, ante.

4990. ——.]—WATSON v. WATSON & WILKINSON (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 102, n.

4991. ——.]—A jury found resp. guilty of adultery; petitioner guilty of conducing to his wife's adultery & of adultery, & assessed the damages at a farthing. The ct. dismissed all parties, condemned petitioner in resp.'s costs, made no order as to costs between petitioner & co-resp., & refused, even if it had the power in such circumstances, to make an order giving resp. the custody of or access to the children.—SEDDON v. SEDDON & DOYLE (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 640; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 101; 7 L. T. 253; 164 E. R. 1146.

Annotations:—Consd. Bremner v. Bremner & Brett (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 378. Folld. Hick v. Hick & Kitchin (1864), 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 11; Barnes v. Barnes & Beaumont (1868), 38 L. J. P. & M. 10. Consd. Ravenscroft v. Ravenscroft (1872), L. R. 2 P. & D. 376; Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292. Refd. Yowell v. Yowell, Serrash & Burleigh (1875), 24 W. R. 59.

4992. ——.]—(1) Where there was a balance due from petitioner, the husband, for alimony & costs, & there had been an arrangement between the parties that the balance should be paid by monthly instalments of £20, & that an attachment should be granted against him to remain in the registry until he made default in payment of one of the instalments, the ct. dismissed the petition, & decreed an attachment on the terms arranged. The ct. has power to enforce an attachment after the suit has been dismissed.

(2) Where co-resp. is found to have been guilty of adultery he is not, as a matter of course, relieved from payment of the costs of that issue, merely by reason of the husband having been guilty of such adultery as to induce the ct. to dismiss the petition.—BREMNER v. BREMNER & BRETT (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 378; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 202; 10 L. T. 99; 12 W. R. 444; 164 E. R. 1321.

Annotations:—As to (2) Folld. Baker v. Baker & Grigg (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 119. Apld. Quartermaine v. Quartermaine & Glenister (1911), 105 L. T. 80. Refd. Yowell v. Yowell, Serrash & Burleigh (1875), 24 W. R. 59; Waudby v. Waudby & Bowland, [1902] P. 85.

4993. ——.]—CONRADI v. CONRADI & FLASHMAN, No. 5057, post.

4994. ——.]—Upon a husband's petition for dissolution of marriage, no verdict was recorded upon the first trial, the jury being unable to agree upon some of the issues. On the second trial the jury found that resp. & co-resp. had committed adultery, & that petitioner had also committed adultery, but that resp. had condoned it. The ct. refused to grant petitioner a decree & dismissed his petition; but, upon the question raised as to costs:—Held: (1) the wife was entitled to be paid by petitioner her full costs of both trials; (2) petitioner was entitled to costs against co-resp. in respect of the issue found against the latter, & that the order must cover the costs of that issue on both the trials.—WAUDBY v. WAUDBY & BOWLAND, [1902] P. 85; 71 L. J. P. 43; 86 L. T. 123; 66 J. P. 280; 50 W. R. 176; 18 T. L. R. 150; 46 Sol. Jo. 124.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Silver v. Silver & Grenfell, [1924] P. 163.

4995. Remiss conduct.]—Costs given against co-resp., who knew that resp. was a married woman, though the husband's conduct towards his wife was remiss.—BADCOCK v. BADCOCK & CHAMBERLAIN (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 189; 31 L. T. O. S. 268; 6 W. R. 737; 164 E. R. 686.

4996. —— Conducing to wife's adultery.]—SEDDON v. SEDDON & DOYLE, No. 4991, ante.

4997. Wife's profligate conduct known to husband.]—(1) Where the wife's conduct has been profligate & that to the husband's knowledge, before the adultery committed with the co-resp. the latter will not be liable to costs.

(2) On pronouncing a decree of dissolution of marriage, the ct. will make an order that a child in the custody of resp. be given up to petitioner, even when the child is of an age that entitles petitioner to the custody by common law right.—BOYD v. BOYD & COLLINS (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 562; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 79; 8 W. R. 160; 1 L. T. 244; 164 E. R. 860.

the party-&-party costs already recovered from co-resp.—PACEY v. PACEY (1907), 26 N. Z. L. R. 1087.—N.Z.

h. Whether liable for costs of abortive trial.]—A suit for dissolution of marriage was tried twice. On the second occasion petitioner, whose case was strengthened by additional evidence, succeeded:—Held: in the circumstances petitioner was not entitled as against co-resp. to his costs of the abortive trial.—EVANS v. EVANS (No. 3) (1910), 30 N. Z. L. R. 347.—N.Z.

4998. ——.]—Where damages were claimed from a co-resp., & it appeared that resp. was leading an abandoned life when co-resp. made her acquaintance, & there was evidence raising a strong suspicion that petitioner must have been aware of that fact:—Held: co-resp. ought not to be condemned in costs, on the ground that the claim for damages was, under the circumstances, improper.—MANTON v. MANTON & STEVENS (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 159; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 121; 11 Jur. N. S. 863; 164 E. R. 1477.

4999. Gross misconduct.]—Where in a suit for dissolution of marriage by a husband the adultery was proved, but the petition was dismissed on the ground of the gross misconduct of petitioner, the ct. refused to make any order as to the costs of petitioner or co-resp.—HICK v. HICK & KITCHEN (1864), 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 11.

5000. Connivance by petitioner.]—ELLAYTT v. ELLAYTT, TAYLOR & HALSE, No. 4901, ante.

5001. ——.]—A petition by a husband, & claiming damages from co-resp., was dismissed on the grounds of the connivance of petitioner & condonation, & petitioner was ordered to pay co-resp. his costs, although the adultery of resp. & co-resp. was proved.—ADAMS v. ADAMS & COLTER (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 333; 36 L. J. P. & M. 62; 16 L. T. 69.

Annotation:—Consd. Bernstein v. Bernstein, [1893] P. 292.

5002. ——.]—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS & GAZZARD (1897), Times, Nov. 4.

5003. Condonation of wife's adultery.]—NORRIS v. NORRIS, LAWSON & MASON, No. 3270, ante.

5004. ——.]—ADAMS v. ADAMS & COLTER, No. 5001, ante.

5005. ——.]—BERNSTEIN v. BERNSTEIN, TURNER & SAMPSON, No. 3213, ante.

5006. ——.]—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS & GAZZARD (1897), Times, Nov. 4.

5007. ——.]—HYMAN v. HYMAN & GOLDMAN, No. 3227, ante.

5008. Petitioner's conduct such as to invite challenge.]—CODRINGTON v. CODRINGTON & ANDERSON, No. 4837, ante.

(c) Knowledge of Co-Respondent that Respondent Married.

i. In General.

5009. Necessity for knowledge—Before liable for costs.]—(1) On proof of a petition for dissolution of marriage, by reason of the adultery of the wife, some evidence should be given of the conduct of the husband towards her previously to the adultery.

(2) Where there was no evidence that co-resp. when he committed the adultery knew that resp. was married, the ct. refused to order him to pay the costs.—BODDINGTON v. BODDINGTON & NOSSITER (1858), 27 L. J. P. & M. 53.

5010. —— ——.]—Costs refused against co-resp., there being no proof before the ct. that he was aware that resp. was a married woman, or of any of the circumstances under which the cohabitation with the husband was broken off.—TEAGLE v. TEAGLE & NOTTINGHAM (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 188; 27 L. J. P. & M. 55; 31 L. T. O. S. 268; 6 W. R. 736; 164 E. R. 686.

Annotations:—Folld. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126. Consd. Taylor v. Taylor & Kraft (1920), 123 L. T. 112.

5011. —— ——.]—Where there was no evidence to show that co-resp. when he first formed the connection with resp., knew that she was a married woman, the ct. refused to condemn him in costs.—PRISKE v. PRISKE & GOLDBY (1860), 4 Sw. & Tr. 238; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 195; 164 E. R. 1507.

Annotations:—Dbtd. Learmonth v. Learmonth & Austin (1889), 62 L. T. 608. Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126. Refd. Taylor v. Taylor & Kraft (1920), 123 L. T. 112.

5012. —.]—Co-resp. appeared & denied the charge of adultery, & alleged condonation & adultery, on the part of petitioner. There was evidence that resp. & co-resp. had on several occasions cohabited, & that she became pregnant in consequence; but there was no evidence that co-resp. had been aware that she was married. The evidence in support of co-resp.'s plea of condonation & the countercharge of adultery was very insufficient. The ct. granted a decree nisi, refusing to condemn co-resp. in the costs of the issue of his adultery with co-resp., but condemned him in the costs of the issues raised by his other pleas.—HOWE v. HOWE (1867), 15 W. R. 498.

5013. —— ——.]—NORRIS v. NORRIS & SMITH, No. 4835, ante.

5014. —— ——.]—BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD, ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, No. 4676, ante.

5015. —— ——.]—GIBBS v. GIBBS & HEATHCOTE, No. 5024, post.

5016. No absolute rule.]—(1) There is no absolute rule of practice that a co-resp. cannot be condemned in costs unless at the time of the first misconduct he knew that the resp. was a married woman. Costs are always in the discretion of the ct.

(2) Semble: though on the assessment of damages evidence as to the means of co-resp. cannot be received, yet the general position & obligations of the parties are material for consideration in order that an assessment may be arrived at which co-resp. can discharge, & which will not defeat its object, but bring a sum into ct. to be dealt with.—BURNE v. BURNE & HELVOET, [1920] P. 17; 89 L. J. P. 18; 122 L. T. 224; 64 Sol. Jo. 132.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126. As to (2) Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126. Refd. Langrick v. Langrick & Funnell (1920), 89 L. J. P. 114.

5017. —— —— ——.]—LANGRICK v. LANGRICK FUNNELL, No. 4684, ante.

5018. Discretion of court unfettered.]—SMITH v. SMITH & REED, No. 4848, ante.

5019. Effect of knowledge—Co-respondent's behaviour imprudent.]—CARSTAIRS v. CARSTAIRS & DICKENSON, No. 5566, post.

5020. —— Liability of co-respondent for whole costs.]—CODRINGTON v. CODRINGTON & ANDERSON, No. 4837, ante.

5021. —— Profligate life of respondent—Prior to adultery.]—Where petitioner had lived separate from resp. for several years in consequence of her intemperance, & during the separation & prior to the adultery proved, she had been leading an abandoned life, the ct., notwithstanding that co-resp. must have known that resp. when he committed the adultery was a married woman, refused to condemn him in costs.—NELSON v. NELSON (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 510.

Sect. 18.—Order for costs: Sub-sect. 4, C. (c) i., ii. & iii., & (d); sub-sects. 5, 6 & 7.]

—— Acquired after commencement of adultery.]—See Sub-sect. 4, C. (c) iii., post.

5022. Right to cross-examine witnesses—As to knowledge—Appearance entered—No answer filed.]—LYNE v. LYNE & BLACKNEY, No. 3937, ante.

Conduct of petitioner.]—See Sub-sect. 4, C. (b), ii. Proof of Knowledge.

5023. Onus of proof on petitioner.]—BUTTERWORTH v. BUTTERWORTH & ENGLEFIELD, COLLINS v. COLLINS & HARRISON, BARRATT v. BARRATT & FOX, HOWELL v. HOWELL & WALKER, ADAMS v. ADAMS & WARD. ELLWORTHY v. ELLWORTHY & LEDGARD, No. 4676, ante.

5024. Surrounding circumstances—From which co-respondent's knowledge inferred.]—The discretion of the ct. as to costs is a judicial one, & a long course of decisions only allows a co-resp. to be condemned in costs if it is either shown that he knew, or circumstances proved which enable the ct. to find that he ought to have known, that resp. was a married woman. But there is no special rule as to the nature of the evidence required to prove such knowledge, & it may, like other facts in issue, be inferred from proved facts.—GIBBS v. GIBBS & HEATHCOTE (1920), 123 L. T. 206: 36 T. L. R. 503.

5025. —— ——.]—Costs may be awarded against a co-resp. not proved to have known that resp. was married, if the facts warrant a finding that he ought to have known, but not otherwise.—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR & KRAFT (1920), 123 L. T. 112: 36 T. L. R. 329.

Annotation:—Consd. Gibbs v. Gibbs & Heathcote (1920), 123 L. T. 206.

5026. —— ——.]—LANGRICK v. LANGRICK & FUNNELL, No. 4684, ante.

5027. Confession.]—Where, upon an application to make a co-resp. liable for the costs of a petition, the only proof of scienter was an admission by him that within a fortnight after he first committed adultery with resp. he became aware that she was a married woman:—Held: petitioner was entitled to an order for costs against co-resp.

Where a co-resp. has found out when too late to repair the wrong done, that the woman with whom he has taken up is a married woman, he ought not, because he does not desert her, to be held liable for costs. (JEUNE, P.).—BILBY v. BILBY, [1902] P. 8; 71 L. J. P. 31; 86 L. T. 123.

Annotations:—Consd. Norris v. Norris & Smith, [1918] P. 129. Expld. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126. Refd. Sweeting v. Sweeting & Rowlands (1919), 36 T. L. R. 15; Burne v. Burne & Helvoet, [1920] P. 17.

5028. ——.]—NORRIS v. NORRIS & SMITH, No. 4835, ante.

iii. Knowledge Acquired after Commencement of Adultery.

5029. Co-respondent continuing to live with respondent—Not thereby liable for costs.]—Where a wife, who had been a prostitute before marriage, left her husband in Australia without his consent & against his wishes, & on arriving in England commenced an adulterous intercourse with co-resp., with whom she had had an immoral intimacy previous to her marriage; and co-resp. did not know that resp. was a married woman, until a week after their second intimacy had commenced, but after he was made aware of her marriage continued to cohabit with her, his alleged reason for doing so being that she received no support from her husband, & unless he, co-resp., had supported her she would have been driven back to a life of prostitution, the judge, under the circumstances, refused to condemn co-resp. in costs, although petitioner had done his best to prevent his wife from coming home from Australia, & was not in a position to make her an allowance whilst living apart from him.—LEARMOUTH v. LEARMOUTH & AUSTIN (1889), 59 L. J. P. 14; 62 L. T. 608.

Annotations:—Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126. Refd. Robinson v. Robinson & Wilson (1898), 78 L. T. 391.

5030. —— ——.]—NEWBY v. NEWBY & WHITE, No. 4691, ante.

5031. —— ——.]—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON & WILSON, No. 4846, ante.

5032. —— ——.]—BILBY v. BILBY, No. 5027, ante.

5033. —— ——.]—(1) Where co-resp. did not know of resp. being a married woman at the time when he first entered upon an adulterous connection with her, but, having afterwards discovered that she was married, still continues to live with her, he should not be held liable for costs because he did not desert resp. as soon as he discovered that she was married.

(2) Want of knowledge that resp. was a married woman is no bar to a claim [against co-resp.] for damages.—SWEETING v. SWEETING & ROWLANDS (1919), 36 T. L. R. 15.

Annotation:—As to (1) Consd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

5034. Adultery continued after knowledge—Discretion of the court.]—NORRIS v. NORRIS & SMITH, No. 4835, ante.

(d) Rescission of Decree nisi.

5035. Intervention of King's Proctor—Decree as to costs unrescinded.]—Where the Queen's Proctor intervened after a decree nisi, & established a charge of adultery against petitioner, the ct. reversed only that part of the decree which disclosed the marriage, & left standing that part which condemned the co-resp. in costs.—HOLT v. HOLT & DAVIS (1869), 21 L. T. 401.

5036. —— ——.]—A husband obtained a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery with co-resp., & the ct. condemned co-resp. in the costs of the suit. The Queen's Proctor afterwards intervened, & filed pleas alleging collusion & petitioner's adultery between the commencement of the suit & the date of the decree nisi. Petitioner filed no answer to the Queen's Proctor's pleas, & the decree nisi was rescinded. The ct. rescinded that part of the decree which condemned co-resp. in costs.—HECHLER v. HECHLER & BENNETT (1888), 58 L. J. P. 27.

5037. —— ——.]—HYMAN v. HYMAN & GOLDMAN, No. 3227, ante.

5038. —— ——.]—HOPE v. HOPE & JOHNSON, No. 5162, post.

5039. —— Decree as to costs rescinded.]—RAVENSCROFT v. RAVENSCROFT & SMITH, No. 4833, ante.

5040. —— ——.]—Petitioner in a dissolution suit had obtained a decree nisi, with costs. On an intervention of the Queen's Proctor he was proved to have been guilty of profligate adultery, & the ct. reversed the decree nisi, including that portion which condemned co-resp. in costs.—YOUELL v. YOUELL, TERRASS & BURLEIGH (1875), 33 L. T. 578; sub nom. YOWELL v. YOWELL, SERRASH & BURLEIGH, 24 W. R. 59.

5041. —— ——.]—BALDWIN v. BALDWIN & STOWELL, No. 4818, ante.

—— Costs of intervention.]—See Sect. 20, subsect. 4, A. (g).

5042. Reconciliation of parties—Decree as to costs unrescinded.]—Petitioner & resp. in a suit for divorce having become reconciled after the decree nisi & before decree absolute, petitioner moved to rescind the decree & dismiss the petition. The ct. directed that the order rescinding the decree nisi & dismissing the petition should contain a provision condemning co-resp. in the costs of the petition, as taxed.—QUARTERMAINE v. QUARTERMAINE & GLENISTER, [1911] P. 180; 80 L. J. P. 89; 105 L. T. 80; 27 T. L. R. 458; 55 Sol. Jo. 522.

Annotation :—Refd. Hope v. Hope & Johnson (1924), 130 L. T. 761.

SUB-SECT. 5.—BETWEEN OTHER PARTIES.

5043. Guardian—Petitioner for infant wife—Liability for husband's costs—Case conducted without discretion.]—(1) A guardian, in instituting or carrying on a matrimonial suit on behalf of a minor wife against her husband, must exercise sound judgment & discretion; if he carry on such suit without a just foundation, he will be condemned in the costs of the husband.

(2) Under no circumstance can a wife in a matrimonial suit be condemned in costs.—BROWN v. BROWN (1850), 2 Rob. Eccl. 302; 7 Notes of Cases, 391; 14 Jur. 768; 163 E. R. 1325.

Annotations :—As to (1) Consd. Rutter v. Rutter, [1921] P. 136. Refd. Zycklinski v. Zycklinski (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 420. As to (2) Consd. Rutter v. Rutter, [1921] P. 136.

5044. Guardian ad litem—Petitioner for infant husband—Costs of unsuccessful petition—Misconduct immaterial.]—The guardian ad litem of an infant husband who is a petitioner in the Divorce Div. is in the same position as a next friend in the Chancery & K. B. Divs. as to costs, & is liable to be ordered to pay the costs of an unsuccessful petition apart from any question of misconduct.—RUTTER v. RUTTER, [1921] P. 136; 90 L. J. P. 129; 124 L. T. 796; 37 T. L. R. 264; subsequent proceedings, [1921] P. 421.

5045. —— Official Solicitor acting as—On behalf of lunatic husband—Right to own costs from wife.]—(1) The costs of the Official Solicitor as the guardian ad litem of resp., a person of unsound mind not so found by inquisition, were ordered to be paid by petitioner, who was given leave to add the same to her own costs of suit as against resp.

(2) In pronouncing a decree of nullity the ct. ordered that the child of the union should be given to petitioner.—JACKSON (OTHERWISE MACFARLANE) v. JACKSON, [1908] P. 308; 77 L. J. P. 147; 24 T. L. R. 674; 52 Sol. Jo. 535.

5046. Nullity suit—By father of husband—Against husband & wife—Liability for wife's costs.]—WELLS v. WELLS & COTTAM, No. 4865, ante.

5047. —— By next of kin—Delay in instituting suit.]—The next of kin having delayed three years in instituting the suit, & resp. having been put to much expense in the meantime in maintaining the alleged lunatic, the ct. refused to make any order as to costs.—HANCOCK v. PEATY (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 335; 36 L. J. P. & M. 57; 16 L. T. 182; 15 W. R. 719.

Annotations :—Consd. Mordaunt v. Moncreiffe (1874), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 374. Refd. Jackson (otherwise Macfarlane) v. Jackson (1908), 52 Sol. Jo. 535.

5048. Intervener — Successful intervention — Liability of petitioner & respondent.]—Upon a wife's petition for dissolution of marriage, the husband filed an answer denying all the charges made against him in the petition, but, when the case was in the paper for hearing, upon an application being made on behalf of petitioner for a short adjournment, counsel for the husband stated that he was not in a position to defend the suit so far as the charges of desertion & adultery were concerned. An application was thereupon made on behalf of a person named in the petition that she might have leave to intervene & defend herself in respect of the particular charge of adultery with which her name was associated, & the ct. gave leave accordingly. Upon the case coming on for hearing, the charge of adultery was disproved, but the wife was granted a judicial separation on the ground of resp.'s desertion. Upon the question arising as to costs :—Held : under the circumstances, the ct. ought to place the intervener in the best possible position to obtain the costs of her successful intervention, & an order should be made in her favour against both petitioner & resp.—WADE v. WADE, [1903] P. 16; 72 L. J. P. 1; 87 L. T. 751; 51 W. R. 464.

5049. —— —— Liability of wife—Separate property restrained from anticipation.]—STUDLEY v. STUDLEY, No. 3836, ante.

SUB-SECT. 6.—PARTIES SUING IN FORMÂ PAUPERIS.

See R. S. C., Ord. 16, rr. 31E–31H.

5050. Petition by wife—Petition successful—Entitled to costs.]—A wife suing in formâ pauperis for a dissolution of marriage, if she obtains a decree is entitled to costs.—AFFORD v. AFFORD (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 387; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 174; 5 L. T. 138; 164 E. R. 1046.

5051. Petition by husband—Costs against co-respondent—Costs out of pocket only.]—RICHARDSON v. RICHARDSON & PLOWMAN, No. 4289, ante.

5052. —— Leave to sue as poor person after suit commenced—Usual order for wife's costs—Up to date of such leave.]—A husband petitioned for divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery with co-resp. & the usual order was made that the husband should pay his wife's costs up to setting down & give security for her costs. On the husband's failure to comply with the order the cause was stayed & the husband then obtained an order allowing him to sue as a poor person. The jury found in favour of the husband on all the issues & the ct. pronounced a decree nisi with costs against co-resp. & made the usual order for the wife's costs up to the date of the order allowing the husband to sue as a poor person, the husband to recover them from co-resp.—WEST v. WEST & MAXTED (1917), 34 T. L. R. 169; 62 Sol. Jo. 213.

SUB-SECT. 7.—APPLICATION FOR COSTS.

5053. Time for application—Application after hearing—Whether out of time.]—BRITTAIN v. BRITTAIN & CAMP, No. 4010, ante.

Sect. 18.—Order for costs: Sub-sects. 7, 8 9. Sect. 19: Sub-sects. 1 & 2, A.] 5054. Wife unsuccessful.]—KEATS v. KEATS & MONTEZUMA, No. 3166, ante.

5055. —— —— —— ——.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage, the wife before the hearing, obtained the usual order for the taxation of her costs. The registrar made an appointment, & found that her taxed costs, up to the date of the order, amounted to £9 11*s.* 6*d.*, & that £90 would be a reasonable sum to be paid into the registry to cover the wife's cost of the hearing, but he declined to make his report to that effect, as petitioner's solr. was not present, & he made a second appointment. In the interim the cause was heard, & the wife failed in the suit:—Held: she was not entitled to the costs incurred before the date of the order, nor to the costs of the hearing.—GOUGH v. GOUGH & BAYNTON (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 136.

Annotation:—Refd. Franklin v. Franklin & Minshall, [1921] P. 407.

5056. —— —— —— ——.]—(1) Where there were cross suits, & the marriage was dissolved on the ground of the wife's adultery, the ct. held that the husband was not liable for the costs of the wife in her suit, inasmuch as she had not taken the ordinary steps to get them taxed previous to the final determination that she had been guilty of adultery.

(2) The decree pronouncing her guilty of adultery should be pleaded to entitle the ct. to take notice of it.—ROLT v. ROLT (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 604; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 51; 164 E. R. 1409.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Whitmore v. Whitmore (1866), 35 L. J. P. & M. 39; Otway v. Otway (1888), 59 L. T.

5057. Discretion of court.]—(1) Where petitioner established adultery against co-resp., but the co-resp. established a countercharge of adultery against petitioner, & the petition was dismissed; the ct. held that co-resp. was liable for the costs of proving the wife's adultery, & that petitioner was liable for costs incurred by the co-resp. in establishing the countercharge of adultery.

(2) Rule 159 directing that the wife's costs of the hearing, when the decision of the ct. or jury is against her, shall not be allowed against the husband unless applied for & ordered to be allowed at the time of hearing, is not imperative on the ct., but the ct. may dispense with it, & entertain an application for the wife's costs subsequently to the hearing in a meritorious case.—CONRADI v. CONRADI & FLASHMAN (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 163; 35 L. J. P. & M. 49; 14 L. T. 170; 14 W. R. 589.

Annotation:—As to (2) Refd. Somerville v. Somerville & Webb (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 87.

5058. —— —— —— ——.]—In a suit in which material circumstances were proved on the part of the wife resp., although the verdict established her adultery, the ct. after the lapse of three months from the date of the decree nisi, & notwithstanding Rule 159, allowed her costs to be taxed against the husband.—SOMERVILLE v. SOMERVILLE & WEBB (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 87; 16 L. T. 466.

Annotation:—Refd. Smith v. Smith (1882), 7 P. D. 84.

5059. —— After decree absolute.]—After a decree had been made absolute in a suit for dissolution of marriage the ct. cannot condemn a party in the costs of the proceedings.—WAIT v. WAIT (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 228; 40 L. J. P. & M. 30; 24 L. T. 847; 19 W. R. 760.

Annotation:—Consd. Beeton v. Beeton & Robertson, [1921] P. 417.

5060. —— —— Intervention of King's Proctor.]—In cross-petitions by the husband & wife for dissolution of the marriage a decree nisi was pronounced on the wife's petition, the husband was condemned in costs. Subsequently the Queen's Proctor intervened, & charged the wife with adultery, collusion, & suppression of material facts. The husband, in compliance with an order of the registrar, had paid money into ct. to meet the wife's costs in both suits:—Held: the wife was not entitled to have the money in ct. paid out until the decree nisi had been made absolute.—BUTLER v. BUTLER, BUTLER v. BUTLER & BURNHAM, (1889), 14 P. D. 160; 58 L. J. P. 71; 38 W. R. 272; subsequent proceedings (1890), 15 P. D. 32, 126, 161.

5061. —— Before claim for damages decided.]—STOCKER v. STOCKER, BRICE & PATTERSON, No. 3228, ante.

5062. How made—Balance of costs beyond security lodged — Summons, not motion.]—COOKE v. COOKE & ALLEN, No. 4954, ante.

5063. Application for personal payment by solicitor.]—An appeal [as to costs] by a married woman having been dismissed with costs, resp. asked that appellant's solr. might be ordered to pay the costs [of the appeal] personally:—Held: if the ct. had jurisdiction to make the order it must be on a substantive application.—TATUM v. TATUM (1886), 2 T. L. R. 423, C. A.

5064. Application to condemn wife in costs—Necessity for notice to wife.]—Where, on a husband's petition for divorce, application was made to condemn the wife, who had not appeared to defend the suit, in costs, the ct. declined to entertain the application until she had received notice of it.—FIELD v. FIELD & DENTON (1887), 13 P. D. 23; 58 L. T. 90; 52 J. P. 56; 36 W. R. 720.

Annotation:—Refd. Mason v. Mason (1889), 61 L. T. 304.

5065. No previous application for security.]—A wife filed a petition for judicial separation, & the case was in due course set down for trial. Subsequently she wrote to her solrs. saying that she had returned to her husband. On May 29 her solrs. wrote to her expressing a wish to withdraw from the case, & they did not afterwards act for her. Up to that date they took no steps, under the prevailing practice of the Divorce Div. to obtain security for the wife's costs from the husband. On July 3 they carried their costs into the registry for taxation against the husband. On a summons adjourned into ct. for further argument:—Held: as the solrs. had not applied for security in the ordinary way, they must be left to their remedy at common law; the application was not in accord with the practice of the ct.; it was out of time; it was not made by the wife's solrs., but merely by a firm that had at one time acted for her; the ct. had no jurisdiction to deal with it; & it must be dismissed with costs against the applicants personally.—NAIRNE v. NAIRNE (1901), 71 L. J. P. 37; 85 L. T. 649; 65 J. P. 777; 18 T. L. R. 16; 46 Sol. Jo. 31.

Annotation:—Expld. & Distd. Jinks v. Jinks, [1911] P. 120.

5066. Who may apply—Previous solicitors of wife—Withdrawal during conduct of case.]—NAIRNE v. NAIRNE, No. 5065, ante.

SUB-SECT. 8.—ENFORCEMENT OF ORDER.

Stay of proceedings.]—See Sect. 14, sub-sect. 2, B., ante.

Action in King's Bench.]—See No. 5441, post.

Attachment & committal.]—See Nos. 5911–5930, post.

Process of execution.]—See No. 5906, post.
—— Writ of elegit.]—See No. 5968, post.
—— Writ of fieri facias.]—See Nos. 4288, 4815, ante, No. 5961, post.
—— Garnishee.]—See No. 5972, post.
—— Receiver.]—See Nos. 5972–5981, post.
—— Sequestration.]—See Nos. 5956, 5957, post.
Injunction restraining dealings with property.]—See No. 4306, ante, Nos. 6011, 6012, post.

SUB-SECT. 9.—APPEAL FROM ORDER.

See Sect. 21, sub-sect. 1, D., post.

SECT. 19.—FUNCTIONS OF KING'S PROCTOR.

SUB-SECT. 1.—INTERVENTION AT INSTANCE OF COURT.

See Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), s. 7; Matrimonial Causes Act, 1866 (c. 32), s. 3; Matrimonial Causes Act, 1873 (c. 31), s. 1.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 181 (1); Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1925, r. 51.

5067. Power of court to direct.]—In a suit for dissolution the ct. having reason to suspect the husband of connivance or conduct conducing to adultery, suspended the decree, & directed the Queen's Proctor to make inquiries into the bona fides of petitioner's case.—RICHARDS v. RICHARDS & COOK (1869), 21 L. T. 598; 18 W. R. 152.

5068. ——.]—HARRIMAN v. HARRIMAN, [1909] P. 123; 78 L. J. P. 62; 100 L. T. 557; 73 J. P. 193; 25 T. L. R. 291; 53 Sol. Jo. 265, C. A.

Annotations:—Mentd. Eastbourne Grdns. v. Croydon Grdns., [1910] 2 K. B. 16; Stevenson v. Stevenson, [1911] P. 191; Churner v. Churner (1912), 106 L. T. 769; Robinson v. Robinson, [1919] P. 352; Timmins v. Timmins, [1919] P. 75; Rutherford v. Rutherford, [1922] P. 144.

5069. Power of Court of Appeal to direct.]—LE SUEUR v. LE SUEUR, No. 5071. post.

5070. Fiat of Attorney-General—Power of court to compel issue.]—At the hearing of a petition by the wife for dissolution of marriage, her counsel, in opening, & petitioner, in the witnesses-box, stated that she had committed adultery, but asked the ct. to exercise its discretion in her favour; but the ct., having a very strong suspicion that petitioner's case was in material respects untrue, adjourned the further hearing, at the same time directing that all necessary papers in the matter should be sent to the King's Proctor, in order that, under the directions of the A.-G., the Proctor should instruct counsel to argue before the ct. all questions in relation to the cause which the ct. might deem it expedient to have fully argued, &, for that purpose, to take such steps as might be deemed necessary or expedient. Upon motion by the King's Proctor for directions:—Held: as the ct. could not compel the A.-G. to issue his fiat, the case would have to remain in the reserve list until that list should be called over & dealt with in the ordinary course.—JACKSON v. JACKSON, [1910] P. 230; 79 L. J. P. 82; 103 L. T. 79; 26 T. L. R. 476.

5071. Costs of appearance—Power of Court of Appeal to allow—Appeal withdrawn by appellant.]—Under Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 19 the Ct. of Appeal has power to direct the papers in a divorce matter to be sent to the Queen's Proctor, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), s. 5, for the purpose of instructing counsel to argue the case on appeal.

But where counsel in accordance with such direction appeared for the Queen's Proctor, & the appeal was withdrawn by applt.:—Held: the Ct. of Appeal had no power to allow the Queen's Proctor his costs.—LE SUEUR v. LE SUEUR (1877), 2 P. D. 79; 36 L. T. 276; 25 W. R. 402, C. A.

Annotations:—Mentd. Niboyet v. Niboyet (1878), 3 P. D. 52; Lord Advocate v. Jaffrey, [1921] 1 A. C. 146.

Costs of showing cause against decree.]—See Sect. 20, sub-sect. 4, A. (g), post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—INTERVENTION BEFORE DECREE NISI.

A. On What Grounds.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 181 (2).

5072. Whether confined to collusion—Adultery of petitioner.]—DRUMMOND v. DRUMMOND, No. 3158, ante.

5073. —— Suppression of material facts.]—If information be given to the Queen's Proctor of material facts necessary to the due decision of a case before the ct. during the progress of the cause, he cannot at that time take any steps except to watch the case & see whether such material facts are brought to the notice of the ct. If not, he will be entitled, as one of the public, but acting under the direction of the A.-G., to show cause against the decree being made absolute, in which case he will follow the ordinary practice prescribed by the rules. It is only when he has evidence of collusion that it is necessary that he should apply to the ct. for leave to intervene under the latter part of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), s. 7.—HUDSON v. HUDSON (1875), 1 P. D. 65; 45 L. J. P. 39; 33 L. T. 788; 24 W. R. 282.

Annotation:—Refd. Jackson v. Jackson (1910), 26 T. L. R. 476.

5074. Right to set up other defences.]—The Queen's Proctor, when intervening before decree nisi, is not precluded from setting up other defences in addition to that of collusion.—SOTTOMAYER v. DE BARROS (1879), 5 P. D. 94; 49 L. J. P. 1; 41 L. T. 281; 27 W. R. 917.

Annotations:—Mentd. Moss v. Moss, [1897] P. 263; Viditz v. O'Hagan (1899), 68 L. J. Ch. 553; Ogden v. Odgen, [1908] P. 46; Chetti v. Chetti, [1909] P. 67; R. v. Hammersmith Superintendent Registrar of Marriages, Ex p. Mir-Anwaruddin, [1917] 1 K. B. 634.

5075. —— Amended petition.]—CARTER v. CARTER (1909), Times, May 4; subsequent proceedings, sub nom. HIGGINS v. KING'S PROCTOR, KING'S PROCTOR v. CARTER, [1910] P. 151, C. A.

5076. —— Inquiry likely to show falsity of petitioner's case.]—In the absence of materials establishing collusion, there is no statutory authority for the intervention of the King's Proctor before decree nisi, even although inquiry would be likely to show that the case, presented by a petitioner who has been guilty of misconduct & seeks the exercise of the discretion of the ct. is a false one. The assistance which the King's Proctor can render to the ct. before decree nisi is, in the absence of suggested collusion, confined to matters of argument. In the absence of suggested collusion, he cannot call evidence or ask for dismissal of the petition at that stage of the proceedings.—JACKSON v. JACKSON, [1910] P. 230; 79 L. J. P. 82; 103 L. T. 79; 26 T. L. R. 476.

Sect. 19.—Functions of King's Proctor: Sub-sect. 2, B. & C.; sub-sect. 3. Sect. 20: Sub-sects. 1, 2 & 3, A. & B. (a).]

B. Effect of Intervention.

5077. Amendment of prayer—From dissolution to judicial separation—Petitioner's adultery proved.]—DRUMMOND v. DRUMMOND, No. 3158, ante.

5078. Whether order for dismissal made—At instance of petitioner—King's Proctor entitled to costs on establishing collusion.]—The Queen's Proctor intervened in a suit for dissolution of marriage & pleaded, charging petitioner with adultery & collusion. Petitioner traversed both charges, but before the issues were tried moved the ct. to dismiss the petition. The Queen's Proctor not consenting, the ct. rejected the motion on the ground that the Queen's Proctor would be entitled to his costs if he established collusion.—JOYCE v. JOYCE (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 200.

C. Procedure.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 181 (1).

5079. Application for leave to intervene—Affidavit in support of motion—Not essential.]—The Queen's Proctor, under direction of the A.-G., may move the ct. by counsel, without affidavit, for leave to intervene in a divorce suit. But if he moves to have the hearing of the petition postponed that he may have time to plead, that part of the motion must be founded on affidavit, & notice given to the other parties.—ANON. (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 249; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 88; 3 L. T. 823; 164 E. R. 990.

Annotation:—Refd. Hudson v. Hudson (1875), 1 P. D. 65.

5080. Postponement of hearing—Affidavit in support of motion—Notice to other side.]—ANON. (1861), No. 5079, ante.

5081. Suit conducted by Attorney-General—Whether privilege as in Crown cases applicable.]—MARRIS v. MARRIS & BURKE, No. 3066, ante.

See, generally, CONSTITUTIONAL LAW, Vol. XI., p. 528, Nos. 325 et seq.; CROWN PRACTICE, Vol. XVI., p. 483, Nos. 3647 et seq.

5082. No evidence tendered at hearing—Petition dismissed.]—The Queen's Proctor intervened in a suit for dissolution, & alleged collusion & petitioner's adultery. Resp. did not appear. No evidence being tendered in support of the petition when the case came on for hearing, the ct. dismissed the petition, without requiring evidence to be produced in support of the Queen's Proctor's pleas.—SHELDON v. SHELDON (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 75; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 80; 13 W. R. 507; 164 E. R. 1444.

5083. Right to cross-examine petitioner's & respondent's witnesses—Allegation of collusion—Adultery of petitioner.]—BOARDMAN v. BOARDMAN, No. 2631, ante.

5084. Right of reply—When petitioner has begun.]—CONRADI v. CONRADI, WORRALL & WAY, No. 2764, ante.

SUB-SECT. 3.—SHOWING CAUSE AGAINST A DECREE.

See Sect. 20, post.

SECT. 20.—SHOWING CAUSE AGAINST A DECREE.

SUB-SECT. 1.—WHO MAY SHOW CAUSE.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 183 (2).

5085. Party to suit—Respondent.]—Resp. against whom a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage has been pronounced, cannot show cause against the decree being made absolute under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), s. 7.—STOATE v. STOATE (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 384; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 173; 5 L. T. 138; 164 E. R. 1045.

Annotations:—Consd. Clements v. Clements & Thomas (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 394; Harries v. Harries & Gregory (1901), 86 L. T. 262. Refd. Ousey v. Ousey (1875), 1 P. D. 56.

5086. —— —— Acting through member of public.]—CLEMENTS v. CLEMENTS & THOMAS, No. 5100, post.

5087. —— —— After intervention by King's Proctor withdrawn.]—Where a decree nisi had been pronounced on the husband's petition, & the Queen's Proctor had intervened on information furnished by the wife, but had subsequently withdrawn his intervention, the ct. declined to suspend the decree absolute on the wife's application:—Held: if the wife were dissatisfied with the verdict, she should have procured its review, not by setting the Queen's Proctor in motion, but by moving for a new trial.—PATTENDEN v. PATTENDEN & HERZFIELD (1868), 19 L. T. 612.

5088. —— Petitioner.]—C., the wife, obtained a decree nisi for dissolution of her marriage, the husband not appearing, after which the Queen's Proctor intervened & pleaded collusion between petitioner & resp., & alleged that petitioner had herself been living in adultery, & prayed to dismiss the petition & condemn the parties, or one of them, in costs; whereupon the judge ordinary was moved on behalf of the petitioner to direct the petition to be taken off the file of the ct., which he refused to do:—Held: on appeal, the judge ordinary was right in such refusal.—GRAY v. GRAY (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 266; 4 L. T. 478; 7 Jur. N. S. 783; 164 E. R. 997.

Annotations:—Refd. Drummond v. Drummond (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 177; A. v. A., [1901] P. 284.

5089. —— —— Discretion of court.]—Husband's petition for divorce dismissed & decree nisi granted to wife on cross charges in her answer. Wife, a minor without guardian, filed a petition for maintenance. Husband took out a summons to dismiss the petition for maintenance, & that the costs already paid to wife might be paid into ct. until decree made absolute. The wife moved to rescind the decree nisi:—Held: the husband being the guilty party could have no relief. The wife's motion was dismissed, with an intimation that if renewed it must be by a guardian. The ct. has power in a proper case to rescind a decree nisi on application of the party who obtained it.—RUTTER v. RUTTER (No. 2), [1921] P. 421; 90 L. J. P. 366; 126 L. T. 120; 37 T. L. R. 967.

5090 —— Co-respondent.]—Co-resp. entered an appearance in a divorce suit, but did not defend the action. A decree nisi was obtained by petitioner:—Held: co-resp. could not afterwards intervene to show cause why the decree should

PART XIII. SECT. 20, SUB-SECT. 1.

5085 i. Party to suit—Respondent.]—A person against whom a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage has been made has no status to show cause against making the decree absolute. Such person, if absent at the trial, may on that ground apply to set aside the decree. Such remedy was refused when appct. failed to explain why not represented at the trial.—PURDY v. PURDY, [1920] 3 W. W. R. 550.—CAN.

k. —— —— Power of court to inquire.]—On an application by a wife that a decree nisi be made absolute, the husband appeared & tendered evidence to show that the wife had been guilty of adultery which disentitled her from obtaining a decree for divorce:—Held: though the husband could not technically show cause, the ct. had power, as there was no King's Proctor in India, to inquire into the truth of the allegations made by him.—CODD v. CODD (1923), I. L. R. 47 Bom. 664.—IND.

l. Solicitor-General.]—The Solr.-

not be made absolute.—HARRIES v. HARRIES & GREGORY (1901), 86 L. T. 262 ; 18 T. L. R. 219.

5091. —— —— Acting through member of public.]—CLEMENTS v. CLEMENTS & THOMAS, No. 5100, post.

5092. —— Intervener.]—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS & WILSON (1899), Times, June 20.

5093. King's Proctor—As member of public—If collusion not alleged.]—Any person, & the Queen's Proctor, as one of the public, may enter an appearance & file affidavits in opposition to a decree nisi being made absolute, at any time before it is made absolute.

Where the Queen's Proctor does not intervene in his official capacity, but appears as one of the public, the ct. has no authority to award him his costs.—BOWEN v. BOWEN & EVANS (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 530 ; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 129 ; 13 W. R. 109 ; 164 E. R. 1381.

Annotation :—Consd. Poole v. Poole & Charlton (1896), 12 T. L. R. 509.

5094. —— —— ——.]—MASTERS v. MASTERS, No. 4636, ante.

5095. —— —— . .]—LAUTOUR v. QUEEN'S PROCTOR, No. 3533, ante.

5096. .]—HUDSON v. HUDSON, No. 5073, ante.

5097. Member of public—Petitioner guilty of misconduct after decree nisi.]—By Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), s. 7 any one may show cause why a decree nisi for a dissolution of marriage should not be made absolute by reason of material facts not brought before the ct. :—Held : the ct. is bound before making a decree absolute to take notice of any material facts not previously brought before it, even although they occurred subsequently to the decree nisi, & consequently of adultery subsequent to the decree nisi, for adultery before the decree absolute is adultery during the marriage, one of the grounds on which the ct. may refuse to dissolve a marriage.

If, indeed, the argument could have been sustained, that the decree nisi puts an end to the marriage, there could be no adultery during the marriage after it. But there is no warrant, I think, for that proposition ; as the marriage remains undissolved until the decree absolute is pronounced, the obligations of marriage in respect of adultery equally remain, & no reasonable ground can be assigned why the breach of those obligations should be fatal before the decree nisi, but innocent after it (per CUR.).—HULSE v. HULSE & TAVERNOR (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 259 ; 40 L. J. P. & M. 51 ; 24 L. T. 817 ; 19 W. R. 880 ; subsequent proceedings, L. R. 2 P. & D. 357.

Annotations :—Consd. Rogers v. Rogers, [1894] P. 161 ; Constantinidi v. Constantinidi, [1903] P. 246 ; Sinclair v. Fell, [1913] 1 Ch. 155. Refd. Ousey v. Ousey (1875), 1 P. D. 56 ; Norman v. Villars (1877), 2 Ex. D. 359 ; Lewis v. Lewis, [1892] P. 212 ; Symons v. Symons, [1897] P. 167.

5098. .]—HOWARTH v. HOWARTH, No. 5250, post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—WHEN CAUSE MUST BE SHOWN.

5099. Any time before decree absolute.] —BOWEN v. BOWEN & EVANS, No. 5093, ante.

5100. —.]—At any time before a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage is made absolute, it is competent for one of the public to intervene, although three months may have elapsed since the decree was pronounced.

Semble : the ct. will not act upon an intervention, when satisfied that it is made at the instance of resp. or co-resp.—CLEMENTS v. CLEMENTS & THOMAS (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 394 ; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 74 ; 10 L. T. 352 ; 13 W. R. 110 ; 164 E. R. 1327.

5101. —.]—LAUTOUR v. QUEEN'S PROCTOR, No. 3533, ante.

5102. .]—The Queen's Proctor can intervene at any time before a decree nisi is made absolute.—POOLE v. POOLE & CHARLTON (1896), 12 T. L. R. 509.

SUB-SECT. 3.—ON WHAT GROUNDS.

A. Collusion.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 183 (2).

Agreement to withhold material facts as amounting to collusion.]—See Sect. 7, sub-sect. 3, C. (b), iv., ante.

5103. Collusion distinguished from suppression of material facts.]—Concealment of material facts as a bar to a divorce is on a different footing to collusion unless the concealment is the result of collusion, collusion being an absolute bar ; while concealment of facts is not a bar, either absolute or discretionary, unless the facts, if before the ct., would have caused the ct. to withhold a decree. Where on a disclosure of all the facts a decree would in the first instance, in the exercise of the discretion of the ct., have properly been pronounced, mere non-disclosure is no ground for rescinding a decree already pronounced. If a petitioner for dissolution of marriage withholds from the ct. the fact that he or she has committed adultery, & a decree nisi is pronounced, the ct. will not discharge the decree nisi merely because that fact has been withheld ; but it will inquire whether if that fact had been disclosed at the trial the ct., in the exercise of its discretion, would have pronounced a decree nisi, & if it would, it will make the decree absolute.—HUNTER v. HUNTER, [1905] P. 217 ; 74 L. J. P. 157 ; 93 L. T. 451 ; 53 W. R. 666 ; 21 T. L. R. 602.

Annotations :—Consd. Brooke v. Brooke, [1912] P. 136. Refd. Westcott v. Westcott, [1908] P. 250 ; Higgins v. King's Proctor, King's Proctor v. Carter, [1910] P. 151.

B. Suppression of Material Facts.

(a) In General.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 183 (2).

5104. General rule—Duty to make full disclosure.]—WILKINSON v. WILKINSON & SEYMOUR, No. 3449, ante.

5105. Effect of non-disclosure—Where petitioner entitled to decree if facts disclosed.]—ALEXANDRE v. ALEXANDRE, No. 3019, ante.

5106. —— ——.]—HARRADEN v. HARRADEN & BOHAN (1904), Times, June 3.

Annotation :—Consd. Hunter v. Hunter, [1905] P. 217.

5107. —— ——.]—ROCHE v. ROCHE, No. 5118, post.

5108. —— ——.]—HUNTER v. HUNTER, No. 5103, ante.

5109. ——.]—Circumstances in which the ct. will exercise its discretion by refusing to rescind a decree nisi on the ground that material facts

General may, under Divorce Act, 1908, s. 33, intervene at any time before the decree nisi is made absolute, even after the time limited after which the decree nisi may be made absolute has expired ; & he may intervene either under sub-sect. 3 or under sub-sect. 1 as one of the public ; but in the latter case he is not entitled to costs.—JOBSON v. JOBSON (1910), 30 N. Z. L. R. 48.—N Z.

Sect. 20.—Showing cause against a decree: Sub-sect. 3, B. (a) & (b); sub-sect. 4, A. (a).]

have been withheld from the knowledge of the ct.—BARRETT v. BARRETT & VAUGHAN (1913), 30 T. L. R. 63.

5110. —— Adultery admitted at hearing—Decree nisi granted in discretion of court.]—On the intervention of the King's Proctor the ct., on the ground that the petitioning wife had concealed material facts, rescinded the decree nisi, which although the wife had committed adultery the ct. had granted in its discretion.—KING v. KING (1915), 32 T. L. R. 78.

5111. —— Though innocent.]—BROOKE v. BROOKE, No. 5115, post.

5112. Effect of abandonment of charges at trial.]—(1) It is not competent for a person who has intervened in a suit for dissolution of marriage for the purpose of showing cause against the decree nisi being made absolute, to object that the ct. had no jurisdiction over the parties to the suit; nor to rely on, as material facts, charges which had been pleaded in answer to the petition but were abandoned at the trial.

(2) Where an appearance had been entered by a friend of the co-resp., against whom £5,000 damages had been awarded, for the purpose of showing cause against a decree nisi being made absolute, on the ground that there were material facts in the case which were not brought to the notice of the ct. & most of the material facts had been put on record by the parties, & were not established at the trial, & the intervener had not established by affidavit a single fact of importance, the ct. declined to suspend its decree, & condemned the intervener in the costs occasioned by the intervention.—FORSTER v. FORSTER & BERRIDGE (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 151; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 206; 9 L. T. 148; 164 E. R. 1231; subsequent proceedings, 4 B. & S. 187.

5113. After decree nisi.]—HULSE v. HULSE & TAVERNOR, No. 5097, ante.

5114. On decree of nullity.]—In a suit by a husband for nullity of marriage upon the ground of his wife's incapacity to consummate the marriage, the wife did not defend, & the husband gave evidence that the wife was haud apta viro & that the marriage had not been consummated. A decree nisi having been pronounced, the King's Proctor intervened upon the ground that material facts had been withheld from the ct., namely, that the wife was apta viro & that the marriage had been consummated. The ct. being satisfied upon the evidence of the wife & doctors that the wife was apta viro & that the marriage had been consummated, rescinded the decree nisi.—T. v. T. (OTHERWISE T.) (1908), 24 T. L. R. 580.

Agreement to withhold material facts as amounting to collusion.]—See Sect. 7, sub-sect. 3, C. (b) iv., ante.

Adultery not admitted by petitioner.] - See Sub-sect. 3, B. (b), post.

Conduct conducing to adultery.]—See Sect. 7, sub-sect. 4, C., ante.

Connivance.]—See Sect. 7, sub-sect. 3, B., ante.

Condonation.]—See Sect. 7, sub-sect. 3, D., ante.

(b) Adultery not admitted by Petitioner.

Agreement between parties to suppress material facts — Amounting to collusion.] — See Sect. 7, sub-sect. 3, C. (b) iv., ante.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 178 (3); s. 183 (2).

5115. General rule.]—(1) Even where it appears that material facts were deliberately withheld or wilfully suppressed at the hearing of a petition for dissolution of marriage, the ct. must, upon an intervention by the King's Proctor, take into consideration all the facts proved in evidence under the King's Proctor's plea or the answer thereto filed by petitioner, before deciding whether the decree nisi should be rescinded; or whether the discretion conferred by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, should be exercised in favour of petitioner with a view to the decree being made absolute; or whether a middle course should be adopted with a view to further inquiry & elucidation of the facts.

The suppression of material facts is of grave importance & even when innocent may bring about the rescission of a decree nisi.

(2) The circumstances of each particular case must be dealt with as justice may require, regard being had, not merely to the parties themselves, & to others who may be interested in, or affected by, the decision of the ct., but to public decency & morality & the welfare & interests of society & the State.

(3) The ct. may, if thought fit, suspend its decision, & may direct that notice of any fresh allegations, raised for the first time in petitioner's answer to the King's Proctor's plea, shall be served upon resp.—BROOKE v. BROOKE, [1912] P. 136; 81 L. J. P. 75 106 L. T. 766; 28 T. L. R. 314; 56 Sol. Jo. 2; subsequent proceedings, [1912] P. 205, n.

Annotation:—As to (2) Consd. Wickins v. Wickins, [1918] P. 265.

5116. Time for admission — In petition.] — HAMPSON v. HAMPSON, No. 3463, ante.

5117. —— ——.]—A petitioner who intends to ask the ct. to exercise the discretion conferred by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31 by granting a decree dissolving the marriage, although petitioner has during the marriage been guilty of adultery, must set out in the body of the petition the misconduct which the ct. is requested to excuse, & must, in the prayer at the conclusion of the petition, specifically ask that the discretion may be exercised.—KING v. KING, [1915] P. 88; 84 L. J. P. 80; 112 L. T. 1047; 31 T. L. R. 240; 59 Sol. Jo. 334; subsequent proceedings, 32 T. L. R. 78.

Annotation:—Distd. Goddard v. Goddard (1915), 31 T. L. R. 616.

5118. Whether mere concealment ground for rescinding decree.]—If a petitioner withholds from the ct., on the hearing of a petition for dissolution of marriage, the fact that she has committed adultery, such withholding of a fact is of itself a ground for refusing to make the decree absolute, even though the adultery is found, on a full investigation of all the facts of the case, to be such as would warrant the ct. in granting petitioner relief, & though, had the facts been fully disclosed to the ct. in the first instance, it would, in the exercise of its discretion, have granted relief.—ROCHE v. ROCHE, [1905] P. 142; 74 L. J. P. 50; 92 L. T. 668; 21 T. L. R. 332.

Annotations:—N.F. Hunter v. Hunter, [1905] P. 217. Dbtd. Brooke v. Brooke, [1912] P. 136.

5119. ——.]—HUNTER v. HUNTER, No. 5103, ante.

PART XIII. SECT. 20, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (b).

m. Conduct conducing to wife's adultery — Husband's adultery.] — A decree nisi having been granted in an action brought by a husband for divorce, & the A.-G. having intervened & opposed pltf.'s right of action, the judge to whom the motion for the final order was made found that pltf. drove deft. away from his home without reasonable excuse, never properly sup-

5120. — .]—BROOKE v. BROOKE, No. 5115, ante.

5121. — .]—Petitioner, who had herself committed adultery, obtained a decree nisi for a divorce from her husband without revealing to the ct. the fact that she had committed adultery. On the intervention of the King's Proctor the ct. rescinded the decree nisi & declined to exercise its discretion in favour of petitioner.—DAWES v. DAWES (1916), 32 T. L. R. 247.

5122. Concealment on advice of counsel.]—PRETTY v. PRETTY, No. 3458, ante.

5123. Concealment due to ignorance of law.]—In exercising the discretion conferred upon the ct. by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, each case must be considered in the light of its own circumstances & surroundings. Where petitioner, who had lived apart from his wife, did not know & was not told that his own adultery, committed long after his wife left him, was a material fact which he ought to disclose at or before the hearing of his petition, the ct. refused to rescind the decree nisi, but ordered petitioner to pay the costs of the King's Proctor.—HOOK v. HOOK & BROWN, [1917] P. 56; 86 L. J. P. 41; 116 L. T. 383; 33 T. L. R. 181; 61 Sol. Jo. 284.

5124. Concealment not wilful.]—The discretion conferred by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, to grant a divorce to a party who has been guilty of adultery, is an unfettered discretion for the exercise of which no rigid rules can be laid down, but it is to be exercised cautiously & carefully, &, as far as possible consistently, not only in regard to the parties themselves, but also with reference to the interests of public morality. A wife, married in 1900, was deserted by her husband in 1911. In 1916 she obtained a decree nisi for the dissolution of her marriage. The King's Proctor intervened, & it was found that since 1911 she had been living with her mother & stepfather at their farm as one of the family, where she had committed adultery with the son of her stepfather, who, she said, was willing to marry her. The judge having found the wife had not wilfully concealed material facts, & the husband had not conduced to the adultery, & in the exercise of his discretion under s. 31 rescinded the decree nisi:—Held: the discretion had been judicially exercised, & the Ct. of Appeal could not interfere.—HOLLAND v. HOLLAND, [1918] P. 273; 87 L. J. P. 142; 119 L. T. 266; 34 T. L. R. 450.

Annotations:—Consd. Hines v. Hines & Burdett, [1918] P. 364. Refd. Wickins v. Wickins, [1918] 1 265 Pullen v. Pullen & Holding (1920), 123 L. T. 203.

5125. Deliberate perjury.]—Where the ct. had been misled into exercising its discretion in favour of a husband who had himself been guilty of adultery, through his wilful withholding of facts & perjury, the ct. not only rescinded the decree nisi, but further intimated that the case was one in which criminal proceedings should be taken by the Treasury.—ROSENZ v. ROSENZ, & JOSTEN (1909), 26 T. L. R. 14; 54 Sol. Jo. 13.

Annotation:—Refd. Wain v. Wain & Eve (1909), 101 L. T. 815.

5126. —.]—PRETTY v. PRETTY, No. 3458, ante.

5127. —.]—HAMPSON v. HAMPSON, No. 3463, ante.

5128. —.]—MUNZER v. MUNZER & SWAIN, No. 3477, ante.

5129. Admission at hearing.]—CLARKE v. CLARKE & CLARKE, No. 3446, ante.

5130. Admission on intervention by King's Proctor—Conduct conducing to adultery of respondent.]—Where after decree nisi in an undefended case the King's Proctor brings the adultery of petitioner to the notice of the ct., but it is clear that the adultery of petitioner has not in any way conduced to the adultery of resp. on which the decree nisi proceeded, the ct., in the exercise of its discretion, may reject the intervention of the King's Proctor & allow petitioner to retain the decree.—COOMBS v. COOMBS & HOPKINS (1903), 73 L. J. P. 23; 89 L. T. 343, n.

Annotation:—Distd. Hynes v. Hynes & Lake (1904), 20 T. L. R. 781.

5131. —.]—WALTON v. WALTON & HAZELL (1920), 36 T. L. R. 228.

5132. —.]—DEAN v. DEAN & HARGREAVES (1921), 37 T. L. R. 798.

5133. Aggravated adultery—Condoned by respondent.]—Petitioner having on the intervention of the King's Proctor after a decree nisi admitted adultery of a somewhat aggravated kind, which had been concealed from the ct., but had been condoned by the resp.:—Held: in view of decision in Wilson v. Wilson, No. 3448, ante, the limits to the exercise of the ct.'s discretion laid down in Hines v. Hines & Burdett, No. 3296, ante, might be relaxed, & the discretion exercised in petitioner's favour, the intervention of the King's Proctor being, however, allowed with costs.—BEBB v. BEBB & ROSS (1920), 123 L. T. 93; 36 T. L. R. 303; 64 Sol. Jo. 479.

Annotation:—Distd. Pullen v. Pullen & Holding (1920), 123 L. T. 203.

5134. Partial admission.]—A petitioning wife admitted that she had committed one act of adultery & the judge in the exercise of his discretion granted her a decree nisi. The King's Proctor intervened & petitioner then admitted that she had committed several acts of adultery with the same man:—Held: in the circumstances the ct. ought to exercise its discretion by making the decree absolute.—LONG v. LONG (1920), 36 T. L. R. 398.

Annotation:—Distd. Pullen v. Pullen & Holding (1920), 123 L. T. 203.

Effect of condonation of concealed adultery.]—See Nos. 3456, 5133, ante.

SUB-SECT. 4.—PLEADING AND PRACTICE.

A. Intervention by King's Proctor.

(a) No Opposition to Motion to Rescind.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 51 B.

5135. Admissions on reply of petitioner—No evidence required.]—When the Queen's Proctor intervenes, & alleges matter which would be ground for reversing a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage, & such allegations are admitted by petitioner by his replication, the ct. will act on those admissions without requiring the proof of the facts admitted.

When, after a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage at the suit of the husband had been pronounced, the Queen's Proctor intervened, & pleaded that petitioner & resp. had been acting in collusion for the purpose of obtaining a divorce, contrary to the justice of the case, & with that intent kept from the knowledge of the ct., that petitioner had been guilty of bigamy & adultery, ported her, & never contributed to her support or that of the child of the parties after they had separated:—Held: the divorce should be refused, & also on the ground that pltf. himself had committed adultery.—SAMAIL v. SAMAIL, [1922] 2 W. W. R. 490; 66 D. L. R. 93; 15 Sask. L. R. 393.—CAN

Sect. 20.—Showing cause against a decree: Sub-sect.

& had by such conduct conduced to his wife's adultery, & petitioner replied, admitting the charges of bigamy & adultery, but denying collusion, & that his conduct had conduced to the adultery of his wife, & pleaded that before the bigamy his wife had been guilty of adultery, the ct., upon the admissions in the replication, without requiring evidence of the facts therein stated, reversed the decree nisi, dismissed the petition, & condemned petitioner in the costs of the intervention.—BOULTON v. BOULTON & PAGE (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 638; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 115; 7 L. T. 222; 164 E. R. 1146.

5136. Reconciliation of parties—No formal plea required.]—Petitioner had obtained a decree nisi dissolving his marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery. Subsequently his solrs. informed the Queen's Proctor that he had forgiven his wife & taken her back to live with him, & that he did not intend to take steps to have the decree made absolute. On affidavits from the husband & wife that they were living together again the ct. made the usual order rescinding the decree & dismissing the petition without requiring the Queen's Proctor to file a formal plea.—FLOWER v. FLOWER, [1893] P. 290; 63 L. J. P. 28; 42 W. R. 204; 1 R. 534.

5137. Denial by letter to court—Application by motion.] — LETCHFORD v. LETCHFORD (1905), Times, Nov. 1.

Annotation :—Folld. Crowden v. Crowden (1906), 23 T. L. R. 143.

5138. ——— ———.]—Petitioner having obtained a decree nisi for a divorce, the King's Proctor intervened & filed a plea alleging that petitioner had committed adultery. Petitioner's solrs. wrote to the King's Proctor that their client denied the allegations in the plea, but that she had not the means to contest the matter:—Held: the King's Proctor need not prove the allegations in the plea, but might proceed by motion.—CROWDEN v. CROWDEN (1906), 23 T. L. R. 143.

(b) Particulars.

5139. Whether necessary—Collusion.]—JESSOP v. JESSOP, No. 3145, ante.

5140. ——— ———.]—Where the Queen's Proctor has intervened after a decree nisi, & filed pleas alleging collusion, & that material facts were not brought to the knowledge of the ct., he will be ordered to give particulars of the matters so pleaded. Such particulars must state whether the facts relied upon are new or not, though such facts need not be given in detail. If any of the facts disclosed by the particulars have been already determined at the trial the ct. will order them to be struck out.—GLADSTONE v. GLADSTONE (1875), L. R. 3 P. & D. 260; 23 W. R. 519.

Annotations :—Consd. Crawford v. Crawford & Dilke (1886), 11 P. D. 150. Refd. Robinson v. Robinson (1877), 25 W. R. 376; Butler v. Butler (1890), 15 P. D. 126.

5141. ——— Suppression of material facts.]—BARNES v. BARNES & GRIMWADE, No. 3151, ante.

5142. ——— ———.]—GLADSTONE v. GLADSTONE, No. 5140, ante.

5143. Striking out—Matter already determined at hearing.]—GLADSTONE v. GLADSTONE, No. 5140, ante.

5144. ——— Additional particulars alleging adultery with fresh party.]—PIERCE v. PIERCE, No. 3993, ante.

(c) Pleading.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 51.

Pleadings generally, see PLEADING.

5145. Form of plea.]—CRAWFORD v. CRAWFORD & DILKE, No. 3845, ante.

5146. Liberty to plead two grounds for rescission.]—(1) The Queen's Proctor intervening in a suit under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), s. 7, & alleging collusion, is at liberty in the same plea to allege the suppression of material facts or any other matters in opposition to the decree.

(2) The same issues being raised by the Queen's Proctor & by other interveners, the case was conducted by counsel for the Queen's Proctor, & the ct. refused to allow counsel for the other interveners to address the jury, although they were allowed to examine & cross-examine the witness.

(3) The misconduct conducing to adultery intended by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 31, is not mere carelessness. Before a husband is found guilty of such misconduct, it must be proved that there was an intimacy between resp. & co-resp. of such a character as to be distinctly dangerous, that he actually knew so much of the intimacy as to perceive the danger, & that he either purposely or recklessly disregarded it, & forbore to interfere.

(4) After the trial by a jury of issues arising from an intervention, the ct. will not make a decree absolute immediately after a verdict in favour of petitioner, but will postpone it until the time has expired for an application for a new trial. The ct. made a decree absolute, notwithstanding a suggestion, supported by affidavits, that resp. & co-resp. were dead; the evidence before it not being sufficient to enable it to arrive at a conclusion whether they were dead or alive.

(5) Semble: any private intervener is liable to be condemned in costs whose intervention is unfounded & litigious.—DERING v. DERING & BLAKELEY (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 531; 37 L. J. P. & M. 52; 19 L. T. 48; 16 W. R. 1176.

Annotation :—As to (2) Folld. Sottomayer v. De Barros (1879), 5 P. D. 91.

5147. Amendment of plea—On terms.]—After a decree nisi for a dissolution of marriage, the Queen's Proctor intervened & charged collusion, suppression of material facts, & adultery. He subsequently applied for leave to amend certain erroneous dates in his charges. The ct. granted the application, but ordered the Queen's Proctor to pay the costs.—TOMKINS v. TOMKINS (1872), 20 W. R. 497.

5148. Striking out answer—Silence of petitioner.]—In a matrimonial suit where the King's Proctor showed cause against the decree being made absolute, petitioner's solrs. were directed to communicate with their client with a view to ascertaining whether he still defended the proceedings, & whether he would agree to certain evidence being taken on affidavit. For several months communications passed between petitioner & his solrs., but the solrs. were left without instructions. On a summons being taken out, the ct. directed petitioner's answer to the King's Proctor's plea to be struck out & subsequently on motion rescinded the decree.—FORSTER v. FORSTER & NANNI (1912), 29 T. L. R. 22.

(d) Discovery.

Discovery generally, see DISCOVERY, Vol. XVIII., pp. 42 et seq.

5149. Discovery of documents—Not ordered.]—D. v. D. (1909), No. 4309, ante.

In matrimonial causes generally.]—See Sect. 10, sub-sect. 1, A., ante.

(e) Hearing.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 51.

5150. Issues of fact—Decided by jury.]—MASTERS v. MASTERS, No. 4636, ante.

5151. —— ——.]—STUDHOLME v. STUDHOLME & CULLUM, No. 4637, ante.

5152. Right of King's Proctor to conduct intervention—Where member of public also intervening.]—DERING v. DERING & BLAKELEY, No. 5146, ante.

5153. Right to begin—Admissions of adultery by petitioner.]—Where the answer of a petitioner to the plea of the King's Proctor showing cause why a decree nisi should not be made absolute contains substantial admissions of adultery, but puts forward grounds for asking the ct. to exercise its discretion in favour of petitioner, the right course is that petitioner begin.—OSTICK v. OSTICK, [1917] P. 20; 86 L. J. P. 6; 115 L. T. 789; 33 T. L. R. 28; 61 Sol. Jo. 100.

—— On hearing of petition.]—See Sect. 16, sub-sect. 4, B., ante.

5154. Service of plea.]—PALMER v. PALMER & BEAUFORT (1902), 47 Sol. Jo. 13.

5155. Right of King's Proctor to prove charge—Though petitioner withdraws.]—Where the Queen's Proctor objected, the ct. refused to dismiss the petition on consent, & held that he was entitled to prove the adultery charged by him against petitioner.—CLAPHAM v. CLAPHAM & GUEST (1868), 17 L. T. 584.

Right of party charged to intervene.]—See Sect. 8, sub-sect. 4, F. (c), ante.

(f) Evidence.

5156. Power to order attendance of petitioner for examination.]—Under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 43, the ct. has only power to order that petitioner attend on the hearing of the petition. It cannot, therefore, order his attendance at the hearing of the case of the Queen's Proctor, if the intervention was after a decree nisi had been pronounced. Semble: though the ct. has no power in such a case to order attendance of petitioner it may stay proceedings in the suit till he appear.—POLLACK v. POLLACK & DEANE & M'NAMARA (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 648; 1 New Rep. 35; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 28; 7 L. T. 395; 8 Jur. N. S. 1230; 11 W. R. 85; 164 E. R. 1149.

5157. Charges of adultery & collusion—Charge of adultery the same as that charged on petition—Right to prove adultery before collusion.]—(1) H. petitioned for dissolution of marriage; resp. answered, & made countercharges; some evidence in support of those charges was offered at the trial, but a verdict was found for petitioner on all issues, & a decree nisi made. The Queen's Proctor intervened, & alleged the same charges of adultery as had been in issue on resp.'s answer, & collusion:—Held: the intervener was not bound to prove the collusion before he went into the question of the adultery.

(2) Petitioner is not a competent witness in a proceeding by an intervener showing cause against a decree nisi, nor will the ct. examine him under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 43, in support of his own petition.—HARDING v. HARDING & LANCE (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 145; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 108; 13 L. T. 195; 11 Jur. N. S. 814; 13 W. R. 999; 164 E. R. 1471.

5158. Onus of proof—Primâ facie proof.]—(1) Upon the trial of an issue of adultery raised by the Queen's Proctor, intervening to show cause against a decree nisi being made absolute, the ct. does not require such strict proof of the identity of the person charged with adultery as upon the trial of such an issue in a suit between husband & wife. Petitioner having had notice of the time when, the place where, & the person with whom he was alleged to have committed adultery, & evidence being given that a person passing by petitioner's name, & giving a card with petitioner's name printed upon it, had been guilty of the alleged acts of adultery at the time & place & with the person specified, the ct. held that there was primâ facie evidence of identity, & in the absence of evidence to rebut it, found petitioner guilty, & dismissed his petition. (2) A decree nisi having been pronounced with costs against co-resp., the decree was rescinded on the ground of petitioner's adultery committed subsequent to the date of the decree; but the order condemning the co-resp. in costs was not rescinded.—HULSE v. HULSE & TAVERNOR (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 357; 41 L. J. P. & M. 19; 25 L. T. 764; 20 W. R. 447.

5159. Plea of privilege—Not available.]—The plea of privilege cannot be relied upon to keep back material facts from the ct. in a divorce suit; nor by a client who has attacked the character of her solrs. in order to prevent them from vindicating it.—LAMBART v. LAMBART (1907), 51 Sol. Jo. 345.

(g) Costs.

i. Successful Intervention.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 182.

5160. Against whom order made—Co-respondent.]—The ct. refused to condemn a co-resp. who had not been dismissed from the suit in the costs of an unsuccessful intervention by the Queen's Proctor under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), s. 7.—BLACKHALL v. BLACKHALL & CLARKE (1888), 13 P. D. 94; 57 L. J. P. 60; 59 L. T. 151; 36 W. R. 926; 4 T. L. R. 525.

Annotations:—Distd. Taplen v. Taplen, [1891] P. 283. Consd. Hope v. Hope & Johnson (1924), 130 L. T. 761.

—.]—A husband having obtained a decree nisi in a petition for divorce, on the ground of his wife's adultery, the Queen's Proctor intervened, & charged that the decree had been procured by the collusion of petitioner & co-resp. Co-resp. was cited, but did not appear. At the hearing the ct. having found the issues in favour of the Queen's Proctor, condemned co-resp. in costs.—TAPLEN v. TAPLEN & COWEN, [1891] P. 283; 60 L. J. P. 88; 64 L. T. 870; 7 T. L. R. 508.

Annotation:—Consd. Hope v. Hope & Johnson (1924), 130 L. T. 761.

5162. —— ——.]—The King's Proctor having intervened on the ground of condonation subsequent to decree nisi, petitioner submitted to his decree nisi being rescinded, save that he asked that it should be kept alive as regards the costs awarded to him against co-resp., & that co-resp. should also be ordered to pay the costs of the intervention. Co-resp.'s liability for the costs of the original suit was not disputed, but it was contended on his behalf that the ct. had no jurisdiction to condemn him in the costs of the intervention, & if it had jurisdiction to do so, should not do so:—Held: on the question of jurisdiction the authorities were conflicting, but, assuming there was jurisdiction, it should not be exercised in the manner desired

n. Attorney-General Whether entitled to costs.]—The A.-G. intervening is not entitled to receive costs.—A.-G. OF QUEENSLAND v. HOLLAND (1912), 15 C. L. R. 46. -AUS.

Sect. 20.—Showing cause against a decree: Sub-sect. 4, A. (g) i. & ii., & B. Sect. 21: Sub-sect. 1, A. & B.

by petitioner. Co-resp.'s conduct was the cause of the decree nisi, but was in no degree the cause of the King's Proctor's intervention. Co-resp. would, therefore, only be required to pay the costs of the original suit, & as he had been brought there to answer an application which had failed, he must have his costs of the motion.—HOPE v. HOPE & JOHNSON (1924), 130 L. T. 761; 40 T. L. R. 282.

5163. —— Wife—Money paid into court by husband to cover wife's costs.]—At the trial of two cross-petitions for dissolution by the husband & wife, the wife, by arrangement between the parties, obtained a decree nisi, & the husband was condemned in costs. The Queen's Proctor intervened, charging both parties with collusion, & the wife with adultery. At the trial of these issues the jury found that the parties had been guilty of collusion, but disagreed as to the adultery, & the decree nisi was rescinded. The husband had paid into ct. sums amounting to £140 to meet the wife's costs. The ct. had refused, & the Ct. of Appeal had confirmed this decision, to allow any part of the sum to be paid out to the wife or her solrs. The ct. now, on application by the Queen's Proctor, ordered the whole sum of £140 to be paid out to him in part payment of his costs for procuring the reversal of the decree nisi.—BUTLER v. BUTLER, BUTLER v. BUTLER & BURNHAM (1890), 15 P. D. 161; 59 L. J. P. 86; 63 L. T. 260; 6 T. L. R. 390.

5164. —— —— No separate estate.]—The discretion as to costs, given to the ct. by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), s. 2, is an absolute discretion, to be exercised according to the facts & circumstances of each particular case; & where the petition is by the wife, she may be condemned in the costs of the King's Proctor, who has intervened under that section & successfully shown cause against the decree nisi being made absolute, notwithstanding the fact that there is no evidence that petitioner has or ever had separate estate.—KENNARD v. KENNARD, MORRIS v. MORRIS, [1915] P. 194; 84 L. J. P. 172; 113 L. T. 928; 31 T. L. R. 534; 59 Sol. Jo. 630.

5165. —— Pauper.]—A pauper petitioner, who is unsuccessful upon the intervention of the Queen's Proctor, is liable to be condemned in the full costs of the intervention.—WHITE v. WHITE, [1898] P. 124; 67 L. J. P. 63.

Annotation:—Folld. Guy v. Guy & Foster (1900), 17 T. L. R. 4.

5166. —— ——.]—A pauper petitioner for divorce, when the decree nisi is rescinded on the intervention of the Queen's Proctor, is liable to be condemned in the costs of the intervention.—GUY v. GUY & FOSTER (1900), 17 T. L. R. 4.

5167. —— ——.]—Petitioner, as a poor person, obtained a decree nisi for the dissolution of his marriage, but did not apply for leave to defend as a poor person the subsequent proceedings upon the appearance & plea of the King's Proctor, who successfully showed cause against the decree being made absolute:—Held: the King's Proctor was entitled to an order for costs against petitioner.—ROBERTS v. ROBERTS & LANG, [1916] P. 187; 85 L. J. P. 168; 114 L. T. 565; 32 T. L. R. 330; 60 Sol. Jo. 322.

5168. Petitioner.]—HYMAN v. HYMAN & GOLDMAN, No. 3227, ante.

5169. —— Party intervening on King's Proctor's plea.]—Where a person, charged by the King's Proctor with having committed adultery with petitioner, intervened & filed an answer to the King's Proctor's plea, such person, as well as petitioner, was, upon the dismissal of the petition, condemned in the costs of the King's Proctor.—DAVISON v. DAVISON, [1909] P. 308; 79 L. J. P. 9; 26 T. L. R. 28; 54 Sol. Jo. 13.

5170. King's Proctor successful on part of plea—No order as to costs.]—BARNES v. BARNES & GRIMWADE, No. 3151, ante.

5171. —— Costs of successful issues.]—HILBINGER v. HILBINGER (1908), cited in, [1910] P. at p. 164.

Annotation:—Refd. Higgins v. King's Proctor, King's Proctor v. Carter, [1910] P. 151.

5172. No costs awarded—No moral fault on part of petitioner.]—A decree nisi was pronounced on the wife's petition. Subsequently the Queen's Proctor intervened & established first that petitioner had, subsequent to the decree nisi, condoned the adultery on account of which it had been pronounced; &, secondly, that petitioner & resp. had been guilty of collusion for the purpose of concealing such condonation. It was further established that resp. had been guilty of adultery subsequent to such condonation:—Held: (1) the parties having been found guilty of collusion, the decree nisi must be rescinded & the petition dismissed, & it was immaterial whether the condoned adultery had been revived by the subsequent adultery of resp. or not; (2) having regard to the decisions in Dent v. Dent & Moore v. Moore, Nos. 3183, 3517, ante, petitioner might nevertheless succeed in obtaining a dissolution on filing a fresh petition alleging such adultery.

(3) The Queen's Proctor brings cases like this before the ct. upon public grounds, & I think that, unless some moral fault on the part of petitioner is established, the order rescinding the decree may well be made, without costs. In this case, therefore, I make no order as to the costs of the intervention (JEUNE, P.).—ROGERS v. ROGERS, [1894] P. 161; 63 L. J. P. 97; 70 L. T. 699; 6 R. 650.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Churchward v. Churchward & Holliday, [1895] P. 7.

5173. Waiver of costs by King's Proctor.]—Upon petitioner's application, the King's Proctor, who had intervened & filed his plea, assenting, the ct. rescinded a decree nisi for nullity of marriage & dismissed the petition. No order for the King's Proctor's costs was made, he having waived his right to ask for same.—A. (OTHERWISE B.) v. A., [1901] P. 284; 70 L. J. P. 90; 85 L. T. 171; 17 T. L. R. 564.

5174. Enforcement of costs—Case placed in reserved list.]—When a decree nisi is pronounced, & upon the intervention of the Queen's Proctor the decree absolute is abandoned, & also the suit, & there is no answer by petitioner to the Queen's Proctor's plea, or payment of the costs of the suit, the ct. will order it to be placed in the reserved list until payment of the Queen's Proctor's costs.—COLLINS v. COLLINS & SMITH (1881), 44 L. T. 31.

Enforcement of orders generally.]—See Sect. 23, post.

ii. Unsuccessful Intervention.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 182.

PART XIII. SECT. 20, SUB-SECT. 4.—A. (g) ii.

o. Attorney-General—Whether liable to pay.]—The A.-G. intervening is not liable to pay costs.—A.-G. OF QUEENSLAND v. HOLLAND (1912), 15 C. L. R. 46.—AUS.

5175. Power of court to condemn in costs—When acting reasonably.]—HOWARD v. HOWARD & DREW (1903), Times, Feb. 4.

Annotation :—Dbtd. Higgins v. King's Proctor, King's Proctor v. Carter, [1910] P. 151.

5176. ——.]—The ct. possesses full power, in the exercise of its judicial discretion, to condemn the King's Proctor in the costs incurred by petitioner in resisting an intervention by the King's Proctor. The mere fact that an intervention by the King's Proctor is reasonable will not debar a successful petitioner from applying for costs. Each application for costs is to be considered by the light of the particular case before the ct., but the general principle is that a successful petitioner, like any other litigant who succeeds, is entitled to costs unless his or her own conduct has really brought about the intervention.—WESTCOTT v. WESTCOTT, [1908] P. 250; 77 L. J. P. 102; 99 L. T. 310; sub nom. WESCOTT v. WESCOTT, 24 T. L. R. 425.

Annotations :—Apprvd. Higgins v. King's Proctor, King's Proctor v. Carter, [1910] P. 151. Refd. Kennard v. Kennard, Morris v. Morris, [1915] P. 194.

5177. ——.]—Where the ct. was of opinion that an intervention by the King's Proctor was not justified, it condemned the intervener in costs.—HOWE v. HOWE & HOWE (1910), 54 Sol. Jo. 252.

Annotation :—Refd. Higgins v. King's Proctor, King's Proctor v. Carter, [1910] P. 151.

5178. ——.]—Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), s. 2, confers upon the ct. a discretion as to the costs of an intervention, whether by the King's Proctor or a member of the public, & the King's Proctor stands in precisely the same position as to costs as any other intervener, except that the Treasury may recoup him for any costs which he may pay to a successful petitioner under order of the ct. There is no practice not to order the King's Proctor to pay the costs of an unsuccessful intervention, unless he has acted unreasonably in intervening.—HIGGINS v. KING'S PROCTOR, KING'S PROCTOR v. CARTER, [1910] P. 151; sub nom. HIGGINS v. HIGGINS, CARTER v. CARTER, 79 L. J. P. 37; 102 L. T. 259; 26 T. L. R. 303; 54 Sol. Jo. 405, C. A.

Annotation :—Consd. Kennard v. Kennard, Morris v. Morris, [1915] P. 194.

5179. Misconduct of petitioner not amounting to cause for rescission—No order made against King's Proctor.]—(1) Where resp. denied the allegations of the petition, & these issues came on for trial at the same time as an issue raised on a plea of the Queen's Proctor, "that the petition had been filed by arrangement with resp. & others acting on his behalf" :—Held : the Queen's Proctor had nothing to do with the issues raised between the parties, & his counsel had no right to comment on the evidence relating to them.

(2) Though the Queen's Proctor may fail to establish a charge of collusion, the ct. will not order the costs to be paid by the Crown if petitioner's conduct has been such as to justify the intervention.—JESSOP v. JESSOP (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 193.

Annotation :—Generally, Mentd. Churchward v. Churchward & Holliday, [1895] P. 7.

5180. —— ——.]—FORRESTER v. FORRESTER (1884), Times, May 19.

Annotation :—Refd. Higgins v. King's Proctor, King's Proctor v. Carter, [1910] P. 151.

5181. Discretion exercised in favour of guilty petitioner—No order made against King's Proctor.]—SYMONS v. SYMONS, No. 3490, ante.

5182. -.]—BURDON v. BURDON, No. 3498, ante.

5183. — King's Proctor allowed costs.]-BEBB v. BEBB & ROSS, No. 5133, ante.

5184. —— —— Pauper petitioner.]—ELLIOTT v. ELLIOTT & BOWERS, No. 3289, ante.

B. Intervention by Member of Public.

See Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), s. 2.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 182; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 52.

5185. Objection to jurisdiction of court over parties—By intervener—Whether maintainable.]—FORSTER v. FORSTER & BERRIDGE, No. 5112, ante.

5186. Onus of proof—Distinguished from intervention by King's Proctor.]—HULSE v. HULSE & TAVERNOR, No. 5158, ante.

5187. Costs as in intervention of King's Proctor.]—Where a member of the public intervenes under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 19), s. 7, to show cause why a decree nisi for a divorce should not be made absolute, the same rule as to costs applies as in a case where the King's Proctor intervenes, & the intervener who succeeds will not, as a general rule, be allowed costs as between solr. & client.—WOODHEAD v. WOODHEAD & JONES (1907), 23 T. L. R. 334.

5188. Withdrawal of intervention—Power of court to order costs.]—After a decree nisi for a dissolution of marriage, affidavits were filed by a private individual under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), s. 7, setting out facts to induce the ct. not to make the decree absolute. At the last moment the intervener withdrew his opposition, & the decree was made absolute :—Held : the ct. has no power to condemn an intervener in the costs of his intervention.—VIVIAN v. VIVIAN & WATERFORD (MARQUIS) (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 100; 39 L. J. P. & M. 54; 23 L. T. 267; 18 W. R. 936.

5189. Unsuccessful intervention—Power of court to order costs.]—FORSTER v. FORSTER & BERRIDGE, No. 5112, ante.

5190. —— ——.]—DERING v. DERING & BLAKELEY, No. 5146, ante.

5191. —— ——.]—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS & WILSON (1899), Times, June 17, 20.

5192. Successful intervention—Whether costs as between solicitor & client.]—WOODHEAD v. WOODHEAD & JONES, No. 5187, ante.

5193. Security for costs—Power of court to order intervener to give.]—GILROY v. GILROY, No. 4273, ante.

SECT. 21.—APPEALS, RE-HEARING, NEW TRIAL, ETC.

SUB-SECT. 1.—APPEALS.

A. Who may appeal.

5194. Not party not legally affected by judgment.—WRIGHT v. WRIGHT & PICO (1904), 49 Sol. Jo. 134, C. A.

B. Decrees Nisi and Absolute.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 27.

5195. Decree nisi — To Court of Appeal.]—CLEAVER v. CLEAVER, No. 5200, post.

See Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 12; &, now,

PART XIII. SECT. 21, SUB-SECT. 1.—B.

p. Right of appeal—How conferred.] —A right of appeal is a matter of substance, & can be conferred only by express legislative authority.—BILSLAND v. BILSLAND, [1922] 1 W. W. R. 718; 63 D. L. R. 126; 31 Man. L. R. 422.—CAN.

Sect. 21.—Appeals, re-hearing, new trial, etc.: Sub-sect. 1, B., C. & D.]

Supreme Court of Judicature Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 27.

—— Orders incorporated in decree—Whether part of decree.]—See No. 5207, post.

5196. —— Appeal by intervener—Judicature Act, 1881 (c. 68), s. 9.]—A wife petitioned for the dissolution of her marriage with resp., on the ground of cruelty & adultery with the intervener. Resp. did not defend the suit. The trial judge found both the cruelty & adultery proved & granted a decree nisi. Upon an appeal by the intervener, the Ct. of Appeal found that petitioner had failed to establish that adultery had been committed between resp. & the intervener &, after hearing the King's Proctor as to the legal effect of that finding, rescinded the decree nisi & substituted a decree for judicial separation. Upon an appeal by petitioner to the House of Lords, their Lordships having by a majority affirmed the finding of the Ct. of Appeal:—Held: upon this finding it was the duty of the Ct. of Appeal & of the House of Lords to rescind the decree nisi & to pronounce the decree of judicial separation which the trial judge, if he had determined the issue of adultery differently, might have pronounced.

A further point of law has been raised whether by reason of Jud. Act, 1881 (c. 68), s. 9, the decision of the Ct. of Appeal is final, in which case the present appeal does not lie, or whether the case falls within the exception, as being an appeal from a decision on a petition for dissolution of marriage. The appeal is from the order of the Ct. of Appeal, & that order is the decision refusing a decree on a petition for dissolution of marriage. In my opinion the case falls clearly within the exception, so that your Lordships have jurisdiction to deal with the case (LORD BIRKENHEAD).—RUTHERFORD v. RICHARDSON, [1923] A. C. 1; 92 L. J. P. 1; 128 L. T. 399; 39 T. L. R. 42; 67 Sol. Jo. 78, H. L.

Annotation:—Refd. Russell v. Russell, [1924] A. C. 687.

5197. Power to stay appeal—Pending security for costs.]—There is no precedent for the Ct. of Appeal ordering that the appeal of a husband against a decree nisi granted to a wife should be stayed until the husband had paid or given security for the further costs of the wife at the trial & also her costs of the appeal, & in the absence of such a precedent the ct. will not, in ordinary circumstances, make such order. The application to the Ct. of Appeal in the above circumstances should be made by being set down in the list as an original motion, & not upon an application ex p.—SHUFFLEBOTHAM v. SHUFFLEBOTHAM (1923), 128 L. T. 642; 67 Sol. Jo. 297; 39 T. L. T. 206, C. A.

5198. —— Rescission of decree—Decree of judicial separation substituted.]—RUTHERFORD v. RICHARDSON, No. 5196, ante.

5199. —— Failure to appeal in time—Effect on lis between parties.]—MADAN v. MADAN & DE THOREN, No. 4161, ante.

5200. Decree absolute—When appealable as of right.]—Since Jud. Act, 1881 (c. 68), an appeal to the House of Lords in a matrimonial cause, where an appeal lies, can only be from a decision of the Ct. of Appeal; & such an appeal must be brought within one month after the decision appealed against is pronounced by the Ct. of Appeal, if the House of Lords is then sitting, or if not, within fourteen days after the House of Lords next sits.

The [Judicature Act, 1881 (c. 68), s. 10] undoubtedly limits the right of appeal in a certain case, but it does not say that an appeal to the House of Lords can be direct from the Probate Division. The decree nisi is appealable, but is appealable to the Ct. of Appeal, & if the Ct. of Appeal affirm the decree nisi, you having appealed against it, have the right also to appeal against the decree absolute; & having the decision of the Ct. of Appeal against you, you can appeal here both against the decree nisi & against the decree absolute (LORD SELBORNE, L.C.).—CLEAVER v. CLEAVER (1884), 9 App. Cas. 631, H. L.

See, also, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 31.

5201. —— Discretion of judge to refuse—Not appealable.]—HOLLAND v. HOLLAND, No. 5124, ante.

5202. Appeal to House of Lords—Only from Court of Appeal.]—CLEAVER v. CLEAVER, No. 5200, ante.

5203. —— Not from part of dissolution decree.]—Appeal lies to the House of Lords only from a decree for dissolution properly so called, not from a part of such decree relating to the dissolution.—SIDNEY v. SIDNEY (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 73; 15 W. R. 1094, H. L.; affg. (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 78; subsequent proceedings (1867), 17 L. T. 9.

Annotations:—Refd. Charles v. Charles (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 260; Bradley v. Bradley (1878), 3 P. D. 47. Mentd. Ousey v. Ousey (1875), 1 P. D. 56; Newton v. Newton (1885), 11 P. D. 11; Carter v. Carter (1895), 12 T. L. R. 37; Newton v. Newton, [1896] P. 36; Bullus v. Bullus (1910), 102 L. T. 399; Burmester v. Burmester, [1913] P. 76; Scott v. Scott, [1921] P. 107; Fox v. Fox, [1925] P. 157.

5204. —— Time for appeal.]—CLEAVER v. CLEAVER, No. 5200, ante.

5205. —— Supervening bankruptcy of appellant—Proceedings allowed to continue.]—G. v. M. (1885), No. 3339, ante.

5206. Decree of House of Lords—How recorded in registry.]—(1) A decree made by the House of Lords on appeal, will be recorded on the files of the ct. upon a copy of such decree, verified by affidavit, being deposited in the registry.

(2) A wife's petition for nullity was dismissed by the ct., & no order was made as to costs. On appeal the House of Lords pronounced a decree of nullity but made no order as to costs:—Held: the ct. had no power to make an order as to costs.—L. (FALSELY CALLED H.) v. H. (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 293; 36 L. J. P. & M. 76; 15 L. T. 299; 15 W. R. 319.

Appeals as to costs.]—See Sub-sect. 1, D., post.

Appeals as to orders for committal.]—See CONTEMPT OF COURT, Vol. XVI., p. 81, Nos. 995, 996.

C. Interlocutory Orders.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 45.

5207. What is interlocutory order—Judgment on demurrer deciding issue.]—A demurrer to part of an answer to a petition for dissolution of marriage which put in issue the validity of the marriage, the other parts of the answer remaining to be determined, is not a final but an interlocutory matter, & one which under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), fell within the cognisance of the judge ordinary sitting alone, & his judgment on such demurrer is the subject of appeal to the full

q. Appeal where discretion of court involved—Order for interim alimony.]—In a suit against a wife for divorce in which she had obtained an order for interim alimony & payment of money for interim costs the ct., dealing with an appeal from such order

ct. & not to the House of Lords. Where the judgment on a demurrer from the state of the pleadings decides the whole suit, the appeal lies direct to the House of Lords.—PAGANI v. PAGANI & VINING (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 223; 35 L. J. P. & M. 87; 14 L. T. 706; 15 W. R. 23.

5208. —— Order condemning co-respondent in costs.]—FORBES-SMITH v. FORBES-SMITH & CHADWICK, No. 4985, ante.

5209. Leave to appeal—On terms—Payment of wife's costs.]—Petitioner (wife) brought a former suit against resp., but withdrew that petition upon the following terms: "Petitioner agrees to accept £130 per annum by way of permanent maintenance, this sum to include the maintenance of the child. The allowance to be paid by . . . resp. by monthly payments during their joint lives. This allowance to be paid in any event, whether they remain married or whether the marriage should hereafter be dissolved. . . . Petitioner is to have the custody of the child." Resp. subsequently committed adultery, & was also guilty of statutory desertion, &, upon these grounds, petitioner obtained a decree dissolving her marriage, & an order for the custody of the child. The husband continued to pay the allowance, which was, in fact, the amount allotted by way of alimony pendente lite in the first suit. Upon petition for permanent maintenance & for an allowance for the maintenance & education of the child, resp. set up the agreement, & the registrar held it to be a bar. The ct. reversed the decision of the registrar, & ordered the inquiry as to means to proceed. The ct., with considerable reluctance, gave resp. leave to appeal, but upon terms that petitioner's costs up to date should be actually paid & that security should be given for petitioner's costs upon the appeal.—BISHOP v. BISHOP (1897), 76 L. T. 28.

——.]—See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 31 (1) (i) (iv).

5210. Notice of appeal—Time.]—BEECHAM v. BEECHAM (1903), Times, Mar. 14.

5211. Hearing of appeal—Evidence receivable.]—CODRINGTON v. CODRINGTON & ANDERSON, No. 4246, ante.

5212. —— ——.]—SYKES v. SYKES, No. 4111, ante.

5213. Appeal where discretion of court involved—Onus on appellant—To prove wrongful exercise.]—THOMPSON v. THOMPSON & STURMFELLS, No. 4259, ante.

Appeals from grant or refusal of new trial.]—See Sub-sect. 3, C., post.

D. Appeal as to Costs.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 31 (1) (h).

5214. Whether right of appeal—Under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 51.]—GLENNIE v. GLENNIE & BOWLES, No. 4832, ante.

5215. —— —— Necessity for leave—Judicature Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 49.]—SMITH v. SMITH, [1882] W. N. 91, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Russell v. Russell, [1892] P. 152.

5216. —— ——.]—(1) Although in proceedings for divorce a wife as a general rule is allowed her costs, the allowance of such costs is under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 51, in the discretion of the ct. & there is no appeal from the refusal of the ct. to order the wife's costs to be paid.

(2) The costs occasioned to a wife by the intervention of the Queen's Proctor are also within the jurisdiction of the ct. & there is no appeal from the refusal of the ct. to order the wife's costs to be paid.—BUTLER v. BUTLER (1890), 15 P. D. 126; 62 L. T. 477.

Annotations :—As to (1) Consd. Russell v. Russell, [1892] P. 152. Refd. Palmer v. Palmer & Stockley, [1914] P. 116.

5217. —— Effect of Appellate Jurisdiction Act, 1876 (c. 59), s. 20—& Judicature Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 49.]—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL, No. 4307, ante.

5218. Appeal by co-respondent—Without leave—Costs of consolidated suit.]—FORBES-SMITH v. FORBES-SMITH & CHADWICK, No. 4985, ante.

5219. Costs against wife—Directed against restrained property—Right of wife to appeal—While in contempt.]—A decree nisi for the dissolution of a marriage on the ground of the wife's adultery directed that the child of the marriage should remain in the custody of the husband until further order, & should not be removed out of the jurisdiction of the ct. On the same day an order was made ex p. in chambers that the child should be forthwith delivered to the husband. At that time the wife was abroad with the child. After the decree nisi had been made absolute she returned to England with the child, & was for the first time served personally with the orders with reference to the custody of the child. She then took out a summons asking that the decree nisi & the ex p. order might be varied & the custody of the child given to her. During the hearing of the summons the wife gave an undertaking not to remove the child out of the jurisdiction of the ct. On Mar. 10, 1903, the summons was dismissed & the wife was ordered to pay the costs out of her separate property, notwithstanding that it was subject to a restraint on anticipation, & she was also ordered to deliver the child to the husband forthwith. It was then discovered that she had sent the child out of the jurisdiction two or three days before Mar. 10, & had since gone abroad herself, & she had remained abroad with the child ever since. On Mar. 12, an order was made for her committal for contempt of ct. & directing a writ of attachment should issue against her. The wife gave notive of appeal from so much of the order of Mar. 10 as directed the costs to be paid out of her separate estate, & it was contended that the ct. had no jurisdiction to make it:—Held: (1) the rule that a person who is in contempt cannot be heard, primâ facie applies to voluntary applications on his part, to cases where he is asking for something & not to cases in which all he seeks is to be heard in matters of defence; applt. objected to the order on the ground that there was no jurisdiction to make it; & its legality ought to be determined, & therefore the appeal must be heard; (2) the summons was not a "proceeding instituted" by the married woman within Married Women's Property Act, 1893 (c. 63), but an application in the divorce suit, & there was no jurisdiction to order her to pay the costs out of her separate estate which was subject to a restraint on anticipation.—GORDON v. GORDON, [1904] P. 163; 73 L. J. P. 41; 90 L. T. 597; 52 W. R. 389; 20 T. L. R. 272; 48 Sol. Jo. 297, C. A.

Annotations :—As to (2) Refd. Evans v. Evans & Blyth (1904), 20 T. L. R. 612; Re Wingfield & Blew, [1904] 2 Ch. 665. Generally, Mentd. R. v. Wigand, Re Wigand (1913), 82 L. J. K. B. 735; Russell v. Russell, [1924] A. C. 687; Warren v. Warren, [1925] P. 107.

Compare No. 5234, post.

on the ground of the husband's poverty, expressed its opinion that the discretion of the judge who made the order should not be interfered with.—PERADSKY v. PERADSKY, [1921] 3 W. W. R. 532. CAN.

Sect. 21.—Appeals, re-hearing, new trial, etc.: Sub-sects. 2 & 3, A. & B. (a).]

SUB-SECT. 2.—RE-HEARING.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 46.

5220. How application made—To Divisional Court of Divorce Division.]—HEYES v. HEYES & MASON, No. 3425, ante.

5221. —— ——.]—An application for rehearing of a divorce cause tried by a judge without a jury must be made to a Div. Ct. of the Probate, Divorce, & Admlty. Div. according to rule 62 of the Divorce Rules, & not to the Ct. of Appeal, Jud. Act, 1890 (c. 44), s. 1, applying only to causes or issues tried with a jury.—SMITH v. SMITH, [1897] P. 293; 66 L. J. P. 151; 77 L. T. 206; 46 W. R. 24; 41 Sol. Jo. 661, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Holden v. Holden & Pearson (1910), 26 T. L. R. 307.

5222. —— ——.]—An application for the rehearing of a suit for dissolution of marriage cannot be made except to a Div. Ct.—WATSON v. WATSON (1903), 89 L. T. 78; 19 T. L. R. 567.

5223. —— ——.]—HOLDEN v. HOLDEN & PEARSON, No. 5231, post.

5224. —— ——.]—An application for the rehearing of a divorce cause tried by a judge without a jury must be made to a Div. Ct. of the Probate, Divorce, & Admlty. Div. according to rule 62 of the Divorce Rules, & not to the Ct. of Appeal, as Jud. Act, 1890 (c. 44), s. 1, applies only to causes or issues tried with a jury.—GARNETT v. GARNETT & CALDERON (1919), 35 T. L. R. 521, D. C.

——.]—See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 46.

5225. Stay of proceedings—Until payment of wife's costs—By husband.]—A husband obtained a decree nisi for a divorce from his wife on the ground of her adultery with unknown men, co-resp. being dismissed from the suit, & the husband was ordered to pay his wife's costs. The husband then gave notice of motion for a rehearing, & thereupon the wife's solrs. applied that the motion for a rehearing should be stayed until the husband had paid the wife's costs :—Held : the motion for a rehearing must be stayed until the husband had paid the wife's costs.—WAITE v. WAITE & MUIR (1916), 32 T. L. R. 432, D. C.

5226. When application granted—General rule.]—The grounds on which a rehearing can be allowed are those recognised in Durant v. Durant, No. 5227, post, which are substantially the same as those recognised by the cts. of common law. If it is alleged that new evidence can be given, it must be shown that this evidence could not, with due diligence, have been given before.—LESTER JONES v. LESTER JONES & STIRRETT (1920), 123 L. T. 584.

5227. —— Fresh evidence—No laches by applicant.]—In a matrimonial cause if the ct. is asked to allow fresh matter to be pleaded it must be satisfied that appct. is in no laches, that the permission asked for is essential to the ends of justice & that some special ground is shown for asking for it, such as that the fresh matter has newly come to the party's knowledge.—DURANT v. DURANT (1824), 2 Add. 267; 162 E. R. 292.

Annotation :—Refd. Lester Jones v. Lester Jones & Stirrett (1920), 123 L. T. 584.

5228. —— —— Possibility of different verdict.]—A husband's petition was heard before a judge alone & dismissed on the ground that the evidence was insufficient. Subsequently petitioner obtained fresh evidence, & applied for a rehearing :—Held : a rehearing ought to be granted on the ground that the fresh evidence was sufficient to warrant a reasonable probability of a different verdict in the first & second trials if the case were tried by a jury.—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR & DARG (1899), 68 L. J. P. 116; 81 L. T. 494, D. C.

5229. —— —— If not previously discoverable by due diligence.]—LESTER JONES v. LESTER JONES & STIRRETT, No. 5226, ante.

5230. —— Non-appearance—No notice of motion—For hearing out of turn.]—In a suit for restitution by a husband, resp. appeared but did not file an answer. After due notice to her the cause was set down for hearing. Subsequently, upon the motion of petitioner, the ct. ordered the cause to be heard out of its turn, & a decree was made, resp. having received no notice of the motion or the order. Upon the application of resp., the ct. reversed the decree, & ordered the cause to be reheard, giving resp., who had a defence on the merits, leave to file an answer.—KEANE v. KEANE (1871), 41 L. J. P. & M. 41; 25 L. T. 857; 20 W. R. 304.

5231. —— —— Parties taken by surprise—Terms as to costs.]—Where in a divorce suit which had been put in the list earlier than was anticipated by resp.'s country solr., who, in consequence had not instructed counsel or arranged for the attendance of resp., co-resp. & witnesses, a decree nisi was granted in the absence of those parties & witnesses, the ct. made an order for the rehearing of the suit on the terms that an affidavit should be filed by resp. & co-resp. swearing that they had not committed adultery; & that resp.'s country solr. should, as he had offered to do, pay petitioner's costs of the trial which had been thrown away, & also the costs of the application for the new trial.

The Div. Ct. of the Probate, Divorce, & Admlty. Div. is the proper ct. to which application should be made for a rehearing of a divorce case.—HOLDEN v. HOLDEN & PEARSON (1910), 102 L. T. 398; 26 T. L. R. 307; 54 Sol. Jo. 328, D. C.

5232. —— Surprise as to some charges only—Rehearing on those charges.]—A wife having charged her husband with cruelty by the communication of disease, & also by personal violence, the ct. found, on the evidence, that the charge of communication of disease was not proved, & that the charge of personal violence was proved. On the application of the husband, a rule for the rehearing of the issue which had been found against him was made absolute on the ground of surprise; but the rehearing was ordered to be confined to the charge of personal violence, & not to extend to the charge of infection.—LEE v. LEE (1872), L. R. 2 P. & D. 409; 41 L. J. P. & M. 85; 27 L. T. 324.

5233. —— Inadequate investigation on first hearing.]—FOSTER v. FOSTER, No. 2637, ante.

PART XIII. SECT. 21, SUB-SECT. 2.

r. When application granted—Admission by witnesses that evidence false.]—In an action of divorce at the instance of a husband against his wife pursuer sought to prove one specific act of adultery. Deft. denied adultery, & adduced three witnesses to prove an alibi. The Lord Ordinary, on the evidence of these witnesses, assoilzied defender. Pursuer reclaimed & thereafter lodged a minute in which he averred that these witnesses had admitted, in attested statements which he produced, that their evidence at the proof was false. The ct. allowed the minute to be received & answered.—AULD v. AULD, [1922] S. C. 317.—SCOT.

SUB-SECT. 3.—NEW TRIAL.

A. The Application.

See, generally, PRACTICE.

5234. Who may apply—Party in contempt—Contempt not purged.]—A resp., who is in contempt for non-compliance with an order of the ct. directing her to give up the custody of a child, cannot be heard to move for a new trial, or for any other purpose, until she has purged the contempt by obeying the order of the ct.—CAVENDISH v. CAVENDISH & ROCHEFOUCAULD (1866), 15 W. R. 182.

Compare No. 5219, ante.

5235. How made—By motion.]—An application for a new trial of a divorce action should be made upon notice of motion & not ex p.—SANDERS v. SANDERS (1885), 1 T. L. R. 375, C. A.

5236. —— —— To Court of Appeal—Application of R. S. C.]—By Jud. Act, 1890 (c. 44), which provides that from & after Oct. 20, 1890, every motion for a new trial, in any cause or matter in the High Ct. which has been tried with a jury, shall be heard & determined by the Ct. of Appeal, the practice with regard to a new trial of a divorce cause is regulated, not by the practice under the Matrimonial Causes Acts but, by the practice of the Ct. of Appeal, & consequently R. S. C., 1883, Ord. 64, r. 7 applies, & empowers the ct. to grant an enlargement of the time within which to move for a new trial of the cause, & as a condition of so doing to impose terms on the party who makes the application.

In 1892 a wife petitioned for a judicial separation on the ground of her husband's adultery. The husband by his answer denied the adultery, & also alleged that, at the time of his marriage with petitioner, she had a husband living. At the trial in Jan. 1895, the jury found on the evidence that the husband had committed adultery, & that at the time of the marriage the first husband was dead. A decree for judicial separation was made. In Sept. 1895, the first husband, who had not been heard of since 1858, returned to England. In Oct. 1895, the second husband presented a petition for declaration of nullity of marriage. The wife pleaded the verdict & decree in the former suit as an estoppel. At the trial the judge was satisfied of the identity of the man who had returned; but held that he could not make a decree of nullity while the verdict & decree in the first suit stood unimpeached. The second husband, with the leave of the Ct. of Appeal, moved in the first suit for an enlargement of the time within which to apply for a new trial:—Held: the application ought to be granted, but only on the terms of applt. undertaking to secure the payment to resp. during their joint lives of an allowance for her maintenance, the amount of which was fixed by the ct.—WILKINS v. WILKINS, [1896] P. 108; 65 L. J. P. 55; 74 L. T. 62; 44 W. R. 305; 12 T. L. R. 212; 40 Sol. Jo. 274, C. A.

Annotations:—Expld. Bateman v. Bateman (otherwise Harrison) (1898), 78 L. T. 472. Refd. Smith v. Smith (1897), 66 L. J. P. 151. Mentd. De Gasquet James v. Mecklenburg-Schwerin, [1914] P. 53.

See, also, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925, (c. 49), s. 30 (1).

5237. Time for moving—Power of court to enlarge—Subject to terms.]—WILKINS v. WILKINS, No. 5236, ante.

5238. What notice must show—Where misdirection alleged.]—R. S. C., 1883, Ord. 39, r. 3, which requires that when a new trial is applied for on the ground of misdirection the particulars of the alleged misdirection should be specifically stated in the notice, is applicable to proceedings in a divorce suit.—TAPLIN v. TAPLIN & HOLLAND (1888), 13 P. D 100; 57 L. J. P. 79; 58 L. T. 925; 52 J. P. 406; 37 W. R. 256, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Rickaby v. Rickaby, McKenzie & Swift (1901), 84 L. T. 182.

B. When Granted.

(a) In General.

5239. Excessive damages against co-respondent.]—CHAMBERS v. CAULFIELD, No. 2818, ante.

5240. No appearance at hearing.]—Where deft. omitted to appear at the trial in an action for crim. con. with his sister-in-law, & the jury gave more damages than were laid in the declaration, deft. assigning no good reason for not appearing to defend, the ct. refused to grant a new trial on any terms.—MASTERS v. BARNWELL (1830), 7 Bing. 224, n., 131 E. R. 87.

Annotation:—Refd. Breach v. Casterton (1830), 7 Bing. 224.

5241. —— By solicitor.]—Pltf. in an action of crim. con. having been nonsuited in consequence of the accidental absence of his attorney, the ct. granted a new trial on payment of costs, as between attorney & client, it appearing that another action might be barred by Stat. Limitations, & pltf. be thereby precluded from taking ulterior proceedings.—AYLING v. GOLDRING (1845), 1 C. B. 635; 135 E. R. 690.

5242. —— Solicitor's negligence.]—(1) The solr. of petitioner for a divorce wrote to resp.'s solr. a letter, headed with the title of the cause, in which he said, "I have set this cause down for trial." No other notice was served:—Held: this letter was a sufficient notice, within Divorce Court Rules, r. 44, of the cause having been set down for trial.

(2) Resp.'s solr., in the belief that a more formal notice ought to be given, did not watch the cause list, & the cause came on for trial without his knowledge, & a decree for a divorce was made in the absence of resp. She applied for a new trial on the ground of surprise. The ct. ordered a new trial on the undertaking of the solr. personally to pay the costs thrown away.—FLUISTER v. FLUISTER & HUTTON, [1897] P. 22; 66 L. J. P. 33; 41 Sol. Jo. 126, C. A.

5243. Verdict against weight of evidence.]—GETHIN v. GETHIN, No. 5251, post.

5244. ——.]—(1) The ct. will not grant a new trial on the ground that the verdict is against the weight of evidence, unless it is dissatisfied with the verdict. That it might on the same evidence have come to a different conclusion itself is not sufficient.

(2) Statement on affidavit that other evidence could be produced to the jury on a new trial is not sufficient, if such evidence could with reasonable diligence have been obtained before.—MILLER v. MILLER & HICKS (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 427; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 73; 5 L. T. 850; 164 E. R. 1062.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Stone v. Stone & Appleton (1864), 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 33.

5245. —— Satisfaction of trial judge.]—(1) In an action for crim. con., evidence was offered on the part of deft. to show the affectionate terms upon which he lived with his own wife & family, which being unobjected to, was admitted, & was observed upon by the judge in his summing up as affording an inference in deft.'s favour:—Held: this was no misdirection.

(2) The jury having found for deft., & it appearing from the report of the learned judge who tried the cause that there was a manifest preponderance of evidence the other way, & that he himself was not satisfied with the verdict, the ct. granted a new trial, on payment of costs.—MELLIN v. TAYLOR

Sect. 21.—Appeals, re-hearing, new trial, etc.: Subsect. 3, B. (a) & (b).]

(1836), 3 Bing. N. C. 109; 2 Hodg. 125; 3 Scott, 513; 5 L. J. C. P. 346; 132 E. R. 351.

5246. —— ——.]—(1) Where a verdict, finding that resp. in a suit for dissolution of marriage has been guilty of adultery, is against the weight of evidence, a new trial may be granted, although the judge who tried the cause is not dissatisfied with the verdict.

(2) In a suit by a husband, for dissolution of marriage, claiming damages, resp. denied the adultery, & co-resp., who had not been personally served, did not appear. The jury found that resp. had committed adultery with co-resp., & assessed the damages against the latter at £2,000. Resp. having applied for a new trial, on the ground that the verdict was against the weight of evidence, the judge ordinary, who had tried the cause, refused a rule. On appeal, his decision was reversed by a majority of the Full Ct., who set aside the verdict as against resp. & co-resp., & made a rule absolute for a new trial as to both.

Subsequently, co-resp., who was resident in Canada, & who had not heard of the institution of the suit until just before the trial, when it was too late for him to come to England, applied for leave to appear & file an answer. The judge ordinary granted the application, upon condition that before the trial he should give security for costs; & on non-compliance with that condition, ordered the appearance & answer to be taken off the file.

(3) An application for a commission to examine witnesses may be refused on the ground of unreasonable delay.—STONE v. STONE & APPLETON (1864), 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 33; 13 W. R. 414; subsequent proceedings, 3 Sw. & Tr. 608.

5247. Consent to decree—On solicitor's advice—To avoid publicity.]—Wife petitioned against the husband for judicial separation by reason of his cruelty, & he took issue thereon. He signed a letter consenting to a decree on the suggestion of his solr., that if he did so, no evidence in support of the petition need be taken in ct. The issue came on for trial before the judge ordinary & a special jury, who found a verdict for petitioner on her evidence & that of other witnesses on her behalf. Resp.'s letter was also put in evidence. The ct. affirmed, on appeal, the refusal of the judge ordinary to grant a rule nisi for a new trial on the representation that the resp. was led by the mistaken suggestion of his then solr. to withhold evidence contradictory of petitioner's evidence, by which his character as a gentleman & man of honour was affected.—HILL v. HILL (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 407; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 193; 5 L. T. 363; 7 Jur. N. S. 1206; 10 W. R. 194; 164 E. R. 1054.

5248. Discovery of fresh evidence—Not previously obtainable.]—MILLER v. MILLER & HICKS, No. 5244, ante.

5249. —— —— Corroborated evidence.]—(1) Where the issue of cruelty is submitted to a jury, the ct. will not grant a new trial unless it is satisfied that there was error or miscarriage on the part of the jury. That, on the evidence, the ct. might not with certainty have arrived at the same conclusion as the jury did, is not sufficient.

(2) That the party asking for a new trial, could produce corroborative evidence not produced, or not in his possession at the first trial, is no ground for granting a new trial.—SCOTT v. SCOTT (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 319; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 1; 9 L. T. 454; 9 Jur. N. S. 1251; 12 W. R. 216; 164 E. R. 1298.

5250. —— —— To show petitioner's misconduct.]—A wife sued for dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery & cruelty. The husband alleged that the wife had been guilty of adultery. At the trial a decree nisi for dissolution was made. The husband applied for a new trial on the ground that fresh evidence had been discovered to show the wife's adultery before the decree nisi, & filed affidavits alleging facts not known at the trial which went to prove adultery. He obtained a rule nisi, but the rule was discharged on argument. The husband appealed. Immediately afterwards an uncle of the husband entered an appearance as intervener, & filed affidavits which were substantially the same as those used on the application for a new trial. There was nothing to show that he was acting on behald of or in collusion with resp. The wife moved to make the decree for dissolution absolute. This was refused, but leave was given her to move the ct. to reject the intervention. The husband abandoned his appeal from the refusal of a new trial. After this the motion of the wife to reject the intervention of the uncle was heard by the President & refused. The wife appealed:—Held: (1) Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), s. 7, authorises intervention by any person where material facts have not been brought before the ct., whether by intertion or through accident. Qu.: whether where petitioner, after the decree nisi, is guilty of conduct disentitling him or her to have the decree made absolute, the right to intervene is confined to the Queen's Proctor; (2) the words "not brought before the ct.," mean, not brought before the ct. at a time when the ct. can act upon them for the purpose of seeing whether a decree nisi ought to be made, & the bringing them before the ct. on an application for a new trial is not bringing them before the ct. within the meaning of this clause, so as to prevent an intervention. Qu.: whether the rules as to granting a new trial on the ground of fresh evidence discovered showing misconduct in petitioner are the same as in a case between ordinary litigants.

(3) Where resp. is not entitled to a new trial, intervention on the ground of fresh evidence as to acts prior to the decree nisi will not be allowed if the intervener is merely acting on behalf of & in collusion with resp.; but the fact that he is a near relative of resp. is no ground for rejecting the intervention:—Held: in the present case, the facts alleged being undoubtedly material, & the affidavits making a case which showed that there was ground for investigating them, the intervention had rightly been allowed.—HOWARTH v. HOWARTH (1884), 9 P. D. 218; 51 L. T. 872, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Crawford v. Crawford & Dilke (1886), 55 L. J. P. 42; Rogers v. Rogers, [1894] P. 161.

5251. Suppression of material facts by witnesses—Whether sufficient.]—Where there is a conflict

PART XIII. SECT. 21, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (a).

5248 i. Discovery of fresh evidence—Not previously obtainable.]—Semble: a new trial should be ordered in a divorce action where new & material evidence has been discovered which was not available at the time of the trial & which if substantiated will probably change the result of the case & where the party tendering it cannot be charged with lack of diligence in respect to its discovery.—L. v. L. & K., [1922] 1 W. W. R. 224; 62 D. L. R. 581.—CAN.

s. No finding on facts.]—In a suit for divorce a vinculo matrimonii, the libel alleged that pltf.'s wife had been guilty of the offence of adultery on three occasions, with different co-resps. The judge held that the facts proved raised a violent presumption of guilt, & that this presumption, as to one of the occasions alleged, had not been rebutted by the denials made of evidence upon an issue of adultery, the Queen's Proctor intervening, the ct. will not grant a new trial on the ground that the verdict is contrary to the evidence, unless it is dissatisfied with the verdict. The ct. will not grant a new trial, on the ground that witnesses called upon the first trial have wilfully suppressed material facts.

On the wife's petition for dissolution of marriage, to which the husband had not answered, the Queen's Proctor intervened, & alleged the adultery of petitioner & collusion. Issues taken on these points were found in favour of petitioner by verdict of a jury. On motion for rule nisi for a new trial, the ct. read affidavits of the Queen's Proctor, & of witnesses who had been called by him at the trial; the affidavits of the latter were in substance that they had told the truth, but not the whole of what they knew, & it was argued that if the whole of what the witnesses knew had been laid before the jury, they would have found a different verdict. The ct. refused, on such affidavits, to make a rule nisi.—GETHIN v. GETHIN (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 560; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 57; 5 L. T. 721; 10 W. R. 266; 164 E. R. 1114.

Annotation :—Refd. Stone v. Stone & Appleton (1864), 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 33.

5252. Admission of error by witness—Correction of evidence.]—On trial of issue of adultery, the jury found a verdict against petitioner. On affidavit by a witness called on his behalf, that she had made a mistake in an important date in giving her evidence, the ct. directed a new trial, the error, if there were one, being likely, in the opinion of the ct., to have disturbed the judgment & misled the minds of the jury.—JAGO v. JAGO & GRAHAM (1862), 3 Sw. & Tr. 103; 1 New Rep. 35; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 10; 7 L. T. 645; 8 Jur. N. S. 1081; 11 W. R. 86; 164 E. R. 1211.

Annotation :—Refd. Wallace v. Wallace, Guiter & Macnamara (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 47.

5253. —— —— Confession of perjury.]—WORSLEY v. WORSLEY & WORSLEY (1904), 20 T. L. R. 171.

5254. Error by jury.]—SCOTT v. SCOTT, No. 5249, ante.

5255. Inconsistent verdict—Decision on substantial question obscure.]—ELLAYTT v. ELLAYTT, TAYLOR & HALSE, No. 4901, ante.

5256. Misdirection—Failure to emphasise parts of evidence.]—CODRINGTON v. CODRINGTON & ANDERSON, No. 4837, ante.

5257. Wrongful summing up—Inadmissible evidence—Refusal of right to cross-examine.]—An application was made by co-resp. in divorce proceedings instituted by a husband against his wife for judgment or a new trial of the suit as regarded himself. The suit was instituted by the husband on the ground of his wife's adultery with co-resp. & a person unknown. Co-resp. denied the charge against him. The jury found that resp. & co-resp. had been guilty of adultery, & that she had also committed adultery with a man unknown. The judge accordingly made a decree nisi for the dissolution of the marriage, with costs against co-resp. There was no appeal by resp. It appeared that the judge, in the course of the trial, had refused to allow any cross-examination of resp. by the counsel for co-resp., holding on the authority of Glennie v. Glennie & Bowles, No. 4832, ante, that there was no such right; & in his summing up the learned President, in a marked way, contrasted the evidence of resp. with that of co-resp., observing that there was a complete discrepancy between the story told by resp. & the story told by co-resp. in two most important points. On appeal:—Held: (1) it was not right to deal with the evidence of resp. as admissible against co-resp., & the evidence of co-resp. as admissible against resp., without an opportunity being afforded of testing its truthfulness by cross-examination; & the learned President was wrong in contrasting the evidence as he did after refusing liberty to cross-examine resp.; (2) there must be a new trial, the costs thereof to abide the event.

Semble: co-resp. has a right to cross-examine resp., as to any evidence tending to incriminate him.—ALLEN v. ALLEN & BELL, [1894] P. 248; 63 L. J. P. 120; 70 L. T. 783; 42 W. R. 459; 10 T. L. R. 456; 38 Sol. Jo. 456; 6 R. 597, C. A.

Annotations :—As to (1) Refd. R. v. Hadwen, [1902] 1 K. B. 882; Brown v. Brown, [1915] P. 83; Hensley v. Hensley & Nevin (1920), 122 L. T. 814; Mourilyan v. Mourilyan, Mourilyan v. Mourilyan & Fazil (1922), 127 L. T. 403. Generally, Mentd. De Gasquet James v. Mecklenburg-Schwerin, [1914] P. 53.

5258. Wrongful withdrawal of case from jury.]—RANDS v. RANDS & RANDS (1887), 4 T. L. R. 45, D. C.

5259. Intimation by jury to judge—That petitioner's case proved—Before case for co-respondent presented—Consequent withdrawal of co-respondent's case.]—DRUMMOND v. DRUMMOND (1893), 9 T. L. R. 403; 37 Sol. Jo. 439, C. A.

(b) Whole Verdict not Attacked.

5260. Verdict against two co-respondents—Unsatisfactory verdict against one—New trial as to both.]—Where there is a verdict against two co-resps., & the ct. is dissatisfied with the verdict against only one of the two co-resps., it will grant a new trial as to both.

Semble: if petitioner will allow a verdict to be entered for co-resp. applying for a new trial, the ct. may grant the decree.—WALKER v. WALKER, NICOLL & CRAIG (1861), 4 Sw. & Tr. 264; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 26; 164 E. R. 1517.

5261. Verdict on part issues unsatisfactory.]—Qu.: whether, in matrimonial suits, if the verdict on one only of two issues is unsatisfactory, a new trial ought to be granted as to both.

Semble: where in a suit by a wife for dissolution of marriage, on the ground of adultery & cruelty, petitioner obtains a verdict upon both issues, & a new trial as to one of them is afterwards applied for, petitioner may abandon that issue & ask for a judicial separation upon the ground of the other charge.—CARTLIDGE v. CARTLIDGE (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 406; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 126; 8 L. T. 334; 9 Jur. N. S. 552; 11 W. R. 750; 164 E. R. 1333.

5262. ——.]—FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD, No. 4527, ante.

5263. Disagreement on part of issues.]—NARRACOTT v. NARRACOTT & HESKETH, No. 4749, ante.

5264. Evidence applicable to respondent only—Influencing jury against co-respondent—Severance of issues—Separate trial.]—Where there was a reason to suppose that, on the trial of the husband's petition, evidence applicable to resp. alone affected the minds of the jury against the co-resp., the ct., in making absolute the rule for a new trial, ordered by deft. & her witnesses, & granted the divorce asked for, without making any finding on the evidence of the facts in respect to the other offences charged:—Held: the judge was in error in finding that the circumstances of the charge upon which deft. was found guilty did not afford any reasonable solution other than that of guilt, & the parties interested were entitled to a finding on the facts pertaining to the other offences charged, & a new trial was granted.—F. v. F. (1918), 45 N. B. R. 505; 41 D. L. R. 739.—CAN.

Sect. 21.—Appeals, re-hearing, new trial, etc.: Sub-sect. 3, B. (b) & C.; sub-sects. 4 & 5. Sect. 22: Sub-sect. 1, A., B., C. & D. (a).]

that the issues should be severed, so that the charges against the co-resp. might be tried separately from those against the resp.—BARNES v. BARNES & BEAUMONT (1868), 38 L. J. P. & M. 9; 19 L. T. 526; 17 W. R. 75.

See, also, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1925, r. 40.

C. Appeal from Grant or Refusal.

5265. Right of appeal to House of Lords—From decision of Court of Appeal—Granting new trial.]—Where the Divorce Ct. has granted a decree nisi after a trial before a jury, & the Ct. of Appeal has ordered a new trial, an appeal lies to the House of Lords against the order granting a new trial.—BUTCHART v. BUTCHART & HILL, [1901] A. C. 266; 70 L. J. P. 29; 84 L. T. 209, H. L.

5266. Time for appealing—Power of court to enlarge—Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), s. 2.]—The ct. has the power to extend the time (fourteen days) limited by above sect. for appealing against a decision of the judge ordinary granting or refusing a rule for a new trial.—BOULTING v. BOULTING (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 81.

5267. —— —— ——.]—An appeal from a refusal of the judge of the Divorce Ct. to grant a new trial under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), s. 2, must, notwithstanding that by Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 16, the jurisdiction of the Divorce Ct. is vested in the High Ct. of Justice, & that by Jud. Act, 1881 (c. 68), s. 9, the Ct. of Appeal is substituted for the full Ct. of Divorce, be brought within the time limited by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), namely, fourteen days. The ct. has no power to extend the time for appealing limited by statute.—AHIER v. AHIER (1885), 10 P. D. 110; 54 L. J. P. 70; 52 L. T. 744; 33 W. R. 770, C. A.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 31 (1) (b).

SUB-SECT. 4.—REVERSAL OF DECREES OF JUDICIAL SEPARATION.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 47–50.

5268. Contents of petition—Cause of non-appearance—Where decree granted—Decree wrong on merits.]—A petition for the reversal of a decree of judicial separation under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 23, on the ground that it was obtained in petitioner's "absence," is good on demurrer, although it alleges personal service on petitioner of the citation in the judicial separation suit: for the word "absence" means non-appearance in the suit, & not absence without knowledge or notice of the suit. It is not sufficient in such a petition to allege merely the non-appearance of petitioner but the petition must further set out the cause of his non-appearance, & must also state circumstances tending to show that the decree was wrong on the merits.—PHILLIPS v. PHILLIPS (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 169; 35 L. J. P. & M. 70; 14 L. T. 604; 14 W. R. 902.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, Appendix 8.

5269. "Absence" when decree granted—What constitutes.]—PHILLIPS v. PHILLIPS, No. 5268, ante.

5270. When court will rescind decree—Petitioner guilty of adultery.]—GROSSI v. GROSSI, No. 3542, ante.

5271. —— Resumption of cohabitation.]—The ct. has power to rescind a decree of judicial separation where the parties have resumed cohabitation.—ORAM v. ORAM (1923), 129 L. T. 159; 39 T. L. R. 332.

SUB-SECT. 5.—DISCHARGE OF PROTECTION ORDERS.

See Sect. 27, sub-sect. 6, D. (c), post.

SECT. 22.—PROCEEDINGS AFTER DECREE.

SUB-SECT. 1.—PERMANENT ALIMONY.

A. In General.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49) s. 190; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 57–64.

5272. Principles on which allotment made—Same as of ecclesiastical courts.]—The ct. is bound by the practice of the Ecclesiastical Cts. in allotting permanent alimony after a decree of judicial separation. According to the practice of the Ecclesiastical Cts., the ct. is not at liberty to allot more than one moiety of the joint income to the wife, although she may have brought more than one moiety of the property into settlement.—HAIGH v. HAIGH (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 709; 38 L. J. P. & M. 37; 20 L. T. 281.

Annotation:—Refd. Cobb v. Cobb, [1900] P. 294.

5273. —— ——.]—LESLIE v. LESLIE, No. 5516, post.

5274. Nature of wife's right—Right to be supported by husband.]—(1) The fact that a husband's safety is not endangered by the wife's cruelty, including acts of personal violence, is no bar to his obtaining relief in judicial separation. In such a case the ct. will look, in the interest of the wife herself as well as the husband, to the danger of his being provoked to retaliate, & will not, by refusing to interfere, drive the husband, to the necessity of meeting force by force.

(2) Where the husband & wife had ceased to cohabit, but continued to live & board together in the same house, the ct. decreed judicial separation at the instance of the husband, he having no power to expel his wife from the house, & circumstances requiring that he should reside in it.

(3) I have already pointed out in Prichard v. Prichard, No. 2652, ante, that in my opinion, although the ct. by a decree of judicial separation gives a legal warranty to a wife & husband to live apart, still that they remain husband & wife, & that while they remain so, the obligation also remains on the husband of contributing to the support of the wife (per CUR.).—FORTH v. FORTH (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 122; 16 L. T. 574; 15 W. R. 1091.

Annotation:—Refd. Russell v. Russell, [1897] A. C. 395.

5275. —— —— Not creation of statute.]—The normal rule of fixing the amount of permanent alimony at one-third of the joint incomes of the spouses free of tax is not a hard & fast one. The allocation of alimony is a matter for the discretion of the ct. or judge, who can take exceptional

PART XIII. SECT. 21, SUB-SECT. 4.

t. Whether subject to recall—At instance of husband.]—A decree of separation in ordinary form ordaining a husband to separate himself from his wife a mensâ et thoro in all time coming is not subject to recall at the husband's instance.—STRAIN v. STRAIN (1890), 17 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 297; 27 Sc. L. R. 239.—SCOT.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 1.—A.

a. On decree of nullity—For in circumstances into consideration. The registrars ought not to exercise this discretion. The fact that the husband's income is a large one & the fact that the wife during part of the married life lived apart from the husband & acquiesced in receiving a smaller income than the husband could have afforded are not grounds for departing from the general rule, but the fact that the husband's income is fluctuating & to some extent precarious is an exceptional circumstance which the ct. can take into consideration, & is a ground for reducing the proportion. The right of a wife to be maintained by her husband is based on her common law right to pledge her husband's credit for necessaries according to his means & does not depend wholly on the statutes.—DEAN v. DEAN, [1923] P. 172; 92 L. J. P. 109; 129 L. T. 704; 39 T. L. R. 602; 67 Sol. Jo. 704.

B. Jurisdiction to Grant.

See. now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 190.

5276. Where wife guilty party.]—WHITE v. WHITE, No. 2656, ante.

5277. ——.]—DART v. DART, No. 4753, ante.

5278. ——.]—PRICHARD v. PRICHARD, No. 2652, ante.

5279. ——.]—The Ecclesiastical Cts. had power to grant permanent alimony to a wife who was divorced a mensâ et thoro on account of her misconduct, & that power is not taken away from the Divorce Ct. by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 17. The ct. therefore has now jurisdiction to grant permanent alimony to a wife against whom a decree of judicial separation has been made on account of her misconduct, & has also the power from time to time to vary such order.—GOODDEN v. GOODDEN, [1892] P. 1; 65 L. T. 542; 40 W. R. 49; 8 T. L. R. 32; 36 Sol. Jo. 60, C. A.

Annotation :— Consd. Leslie v. Leslie, [1911] P. 203.

5280. Whether grant of allmony pendente lite condition precedent.]—It is not necessary, in suits for judicial separation, that the wife should obtain an order for alimony pendente lite to enable the ct. to allot her permanent alimony after the final decree has been pronounced.

The wife obtained a decree of judicial separation by reason of the adultery of the husband. No application was made for alimony pending the suit, but more than three months after the final decree had been pronounced & duly registered, she filed a petition for permanent alimony. The husband appeared under protest :—Held : the ct. had power to entertain the petition, & the husband was bound to answer to the merits.—COVELL v. COVELL (1872), L. R. 2 P. & D. 411; 41 L. J. P. & M. 81; 27 L. T. 324; 20 W. R. 894.

Annotations :—Consd. Goodden v. Goodden, [1892] P. 1. Mentd. Fox v. Fox, [1925] P. 157.

5281. Wife convicted of fraud.]—(1) Although modern legislation has deprived the husband of the rights he formerly had to his wife's property, the obligation of the husband to provide for his wife's maintenance remains. The amount of the alimony to be granted to her, & in some degree the question whether or not it should be allowed is a matter within the discretion of the ct., a discretion to be exercised judicially according to established principles of law, & upon an equitable view of all the circumstances of the particular case. The conduct of the wife may be looked at when the ct. is asked to order permanent alimony, just as it may be considered upon an application for alimony pendent lite. A wife obtained a decree of restitution of conjugal rights, which the husband disobeyed. The wife thereupon obtained a decree of judicial separation. She was afterwards convicted of fraud & sentenced to penal servitude. She had also been convicted of fraud before her marriage, & the husband alleged that he had suffered great financial losses by reason of her conduct. On an application by her for permanent alimony, she having no means of her own : —Held : the ct. had jurisdiction, notwithstanding the wife's conduct, to order an inquiry as to granting her permanent alimony, but the whole of the circumstances should be taken into account on the inquiry.

(2) If she [the wife] has no means whatever, even though her conduct before & after matrimony has been reprehensible, the husband is bound to allow her a sum which will enable her to live a respectable life.—LESLIE v. LESLIE, [1911] P. 203; 80 L. J. P. 139; sub nom. L. v. L., 104 L. T. 462; 27 T. L. R. 316; 55 Sol. Jo. 386.

C. When Granted.

5282. After decree of judicial separation—Guilty husband—Subsequent petition by husband for divorce.]—The presentation of a petition by a husband for a dissolution of marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery is no answer to a petition by the wife for permanent alimony following a decree of judicial separation in a suit in which she was petitioner.—STOATE v. STOATE (1859), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 166, n.; 23 J. P. 184.

Annotation :— Refd. Chetwynd v. Chetwynd (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 39.

D. Amount.

(a) In General.

5283. General principles—Wife to be liberally supported.]—Undoubtedly, a much larger allowance is to be made for permanent alimony, than for alimony pending suit; the delinquency of the husband is now established; the wife is the injured party: she is separated from the comfort of matrimonial society, from the society of her family, not by the act of Providence, but by the misconduct of her husband; she must be liberally supported. The law has laid down no exact proportion: it gives sometimes a third, sometimes a moiety, according to circumstances (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—OTWAY v. OTWAY (1813), 2 Phillim. 109; 161 E. R. 1092.

Annotations :—Consd. Smith v. Smith (1814), 2 Phillim. 235; Frankfort de Montmorency v. Frankfort de Montmorency (1844), 3 Notes of Cases, 68; Frankfort v. Frankfort (1845), 4 Notes of Cases, 280; Chetwynd v. Chetwynd (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 39; Dean v. Dean, [1923] P. 172. Refd. Hooper v. Hooper (1861), 3 Sw. & Tr. 251.

5284. —— Wife to be enabled to lead respectable life—Though conduct reprehensible.]—LESLIE v. LESLIE, No. 5281, ante.

5285. —— Discretion of court.]—DEAN v. DEAN, No. 5275, ante.

5286. —— ——.]—It is a general rule that permanent alimony shall be larger than that capacity of husband.]—Permanent alimony may be granted in a divorce suit where the wife has obtained a decree for divorce on the ground of impotence.—BROWN v. BROWN (1907), 13 B. C. R. 73; 10 —CAN.

---

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 1.—B.

b. Must be before full court.]—Deft. having consented to an order for alimony, a motion for the order was refused, as it would amount to a decree. It should be brought before the full ct. —CRAIG v. CRAIG (1859), 1 Ch. Ch. 41. —CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 1.—D. (a).

c. General principles—Wife to be enabled to support herself.]—The pur-

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 1, D. (a), (b) & (c), E. & F.]

which is allowed during suit. Even when the bulk of the fortune originally belonged to the husband, the ct. allows a competent income to the wife. But there is in this case a circumstance which ought to weigh specially in favour of the wife; viz. that the bulk of the fortune originally belonged to her; & this circumstance is still strengthened by another, namely, that the property was settled on the wife, & that she was induced, by the hope of better treatment, to give it up to her husband (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—SMITH v. SMITH (1814), 2 Phillim. 235; 161 E. R. 1130.

Annotations:—Consd. Frankfort de Montmorency v. Frankfort de Montmorency (1844), 3 Notes of Cases, 68; Frankfort v. Frankfort (1845), 4 Notes of Cases, 280; Hooper v. Hooper (1861), 3 Sw. & Tr. 251.

5287. —— —— Where husband proved guilty.]—The allotment [of alimony] is always more liberal when the husband's delinquency stands proved, than pending suit (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—KEMPE v. KEMPE (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 532; 162 E. R. 668.

5288. —— Larger than alimony pendente lite.]—OTWAY v. OTWAY, No. 5283, ante.

5289. What court will consider—All circumstances of case.]—LESLIE v. LESLIE, No. 5516, post.

5290. ——.]—LESLIE v. LESLIE, No. 5281, ante.

5291. —— Conduct of parties—Guilty husband.]—WILCOCKS v. WILCOCKS (1859), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 205.

5292. ——.]—HOOPER v. HOOPER, No. 4612, ante.

5293. — Wife.]—LESLIE v. LESLIE, No. 5281, ante.

5294. — Status of parties.]—HOOPER v. HOOPER, No. 4612, ante.

5295. —— Needs of wife—Wife in prison.]—LESLIE v. LESLIE, No. 5516, post.

(b) Proportion of Husband's Income Allotted.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 190.

5296. No fixed proportion.]—OTWAY v. OTWAY, No. 5283, ante.

5297. ——.]—LESLIE v. LESLIE, No. 5281, ante.

5298. ——.]—DEAN v. DEAN, No. 5275, ante.

5299. Husband's income small.]—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR (1796), cited in 2 Phillim. at p. 44; 161 E. R. 1073.

Annotations:—Consd. Cooke v. Cooke (1812), 2 Phillim. 40. Refd. Otway v. Otway (1813), 2 Phillim. 109; Smith v. Smith (1814), 2 Phillim. 235.

5300. Husband compelled to live in expensive place.]—(1) In allotting permanent alimony the ct. will take into consideration the circumstance that the husband is obliged, in order to earn his income, to live in a more expensive place than the wife, & when that is the case will not allow her the usual proportion of such income.

(2) Where the income of the husband . . . was increased by promotion to £480 per annum, the ct. ordered the permanent alimony to the wife, who had obtained a decree of judicial separation, to be increased from £40 to £120 per annum, the augmentation to take place as soon as the husband came into the receipt of the increased pay.—LOUIS v. LOUIS (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 230; 35 L. J. P. & M. 92; 14 L. T. 770; 14 W. R. 1023.

5301. Husband's income precarious.]—DEAN v. DEAN, No. 5275, ante.

5302. Large part of income derived from wife.]—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR (1796), cited in 2 Phillim. at p. 44; 161 E. R. 1073.

Annotations:—Consd. Cooke v. Cooke (1812), 2 Phillim. 40; Otway v. Otway (1813), 2 Phillim. 109. Refd. Smith v. Smith (1814), 2 Phillim. 235.

Compare No. 5272, ante.

5303. Particular instances.]—BIGGS v. BIGGS (1791), cited in 2 Phillim. at p. 43; 161 E. R. 1073.

Annotation:—Apld. Cooke v. Cooke (1812), 2 Phillim 40.

5304. ——.]—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR (1796), cited in 2 Phillim at p. 44; 161 E. R. 1073.

Annotations:—Consd. Cooke v. Cooke (1812), 2 Phillim. 40. Refd. Otway v. Otway (1813), 2 Phillim. 109; Smith v. Smith (1814), 2 Phillim. 235.

5305. ——.]—DAWSON v. DAWSON (1802), cited in 2 Phillim at p. 45; 161 E. R. 1073.

Annotation:—Refd. Cooke v. Cooke (1812), 2 Phillim. 40.

5306. ——.]—COOKE v. COOKE, No. 5317, post.

5307. —— Calculation where wife has custody of children.]—MYTTON v. MYTTON, No. 4144, ante.

5308. —— ——.]—Where a wife had obtained a decree of judicial separation, & the ct. had ordered that she should have the custody of three children all under the age of seven, alimony pendente lite having been allotted on the assumption that the husband's income was £400 per annum, the ct. allotted to the wife £160 per annum as permanent alimony; £100 for herself, & £20 per annum for each of the children.—WHIELDON v. WHIELDON (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 388; 164 E. R. 1046; sub nom. WHILDON v. WHILDON, 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 174; 5 L. T. 138.

Annotations:—Refd. Gandy v. Gandy (1885), 30 Ch. D. 57. Mentd. Shaftesbury Union v. Brockway, [1913] 1 K. B. 159.

5309. ——.]—Where the only income of the husband was £60 a year, derived from independent property, & it appeared that he had turned his wife out of doors, & that his mistress was living with him, the ct. awarded a moiety of the income as permanent alimony.—AVILA v. AVILA (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 176.

5310. —— Husband's income large.]—BEECHAM v. BEECHAM (1903), Times, Mar. 14.

(c) Where Wife has Separate Property or Income.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 60.

5311. Whether considered—Legacies since marriage to wife's separate use.]—In estimating the amount of alimony to be allowed a wife after a separation, on the ground of cruelty, the husband is not entitled to a deduction out of what would otherwise be payable by him out of his income, in respect of money left by wills since the marriage to his wife's separate use, nor in respect of his wife's salary as a lady-in-waiting to the Queen; but he is entitled to such a deduction in respect of a pension from the Crown granted to his wife.—WESTMEATH (MARQUIS) v. WESTMEATH (MARCHIONESS) (1834), 3 Knapp, 42; 12 E. R. 563, H. L.

pose of allotting alimony is to enable a wife to support herself whilst living apart.—HAGARTY v. HAGARTY (1865), 11 Gr. 562.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 1.—D. (b).

5296 i. No fixed proportion.]—The obligation of a husband is to provide for the maintenance of his wife, in proportion to his ability so to do. Where alimony is decreed, the amount to be awarded is of discretion in the ct., a discretion to be exercised judicially according to established principles of law, & upon an equitable view of all the circumstances of the particular case. There is no fixed rule that the wife shall be allowed one-third of the husband's income.—MALCOLM v. MALCOLM (1920), 46 O. L. R. 198.—CAN.

d. —— Conduct of wife.]—The rule that the conduct of the wife should weigh much in determining the amount of alimony, is reasonable.—SEVERN v. SEVERN (1859), 7 Gr. 109.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 1.—D. (c).

e. Whether considered—Wife able to maintain herself—Husband's means

5312. —— Wife's salary as lady-in-waiting.]—WESTMEATH (MARQUIS) v. WESTMEATH (MARCHIONESS), No. 5311, ante.

5313. —— Wife's pension from Crown.]—WESTMEATH (MARQUIS) v. WESTMEATH (MARCHIONESS), No. 5311, ante.

5314. Proportion of joint income.]—The parties having lived together three years after their marriage, separated in 1814. £310 per annum, the produce of the wife's own fortune, was settled on her; & this sum has been continued to her ever since. The husband's separate income amounts to £750 or £800; & the question turns on the deduction of £160 per annum, the interest of money borrowed for the improvement of a house & land he has purchased in Sussex. I think I shall not depart from a just consideration of the effect of these circumstances, if I give a moiety of this £160, in addition to the £300 per annum now paid to the wife (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—BLAQUIERE (LADY) v. BLAQUIERE (1820), 3 Phillim. 258; 161 E. R. 1319.

5315. —— More than half brought into settlement by wife.]—HAIGH v. HAIGH, No. 5272, ante.

Compare No. 5302, ante.

5316. —— Custody of children given to wife.]—The wife had an income from property settled on her by the husband of £196 a year. The husband had an income of £367 a year. There were three children of the marriage who were in the custody of the wife. The ct. in allotting permanent alimony, ordered that in addition to the £196 a year which the wife enjoyed under the settlement, the husband should allow her £30 a year each for the maintenance of the children.—TODD v. TODD (1873), 42 L. J. P. & M. 62; 29 L. T. 252.

E. Duration.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 64.

5317. Commencement — Date of decree.]—A moiety of the husband's property given to the wife for permanent alimony; but given from the date of the sentence, & not from the return of the citation.—COOKE v. COOKE (1812), 2 Phillim. 40; 161 E. R. 1072.

Annotations:—Consd. Otway v. Otway (1813), 2 Phillim. 109; Frankfort de Montmorency v. Frankfort de Montmorency (1844), 3 Notes of Cases, 432; Covell v. Covell (1872), L. R. 2 P. & D. 411. Refd. Smith v. Smith (1814), 2 Phillim. 235; Frankfort de Montmorency v. Frankfort de Montmorency (1844), 3 Notes of Cases, 68; Frankfort de Montmorency v. Frankfort de Montmorency (1845), 4 Notes of Cases, 280; Hooper v. Hooper (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 251; Goodden v. Goodden, [1892] P. 1; Dean v. Dean, [1923] P. 172.

5318. —— —— Order appealed from.]—The judge of the consistory ct., by the same sentence, pronounced for a separation by reason of adultery, allotted alimony pending suit, & also permanent alimony. An appeal from the whole sentence was prosecuted in the Arches Ct., which ct. reversed the sentence so far as concerned the alimony pending the suit, affirmed the sentence in other respects, & retained the cause:—Held: permanent alimony was payable from the date of the sentence in the ct. below.—FRANKFORT DE MONTMORENCY (VISCOUNT) v. FRANKFORT DE MONTMORENCY (VISCOUNTESS) (1844), 3 Notes of Cases, 432; 8 Jur. 1105.

5319. Termination — Non-compliance by wife with order for custody of children—Whether sufficient ground.]—In a cause of separation promoted by the wife against the husband, alimony was allotted. The wife had not complied with an order of the Ct. of Ch. respecting the custody of the children:—Held: the refusal of the wife to obey the Ct. of Ch. was no ground for stopping the payment of alimony.—HOPE v. HOPE (1854), 18 Jur. 1086.

5320. — — Subsequent decree nisi for dissolution obtained by husband.]—If permanent alimony has been allotted to a wife on her obtaining a decree of judicial separation, & the husband afterwards obtains a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage on the ground of her adultery, the ct. will not, before that decree has been made absolute, discharge the order for payment of alimony.—STOATE v. STOATE (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 108.

F. Increase or Reduction of Amount.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 63.

5321. Jurisdiction of court.]—GOODDEN v. GOODDEN, No. 5279, ante.

5322. —— Financial position of parties changed.—Upon an application for an order for permanent alimony by a wife who has obtained a decree for judicial separation, the ct., in assessing the amount to be paid by the husband, will take into consideration a voluntary allowance made to him by trustees under a discretionary trust to apply the income of a fund for the maintenance & support or otherwise for the benefit of all or such one or more exclusively of the other or others of the husband, wife, & their issue.

But if in such a case the trustees should subsequently formulate a scheme for the application of the income of the fund for the maintenance of the husband & his wife & issue the ct. will have jurisdiction under Divorce Rules & Regulations, r. 92, to review the order, & discharge or suspend it.—MARTIN v. MARTIN, [1919] P. 283; 88 L. J. P. 163; 121 L. T. 337; 35 T. L. R. 602; 63 Sol. Jo. 641, C. A.

5323. Whether granted—Variation in party's circumstances slight.]—(1) Where both parties had long abstained from applying to the ct., the one for a reduction of alimony, the other to enforce the regular payment, it will not enforce arrears, nor inquire as to the sums paid by the husband for his wife's debts incurred by reason of non-payment of that alimony; nor will it reduce alimony on account of an express waiver of a part thereof by the wife, the additional expenses of the husband occasioned by the mature age of children, the failure, from the mismanagement of her trustees, of a portion of the funds set apart for the wife's alimony, or slight additions, aliunde, to her means.

(2) Where there is a material alteration of small.]—In awarding alimony, where the husband's means are small, his wife's ability to maintain herself may be taken into account.—KEWELUK v. KEWELUK, [1923] 2 W. W. R. 78; 2 D. L. R. 979.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 1.—E.

5317 i. Commencement—Date of decree.]—Interim alimony having been ordered, permanent alimony ran from the date of the judgment.—CROMARTY v. CROMARTY (1917), 38 O. L. R. 481; 33 D. L. R. 151.—CAN.

5317 ii. — — — — —.]—Permanent alimony should not be awarded except from & after the date of the decree. Where no application had been made for interim alimony a judgment which allowed arrears of alimony was reduced by the amount so allowed.—DE WITT v. DE WITT, [1919] 2 W. W. R. 181; 46 D. L. R. 242.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 1.—F.

5321 i. Jurisdiction of court.]—The ct. has jurisdiction to vary the amount of alimony fixed by consent of the parties.—MAGOWAN v. MAGOWAN, [1921] 2 I. R. 314.—IR.

5321 ii. ——.]—In a fit case the ct. has jurisdiction to increase the alimony allowed to a wife on the making of a decree for judicial separation on the ground of her cruelty.—SMITH v. SMITH (1892), 11 N. Z. L. R. 203.—N.Z.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 1, F., G., H. & I. (a) & (b).]

circumstances, a change in the rate of alimony may be made. If the faculties are improved, the wife's allowance ought to be increased; & if the husband is lapsus facultatibus the wife's allowance ought to be reduced (DR. LUSHINGTON).—DE BLAQUIERE v. DE BLAQUIERE (1830), 3 Hag. Ecc. 322; 162 E. R. 1173.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Kerr v. Kerr, [1897] 2 Q. B. 439; Campbell v. Campbell, [1922] P. 187. Generally. Mentd. Vander Gucht v. De Blaquiere (1838), 7 L. J. Ch. 270.

5324. —— Waiver of part by wife.]—DE BLAQUIERE v. DE BLAQUIERE, No. 5323, ante.

5325. Increase—Husband's income increased.]—DE BLAQUIERE v. DE BLAQUIERE, No. 5323, ante.

5326. —— ——.]—LOUIS v. LOUIS, No. 5300, ante.

5327. —— Custody of children transferred from husband to wife.]—(1) A separation deed contained a covenant by the husband with trustees to pay for the maintenance & education of the two youngest daughters, subject to certain conditions as to custody & residence:—Held: the infant children could not maintain an action to enforce the performance of the covenant for their maintenance, but if the trustees refused to sue, the wife could herself maintain such action.

(2) The wife, after the date of the deed, obtained a decree for judicial separation & custody of the children, but her application for increased alimony was refused on the ground that the subsequent adultery of her husband did not put an end to the deed, & that the husband maintaining the younger children no further liability was thrown upon her; & that view was acquiesced in by the husband. He now contended that the covenant was conditional, & that the wife having the custody of the children his liability was at an end:—Held: he could not, having taken advantage of one construction in 1882, now succeed on the contention that that construction was wrong; & proceedings under judgment appealed from ordered to be stayed, to enable the wife to apply for increased alimony.—GANDY v. GANDY (1885), 30 Ch. D. 57; 54 L. J. Ch. 1154; 53 L. T. 306; 33 W. R. 803; 1 T. L. R. 520, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (2) Consd. Bishop v. Bishop, Judkins v. Judkins, [1897] P. 138. Generally, Mentd. Clarke v. Birley (1889), 41 Ch. D. 422; Davis v. Marrable, [1913] 2 Ch. 421; R. v. Taylor, R. v. Amendt, [1915] 2 K. B. 593.

5328. Reduction—Husband's means reduced.]—DE BLAQUIERE v. DE BLAQUIERE, No. 5323, ante.

5329. —— —— Husband still able to continue payments.]—The reduction of the husband's income, by unprofitable speculation, is no ground for a proportionate reduction of permanent alimony allotted twenty years before.

I see no reason to moderate the original allotment of alimony; the husband has still the power of continuing it, &, if he chooses to speculate, he must, if unsuccessful, bear the inconvenience (DR. LUSHINGTON).—NEIL v. NEIL (1832), 4 Hag. Ecc. 273; 162 E. R. 1446.

Annotation:—Distd. Hall v. Hall, [1915] P. 105.

5330. —— ——.]—MOORE v. MOORE, No. 4126, ante.

5331. —— Wife's income increased.]—A. obtained a sentence of divorce a mensâ et thoro in 1847, by reason of her husband's cruelty. £300 per annum was taken by consent as permanent alimony. Upon her father's death, A. having received an accession of income, to the extent of £144 per annum, as admitted by herself, her husband applied for a reduction of alimony:—Held: no case was made out by the husband for a reduction of alimony. His income did not appear, & non constat that £300 would not have been originally allotted by the ct., even if A. had then been in possession of £144 per annum.—SAUNDERS v. SAUNDERS (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 72; 30 L. T. O. S. 311; 4 Jur. N. S. 147; 6 W. R. 328; 164 E. R. 634.

—— Wife guilty of adultery after decree.]—See No. 5352, post.

5332. Effect of deed of separation—Subsequent adultery by husband.]—A husband having committed adultery, disputes arose between him & his wife which led to his committing acts of legal cruelty. A separation deed was then executed, by which he agreed to allow her £250 a year & to maintain the two youngest children who were not to be in her custody; & she covenanted not to take any proceedings to compel the husband to allow her a larger amount of alimony. Subsequently the husband committed adultery, & the wife obtained a decree for judicial separation & an order that she should have the custody of the two youngest children. The husband had since the date of the separation deed become wealthy, & the wife applied for an inquiry as to his means with a view to obtaining increased alimony:—Held: increased alimony could not be ordered, for that as the ct. had not, as it would have had in the case of a decree for dissolution, power to alter the separation deed, the covenant by the wife not to sue for increased alimony was binding on her, & must have effect given to it, the husband not having, in the opinion of the ct., been guilty of such misconduct as under the circumstances of the case would disentitle him to claim the benefit of the deed.—GANDY v. GANDY (1882), 7 P. D. 168; 51 L. J. P. 41; 46 L. T. 607; 30 W. R. 673, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Wood v. Wood (1887), 57 L. J. P. 31 Wilkinson v. Wilkinson (1893), 69 L. T. 459. Consd. Bishop v. Bishop, Judkins v. Judkins, [1897] P. 138. Refd. Rose v. Rose (1883), 8 P. D. 98; Fearon v. Aylesford (1885), 14 Q. B. D. 792; Tress v. Tress (1887), 12 P. D. 128; Kunski v. Kunski & Josephs (1907), 23 T. L. R. 615; Thompson v. Thompson, [1916] P. 165; Williams v. Williams, [1921] P. 131.

G. Payment.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 190 (5).

5333. Payment of arrears—Whether enforced.]

5325 i. Increase—Husband's income increased.]—The ct. made an order increasing the amount of alimony fixed by consent of parties, notwithstanding the lapse of eleven years, the husband's means having considerably improved in the interval.—MAGOWAN v. MAGOWAN, [1921] 2 I. R. 314.—IR.

f. Reduction—Master's report—No interference with after acquiescence.]—On an application to reduce the amount of alimony payable by deft. to pltf., the property of deft. was variously estimated at from $2,938 to $6,000, & the evidence of deft when cross-examined upon his affidavit filed by him in support of the motion, being unsatisfactory, the ct. refused to interfere with the report of the master fixing the amount which had been paid under such report for about eighteen months without objection.—HOLWAY v. HOLWAY (1881), 29 Gr. 41.—CAN.

g. —— Not reduction in arrears.]—That the earning power of resp. in a divorce action had fallen off to a considerable extent is ground for a reasonable reduction in the monthly allowance but not for a reduction in the arrears of alimony.—MOODY v. MOODY (1924), 34 B. C. R. 49.—CAN.

h. Termination—Whether on wife's unchastity.]—After a decree had been made, & alimony paid for several years under it, the ct. entertained & afterwards granted a petition by the husband to be relieved from the decree, on the ground of the wife's subsequent adultery.—SEVERN v. SEVERN (1867), 14 Gr. 150.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 1.—G.

k. Payment of lump sum.]—An agreement by husband to pay a lump —DE BLAQUIERE v. DE BLAQUIERE, No. 5323, ante.

5334. —— ——.]—Alimony is allotted for the maintenance of the wife from year to year: the ct. therefore will not without sufficient cause being shown for the delay, enforce payment of arrears of alimony beyond one year prior to the monition.—WILSON v. WILSON (1830), 3 Hag. Ecc. 329, n.; 162 E. R. 1175.

Annotation:—Refd. Campbell v. Campbell, [1922] P. 187.

5335. What husband may deduct—Debts incurred by wife & paid by husband—Debts incurred through husband's default.]—A suit for separation was promoted by the wife against her husband. Alimony pendente lite was allotted, &, when sentence was given in favour of the wife, permanent alimony was allotted. The alimony pendente lite had not been obtained without delay & compulsion, & permanent alimony had not been paid at all. The wife had incurred debts, which the husband had been compelled to pay. He sought to deduct their amounts from his future payments of alimony:—Held: he was not entitled so to do.—HARMAR v. HARMAR (1857), Dea. & Sw. 282; 28 L. T. O. S. 344; 3 Jur. N. S. 168; 5 W. R. 413.

—— Income tax.]—See INCOME TAX.

Enforcement of order.]—See Sub-sect. 1, K., post.

H. Alienation.

5336. Whether assignable.]—On a decree for judicial separation an order was made for payment of £60 a year to the wife as permanent alimony. The husband was afterwards found lunatic by inquisition, & by an order in Lunacy & Chancery the dividends of a sum of stock to which he was entitled in a Chancery suit were ordered to be carried to his account in the Lunacy & £60 a year to be paid out of them to his wife in respect of her alimony till further order. The wife assigned the annuity to a purchaser, who presented a petition in Lunacy & in the suit to have the annuity paid to her:—Held: the petition must be refused, on the ground that whether the annuity was considered as alimony, or as an allowance made to the wife by the ct. in Lunacy, it was not assignable.—Re ROBINSON (1884), 27 Ch. D. 160; 53 L. J. Ch. 51 L. T. 737; 33 W. R. 17, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Linton v. Linton (1885), 15 Q. B. D. 239; Anderson v. Hay (1890), 7 T. L. R. 113; Watkins v. Watkins, [1896] P. 222; Kerr v. Kerr (1897), 77 L. T. 29; Maclurcan v. Maclurcan (1897), 77 L. T. 474; Smith v. Smith, [1923] P. 191; Walls v. Legge, [1923] 2 K. B. 240.

5337. —— As separate estate.]—Alimony received by a wife under a decree for judicial separation from her husband is not "separate estate" chargeable by the wife.—ANDERSON v. HAY (LADY) (1890), 55 J. P. 295; 7 T. L. R. 113.

I. Procedure.

(a) The Application.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 57–62.

5338. Time for making—After final decree—Effect of delay.]—COVELL v. COVELL, No. 5280, ante.

5339. How made.]—WALLACE v. WALLACE, No. 4811, ante.

5340. —— Where no allotment of alimony pendente lite.]—Where an answer is filed to a petition for alimony pendente lite, but no such alimony is allotted, & the wife afterwards applies for permanent alimony, she will not be allowed to file a fresh petition, but, upon giving notice, may examine witnesses to contradict the statements in the husband's answer to the petition for alimony pendente lite.—SYKES v. SYKES (1859), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 38.

5341. Notice of motion—Length of notice—How calculated.]—Under Rule 29, which requires that eight days at least before moving for permanent alimony notice of the motion should be given, the eight days must be reckoned exclusive of the day on which the notice is given & of that on which the motion is made.—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 189.

5342. —— Application to vary—Upon whom served.]—Notice of an application for an increase of permanent alimony should be given to the husband. Notice to the attorney who conducted the suit for him is insufficient.—LOUIS v. LOUIS (1871), 41 L. J. P. & M. 18; 25 L. T. 856; 20 W. R. 215.

5343. The hearing—Who may be heard.]—To an application for permanent alimony, resp. filed no answer:—Held: he had no locus standi on the hearing of the petition. On payment of costs leave was afterwards given him to file an answer.—WATTS v. WATTS (1863), 3 New Rep. 215.

(b) Inquiry as to Husband's Income.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 61, 62.

5344. Whether fresh inquiry ordered—Inquiry held on allotment of alimony pendente lite.]—In the absence of proof that the husband's income has altered, permanent alimony will be awarded upon the income upon which alimony pendente lite was allotted, & neither party will be allowed to dispute the correctness of the estimate then taken. Qu.: whether, upon the application for permanent alimony, a party can show that there has been such alteration in the husband's income, unless he has previously filed a pleading setting forth the facts on which he relies.—FRANKS v. FRANKS (1861), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 25.

Annotation:—Refd. Bonsor v. Bonsor, [1897] P. 77.

5345. —— ——.]—In the absence of proof that the husband's income has altered since the application for alimony pendente lite, permanent alimony will be allotted upon that which appeared then to be his income, although the wife may since have discovered that his income at that time was greater.—GREENWOOD v. GREENWOOD (1862), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 136.

Annotation:—Refd. Bonsor v. Bonsor, [1897] P. 77.

5346. —— ——.]—(1) Where in a suit for sum in lieu of periodical alimony is contrary to public policy & the ct. has no power to award or confirm such payment.—DERBY v. DERBY (1916), 26 Man. L. R. 320.—CAN.

[illegible] The ct. has no power to give a lump sum for alimony once for all. The very nature of alimony prevents the award of a lump sum, because the amount awarded may be varied from time to time on the application of either party.—KEWELUK v. KEWELUK, [1923] 2 W. W. R. 78; 2 D. L. R. 979.—CAN.

m. ——.]—The ct. has jurisdiction, under Divorce & Matrimonial Causes Act, 1904, s. 33, upon granting a decree to a wife for dissolution of her marriage, with the consent of the husband, to make an order for the payment of a gross sum of money to the wife by way of alimony. Having once made such an order the ct. would have no jurisdiction upon the application of the wife to make any further order for alimony.—GEORGETTI v. GEORGETTI (1908), 28 N. Z. L. R. 597.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 1.—I. (a).

n. Time for making—Before trial—Right of wife to examine witnesses before hearing.]—In British Columbia a petition for permanent alimony may be filed in a dissolution case prior to the trial.

R. 26 of the Divorce Rules, which entitles a wife to examine witnesses in support of her petition for alimony, does not enable a wife in a dissolution case to examine witnesses in support of a petition for permanent alimony before the hearing of the cause.—DAVY v. DAVY (No. 1), [1922] 1 W. W. R. 359; 63 D. L. R. 341; 30 B. C. R. 356.—CAN.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 1, I. (b), & (c), J. & K.; sub-sect. 2, A., B. & C.]

dissolution of marriage or for judicial separation there has been a full inquiry into the husband's means upon an application for alimony pendente lite, the amount of permanent alimony or permanent maintenance to be allotted to the wife will be determined upon the evidence then given, without a repetition of such inquiry upon the petition for permanent alimony or maintenance.

(2) For the purpose of determining the amount of permanent alimony or maintenance, recourse may be had to income of which the husband has no legal power to enforce the payment.

A husband, who was largely indebted to his brother, was in receipt of a voluntary allowance from him so long as he should remain out of the country:—Held: the voluntary allowance was properly included in the husband's income for the purpose of fixing the amount of permanent maintenance.—BONSOR v. BONSOR, [1897] P. 77; 66 L. J. P. 35; 76 L. T. 168; 45 W. R. 304; 13 T. L. R. 184.

Annotations:—As to (2) Folld. Martin v. Martin, [1919] P. 283. Refd. Nott v. Nott, [1901] P. 241.

5347. —— How obtained.]—If upon an application for permanent alimony the wife desires to show that the husband's income has increased or that her own has diminished since alimony pendente lite was allotted, her proper course is to file a petition alleging such increase or diminution. Qu.: whether when such a petition has been filed, resp. is entitled to file an answer thereto.—FISK v. FISK (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 60.

How income calculated.]—See Sect. 9, sub-sect. 1, D., ante.

(c) Other Cases.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 57–62.

5348. Service of petition—Substituted service—Affidavit in support of application—Whether necessary.]—Although it is a fixed rule of practice to require an affidavit by petitioner in support of every application for substituted service of a petition at the commencement of a matrimonial suit, this rule does not necessarily apply to petitions for permanent maintenance & alimony.—SCHRAML v. SCHRAML (1899), 68 L. J. P. 47; 80 L. T. 328.

5349. Evidence — Admissibility — Alteration in husband's income.]—FRANKS v. FRANKS, No. 5344, ante.

5350. —— —— ——.]—Where a husband's income has diminished since the allotment of alimony pendente lite, he may, on a motion for permanent alimony, prove such diminution by affidavit.—DAVIS v. DAVIS (1863), 4 Sw. & Tr. 228; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 152; 164 E. R. 1504.

See, also, No. 5347, ante.

5351. Alimony charged on land—Registration of order.]—Re HOLDEN, Ex p. HOLDEN, No. 5898, post.

5352. Allegation of wife's adultery after decree—Issue to try allegation ordered.]—PINDER v. PINDER (1902), 46 Sol. Jo. 298.

5353. Appeal—Time for.]—BEECHAM v. BEECHAM (1903), Times, Mar. 14.

J. Costs of Application.

5354. Liability of husband.]—A wife acting under the implied authority of the husband retained a solr. to defend her in a divorce suit instituted by her husband, & also to commence an action of detinue against her husband in respect of her clothes. The divorce suit was dismissed against the husband with costs & a decree of judicial separation was made in favour of the wife. After the decree of judicial separation the wife obtained, first, an order increasing the interim alimony which had been previously allowed her, &, afterwards, an order for permanent alimony, & the action for detinue was tried & decided in the wife's favour. In the meantime the husband had instituted a second divorce suit, which was also resisted by the wife & dismissed with costs. On the taxation of the wife's costs of these proceedings under an order of course obtained by her solr. against the husband, the husband, who had duly paid the alimony as required by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 26, disputed his liability to pay any costs (beyond the party & party costs, which he had been ordered to pay) after the decree of judicial separation:—Held: (1) as to the costs of the second divorce suit, the husband was not liable; (2) as to the costs of the action of detinue, the husband was liable inasmuch as the retainer continued until the conclusion of the action unless expressly withdrawn by the husband; (3) as to the costs of the alimony proceedings the husband was liable inasmuch as they were part of the proceedings in the first divorce suit.—Re WINGFIELD & BLEW (SOLICITORS), [1904] 2 Ch. 665; 73 L. J. Ch. 797; 91 L. T. 783; 48 Sol. Jo. 700, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Sheppard v. Sheppard, [1905] P. 185. Generally, Refd. Gilroy v. Gilroy (1914), 58 Sol. Jo. 378.

K. Enforcement of Order.

Action in King's Bench.]—See No. 5990, post.

Charging order.]—See No. 5968, post.

Peremptory order.]—See No. 5910, post.

Injunction—Restraining husband from receiving legacy.]—See No. 5993, post.

See, also, Sect. 9, sub-sect. 1, K., ante.

SUB-SECT. 2.—MAINTENANCE.

A. In General.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 190; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 65—70.

5355. Whether principles governing permanent alimony apply.]—FISHER v. FISHER, No. 5362, post.

5356. ——.]—SIDNEY v. SIDNEY, No. 5383, post.

B. Jurisdiction to Grant.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 190.

5357. On decree of nullity — Wife already married.]—A case of nullity of marriage by reason of a former marriage [of the wife] established. Alimony to second wife refused.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 2.—A.

o. Wife's claim not prejudiced by existence of second wife & family.]—The claim of a wife upon obtaining a divorce, to alimony is paramount to that of a second wife or any children had by her, & the liability of the husband to maintain her cannot be prejudiced by the existence of a second family.—MOODY v. MOODY (1924), 34 B. C. R. 49.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 2.—B.

p. On dissolution of marriage—Provision made in decree nisi.]—In a suit by a wife for divorce the ct. has jurisdiction, in granting divorce, to make a provision for her permanent maintenance. This provision may be made in the decree nisi, & may be effective after the decree absolute though not repeated or confirmed therein.

An allowance for such purpose in the decree nisi may more properly be

As to allowing her a sum of money I was of opinion I had no warrant to do it by law or practice (SIR GEORGE LEE).—BIRD (alias BELL) v. BIRD (1754), 1 Lee, 621; 161 E. R. 227.

5358. —— ——.]—Petitioner obtained a decree for nullity of marriage on the ground that at the time of the ceremony resp. had a husband still living. An application was made that he should be ordered to pay maintenance to resp. The contention of petitioner, who opposed the application, was that Matrimonial Causes Act, 1907 (c. 12), under which it was made, did not apply to marriages that were void ab initio:—Held: the ct. had power to order maintenance.—RAMSAY v. RAMSAY (OTHERWISE BEER) (1913), 108 L. T. 382.

5359. —— For incapacity—Finding against both parties.]—GULLAN v. GULLAN (OTHERWISE GOODWIN), No. 5469, post.

5360. On dissolution of marriage—For guilt of wife.]—There is no rule of practice that a wife against whom a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage is pronounced must show special circumstances to entitle her to an order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32, that the decree shall not be made absolute except upon the condition of the husband securing a provision for her support. The ct. has an absolute discretion vested in it by the sect., to be exercised according to the circumstances of each case. Thus, it will order the husband to secure a provision for his guilty wife, even though his own conduct has been unimpeachable, if the wife is proved to be entirely without means of support & unable through ill-health to earn her own living. So in a case where the wife was found guilty of adultery, the ct., being satisfied that she was in delicate health & quite unable to support herself & earn her own living, & that she was entirely without means & had no friends or relations who would support her, ordered petitioner to secure her by deed the sum of £1 per week for life dum sola et casta vixerit, although petitioner had been guilty of no misconduct & had opposed the making of the order.—ASHCROFT v. ASHCROFT & ROBERTS, [1902] P. 270; 71 L. J. P. 125; 87 L. T. 229; 51 W. R. 292; 18 T. L. R. 821, C. A.

C. When Granted.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 190.

5361. When husband's circumstances allow.]—RATCLIFF v. RATCLIFF & ANDERSON, No. 3368, ante.

5362. ——.]—The rules & principles on which the ecclesiastical cts. awarded permanent alimony in cases of divorce a mensâ et thoro are not applicable to cases of dissolution of marriage, because in the former complainant remained the wife of deft. & in that character he was bound to maintain her. The legislature did not intend that a wife entitled to a dissolution of marriage should purchase it at the price of being left destitute; & where the circumstances of husband allow of it, the ct. will direct a maintenance to be secured to the woman so long as she remains chaste & unmarried.—FISHER v. FISHER (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 410; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 1; 5 L. T. 364; 8 Jur. N. S. 103; 10 W. R. 122; 164 E. R. 1055.

Annotations:—Consd. Morris v. Morris (1861), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 33. Refd. Sidney v. Sidney (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 178; Gladstone v. Gladstone (1876), 1 P. D. 442; Harrison v. Harrison (1887), 12 P. D. 130; Wood v. Wood (1891), 64 L. T. 586; Kettlewell v. Kettlewell, [1898] P. 138.

5363. ——.]—CHARLES v. CHARLES, No. 2321, ante.

5364. On decree of dissolution—What court will consider — Conduct of parties.] — RAWLINS v. RAWLINS, No. 5502, post.

5365. —— —— ——.] — After a decree of nullity [on the ground of impotence], as well as after a decree of dissolution of marriage, the "conduct of the parties" is one of the material matters to be taken into consideration in dealing with any application for an allowance; & the discretion of the ct., in ordering or refusing an allowance, must be exercised according to the circumstances of each particular case.

In a case where the wife was provided for independently of the order of the ct., & had long delayed the institution of her suit, having in the meantime lived in concubinage with another man, her application for maintenance was refused.—DUNBAR (OTHERWISE WHITE) v. DUNBAR, [1909] P. 90; 78 L. J. P. 35; 100 L. T. 380; 25 T. L. R. 230.

5366. —— Where wife guilty.]—After a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage at the petition of the husband, the wife filed a petition for permanent alimony, or for some payment in lieu thereof, setting forth, as usual, the amount & sources of the husband's income. On motion on behalf of the husband, the ct. directed the petition for alimony to be struck off the file of the ct., & refused to allow the costs to be taxed against the husband.—WINSTONE v. WINSTONE & DYNE (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 246; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 109; 3 L. T. 895; 164 E. R. 989.

Annotations:—Refd. Covell v. Covell (1872), 41 L. J. P. & M. 81; Robertson v. Robertson (1883), 8 P. D. 94.

5367. —— ——.]—LEWIS v. LEWIS (1902), 18 T. L. R. 792.

5368. —— Damages invested for wife's benefit.]—Where a husband had obtained a decree of dissolution, upon the ground of adultery, with £150 damages against co-resp., permanent alimony was refused, but the damages awarded were ordered to be invested in the purchase of a government annuity for the wife's benefit.—LATHAM v. LATHAM & GETHIN (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 43; 7 Jur. N. S. 218.

5369. —— —— Wife possessed of small means.]—Where the misconduct of a wife was very great, & no blame was attributable to the husband, & where she possessed the means of purchasing a small annuity, the ct. refused, under Matrimonial called alimony up to the time of the decree absolute & maintenance thereafter.—MCNAIR v. MCNAIR, [1923] 2 W. W. R. 46; 2 D. L. R. 465.—CAN.

q. Not in absence of decree for dissolution.]—It is not competent to the ct. dismissing a husband's petition for dissolution of marriage, to award maintenance to the wife under Indian Divorce Act, ss. 15 or 37. Though the wife might have filed an application for divorce or judicial separation on the husband's petition, still in the absence of a decree for dissolution or judicial separation, no order for maintenance can be made.—DEVASKAYAM v. DEVAMONY (1922), I. L. R. 46 Mad. 133.—IND.

r. Not ousted by separation agreement.]—Petitioner had obtained a decree absolute, the grounds of the decree being the separation of the parties for three years under a deed of separation. This deed contained provisions for the wife's maintenance during her life. Resp. now applied to the ct. for further maintenance:—Held: the covenant by the husband to pay the annuity provided for by the deed continued notwithstanding the divorce, & in no way excluded the jurisdiction of the ct. to make such provision for the wife's maintenance as it thought fit.—LODDER v. LODDER, [1923] N. Z. L. R. 785.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 2.—C.

s. On decree of dissolution—What court will consider.]—In allowing maintenance to a wife who has obtained a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage the ct. will take into consideration not only the income of the husband, but also the fact that he is possessed of property which either produces no income at all, or produces less income

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 2, C. & D. (a).]

Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32, to compel the husband to make a permanent provision for her support, the marriage having been dissolved on account of the wife's adultery.—TURNER v. TURNER & WEDGEWOOD (1863), 1 New Rep. 405.

5370. —— —— Wife without means—Whether special reason must be shown.]—On Aug. 3, 1880, a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage was made against a wife, & in due course was made absolute. The wife appealed, & on July 19, 1881, her appeal was dismissed. On July 30, she took out a summons for permanent maintenance, but before the summons was heard she went abroad, & consequently it was not heard till Dec. 1882, when it was dismissed by the President:—Held: as the application to the President was out of time, & he had exercised a discretion under the special circumstances of the case, the ct. would not interfere with his decision.

Qu.: whether it is necessary to show special circumstances in order to induce the ct. to grant permanent alimony to a guilty wife against whom a decree for dissolution is made, & who has no means of support.—ROBERTSON v. ROBERTSON & FAVAGROSSA (1883), 8 P. D. 94; 48 L. T. 590; 31 W. R. 652, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Ashcroft v. Ashcroft & Roberts, [1902] P. 270; Scott v. Scott, [1921] P. 107. Mentd. Re Smith, Rigg v. Hughes (1884), 9 P. D. 68.

5371. —— —— —— ——.]—ASHCROFT v. ASHCROFT & ROBERTS, No. 5360, ante.

5372. —— Where husband guilty—Husband's income professional—Wife entitled to early reversion.]—RAWLINS v. RAWLINS, No. 5502, post.

5373. —— Effect of prior separation deed.]—The wife, under a deed of separation, agreed to accept a certain sum as a provision for her support, & covenanted not to sue her husband for any further maintenance. After their separation she discovered that her husband had been guilty of incestuous adultery, & she obtained a decree for dissolution of marriage on that ground:—Held: she was not precluded by the deed from claiming to have the usual order for permanent maintenance made in her favour.—MORRALL v. MORRALL (1881), 6 P. D. 98; 50 L. J. P. 62; 47 L. T. 50; 29 W. R. 897.

Annotations:—Consd. Gandy v. Gandy (1882), 7 P. D. 168. Refd. Bishop v. Bishop, Judkins v. Judkins, [1897] P. 138; Williams v. Williams, [1921] P. 131.

5374. —— ——.]—(1) A wife petitioned for a dissolution of her marriage. Before the case came on for hearing she withdrew her petition & compromised the suit, her husband agreeing to pay her the sum of £130 per annum during their joint lives for the maintenance of herself & the only child of the marriage. The agreement entered into between the parties contained the following passage: "This allowance to be paid in any event, whether they remain married or whether the marriage should hereafter be dissolved." Subsequently the husband was guilty of adultery & also of statutory desertion, & the marriage was dissolved on those grounds:—Held: the wife was not precluded by the existence of the above agreement from filing her petition for permanent maintenance in the usual way.

(2) The expense thrown upon the wife of educating a child is a reason for increasing her alimony beyond the sum which she has, in an agreement for separation, accepted as permanent maintenance. In deciding questions of alimony on a dissolution of marriage the attention of the ct. is not to be confined to the terms of a previous agreement for separation, where the agreement contains no covenant not to sue & the circumstances have changed, but all the facts must be considered. An agreement between parents cannot deprive the ct. of jurisdiction to give maintenance to children. A covenant not to sue for increased alimony in the event of a divorce grounded on future misconduct will not be implied in an agreement for separation.

We are not aware of any authority since the Divorce Act which shows that a covenant by a husband or wife not to sue the other for a divorce grounded on future misconduct is valid, & we doubt whether an express covenant not to sue for increased alimony in the event of such a divorce could be recognised. There is no express covenant to that effect in the present case; & a covenant of such very questionable validity cannot be implied. In other words, the wife cannot be held to have precluded herself by her agreement from invoking the aid of the ct. to obtain further maintenance in the events which have happened (LINDLEY, L.J.).—BISHOP v. BISHOP, JUDKINS v. JUDKINS, [1897] P. 138; 66 L. J. P. 69; 76 L. T. 409; 45 W. R. 567; 13 T. L. R. 366; 41 Sol. Jo. 559. C. A.

5375. —— —— In consideration of abandonment of former proceedings.]—A wife, who had obtained a decree dissolving her marriage, petitioned for permanent maintenance. By post-nuptial deeds, made apparently in consideration of the abandonment of former proceedings instituted by her, she was to receive an allowance of £100 a year in the event of the adultery or cruelty of her husband. The husband's income was £600 a year:—Held: she was entitled, notwithstanding the deed, to permanent maintenance at the rate of £200 a year.—WILKINSON v. WILKINSON (1893), 69 L. T. 459.

5376. On decree of nullity—What court will consider—Conduct of parties.]—DUNBAR (OTHERWISE WHITE) v. DUNBAR, No. 5365, ante.

5377. —— Re-marriage with brother of divorced husband.]—D'ETCHEGOYEN v. D'ETCHEGOYEN, No. 5824, post.

5378. —— For incapacity of husband—Wife living in concubinage—Delay in instituting suit.]—DUNBAR (OTHERWISE WHITE) v. DUNBAR, No. 5365, ante.

D. Amount of Order.

(a) On Dissolution of Marriage.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 190.

5379. General rule—Sufficient to maintain wife.]—In exercising the power given by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32, of ordering the husband to make provision for a wife who has obtained a decree of dissolution of marriage, the ct. will generally be guided by the principles laid down in Fisher v. Fisher, No. 5362, ante, where the husband was ordered to secure to the wife, so long as she should remain chaste & unmarried, an annuity sufficient to maintain her. There may, however, be circumstances in a case which would justify the ct. in ordering a more liberal provision for the wife. A wife having obtained a decree of dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery & desertion, the ct., taking into consideration the conduct of the parties & other circumstances, than the proceeds of the property would realise if the property were sold & the proceeds reinvested. Where there is such property the income producible from its estimated marketable value should be taken into account. —ALLARDICE v. ALLARDICE (1903), 23 N. Z. L. R. 178.—N.Z.

ordered the husband to secure to her the payment of the sum of £2,000 absolutely.—MORRIS v. MORRIS (1861), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 33.

Annotations :—Folld. Stanley v. Stanley, [1898] P. 227. Expld. Twentyman v. Twentyman, [1903] P. 82. Refd. Waterhouse v. Waterhouse, [1893] P. 284.

5380. —— Provision for wife without beggaring husband.]—(1) Consideration of the question what sum of money a husband who had been divorced by his wife should be ordered to secure to her for her life & what sum he ought to be ordered to pay to her for her maintenance & support during their joint lives.

We have to ascertain as best we can what are the joint incomes of husband & wife; next, how we should divide it . . . between providing for the woman something which the husband cannot deprive her of, &, on the other hand not unduly beggaring the husband (PHILLIMORE, L.J.).

(2) As regards income tax it seems to me that the only safe mode of dealing with the matter is to give the allowance to the wife less income tax (PHILLIMORE, L.J.).

(3) There is also a question whether certain extra allowances made to him by the military authorities for lodging moneys, for rations, & for fuel & light should be brought into consideration. There is a further allowance made to him for the keep of a servant . . . with regard to these allowances I am of opinion that they ought not to be brought into consideration (PHILLIMORE, L.J.). —NAISH v. NAISH (1916), 32 T. L. R. 487, C. A.

5381. Proportion of husband's income—Sole income from property derived from wife.]—After decree nisi had been pronounced the wife petitioned the ct. for permanent alimony. The husband's sole property consisted in his life interest in certain houses belonging to the wife. The ct. declined to pronounce an opinion as to the effect of the dissolution of marriage on the husband's life interest, & allotted the wife two-thirds of the annual income arising from the houses, directing that the wife's right to the property should be reserved in the order.—GEORGE v. GEORGE (1869), 38 L. J. P. & M. 34; 20 L. T. 232.

5382. —— Whether proportion fixed.]—In July, 1915, on the petition of Mrs. H., a decree nisi was pronounced for the dissolution of the marriage between her & E. H. She filed a petition for maintenance in which she alleged that he had a very large income derived from shares in a private newspaper co., directors' fees, freehold & leasehold property, a racing establishment & breeding stud, greyhounds, & other property. By his answer E. H. declined to give minute details, but admitted an income of approximately £29,000 per annum, of which £12,000 per annum was derived from directors' fees, £11,475 from shares in the newspaper co., & £2,400 from shares in another co. He offered to agree to an order for £1,500 a year. On an application by petitioner for an order that he should make a further & better answer the registrar held that he had sufficient material to deal with the case in accordance with the principles laid down in Sykes v. Sykes, No. 4111, ante, & Kettlewell v. Kettlewell, No. 5393, post, & refused to order a further answer :—Held : there was no hard & fast rule fixing any particular proportion of the husband's income as the correct amount to be allowed for maintenance; but the ct. had to consider (inter alia) the security to be given for the allowance, & in this case there were no materials on which this could be done; a further affidavit must therefore be filed.—HULTON v. HULTON, [1916] 1 P. 57; 85 L. J. P. 137; 114 L. T. 449; 32 T. L. R. 319, C. A.

5383. Proportion of joint income—One-third of joint incomes.]—In awarding a permanent provision under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32, to a woman whose marriage has been dissolved by reason of her husband's misconduct, the ct. will in future act upon the same principles as those upon which the ecclesiastical cts. allotted permanent alimony after a decree of divorce a mensâ et thoro, & will order him to secure to her about one-third of the joint income.

The decree of the ct. will therefore be that the decree nisi be made absolute & that resp. secure to petitioner, dum sola et casta vixerit, the annual income of £245 (per CUR.).—SIDNEY v. SIDNEY (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 178; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 122; 12 L. T. 826; 11 Jur. N. S. 815; 164 E. R. 1485; on appeal (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 78; (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 73, H. L.

Annotations :—Consd. Hulton v. Hulton (1916), 33 T. L. R. 137. Refd. Charles v. Charles (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 260; Ousey v. Ousey (1875), 1 P. D. 56; Bradley v. Bradley (1878), 3 P. D. 47; Wood v. Wood (1891), 64 L. T. 586; Scott v. Scott, [1921] P. 107; Fox v. Fox, [1925] P. 157.

5384. —— Sums covenanted to be paid under separation deed—Though exceeding one-third of joint incomes.]—It is within the discretion of the registrar to make a final order for maintenance of a wife, after she has been granted a decree absolute for the dissolution of her marriage, on the basis of the sum which the husband has covenanted to pay her under a deed of separation, notwithstanding that such order results in her income being more than one-third of the joint income of husband & wife. If such order is made, the ct. has power, pari passu, to restrain the wife from taking civil proceedings to enforce payment under the deed while the order of the Divorce Ct. is still effective, if the husband applies for variation under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5.—REID v. REID (1925), 42 T. L. R. 30.

5385. —— Bulk of unsettled property squandered by husband—Variation after husband's death.]—BASHALL v. BASHALL, No. 5724, post.

5386. —— Where husband guilty—Particular instances.]—DURANT v. DURANT, No. 5400, post.

5387. —— —— ——.]—The registrar having reported the income of the husband at £150 a year, the ct. made an order for payment to the wife, who had obtained a decree for dissolution of the marriage, of £1 per week, & further directed that out of a sum of £90 per year, placed in the hands of trustees by the husband & to be applied by them to the maintenance & education of the four children of the marriage in such manner as he should direct, one-third should be paid to the wife for the maintenance & education of the two younger children who were committed to her custody.—PRESCOTT v. PRESCOTT (1868), 18 L. T. 35.

5388. —— —— ——.]—On a wife's petition for permanent maintenance, it appeared that the husband, who had been found guilty of adultery & cruelty, was in receipt of an annual income of £337 7*s.*; of which £228 2*s.* 6*d.* was as surgeon in Her Majesty's navy, & the remainder arose from an interest in fee simple under his father's will, subject to a clause of forfeiture on alienation. The wife had no property :—Held : the ct. could not make an order for a weekly or monthly payment under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1866 (c. 32), except where the husband has no property on which the requisite amount can be secured, & the ct. was therefore bound to construe the will, the clauses of which were inconsistent & contradictory.

The ct., on an examination of the will, held that resp. took an estate in fee simple under it, & that the forfeiture clause was invalid, & accordingly, looking at the intervals when resp. would not be in receipt of his full pay, & the smallness of the property to be charged, ordered resp. to secure £84 a year for petitioner.—CORBETT v. CORBETT (1888), 13 P. D. 136; 57 L. J. P. 97; 59 L. T. 183; 37 W. R. 30; affd., 14 P. D. 7, C. A.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 2, D. (a) & (b), E. & F.]

5389. —— —— —— Both parties entitled to reversions.]—The wife obtained a decree absolute on the grounds of adultery & cruelty, & presented a petition for variation of the marriage settlements & for permanent maintainence. The present joint income of the husband & wife amounted to nearly £1,500 a year. Both were entitled to considerable property in reversion. The registrar recommended either that a present income of £700 a year should be secured to the wife for her life, or, in the alternative, that she should have secured to her an annual sum equal to one-third of the present joint income, such annual sum to be increased upon the falling in of the husband's reversionary interest. On behalf of the husband, it was stated that, if one of these two courses were to be adopted, he should, of the two, prefer the former. The ct. thereupon ordered that the husband secure to petitioner, by way of permanent maintainence, the sum of £700 a year for her life. —WARREN v. WARREN (1890), 63 L. T. 264.

5390. —— —— ——.]—WILKINSON v. WILKINSON, No. 5375, ante.

——.]—Upon an application after a decree for dissolution of marriage for an order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32, that the husband should secure to the wife an annual sum of money, it appeared that he was partner in a brewery & was entitled to receive £200 per month in respect of his share of the profits, but could not draw anything more without the consent of his partner. His share of the profits had for several years past amounted to about £3,300 a year, but he had received only the monthly allowance, amounting to £2,400 a year, the rest being carried to his credit in the partnership books. The Ct. of Appeal held that, for the purpose of determining the amount of the annual payment to be secured to the wife, the husband must be treated as having only an income of £2,400, & made an order that he should secure to her the yearly sum of £300 in addition to the yearly sum of £500 a year already secured to her by her marriage settlement. Upon appeal to the House of Lords their Lordships expressed their opinion that having regard to the circumstances an application for an order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1866 (c. 32), s. 1, was the more appropriate proceeding, & ordered that the order appealed from should be reversed, & that the husband should under sect. 1; during the joint lives of himself & his wife, pay her £600 a year in monthly instalments.—HANBURY v. HANBURY, [1895] A. C. 417; 72 L. T. 480; 11 R. 302, H. L.

5392. —— —— ——.]—RYDILL v. RYDILL (1896), 40 Sol. Jo. 753.

5393. —— —— ——.]—A wife obtained a divorce from her husband on the ground of his adultery & cruelty. The income of the husband had been £19,000 a year, & the wife, who had herself brought nothing into settlement, had £1,400 a year under her marriage settlement. The ct., on the petition of the wife for permanent maintenance, considering that £3,000 a year would have been an adequate jointure for the widow of a man in the husband's position, granted her £1,600 a year in addition to her present allowance, the additional £1,600 a year to be payable "dum sola et casta vixerit."

In deciding whether a permanent allowance as above should be limited dum sola et casta vixerit or not, the ct. should consider—first, the conduct of the parties; secondly, their position in life, ages, & respective means; thirdly, the amount of provision actually made; fourthly, the existence or non-existence of children, & who has the custody of them; & fifthly, any other circumstances which may be important in the particular case.—KETTLEWELL v. KETTLEWELL, [1898] P. 138; 67 L. J. P. 16; 77 L. T. 631; 14 T. L. R. 96.

Annotations:—Refd. Smith v. Smith (1897), 78 L. T. 28; Dean v. Dean, [1923] P. 172.

5394. —— Where wife guilty.]—(1) On a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage on the ground of the adultery of a wife who on her marriage had a fortune of £1,678 which was not settled, but was received by the husband, the ct. ordered that the husband should settle £1,000 upon trust that the interest be applied for the benefit of the wife so long as she conducted herself properly & remained unmarried, & that upon her interest ceasing the fund should be held in trust for the children of the marriage in equal shares, & that the £1,000 damages awarded against co-resp., should be paid to the husband in lieu of the sum he would have to settle, & that the decree should be suspended until the settlement should be made.

(2) When a marriage is dissolved on the ground of the wife's adultery, the ct. will not order that she have the custody of or access to the children of the marriage.—BENT v. BENT & FOOTMAN (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 392; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 175; 5 L. T. 139; 164 E. R. 1047.

Annotations:—As to (2) Refd. Handley v. Handley & Wroughton (1890), 39 W. R. 97; Blandford v. Blandford (1892), 8 T. L. R. 381; B. v. B., [1924] P. 176.

5395. —— ——.]—WILTON v. WILTON & GAMBIER (1881), 71 L. J. P. 126, n.

5396. —— ——.]—Upon an application for variation of marriage settlement by a husband who had obtained a decree for dissolution of his marriage, it appeared that petitioner & resp. were married in 1902. The latter had no means, but the husband by an ante-nuptial settlement assigned to trustees certain furniture & a moiety of the residuary estate under his mother's will upon trusts under which resp. took the first life interest. The decree was made absolute in Nov. 1913, & the husband then presented his petition for variation of the settlement by extinguishing all the rights of resp. thereunder. It appeared that the income of the settled property amounted to £137 a year, & petitioner refused to make any allowance. The judge made an order that the wife's interest in the settlement should be extinguished, except that the trustees thereof should pay to her 30*s.* a week for life, & refused to insert a dum casta clause. Petitioner appealed & contended that the weekly allowance was excessive, & that the clause ought to be inserted:—Held: the allowance must be reduced to £1 a week, & a dum casta clause must be inserted.

The true principle that ought to guide the ct. in dealing with cases where the insertion of the dum sola et casta vixerit clause is in question was enunciated in Squire v. Squire & O'Callaghan, No. 3582, ante, which was in accordance with the principle that was established in Wigney v. Wigney, No. 5664, post, & other authorities; & regard must be had to the wife's past life in determining whether it is right & proper that that clause should be inserted.—OLLIER v. OLLIER, [1914] P. 240; 84 L. J. P. 23; 111 L. T. 697; 58 Sol. Jo. 754, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Woodcock v. Woodcock & Codesido (1914), 111 L. T. 924.

(b) On Decree of Nullity of Marriage.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 190.

5397. For incapacity of husband.]—SHARPE (OTHERWISE MORGAN) v. SHARPE, No. 5710, post.

5398. Whether scale applicable on dissolution applies.]—GULLAN v. GULLAN (OTHERWISE GOODWIN), No. 5469, post.

5399. In discretion of court—No fixed principles.]—On an application by a wife petitioner for permanent maintenance after a decree of nullity of marriage the amount that ought to be awarded depends on the particular facts of the case, & is to be decided on the sense of propriety & moral justice of the ct. & not on any set of fixed principles.—GARDINER (OTHERWISE PHILLIPS) v. GARDINER (1920), 36 T. L. R. 294.

E. Duration.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 190.

5400. Commencement—Date of decree—Three years before—Delay pending appeal.]—In a suit for divorce brought by the wife, repeated & profligate adultery being proved on the part of the husband, who, however, had to maintain & educate twelve children, permanent alimony at the rate of £600 per annum, in addition to £120 per annum separate property, out of a net income of £4,000 allotted from the date of the sentence, three years before; the cause having in the interval been carried by appeal to the Delegates, but remitted, no steps being there taken by applt. & the remaining delay being occasioned by his absence from the kingdom.—DURANT v. DURANT (1828), 1 Hag. Ecc. 528; 162 E. R. 667.
Annotation :—Refd. Chetwynd v. Chetwynd (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 39.

5401. —— Decree absolute—Order made before decree nunc pro tunc.]—CAVENDISH v. CAVENDISH, No. 5505, post.

5402. Termination—Whether on wife's unchastity—No dum casta clause in deed.]—After a decree for a dissolution of marriage, on the ground of the husband's adultery & cruelty, resp. was ordered to secure to petitioner an annuity of £100 per annum, & it was referred to one of the conveyancing counsel of the Ch. Div. to prepare the necessary deed. After the deed had been prepared resp. applied to the ct. to insert a dum casta clause in the deed, but the ct. refused the application, & resp. executed the deed. Resp. afterwards moved for an order directing the deed to be delivered up to be cancelled & resp. to be released from his covenant, alleging that petitioner had, since the execution of the deed, been living an unchaste life :—Held : the ct. had not jurisdiction to order the deed to be cancelled.

Semble : the application to cancel the deed could only be entertained by the Ch. Div.—BRADLEY v. BRADLEY (1882), 7 P. D. 237; 51 L. J. P. 87; 47 L. T. 355; 31 W. R. 200.

Dum sola et casta clauses, see, generally, Sub-sect. 2, G., post.

5403. —— On wife's death—Jurisdiction of court to extend.]—The ct. has no power either to order a lump sum to be paid over to a wife absolutely for her permanent maintenance, or to order such lump sum to be secured to her or to the issue of the marriage by settlement for a longer period than her own life.—TWENTYMAN v. TWENTYMAN, [1903] P. 82; 72 L. J. P. 36; 88 L. T. 571; 51 W. R. 575; 47 Sol. Jo. 354.
Annotation :—Consd. Jagger v. Jagger (1926), 42 T. L. R. 315.

F. Variation of Order.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 190; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 63, 70.

5404. Jurisdiction of court.]—JARDINE v. JARDINE, No. 5456, post.

5405. ——.]—SHORTHOUSE v. SHORTHOUSE, No. 5471, post.

5406. —— No provision for variation in original order.]—A wife obtained a dissolution of marriage & filed a petition for maintenance. A large portion of resp.'s income was derived from a mtge. producing 5 per cent. The registrar made his report & the ct. confirmed it on the basis of resp.'s income during the subsistence of this mtge. Notice that the mtge. was to be paid off had now been given. Application was now made to vary the order on the ground that after payment of the mtge. interest at the rate of 5 per cent. could not be obtained, & that in the circumstances resp. would be deprived of an undue amount of income :—Held : the point not having been taken or reserved at the hearing of the motion to confirm the registrar's report, the ct. had now no power to vary the order, &, except by consent, no variation thereof could be obtained except by appeal.—SMITH v. SMITH (1898), 79 L. T. 124.

5407. —— After decree of nullity—Remarriage of wife.]—The ct. has power in nullity suits to fix permanent maintenance dum sola, & to reduce amount on remarriage.—MARIGOLD (OTHERWISE EVANS) v. MARIGOLD (1911), 55 Sol. Jo. 387.

5408. —— —— Original order for joint lives of husband & wife.]—In 1908 a wife obtained a decree for divorce, & filed a petition for permanent maintenance. The registrar reported that the amount to be paid was agreed by both parties at £90 a year for the wife & £30 a year for the only issue of the marriage, a daughter, until twenty-one; he submitted that the husband should be ordered to pay the agreed amount of £90 a year to the wife for her life & £30 a year to the daughter till she was twenty-one. In June, 1908, an order was made confirming the report & ordering the payment in the terms of the registrar's submission. In 1913, the wife petitioned for an increase of maintenance, & the husband cross-petitioned for a decrease. At the hearing before the registrar the wife's petition was withdrawn on the ground that as the order of June, 1908, was a consent order the ct. had no power to vary it. The registrar dismissed the cross-petition, & the President affirmed his order. The husband appealed :—Held : dismissing the appeal, if there had been an order by consent for the payment of maintenance to the wife during the joint lives of the husband & wife, the mere fact that the parties had agreed to amount to be paid would not have prevented an application under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1907 (c. 12), s. 1 (2) (a), for an increase or decrease of the sum if the circumstances of the parties afterwards changed, but that as the consent order was for the payment to the wife "for her life" there was no jurisdiction, & the presentation & withdrawal of the wife's petition for increase of maintenance did not affect her position, there having been no fresh agreement.—MAIDLOW v. MAIDLOW, [1914] P. 245; 84 L. J. P. 20; 112 L. T. 804, C. A.

5409. —— Consent order—Original order for life of wife.]—MAIDLOW v. MAIDLOW, No. 5408, ante.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 2, F., G. & H. (a).]

5410. —— —— Provision for variation in original order.]—A wife upon whose petition for divorce a decree absolute had been made obtained an order for permanent maintenance against the husband, a retired Army Officer, at the rate of £120 per annum. The order was expressed to be made by consent, the maintenance to be paid "out of his present income & until further order." At the date of the order his only income was derived from his pension of £420 per annum. He was afterwards obliged to commute a portion of his pension in order to pay the costs of the petition & to meet the expenses of illness from which he suffered. His income was thus reduced to £320 per annum. The wife had since the order carried on a business which yielded her an income. Upon a petition by the husband for reduction of the maintenance:—Held: notwithstanding the order was by consent & the husband's reduction of income was brought about by his own act the ct. had power under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1907 (c. 12), s. 1 (2) (a) to modify the order, & in so doing ought to have regard to all the circumstances of the case, including both the reduction in the husband's income & the increase in that of the wife.—HALL v. HALL, [1915] P. 105; 84 L. J. P. 93; 113 L. T. 58; 59 Sol. Jo. 381, C. A.

5411. Grounds for granting—Changed fortunes of husband.]—RAWLINS v. RAWLINS, No. 5502, post.

5412. —— —— Income not before registrar.]—SMITH v. SMITH, No. 5406, ante.

5413. —— —— Reduction of husband's income through own act—Provision for variation in original order.]—HALL v. HALL, No. 5410, ante.

5414. —— —— Decrease in income caused by own acts.]—HALL v. HALL, No. 5410, ante.

5415. —— Increase in wife's means—Nullity suit.]—SHARPE (OTHERWISE MORGAN) v. SHARPE, No. 5710, post.

5416. —— —— Dissolution suit.]—HALL v. HALL, No. 5410, ante.

5417. —— Subsequent unchastity of wife—No dum casta clause.]—Where upon a decree absolute being obtained by a wife on a petition for divorce against her husband an order is made for the payment of a fixed sum for her maintenance by the divorced husband, & in such order there is no dum sola et casta clause inserted, the ct. cannot vary the order as made where the divorced husband alleges that his wife has been guilty of adultery. The grounds for variation or modification are set out in Matrimonial Causes Act, 1907 (c. 12), s. 1, & there is no power given to vary an order made upon such grounds as the alleged adultery on the part of the wife. The dum sola et casta clause must be inserted in the order; it will never be inferred.—COLLINS v. COLLINS (1910), 103 L. T. 80; 26 T. L. R. 600; 54 Sol. Jo. 682.

5418. Grounds for refusing—Insufficient evidence.]—WITT v. WITT, No. 5783, post.

G. Dum sola et casta Clauses.

5419. Dum sola et casta clause—Jurisdiction of court to order—Effect of prior agreement between parties.]—WOODCOCK v. WOODCOCK & CODESIDO, No. 5711, post.

5420. —— Whether included in order.]—FISHER v. FISHER, No. 5362, ante.

5421. —— ——.]—SIDNEY v. SIDNEY, No. 5383, ante.

5422. —— ——.]—The ct. will, under special circumstances, review its orders for variation of marriage settlements made under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5. It will not do so by reason of circumstances which have occurred since the making of the order.

The marriage having been dissolved on the petition of the wife, the ct. varied the settlements by extinguishing the husband's interest in the wife's fortune, & declined to make the wife's enjoyment of the income of the settled property dependent on her living chaste & unmarried.—GLADSTONE v. GLADSTONE (1876), 1 P. D. 442; 45 L. J. P. 82; 35 L. T. 380; 24 W. R. 739.

Annotations:—Consd. Benyon v. Benyon (1890), 15 P. D. 54; Arkwright v. Arkwright (1895), 73 L. T. 287. Reld. Marsh v. Marsh (1878), 47 L. J. P. 78; Harrison v. Harrison (1887), 12 P. D. 130; Wood v. Wood (1891), 64 L. T. 586; Kettlewell v. Kettlewell, [1898] P. 138. Mentd. Wigney v. Wigney (1882), 7 P. D. 177.

5423. —— ——.]—HARRISON v. HARRISON, No. 5491, post.

5424. —— ——.]—There is no rule that in an order granting permanent maintenance to a divorced wife the dum sola et casta clause ought to be inserted unless there is some reason to the contrary, nor that it ought to be omitted unless there is some reason for inserting it. The ct. must in each case determine what is reasonable, having regard to the conduct of the parties; their position in life & their ages & their respective means; the amount of the provision made; the existence or non-existence of children, & who is to have the custody of them; & any other circumstances which may be important in any particular case.

The wife of an officer in the army obtained a decree for dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery & cruelty. There was no child, & neither party had any property, the husband having only his pay. An order was made for permanent maintenance at the rate of £60 a year, & the judge directed the insertion of the dum sola et casta clause, considering that there was a general rule for inserting it unless there was some reason for omitting it:—Held: there was no such general rule, & in the present case, having regard to the innocence of the wife, the misconduct of the husband, the fact that the wife had no property, & the smallness of the allowance, the clause ought not to be inserted.—WOOD v. WOOD, [1891] P. 272; 60 L. J. P. 66; 64 L. T. 586; 7 T. L. R. 463, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Saunders v. Saunders & Beck (1893), 69 L. T. 498; Kettlewell v. Kettlewell, [1898] P. 138; Hall v. Hall (1914), 111 L. T. 403. Expld. Dean v. Dean, [1923] P. 172.

5425. —— —— Guilty wife.]—WELLER v. WELLER, FUNNELL & CASS, No. 6061, post.

5426. —— —— —— Husband guilty of cruelty.]—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS & FRANCIS, No. 3412, ante.

5427. —— —— ——.]—Where the parties had

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 2.—F.

5411 i. Grounds for granting—Changed fortunes of husband.]—Allowance increased from £25 to £200 per annum, it being shown that the husband's income had so increased as to justify the addition.—SEVERN v. SEVERN (1859), 7 Gr. 109.—CAN.

t. Grounds for refusing.]—In a decree absolute was embodied an order against resp. for payment of maintenance. The decree absolute was served on resp. & he paid maintenance for a year & a half. On application to vary or vacate the order for maintenance:—Held: while resp., if his application for relief had been made within a reasonable time after service of the decree absolute, might have been entitled ex debito justitiæ to an order striking out the clause objected to, he was now barred by his acquiescence & delay.—K. v. K., [1922] 3 W. W. R. 337; 70 D. L. R. 536.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 2.—G.

a. Dum sola clause—Discretion of court.]—On the petition of a wife a decree had been made for the dissolution of her marriage with resp. on the ground lived apart for many years, & the husband ultimately obtained a decree nisi for a dissolution of his marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery, —The President refused to make the decree absolute until the husband had made provision for his wife's maintenance, & refused to order the insertion of a "dum sola et casta" clause into the order for such maintenance.—LANDER v. LANDER, [1891] P. 161 ; 60 L. J. P. 65 ; 64 L. T. 120 ; 55 J. P. 152 ; 39 W. R. 416.

Annotations :—Consd. Wood v. Wood (1891), 64 L. T. 586 ; Squire v. Squire, [1905] P. 4 ; Ollier v. Ollier, [1914] P. 240. Refd. Kettlewell v. Kettlewell, [1898] P. 138 ; Woodcock v. Woodcock & Codesido (1914), 111 L. T. 924.

5428. —— —— Or deed of security.]—MEDLEY v. MEDLEY, No. 5468, post.

See, also, Nos. 5494, 6061, post.

5429. —— What court will consider—Conduct of parties.]—WOOD v. WOOD, No. 5424, ante.

5430. —— —— ——.] — KETTLEWELL v. KETTLEWELL, No. 5393, ante.

5431. —— —— —— Past life of wife.]—MEDLEY v. MEDLEY, No. 5468, post.

5432. —— —— —— ——.] — SQUIRE v. SQUIRE & O'CALLAGHAN, No. 3582, ante.

5433. —— —— —— ——.] — OLLIER v. OLLIER, No. 5396, ante.

5434. —— —— Position in life of parties.]—WOOD v. WOOD, No. 5424, ante.

5435. —— —— Ages of parties.]—MEDLEY v. MEDLEY, No. 5468, post.

5436. —— —— -.]—WOOD v. WOOD, No. 5424, ante.

5437. —— —— Means of parties.]—WOOD v. WOOD, No. 5424, ante.

5438. —— —— Amount of provision.]—WOOD v. WOOD, No. 5424, ante.

5439. —— —— Existence of children.]—WOOD v. WOOD, No. 5424, ante.

5440. Dum sola clause—Whether included in order—Discretion of court absolute.]—The ct. in making an order, upon a decree for dissolution of marriage, that the husband shall pay to his wife an annual sum of money for her permanent maintenance, has, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32, an absolute discretion, according to the circumstances of each case, either to order the payment during the whole of her life or so long as she remains unmarried.—LISTER v. LISTER (1889), 15 P. D. 4 ; 62 L. T. 90 ; 38 W. R. 81 ; 6 T. L. R. 51, C. A.

Annotation :—Consd. Wood v. Wood (1891), 64 L. T. 586.

5441. —— —— —— Guilty wife.]—SQUIRE v. SQUIRE & O'CALLAGHAN, No. 3582, ante.

5442. Decree of nullity—Obtained by wife.]—SHARPE (OTHERWISE MORGAN) v. SHARPE, No. 5710, post.

5443. —— —— ——.] — MARIGOLD (OTHERWISE EVANS) v. MARIGOLD, No. 5407, ante.

5444. —— Whether inserted alone.]—An order for permanent maintenance may be made containing a clause "dum sola vixerit" without the addition of "et casta."—SMITH v. SMITH, [1898] P. 29 ; 67 L. J. P. 54 ; 78 L. T. 28 ; subsequent proceedings, 79 L. T. 124.

H. Payment.

(a) In General.

5445. Payment of arrears—Whether wife entitled to interest.]—Interest not given upon arrears of maintenance any more than upon arrears of a jointure.—MELLISH v. MELLISH (1808), 14 Ves. 516 ; 33 E. R. 619.

5446. Enforcing payment—Whether husband restrained from dealing with property.]—Where the Divorce Ct. has made an absolute order for dissolution of marriage, & an order for permanent alimony, & the late husband is dissipating his property, or putting it out of his power, the ct. will grant an injunction & receiver to protect it for the benefit of the former wife.—SIDNEY v. SIDNEY (1867), 17 L. T. 9 ; previous proceedings (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 178 ; (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 78 ; (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 73, H. L.

Annotations :—Consd. Burmester v. Burmester, [1913] P. 76 ; Jagger v. Jagger (1926), 42 T. L. R. 315. Refd. Carter v. Carter (1895), 12 T. L. R. 37 ; Bullus v. Bullus (1910), 102 L. T. 399. Distd. Newton v. Newton (1885), 11 P. D. 11. Apld. Newton v. Newton, [1896] P. 36.

5447. —— ——.]—The effect of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32, & the Rules & Regulations made under the provisions of the Divorce Acts, is to enable the ct., before a decree nisi for divorce has been made absolute, to confirm the report of the registrar approving of maintenance for the wife, to order the husband to secure the maintenance to the wife upon the decree becoming absolute, & in the meantime to restrain him from dealing with his property so as not to leave sufficient security.—WATERHOUSE v. WATERHOUSE, [1893] P. 284 ; 62 L. J. P. 115 ; 69 L. T. 618 ; 37 Sol. Jo. 617 ; 6 R. 630, C. A.

Annotation :—Consd. Fox v. Fox, [1925] P. 157.

5448. —— ——.]—Where, a wife having obtained a decree nisi for the dissolution of her marriage, an order had been made pursuant to s. 32 of the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 35), that the husband should secure a sum for her maintenance, & that, for that purpose, it should be referred to one of the conveyancing counsel of the Ch. Div. to draw a deed, the ct. granted an injunction restraining the husband, his servants & agents, from dealing with certain of his property until the execution of the deed.—NEWTON v. NEWTON, [1896] P. 36 ; 65 L. J. P. 15 ; 12 T. L. R. 65.

Annotations :—Expld. Jagger v. Jagger (1926), 42 T. L. R. 315. Refd. Burmester v. Burmester, [1913] P. 76.

5449. —— —— Before specific sum made payable.]—The ct., upon a petition for permanent maintenance, & before any specific sum has been made payable by a subsisting order, has no power to grant an injunction, at the instance of a wife, restraining her husband from dealing with his property which may ultimately be affected under a petition for permanent maintenance ; & the same principle applies to an application for permanent alimony.—BURMESTER v. BURMESTER, [1913] P. 76 ; 82 L. J. P. 54 ; 108 L. T. 272 ; 29 T. L. R. 323 ; 57 Sol. Jo. 392.

Annotation :—Expld. Jagger v. Jagger (1926), 42 T. L. R. 315.

5450. —— Jurisdiction to set aside settlement—Executed in consideration of second marriage.]—Petitioner, having obtained a decree absolute for divorce from her husband, presented a petition for permanent maintenance, &, before this petition was heard, resp. assigned the bulk of his property to trustees in consideration of a second marriage which he was about to enter into, & which was in fact celebrated. The result of the assignment was that resp. had no property whereby he could comply with an order requiring him to give security for the maintenance of petitioner :—

of his adultery. Her age was 27 & there were no children of the marriage. Neither the estate nor the income of the resp. was large, & he was carrying on his business by overdraft. On the application of petitioner for permanent maintenance :—Held : as petitioner was young, & there were no children, the maintenance should cease in the event of her marrying again.—ROBERTSON v. ROBERTSON, [1916] N. Z. L. R. 700.—N.Z.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 2, H. (a), (b),

Held: as the assignment was for good consideration & was not a sham the ct. had no power to set it aside, & no order for security ought to be included in the order for permanent maintenance. —JAGGER v. JAGGER (1926), 42 T. L. R. 315.

——.]—See, generally, Sect. 23, post.

(b) Payment of Lump Sum.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 190.

5451. Jurisdiction of court to order.]—The ct. may under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32, order payment over of a sum absolutely to a wife who has obtained a decree dissolving her marriage with resp.

Where, on a petition for permanent maintenance by a wife, who had obtained a divorce from her husband on the ground of adultery & desertion, it appeared that the husband had not been heard of for several years, & that there was a sum of £320 standing to his credit in an action in the Ch. Div., the ct. ordered the wife's costs to be paid out of the fund & the balance to be paid to her for her & her children's maintenance.—STANLEY v. STANLEY, [1898] P. 227; 68 L. J. P. 7; 79 L. T. 104; 47 W. R. 272.

Annotation:—Consd. Twentyman v. Twentyman, [1903] P. 82.

5452. ——.]—TWENTYMAN v. TWENTYMAN, No. 5403, ante.

5453. Whether ordered.]—MORRIS v. MORRIS, No. 5379, ante.

5454. —— Fund in court to husband's credit—Husband not heard of for many years.]—STANLEY v. STANLEY, No. 5451, ante.

5455. —— No issue of marriage—Consent of husband.]—Where, on a petition for permanent maintenance, the registrar recommended that resp. should secure to petitioner the sum of £721 a year during their joint lives, or a gross sum of money of £6,000, the ct., on the application of petitioner, there being no issue of the marriage, & resp. not opposing, ordered that resp. should pay the sum of £6,000 direct to petitioner.—KIRK v. KIRK, [1902] P. 145; 71 L. J. P. 78; 87 L. T. 148.

Annotation:—Consd. Twentyman v. Twentyman, [1903] P. 82.

(c) Weekly and Monthly Payments.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 190 (2).

5456. Jurisdiction to order—Whether restricted to cases where husband poor.]—The provisions of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1866 (c. 32), do not apply exclusively to the case of a poor man, & the ct. may order sums of considerable amount to be paid weekly or monthly as permanent maintenance, & may from time to time modify the order.—JARDINE v. JARDINE (1881), 6 P. D. 213; 51 L. J. P. 4; 30 W. R. 91.

Annotations:—Consd. Hanbury v. Hanbury, [1894] P. 102. Refd. Watkins v. Watkins, [1896] P. 222.

5457. ——.]—CORBETT v. CORBETT, No. 5388, ante.

5458. —— Husband's property abroad—Sufficient & available for security.]—MEDLEY v. MEDLEY, No. 5468, post.

5459. —— As alternative to gross payment.]—MEDLEY v. MEDLEY, No. 5468, post.

5460. When order may be made—At any time from decree nisi to decree absolute.]—An application on behalf of resp. for an allowance to be made by petitioner is not confined or limited to the time when the decree nisi is pronounced, but may be made then or at any time up to & including the date when the decree is made absolute; & such allowance, if ordered for a monthly or weekly sum, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1907 (c. 12), s. 1 (2), may not only be discharged, modified, suspended, or revived under (a) of that sub-sect., but is also liable to be increased under (b) of the same sub-sect. It is open to the ct., by consent, to make an order at the time of the decree nisi, & to embody it therein, dealing with the whole question of settlement & allowance.—K. v. K. (OTHERWISE R.), [1910] P. 140; 79 L. J. P. 33.

5461. —— ——.]—CAVENDISH v. CAVENDISH, No. 5505, post.

5462. Variation of payments—Power of court to order.]—JARDINE v. JARDINE, No. 5456, ante.

5463. —— ——.]—K. v. K. (OTHERWISE R.) (1910), No. 5460, ante.

5464. Discharge of payments—Power of court to order.]—K. v. K. (OTHERWISE R.) (1910), No. 5460, ante.

5465. Suspension of payments—Power of court to order.]—K. v. K. (OTHERWISE R.) (1910), No. 5460, ante.

5466. Revival of payments—Power of court to order.]—K. v. K. (OTHERWISE R.) (1910), No. 5460, ante.

(d) Deduction of Income Tax on Allowance.

See INCOME TAX.

I. Security for Maintenance.

5467. Jurisdiction of court to order—Husband out of jurisdiction.]—Where the husband is out of its jurisdiction, the only power which the ct. has, in case of dissolution of marriage, to make provision for the wife, is to make an order on the husband to secure a sum of money to her.

Qu.: whether under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 35, as regards custody of children, the ct. should act on the rules hitherto acted upon in the Ct. of Ch., or use a wider discretion.

In a suit for dissolution of marriage, on the ground of the husband's bigamy & adultery, the ct. was asked, on decreeing dissolution, to order, under sect. 32 of above Act, that a sum of money standing in the names of the husband & wife in a savings bank should be paid to the wife; & that the custody of the children should remain with the wife. The ct. made an order that the husband should secure to the wife the sum of money in the bank, that being all they had power, by sect. 32, to do; but declined to make any order as to the custody of the children, on the grounds that there was no present necessity for it, the husband being in America & not likely to interfere with the custody of the children; that no ct. would aid him to wrest them from the wife; & that the order could not afterwards be modified, though circumstances might arise which would render such a modification desirable.—ROBOTHAM v. ROBOTHAM (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 190; 27 L. J. P. & M. 61; 31 L. T. O. S. 238; 6 W. R. 735; 164 E. R. 687.

5468. —— Gross or annual sum.]—(1) The provisions of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32, respecting permanent maintenance empowered PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 2.—H. (b).

5451 i. Jurisdiction of court to order.]—In a suit for divorce brought by the wife, the ct. has power to make the order for payment of a lump sum for the permanent maintenance of the wife.—TAYLOR v. BLEACH (1914), I. L. R. 39 Bom. 182.—IND.

b. Agreement for—Validity of.]—HYNES v. HYNES, [1923] N. Z. L. R. 928.—N.Z.

the ct. to order a gross or annual sum to be secured for the benefit of the wife, but not to make a direct order on the husband to pay a gross or annual or other periodical sum to the wife. (2) The qualification that the maintenance is to be for the wife "dum sola et casta vixerit" is not usually inserted in the order but in the deed of security. (3) The provisions of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1866 (c. 32), respecting the payment of monthly or weekly sums to the wife, do not apply to the case of a husband who has property abroad sufficient & available for a security. (4) An order for maintenance cannot be made in the alternative for securing a gross or annual sum of money, or else for the payment of monthly or weekly sums by the husband.

(5) Semble: if a woman is aged, the dum casta clause ought not to be inserted; but if she is young, & was a person of doubtful character before her marriage, the clause is properly inserted. —MEDLEY v. MEDLEY (1882), 7 P. D. 122; 51 L. J. P. 74; 47 L. T. 556; 30 W. R. 937, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (2) Refd. Harrison v. Harrison (1887), 12 P. D. 130; Wood v. Wood (1891), 64 L. T. 586. As to (3) Refd. Hanbury v. Hanbury (1894), 70 L. T. 569. As to (4) Refd. Corbett v. Corbett (1888), 13 P. D. 136.

5469. —— On decree of nullity.]—(1) Matrimonial Causes Act, 1907 (c. 12), gives the ct. power, in the exercise of its discretion in each particular case, to order the de facto husband to make an allowance to the de facto wife, after a decree of nullity of marriage [on the ground of impotence], &, where security can be given, to order the whole or any part of such allowance to be secured. (2) Semble: the amount of allowance [on nullity finding against both parties] is in the discretion of the ct. on the facts of each case, but will not be regulated by the scale obtaining in cases of dissolution.—GULLAN v. GULLAN (OTHERWISE GOODWIN), [1913] P. 160; 82 L. J. P. 118; 109 L. T. 411.

5470. Property under control of court—Property of wife formerly assigned to husband.]—CHALMERS v. CHALMERS, No. 5622, post.

5471. How calculated—Whether on capital or income.]—On an application for permanent maintenance by a wife who had obtained a decree nisi on the ground of her husband's cruelty & adultery, the registrar, treating the husband's property as producing 4 per cent. per annum, recommended that an annual sum should be secured to the wife on the husband's property, such sum amounting to one-third of the income thereof at 4 per cent. The ct. varied the report by ordering that this sum should be secured on a third only of the husband's property, & that, as to the difference between this sum & the sum produced by such third invested in trust securities, the wife must be content with the husband's personal covenant:—Held: this order was right, & the appeal must therefore be dismissed.—SHORTHOUSE v. SHORTHOUSE (1898), 79 L. T. 366, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Smith v. Smith (1898), 79 L. T. 124.

5472. Reference to registrar to settle deed—Jurisdiction of registrar.]—In a suit by the wife for dissolution of marriage the parties at the hearing agreed on certain terms of separation which were made an order of ct., & it was referred to the registrar to draft a deed of separation embodying these terms with the usual clause & with full power to determine all questions as to the form of the deed & all questions arising out of the terms of the settlement. The agreement, in addition to the usual conditions as to molestation, custody of, & access to children, stipulated that the husband should receive £250 a year out of the annual income secured to the wife by the marriage contract, & that the husband should give up to the wife all articles of plate, jewellery, etc., belonging to her. The parties being English subjects had been married in Paris, & the marriage contract declared that they adopted the French law as ruling the civil conditions of their marriage. The contract stipulated that the parents of petitioner as her dowry should pay over to the husband & wife a sum of 200,000 francs, & that they should further pay an annuity of 30,000 francs for the benefit of the wife & her children, the same to lapse if the donors died before the recipient & the children of the marriage, & in the case of the death of the wife, without children before her parents, they contracted to pay the husband an annuity of 12,500 francs. The contract also contained various conditions as to the investment & devolution of property acquired by the wife at & after her marriage, the power of disposing of property movable & immovable by the husband & wife mutually in each other's favour, the mutual liability for debts contracted by either, etc.

The deed of separation prepared by the registrar proposed that the income of 30,000 francs secured by the marriage contract should hereafter be deemed to be the sole property of the wife, & that all real & personal property, movable or immovable, now belonging or hereafter accruing to the wife, should be her separate property, independent of the control of her husband, & that all such property not disposed of by her will or gift should go to such persons as would have been entitled to it if the husband had died in her lifetime. It also required resp. to relinquish all rights conferred on him by the marriage contract as to the investment of property acquired by the wife after marriage, & as to the rights of inheritance of the survivor to the property of the party who died first, &, finally, it stipulated that either of the parties should be at liberty to apply to the proper French tribunal for the ratification of the deed or of any of its provisions. Resp. refused to execute the deed on the ground that it was ultra vires as varying the conditions of the marriage contract, & on a motion under Supreme Court of Judicature Act, 1884 (c. 61), s. 14, to nominate some person to sign the deed:—Held: (1) under the terms of the agreement, the registrar had power to determine the questions arising under the French law as to whether a separation of bodies effected a separation of goods, or whether a separation of goods was brought about by the agreement, even though a contrary effect might be inferred from its terms, & also, whether an intention that separation of goods should not take place could be gathered from the agreement; (2) the parties on signing the agreement, could only be taken to have intended that the deed should embody & carry out the modifications of the marriage contract relating to the respective proportions of the income to be paid to the husband & wife & to the giving up by the husband of all articles belonging to the wife, & the registrar had exceeded his powers in dealing with the pecuniary relations of the parties under the other terms of the marriage contract. The deed must be referred back to the registrar to be reformed.—DE RICCI v. DE RICCI, [1891] P. 378; 61 L. J. P. 17.

5473. —— By consent—Whether appeal lies.]—A husband, having obtained a decree for divorce, agreed, by his counsel, to make an unconditional allowance of £100 a year to his wife, the registrar to settle the deed in the event of the parties being unable to agree upon the terms. The parties not agreeing, the registrar settled the deed, inserting dum sola et casta clause :- : as the parties had agreed to refer the settlement of the deed to the registrar, no appeal lay.—E. v. E., P. & N. (1908), 24 T. L. R. 858 ; 52 Sol. Jo. 699.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 2, I., J. & K. (a), (b), (c), (d) & (e).]

5474. Reference to conveyancing counsel to settle deed.]—Where a decree nisi has been made absolute & resp. husband has been ordered to secure permanent maintenance for the petitioning wife & the settlement of the deed has been referred to one of the conveyancing counsel of the ct., but the husband fails to comply with a direction by him to lodge with him certain necessary documents, the ct. has power to make an order on the husband to lodge the documents in question.—BARTLETT v. BARTLETT (1918), 34 T. L. R. 518.

5475. Cancellation of security—Jurisdiction of court—On subsequent unchastity of wife—Deed without dum casta clause.]—BRADLEY v. BRADLEY, No. 5402, ante.

J. Alienation or Release.

5476. Whether subject to solicitor's charging order.]—HARRISON v. HARRISON, No. 5971, post.

See, generally, SOLICITORS.

5477. Power of wife to alienate.]—Sums of money ordered under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1866 (c. 32), s. 1, to be paid by a husband for the maintenance of his divorced wife, are a purely personal allowance, & so long as the order subsists can neither be alienated nor released.—WATKINS v. WATKINS, [1896] P. 222 ; 65 L. J. P. 75 ; 74 L. T. 636 ; 44 W. R. 677 ; 12 T. L. R. 456, C. A.

Annotations :—Consd. Maclurcan v. Maclurcan (1897), 77 L. T. 474. Apld. Paquine v. Snary, [1909] 1 K. B. 688. Consd. Smith v. Smith, [1923] P. 191. Refd. Kerr v. Kerr, [1897] 2 Q. B. 439 ; Victor v. Victor, [1912] 1 K. B. 247 ; Campbell v. Campbell, [1922] P. 187. Mentd. Bishop v. Bishop (1897), 66 L. J. P. 69.

5478. ——.]—Where a decree for dissolution of marriage has been made & the husband has been ordered, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32, to secure an annual sum to the wife, she can release or alienate it. A decree for dissolution of marriage having been made on a wife's petition an order was made directing her husband to secure to her on certain property the sum of £90 per annum, payable monthly, as permanent maintenance, & directing him to execute an assignment of the property to secure that sum. By agreement between the parties the deed was not executed & after several payments had been made under the order the wife by deed released her husband from further payments in consideration of a gross sum then paid to her :—Held : (1) although monthly payments were directed, the order was made under the above sect., & the wife had power to release the husband ; (2) although the deed of assignment had not been executed as directed, the ct. had no jurisdiction to direct the order to be perfected now by the execution of the deed.—MACLURCAN v. MACLURCAN (1897), 77 L. T. 474 ; 42 Sol. Jo. 32, C. A.

5479. Power of wife to release.]—WATKINS v. WATKINS, No. 5477, ante.

5480. ——.]—MACLURCAN v. MACLURCAN, No. 5478, ante.

Compare Sect. 9, sub-sect. 1, H. ; Sect. 22, sub-sect. 1, H., ante.

K. Procedure.

(a) The Application.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 65.

5481. How made—On decree of nullity—Whether by petition for variation of settlement—Or petition for maintenance.]—SHARPE (OTHERWISE MORGAN) v. SHARPE, No. 5710, post.

5482. Time for presenting petition—At any time after decree nisi.]—BRADLEY v. BRADLEY, No. 5509, post.

5483. —— At any time before decree absolute.]—K. v. K. (OTHERWISE R.) (1910), No. 5460, ante.

5484. —— After decree.]—ROBERTSON v. ROBERTSON & FAVAGROSSA, No. 5370, ante.

5485. —— —— By leave.]—When leave has once been given under Divorce Court Rules, r. 95, to file a petition for permanent maintenance, or semble for variation of a settlement, after one month has expired from the date of the decree absolute, petitioner is absolutely entitled to have the petition heard. As resp. to the petition is therefore precluded by leave being given from objecting to the petition being heard, an application for leave made without consent ought to be made to the judge only.

The question as to the jurisdiction of the registrar to make such an order was not decided, because the husband had appeared to the petition & taken further steps without objecting to the jurisdiction.—FYFFE v. FYFFE, [1920] P. 310 ; 89 L. J. P. 240 ; 123 L. T. 586 ; 36 T. L. R. 717 ; 64 Sol. Jo. 616.

Annotation :—Refd. Scott v. Scott, [1921] P. 107.

5486. —— —— Within reasonable time.]—In a wife's suit for divorce, alimony pendente lite at £500 a year was ordered in pursuance of an agreement by the wife to accept permanent maintenance at the same rate. A decree absolute was made in July, 1913. No order for permanent maintenance was ever made, but the £500 was paid until June, 1919, when the wife, hearing that her husband's income had very largely increased, took out a summons before the registrar for leave to file a petition for permanent maintenance. The registrar granted leave & the petition was filed in Nov. 1919. The husband took several steps in the proceedings & filed his answer. At the hearing of the petition he took the objection that the registrar had no power to give such a leave. This summons was then taken out before the judge for leave to file the petition :—Held : (1) in the absence of any express provision in the agreement that the wife would not apply for an increase, the ct. had the same power to grant an increase under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1907 (c. 12), s. 1 (2) (b), as it would have had if an order for permanent maintenance had been made ; (2) under the special circumstances leave to file a petition out of time ought to be given, & the husband's objection to the registrar's jurisdiction was waived by the steps he had taken after the petition was filed ; (3) by the Ct. of Appeal, the words " on any decree for dissolution of marriage " in sub-sect. 1 of the Act did not confer on the judge an unfettered discretion as to the time within which he would allow a petition to be filed, but they meant that the petition must be filed " at " or " within a reasonable time after " the decree, having regard to all the circumstances of the case ; (4) seven years after the decree was pronounced was not a reasonable time within which to apply for leave to file the petition, & leave must accordingly be refused.—SCOTT v. SCOTT, [1921] P. 107 ; 90 L. J. P. 171 ; 124 L. T. 619 ; 37 T. L. R. 158, C. A.

Annotation :—As to (3) Refd. Fox v. Fox, [1925] P. 157.

Compare Nos. 5508, 5509, post.

5487. Leave to present out of time—Jurisdiction to grant.]—FYFFE v. FYFFE, No. 5485, ante.

See, also, No. 5486, ante.

(b) Service of Petition.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 66, 67.

5488. Substituted service—Affidavit in support of application—Whether necessary.]—SCHRAML v. SCHRAML, No. 5348, ante.

(c) Inquiry as to Husband's Income.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 69.

5489. Whether fresh inquiry ordered—Alimony pendente lite awarded.]—BONSOR v. BONSOR, No. 5346, ante.

Inquiry as to husband's income generally, see Sect. 9, sub-sect. 1, D., ante.

5490. Witnesses—Wife's right to call & examine.]—MEAD v. MEAD, No. 5492, post.

See, generally, Sect. 9, sub-sect. 1, I. (d) i., ante.

5491. Cross-examination of husband—Whether ordered to attend.]—MEAD v. MEAD, No. 5492, post.

See, generally, Sect. 9, sub-sect. 1, I. (d) ii., ante.

5492. —— Whether permissible.] — After a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage at the suit of the wife, the husband will not be ordered to attend in ct. that he may be examined on his answer to the petition for alimony pendente lite, with a view to getting an order that he secure a provision to the wife under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32. The wife may, however, examine witnesses to show the husband's means.

I have great doubt whether the husband is now bound to give any answer (per CUR.).—MEAD v. MEAD (1861), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 30.

5493. —— ——.]—The husband having in 1888 divorced his wife on the ground of her adultery, subsequently by leave of the ct. filed his petition, in 1891, for variation of the marriage settlements. The registrar reported that the present "net annual income" of petitioner was £840 & that of resp. about £125 & that the latter would be increased by a further £200 a year upon the death of resp.'s mother, upon the happening of which event the registrar recommended that £160 should be paid annually by resp. to petitioner for the benefit of the children of the marriage, who were in the custody of their father, the petitioner, by order of the ct. The registrar refused to allow resp. to cross-examine petitioner as to the deductions he claimed to make from his gross income:—Held: the fact of resp. being an adulteress did not bar her to cross-examine her husband as to his means, it not being suggested against her that the proposal to cross-examine was vexatious; & as it appeared to the ct. to be desirable, in the present case, in order to arrive at a correct estimate of petitioner's net annual income, the ct. referred the matter back to the registrar for further investigation & report.—DRIFFIELD v. DRIFFIELD (1891), 65 L. T. 795.

5494. What must be included—Whether reversionary interest included—Husband guilty.]—(1) On a petition for variation of settlements & for permanent maintenance after a decree dissolving a marriage on the ground of the husband's misconduct, the ct. has power to take into consideration a reversionary interest of the husband; but the ct. will only do so in exceptional cases, as, for instance, where there is no other source of provision for the wife.

(2) A dum sola et casta clause will not, as a general rule, be [ordered to be] inserted in a deed securing permanent maintenance to a wife.—HARRISON v. HARRISON (1887), 12 P. D. 130, 145; 56 L. J. P. 76; 57 L. T. 119; 35 W. R. 703.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Savary v. Savary (1898), 79 L. T. 607. Generally, Refd. Wood v. Wood, [1891] P. 272; Arkwright v. Arkwright (1895), 73 L. T. 287.

5495. —— Part of husband's income retained in business.]—HANBURY v. HANBURY, No. 5391, ante.

5496. —— Military allowances.] — NAISH v. NAISH, No. 5380, ante.

5497. & "command pay"—Construction of award of maintenance by agreement.] Pltf., who was formerly the wife of deft., an officer in the army, obtained a divorce from him in 1914. The amount of the permanent maintenance to be paid by deft. to pltf. was by agreement referred to an arbitrator who awarded a certain amount, which amount was to be increased according as deft.'s rate of pay increased. Deft., who was a major in the army at the time of the award, subsequently became a lieutenant-colonel & commanded an infantry regiment. His rate of pay was largely increased & he received in addition to his regimental pay 10*s*. per day as "command pay" & also certain daily allowances in respect of fuel, light, rations, etc. Pltf. claimed to recover from deft. arrears of maintenance on the basis that both command pay & allowances were "pay" within the meaning of the award:—Held: the amount received by deft. in respect of allowances was not "pay" within the meaning of the award, but that "command pay" was "pay" within the meaning of the award & must therefore be brought into account by deft. in calculating the amount payable to pltf.—BAYLEY v. BAYLEY, [1922] 2 K. B. 227; 91 L. J. K. B. 886; 127 L. T. 657; 38 T. L. R. 522.

See, generally, Sect. 9, sub-sect. 1, D. (b), ante.

5498. What may be deducted—Taxes.]—In ascertaining a husband's total income for the purpose of arriving at the amount of permanent maintenance to be allotted to a wife, his liability for all the King's taxes must be taken into consideration, & the relative proportion allotted to the wife should also be tax free.—DAYRELL-STEYNING v. DAYRELL-STEYNING, [1922] P. 280; 91 L. J. P. 210; 127 L. T. 846; 38 T. L. R. 898.

Annotation:—Refd. Smith v. Smith, [1923] P. 191.

See, generally, Sect. 9, sub-sect. 1, D. (c), ante.

(d) Reference to Registrar.

To settle deed, see Nos. 5172, 5173, ante.

(e) The Order.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 69.

5499. Time for making—General rule.] —Under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1907 (c. 12), s. 1 (1), the power to make the order arises "on any decree for dissolution . . . of marriage"; those words do not mean that the order must be made at the same moment that the decree for dissolution is made; & "on" may mean before, or simultaneously with, or after act done, according as reason & good sense require with reference to the context. It may be made before the decree absolute & in anticipation of it, upon materials which enable the ct. to make the order for the maintenance at the same time as the decree for dissolution.

On Oct. 15, 1923, the wife filed a petition for dissolution of marriage on the ground of the husband's adultery. On Feb. 23, 1924, an order was made by consent for payment of alimony

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 2.—K. (c).

c. Respondent entitled to be heard —Though no appearance entered in suit.] —Notwithstanding the failure to enter an appearance in a suit for dissolution of marriage resp. is entitled to be heard, on the question of maintenance.—UTICK v. UTICK (1907), 5 C. L. R. 400.—AUS.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 2, K. (e), & L.; sub-sect. 3.]

pendente lite. On Mar. 24, 1924, a decree nisi was made, the husband not defending the suit, & the custody of the children was given to the wife. Negotiations took place as to the amount of the permanent maintenance, but no result was arrived at. No application having been made by the wife to make the decree nisi absolute, the husband, on Apr. 21, 1925, took out a summons to dismiss the suit for want of prosecution. In the meantime, on Apr. 2, 1925, the wife filed a petition for permanent maintenance of herself & her children. On Apr. 27, 1925, the summons to dismiss was heard before SWIFT, J., sitting in Divorce. In the affidavit in opposition to the summons the wife's solr. stated that the wife would proceed to apply for the decree absolute as soon as the ct. had made the necessary order to secure the maintenance of the wife & to provide for the maintenance of the children of the marriage, & the security ordered by the ct. had been given. SWIFT, J., refused to make any order upon the summons "except that the same do stand adjourned pending maintenance order." On appeal:—Held: although an order for permanent maintenance could be made before decree absolute the judge before making such an order ought to be reasonably assured that the decree would be applied for & that the application would be pressed with due diligence; &, therefore, the order adjourning the summons to dismiss ought to have contained the words "stand over generally with liberty to restore," so as to prevent it being absolute, & the order must be so amended. —FOX v. FOX, [1925] P. 157; 133 L. T. 499; 41 T. L. R. 584; 69 Sol. Jo. 691, C. A.

5500. —— Whether before decree absolute.]—D'OYLEY v. D'OYLEY & BALDIE, No. 4183, ante.

5501. —— ——.]—Qu.: whether, when a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage has been pronounced, the ct. can, before the time for making it absolute has arrived, order that the husband make a provision for the wife, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32.—LAXTON v. LAXTON (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 208.

Annotations:—Consd. Ellis v. Ellis (1883), 8 P. D. 188. Refd. Stanhope v. Stanhope (1886), 11 P. D. 103; Fox v. Fox [1925] P. 157.

5502. —— ——.]—(1) Under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32, the ct. can order an annuity to be secured to the wife only on making the decree; the order, therefore, would be permanent & incapable of being varied to meet the varying fortunes of the husband.

(2) Where the husband's income was professional, & the wife was entitled to a sum of money in reversion, which was imminent, the ct. refused to make any order under the sect.

(3) The ct. ought also to consider the conduct of the parties.—RAWLINS v. RAWLINS (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 158; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 147; 13 L. T. 212; 164 E. R. 1477.

5503. -.]—WATERHOUSE v. WATERHOUSE, No. 5447, ante.

5504. —— —— Order nunc pro tunc—By consent.]—K. v. K. (OTHERWISE R.) (1910), No. 5160, ante.

5505. —— —— ——.]—An order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1907 (c. 12), s. 1 (2), for the payment by a husband to his wife during their joint lives of a weekly or monthly sum of money may be made before decree absolute by way of confirmation of the usual registrar's report recommending such an order, such confirmation to be nunc pro tunc & the order operative as from the date of the decree absolute.—CAVENDISH v. CAVENDISH, [1913] P. 138; 82 L. J. P. 112; 108 L. T. 1039; 29 T. L. R. 653; 57 Sol. Jo. 741.

Annotation:—Refd. Fox v. Fox, [1925] P. 157.

5506. —— —— Simultaneous application for variation of settlement.]—Where one Act of Parliament enabled the ct., on a final decree of nullity or dissolution of marriage, to inquire into ante or post-nuptial settlements, with a view to alter the same for the benefit of the children or of their respective parents; & another Act provided that the ct. may, on any decree dissolving the marriage, after hearing the evidence, order that the husband shall secure to the wife a gross or annual sum of money, according to her fortune & the ability of the husband, etc.; & where a woman who had obtained a decree nisi for dissolution petitioned before the final decree, both for an alteration of the settlements, & also for the payment of a gross sum under the provisions of these Acts.

The ct., though considering the sects. apparently inconsistent, allowed an investigation to be made by the registrar before the final decree, with a view to complying with the prayers of the petition; but intimated that the motion for a decree absolute, & also for an order founded on the registrar's report, should come before the ct. at the same time, in order that both sects. should be complied with.—SOWDON v. SOWDON (1866), 15 W. R. 90.

5507. —— - - Judge assured of application for decree—Applicant proceeding with due diligence.]—FOX v. FOX, No. 5499, ante.

5508. —— Whether after decree absolute.]—The order for permanent alimony under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32, must be embodied in the decrees dissolving a marriage. If such a decree has been pronounced & registered [the ct. has no power to grant relief].—VICARS v. VICARS (1859), 29 L. J. P. & M. 20.

Annotations: Consd. Sidney v. Sidney (1866), 35 L. J. P. & M. 46. Distd. Covell v. Covell (1872), 41 L. J. P. & M. 81.

5509. —— ——.]—(1) The ct. has power under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32, to make an order for the permanent maintenance of a wife after a decree absolute has been pronounced, Vicars v. Vicars, No. 5508, ante, overd.

(2) A petition for maintenance under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32, may be presented at any time after the decree nisi, & the order for maintenance need not necessarily form part of the decree absolute.—BRADLEY v. BRADLEY (1878), 3 P. D. 47; 47 L. J. P. 53; 39 L. T. 203; 26 W. R. 831.

Annotations:—Consd. Fyffe v. Fyffe, [1920] P. 310; Scott v. Scott, [1921] P. 107. Refd. Langworthy v. Langworthy (1886), 55 L. J. P. 33; Fox v. Fox, [1925] P. 157.

5510. —— ——.]—FOX v. FOX, No. 5499, ante. Compare Nos. 5370, 5485, 5486, ante.

5511. —— ——.]—The petition for the dissolution of the marriage must be finally decided first, before the right to exercise the auxiliary or supplementary discretionary power can by possibility arise (LORD WESTBURY).—SIDNEY v. SIDNEY (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 73; 15 W. R. 1094, H. L.; revsg. (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 78; subsequent proceedings (1867), 17 L. T. 9.

Annotations:—Consd. Charles v. Charles (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 260. Apld. Bradley v. Bradley (1878), 3 P. D. 47. Expld. Scott v. Scott, [1921] P. 107; Fox v. Fox, [1925] P. 157. Refd. Ousey v. Ousey (1875), 1 P. D. 56; Carter v. Carter (1895), 12 T. L. R. 37; Burmester v. Burmester, [1913] P. 76. Mentd. Newton v. Newton (1885), 11 P. D. 11; Newton v. Newton, [1896] P. 36; Bullus v. Bullus (1910), 102 L. T. 399.

5512. Embodied in decree nisi.]—K. v. K. (OTHERWISE R.), No. 5460, ante.

5513. Order providing for alternative forms of maintenance—Gross sum or periodical payments.]—MEDLEY v. MEDLEY, No. 5468, ante.

Enforcement of.]—See Sub-sect. 2, L., post.

L. Enforcement of Order.

Attachment & committal.]—See No. 5917, post.

Writ of fieri facias.]—See No. 5965, post.

Garnishee.]—See No. 5974, post.

Injunction restraining dealings with property.]—See Nos. 5447–5449, ante.

Receiver.]—See Nos. 5979–5981, post.

SUB-SECT. 3.—PAYMENTS ON DISOBEDIENCE TO ORDER FOR RESTITUTION OF CONJUGAL RIGHTS.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 190 (4).

5514. Jurisdiction of court—Property of wife subject to restraint.]—A wife having refused to comply with a decree obtained by her husband for restitution of conjugal rights, application was made under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 3, for a settlement of her property for the benefit of the husband, when it appeared that the whole of the wife's property had been settled on the occasion of her marriage to her separate use without power of anticipation:—Held: the ct. had no power to order a settlement of the property which was subject to the restraint on alienation.—MICHELL v. MICHELL, [1891] P. 208; 60 L. J. P. 46; 64 L. T. 607; 39 W. R. 680; sub nom. MITCHELL v. MITCHELL, 7 T. L. R. 410, C. A.; subsequent proceedings, sub nom. MICHELL v. MICHELL, [1891] P. 305.

Annotations:—Consd. Churchward v. Churchward, [1910] P. 195; Morgan v. Morgan & Kirby, [1923] P. 1. Refd. Merton v. Merton (1900), 83 L. T. 223; Loraine v. Loraine & Murphy, [1912] P. 86.

5515. Nature of order.]—(1) An order for periodical payments under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), is a personal order against resp. & is to be enforced in the same manner as in the case of an order for permanent alimony made after a decree of judicial separation.

(2) Such periodical payments are made by analogy to alimony, to depend upon the means of the parties, & the ct. has power, under sect. 4 of that Act, to vary or modify any order for such periodical payments, or to suspend temporarily & to revive the order either wholly or in part, as the ct. may deem just.

(3) Notwithstanding the time limited by the ct. for restitution of conjugal rights, the parties may at any moment resume cohabitation, & in the event of any such resumption, an order for periodical payments previously obtained ought thereupon to be terminated or suspended.

(4) The legislature did not contemplate that periodical payments ordered to be made under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), should be more permanent or fixed, or should extend for a longer period, than the alimony obtainable if the further relief provided for by the Act, namely, judicial separation, were obtained.

(5) The fact that the ct. is empowered by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), to order periodical payments thereunder to be secured does not alter the character of the order or of the payments; the security being only for "such periodical payments," that is to say, payments expressly made variable & alterable by sect. 4 of the Act.

(6) A wife, having obtained a decree for restitution of conjugal rights, petitioned for periodical payments under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 2. The registrar by his report submitted that the husband should make periodical payments to the amount of £760 a year to petitioner for her life, & that it should be secured on certain shares & upon an interest which the husband had under his father's will to come into possession after the death of his mother. On motion to confirm the report:—Held: an order to secure upon resp.'s reversionary interest did not comply with the provisions of the sect., & was not proper to make.—TANGYE v. TANGYE, [1914] P. 201; 83 L. J. P. 164; 111 L. T. 944; 30 T. L. R. 649; 58 Sol. Jo. 723.

5516. Right of wife to apply.]—(1) A wife, who has obtained a decree for restitution of conjugal rights, may, if the husband disobeys that decree, either apply for an alimentary provision & to have same secured to her under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), or, if she elects to petition for a judicial separation, she may apply for alimony, & after she has obtained a decree, may ask for permanent alimony to be allotted to her; but it is not open to her, after she has elected, to proceed for a judicial separation, &, after she has obtained a decree in that suit, to ask for an order & for security under the Act of 1884. A petition for judicial separation on the ground of statutory desertion extinguishes an order for permanent alimony made in a previous restitution suit.

(2) The question what is alimony & the practice which still guides the ct. in dealing with applications for alimony are the same as were laid down in, & which guided the old ecclesiastical cts. in considering applications for alimony.

(3) All the circumstances are to be considered in dealing with each particular case. If the ct. should find that the circumstances are such as show that the wife does not require any order for alimony for her personal support in her normal position, it may refuse to direct the registrar to proceed with an expensive & harassing inquiry, or to make any order for alimony. Permanent alimony would not be granted to a wife who had just been sentenced to a term of penal servitude.—LESLIE v. LESLIE, [1908] P. 99; 77 L. J. P. 23; 98 L. T. 62; 24 T. L. R. 148; 52 Sol. Jo. 97.

5517. Time for application—No limited period.]—There is no limit of time within which a petition for periodical payments after failure to comply with a restitution decree must be presented.—MANN v. MANN (No. 2) (1922), 127 L. T. 692; 38 T. L. R. 698.

5518. Duration of order—Discretion of court.]—By Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 2, the ct. may, after a decree for restitution of conjugal rights upon the application of the wife, order that, if he does not comply with the decree, resp. shall make to petitioner such periodical payments as may be just. The time during which such payments shall be ordered to be made, whether for the joint lives of the spouses, or for the life of the wife, is entirely a matter for the discretion of the ct.

A wife, aged forty-two, having obtained a decree for restitution of conjugal rights, petitioned for periodical payments to be secured to her by resp. Registrar by his report submitted that the husband who was seventy-seven years of age, should be ordered to secure periodical payments at the rate of £60 per annum "during their joint lives." On a motion to vary the report to the effect that the periodical payments should be secured to the wife for her life:—Held: the ct. had a discretion as to the duration of time for the payments, & having regard to the respective ages of the parties, the report should be varied as prayed.—CLUTTERBUCK v. CLUTTERBUCK (1913), 108 L. T. 573; 29 T. L. R. 480; 57 Sol. Jo. 463.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sects. 3 & 4, A.]

Annotation:—Dbtd. Tangye v. Tangye, [1914] P. 201.

5519. —— Joint lives of parties.]—Where a husband had not complied with a decree of restitution of conjugal rights obtained by the wife within the time named in the decree, the ct. ordered that he should secure to her for their joint lives a "periodical payment" equal to one-third of their joint incomes. In estimating the amount of the husband's average income the ct. refused to allow a deduction in respect of losses sustained by him during the previous three years in a branch of his business which had been closed.—THEOBALD v. THEOBALD (1889), 15 P. D. 26; 59 L. J. P. 21; 62 L. T. 187.

Annotations:—Distd. Clutterbuck v. Clutterbuck (1913), 29 T. L. R. 480. Refd. Leslie v. Leslie, [1908] P. 99; Tangye v. Tangye, [1914] P. 201.

5520. —— Life of wife—Wife considerably younger than husband.]—CLUTTERBUCK v. CLUTTERBUCK, No. 5518, ante.

5521. —— As of order for permanent alimony.]—TANGYE v. TANGYE, No. 5515, ante.

5522. Calculation of husband's means—What deductions from income allowed—Temporary business loss during previous three years.]—THEOBALD v. THEOBALD, No. 5519, ante.

5523. —— Whether reversionary interest included.]—TANGYE v. TANGYE, No. 5515, ante.

5524. Amount of order—One third of joint incomes.]—THEOBALD v. THEOBALD, No. 5519, ante.

5525. —— According to means of parties.]—TANGYE v. TANGYE, No. 5515, ante.

5526. Security for payments—Effect on order—& payments.]—TANGYE v. TANGYE, No. 5515, ante.

5527. Variation of amount—Jurisdiction of court—Reversion falling into possession.]—TANGYE v. TANGYE, No. 5515, ante.

5528. —— ——.]—(1) By Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 4, "The ct. may from time to time vary or modify any order for the periodical payment of money, either by altering the times of payment or by increasing or diminishing the amount, or may temporarily suspend the same as to the whole or any part of the money so ordered to be paid, & again revive the same order wholly or in part, as the ct. may think just":—Held: the sect. gave the ct. an unfettered discretion to suspend or vary periodical payments on any sufficient grounds.

(2) A wife, who had obtained a decree for restitution of conjugal rights & an order for periodical payments, subsequently committed adultery. On an application by the husband the judge made an order suspending the payments:—Held: the judge in making the order had rightly exercised his discretion, but the order was not a final order by reason of which the wife could never obtain an allowance for maintenance, & it would not preclude her, at a subsequent date, upon showing on facts that she was deserving of an allowance, from applying for a renewal of the periodical payments.—WICKINS v. WICKINS (No. 2), [1918] P. 282; 87 L. J. P. 169; 119 L. T. 663; 34 T. L. R. 568; 62 Sol. Jo. 702, C. A.

5529. —— ——.]—Where a deed has been executed to secure periodical payments to a wife in respect of her husband's disobedience to an order for restitution of conjugal rights, the ct. has the same power to vary the deed as it has to vary the order. In a proper case where the pecuniary circumstances of the party have changed an order may be made that payments to the wife under the deed shall be temporarily suspended, & the income of the investments comprised in it shall be paid to the husband notwithstanding the trusts in the deed.—HOOPER v. HOOPER, [1919] P. 153; 88 L. J. P. 141; 120 L. T. 672; 35 T. L. R. 370.

5530. Suspension of order—Jurisdiction of court—Resumption of cohabitation.]—TANGYE v. TANGYE, No. 5515, ante.

5531. —— ——.]—WICKINS v. WICKINS (No. 2), No. 5528, ante.

5532. —— Grounds for granting—Adultery by wife.]—WICKINS v. WICKINS (No. 2), No. 5528, ante.

5533. —— Effect of suspension—Whether permanent.]—WICKINS v. WICKINS (No. 2), No. 5528, ante.

5534. Revival of suspended order—Jurisdiction of court.]—TANGYE v. TANGYE, No. 5515, ante.

5535. —— —— On proof of deserving of allowance.]—WICKINS v. WICKINS (No. 2), No. 5528, ante.

5536. Termination of order—When ordered—On decree of judicial separation.]—LESLIE v. LESLIE, No. 5516, ante.

5537. —— —— Resumption of cohabitation.]—TANGYE v. TANGYE, No. 5515, ante.

5538. Waiver of right—By petition for judicial separation.]—LESLIE v. LESLIE, No. 5516, ante.

5539. Payment—Deduction of super tax—Effects of wife's acquiescence.]—CAMPBELL v. CAMPBELL, No. 5540, post.

5540. Arrears—Right of wife to recover.]—An order of the Divorce Div. made under the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, directing the husband to pay a certain proportion of his income by way of periodical payments to his wife, subject to specified deductions, does not entitle him to deduct super tax from his whole income in calculating the proportion to be paid. The relative positions of husband & wife under such an order are not those of debtor & creditor. A wife cannot release her husband's liability to make payments under such an order, & her acquiescence in his making any deduction does not prevent her afterwards complaining thereof. But the ct. has a discretion as to what, if any, arrears may be enforced; & in exercising its discretion will consider all the circumstances & the conduct of each party, including the nature & causes of any acquiescence by the wife.—CAMPBELL v. CAMPBELL, [1922] P. 187; 91 L. J. P. 126; 127 L. T. 29; 38 T. L. R. 320.

Annotation:—Refd. Smith v. Smith, [1923] P. 191.

As to enforcement of orders generally, see Sects. 23, 24, post.

SUB-SECT. 4.—SETTLEMENT OF PROPERTY OF GUILTY WIFE.

A. In General.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 191.

5541. Jurisdiction of court—To order settlement on wife.]—On a decree of dissolution by reason of the wife's adultery, the ct. directed two-thirds of the bulk of certain property to which she was entitled under certain trusts, to be settled on the children immediately, & the remaining third after her death. In making arrangements with regard to a wife's property, the ct. will take into consideration the costs with which she will be burdened in defending the suit for a divorce, for which her husband is not strictly liable.—BACON v. BACON & BACON (1860), 2 Sw. & Tr. 86; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 125; 2 L. T. 438; 8 W. R. 552; 164 E. R. 925.

Annotations:—Consd. Midwinter v. Midwinter, [1893] P. 93. Refd. Blandford v. Blandford (1892), 8 T. L. R. 381.

5542. —— To make order before decree absolute —Wife's property subject to restraint on anticipation.]—(1) By Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 45, in any case in which the ct. shall pronounce a sentence of divorce or judicial separation for adultery of the wife, if it shall be made appear to the ct. that the wife is entitled to any property either in possession or reversion, it shall be lawful for the ct., if it shall think proper, to order such settlement as it shall think reasonable to be made of such property, or any part thereof, for the benefit of the innocent party & of the children of the marriage:—Held: the ct. has jurisdiction before pronouncing a final decree for dissolution of marriage, or judicial separation, against a wife for adultery, to direct an inquiry as to her property, so that it may be enabled to order a settlement to be made of such property as soon as the final decree is pronounced.

(2) His wife is entitled for life without power of anticipation to some property under her father's will. The restraint on anticipation will apply so long as she is covert; it will apply until there is a decree absolute, & it will apply, if she marries immediately after the decree, to the subsequent marriage. The husband suggests, that although he may obtain an order for a settlement, the settlement may be worthless because of the restraint on anticipation, which cannot be got rid of by any proceeding under the sects which relate to alteration of settlements, & he therefore asks the ct. to place him in a position to obtain what he is really entitled to (LINDLEY, L.J.).

(3) In making such an order, the ct. will direct the husband to give security for the costs of the inquiry, in case no final decree should be made.—MIDWINTER v. MIDWINTER, [1892] P. 28; 61 L. J. P. 1; 65 L. T. 438; 40 W. R. 33; 36 Sol. Jo. 12, C. A.; subsequent proceedings, [1893] P. 93.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Fox v. Fox, [1925] P. 157. Refd. Garratt v. Garratt & Garratt, [1922] P. 230. As to (2) Consd. Loraine v. Loraine & Murphy, [1912] P. 222.

5543. Principles on which court acts—Principles governing variation of settlements.]—(1) The principles which should guide the ct. in ordering a settlement out of the property of a guilty wife under the powers conferred by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 45, are similar to those adopted in cases of variation of settlements under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 1, but the ct. has power, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 45, to deal with capital, whether in possession or reversion, as well as with income.

(2) The ct. in ordering a settlement under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 45, should have regard to the pecuniary position which the husband & child or children would have been in if the marriage had not been dissolved through the fault of the wife, & should endeavour, as far as may be, to adjust any alteration made in their pecuniary position by reason of the change in their circumstances due to the wife's misconduct & the consequent dissolution of the marriage.—LORRIMAN v. LORRIMAN & CLAIR, [1908] P. 282; 77 L. J. P. 108; 99 L. T. 314; 24 T. L. R. 575; 52 Sol. Jo. 490.

5544. Inquiry as to wife's property—Jurisdiction of court to order—Before decree absolute.]—MIDWINTER v. MIDWINTER, No. 5542, ante.

5545. —— Security for costs.]—MIDWINTER v. MIDWINTER, No. 5542, ante.

5546. Evidence — Admissibility — Conduct of parties during cohabitation — Suit undefended.]—On an application for a settlement or allowance by virtue of the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 3, out of the estate of a husband or wife against whom a decree of restitution of conjugal rights has been pronounced in an undefended suit, it is competent for the party making such application to tender evidence as to the conduct of the other party during cohabitation. Where a decree for restitution of conjugal rights made on husband's application has not been complied with by the wife, the ct. in its discretion to order a settlement out of wife's separate property for the benefit of husband under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 3, may take into consideration the general conduct of the parties. In ascertaining the amount of the annual payment to be settled by the wife upon the husband, the ct. declined to go into a minute debtor & creditor account of the sums spent by the husband & wife on household expenses & the like, but directed that a deduction should be made from the amount of the annual payment to the husband until a loan of £300 which he had obtained from his wife was repaid; & also took into consideration the contingency of the husband being able to acquire an income by his own earnings.—SWIFT v. SWIFT, [1891] P. 129; 60 L. J. P. C. 14; 63 L. T. 711.

Annotation:—Expld. Michell v. Michell, [1891] P. 208.

5547. —— How given — By affidavits.]—Allegations of misconduct, short of a matrimonial offence, are relevant to a question of what allowance is to be made by a resp. to petitioner, upon non-compliance with a decree for restitution of conjugal rights, & such allegations are for the consideration of the learned judge. The registrar is not to reject evidence as to these allegations, but is to leave it, & them, for the learned judge, to whom his report is to be made, to consider & act upon, in his, the judge's discretion. The ct. allowed evidence as to alleged misconduct by petitioner to be given upon affidavit, reserving to the incriminated party leave to cross-examine deponents thereon, if so desired.—SWIFT v. SWIFT (1890), 63 L. T. 262; subsequent proceedings, [1891] P. 129.

5548. —— Cross-examination of deponents to affidavits — Right of incriminated party.]—SWIFT v. SWIFT, No. 5547, ante.

5549. Effect of application—As lis pendens—Whether restraint on anticipation prevented from reattaching on re-marriage.]—(1) Upon a petition for a settlement under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 45, the ct. has no jurisdiction, in a case where the wife has married again, to order a settlement by her of property to which she is entitled under the trusts of her father's will for her separate use without power of anticipation. To order such a settlement would be in effect to vary the trusts of the will, which the ct. has no power to do, either under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 45, or under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5.

(2) In such a case the presentation of a petition under sect. 45 will not operate as a lis pendens so as to prevent the restraint upon anticipation from reattaching upon the wife's subsequent marriage.

(3) Semble: an order for a settlement under sect. 45 of an interest derived under an instrument containing a provision for forfeiture on alienation of, or on the commission by the donee of any act divesting, such interest would not work a forfeiture of the same.—LORAINE v. LORAINE & MURPHY, [1912] P. 222; 82 L. J. P. 29; 107 L. T. 363; 28 T. L. R. 534; 56 Sol. Jo. 687, C. A.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 4, A., B. & C. (a) & (b), & D.; sub-sect. 5, A

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Public Trustee v. Wolf, [1923] A. C. 544; Re Rush, Warre v. Rush, [1923] 1 Ch. 56. Refd. Garratt v. Garratt & Garratt, [1922] P. 230. As to (2) Refd. Morgan v. Morgan & Kirby, [1923] P. 1; Re Rush, Warre v. Rush, [1923] 1 Ch. 56; Jagger v. Jagger (1926), 42 T. L. R. 315.

5550. Costs of application—Liability of co-respondent.]—STONE v. STONE & BROWNRIGG, No. 5551, post.

B. Property Subject to Control of Court.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 191.

5551. Reversionary property—Contingent reversion.]—(1) Under the marriage settlement of her father, a wife, upon the ground of whose adultery a divorce had been granted, was entitled to a sum of money after the death of her father in the event of his not otherwise disposing of it:—Held: this was not property to which the wife was entitled in reversion, & the ct. therefore had no power under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 45, to order a settlement of it.

(2) A husband, with moneys received by him in right of his wife, purchased railway stock, which was transferred into their joint names. By a deed of separation, this stock was vested in trustees upon trust for the husband for life, then for the wife for life, & afterwards for the children of the marriage, subject to the proviso that in the event of the marriage being dissolved the trusts should become null & void. The marriage was dissolved on the ground of the wife's adultery, & the trustees thereupon sold the railway stock & paid the proceeds to the wife:—Held: assuming the deed of separation to be a post-nuptial settlement within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, the trusts of the deed having determined, the ct. had no power to deal with the property comprised in it.

Semble: such a deed is a post-nuptial settlement within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5.

(3) Co-resp. is liable to costs of a successful application to deal with property under settlement; but if part of such application fails, & the costs of that part can be separated from the other costs, they ought not to be thrown on co-resp.—STONE v. STONE & BROWNRIGG (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 372; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 95; 10 L. T. 140; 12 W. R. 1088; 164 E. R. 1319.

Annotation:—As to (2) Refd. Worsley v. Worsley & Wignall (1869), 38 L. J. P. & M. 43.

5552. —— Insurance policy payable on wife surviving husband.]—The money secured to a wife under a policy of insurance, & to be paid to her under the terms thereof if she is living at the time of her husband's death, may be "property in reversion," although the policy itself may not be a marriage settlement, & the ct. has power to compel her, if she is the guilty party in divorce proceedings, to settle her interest under the policy in favour of her husband & children.—STEDALL v. STEDALL (1902), 86 L. T. 124; 50 W. R. 320; 18 T. L. R. 254.

5553. ——.]—LORRIMAN v. LORRIMAN & CLAIR, No. 5543, ante.

5554. Trust fund under separation deed—Proviso avoiding deed on dissolution of marriage.]—STONE v. STONE & BROWNRIGG, No. 5551, ante.

5555. Income subject to forfeiture on anticipation.]—Under the will of her father resp. had a life interest to her separate use in certain property, unless she, being discovert, should do or suffer any act or thing, or any event should happen, whereby the same income, or any part thereof, should either voluntarily or involuntarily be aliened or incumbered, or be receivable otherwise than by herself personally, in which case the trust for her benefit was to be void, & such annual income was to be applied for the benefit of resp. or her children at the discretion of the trustees. On a decree for dissolution of marriage, the ct. ordered a settlement to be made out of resp.'s life income derived under her father's will in favour of petitioner & his children, but refused to extend the order to any moneys the trustees in their discretion might think proper to pay to her in case the substituted trust came into operation by reason of such order. Such a possibility of income is not property in reversion within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85).—MILNE v. MILNE & FOWLER (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 295; 40 L. J. P. & M. 67; 25 L. T. 274; 19 W. R. 1118.

Annotation:—Refd. Loraine v. Loraine & Murphy, [1912] P. 86.

5556. ——.]—SWIFT v. SWIFT, No. 5546, ante.

5557. Income under settlement made on dissolved marriage.]—SWIFT v. SWIFT, No. 5546, ante.

See, also, No. 5549, ante.

5558. Possibility of income—Income payable at discretion of trustees.]—MILNE v. MILNE & FOWLER, No. 5555, ante.

5559. Property subject to restraint on anticipation.]—MIDWINTER v. MIDWINTER, No. 5542, ante.

5560. ——.]—LORAINE v. LORAINE & MURPHY, No. 5549, ante.

C. The Order.

(a) In General.

5561. Whether provision made for variation.]—On a petition for the settlement of the property of a wife found guilty of adultery, for the benefit of her husband & the children of the marriage, it appeared that the wife's income amounted to £1,140 a year, consisting chiefly of a life interest in leasehold property under the will of her father; & the husband's income was £350, derived from his business. The ct. ordered the wife to settle £250 for life on her husband, & £60 a year on each child, & refused to make the allowance to the husband variable according to the possible fluctuation in the value of the wife's property, or to limit it to such time as he should remain unmarried, or to order that the allowance to the children should cease at the age of sixteen.—MIDWINTER v. MIDWINTER, [1893] P. 93; 62 L. J. P. 77; 68 L. T. 262; 41 W. R. 560; 1 R. 512.

Annotation:—Consd. Lorriman v. Lorriman & Clair, [1908] P. 282.

5562. Whether dum solus clause inserted.]—MIDWINTER v. MIDWINTER, No. 5561, ante.

5563. Allowance to children—Whether limited to sixteen years of age.]—MIDWINTER v. MIDWINTER, No. 5561, ante.

5564. Effect of order—Wife's property subject to forfeiture on alienation—Whether order operates as forfeiture.]—LORAINE v. LORAINE & MURPHY, No. 5549, ante.

See, also, Nos. 5406, 5555, ante.

(b) Amount of Order.

5565. What court will consider—Wife's costs of defence—Though no application made for security.]—BACON v. BACON & BACON, No. 5541, ante.

5566. Husband's costs of petition—Increased by wife's countercharges.]—(1) Where co-resp. has acted with imprudence with a person whom he knew to be a married woman, the ct. will leave him to pay his own costs.

(2) Where resp., the wife, became entitled in possession to £500 after the decree nisi, but before the decree absolute was pronounced, & was proved to have been guilty of very gross misconduct, & to have put petitioner to heavy expense by opposing his petition, the ct. declined to order a settlement of any portion of the fund on petitioner in satisfaction of part of the costs incurred, as the wife had no other means of subsistence. If the sum had been large in amount, a settlement would have been ordered to be made under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 45.—CARSTAIRS v. CARSTAIRS & DICKENSON (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 538; 4 New Rep. 381; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 170; 10 L. T. 696; 12 W. R. 1015; 164 E. R. 1384.

Annotation:—As to (2) Refd. Miller v. Miller (1869), L. R. 2 P. & D. 13.

5567. —— Amount of wife's means.]—CARSTAIRS v. CARSTAIRS & DICKENSON, No. 5566, ante.

5568. —— —— Relative means of parties.]—The husband obtained a divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery with co-resp. He petitioned that certain jewellery belonging to his wife should be sold, & a settlement made of the proceeds, giving her a life interest in the income arising from the investment of those proceeds with remainder to himself. His income was substantial, & his wife's only £72 a year. The registrar reported against petitioner. The ct. confirmed the registrar's report, & refused to order any settlement. The petition was thereupon dismissed with costs.—r. SCHOFIELD & COWPER (1891), 61 L. T. 838.

5569. —— Conduct of parties.]—SWIFT v. SWIFT, No. 5546, ante.

5570. —— Household expenses.]—SWIFT v. SWIFT, No. 5546, ante.

5571. —— Loan by wife to husband.]—SWIFT v. SWIFT, No. 5546, ante.

5572. —— Husband's earning capacity.]—SWIFT v. SWIFT, No. 5546, ante.

5573. —— Pecuniary position of husband & children—If marriage had not been dissolved.]—LORRIMAN v. LORRIMAN & CLAIR, No. 5543, ante.

5574. Proportion of joint income allotted to husband.]—MIDWINTER v. MIDWINTER, No. 5512, ante.

5575. Proportion of wife's income allotted.]—BACON v. BACON & BACON, No. 5541, ante.

D. Payment of Allowance.

Deduction of income tax.]—See INCOME TAX.

SUB-SECT. 5.—VARIATION OF SETTLEMENTS.

A. In General.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 191; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 71.

5576. Discretion of court—As to amount allowed out of guilty wife's property.]—Where the husband, petitioner, had only a small official income, & resp. by reason of whose adultery the marriage was dissolved was a lady of considerable fortune, in which she took the first life interest, the ct., in dealing with her marriage settlement, allotted to the husband such a portion of her settled property as would place him somewhat in the status in which he would have been had the union continued. The joint annual income of the parties amounted to £1,718, £260 being derived from petitioner's official appointment, & £1,458 from property brought into settlement by resp., or bequeathed to her separate use by her mother, the judge ordinary having ordered to be paid out of the income of resp.'s settled property £200 per annum to petitioner, during the minority of the son of the marriage, for his maintenance & education, & on his attaining his majority to the son himself, & £440 per annum to petitioner, during the joint lives of himself & resp.:—Held: where an allowance is ordered to be paid for the benefit of a child of the marriage, it should be paid to the father so long only as the child is in his custody; & the fact that the original order did not give such a direction was not a ground of appeal, as the order would have been so framed if application for that purpose had been made to the judge ordinary at the time of making it. When an order is made for the payment of an annual sum of money to an individual, even if it be to the father, for the benefit of a child of the marriage, the limitation should be added "so long as the child remains in his custody." It is competent to the judge ordinary, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, to direct, by the same order, property settled by an ante-nuptial or post-nuptial settlement, to be applied for the benefit of the children of the marriage & the parent. The amount to be allowed to the husband out of the wife's settled property is in each case a matter of discretion: & in this case the judge ordinary had, in making the allowance, exercised his discretion on right principles & in an equitable manner. In exercising its discretion under the sect., the conduct of the parties, as well as the relative amounts contributed by each, the total amount of their joint income, the relations it bears to their requirements, & their respective prospects of increased income, is an element to be taken into consideration.—MARCH v. MARCH & PALUMBO (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 440; 36 L. J. P. & M. 64; 16 L. T. 366; 15 W. R. 799.

Annotations:—Consd. Schofield v. Schofield & Cowper (1891), 64 L. T. 838. Apprvd. Savary v. Savary (1898), 79 L. T. 607. Apld. Beauchamp v. Beauchamp & Watt (1904), 20 T. L. R. 273; Constantinidi v. Constantinidi, [1905] P. 253. Consd. La Terriere v. La Terriere & Grey (1920), 124 L. T. 575. Refd. Blandford v. Blandford (1892), 67 L. T. 392; Midwinter v. Midwinter, [1893] P. 93; Lorriman v. Lorriman & Clair, [1908] P. 282.

5577. —— Absolute judicial discretion.]—WIGNEY v. WIGNEY, No. 5664, post.

5578. —— Exercise of discretion—Variation sought as means of enforcing order for custody.]—After a decree nisi had been made on the prayer of the husband for a dissolution of his marriage, resp. under cover of an order of the ct. for access to her child, took possession of it, & removed it beyond the jurisdiction of the ct. The judge ordinary refused to alter the settlement made on the marriage of the parties, so far as related to the property settled on behalf of resp. in such a manner & for the express purpose to compel resp. to submit to the authority of the ct., & to restore the child to the custody of petitioner.—SYMONDS v. SYMONDS & HARRISON (1872), L. R. 2 P. & D. 447.

5579. —— How far exercise subject to appeal.]—On a petition for variation of a settlement the judge refused to give the wife, petitioner, any part of the capital of the fund, which had been all settled by the husband, although there were no children of the marriage, or to order payment of petitioner's costs out of the funds, & he gave a portion only of the income to the wife. The Ct. of Appeal affirmed the decision, holding that although the ct. had undoubted jurisdiction to deal with the capital it was not for the benefit of the wife to give her any portion of it; & the ct. refused to interfere with the discretion of the judge as to the amount of income awarded to her.—PONSONBY v. PONSONBY (1884), 9 P. D. 122; 53 L. J. P. 112; 51 L. T. 174; 32 W. R. 746, C. A.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 5, A. & B. (a).]

Annotations:—Consd. Meredyth v. Meredyth, [1895] P. 92; Dormer (otherwise Ward) v. Ward, [1901] P. 20. Apld. Lorriman v. Lorriman & Clair, [1908] P. 282.

5580. —— ——.]—The Ct. of Appeal will not interfere with the decision of a judge of the Divorce Div. who has exercised his discretion as to allowing the marriage settlements of divorced persons to be varied, unless the discretion has been exercised upon wrong principles or upon a wrong view of the facts.—LA TERRIERE v. LA TERRIERE & GREY (1921), 37 T. L. R. 671, C. A.

5581. Protection of settled property—Pending order for variation—Injunction to restrain dealing by respondent.]—WATTS v. WATTS, No. 6001, post.

5582. —— —— ——.]—A petitioner had obtained a decree nisi for dissolution of his marriage. Before an order could be obtained to vary the post-nuptial settlement, resp. was about to sell or otherwise dispose of some of the property. The ct. granted an injunction to restrain her from dealing with it.—NOAKES v. NOAKES & HILL (1877), 4 P. D. 60; 47 L. J. P. 20; 39 L. T. 47; 26 W. R. 284.

Annotations:—Distd. Newton v. Newton (1885), 11 P. D. 11. Consd. Jagger v. Jagger (1926), 42 T. L. R. 315. Refd. Carter v. Carter (1895), 12 T. L. R. 37; Burmester v. Burmester, [1913] P. 76.

B. Jurisdiction of Court.

(a) In General.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 192.

5583. On dissolution of marriage.]—NORRIS v. NORRIS & GYLES, No. 3936, ante.

5584. As to powers of appointment.]—(1) The ct. made an order for the trustees of a wife's settled property, against whom a decree of judicial separation had been pronounced, on the ground of her adultery, to pay a moiety of the income of such property for the maintenance & education of the children.

(2) The ct. cannot vary a power of appointment vested in a guilty wife.—SEATEL v. SEATEL (1860), 4 Sw. & Tr. 230; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 216; 164 E. R. 1504.

Annotations:—Consd. Michell v. Michell, [1891] P. 208. Refd. Midwinter v. Midwinter (1893), 68 L. T. 262.

5585. —— Power in favour of husband & issue of second marriage.]—EVERED v. EVERED & GRAHAM, No. 5673, post.

5586. —— —— Power postponed till death of first husband.]—BRANTON DAY v. BRANTON DAY & ERSKINE, No. 5675, post.

5587. —— —— ——.]—The ct. has a discretion in making an order, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, as to variation of a marriage settlement & disposition of property settled by the wife. Where a guilty wife had married co-resp. during the life of her husband, petitioner, the ct. extinguished a power, given to her by the settlement, of appointing interests to the husband & children of any subsequent marriage, except a marriage contracted after the death of petitioner.—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS & KILBURN, [1920] P. 69; 89 L. J. P. 79; 122 L. T. 748.

See, further, Sub-sect. 5, D. (c), post.

5588. —— Power to insert.]—Where, under a marriage which had been dissolved, no power had been given, by the terms of the marriage settlement, to the innocent party if survivor to appoint a portion of the settled fund in favour of a future spouse & the children by any future marriage, the ct., in varying such a settlement, may, although issue of the dissolved marriage survive, give power to make such an appointment, & in the lifetime of the guilty party, to an extent, having due regard to the facts, not detrimental to the interests of such issue.—ATKINS v. ATKINS & URQUHART, [1913] P. 211; 83 L. J. P. 18; 109 L. T. 640.

5589. —— Appointment of new trustees.]—The judge ordinary has no power, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, to vary the provisions for appointing new trustees contained in a deed of settlement executed in anticipation of the marriage, the dissolution of which he has decreed.—HOPE v. HOPE & ERDODY (1874), L. R. 3 P. & D. 226; 44 L. J. P. & M. 31; 31 L. T. 592; 23 W. R. 110.

Annotations:—Refd. Hart v. Hart (1881), 18 Ch. D. 670 Churchward v. Churchward, [1910] P. 195.

5590. —— —— Joint power.]—In the variation of settlements the ct. has jurisdiction to extinguish a joint power of appointment of new trustees.—OPPENHEIM v. OPPENHEIM & RICOTTI (1884), 9 P. D. 60; 53 L. J. P. 48; 32 W. R. 723.

See, further, Sub-sect. 5, D. (c), post.

5591. In absence of respondent—After notice of application for order.]—After a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage petitioner filed a petition praying for an order to vary a marriage settlement. Before the decree was made absolute, resp. was served abroad with a copy of the petition, & with a notice that after the decree was made absolute, the ct. would be moved to make the order as to the settled property. Resp. had not appeared at any stage of proceedings:—Held: the ct. had power to vary the marriage settlement in the absence of resp.—LAWRENCE v. LAWRENCE (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 207; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 124; 9 L. T. 23; 9 Jur. N. S. 1158; 164 E. R. 1253.

5592. Post-nuptial settlement by third parties.]—(1) Semble: under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, the ct. has power to deal with post-nuptial settlements made on the parties to the marriage by third persons.

(2) In allotting a certain portion of the wife's income derived under settlement for the maintenance & education of the children of the marriage, the ct. refused to make it a condition in the decree that the husband should deliver up to the wife the jewels belonging to her of which he had retained possession.—THOMAS v. THOMAS & VIGNE (1865), 13 L. T. 412.

5593. Whether retrospective—Dividends already accrued due.]—PAUL v. PAUL & FARQUHAR, No. 5699, post.

5594. —— Income already paid to respondent.]—CONSTANTINIDI v. CONSTANTINIDI & LANCE, No. 5641, post.

5595. Limited to orders for benefit of spouses or children.]—SYKES v. SYKES & SMITH, No. 5700, post.

5596. ——.]—Held: the power of altering marriage settlements given to the ct. by sect. 5

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 5.—B. (a).

d. Statutory power—Given after filing of petition & before final decree.]—After the filing of the petition for divorce, but before the making of the final decree, the ct. may under 1885 Act, alter, vary or set aside any settlement made by & between parties whose marriage shall have been dissolved.—CHURCH v. CHRISTIE (1888), 20 N. S. R. (8 R. & G.) 468; 9 C. L. T. 254.—CAN.

of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), & sect. 3 of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), is limited to such alterations as are for the personal benefit of the husband, wife or children of the marriage. Where, therefore, petitioner dies after obtaining a decree absolute for dissolution of the marriage & after presenting a petition for variation of the marriage settlement, & there are no children of the marriage, the petition for variation abates by the death of petitioner, & the proceedings cannot be continued by his personal representatives for the benefit of his estate.—THOMSON v. THOMSON & RODSCHINKA, [1896] P. 263; 65 L. J. P. 80; 74 L. T. 801; 45 W. R. 134; 12 T. L. R. 464; 40 Sol. Jo. 583, C. A.

5597. Where no issue of marriage—Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), s. 3.]—By above sect., amending Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61). s. 5, the ct. may vary marriage settlements where there are no children of the marriage. The ct., under the circumstances of the case, held, that the later Act was not retrospective.—YGLESIAS v. YGLESIAS & SELBY (1879), 4 P. D. 71; 40 L. T. 37; 27 W. R. 432.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 192.

5598. Variation adverse to children's interest.]—The ct. has no power to vary a marriage settlement, so as to deprive an infant child of the marriage of an interest secured to it by such settlement.—CRISP v. CRISP (1872), L. R. 2 P. & D. 426; 42 L. J. P. & M. 13; 27 L. T. 428; 21 W. R. 79.

Annotations:—Folld. Forsyth v. Forsyth, [1891] P. 363. Consd. Hartopp v. Hartopp & Akhurst, [1899] P. 65; Blood v. Blood, [1902] P. 190.

5599. ——.]—(1) The ct. has power to entertain a petition for variation of settlements although petitioner & resp. were domiciled in S. at the time of the marriage, & although the settlement were made in the Scottish form.

(2) The ct. cannot vary settlements to the detriment of infant children.—FORSYTH v. FORSYTH, [1891] P. 363; 61 L. J. P. 13; 65 L. T. 556.

Annotation:—As to (2) Consd. Hartopp v. Hartopp & Akhurst, [1899] P. 65.

5600. ——.]—The ct. has power to vary a marriage settlement so as to deprive infant children of the marriage of part of their interests secured to them by such settlement.

Where a marriage settlement gave petitioner, the wife, power to appoint, after the death of resp., in favour of a second husband & the children of a second marriage, the ct. recognising the principle of quid pro quo in such cases, gave petitioner power so to appoint, during resp.'s lifetime, a portion of the fund which had been settled for the ultimate benefit of the children of the marriage upon the ground that the extinguishment of resp.'s interests being part of the order would, while depriving them of that portion, accelerate their interests in the remainder.—WHITTON v. WHITTON, [1901] P. 348; 71 L. J. P 10; 85 L. T. 646.

Annotations:—Consd. Blood v. Blood, [1902] P. 190. Apld. Hodgson Roberts v. Hodgson Roberts & Whitaker, [1906] P. 142.

5601. Over capital of settled fund.]—PONSONBY v. PONSONBY, No. 5579, ante.

5602. —— Payment of costs.]—PRATT v. JENNER, Ex p. JENNER, No. 5772, post.

5603. —— Reconveyance.]—By a settlement on his marriage with resp., petitioner settled certain property on himself for life, with remainder to the sons of his marriage with resp., with remainder to the sons of any subsequent marriage, with remainder to a brother of petitioner & the sons of that brother, with remainder to the daughters of petitioner & resp., & with ultimate remainder to himself. The marriage, of which there was no issue, had been dissolved on the ground of the misconduct of resp., & the brother of petitioner had died unmarried:—Held: under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, an order might be made for the reconveyance of the property to petitioner for his own use.—MEREDYTH v. MEREDYTH & LEIGH, [1895] P. 92; 64 L. J. P. 54; 72 L. T. 898; 43 W. R. 304; 11 T. L. R. 186; 11 R. 651.

Annotations:—Folld. Wynne v. Wynne (1898), 78 L. T. 796. Distd. Walpole v. Walpole & Goddard, [1901] P. 196. Consd. Blood v. Blood, [1902] P. 78. Refd. Dormer v. Ward, [1901] P. 20; Churchward v. Churchward, [1910] P. 195.

—— ——.]—See, further, Sub-sect. 5, D. (d) post.

5604. Where decree pronounced by court—Though settlements in Scottish form.]—A decree for dissolution of marriage having been granted on the husband's petition, it appeared that resp., a Scottish woman, was married in Scotland to petitioner, an Englishman, & that in contemplation of the marriage there had been a settlement of her property according to the Scottish law:—Held: under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, the ct. had power to order a variation of the settlement.—NUNNELEY v. NUNNELEY & MARRIAN (1890), 15 P. D. 186; 63 L. T. 113; 39 W. R. 190.

Annotation:—Expld. & Folld. Forsyth v. Forsyth, [1891] P. 363.

5605. —— ——.]—FORSYTH v. FORSYTH, No. 5599, ante.

5606. —— Decree pronounced by colonial court.]—The power to vary settlements conferred upon the Court by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 45, & 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, can only be exercised where the decree upon which the application to vary the marriage settlement is founded has been pronounced by the ct. Therefore, where a decree of nullity had been pronounced by a colonial ct., & the parties afterwards returned to this country & applied for leave to file a petition here for the variation of their marriage settlement:—Held: the ct. had no jurisdiction to entertain such application.—MOORE (FALSELY CALLED BULL) v. BULL, [1891] P. 279; 60 L. J. P. 76; sub nom. BULL (OTHERWISE MOORE) v. BULL, 7 T. L. R. 486.

5607. Effect of death of party—After decree absolute.]—LING v. LING & CROKER, No. 5738, post.

See, also, No. 5739, post.

5608. —— After petition for variation.]—THOMSON v. THOMSON & RODSCHINKA, No. 5596, ante.

5609. Extends to all nullity suits—Grounds for decree immaterial.]—DORMER (OTHERWISE WARD) v. WARD, No. 5629, post.

5610. —— Nullity decreed for impotence.]—The power given to the ct. by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, & extended by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), s. 3, to inquire into & vary settlements, extends to cases where nullity of marriage has been decreed for impotence. "Property settled" includes money covenanted to be paid by third parties. For the purpose of such alteration the annulled marriage must be treated as if it were valid.—NEPEAN (OTHERWISE LEE WARNER) v. NEPEAN, [1925] P. 97; 94 L. J. P. 42; 133 L. T. 287; 41 T. L. R. 366.

5611. Settlement conditional on future event—Marriage pronounced void before event.]—DORMER (OTHERWISE WARD) v. WARD, No. 5629, post.

5612. Where child of marriage has attained vested interest—Interest vested in husband as next of kin.]—BLOOD v. BLOOD, No. 5630, post.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 5, B. (a) & 5613. Petition for variation by guilty party.]—WOOTTON-ISAACSON v. WOOTTON-ISAACSON, No. 5742, post.

5614. Interests, rights & liabilities of persons not parties to suits.]—(1) By a marriage settlement the wife's father covenanted that his exors. should within twelve months of his death, if the wife were then living, pay to the trustees £10,000 on trust, in default of issue, which happened, for the wife absolutely "if she shall survive her now intended coverture, but if she shall die during her now intended coverture," then in trust for the father absolutely. The husband obtained an absolute decree for dissolution of the marriage, & the wife survived her father:—Held: the wife had survived the coverture within the meaning of the settlement, & was therefore entitled to receive the £10,000 from the trustees when paid to them.

(2) Semble: an order of the Divorce Ct. having dealt with the settled property as if the husband were dead, the husband must be considered as dead for the purpose of construing the settlement, & the coverture might be considered as terminated in this manner also.

Qu.: whether under the Matrimonial Causes Acts, 1857 (c. 85), 1859 (c. 61), 1878 (c. 19), the Divorce Ct. has power to interfere with the interests, rights, & liabilities of persons not parties to the suit, for example, a wife's father covenanting to settle a fund.—Re CRAWFORD'S SETTLEMENT, COOKE v. GIBSON, [1905] 1 Ch. 11; 74 L. J. Ch. 22; 91 L. T. 683; 53 W. R. 107.

5615. Interests of third parties—Created before filing of petition.]—Upon a petition for variation of settlements, the ct. has power to make an order in favour of the interests of third parties created before the filing of that petition.

Until a decree has been made for dissolution of a marriage, there is no lis pendens with reference to the property included in the marriage settlements.

Before a decree nisi was made for dissolution of the marriage, resp. had charged his interest under the marriage settlement with payment of his solr.'s costs of suit:—Held: under the circumstances, the charge was valid & resp.'s interests could not be extinguished without providing for this charge.—WIGNEY v. WIGNEY (1882), 7 P. D. 228; 51 L. J. P. 84; 47 L. T. 129; 31 W. R. 140.

Annotation:—Consd. Nevill v. Nevill (1893), 69 L. T. 463.

5616. Before decree absolute.]—CONSTANTINIDI v. CONSTANTINIDI & LANCE, No. 5752, post.

5617. ——.]—CLARKE v. CLARKE & LINDSAY, No. 5766, post.

5618. Effect of events happening after decree absolute.]—CONSTANTINIDI v. CONSTANTINIDI & LANCE, No. 5752, post.

5619. To override restraint on anticipation.]—On a petition for variation of settlement, after decree absolute for dissolution of marriage, the ct. has full power under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, as extended by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), s. 3, to vary such settlement in such a way as to override the restraint upon anticipation clause & put an end to the restraint, notwithstanding the remarriage of the innocent party before an order of the ct. is made, though after petition filed.—CHURCHWARD v. CHURCHWARD [1910] P. 195; 79 L. J. P. 59; 102 L. T. 862; 26 T. L. R. 401.

Annotation:—Refd. Loraine v. Loraine & Murphy, [1912] P. 86.

5620. — — Remarriage of wife before variation.]—The power of the ct. to vary settlements under the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c 61), includes a power to override a restraint on anticipation contained in a delinquent wife's settlement, even in a case where the wife has married co-resp. after the decree absolute & before the order to vary.—MORGAN v. MORGAN & KIRBY, [1923] P. 1; 92 L. J. P. 8; 128 L. T. 252; 39 T. L. R. 47.

5621. In divorce court only.]—By a settlement made in 1912 in contemplation of the marriage of a domiciled Scotsman with an English woman, a fund brought into settlement by the wife's relations was settled in trust for the wife for life, & after her death in trust for her husband with trusts over in favour of the issue of the marriage, & it was thereby agreed & declared by all the parties thereto that the settlement should be construed & the rights of all persons claiming thereunder regulated according to the law of England in the same manner as if the husband & wife were to remain thenceforth during their respective lives domiciled in England. The marriage was solemnised in Oct. 1912, & in Dec. 1914, the husband obtained a divorce in Scotland, but did not raise the question as to the rights that the respective parties subsequently have in the settled property. Six months later he commenced an action against his divorced wife & the trustees of the marriage settlement for a declaration that the wife by reason of the divorce had as the party injurer forfeited all provisions in her favour under the settlement, & that her life interest in the settled fund ceased as at the date of the decree of divorce as if she were naturally dead, & that the income fell to be paid to the husband, & alternatively for such equitable relief as he would have obtained according to the law of England if he had been domiciled in England at the date of the divorce:—Held: the alternative claim was wholly unsustainable, inasmuch as it was to the Divorce Ct. alone that Parliament had given a discretional jurisdiction to vary the provisions of settlements & alter the bargain which the parties had made.—MONTGOMERY v. ZARIFI (1918), 88 L. J. P. C. 20; 119 L. T. 380, H. L.

(b) "Settlement" and "Property Settled."

5622. What is a "settlement"—Assignment to spouse of property.]—The wife obtained a decree dissolving her marriage, & she thereupon petitioned for variation of settlements or, in the alternative, for maintenance. Some twenty years before the date of the decree, she assigned to her husband certain property of which she then stood possessed subject to mtges. This she now sought to have re-assigned to her, subject to all valid mtges.:—Held: the assignment was not a "settlement" within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), but, upon a petition by the wife for maintenance, the ct. could order, & did order, resp. to secure to petitioner, by way of maintenance, the property which she had formerly assigned to him, subject to outstanding mtges.—CHALMERS v. CHALMERS (1892), 68 L. T. 28; 1 R. 504.

Annotation:—Apprvd. Hubbard v. Hubbard, [1901] P. 157.

5623. —— ——.]—A husband executed a deed by which he assigned to a trustee a leasehold house & some furniture, upon trust to assign the same at once to the wife absolutely, & the trustee assigned the same accordingly. The wife afterwards obtained a decree of nullity of marriage:—Held: the assignment was not a "settlement" within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, & the ct. had no jurisdiction to vary its provisions.—HUBBARD (OTHERWISE ROGERS) v. HUBBARD, [1901] P. 157; 70 L. J. P. 34; 84 L. T. 441, C. A.

5624. Settlement on wife by will.]—LORAINE v. LORAINE & MURPHY, No. 5549, ante.

5625. —— Will bequeathing funds to trustees of settlement—Funds to be held on trusts of settlement.]—The power of the ct. under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, to vary the trusts of a marriage settlement, does not enable it to vary the trusts of a will, even when the gift by will is to the trustees of a marriage settlement upon the trusts of the settlement.—GARRATT v. GARRATT & GARRATT, [1922] P. 230; 91 L. J. P. 207; 127 L. T. 559; 38 T. L. R. 620.

—— Deed of separation.]—See Part XI., Sect. 9, ante.

5626. What is "property settled"—Trust fund under separation deed.]—STONE v. STONE & BROWNRIGG, No. 5551, ante.

5627. —— Property to be applied at discretion of trustees.]—Under the settlement made on the marriage of the parties an absolute discretion was vested in the trustees in respect of the application of the income of the settled property. The marriage was dissolved on the petition of the wife in Apr. 1872. In Mar. 1877, the trustees who had up to that date exercised their discretionary power in her favour, declined to continue the payment of the income of the fund to her, & she thereupon filed a petition for a variation of the settlement:—Held: petitioner was not barred by delay from presenting her petition, &, notwithstanding the absolute discretion vested in the trustees, the ct. had power to make such order in respect of the application of the settled property as to it might seem fit.—MARSH v. MARSH (1878), 47 L. J. P. 78; 39 L. T. 545.

5628. —— ——.]—The power of the ct. with reference to the application of settled property under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), is not limited to absolute interests. Orders may be made with reference to property so settled as to be applied at the discretion of the trustees.—VALLANCE v. VALLANCE (1907), 77 L. J. P. 33.

5629. —— Charge in favour of beneficiaries—Whether charge or property charged the "property settled."]—The jurisdiction of the ct., conferred by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, & extended by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), s. 3, to inquire into the existence of ante-nuptial & post-nuptial settlements, & to make orders varying the same, is not limited to any particular class of nullity cases, but includes all cases in which a decree of nullity has been pronounced, upon whatsoever ground.

By a marriage settlement resp., the intended husband, covenanted with trustees to pay to them, if the marriage should take place, a yearly sum of £200, in trust to pay the same to petitioner, the intended wife, during the joint lives of husband & wife. He also, in virtue of certain powers vested in him, appointed in favour of petitioner, if she should survive him, a jointure rent-charge, to be charged on certain specified hereditaments, & secured by a term of years to commence from his death. He also, in exercise of powers vested in him, appointed certain other hereditaments to the use of the trustees for a term of years, to raise a capital sum, the interest of which was to be paid to him during his life, & after his decease the fund was to be held in trust for the issue of the marriage, & in default of issue for the intended wife, but subject to the proviso that no part should be raised during his lifetime without his consent in writing. The marriage took place, but, on the petition of the wife, a decree of nullity of marriage was made on the ground of the impotence of resp. On an application by petitioner to vary the settlement:—Held: (1) although the marriage had been declared void, & the covenant as to the payment of £200 a year no longer took effect, the ct. had jurisdiction under the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, on the application of petitioner, to vary the settlement in respect of that settled property; (2) the ct. would have had power to vary the settlement as to the jointure rent-charge, & the capital sum directed to be raised, on the ground that they were "property settled" within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, but for the conditions that the former was only to commence after the death of resp., & the latter could not be raised in his lifetime without his consent, neither of which events had happened.

Where property is settled under a marriage settlement, conditionally on the happening of a future event, & the marriage has been pronounced to be void before the happening of the event, the ct. cannot ignore the condition, & vary the settlement in respect of the property so settled.

(3) Where in a marriage settlement, property is charged in favour of the intended beneficiaries, the "property settled," within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, is the charge & not the property settled.—DORMER (OTHERWISE WARD) v. WARD, [1901] P. 20; 69 L. J. P. 144; 83 L. T. 556; 49 W. R. 149; 17 T. L. R. 12, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Nepean (otherwise Lee Warner) v. Nepean, [1925] P. 97. Refd. Re Garnett, Richardson v. Greenep (1905), 74 L. J. Ch. 570; Re Wombwell's Settlmt., Clerke v. Menzies, [1922] 2 Ch. 298. Generally, Refd. E. v. E. (otherwise T.) (1902), 50 W. R. 607; Attwood v. Attwood, [1903] P. 7; Sharpe v. Sharpe, [1909] P. 20.

5630. Vested interest of deceased child—Vested in husband as next of kin.]—By marriage settlement property was settled upon trust for the wife for life, remainder to the husband, remainder to the children of the marriage. There was only one child, who died after having acquired a vested interest in the fund, & his father became entitled to his interest as his sole next of kin. The wife obtained a decree dissolving the marriage:—Held: the father's interest as next of kin of his deceased son was "property settled" within Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, & the ct. had power under that sect. to extinguish not only the father's life interest, but also his interest as next of kin of the son.—BLOOD v. BLOOD, [1902] P. 190; 71 L. J. P. 97; 86 L. T. 641; 50 W. R. 547; 18 T. L. R. 588; 46 Sol. Jo. 499, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Churchward v. Churchward, [1910] P. 195.

5631. —— Money covenanted to be paid by third parties.]—NEPEAN (OTHERWISE LEE WARNER) v. NEPEAN, No. 5610, ante.

C. What Court will Consider.

5632. Means of parties.]—WEBSTER v. WEBSTER & MITFORD, No. 5693, post.

5633. ——.]—CHETWYND v. CHETWYND, No. 5786, post.

5634. ——.]—MARCH v. MARCH & PALUMBO, No. 5576, ante.

5635. —— Husband's probable increase in income.]—TUPPER v. TUPPER & TERRELL, No. 5663, post.

5636. Requirements of parties.]—MARCH v. MARCH & PALUMBO, No. 5576, ante.

5637. Conduct of parties.]—In making a settlement of property belonging to a wife, the ct. looks not only to the portions of her fortune which the husband may have already received, but to all the circumstances of the case, & particularly to the husband's conduct. Where a widow about to marry again assigned all her property except a life interest in the income of £10,000 Consols, to which she was entitled under a former settlement, in trust for her separate use during the coverture, & afterwards in trust for herself, if she survived, or if not, for the second husband, & it appeared that he had married her from interested motives only, & there had been a divorce a mensâ et thoro for adultery on his part, the ct. settled the whole income of the £10,000 Consols on the wife, irrespectively of the question whether it had been by mistake or otherwise left out of settlement.—BARROW v. BARROW (1854), 5 De G. M. & G. 782; 3 Eq. Rep. 149; 24 L. J. Ch. 267; 3 W. R. 122; 43 E. R. 1073; sub nom. BARROW v. WILLIAMS, BARROW v. BARROW, 24 L. T. O. S. 198, C. A.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 5, C.

Annotations:—Refd. Re Ford (1863), 2 New Rep. 349. Mentd. Re Cooke's Trusts (1887), 56 L. T. 737.

5638. ——.]—CHETWYND v. CHETWYND, No. 5786, post.

5639. — -.]- -MARCH v. MARCH & PALUMBO, No. 5576, ante.

5640. — -.]- -WIGNEY v. WIGNEY, No. 5664, post.

5641. ——.]—(1) In exercising the power of varying settlements conferred by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, the ct. must have regard not only to the rights & liabilities of the parties inter se, but also to the interests of society & public morality & relief will not be given to a person guilty of matrimonial misconduct unless such misconduct can be palliated.

(2) The sum to be awarded to an injured husband by variation of settlements should be measured by what is necessary to give him means according to the scale to which he may have accommodated his mode of life, & this measure ought not to be disregarded for the purpose of preventing the co-resp. obtaining a pecuniary profit from his adultery. There is no general rule that a co-resp. is not to be allowed to get any profit from his adultery; but the ct. must exercise its discretion so as to promote virtue & discourage vice, & the fact that the guilty resp. & co-resp. have married may turn the scale in favour of a liberal allowance to petitioner, or against resp., but it will not justify the depriving resp. of everything beyond the bare necessities of life in the condition in which she has been brought up.

(3) There is no power for the ct. in the exercise of its jurisdiction to make an order having a retrospective effect so as to recoup to a husband income of a fund settled by him which has been received by the wife after she had deserted him.

A decree nisi for the dissolution of marriage was made on the petition of the husband, which was based on the ground that the wife had left him, & gone to America & obtained a divorce there, & subsequently married co-resp. there & cohabited with him, neither the divorce nor the marriage in America being such that it could be recognised by the law of England. It was alleged & admitted at the trial that petitioner had committed adultery before the presentation of the petition, & afterwards, & close up to the time of resp. putting in her answer. Petitioner did not go into the witness-box & offer any explanation as to his adultery, or submit himself to cross-examination. The decree was afterwards made absolute. There were no children of the marriage. Resp. had brought into settlement property yielding an income of about £2,200. Under the settlement resp. took the first life interest, & there was a trust, in default of issue of the marriage taking a vested interest, to pay the income of the trust fund to any husband surviving the resp. during his life. Resp. was also entitled to a protected life interest in certain funds under her father's will subject to her mother's life interest. Petitioner had brought into settlement property yielding an income of about £400. Resp. took the first life interest in this fund under the settlement. Petitioner had from other sources an income of about £250 a year. Petitioner applied for variation of the settlements:—Held: resp.'s interest in petitioner's settlement ought to be extinguished; but having regard to the conduct of petitioner, the ct. ought not under the discretionary power vested in it by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, to vary the resp.'s settlement in his favour.—CONSTANTINIDI v. CONSTANTINIDI & LANCE, [1905] P. 253; 74 L. J. P. 122; 93 L. T. 651; 54 W. R. 121; 21 T. L. R. 651; 49 Sol. Jo. 634, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Evans v. Evans & Elford, [1906] P. 125; Hines v. Hines & Burdett, [1918] P. 364; La Terriere v. La Terriere & Grey (1920), 124 L. T. 575; Tickner v. Tickner, [1924] P. 118. Refd. Tulk v. Tulk (1906), 23 T. L. R. 120; Craven v. Craven & Robinson (1909), 26 T. L. R. 4; Pullen v. Pullen & Holding (1920), 123 L. T. 203. Generally, Mentd. Jagger v. Jagger (1926), 42 T. L. R. 315.

5642. Interests of children.]—On an application for an alteration of the settlements under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, the husband offered, if allowed to withdraw from settlement the moneys brought in by himself, to surrender his interest in favour of the child in the moneys settled by the wife, by reason of whose adultery the marriage was dissolved. The ct. refused the application, it not being satisfied that the proposed alteration would be for the benefit of the child.—POCOCK v. POCOCK & BARTON (1868), 18 L. T. 338; 16 W. R. 712.

—— Power of court to prejudice.]—See Nos. 5598–5600, ante.

5643. Remarriage of respondent with co-respondent—Ignorance of co-respondent that respondent's circumstances might be altered adversely.]—(1) The marriage of petitioner & resp. was solemnised in 1870, & in 1872 a deed of separation was entered into between them, in which, amongst other things, it was arranged that resp., the wife, should pay petitioner during their joint lives an annuity of £100 a year out of the settled property. In 1874 the marriage was dissolved by reason of resp.'s adultery:—Held: on a revision of the settlements petitioner was not precluded by the deed of separation from asking for a larger allowance out of the wife's settled property than that which was secured to him by the deed.

A decree absolute for dissolution of marriage between petitioner & resp. was pronounced in July, 1874; in Dec. 1874, a marriage was solemnised between resp. & co-resp., who were ignorant of the fact that in the previous Nov. a petition had been filed for variation of the settlements made on the marriage of resp. with her previous husband:—Held: (2) there had been no unreasonable delay on the part of petitioner in applying for an alteration of the settlements; (3) co-resp. must be taken to have known all the circumstances of resp., &

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 5.—C.

5642 i. Interests of children.]—On a petition by one who has procured a decree absolute of divorce, to vary the terms of an ante-nuptial settlement, the ct. will not make a variation, though consented to by the other party to the marriage where the variation affects an infant interested under the settlement, if the ct. is not clearly satisfied that the variation is advantageous to the infant, also, on such petition, the ct. should not, as a rule, allow variations so as to create interests in favour of wrongdoers.—BURNS v. BURNS, [1924] 1 W. W. R. 498; 1 D. L. R. 462.—CAN.

his ignorance of the fact that those circumstances were likely to be altered to her disadvantage did not constitute a sufficient ground for the ct. refusing to deprive her of a portion of the property brought into settlement by her on her marriage with petitioner.

(4) A wife's property, yielding an income of £1,350 a year, was settled on herself for life for her separate use; there was a covenant by the husband to appoint in favour of the wife the income arising from a certain sum, £8,000, in which he had a prospective interest; the marriage was dissolved by reason of the wife's adultery. The ct., in varying the settlements, relieved the husband of his covenant & allowed him, he having himself only an allowance of £100 a year, £300 a year out of the wife's income, & £200 a year for the maintenance & education of the only child of the marriage, a son, until he attained the age of twenty-one.—BENYON v. BENYON & O'CALLAGHAN (1876), 1 P. D. 447; 45 L. J. P. 93; 24 W. R. 950.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Gandy v. Gandy (1882), 7 P. D. 77; Wilkinson v. Wilkinson (1893), 69 L. T. 459. Refd. Hanbury v. Hanbury (1894), 70 L. T. 569; Bishop v. Bishop, Judkins v. Judkins, [1897] P. 138. As to (4) Refd. Blandford v. Blandford (1892), 67 L. T. 392; Midwinter v. Midwinter (1893), 68 L. T. 262; Thomasset v. Thomasset, [1894] P. 295. Generally, Refd. Benyon v. Benyon & O'Callaghan (1890), 59 L. J. P. 39.

5644. Payment by respondent wife of costs of suit.]—NOEL v. NOEL, No. 5674, post.

5645. Rights & liabilities of parties inter se.]—CONSTANTINIDI v. CONSTANTINIDI & LANCE, No. 5641, ante.

5646. Interests of third parties.]—WIGNEY v. WIGNEY, No. 5615, ante.

5647. Interests of public morality.]—CONSTANTINIDI v. CONSTANTINIDI & LANCE, No. 5641, ante.

D. What Orders will be Made.

(a) Object of Orders.

5648. Protection of interest of innocent party.]—The ct. will make no order respecting settled property under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, after dissolution of marriage by reason of the wife's adultery, to deprive the husband of any benefit derived from the settlement.—THOMPSON v. THOMPSON & BARRAS (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 649; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 39; 7 L. T. 396; 9 Jur. N. S. 26; 11 W. R. 193; 164 E. R. 1150.

5649. ——.]—MAUDSLAY v. MAUDSLAY, No. 5681, post.

5650. ——.]—The principle of the decisions on Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, is that, where the breaking up of the family life has been caused by the fault of resp., the ct. ought to place petitioner & the children in a position as nearly as circumstances will permit the same as if the family life had not been broken up.

A wife, whose marriage had been dissolved on the ground of her adultery, had under her marriage settlement a power of appointment in her husband's favour, if he should survive her, over a fund, which, apart from the exercise of the power, would upon her death have vested in the children of the marriage, & this was the husband's only interest in his wife's property under the settlement:—Held: as it was reasonable to suppose that, if the family life had continued, she would have exercised the power in his favour, the income should, after her death, be paid to him during his lifetime.—HARTOPP v. HARTOPP & AKHURST, [1899] P. 65; 68 L. J. P. 33; 80 L. T. 297; 15 T. L. R. 168.

Annotations:—Refd. Blood v. Blood, [1902] P. 78; Lorriman v. Lorriman & Clair, [1908] P. 282.

5651. Not punishment of guilty party.]—WIGNEY v. WIGNEY, No. 5664, post.

5652. Benefit of parties & issue.]—THOMSON v. THOMSON & RODSCHINKA, No. 5596, ante.

5653. Retention of parties in same position as before dissolution.]—(1) The main object & intent of the legislature in giving the Divorce Ct. power to vary marriage settlements is to place the parties in the same position, as far as possible, as if the marriage had not been put an end to through the fault of one of them.

(2) Where a marriage settlement gives an innocent party to it the power, if survivor, of appointing a portion of his or her settled fund in favour of a second spouse & the children of a second marriage, the ct. in varying such a settlement under the powers of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), will, although issue of the first marriage exists, permit the immediate exercise of such a power in the lifetime of the guilty party to an extent in the opinion of the ct. not, having due regard to all the facts, detrimental to such existing issue.—HODGSON ROBERTS v. HODGSON ROBERTS & WHITAKER, [1906] P. 142; 75 L. J. P. 48; 94 L. T. 621; 22 T. L. R. 395.

(b) Extinction or Modification of Guilty Party's Interest in Settled Funds.

5654. Interest in property brought in by innocent spouse — Respondent husband.] — BOYNTON v. BOYNTON, No. 4782, ante.

5655. —— ——.] — The wife divorced her husband on the grounds of cruelty & adultery. The decree nisi was pronounced in Dec. 1891, & the decree absolute on Nov. 22, 1892. Petitioner was ordered to have the custody of the three children of the marriage. A settlement of the wife's property was made in 1877, upon the marriage, & no contest arose as to the extinguishment of all interest of resp. thereunder. By a post-nuptial deed, executed in 1878, resp. brought property into settlement. Under that deed resp. took the first life interest, subject to an annuity of £300 a year payable to petitioner until her death or remarriage, & after his death the property was to go to resp.'s children by petitioner or by any future wife, as he should appoint, & in default of appointment, it was to be equally divided among all his children by petitioner or any future wife. He was also empowered to raise a sum of £4,000 upon mtge. of his life interest, & there was also a proviso empowering him, under certain conditions, to appoint the income accruing after his death to any future wife for life, & it gave him power to appoint new trustees. On Dec. 17, 1892, resp. married again, after executing, on the previous day, a settlement substantially in favour of his second wife, & exercising his power of appointment under the post-nuptial deed of 1878 in favour of the child or children, if any, of his second marriage, to the exclusion of the three children of the first marriage. On Dec. 23, 1892, being the last day limited by the rules, petitioner filed a petition to vary the ante-nuptial settlement of 1877, &, on Jan. 19, 1893, amended that petition by including the post-nuptial settlement of 1878. On Feb. 14, 1893 resp. was served, under an order for substituted service obtained on Feb. 7, with the petition as amended, & he subsequently entered an appearance thereto, & filed an answer, objecting to any variation of the post-nuptial settlement. Resp., during the year 1888, charged his life interest under the deed of 1878 with various sums advanced to him. In Mar. 1891, resp. was adjudicated bkpt., & in Sept. 1892, his life interest under the settlements of 1877 & 1878 were sold by auction by the trustee in bkpcy., the purchase being completed on Dec. 30, 1892. The conditions of sale contained a notice of the divorce & consequent possible application to vary the settlements. The trustees of the settlement of Dec. 16, 1892, were represented at the reference before the registrar, who recommended that all interest of resp. in the property comprised in the settlement of 1877 should be extinguished, & that his powers of appointment under the deed of 1878 should also be extinguished. Upon motion to confirm the registrar's report, the ct. confirmed the first recommendation, but ordered that the powers of appointment under the deed of 1878 should be extinguished only to the extent of leaving the children of the first marriage to take as if there had been a default of appointment, &, that this extinction should only operate during petitioner's life or until she married again.—NEVILL v. NEVILL (1893), 69 L. T. 463.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 5, D. (b) & (c).]

5656. —— ——.]—POLLARD v. POLLARD, No. 5678, post.

5657. —— ——.]—Petitioner, a widow with one child by her first husband, settled, upon her marriage, certain property producing an annual income of about £750, upon trust to pay the income to herself for life; then to her husband, resp., for his life, & in the events which happened, with remainder to her only child, if he should attain twenty-one, with ultimate remainder to petitioner. Petitioner obtained a decree absolute dissolving her marriage, &, in her petition to vary the settlement, she prayed that resp.'s life interest in the trust funds should be extinguished; &, further, that the trustees should be ordered to pay to her a sum of £1,000, or such other sum as the ct. should direct, to cover the costs & other incidental & additional expenses of petitioner, arising out of resp.'s misconduct. The registrar reported in favour of the first, but submitted in regard to the second part of the prayer, that, as it would be to some extent prejudicial to the child's interests, no order ought to be made directing any payment out of the corpus of the fund until the infant was represented. Upon motion to vary the registrar's report, the ct. ordered an adjournment, so that the infant might be represented, & thereupon made an order extinguishing resp.'s interests, & directing the trustees to raise & pay to petitioner a sum of £450 to cover costs, including the costs of the application.—DOUGLAS v. DOUGLAS (1896), 74 L. T. 384.

5658. —— Respondent wife.]—NOEL v. NOEL, No. 5674, post.

5659. Interest brought in by guilty spouse—Partial extinction—Immediate income given to children.]—BEAUCHAMP v. BEAUCHAMP & WATT (1904), 20 T. L. R. 273, C. A.

5660. —— Small income.]—Dissolution of a marriage having been decreed on the wife's petition, an order was made under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, extinguishing the life interest of the husband in settled property, the whole of which was brought into settlement by him & the income of which amounted to £45 a year, there being one child of the marriage who had not attained a vested interest:—Held: the order made was not only a legitimate order, but the best one possible that could be made in the interests of the wife & child.—KAYE v. KAYE (1902), 86 L. T. 638; 50 W. R. 499, C. A.

5661. Interest in property brought in by both parties—Trusts of property of guilty husband not varied.]—By settlements made before & after the marriage £724 Consols, the property of the husband, & £700, & also some leaseholds, the property of the wife's father, were settled upon the wife for life, & after her death on the husband for life, & after the death of the survivor upon the children of the marriage. The ct. after a decree absolute for dissolution of marriage at the suit of the wife, made an order, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, that the trustees of the settlements should deal with the proceeds of the property which came from the wife as if the husband was dead at the date of the decree absolute, but as to the £724 settled by the husband, refused to alter the settlement.—JOHNSON v. JOHNSON (1861), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 29.

5662. —— Trust of property of guilty wife modified—To provide maintenance for child.]—MARCH v. MARCH & PALUMBO, No. 5576, ante.

5663. —— —— ——.]—After final decree dissolving the marriage upon the ground of the adultery of resp. with co-resp. petitioner presented a petition for variation of two settlements executed in 1882 in contemplation of the marriage. Substantially, the settlements gave the wife a first life interest in half the income of the fund brought into settlement by herself, & further conferred upon her conditional benefits in certain contingencies, the principal one being that, upon the death of resp.'s mother, now aged about seventy, resp.'s income would be immediately increased from about £300 to about £650 a year. There was also a power of appointing new trustees by petitioner & resp. during their joint lives, & by the survivor of them during his or her life. The registrar recommended, as to the property brought into settlement by petitioner, that the whole of the wife's interest & powers should be extinguished; & as to the property brought into settlement by resp., that the terms of the settlement should be varied by ordering the trustees to pay £50 a year to petitioner for the maintenance & education of the infant child of the marriage during her minority, & after twenty-one to the said child; & that upon the death of resp.'s mother the allowance for the child should be increased to £150 a year. Further, that resp.'s power of appointment amongst the children or remoter issue of the said marriage should be extinguished. It was left for the ct. to say whether her power of appointing, or joining in the appointment of, new trustees should be extinguished as prayed by petitioner. The registrar refused to take into account the great probability of the husband's promotion in the office held by him in Her Majesty's household, by which promotion, it was said, that his income would be increased by about the amount of income which would accrue to resp. on the death of her mother: Held: (1) the registrar was right in not taking the husband's probable future promotion & consequent increase of salary into account; (2) as the wife's increase of income was a vested interest to which she was absolutely entitled in reversion, the registrar's report as to the increased amount to be paid by resp. for the benefit of the child upon the reversion falling in was not unreasonable nor contrary to the practice; (3) as the wife was still to retain an interest in the fund brought into settlement by herself, her right to appoint, or join in the appointment of, new trustees must be retained in her favour.—TUPPER v. TUPPER & TERRELL (1890), 62 L. T. 665.

5664. Extinction subject to payment of debts—Debts incurred for upkeep of joint establishment.]—(1) The fortune of a wife was settled as to a part producing £950 a year on the husband for life, then on the wife for life; as to the residue, producing £1,200 a year, on the wife for life, then on the husband for life; & after the decease of the survivor, in default of children of the marriage, then as to the whole property on such trusts as the wife should by will appoint, & in default of appointment to the husband absolutely. There was no child of the marriage. The wife obtained a decree for dissolution of the marriage on the ground of adultery & cruelty. The husband had mortgaged his life interest for debts incurred in keeping up the joint establishment, & alleged that he had incurred other debts for the same purpose. The President of the Divorce Ct., upon the wife's petition, made an order that the trustees of the settlement should stand possessed of all the funds upon the trusts which would be applicable thereto if the husband were dead, & had died in the lifetime of the wife, & free from the ultimate trust in default of appointment, but subject to the wife undertaking to pay the charges made by the husband on the trust funds:—Held: the order must be affirmed, with this variation, that an account should be taken of all debts due from the husband incurred for the purpose of the joint establishment, & the wife must undertake to pay them.

(2) Though the power given to the ct. of varying settlements is not given for the purpose of punishing the guilty party, but of making due provision for the parties, their conduct is to be taken into consideration in determining what provisions ought to be made for them respectively.

(3) The judge has an absolute judicial discretion as to the provisions to be made for the parties respectively out of settled property, & the Ct. of Appeal will not interfere with that discretion, unless there has been a clear miscarriage in its exercise.—WIGNEY v. WIGNEY (1882), 7 P. D. 177; 51 L. J. P. 60; 46 L. T. 441; 30 W. R. 722, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Dormer v. Ward, [1901] P. 20. As to (2) Consd. Ollier v. Ollier, [1914] P. 240. As to (3) Refd. Ollier v. Ollier, [1914] P. 240.

5665. —— Charges incurred before filing of petition.]—WIGNEY v. WIGNEY, No. 5615, ante.

5666. Certain acceleration of infant's interest—Possible prejudice through petitioner's exercise of power.]—Upon a petition to vary two post-nuptial settlements after decree absolute for divorce, it appeared that the whole property was in land, & that, if resp.'s interests were extinguished, petitioner would, by virtue of a clause in one of the settlements, have power to call upon the trustees to raise forthwith a sum which, at the present time, would exceed the sale value of the whole of the settled property, & which would therefore, if exercised by petitioner, absolutely blot out all interests of the infant child of the parties under the settlements. The registrar notwithstanding this, recommended that resp.'s interests should be extinguished as if he were dead:—Held: inasmuch as the child's interest was accelerated by the extinguishment of resp.'s interests, the child was thereby obtaining a certain gain, against an uncertain loss if petitioner should now exercise the power conferred upon her by the settlement. Report of the registrar confirmed.—CREAGH v. CREAGH (1896), 74 L. T. 430.

(c) Variation, Postponement and Extinction of Powers of Appointment.

5667. Power of appointment over fund—By consent—Refusal of court to carry out.]—The ct. refused to carry out alterations, in a settlement, agreed upon between the parties, whose marriage had been dissolved, so as to extinguish the power of appointment given to resp. by the settlement, or to affect the appointment of new trustees.—DAVIES v. DAVIES & M'CARTHY (1868), 37 L. J. P. & M. 17.

Annotations:—Consd. Oppenheim v. Oppenheim (1884), 9 P. D. 60; Bosvile v. Bosvile & Craven (1888), 58 L. T. 640.

5668. —— Continuance of part of settled income to respondent.]—(1) In a petition for variation of settlements after a decree of dissolution on account of the wife's adultery, the registrar by his report recommended that the power of appointment over the fund given to the wife by the settlement should be extinguished, & that she should be deprived of the power of appointing or joining in the appointment of new trustees. Petitioner had signified his willingness that resp. should continue to receive £100 a year out of £150 settled on her. The ct. confirmed the first of these recommendations, but disallowed the second, on the ground that as resp. was to continue to receive an income from the fund she had an interest in the appointment of trustees.

(2) An order extinguishing the power of appointment of funds in the settlement, is an order made, within the words of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, "with reference to the application of the whole or a portion of the property settled."—BOSVILE v. BOSVILE & CRAVEN (1888), 13 P. D. 76; 57 L. J. P. 62; 58 L. T. 640; 36 W. R. 912.

Annotation:—As to (1) Apld. Tupper v. Tupper & Terrell (1890), 62 L. T. 665.

5669. —— Power of appointment in favour of children or remoter issue.]—TUPPER v. TUPPER & TERRELL, No. 5663, ante.

5670. —— ——.]—BEAUCHAMP v. BEAUCHAMP & WATT (1904), 20 T. L. R. 273, C. A.

5671. —— To leave issue as if default in appointment—Until petitioner's death or remarriage.]—NEVILL v. NEVILL, No. 5655, ante.

5672. —— Power in favour of husband—Presumption of future exercise of power.]—HARTOPP v. HARTOPP & AKHURST, No. 5650, ante.

5673. —— Power in favour of husband & issue of second marriage—Husband's petition—Interests of second husband postponed to those of issue of first marriage.]—Under a post-nuptial settlement a power was given to the wife, resp. in the suit, to appoint a life interest in the real & personal estate comprised in the settlement in favour of any future husband. There was one child, issue of the marriage, which was dissolved by reason of the wife's adultery:—Held: the ct. had power under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, to deal with the power of appointment possessed by the wife, & to postpone the interests of the second husband to those of the child of the first marriage under the settlement.—EVERED v. EVERED & GRAHAM (1874), 43 L. J. P. & M. 86; 31 L. T. 101; 22 W. R. 845.

5674. —— —— —— Exercise postponed until death of petitioner.]—A marriage had been dissolved at the suit of the husband. By the marriage settlements the wife had certain interests in her husband's property, & had also power to appoint a portion of her own property for the benefit of any husband she might marry after the death of her late husband, & for the children of that marriage. She & her husband had at present about £400 a year each, but she was entitled to reversionary property of great value, & was liable to pay the costs of the suit:—Held: (1) half of the wife's present & reversionary income must be given to the husband for himself & the two children of the marriage; (2) her interest in her husband's property must be extinguished; (3) her powers of appointment in favour of a future husband & children must not take effect until after the death of her late husband; (4) in varying the settlements the ct. must not take into consideration in her favour that she has to pay the costs of the suit.—NOEL v. NOEL (1885), 10 P. D. 179; 54 L. J. P. 73; 33 W. R. 552.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 5, D. (c), (d) & (e).]

Annotations:—As to (1) Apprvd. Savary v. Savary (1898), 79 L. T. 607. Distd. Constantinidi v. Constantinidi, [1905] P 253. Consd. Lorriman v. Lorriman & Clair, [1908] P. 282. As to (3) Consd. Nevill v. Nevill (1893), 69 L. T. 463. Folld. Branton Day v. Branton Day & Erskine (1898), 78 L. T. 358. Consd. Hartopp v. Hartopp & Akhurst, [1899] P. 65. Generally, Refd. Bosvile v. Bosvile & Craven (1888), 58 L. T. 640; Meredyth v. Meredyth, [1895] P. 92; Walpole v. Walpole & Goddard, [1901] P. 196; La Terriere v. La Terriere & Grey (1920), 124 L. T. 575.

5675. -.]—(1) Where under a marriage settlement a wife has power to resettle settled property in the event of surviving her husband & marrying again, &, having been divorced, has married co-resp. during her husband's lifetime, the ct. may make an order preventing any resettlement on any husband married, or children born, during the husband's lifetime.

(2) The ct. will not make payment to a father, for maintenance of a child, conditional on the latter residing with the father & being under his control, on the ground that after sixteen the child may wish to reside with the divorced wife.

(3) Payment to a child of an annual sum after attaining majority to which he is not entitled under the settlement, will not be refused on the ground that he may receive larger benefits from the wife.—BRANTON DAY v. BRANTON DAY & ERSKINE (1898), 78 L. T. 358.

5676. —— —— —— ——.]—BEAUCHAMP v. BEAUCHAMP & WATT (1904), 20 T. L. R. 273, C. A.

5677. —— —— —— ——.]—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS & KILBURN, No. 5587, ante.

5678. —— —— Wife's petition—Whether exercise postponed until death of respondent.]—A marriage was dissolved on the wife's petition. There had been a settlement of property practically the whole of which came from the wife. The settlement contained a provision that after the husband's death, if the wife married again she could appoint half the income to the second husband for life, & appoint half the capital among the children of the second marriage:—Held: the proper settlement to be made should extinguish the husband's beneficial interest & powers of consent, etc., as if he were dead, but should not accelerate the wife's power to resettle, which should only be exercised on the death of the first husband.—POLLARD v. POLLARD, [1894] P. 172; 63 L. J. P. 104; 70 L. T. 815; 6 R. 594.

Annotations:—Consd. Hartopp v. Hartopp & Akhurst, [1899] P. 65; Whitton v. Whitton, [1901] P. 348. Refd. Blood v. Blood, [1902] P. 190; Hodgson Roberts v. Hodgson Roberts & Whitaker, [1906] P. 142.

5679. -.]—WHITTON v. WHITTON, No. 5600, ante.

5680. —— —— —— -.]—HODGSON ROBERTS v. HODGSON ROBERTS & WHITAKER, No. 5653, ante.

—— Jurisdiction of court.]—See Nos. 5584, 5587, 5673, 5675, ante.

5681. Power of appointment of trustees—Extinction of respondent's power—By consent—Refusal of court to carry out.]—DAVIES v. DAVIES & M'CARTHY, No. 5667, ante.

5682. —— —— Not where interest in fund retained by respondent.]—BOSVILE v. BOSVILE & CRAVEN, No. 5668, ante.

5683. -.]—TUPPER v. TUPPER & TERRELL, No. 5663, ante.

5684. —— Variation of powers—By consent of parties.]—The functions of the ct. in varying the provisions of a marriage settlement are not to punish the guilty party, but to prevent, as far as it may think just & practicable, the innocent party being damaged, in a pecuniary sense, by the decree of dissolution. It will not deprive the father of the power of exercising parental judgment & discrimination with regard to his children, except so far as is inevitable from their remaining in the custody of their mother. Both parties desiring it, the ct. made an order varying the provisions of the settlement as to the appointment of new trustees.—MAUDSLAY v. MAUDSLAY (1877), 2 P. D. 256; 47 L. J. P. 26; 38 L. T. 323.

Annotations:—Consd. Oppenheim v. Oppenheim (1884), 9 P. D. 60; Bosvile v. Bosvile & Craven (1888), 58 L. T. 640. Refd. Bishop v. Bishop, Judkins v. Judkins (1897), 76 L. T. 409.

—— Jurisdiction of court.]—See Nos. 5589, 5590, ante.

(d) Reconveyance to Parties of Settled Property.

5685. Whether ordered—Child born—Between decree nisi & absolute—Fourteen months after separation—Dissolution on husband's petition.]—On a petition for variation of settlements after a decree for dissolution of marriage by reason of the wife's adultery, where a child had been born between the date of the decree nisi & decree absolute, & fourteen months after the wife had eloped from her husband, the ct. refused to transfer funds in settlement to the parties free from the trusts of the settlement, & also refused to order an inquiry into the legitimacy of the child.—PRYOR v. PRYOR & SHELFORD (1887), 12 P. D. 165; 56 L. J. P. 77; 57 L. T. 533; 35 W. R. 349.

Annotations:—Consd. Evans v. Evans & Blyth, [1904] P. 274. Refd. Douglas v. Douglas & Trevor (1897), 78 L. T. 88; Russell v. Russell, [1924] A. C. 687.

5686. —— No issue of marriage.]—Where under a marriage settlement there is a limitation of the wife's settled property in the event of failure of issue upon such trusts as she should by will or codicil appoint, & in default of appointment to her absolutely if she survive the husband, but if she die in his lifetime upon trust for her next of kin, the ct. may, if she obtain a decree nisi without issue born, order the settled property to be reconveyed to her freed from the trusts of the settlement.—WYNNE v. WYNNE (1898), 78 L. T. 796.

Annotation:—Distd. Walpole v. Walpole & Goddard, [1901] P. 196.

5687. —— —— No property brought in by respondent.]—MEREDYTH v. MEREDYTH & LEIGH, No. 5603, ante

5688. —— —— Settlement containing limitations in favour of petitioner's next of kin.]—By a settlement on his marriage with resp. petitioner settled certain property upon trust to pay the income to himself until he should alienate, or attempt to alienate, his interest therein, or until some event should occur whereby the income should become payable to some one other than himself, or until his death, whichever should first happen. The second interest was given to resp. for her life or widowhood, &, there being no children of the marriage, there was an ultimate trust in favour of the next of kin of petitioner, but this ultimate trust was only to take effect after the death of resp. if she should have married again & again become a widow. In 1899 petitioner gave a certain undertaking in the Ch. Div. to the effect that he would apply forthwith to vary the settlement so as to vest the remainder of the settled property in himself absolutely, & that he would in any event give a charge over all his interests under the settlement. After the decree absolute petitioner contracted a second marriage, & at the present time, were he to die, the persons entitled to share in his estate under the Statute of Distributions would be the second wife, the mother, & a nephew & niece of petitioner, the last two being also beneficially interested in the mtge. of his interest in the settled property. Upon motion to confirm the registrar's report upon the petition to vary the settlement & to order the reconveyance of the settled property to petitioner absolutely:—Held: this would be going too far, & the right order to make was simply to extinguish resp.'s interests in the settlement, so that subject to the engagement given by petitioner in the Ch. Div., petitioner's resulting life interest in the settled property would become operative.—WALPOLE v. WALPOLE & GODDARD, [1901] P. 196; 70 L. J. P. 49; 84 L. T. 727.

5689. —— Whole fund settled by petitioner—Agreed terms not by division of income.]—By a post-nuptial settlement a husband assigned certain property to trustees on trusts to pay him the income during his life, or until he had incurred a forfeiture, & on a determination of his interest, to his wife for her life, with further discretionary trusts for the benefit of the husband's next of kin, or for the benefit of a second wife, or the issue of a second marriage. The husband became bkpt., & by a compromise sanctioned by the Chancery Div. a portion of the fund was assigned to his trustee in bkpcy., & his interest in the remainder was assigned to the trustees of the settlement. Subsequently the marriage was dissolved on account of the wife's adultery, & on a petition for variation of settlements the registrar proposed that the trusts of the settlement should be extinguished, & that seven-twelfths of the fund should be paid to the husband, & five-twelfths to the wife. Both parties agreed to this, but the trustees of the settlement objected, & the ct. refused to sanction a division of the fund, but ordered that the income of five-twelfths of it should be paid to the wife, & that in all other respects the trusts of the settlement should remain in force.—SMITH v. SMITH & GRAVES (1887), 12 P. D. 102; 56 L. J. P. 51; 57 L. T. 375; 35 W. R. 459.

5690. —— Settlement on innocent wife with restraint—Remarriage of wife.]—On their marriage both husband & wife brought property into settlement. The wife's property was settled on her for life, with a restraint on anticipation. The wife obtained a decree dissolving the marriage, & remarried. She then presented a petition for variation of the marriage settlement. The registrar recommended that the property brought into settlement by husband & wife should be given back to them freed from all trusts:—Held: the report ought to be confirmed, & the restraint on anticipation did not, even after petitioner's remarriage, affect the power of the ct. to make the suggested variation.—MERTON v. MERTON (1900), 83 L. T. 223.

Annotation:—Apld. Morgan v. Morgan & Kirby, [1923] P. 1.

5691. By consent of only living persons interested—Though interests of persons unborn adversely affected.]—Where the only living persons who could be interested under the terms of a marriage settlement consented, the ct. upon the petition of the innocent settlor whose marriage had been dissolved, & notwithstanding that the interests of unborn persons might be adversely affected, ordered the trustees to reconvey to petitioner the whole of the settled property.—MORRISSEY v. MORRISSEY, [1905] P. 90; 74 L. J. P. 11; 92 L. T. 476.

Annotation:—Refd. Churchward v. Churchward, [1910] P. 195.

—— On decree of nullity.]—See Sub-sect. 5, D. (g), post.

Jurisdiction of court over capital generally.]—See No. 5579, ante.

(e) Application of Settled Property for Benefit of Children.

5692. Application of part of income for children—Interest of guilty husband in wife's property.]—BOYNTON v. BOYNTON, No. 4782, ante.

5693. —— Income of guilty wife.]—(1) The ct. will require full information of the husband's means when asked to vary the interest of the wife in her moneys in settlement in favour of the child.

(2) Where the marriage had been dissolved by reason of the wife's adultery, & she was entitled to a life interest in a sum of about £2,900 Consols, her own moneys in settlement, & the husband had scarce any income, the ct. ordered the trustees of the settlement to pay £20 per annum out of the life income of resp. to the paternal grandfather of the only child of the marriage, a daughter, for her use & benefit.—WEBSTER v. WEBSTER & MITFORD (1862), 3 Sw. & Tr. 106; 1 New Rep. 109; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 29; 7 L. T. 646; 9 Jur. N. S. 182; 11 W. R. 86; 164 E. R. 1212.

5694. —— —— Not conditional on delivery-up by husband of wife's jewels.]—THOMAS v. THOMAS & VIGNE, No. 5592, ante.

5695. —— ——.]—MARCH v. MARCH & PALUMBO, No. 5576, ante.

5696. —— —— Annuity provided by husband.]—CALLWELL v. CALLWELL & KENNEDY, No. 4746, ante.

5697. —— —— ——.]—The fact that, by reason of dissolution of a marriage in consequence of a wife's misconduct, an annuity provided by the husband will not be payable to the wife, & will be lost to the family is a detriment to the children, & a ground for compensating them out of the wife's property brought into settlement.—NEWALL v. NEWALL & PLATT (1898), 78 L. T. 203.

5698. Application of whole income for children—On respondent surviving petitioner.]—By a marriage settlement property was settled upon the husband for life, then upon the wife for life, then upon the children of the marriage. The marriage having been dissolved on the ground of the adultery of the wife, who continued to cohabit with co-resp., the ct., under sect. 5 of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), ordered that after the death of petitioner the settled property should, in the event of resp. surviving petitioner, be applied to the benefit of the children of the marriage as if resp. were dead.—PEARCE v. PEARCE & FRENCH (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 182.

5699. —— Whole property brought in by guilty wife.]—On the marriage of the parties, which marriage was subsequently dissolved by reason of the adultery of the wife, the father of resp. settled property, in the first place, for the benefit of his daughter for life, & then for the benefit of her husband, & on the death of the survivor of them, for the benefit of their children. No property was settled on behalf of petitioner. The ct. varied the settlement by ordering the whole income of the settled property to be applied during the joint lives of petitioner & resp. for the benefit of their children. The ct. has no authority to alter the destination of dividends due & payable

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 5, D. , (g), before the date of its order.—PAUL v. PAUL & FARQUHAR (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 93; sub nom. ST. PAUL v. ST. PAUL & FARQUHAR, 39 L. J. P. & M. 50; 23 L. T. 196; 18 W. R. 1007.

Annotation:—Refd. Nevill v. Nevill (1893), 69 L. T. 463.

5700. —— Annuity payable after death of petitioner—Right of respondent surviving children preserved.]—The ct. has no power to vary marriage settlements under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, unless it be for the benefit of the children of the marriage or of their parents. A petitioner's father having covenanted to pay resp., after petitioner's death, an annuity of £100 during the joint lives of himself & resp., an order was made that after petitioner's death the annuity should be applied for the benefit of the only child of the marriage; but the ct. held that it had no power to deprive resp. of the annuity in the event of her surviving the child.—SYKES v. SYKES & SMITH (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 163; 39 L. J. P. & M. 52; 23 L. T. 239; 18 W. R. 984.
Annotation:—Refd. Thomson v. Thomson, [1896] P. 263.

5701. Application for benefit of children & parent—Included in same order.]—MARCH v. MARCH & PALUMBO, No. 5576, ante.

5702. Children's interests secured—By guilty wife.]—BEAUCHAMP v. BEAUCHAMP & WATT 1904), 20 T. L. R. 273, C. A.

5703. Evidence required—Of husband's means.]—WEBSTER v. WEBSTER & MITFORD, No. 5693, ante.

(f) Variation of Separation Deeds.

See Part XI., Sect. 9, ante.

(g) In Nullity Suits.

5704. Reconveyance of property to parties.]—A marriage having been annulled, the ct. ordered all the property of the alleged wife to be reconveyed to her freed from the trusts of the settlement upon the alleged marriage.—A. v. M. (1884), 10 P. D. 178; 54 L. J. P. 31; sub nom. ADDINGTON (FALSELY CALLED MELLOR) v. MELLOR, 33 W. R. 232.
Annotations:— Folld. Leeds v. Leeds (1886), 57 L. T. 373. Consd. Re Garnett, Richardson v. Greenep (1905), 74 L. J. Ch. 570. Refd. Smith v. Smith & Graves (1887), 57 L. T. 375; Dormer v. Ward, [1901] P. 20; Churchward v. Churchward, [1910] P. 195.

5705. ——.]—After a decree, declaring a marriage null, the ct., upon a petition for variation of settlements, made an order that the property brought into settlement should be reconveyed to the parties, in the proportion in which they had respectively contributed to the settled fund, & freed from all the trusts of the settlement.—LEEDS v. LEEDS (1886), 57 L. T. 373.
Annotation:— Refd. Smith v. Smith & Graves (1887), 57 L. T. 375.

5706. —— Subject to deduction—Costs of petitioner & trustees.]—Without deciding whether an ante-nuptial settlement came to an end upon a decree absolute for nullity of the marriage being pronounced, the ct., being of opinion that all points affecting the settlement should be dealt with finally & forthwith, ordered that the interest of resp., husband, in the fund settled on behalf of petitioner, wife, should be extinguished, & that the fund settled by resp. should, subject to payment thereout by the trustees of their costs & the costs of petitioner, be handed over to resp.—ATTWOOD (OTHERWISE POMEROY) v. ATTWOOD, [1903] P. 7; 71 L. J. P. 129; 87 L. T. 750; 18 T. L. R. 833.
Annotations:—Consd. Re Garnett, Richardson v. Greenep (1905), 74 L. J. Ch. 570. Refd. Re Wombwell's Settlmt., Clerke v. Menzies (1922), 127 L. T. 295.

5707. ——.]—On an application by a wife who had obtained a decree of nullity, the ct. ordered, under Married Women's Property Act, 1882 (c. 75), s. 17, the restoration to her of a sum of money standing in the joint names of herself & her husband, both being members of the Jewish faith, which on the occasion of the marriage had been provided by the relations of the wife by way of so-called dower, being in fact a provision of separate estate for the wife.—JOSEPH (OTHERWISE KING) v. JOSEPH, [1909] P. 217; 78 L. J. P. 51; 100 L. T. 864; 25 T. L. R. 439; 53 Sol. Jo. 400; previous proceedings, sub nom. J. (OTHERWISE K.) v. J. (1908), 24 T. L. R. 622.

5708. ——.]—The ct. on the application of resp., the wife, in a nullity suit, made an order varying an ante-nuptial settlement, by directing a transfer of the trust funds to her free from the trust.—S. v. S. (OTHERWISE H.) (1910), 26 T. L. R. 595.

5709. Wife's settled fund—Decree on husband's petition—Annuity to husband for life ordered.]—E. v. E. (OTHERWISE T.) (1903), No. 2376, ante.

(h) Dum sola and dum sola et casta Clauses.

5710. Dum sola clause—Decree of nullity on wife's petition.]—(1) By indenture of settlement dated June 8, 1891, & made between resp., petitioner, & trustees, resp., in consideration of the marriage then intended between himself & petitioner, transferred to the trustees certain stocks, shares, & securities upon trust, inter alia, to pay the income arising therefrom to himself for life, then to petitioner, if she should survive him, for her life, whether covert or discovert, without power of anticipation, & if there should be no child of the intended marriage who should attain a vested interest, then in trust for resp. absolutely. The marriage having been annulled at the instance of the wife, she presented a petition to vary the settlement. The income of the wife, as found by the registrar, was £197, & that of the husband £674 per annum. The ct. ordered that the matter be referred to one of the conveyancing counsel of the ct. to prepare a deed to provide for the placing in the hands of trustees, to be appointed, a sum, which resp. was by this order directed to provide, sufficient to produce £100 per annum; that this income be paid to resp.; & that he be ordered to pay £100 a year to petitioner for her life dum sola vixerit.

(2) The proper proceeding to obtain an allowance to a wife obtaining a decree of nullity on the ground of her husband's incapacity is not by way of an order for variation of settlement, the settlement itself being avoided by the decree, but by an application for an allowance under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1907 (c. 12).

(3) Semble: the contingency of the means of a petitioner increasing after the order, & a consequent reservation of liberty to resp. to apply for a reduction in that event, is casus omissus in the Act.—SHARPE (OTHERWISE MORGAN) v. SHARPE, [1909] P. 20; 78 L. J. P. 21; 99 L. T. 884; 25 T. L. R. 131.
Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Hall v. Hall, [1915] P. 105.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 5.—D. (g).

5704 i. Reconveyance of property to parties.]—P. v. P., [1916] 2 I. R. 400.—IR.

5711. Dum sola et casta clause—Discretion of court.]—There is nothing in an agreement, even assuming it to be a valid one, between a husband & wife that in proceedings by the husband for dissolution of their marriage their marriage settlement shall in no circumstances be so varied as to deprive the wife of a certain portion of the income of the settled property that will have the effect of fettering the judicial discretion of the ct. as to the insertion of the dum sola et casta vixerit clause in an order made for the dissolution of the marriage. —WOODCOCK v. WOODCOCK & CODESIDO (1914), 111 L. T. 924, C. A.

5712. —— Dissolution of marriage—On husband's petition.]—OLLIER v. OLLIER, No. 5396, ante.

5713. —— —— —— Variation of separation deed.]—The husband & wife were married in 1884, & separated in 1889 under a deed, by which the husband paid his wife £200 a year without any dum casta clause. He afterwards found that she was living with co-resp. under petitioner's name. He thereupon petitioned to have the marriage dissolved, & a decree nisi was pronounced, which was in due course made absolute. Upon petition to vary the post-nuptial deed:—Held: the allowance to resp. should be reduced to £100 per annum, & this should be payable to resp. only dum sola et casta vixerit.—SAUNDERS v. SAUNDERS & BECK (1893), 69 L. T. 498.

5714. —— —— On wife's petition—Husband's interest in wife's fund extinguished.]—GLADSTONE v. GLADSTONE, No. 5422, ante.

5715. —— Agreement between parties—Wife not to be deprived of part of income.]—WOODCOCK v. WOODCOCK & CODESIDO, No. 5711, ante.

(i) As to Heirlooms.

5716. Heirlooms settled by respondent—Settled on petitioner for life remainder to issue.]—BEAUCHAMP v. BEAUCHAMP & WATT (1904), 20 T. L. R. 273, C. A.

(j) Extinction of Contingent Interests.

5717. In absence of one of several—Contingency remote.]—Where there were five beneficiaries who might become entitled in a remote contingency to share in the settled fund, four of them consented to an order upon the trustees to repay the corpus of the fund to petitioner, but the fifth was somewhere in the interior of Africa, & could not be communicated with; the ct. made the order, extinguishing the interests of all five; &, as it further appeared that one of the trustees of the settlements had left this country, & his whereabouts could not be ascertained, the costs of the two trustees who had appeared upon these proceedings were allowed out of the settled fund, in his absence, as if he had joined with them.—STORER v. STORER (1894), 71 L. T. 704; 6 R. 653; subsequent proceedings, 11 R. 618.

5718. Interests of persons unborn.]—MORRISSEY v. MORRISSEY, No. 5691, ante.

(k) Payment of Costs out of Settled Funds.

See Sub-sect. 5, G. (g), post.

E. Amount Ordered to be Settled.

5719. Amount of charges on income.]—(1) In determining the settlement to be made out of the income of a person who is ordered to make a settlement under the Divorce Act, 1857 (c. 85), it must be ascertained what the person ordered to settle receives after keeping down all charges on the income.

(2) In ordering a settlement to be made under sect. 45 of the Act, the ct. has jurisdiction to take into account any property to which a guilty wife is entitled in reversion, & it is proper so to do.

(3) Although, in principle, it is not desirable to make a child, even of a wife who has misconducted herself, independent of his parent, by ordering his allowance for maintenance & education, under Matrimonial Courses Act, 1857 (c. 35), s. 45, to continue after he has attained his majority, yet, under special circumstances, it is proper that the provision should not be made to cease on the happening of that event.—SAVARY v. SAVARY (1898), 79 L. T. 607; 43 Sol. Jo. 170, C. A.

5720. Where wife guilty—General rule—Scale to which husband has accommodated mode of life—Although co-respondent obtains advantage through his adultery.]—CONSTANTINIDI v. CONSTANTINIDI & LANCE, No. 5641, ante.

5721. —— Wife's fund exceeding husband's fund—Provision for child.]—BENYON v. BENYON & O'CALLAGHAN, No. 5643, ante.

5722. —— —— No issue.]—FARRINGTON v. FARRINGTON & SCHOOLES, No. 5764, post.

5723. —— No property brought in by wife.]—SMITH v. SMITH & GRAVES, No. 5689, ante.

5724. Where husband guilty—Bulk of unsettled property squandered by husband.]—Where a resp., husband, had recently squandered the bulk of the property over which he had free control, the ct. awarded to petitioner more than one-third of the income from the property which had been brought into settlement by resp. upon the marriage, & further ordered that, after resp.'s death, the award should be increased to more than one-half of that income, but limited dum sola vixerit.—BASHALL v. BASHALL (1897), 76 L. T. 165.

5725. —— Expenses of joint establishment borne by wife.]—WOOTTON—ISAACSON v. WOOTTON-ISAACSON, No. 5742, post.

5726. Effect of separation deed—Whether parties precluded from asking for larger allowance.]—BENYON v. BENYON & O'CALLAGHAN, No. 5613, ante.

F. Review of Orders.

5727. Power of court—"In special circumstances."]—GLADSTONE v. GLADSTONE, No. 5422, ante.

5728. ——.]—The power given to the ct. by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, of varying settlements after a final decree for dissolution of marriage is a power to be exercised once for all, & an order made under it is not liable to be varied on the ground of a change of circumstances since the date of the order.—BENYON v. BENYON (1890), 15 P. D. 54; 59 L. J. P. 39; 62 L. T. 381, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Arkwright v. Arkwright (1895), 73 L. T. 287. Refd. Allcard v. Walker (1896), 65 L. J. Ch. 660.

5729. —— Mistake.]—The ct., upon the application of the testamentary guardians of an infant child of the marriage of petitioner & resp., directed, after various references to the registrar, that an order made in 1886, upon the consent of petitioner, resp., & trustees of the marriage settlement, be amended by extinguishing resp.'s interest in a portion of the settled funds; & further directed that the costs of all parties be paid out of the said portion of the trust funds or the income thereof.

There is jurisdiction in this ct., where it is clear that there has been a mistake—a common mistake—of all parties in drawing up & making an order, to reconsider the matter (JEUNE, P.).—

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 5, F.

ARKWRIGHT v. ARKWRIGHT (1895), 73 L. T. 287.

5730. —— —— Failure of order to carry out intention of court—Opportunity to parties to have matter reheard.]—After the decree dissolving the marriage of the parties had been made absolute, the ct. made an order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, varying the marriage settlements of the parties for the benefit of petitioner & his children. Per incuriam the terms of the order did not precisely carry out the intentions of the ct. The ct. held that, following the practice of the Ct. of Ch., it was competent to it to amend the order without making an entirely new order, but giving the parties an opportunity of having the matter re-heard if they desired.—CAVENDISH v. CAVENDISH & ROCHEFOUCAULD (1868), 38 L. J. P. & M. 13; 19 L. T. 497; 17 W. R. 263.

Annotation:—Refd. Arkwright v. Arkwright (1895), 73 L. T. 287.

5731. —— Rectification of deed under order—To comply with original direction—Removal of one of parties from jurisdiction.]—The ct. has power to order the rectification of a deed of settlement to comply with its original direction, although one of the parties by remarriage has in the meantime become domiciled without the jurisdiction.—REES v. REES & ROBERTSON (1908), 52 Sol. Jo. 445.

5732. What court will consider—Circumstances occurring after order.]—GLADSTONE v. GLADSTONE, No. 5422, ante.

5733. —— ——.]—BENYON v. BENYON, No. 5728, ante.

5734. —— Mistake.]—ARKWRIGHT v. ARKWRIGHT, No. 5729, ante.

5735. —— —— Order varied on terms. By a post-nuptial settlement, executed in 1877, & acknowledged by the wife under Fines & Recoveries Act, 1833 (c. 74), property of the wife was settled upon trusts for the benefit of the husband & wife & the issue of the marriage; & the husband & wife covenanted for the settlement of the wife's after acquired property. In Nov. 1893, the marriage was dissolved on the ground of the adultery of the wife. In Dec. 1893, the husband presented a petition for variation of the settlement, setting out the funds subject to the trusts thereof; & the wife by her answer admitted the same to be correct. On Apr. 24, 1894, a consent order was made on the petition varying the settlement by directing payment of certain annual sums to the husband & the only child of the marriage. The wife, having married co-resp., brought an action for a declaration that certain property which upon the petition for variation had been assumed by all parties to be bound by the settlement was not so bound. The ct. being of opinion that the property in question was not included in the settlement & that the terms of the order for variation had been agreed to by the parties under a common mistake, granted relief to pltf. but upon the terms that any application to the Divorce Ct. under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 45, for a further settlement upon the husband & child of the marriage should be dealt with in all respects as if it had been made before Apr. 24, 1894, & was being considered by the ct. on that day.—ALLCARD v. WALKER, [1896] 2 Ch. 369; 65 L. J. Ch. 660; sub nom. ALLCARD v. WALKER, Re LUCAS, WALKER v. LUPTON, 74 L. T. 487; 44 W. R. 661; 40 Sol. Jo. 499.

Annotations:—Mentd. Tremayne v. Rashleigh, [1908] 1 Ch. 681; Carnell v. Harrison, [1916] 1 Ch. 328.

G. Practice and Procedure.

(a) The Application.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 71, 72.

5736. How made—By separate petition—Though variation prayed in original petition.]—Where it is desired to obtain an order varying the marriage settlement, the petition for dissolution of marriage should contain a prayer respecting such settlement; & before the decree is made absolute, a separate petition, setting out the settlement, should be filed, & served on resp., with eight days' notice for appearance.—GIBBINGS v. GIBBINGS (1864), 10 Jur. N. S. 1037.

5737. Signature—Whether by petitioner's solicitor—Petitioner abroad.]—A petition for variation of settlements must usually be signed by petitioner, but the ct. will, under special circumstances, allow his solr. to sign it on his behalf.—ROSS v. ROSS (1882), 7 P. D. 20; 51 L. J. P. 22; 30 W. R. 384.

5738. Who may apply—After death of petitioner—Guardian of children.]—The ct. will make an order [after a final decree of dissolution of marriage] varying the trusts of a marriage settlement on the petition of the guardian of the children of the marriage after the death of petitioner.—LING v. LING & CROKER (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 99; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 52; 13 L. T. 251; 164 E. R. 1453.

Annotations:—Expld. Stanhope v. Stanhope (1886), 11 P. D. 103. Distd. Thomson v. Thomson & Rodschinka, [1896] P. 263.

5739. —— —— ——.]—Petitioner, the husband, died after a decree absolute had been made to dissolve his marriage with resp. He executed a will by which he excluded some of his children from participation in certain property over which he had a power of appointment under his marriage settlement, but thereby he secured to them a reasonable maintenance out of his general estate. The ct. whilst it extinguished the resp.'s life interest in her husband's property, refused to compel her, out of her separate income & estate, which was not large, to increase the portions of such children, in order to place them more nearly on an equality with the other children. An exor. of a deceased petitioner cannot, as such, petition for an alteration of the settlements. The guardian of the minor children is the proper person to do so.—SMITHE v. SMITHE & ROUPELL (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 587.

Annotation:—Distd. Thomson v. Thomson & Rodschinka, [1896] P. 263.

5740. —— —— Personal representatives of petitioner.]—SMITHE v. SMITHE & ROUPELL, No. 5739, ante.

5741. —— —— ——.]—THOMSON v. THOMSON & RODSCHINKA, No. 5596, ante.

5742. —— Respondent—In dissolution suit.]—(1) Semble: the ct. has power to entertain a petition for variation of settlements at the instance of the party through whose misconduct the marriage has been dissolved.

(2) If a wife is in receipt of an allowance derived from funds settled by the husband, & if out of that allowance she keeps up their joint establishment, the husband is not entitled to a reduction of the wife's allowance after she has obtained a divorce by reason of his cruelty & adultery.—WOOTTON-ISAACSON v. WOOTTON-ISAACSON, [1902] P. 146; 71 L. J. P. 80; 87 L. T. 147; 18 T. L. R. 581.

5743. —— —— In nullity suit—By consent of petitioner in suit.]—The ct. made an order for variation of the marriage settlement at the instance of resp. in a nullity suit, petitioner in the suit being stated to be a consenting party to the order.—SUART v. SUART (OTHERWISE HODGSON), [1910] P. 246; 79 L. J. P. 86; 54 Sol. Jo. 636.

5744. Time for making—After decree nisi—Death of petitioner before decree made absolute.]—GRANT v. GRANT & BOWLES & PATTISON, No. 4565, ante.

5745. —— Six months after decree absolute.]—BENYON v. BENYON & O'CALLAGHAN, No. 5643, ante.

5746. —— Five years after decree.]—MARSH v. MARSH, No. 5627, ante.

5747. —— Nineteen years after decree—Jurisdiction of registrar.]—Where a successful petitioner in a divorce suit has, after a long lapse of time [nineteen years], obtained leave to present a petition to vary the terms of the marriage settlement, it is the duty of the registrar, notwithstanding the lapse of time, to hear & report upon the petition in accordance with Divorce Rules, r. 101. —NICOLAS v. NICOLAS & GRAHAM (1919), 89 L. J. P. 95, C. A.

Annontations :—Consd. Fyffe v. Fyffe, [1920] P. 310. Refd. Scott v. Scott, [1921] P. 107.

5748. Affidavit in support—Verifying terms of settlement.]—(1) On an application for an order as to settled property, the settlement should be brought before the ct. upon affidavit, & the ct. upon consideration of the facts proved at the trial will decide as to the order to be made.

(2) Resp. who is served with a copy of a petition for dissolution of marriage, praying also for an order as to the settled property, if he does not appear, is not entitled to notice of the application. —HORNE v. HORNE (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 200.

(b) Service of Petition.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 71.

5749. Dispensation with service—Respondent & surviving trustee uncertificated bankrupts.]—Notice to official receiver.]—The ct. dispensed with service of a petition to vary a marriage settlement in a case where resps. & the surviving trustee of the settlement were both uncertificated bkpts. & where notice of the application to dispense with service had been given to the Chief Official Receiver in bkpcy.—SNELLING v. SNELLING (1890), 63 L. T. 263.

5750. —— —— ——.]—The ct. dispensed with service of a petition to vary a settlement, made on a marriage now dissolved, in a case where resp. & one of the trustees were uncertificated bkpts. & the address of the trustee was not known, & where notice of the motion to dispense with service had been given to the chief official receiver in bkpcy.—GORDON v. GORDON, [1905] P. 96; 74 L. J. P. 39; 92 L. T. 176.

5751. —— On trustee abroad—Service on co-trustee—No beneficial interest.]—The ct., while refusing to allow substituted service of a petition for variation of settlements upon a trustee resident in Australia, dispensed with service upon him, it appearing that his co-trustee in England had been duly served, & that neither of the trustees was entitled to any beneficial interest in the settled property.—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR (1892), 66 L. T. 267.

(c) The Answer.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 71.

5752. Time for filing—Whether before or after decree absolute—Petition before decree absolute.]—(1) Petitioner who has obtained a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage cannot proceed with a petition to vary settlements until the decree has been made absolute; & nothing done between the time when the decree is made absolute & the hearing of the petition to vary can affect the power of the ct. to vary the settlements.

(2) Where the husband obtained a decree nisi for dissolution of the marriage & before the decree was made absolute filed a petition for variations of the settlements made on the marriage, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 5, the ct. ordered the wife to file an answer to the petition within one month after the decree nisi was made absolute & discharged the order directing her to file the answer before the decree nisi was made absolute.—CONSTANTINIDI v. CONSTANTINIDI & LANCE, [1904] P. 306; 73 L. J. P. 91; 91 L. T. 273; 20 T. L. R. 573; 48 Sol. Jo. 571, C. A.; subsequent proceedings, [1905] P. 253, C. A.

Annotations :—As to (1) Expld. Clarke v. Clarke & Lindsay, [1911] P. 186; Loraine v. Loraine & Murphy, [1912] P. 222. Consd. Morgan v. Morgan & Kirby, [1923] P. 1. Refd. Jagger v. Jagger (1926), 42 T. L. R. 315.

5753. -.]—CLARKE v. CLARKE & LINDSAY, No. 5766, post.

(d) The Hearing.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 71.

5754. Who may be heard—Trustee of settlement—In support of petition.]—The trustee of a marriage settlement cannot be heard in support of an application to alter the settlement, but he may be heard in opposition to such an application.—CORRANCE v. CORRANCE & LOWE (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 495; 37 L. J. P. & M. 44; 18 L. T. 535; 16 W. R. 893.

Annotations :—Refd. Graham v. Graham (1869), L. R. 1 P. & D. 711; Ansdell v. Ansdell (1880), 5 P. D. 138; Dormer v. Ward, [1901] P. 20. Mentd. Re Wombwell's Settlmt., Clerke v. Menzies (1922), 127 L. T. 295.

5755. —— —— To oppose petition.]—CORRANCE v. CORRANCE & LOWE, No. 5754, ante.

5756. —— —— ——.]—SMITH v. SMITH & GRAVES, No. 5689, ante.

5757. —— Infant beneficiary—Reversionary interest.]—DOUGLAS v. DOUGLAS, No. 5657, ante.

5758. —— Third person served with petition—Appearance & pleading—No order to dismiss from proceedings.]—Petitioner, having obtained a decree absolute for a divorce from his wife, presented a petition for variation of the settlement made on their marriage. By the settlement a fund brought into settlement by applt., the wife's mother, was settled upon trusts for the wife for life, & then for the husband for life, with the usual limitations in favour of children of the marriage, &, subject to the foregoing trusts, in trust for applt. There were two children of the marriage under age, of whom petitioner had the custody. The petition for variation of the settlement prayed that the ct. would direct the trustees to make to petitioner during the joint lives of himself & his former wife certain annual payments out of the income of the trust funds, & to make such further order in the matter as might be just. Petitioner caused to be served with the petition, among others, applt., who appeared thereto & put in an answer, to which petitioner put in a reply. Subsequently, when the matter came on for hearing before the registrar, petitioner applied to him that applt. should not be heard thereon, on the ground that she was not a person who had any legal or beneficial interest in the property in respect of which the application was made within Divorce Court Rules, r. 97. The registrar acceded to that application, & on appeal the judge affirmed his decision. On appeal against the judge's order :—Held : petitioner not having obtained any order dismissing applt. from the proceedings on the petition, she was, as having been made a party thereto, entitled to be heard, & the order was therefore wrong & must be rescinded.

Qu. : whether applt. was entitled to be made

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 5, G. (d), (e), (f) & (g); sub-sect. 6, A.

a party to the petition.—Re VIVIAN (LORD) v. VIVIAN (LADY), [1909] P. 57; 78 L. J. P. 36; 100 L. T. 168; 25 T. L. R. 157, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Allport v. Allport (1909), 25 T. L. R. 588.

5759. Time for hearing—Whether before decree absolute.]—CONSTANTINIDI v. CONSTANTINIDI & LANCE, No. 5752, ante.

5760. Rights of petitioner to have petition heard—After leave given.]—FYFFE v. FYFFE, No. 5485, ante.

(e) Inquiry as to Legitimacy of Children.

5761. Whether ordered—Child born between decree nisi & decree absolute—Fourteen months after separation of parties.]—PRYOR v. PRYOR & SHELFORD, No. 5685, ante.

5762. —— ——.]—On a petition for variation of settlements after a decree for dissolution of marriage, where a child had been born between the date of the decree nisi & decree absolute, the paternity of which petitioner denied, the ct., on the application of petitioner, directed an issue to be tried to ascertain the status of the child, & postponed the further consideration of the variation of settlements until after the trial of the issue.—EVANS v. EVANS & BLYTH, [1904] P. 274; 73 L. J. P. 87; 91 L. T. 356; 20 T. L. R. 516.

5763. —— Undefended suit—Allegation by respondent wife.]—In the course of an undefended suit for dissolution of marriage presented by the husband, it appeared that resp. had made a written statement in the form of a letter to petitioner as to the paternity of the only child, with the object of retaining its custody. Upon petition for variation of the marriage settlement, it was urged on behalf of the trustees of the settlement that resp.'s statement was inadmissible, & that so important a matter as that of the legitimacy of the child ought not to be dealt with upon motion. The ct. thereupon adjourned the motion as to variation, & directed the official solr. to present, on behalf of the child, a petition for declaration of legitimacy.—DOUGLAS v. DOUGLAS & TREVOR (1897), 78 L. T. 88.

Annotation:—Consd. Evans v. Evans & Blyth, [1904] P. 274.

Legitimacy proceedings.]—See, generally, BASTARDY, Vol. III., pp. 369 et s (f) The Order.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 71.

5764. Motion to confirm registrar's report—Within what time.]—(1) The wife's income under a marriage settlement was about £1,050 a year. The husband's income was about £600 a year, a part of which was derived from property of the wife. There were no children of the marriage. The marriage was dissolved on the ground of the adultery of the wife, who afterwards married co-resp. The ct. varied the settlement by ordering the trustees to pay to the husband £300 a year during the joint lives of the husband & wife.

(2) A motion to confirm a registrar's report ordering a variation of a settlement after a decree for dissolution of the marriage need not be made within fourteen days after notice of the filing of the report in the registry by petitioner.—FARRINGTON v. FARRINGTON & SCHOOLES (1886), 11 P. D. 84; 55 L. J. P. 69.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Dormer v. Ward, [1901] P. 20.

5765. Time for making order—After decree absolute.]—The ct. will not make an order as to the application of the settled property of the parties until after a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage has been made absolute.—HORNE v. HORNE (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 111.

5766. —— ——.]—The ct. has no jurisdiction either by itself or through its officers to hold any inquiry upon a petition to vary settlements until the decree for dissolution has been made absolute, & until that time resp. to the petition is under no obligation to answer it.—CLARKE v. CLARKE & LINDSAY, [1911] P. 186; 80 L. J. P. 135; 105 L. T. 1; 55 Sol. Jo. 535, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Morgan v. Morgan & Kirby, [1923] P. 1.

5767. Giving effect to—By action for amount—In what division brought.]—Probate Div. having made a decree absolute for the dissolution of a marriage on the husband's petition, made also an order that the trustees of the marriage settlement should pay an annual sum out of settled real property of the wife to the husband for the maintenance of the infant child of the marriage. The husband having died, whereupon the widow became absolutely entitled to the settled property, a further order directed that the settlement trustees should pay the annuity to the guardians of the infant, & that the settled property should stand charged with the annuity. There were, in fact, at that time no trustees of the settlement. The annuity was subsequently declared to be perpetual. The guardian brought an action in the Ch. Div. against the widow, whose whereabouts was then unknown, claiming an account of the annuity; a declaration that the same was a charge on the settled property, & that it might be raised by sale or mtge.; appointment of new trustees of the settlement; an order that deft. might execute all necessary instruments for giving effect to the charge; & a receiver. At the trial it appeared that the parties had agreed that deft. should execute a deed securing the annuity on the settled property, & pltfs. did not press for further relief. The ct. ordered execution of the deed, but under the circumstances allowed no costs on either side, as the order now made might have been obtained by summary process in the Probate Div.—BLACKETT v. BLACKETT (1884), 51 L. T. 427.

5768. —— By vesting order.]—Where a vesting order was required to carry into effect an order for variation of settlements, the ct. exercised jurisdiction under Trustee Act, 1893 (c. 53), s. 35, & made a vesting order.—STORER v. STORER (1891), 11 R. 618.

(g) Costs.

5769. When allowed—Proceedings brought in wrong division.]—BLACKETT v. BLACKETT, No. 5767, ante.

5770. Liability of co-respondent.]—When in a suit for dissolution of marriage co-resp. is condemned in costs, he is liable for the costs of petitioner & resp. incurred in obtaining an alteration of a marriage settlement.—GILL v. GILL & HOGG (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 359; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 43; 10 L. T. 137; 12 W. R. 808; 164 E. R. 1314.

Annotations:—Apld. Irwin v. Irwin & Layard (1890), 59 L. J. P. 53. Refd. Blackhall v. Blackhall & Clark (1888), 4 T. L. R. 525.

5771. ——.]—STONE v. STONE & BROWNRIGG, No. 5551, ante.

5772. Whether paid out of corpus.]—A fund in ct. was settled to the separate use of a married lady for life, after her decease to her husband for life, with remainder to their children. The marriage was dissolved, & the ct. of Divorce made an order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859

(c. 61), s. 5, directing that the fund should be dealt with as if the wife were then dead. Upon petition of the husband, the ct. directed payment of the future dividends to him, but in the absence of the persons entitled in remainder they refused to order the costs of the application to be borne by the corpus. The ct. has no jurisdiction to order the costs of any application to the Divorce Ct. to be paid out of the fund.—PRATT v. JENNER, Ex p. JENNER (1866), 1 Ch. App. 493 ; 35 L. J. Ch. 682 ; 15 L. T. 138 ; 12 Jur. N. S. 557 ; 14 W. R. 852, L. JJ.

5773. Costs of suit—& petition for variation—Fund of petitioning wife.]—In a petition by the wife a decree was pronounced dissolving the marriage, & condemning resp. in costs. Resp. could not be found after the making of the decree, & there was no prospect of recovering the costs from him. Upon an application for variation of the marriage settlement, it appeared that the husband had brought nothing into the settlement : —Held : part of the funds included in the settlement might be applied to satisfy the balance still remaining unpaid of the costs of the suit & of the petition for the variation of settlements.—HIPWELL v. HIPWELL, [1892] P. 147 ; 61 L. J. P. 84 ; 67 L. T. 396.

Annotations :—Folld. Douglas v. Douglas (1896), 74 L. T. 384. Refd. Hartopp v. Hartopp & Akhurst, [1899] P. 65.

5774. —— Costs of petition for variation—By consent—Yearly allowance to children for life.]—The ct. sanctioned the payment, out of the corpus of the settled property, of costs of the petition for variation of settlements, in a case where a yearly allowance was to be made for each of the children during their lives, & where all parties, including the trustees of the settlement, consented. —HAMILTON v. HAMILTON & PRALORMO (1893), 68 L. T. 467 ; 1 R. 506.

5775. —— —— —— ——.]—DOUGLAS v. DOUGLAS, No. 5657, ante.

5776. —— Costs of petition & trustees—Fund of respondent husband — Nullity suit.]—ATTWOOD (OTHERWISE POMEROY) v. ATTWOOD, No. 5706, ante.

5777. —— Costs of trustees—One trustee not appearing — Whereabouts unascertainable.]—STORER v. STORER, No. 5717, ante.

5778. —— Costs of review—Occasioned by mistake.]—ARKWRIGHT v. ARKWRIGHT, No. 5729, ante.

SUB-SECT. 6.—CUSTODY, MAINTENANCE AND EDUCATION OF CHILDREN.

A. Custody.

(a) Jurisdiction of Court.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 193 ; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 73.

5779. Child over sixteen.]—BLANDFORD v. BLANDFORD, No. 4234, ante.

5780. ——.]—The ct. has power to make orders in a divorce cause respecting the custody, maintenance & education of children during the whole period of their infancy, i.e. till they attain the age of twenty-one years.—THOMASSET v. THOMASSET, [1894] P. 295 ; 63 L. J. P. 140 ; 71 L. T. 148 ; 42 W. R. 658 ; 10 T. L. R. 591 ; 38 Sol. Jo. 630, C. A.

Annotations :—Distd. Stark v. Stark & Hitchins, [1910] P. 190. Refd. Bishop v. Bishop, Judkins v. Judkins, [1897] P. 138 ; Re Mathieson (1918), 87 L. J. Ch. 445 ; B. v. B., [1924] P. 176.

5781. —— Order against wishes of child.]—STARK v. STARK & HITCHINS, No. 4775, ante.

(b) To Whom given.

5782. Guilty father—Idiot child—Intention of mother to put child in asylum.]—The ct. refused to order that a wife who had obtained a decree of judicial separation should have the custody of an idiot child which was properly taken care of by the husband, where the custody was asked for, in order that it might be placed in an asylum for its own benefit, & not in order that the wife might have the solace of its society. Semble : an application for the custody of a child upon such a ground should be made to the Ct. of Ch.—COOKE v. COOKE (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 248 ; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 180 ; 11 W. R. 957 ; 164 E. R. 1269.

5783. —— Leading respectable life after remarriage—Mother no longer a fit person.]—A decree for dissolution of marriage having been made on the wife's petition on the ground of the husband's adultery & cruelty, the custody of the children of the marriage was given to petitioner, & resp. was ordered to pay petitioner for her maintenance the sum of £75 a year. Petitioner took charge of one child, a girl of eleven years of age, but allowed resp. to retain the other, a boy of fifteen. Subsequently resp. applied to rescind or vary the order, & on an inquiry before the registrar it was shown that petitioner was no longer a fit person to have charge of her daughter. The ct. made an order transferring the custody of the daughter to the father, who had married again & was shown to be leading a respectable life but declined to reduce the amount of the wife's permanent maintenance on the ground that it had not before it sufficient evidence on which to act.—WITT v. WITT, [1891] P. 163 ; 60 L. J. P. 63 ; 64 L. T. 121 ; 55 J. P. 184 ; 39 W. R. 432.

5784. Innocent wife.]—In a case in which the wife had obtained a judicial separation by reason of the desertion of her husband, the ct. ordered that the children of the marriage under the age of sixteen years should remain in her custody until further orders.—MALLINSON v. MALLINSON (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 221 ; 35 L. J. P. & M. 84 ; 14 L. T. 636 ; 14 W. R. 973.

Annotations :—Distd. Thomasset v. Thomasset, [1894] P. 295. Mentd. Re Andrews (1873), L. R. 8 Q. B. 153.

5785. —— Intending to bring up children in religion other than that of husband.]—Although PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 6.—A. (a).

e. Custody given to husband by decree of judicial separation—Child born after decree—Application by wife for custody of.]—The decree in a suit for judicial separation gave the husband custody of the children of the marriage, naming them, & contained an undertaking by the wife not to claim at any time maintenance for herself so long as the parties remained judicially separated :—Held : the Divorce Ct. had jurisdiction to entertain, & the wife was not precluded by the decree from making a subsequent application for an order against the husband for the custody & maintenance of a child of the marriage born after the decree for which no provisions had been asked for in the suit or made in the decree.—BROWN v. BROWN (1906), 4 C. L. R. 595.—AUS.

f. Death of petitioner before confirmation of decree nisi.]—A wife, who had obtained a decree nisi for dissolution of her marriage, & also an order for the custody of the children of marriage, died before such decree had been confirmed by the High Ct. :—Held : the ct. had no jurisdiction in these proceedings to make any order as regards the custody of the children.—BUTTERFIELD v. BUTTERFIELD (1922), I. L. R. 50 Calc. 153.—IND.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 6.—A. (b).

g. Father—Primâ facie right.]—The father, if a proper person, cannot be deprived of his legal right to the custody of his legitimate children of the wife may have obtained a decree of judicial separation, the ct. will not give her the custody of the children if she intends to bring them up in a religion different from that of their father, & different from that in which they have been educated during the cohabitation of their parents.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. (b), (c),

A husband & wife having been Roman Catholics, the husband afterwards became Protestant, & placed the children at a Protestant school. The wife filed a petition for judicial separation, but withdrew it & returned to live with her husband on his promise that the children should be educated as Roman Catholics. He broke the promise, & she subsequently filed another petition & obtained a judicial separation. Upon an application by the wife for custody of the children that they might be educated as Roman Catholics, the ct. rejected the application, & gave the custody to a third person with full access by both parents.—D'ALTON v. D'ALTON (1878), 4 P. D. 87; 47 L. J. P. 59.

5786. Third party—Both parents unfit.]—(1) After a decree absolute had been pronounced for the dissolution of a marriage on the ground of the husband's adultery and cruelty, applications were made for the custody of the infant children of the marriage by their father & mother, & by third persons, who had been allowed to intervene for the benefit of the children. The ct. being of opinion that neither the father nor the mother were, according to the evidence given at the hearing of the cause, fit to be entrusted with the care & custody of the children, gave the custody of them to the interveners, relatives of the husband, but directed that the parents should be allowed reasonable access. (2) In making an order as to settled property under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, the ct. will take into consideration the conduct of the parties, as well as their pecuniary position. A marriage having been dissolved by reason of the husband's adultery & cruelty, an application was made for an order as to the settled property, under the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5. The ct. estimated the total income of the husband at £1,159, part of it being derived from settled property, to which the wife had contributed £3,000. It ordered that £200 a year should be paid out of the settled property to the persons who were entrusted with the custody of the children of the marriage, for their maintenance & education; & taking into consideration that the wife was not free from blame, & that she had contracted debts to the amount of about £3,000 previous to the separation, for which the husband was liable, & also the expense he had incurred by reason of the suit for dissolution it ordered that £250 a year out of the settled property should be paid, during resp.'s life, to petitioner, dum casta et sola vixerit.—CHETWYND v. CHETWYND (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 39; 35 L. J. P. & M. 21; 13 L. T. 474; 11 Jur. N. S. 958; 14 W. R. 184.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Hamilton v. Hector (1871), 40 L. J. Ch. 692. As to (2) Apprvd. Constantinidi v. Constantinidi & Lance, [1905] P. 253. Refd. Gladstone v. Gladstone (1876), 1 P. D. 442. Generally, Mentd. Collins v. Collins (1910), 26 T. L. R. 600.

5787. —— Differences between spouses as to religion.]—D'ALTON v. D'ALTON, No. 5785, ante.

5788. —— Death of parent having custody.]—Upon the death of the parent of a child who is entitled to the custody of it under a decree for judicial separation, the ct. has no jurisdiction under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 4, to entertain an application by a stranger for the custody of the child.—DAVIS v. DAVIS (1889), 14 P. D. 162; 58 L. J. P. 88.

Compare Sect. 9, sub-sect. 3, A. (b), ante.

Change of custody.]—See Sub-sect. 6, A. (d), post.

(c) What Court will Consider.

See, now, Guardianship of Infants Act, 1925 (c. 45), s. 1.

5789. Evidence of cruelty—Return of finding of jury on trial of issues at assizes.]—The issues joined in a petition for a dissolution of marriage having been tried before a judge of assize, a certificate of the finding of the jury was returned into this ct., & thereupon a decree of dissolution was pronounced. The ct. refused to receive the return as evidence of resp.'s cruelty to the children of the marriage in support of an application by petitioner for their custody, & was of opinion that it ought to have been confined to the finding of the jury upon the issues joined. No affidavits or other evidence being produced in support of the application for the custody of the children, the ct. declined to make an order.—DAVIES v. DAVIES (1859), 23 J. P. 551.

5790. Effect of bringing up children in different custodies.]—Where, upon an application by a wife, who had obtained a sentence of divorce against her husband, for the custody of her children, the conduct of her husband appeared to be such as clearly to render it improper that he should have the custody of the eldest child, a girl of eleven years old, the ct. made an order for the delivery of all the children (two of whom were under seven years of age) to the mother, holding it unnecessary to consider whether it would have made the same order with respect to the second child, who was a boy of nine years old, if his case had stood alone, as the effect of the children being brought up in different custodies would be likely to create factions in the family.

The object of Custody of Infants Amendment Act, 1839 (c. 54), was to enable married women, who should be ill-treated by their husbands, to assert their rights as wives, without being restrained by the fear of being separated from their children: for which purpose the Ct. of Ch. is invested by the Act with a discretionary power, which, by its inherent jurisdiction, it did not possess, of interfering with the common law right of a father to the custody of his children, such power varying in extent according as the children are under or above seven years of age.—WARDE v. WARDE (1849), 2 Ph. 786; 12 L. T. O. S. 549; 41 E. R. 1147, L. C.

Annotations:—Consd. Re Winscom (1865), 2 Hem. & M. 540; Smart v. Smart, [1892] A. C. 425. Refd. Re Halliday's Estate, Ex p. Woodward (1852), 21 L. T. O. S. 17; Re Taylor (1876), 4 Ch. D. 157; R. v. Gyngall, [1893] 2 Q. B. 232.

5791. Interests of children—& parents.]—SUGGATE v. SUGGATE, No. 3203, ante.

5792. —— Public policy—Application by alien father out of jurisdiction—Children British subjects whatever age.—Re HOLMES (1862), 1 Hyde, 99.—IND.

h. —— ——.]—To justify the ct. in giving the custody of children to a guilty wife very exceptional circumstances must be shown. In this case the ct. declined to deprive a husband petitioner, who had divorced his wife for adultery, of his primâ facie right to the custody of the children.—VAN DER VEEN v. VAN DER VEEN, [1923] N. Z. L. R. 794.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 6.—A. (c).

k. Interests of children.]—The interests of the children are the first consideration in determining who is to have charge of them.—ATKINSON v.

by birth.]—Petitioner in a divorce suit, having obtained a decree for divorce against his wife, resp., on account of her misconduct, applied to have the custody of the two infant children of the marriage, a girl aged seventeen years, & a boy aged fourteen years. Petitioner was a German subject, who had resided in, & carried on business for many years in, England, & resp. was a lady of Dutch extraction. The children were born in England. The father had, since the outbreak of war, been repatriated:—Held: the children, being British subjects, should not be sent out of the jurisdiction, both on the ground of their interests & on considerations of public policy.—UHLIG v. UHLIG (1916), 86 L. J. P. 90; 115 L. T. 647; 33 T. L. R. 63; 61 Sol. Jo. 70, C. A.

Compare Sect. 9, sub-sect. 3, A. (c), ante.

(d) Change of Custody.

5793. Change of custody—Who may apply—Third party—On behalf of children.]—(1) The ct. views with disfavour an attempt to get up a charge of adultery against a husband, who has obtained a decree dissolving his marriage, by tracking him from place to place with a view to obtain an order depriving him of the custody of his children.

(2) Where relations intervene in an application for the custody of a child, they do so at the peril of being condemned in costs, if their intervention is unsuccessful.

(3) Semble: where a petitioner, the father, after a decree dissolving his marriage, is shown to be leading a notoriously dissolute life, the ct. will hold him disqualified to have the custody of his child.

(4) An application for the dismissal of an appeal by applt. should be made to the full ct. & not to the judge ordinary.—MARCH v. MARCH & PALUMBO (1867), L. R. 1 P. & D. 437; 36 L. J. P. & M. 28; 15 L. T. 363; subsequent proceedings, L. R. 1 P. & D. 440.

5794. —— —— —— Relations.]—After a decree of judicial separation in favour of the party in whose custody children of the marriage have been placed, the ct. may allow the intervention of any person in their behalf to question the propriety of the continuance of such custody.—GODRICH v. GODRICH (1873), L. R. 3 P. & D. 134; 43 L. J. P. & M. 2; 22 W. R. 71; sub nom. GODERICH v. GODERICH, 29 L. T. 465.

5795. —— Subsequent misconduct of father—Search for evidence with a view to deprivation of custody.]—MARCH v. MARCH & PALUMBO, No. 5793, ante.

5796. —— Mother no longer a fit person.]—WITT v. WITT, No. 5783, ante.

(e) Practice and Procedure.

5797. To what court application made—Custody of idiot child—Chancery Division.]—COOKE v. COOKE, No. 5782, ante.

5798. Who may be heard—Third parties—For benefit of children.]—CHETWYND v. CHETWYND, No. 5786, ante.

5799. Interim orders—On petition only.]—STACEY v. STACEY, No. 2322, ante.

5800. —— Presence of both parties.]—STACEY v. STACEY, No. 2322, ante.

5801. Effect of order—Subsequent order in another suit—Whether retrospective.]—Where the ct. granted a wife the custody of her children without limitation as to age, & subsequently in another suit defined the age of custody from sixteen to twenty-one:—Held: in a subsequent order for maintenance the judgment of the ct. was retrospective, & applied to the original order for custody.—JEFFRIES v. JEFFRIES (1907), 51 Sol. Jo. 468.

Enforcement of orders.]—See Sect. 23, post.

5802. Appeals—To what court.]—An appeal from an order as to the custody of children made under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 4, after a final decree for the dissolution of the marriage of the parents, must be brought to the full Ct. of Divorce, & not to the Ct. of Appeal.

It appears to me that Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 4, was intended to enable the ct. to make after final decree an order as to children which should have the same effect & be subject to the same rules as if it had been made before the final decree (MELLISH, L.J.).—GLADSTONE v. GLADSTONE (1877), 2 P. D. 143; 25 W. R. 387, C. A.

(f) Costs.

5803. Liability—Third parties intervening on behalf of children.]—When a petition for the custody of children after a final decree of dissolution is before the ct., persons, other than the parents, may intervene & bring before the ct. such facts as in their opinion the interests of the children may require. The form of such intervention will be by petition, & the interveners act at their own risk as to costs.—CHETWYND v. CHETWYND (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 151; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 130; 13 L. T. 197; 11 Jur. N. S. 958; 14 W. R. 184; 164 E. R. 1471; subsequent proceedings, L. R. 1 P. & D. 39.

Annotation:—Refd. Godrich v. Godrich (1873), L. R. 3 P. & D. 134.

5804. —— —— Unsuccessful intervention.]—MARCH v. MARCH & PALUMBO, No. 5793, ante.

(g) Enforcement of Order.

Attachment & committal.]—See Nos. 5934-5936, post.

Peremptory order.]—See No. 5909, post.

B. Access.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 193; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 73.

5805. Jurisdiction of court to order—Divorce court—Petition for dissolution dismissed.]—SEDDON v. SEDDON & DOYLE, No. 4991, ante.

5806. —— ——.]—A divorce decree was made upon the petition of the husband on the ground of the wife's adultery; & by the decree nisi it was ordered that the infant child should remain in the custody of petitioner until further order. A l. ——.]—SOLER v. SOLER (1898), 17 N. Z. L. R. 49.—N.Z.

ATKINSON (No. 3) (1891), 10 N. Z. L. R. 385.—N.Z.

m. ——.]—SALAMAN v. SALAMAN, [1923] N. Z. L. R. 454.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 6.—A. (f).

n. Liability — Husband petitioner—Obstructive conduct of wife.]—A petition by a husband for custody of his child was opposed by his wife, who refused to deliver up the child. The wife was possessed of large independent means, & her obstructive conduct of the case resulted in her retaining the custody of the child during five months while the petition was in ct.:—Held: petitioner was entitled to expenses against resp.—CAMPBELL v. CAMPBELL, [1920] S. C. (J.) 31.—SCOT.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 6.—B.

o. Jurisdiction of court to order—Question decided by court of parents' domicil.]—The marriage of two domiciled Danes was dissolved by decree under the law of Denmark. By this decree the custody of a son of the marriage was awarded to the father & access to the child by the mother was refused. Thereafter both parents being resident in Scotland, the mother summons was taken out by the mother in the Ch. Div. asking for an order under the Guardianship of Infants Act, 1886 (c. 27), that she might be allowed access to the child:—Held: the Divorce Ct. had full power to make orders as to access, &, whether there was also a discretionary power in the Ch. Div. or not, it would not be exercised in a case in which an order dealing with the matter had already been made by the Divorce Ct.—MANDERS v. MANDERS (1890), 63 L. T. 627; 7 T. L. R. 149.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 6, B. & C.; sub-sect. 7, A.]

5807. —— Chancery Division—When exercised.]—MANDERS v. MANDERS, No. 5806, ante.

5808. To whom granted — Guilty mother—General rule.]—CLOUT v. CLOUT & HOLLEBONE, No. 4805, ante.

5809. —— —— —— Whether rule invariable.]—Where a decree for dissolution of marriage has been made on the ground of the adultery of the wife, & the infant children of the marriage have been given into the custody of the husband, the ct. is not precluded from making an order giving the divorced wife access to them, but as a general rule such an order will not be made.—HANDLEY v. HANDLEY, [1891] P. 124; 55 J. P. 293; 39 W. R. 97; 7 T. L. R. 74; sub nom. DAVENPORT HANDLEY v. DAVENPORT HANDLEY & WROUGHTON, 63 L. T. 535, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. B. v. B., [1921] P. 176. Refd. Manders v. Manders (1890), 63 L. T. 627; Clarke v. Clarke & Lindsay (No. 1) (1913), 57 Sol. Jo. 641.

5810. —— —— —— —— Daughter under sixteen.]—STARK v. STARK & HITCHINS, No. 4775, ante.

5811. —— —— —— ——.]—Adultery by the wife ought not to be regarded for all time & under all circumstances as sufficient to disentitle her to access to or even to the custody of her daughter, who is under sixteen.

In dealing with such matters the ct. will have regard to the particular circumstances of each case, always bearing in mind that the benefit & interest of the infant is the paramount consideration, & not the punishment of the guilty spouse.

Where a mother, guilty of adultery, had been divorced, & the custody of the only child of the marriage, a girl of eleven years of age, was given to the father, limited access to her daughter was given to the mother, the ct. being of opinion that in the circumstances of the particular case such an order was for the benefit & interest of the infant.—B. v. B., [1924] P. 176; 93 L. J. P. 84; 130 L. T. 754; 40 T. L. R. 349; 68 Sol. Jo. 457, C. A.

5812. —— —— Mother living in adultery—Boy of eight.]—Although the former rule that a guilty mother who has been divorced by her husband cannot be allowed access to the child of the marriage against the husband's wish is no longer the law, the ct. has a discretion to permit such access. Where the child was a boy eight years of age, about to be sent to school, & the mother was living in adultery with co-resp., the ct. refused to order that she should be allowed access.—CLARKE v. CLARKE & LINDSAY (No. 1) (1913), 57 Sol. Jo. 644, C. A.; previous proceedings, [1911] P. 186, C. A.

5813. After marriage with co-respondent.]—A divorced wife, resp. in a suit for dissolution of marriage, applied by summons for access to the children of the marriage. Custody had been entrusted by the ct. to the father, who refused access to the mother. She had, since the decree was made absolute, married co-resp., & it was urged on her behalf that this removed the objection there might otherwise have been in the interests of the children to her being allowed access:—Held: the father's refusal of access could not be said to be otherwise than in the interests of the children & must be upheld.—B—— v. B—— & T—— (1921), 126 L. T. 109; 37 T. L. R. 868.

5814. —— Guilty father.]—POPE v. POPE (1902), 46 Sol. Jo. 762.

5815. —— Both parents—Custody given to third party—Reasonable access.]—CHETWYND v. CHETWYND, No. 5786, ante.

5816. —— —— —— Full access.]—D'ALTON v. D'ALTON, No. 5785, ante.

5817. What court will consider—Interests of children.]—B—— v. B—— & T—— (1921), No. 5813, ante.

5818. —— ——.]—B. v. B. (1924), No. 5811, ante.

5819. Costs of application—No previous refusal by parent having custody.]—Where the ct. had decreed a judicial separation in favour of the husband on the ground of cruelty, & the wife afterwards applied on motion for access to some of the children of the marriage, & an order for access was made:—Held: the wife was not entitled to have the costs of the motion taxed against her husband, as he had not refused her access to the children since the date of the decree.—BACON v. BACON (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 167.

Compare Sect. 9, sub-sect. 3, C., ante.

Provision for access in separation deed.]—See No. 2134, ante.

C. Maintenance and Education.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 193; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 73.

5820. Form of order—Payment "so long as child remains in custody of payee."]—MARCH v. MARCH & PALUMBO, No. 5576, ante.

5821. Security for maintenance—Power of court to order—Judicial separation.]—Upon a decree for judicial separation when the ct. has ordered a provision to be made for the children it has no power to order also that resp. shall secure the payment.—HUNT v. HUNT (1883), 8 P. D. 161; 52 L. J. P. 98, 31 W. R. 724.

Annotation:—Consd. Twentyman v. Twentyman, [1903] P. 82.

5822. Interim order—Pending inquiry as to respondent's means—Respondent abroad.]—MOORE v. MOORE (1897), 41 Sol. Jo. 737; previous proceedings (1896), 12 T. L. R. 221, C. A.

5823. Matters affecting order—Separation deed—Covenant by wife not to sue for increased allowance.]—BISHOP v. BISHOP, JUDKINS v. JUDKINS, No. 5371, ante.

5824. —— Nullity suit—Previous separation—Education of child by husband.]—Petitioner in 1890 went through a form of marriage with resp., presented a petition to the Scottish cts. for access to the child "in respect of her natural rights as his mother":—Held: the question of access having been determined by the ct. of the parent's domicil, the Scottish cts. had no jurisdiction to entertain an application based on such grounds.—WESTERGAARD v. WESTERGAARD, [1914] S. C. 977. SCOT.

p. To whom granted—Guilty mother.]—Circumstances in which the ct. refused to ordain the father of a boy seven years of age to allow the mother, who had been divorced from the father for adultery, access to the boy, on the ground that it might be prejudicial to the boy.—C. D. v. A. B., [1908] S. C. 737.—SCOT.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 6.—C.

q. Dissolution suit by husband—Custody given to wife—Liability of who had previously been married to petitioner's brother, whom she had divorced. The parties lived together for some years, & a child was born of the union, whom petitioner was educating. In 1892 a deed was entered into by which resp. was provided for:—Held: (1) a decree of nullity should be granted; (2) the case was not one in which any conditions as to securing an allowance for resp. & the child should be attached to the decree; (3) resp. was not entitled to costs.—D'ETCHEGOYEN v. D'ETCHEGOYEN (1908), 25 T. L. R. 85.

5825. For what children orders will be made—Children under sixteen.]—BLANDFORD v. BLANDFORD, No. 4234, ante.

5826. —— Children under twenty-one.]—THOMASSET v. THOMASSET, No. 5780, ante.

5827. Duration of order—Whether after majority of child.]—SAVARY v. SAVARY, No. 5719, ante.

Compare Sect. 9, sub-sect. 3, B., ante.

SUB-SECT. 7.—APPORTIONMENT OF DAMAGES.

A. How Apportioned.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 189 (3).

5828. To petitioner—Whole damages—In lieu of settlement on wife.]—BENT v. BENT & FOOTMAN, No. 5394, ante.

5829. —— —— No issue—Respondent living with co-respondent.]—EVANS v. EVANS & BIRD, No. 5850, post.

5830. —— —— To enforce recovery from co-respondent—Undertaking to pay into court.]—The ct. having ordered damages to be paid into the registry, & proceedings in default being impracticable, as there was no one to institute them, the ct. ordered the damages to be paid to petitioner, he undertaking to pay them into ct.—GYTE v. GYTE & MULLINEAUX (1885), 10 P. D. 185; 34 W. R. 47.

5831. —— Part of damages.]—The ct. directed the £5,000 damages awarded in this case to be paid to petitioner's solr.; £1,000 to be paid by him to petitioner; out of the residue an annuity of £120 to be purchased for resp.'s life, to be paid to her "dum casta vixerit," with remainder to two of her daughters; & the remainder to be invested in an annuity for these two daughters.—FORSTER v. FORSTER & BERRIDGE (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 158; 9 L. T. 150; 164 E. R. 1231.

5832. —— ——.]—A sum of £5,000 damages was apportioned by the ct. as follows: £1,500 was settled on the youngest child of the marriage, aged five years, the only one remaining in petitioner's custody; £1,500 was given to petitioner & also his costs of the suit in addition to those which had been taxed against co-resp.; the balance was invested in the purchase of a life-annuity for resp., to be paid to her as long as she lived chastely & did not become the wife of co-resp.; & in the event of her breaking either of those conditions, to be paid to petitioner.—MEYERN v. MEYERN & MYERS (1876), 2 P. D. 254; 46 L. J. P. 5; 35 L. T. 909; 25 W. R. 115.

5833. —— Indemnity for costs.]—In a suit by a husband for dissolution of marriage a jury assessed the damages against co-resp. at £1,000, & co-resp. was condemned in costs. The ct. ordered the damages to be paid to petitioner in trust to pay thereout such costs as should not be recovered against co-resp., & to the residue in trust for the children of the marriage in equal shares, to be paid to them on attaining twenty-one.—SPEDDING v. SPEDDING & LANDER (1862), 1 New Rep. 109; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 31.

5834. —— ——.]—In a suit by a husband for dissolution of marriage, the ct. refused to order any part of the damages assessed to be settled on the wife, but directed them to be applied, first, to the payment of such part of petitioner's costs as he could not recover from co-resp., & subject thereto, to be settled upon the issue of the marriage.—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR & WOLTERS (1870), 39 L. J. P. & M. 23; 22 L. T. 140.

Annotation:—Refd. Handley v. Handley, [1891] P. 124.

5835. —— ——.]—NARRACOTT v. NARRACOTT & HESKETH, No. 4749, ante.

5836. —— ——.]—MEYERN v. MEYERN & MYERS, No. 5832, ante.

5837. Settlement on wife—Whole damages—In lieu of maintenance—Dissolution of marriage.]—LATHAM v. LATHAM & GETHIN, No. 5368, ante.

5838. —— Part of damages—Dum casta vixerit.]—FORSTER v. FORSTER & BERRIDGE, No. 5831, ante.

5839. —— —— —— Or until marriage with co-respondent.]—MEYERN v. MEYERN & MYERS, No. 5832, ante.

5840. —— —— ——.]—NARRACOTT v. NARRACOTT & HESKETH, No. 4749, ante.

5841. Settlement on issue—Whole damages—Reversion to petitioner.]—C. obtained a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage & damages assessed at £250. On motion to make the decree nisi absolute & to direct application of damages, the ct. directed all petitioner's interest in the damages to be assigned by him to a trustee for the use of the only child of the marriage, & in case of the child's death under twenty-one & unmarried, for the use of petitioner, & suspended the decree till such assignment should be made.—CLARK v. CLARK & BOUCK (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 520; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 61; 6 L. T. 659; 10 W. R. 810; 164 E. R. 1038.

5842. —— —— After payment of petitioner's costs.]—SPEDDING v. SPEDDING & LANDER, No. 5833, ante.

5843. —— —— ——.]—TAYLOR v. TAYLOR & WOLTERS, No. 5834, ante.

husband for maintenance.]—A husband who has obtained a decree nisi for the dissolution of his marriage on the ground that his wife has not complied with a prior decree for restitution of conjugal rights, may be ordered to make payments for the maintenance of the children of the marriage the custody of whom has by the decree for dissolution of marriage been given to the wife.—HUNTER v. HUNTER (1915), 20 C. L. R. 47.—AUS.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 7.—A.

r. Settlement on wife—& illegitimate child—Whole damages—After payment of petitioner's costs.]—Petitioner recovered from the co-respondent in the suit the sum of £1,000 damages & costs. There was one child of the marriage, a girl, & resp. gave birth to a male child 3 months after the decree nisi was pronounced. The jury recommended that the major portion of the damages should be paid to resp. & her unborn child. On a motion by resp. for allocation of the damages petitioner asked that they be allotted between & the child of the marriage -Held: after payment of petitioner's costs, less the amount of costs recovered from co-respondent, & payment of resp. & costs of the motion, & certain maternity & other expenses the residue of the fund should be paid to the Public Trustee to be invested in N. Z. Government inscribed stock, & the net income derived therefrom should be paid to resp., she maintaining thereout her illegitimate child until in the judgment of the Public Trustee he was able to earn his own living, but not beyond the age of 21 years; & after the determination of such trust should be paid to resp. for her own exclusive use till her death, & after her death the capital as well as the income of the fund should be paid to the son. Power was reserved to the Public Trustee to apply from time to

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 7, A., B., C. & D.; sub-sect. 8, A. & B.]

5844. Part of damages.]—MEYERN v. MEYERN & MYERS, No. 5832, ante.

5845. —— —— Annuity.]—FORSTER v. FORSTER & BERRIDGE, No. 5831, ante.

B. Variation of Order.

See Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 33.

5846. Petitioner put to expense after order—Petitioner's share increased.]—After an order made for application of damages the ct. will not sanction any agreement between petitioner & co-resp., whereby the latter would be relieved from any part of what was due from him; but where, after such an order, petitioner was put to further expense by appeals & other litigation, the ct. varied the original order so as to allow petitioner to take a larger share of the damages, on the ground that the main intent of the original order had been to reimburse petitioner the whole expense to which he had been put.—FORSTER v. FORSTER & BERRIDGE (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 131; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 88; 12 L. T. 504; 11 Jur. N. S. 512; 164 E. R. 1466.

Annotations:—Consd. Dale v. Dale & Macdonell (1867), 15 L. T. 595. Refd. Blandford v. Blandford (1892), 67 L. T. 392.

5847. After decree absolute—Income to wife dum casta—Application to insert et sola.]—Where the ct., on pronouncing the decree nisi, had directed the damages to be invested, & the annual income arising from them to be paid to resp. dum casta vixerit, & the decree had been made absolute:—Held: it was too late afterwards to apply to the ct. to amend the order by inserting in it, after the words "dum casta," the words "et sola."—NARRACOTT v. NARRACOTT & HESKETH (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 76; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 51; 11 L. T. 750; 13 W. R. 506; 164 E. R. 1444.

Annotation:—Consd. Gladstone v. Gladstone (1876), 1 P. D. 442.

C. Practice and Procedure.

5848. Time for application—Six months after decree nisi—By leave.]—MONSELL v. MONSELL & CAIN, No. 4571, ante.

5849. Time for making order—On decree nisi.]—NARRACOTT v. NARRACOTT & HESKETH, No. 5847, ante.

5850. —— —— No issue—Respondent living with co-respondent.]—Where it was proved on the hearing of a petition, that there had been no issue of the marriage, & that at the time of the hearing resp. was living with co-resp., the ct. made the order for the payment to petitioner of the damages assessed against co-resp. part of the decree nisi, instead of postponing it until the decree absolute.—EVANS v. EVANS & BIRD (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 36.

5851. —— After decree absolute.]—It is competent to the ct. to make an order for the settlement of damages, after the decree nisi has been made absolute.—BELLINGAY v. BELLINGAY & THOMAS (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 168.

5852. —— ——.]—MONSELL v. MONSELL & CAIN, No. 4571, ante.

5853. Notice of application—To co-respondent—Whether necessary.]—MONSELL v. MONSELL & CAIN, No. 4571, ante.

5854. Who may be heard on application—Assignee of petitioner's interest in damages.]—Petitioner in a divorce suit having recovered damages against co-resp., a person claiming to be the assignee of petitioner's interest in the damages applied at chambers for leave to intervene:—Held: the application must be refused.—HUNT v. HUNT & COOPER, [1894] P. 247; 63 L. J. P. 136; 6 R. 659.

5855. —— Infant children—On undertaking as to costs.]—MONSELL v. MONSELL & CAIN, No. 4571, ante.

D. Costs.

5856. Costs in the cause.]—MEYERN v. MEYERN & MYERS, No. 5832, ante.

5857. —— Co-respondent condemned in costs—Application for apportionment after damages paid.]—Payment by a co-resp. of the damages found against him does not relieve him from liability for costs necessarily incurred afterwards in allocating the damages in view of a variation of the settlements.—IRWIN v. IRWIN & LAYARD (1890), 59 L. J. P. 53; 62 L. T. 612; 6 T. L. R. 200.

5858. Costs of infants—Undertaking by solicitor—As condition precedent to being heard.]—MONSELL v. MONSELL & CAIN, No. 4571, ante.

SUB-SECT. 8.—TAXATION OF COSTS.

A. In General.

See Matrimonial Causes Act, 1858 (c. 108), s. 13; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 84–90.

5859. Principles of taxation—Against husband—Generally same as in other cases.]—The general principles of taxing costs against a husband in matrimonial cases are the same as in other causes. The rule of the Ecclesiastical Cts. not to allow more than two counsel on taxation is not applicable where the evidence is oral in open ct. Where a London attorney conducts the suit, no expenses of a local attorney will be allowed on taxation against the husband.

The costs in a divorce suit are to be taxed as between party & party, not as between attorney & client; the costs of sending close copies of proceedings to the country attorney are not to be allowed; the expense of sending the managing clerk of a country attorney to London to take care of the witnesses is not to be allowed.—SUGGATE v. SUGGATE (1859), 1 Sw. & Tr. 497; 1 L. T. 306; 23 J. P. 776; 8 W. R. 178; 164 E. R. 830.

5860. —— Between party & party.]—SUGGATE v. SUGGATE, No. 5859, ante.

5861. —— —— Not entirely as at common law.]—Costs of wife in a matrimonial suit are taxed as between party & party, but not in all respects on the same principles as a taxation at common law between party & party. Thus, though certain issues may have been found against the wife whose costs are being taxed, the expenses incurred by them will be allowed unless the registrar should think that they were wantonly & vexatiously raised. Expense of witnesses to prove the circumstances of a plea not in issue, if such circumstances have a bearing on other parts of the case in issue, may be allowed; & a reasonable amount of expense incurred in investigating & acquiring information as to the circumstances of the case should be allowed.—ALLEN v. ALLEN time with the consent in writing of resp., the capital of the fund or any part thereof towards the education, maintenance, or advancement in life of the son. Power was also reserved to the ct. on the application of the Public Trustee, the resp., or a guardian ad litem of the infant son, to revoke any of the above trusts, & to declare other & further trusts.—RANDOLPH v. RANDOLPH & CASEY, [1920] N. Z. L. R. 809.—N.Z.

& D'ARCY (1860), 2 Sw. & Tr. 107 ; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 9 ; 3 L. T. 480 ; 7 Jur. N. S. 103 ; 9 W. R. 389 ; 164 E. R. 933.

Annotations :—Distd. Ellyatt v. Ellyatt, Taylor & Halse (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 503. Consd. Ottaway v. Hamilton (1878), 3 C. P. D. 393.

5862. Function of registrar.]—JINKS v. JINKS, No. 4609, ante.

5863. When costs will be taxed—Effect of delay.]—CHEALE v. CHEALE, No. 4821, ante.

5864. —— Co-respondent out of jurisdiction when decree made—Return after six years.]—HAWKS v. HAWKS & FENWICK, No. 4567, ante.

5865. —— Security for wife's costs given pendente lite—No order for costs at hearing.]—When money is paid into ct. by a husband petitioner as security for the wife's costs & no order as to her costs is made at the hearing, no application can be made after decree absolute for the taxation of the wife's costs or their payment out of the fund in ct.—BEETON v. BEETON & ROBERTSON [1921] P. 417 ; 90 L. J. P. 351 ; 126 L. T. 114 ; 37 T. L. R. 902.

5866. Suspension of taxation—Pending appeal to House of Lords.]—A petition by a wife for restitution of conjugal rights, & a counterclaim by her husband for judicial separation were both dismissed with costs by the Ct. of Appeal, the costs of the one to be set off against the costs of the other in the ct. below, & no costs of the appeal being allowed. The husband having subsequently presented an appeal to the House of Lords, the Ct. of Appeal ordered that the taxation of the costs should be suspended until after his appeal was determined, on his undertaking to duly prosecute it.—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL (No. 2) (1895), 73 L. T. 569, C. A.

5867. Who may be heard on taxation—Executor of husband dying before hearing.]—Where the husband had paid a sum into the registry to meet the wife's costs of the hearing of the petition, & had died shortly before the time appointed for the hearing, the ct. made an order for the taxation of the costs incurred for the hearing by the wife's solrs., & the payment to them of such taxed costs out of the fund in the registry, with leave to the solrs. of the husband's exor. to attend the taxation.—HALL v. HALL (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 390 ; 164 E. R. 1326.

5868. —— Respondent—Although no appearance entered.]—In a suit for dissolution of marriage the husband, having no defence, did not enter an appearance, & a decree nisi was made against him. The ct. gave him permission to attend before the registrar on the taxation of his wife's costs.—LETTS v. LETTS (1869), L. R. 2 P. & D. 16.

5869. Form of order—Fund paid into registry—Death of husband before trial—Payment to wife's solicitors of taxed costs out of fund.]—HALL v. HALL, No. 5867, ante.

B. What Costs May be Allowed.

5870. Costs of country solicitor—Case conducted by London solicitor.]—SUGGATE v. SUGGATE, No. 5859, ante.

5871. Number of counsel—Two allowed to wife—Where husband had one—Practice of Ecclesiastical Courts.]—In a matrimonial suit, the husband retained one counsel only, & the wife's proctor, conceiving she could not claim the privilege of two, also retained one only, but for the hearing was induced to retain a second. The costs thereof being allowed upon taxation, the proctor for the husband objected to the registrar's report :—Held : the ordinary practice of the ct. was to have two counsel on each side ; a wife was primâ facie therefore entitled thereto ; & the special circumstances of the present case did not afford sufficient ground for exception.

Wife is entitled to necessaries ; & if law proceedings are necessary for her protection, the husband is liable for the proper & necessary costs thereof.

The wife is not to be barred of her right to two counsel by reason of what has passed between the two proctors out of ct.—MONEY v. MONEY (1853), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 177 ; 18 Jur. 179 ; 164 E. R. 68.

5872. —— Whether limited to two—Where evidence oral in open court.]—SUGGATE v. SUGGATE, No. 5859, ante.

5873. —— —— According to circumstances of case.]—CAMPBELL v. CAMPBELL (1887), 3 T. L. R. 558 ; 31 Sol. Jo. 378, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Dashwood v. Magniac (1892), 8 T. L. R. 445.

5874. —— —— Complex case.]—On the taxation of the costs of co-resp. to a petition for divorce which was dismissed with costs, the trial having lasted fourteen days, the registrar only allowed the costs of two counsel. The judge allowed the costs of three counsel on account of the complexity of the case, & the Ct. of Appeal refused to interfere with his discretion.—HARTOPP v. HARTOPP & COWLEY (1904), 20 T. L. R. 216, C. A.

5875. Affidavit in support of petition—Disallowance for irrelevance.]—FORSTER v. FORSTER & EVANS, No. 3671, ante.

5876. Costs incurred before proceedings started.]—On taxation of wife's costs in a petition for judicial separation pending suit, the registrar disallowed all costs incurred before actual proceedings taken against the husband, & various items charged for attendance on the wife's father in connection with her case. On cause shown against a rule nisi for a review of taxation, the ct. affirmed the registrar's taxation as being in accordance with the practice of both the common law & ecclesiastical cts.—DICKENS v. DICKENS (1859), 2 Sw. & Tr. 103 ; 28 L. J. P. & M. 94 ; 33 L. T. O. S. 77 ; 23 J. P. 181 ; 164 E. R. 931.

Annotation :—Refd. Ottaway v. Hamilton (1878), 3 C. P. D. 393.

5877. Proceedings for dissolution—Abatement of cause by return to cohabitation—Suit subsequently revived.]—In a suit against the husband, the wife returned to cohabitation after the cause was set down for hearing, but the cause was not dismissed. The proctor porrected his bill for costs, & subsequently the wife, on alleged fresh misconduct of the husband, again left him, & instructed her proctor to bring in additional articles pleading such misconduct :—Held : the proctor was entitled to have his bill taxed, & the additional articles might be brought in.—HAMPDEN v. HAMPDEN (1850), 14 Jur. 750.

5878. Attendance on father of petitioner.]—DICKENS v. DICKENS, No. 5876, ante.

5879. Costs of close copies sent to country solicitor.]—SUGGATE v. SUGGATE, No. 5859, ante.

5880. Unsuccessful issues.]—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY, No. 5861, ante.

5881. Witnesses—To prove plea not in issue—Bearing on rest of case.]—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY, No. 5861, ante.

PART XIII. SECT. 22, SUB-SECT. 8.—B.

s. Husband successful—Wife having separate estate—Costs on party & party scale.]—Where a wife possessed of separate estate has been divorced & has been found liable in personal expenses to her husband, these expenses fall to be taxed, not on the higher or matrimonial scale, but only as between party & party.—A. B. v. C. B., [1918] S. C. 19 ; 55 Sc. L. R. 31.—SCOT.

Sect. 22.—Proceedings after decree: Sub-sect. 8, B. & C. Sect. 23: Sub-sects. 1, 2 & 3, A. & B. (a).]

5882. Wife—When not a competent witness.]—In a suit by the wife for dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery & cruelty in which she herself was examined as a witness in support of the latter charge, a decree of judicial separation was pronounced instead at her request. Subsequently the ct. was moved to order a review of taxation of the wife's costs by disallowing all the charges therein as to proof of resp.'s adultery.

The ct. refused the application on the ground that it should have been made at the time of the trial, but disallowed the costs connected with petitioner herself being a witness, her evidence being inadmissible in the suit in the form which it ultimately assumed.—DENT v. DENT (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 125; 35 L. J. P. & M. 61; 14 L. T. 137: 14 W. R. 544.

5883. —— Not called owing to withdrawal of defence.]—In a suit for dissolution resp.'s counsel withdrew their opposition after a few witnesses had been called. The registrar in taxing the costs disallowed the costs of several witnesses who were in attendance but not called, & also disallowed maintenance money for the witnesses on whom the proof of the wife's case chiefly depended. On motion the ct. confirmed the registrar's report on the latter point, but on the ground that the case was one which from the circumstances required to be well proved, allowed the expenses of the witnesses who were not called.—FINNEY v. FINNEY (1870), 21 L. T. 597.

5884. —— Maintenance money—Principal witnesses for respondent—Defence withdrawn.]—FINNEY v. FINNEY, No. 5883, ante.

5885. Expenses of sending managing clerk of country solicitor to London—To take care of witnesses.]—SUGGATE v. SUGGATE, No. 5859, ante.

5886. Investigation into case.]—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY, No. 5861, ante.

5887. Advice on answer—If not mere traverse.]—HEPWORTH v. HEPWORTH, No. 4269, ante.

5888. Term refresher fees.]—Term refresher fees will be allowed on the taxation of costs.—STOATE v. STOATE (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 214.

5889. Particulars of adultery—Order obtained by motion in open court.]—HIGGS v. HIGGS & HOPKINS, No. 3968, ante.

5890. Interlocutory applications—Extension of time to plead.]—HARDING v. HARDING & LANCE, No. 4223, ante.

5891. "Costs incurred in proving adultery"—Expenses incidental to filing & prosecution of petition—So far as relating to adultery of co-respondent.]—At the hearing, the adultery of resp. with co-resp. was proved, but as the adultery of petitioner was also proved, the petition was dismissed, & an order made condemning co-resp. in the costs incurred by petitioner in proving his adultery with resp.:—Held: this order comprised all the expenses incidental to the filing & prosecution of the petition so far as they related to the adultery of co-resp.—BAKER v. BAKER & GRIGG (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 119.

Party admitted to take or defend proceedings as poor person.]—See, now, R. S. C., 1925, Ord. 16, r. 31B.

C. Review of Taxation and Appeals.

5892. Time for application to review.]—DENT v. DENT, No. 5882, ante.

5893. Appeal—To judge—When registrar's decision will be reviewed—Taxation on erroneous principle.]—The ct. will not interfere with the discretion of the Registrar in respect of particular items allowed or disallowed on taxation, unless it can be shown that the taxation proceeded on an erroneous principle.—COOKE v. COOKE (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 374; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 79; 10 L. T. 141; 164 E. R. 1320.

5894. —— —— —— On question of amount.]—CAMPBELL v. CAMPBELL (1887), 3 T. L. R. 558; 31 Sol. Jo. 378, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Dashwood v. Magniac (1892), 8 T. L. R. 445.

5895. —— To court of appeal—From decision of judge—Whether competent.]—CAMPBELL v. CAMPBELL (1887), 3 T. L. R. 558; 31 Sol. Jo. 378, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Dashwood v. Magniac (1892), 8 T. L. R. 445.

5896. —— —— —— When court of appeal will review decision of judge.]—CAMPBELL v. CAMPBELL (1887), 3 T. L. R. 558; 31 Sol. Jo. 378, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Dashwood v. Magniac (1892), 8 T. L. R.

SECT. 23.—ENFORCING ORDERS AND AUTHORITY OF COURT.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), ss. 1–5, 21, 36–41; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 77–79.

5897. When court will enforce—Applicant in contempt of King's Bench.]—The ct. will not withhold the enforcement of its order, by reason that the party obtaining such order is in contempt of the Ct. of K. B., & is resident out of the country, in order to evade the process of that ct.—GREENHILL v. GREENHILL (1836), 1 Curt. 462; 163 E. R. 162.

Annotations:—Apld. Morse v. Morse (1846), 5 Notes of Cases, 49. Refd. Hope v. Hope (1854), 18 Jur. 1086.

5898. Decree for permanent alimony—Whether registered under Judgments Act, 1838 (c. 110).]—A wife, having obtained against her husband a decree for dissolution of marriage, & being also adjudged permanent alimony at the rate of £100 a year, payable by monthly instalments, registered the decree, under above Act, in the Ct. of C. P., the effect being to prevent the husband from mortgaging or selling any part of his real estate. On motion to expunge the entry from the register, the ct. refused to interfere, remitting the husband for remedy if, any, to the Ct. of Ch.—Re HOLDEN, Ex p. HOLDEN (1863), 13 C. B. N. S. 641; 1 New Rep. 361; 32 L. J. C. P. 111; 7 L. T. 791; 9 Jur. N. S. 948; 143 E. R. 254; sub nom. HOLDEN v. HOLDEN, 11 W. R. 437; previous proceedings, sub nom. Re HOLDBY (1862), 7 L. T. 386.

5899. Order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68)—Personal order.]—TANGYE v. TANGYE, No. 5515, ante.

SUB-SECT. 2.—AGAINST WHOM ENFORCED.

5900. Representative—Of respondent—Insolvent estate of husband—Wife's maintenance.]—Re TATHAM, BENSAUDE v. HASTINGS (1892), 37 Sol. Jo. 27.

PART XIII. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 1.

t. Decree cannot be varied.]—Where a decree in unconditional terms ordered maintenance to be paid by a husband to a wife:—Held: on an application by her for execution of the decree, an objection by the husband that she had by her conduct forfeited her right to maintenance could not be entertained.—RANMALSANGJI BHAGWATSANGJI v. BAI SHRI KUNDANKUWAR (1902), I. L. R. 26 Bom. 707.—IND.

5901. Arrears of permanent alimony.]—Where an order has been made against a husband for judicial separation & for payment of alimony, his widow may recover against his estate, if solvent, any arrears of alimony due at his death. Qu.: whether the arrears are recoverable if the husband's estate is insolvent.—Re STILLWELL, BRODRICK v. STILLWELL, [1916] 1 Ch. 365; 85 L. J. Ch. 314; 114 L. T. 604; 32 T. L. R. 285; 60 Sol. Jo. 322.

Annotations:—Folld. Firman v. Royal, [1925] 1 K. B. 681. Refd. Maconachie v. Maconachie, Maconachie v. Maconachie & Blake (1916), 33 T. L. R. 50; Re Naters, Ainger v. Naters (1919), 88 L. J. Ch. 521.

5902. —— —— Solvent estate of husband—Arrears of permanent alimony.]—Re STILLWELL, BRODRICK v. STILLWELL, No. 5901, ante.

5903. —— —— Wife's costs—Power of divorce court to enforce order.]—COLEMAN v. COLEMAN & SIMPSON, No. 4579, ante.

5904. —— Of co-respondent—Damages—Power of divorce court to enforce order.]—On the hearing of a petition for divorce by a husband against his wife the jury assessed damages against co-resp. at £1,500, a decree nisi was pronounced, & co-resp. was ordered "within one month from the service of the order to lodge in ct. the said sum of £1,500." Within a month of the order co-resp. died without having paid the money into ct. On an application by petitioner for an order against the exor. of co-resp. to pay the damages & costs out of the assets of his testator:—Held: there was no provision in the Divorce Acts or Rules enabling the exor. of a co-resp. to be brought before the ct., the action was a personal action & the cause of the action did not survive, & there was no remedy against the exor. in the Divorce Ct., & no order for payment could be enforced against the exor. in that ct.—BRYDGES v. BRYDGES & WOOD, [1909] P. 187; 78 L. J. P. 97; 100 L. T. 744; 25 T. L. R. 505, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Coleman v. Coleman & Simpson, [1920] P. 71. Refd. Ranson v. Platt, [1911] 2 K. B. 291.

SUB-SECT. 3.—HOW ENFORCED.

A. In General.

5905. Execution—Immediate execution—Damages against co-respondent.]—The ct. has no power to order immediate execution for the recovery of damages awarded against co-resp., & ordered to be paid to petitioner, nor to order that such damages be paid into ct.—POUNSFORD v. POUNSFORD & BULPIN (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 389; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 188; 5 L. T. 139; 164 E. R. 1046.

5906. —— Leave to issue after six years—Costs against co-respondent.]—Where a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage has been made with costs against co-resp., & no steps have been taken for upwards of six years to enforce the order for costs, application should be made to the ct. for an order that petitioner be at liberty to issue execution against co-resp.—GOODWIN v. GOODWIN, [1897] P. 87; 66 L. J. P. 107; 45 W. R. 656.

5907. Payment into court—Damages against co-respondent.]—POUNSFORD v. POUNSFORD & BULPIN, No. 5905, ante.

5908. —— ——.]—The ct. has no power to order a co-resp. to pay into ct. the amount of the damages assessed against him.—FORSTER v. FORSTER & BERRIDGE (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 133; subsequent proceedings, 3 Sw. & Tr. 158.

——.]—See, further, Sub-sect. 3, C.–H., post.

5909. Peremptory order—Custody of children.]—The judge ordinary having granted a decree dissolving the marriage between the parties, on the petition of the wife, further ordered that on certain conditions, & after due notice, she should have access to her children. Resp. for a time removed himself & one child beyond the jurisdiction of the ct., & on his return denied to petitioner access to the child on the terms laid down by the ct. On the suggestion that he was again about to leave this country, & in consideration of the approaching vacation, the ct. ordered that the child should be delivered up to its mother forthwith, & that she should have the custody of it until the fifth day of the following term.—PORTUGAL v. PORTUGAL (1866), 35 L. J. P. & M. 103; 15 W. R. 9.

5910. —— Arrears of alimony.]—The ct., contrary to the usual practice, made an order for the payment of arrears of alimony, specifying the amount, where it appeared probable that the husband, who was an officer serving in India, would be compelled by the India Office to obey such an order.—LOUIS v. LOUIS (1871), 41 L. J. P. & M. 19; 25 L. T. 856; 20 W. R. 215.

B. Attachment and Committal.

(a) In What Cases granted.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 77–78; Contempt of Court generally, see CONTEMPT OF COURT, Vol. XVI., pp. 6 et seq.

5911. Alimony—Non-payment of—Poverty of husband.]—A contempt which had arisen from the inability of a husband to pay alimony & costs, suspended.—FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD (LADY) (1756), 2 Lee, 263; 161 E. R. 335.

5912. —— ——.]—The husband pronounced in contempt for non-obedience to a monition for payment of alimony.—FRANKFORT v. FRANKFORT (1850), 7 Notes of Cases, 533.

5913. —— —— Debtors Act, 1869 (c. 62)—

PART XIII. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 3.—A.

a. Execution.]—Where a reference is directed to the master to ascertain & state the amount of alimony which deft. should pay, execution may be issued for the amount found by his report before confirmation thereof.—BOECK v. BOECK (1894), 16 P. R. 313.—CAN.

b. ——.]—An order for interim alimony payable monthly was made:—Held: the order for payment could only be enforced by execution & not by attachment for contempt.—GALLEY v. GALLEY (1905), 1 W. L. R. 155.—CAN.

c. ——.]—The payment of alimony due under a decree of divorce may be enforced in the ct. for Divorce & Matrimonial Causes by writ of execution issued out of such Ct.—HALLIDAY v. HALLIDAY (1911), 10 E. L. R. 293.—CAN.

d. Arrears of alimony—Order for sale of lands.]—COWIE v. COWIE (1912), 23 O. W. R. 237; 4 O. W. N. 224; 6 D. L. R. 886.—CAN.

e. —— Discretion of court.]—There is a discretion in the ct. as to enforcing payment of arrears of alimony.—HEAD-PATRICK v. PATRICK, [1922] 1 W. W. R. 825; 63 D. L. R. 158; 15 Sask. L. R. 304.—CAN.

f. Attaching order.]—A judgment in an action under Divorce & Matrimonial Causes Act is, by Judgments Act, 1838 (Imperial), s. 18, enforceable by an attaching order issued under Attachment of Debts Act.—MCLEOD v. MCLEOD (1919), 25 B. C. R. 430.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (a).

5912 i. Alimony—Nonpayment of.]—Although 22 Vict. c. 33, s. 2, authorises the arrest of a deft. for two years' allowance for future alimony & arrears, still, if the ct. has obtained funds of deft. through any default of his, it may refuse payment of them to him without first securing the future payment of alimony.—GOTT v. GOTT (1864), 10 Gr. 543.—CAN.

5912 ii. —— ——.]—CAPELL v. CAPELL (1865), Peters P. E. I. 183.—CAN.

5912 iii. —— — —.]—A decree for alimony & maintenance made by a British Columbia ct. cannot be enforced by attachment or committal even though resp. be in contempt.—JENNS v. JENNS, [1921] 3 W. W. R. 226.—CAN.

Sect. 23.—Enforcing orders and authority of court: Sub-sect. 3, B. (a) & (b).]

Bankruptcy of husband.]—A liability to pay alimony in weekly sums by an order made in divorce under 29 & 30 Vict. c. 32, s. 1, is not a "future debt or liability" provable in bkpcy. under Bankruptcy Act, 1883 (c. 52), s. 37 (3); &, notwithstanding the bkpcy. of the person liable, payment may be enforced as of a debt due in pursuance of an order of a competent ct. under Debtors Act, 1869 (c. 62), s. 5.—LINTON v. LINTON (1885), 15 Q. B. D. 239; 54 L. J. Q. B. 529; sub nom. Re LINTON, Ex p. LINTON, 52 L. T. 782; 49 J. P. 597; 33 W. R. 714; 2 Morr 179, C. A.

Annotations:—Expld. Re Hinks, Ex p. Verdi (1886), 3 Morr. 218; Morgan v. Hardy (1887), 18 Q. B. D. 646. Distd. Re Tatham, Bensaude v. Hastings (1892), 37 Sol. Jo. 27. Consd. Re Hawkins, Ex p. Hawkins, [1894] 1 Q. B. 25; Watkins v. Watkins, [1896] P. 222; Kerr v. Kerr, [1897] 2 Q. B. 439; Victor v. Victor, [1912] 1 K. B. 247; Re Stillwell, Brodrick v. Stillwell, [1916] 1 Ch. 365. Refd. Re Fryer, Ex p. Fryer (1886), 17 Q. B. D. 718; Haddon v. Haddon (1887), 18 Q. B. D. 778; Re Henderson, Ex p. Henderson (1888), 20 Q. B. D. 509; Re Otway, Ex p. Otway (1888), 58 L. T. 885; Tangye v. Tangye, [1914] P. 201. Mentd. Buckley v. Crawford, [1893] 1 Q. B. 105; Campbell v. Campbell, [1922] P. 187.

5914. —— —— —— ——.]—Arrears of alimony under an order of the Divorce Ct. which have accrued before a receiving order has been made against the husband do not constitute a debt provable in bkpcy. by the wife, & as such arrears constitute a debt enforceable under sect. 5 of above Act, a committal order on proof of means is good.—KERR v. KERR, [1897] 2 Q. B. 439; 66 L. J. Q. B. 838; 77 L. T. 29; 46 W. R. 46; 13 T. L. R. 534; 41 Sol. Jo. 679; 4 Mans. 207, D. C.

5915. -.]—Non-compliance with orders of the Divorce Div. for the payment of costs & alimony is still a contempt of ct., although since Debtors Act, 1869 (c. 62), the orders cannot be enforced by attachment. After such non-compliance it is a matter for the discretion of the ct. whether the party in contempt should be permitted to take a further proceeding in the litigation; & it is material to the exercise of that discretion to consider whether the non-compliance is due to the fault or the misfortune of the party in contempt.

Where a husband, resp. to a petition for restitution of conjugal rights, failed to comply with orders for costs & alimony, & whilst in default took out a summons, under Divorce Rules, r. 176, to stay the suit, the ct., not being satisfied that resp was unable to comply with the orders, refused to permit him to proceed.—LEAVIS v. LEAVIS, [1921] P. 299; 90 L. J. P. 302; 125 L. T. 28; 37 T. L. R. 578; 65 Sol. Jo. 456.

See, generally, BANKRUPTCY, Vol. V., p. 1034, Nos. 8459, 8460.

5916. —— Failure to attend to be examined as to means.]—A husband, who had filed no answer to his wife's petition for alimony, was subpœnaed by her to attend at the hearing, & to be examined in support of the petition. He did not answer to his subpœna, & on the service being proved, the ct. made an order that he should attend on the next motion day, & that an attachment should issue in the event of his non-attendance.—JENNINGS v. JENNINGS (1865), L. R. 1 P. & D. 35; L. J. P. & M. 12.

Annotation:—Refd. Carew v. Carew (1891), 65 L. T. 167.

5917. Permanent maintenance—Non-payment of arrears.]—A decree having been made absolute for a divorce on the wife's petition, the husband, as part of the final order, was directed to pay a permanent maintenance to his wife at the rate of £200 a year:—Held: the ct. had no power to grant an attachment against the husband for non-payment of arrears of the annuity due under the order.—DE LOSSY v. DE LOSSY (1890), 15 P. D. 115; 62 L. T. 704; 38 W. R. 511.

5918. Costs—Non-payment of—Poverty of husband.]—FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD (LADY), No. 5911, ante.

5919. —— —— ——.]—Resp. having been ordered to pay the taxed costs of his wife, who was petitioning for a judicial separation, alleged that he was without the means of obeying the order, because he had paid the greater part of his last quarter's salary to creditors, & was unable to raise any money:—Held: this was not a valid excuse for his disobedience to the order, & the ct. directed an attachment to be issued against him.—DICKENS v. DICKENS (1859), 23 J. P. 359; previous proceedings, 2 Sw. & Tr. 103.

5920. —— —— ——.]—WARD v. WARD, No. 4288, ante.

5921. —— —— ——.]—The ct. refused to grant an attachment against a husband for non-payment of certain costs incurred on behalf of the wife in a suit instituted by her for judicial separation on the ground of his alleged cruelty, where, on his uncontradicted answer, it appeared that the husband had been compelled to separate from her several months before the institution of the suit in consequence of her drunkenness & violence, & had not the present means of complying with the order for payment.—HOLLAND v. HOLLAND (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 78; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 65; 11 L. T. 750; 13 W. R. 505; 164 E. R. 1445.

5922. —— ——.]—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS, No. 4295, ante.

5923. -.]—LEAVIS v. LEAVIS, No. 5915, ante.

5924. Failure to provide security.]—HEPWORTH v. HEPWORTH, No. 4542, ante.

5925. —— ——.]—In a husband's suit for divorce, where the wife in her answer also prayed for a dissolution of the marriage, petitioner had been ordered to deposit in the registry or to give security for, the sum of £80, to cover the wife's costs of the hearing. On his neglecting to comply with this order the ct. declined to issue a writ of attachment against him, but ordered him to attend to be cross-examined as to his faculties.—SULLIVAN v. SULLIVAN, LEAHAY, MADDEN & SLANEY (1875), 33 L. T. 706.

5926. —— —— Debtors Act, 1869 (c. 62).]—Notwithstanding the provisions of above Act, a husband is liable to attachment if he does not find security for his wife's costs of suit.—LYNCH v. LYNCH (1885), 10 P. D. 183; 54 L. J. P. 93; 34 W. R. 47.

Annotations:—Refd. Bates v. Bates (1888), 14 P. D. 17; Rutter v. Rutter (1921), 124 L. T. 796.

5927. —— —— ——.]—In a wife's petition for judicial separation the husband was ordered to pay a sum of money into ct. as security for her costs. He made default in payment:—Held: this was not "default in payment of a sum of money" within sect. 4 of above Act, & he was liable to attachment for disobeying the order of the ct.—BATES v. BATES (1888), 14 P. D. 17; 58

5917 i. Permanent maintenance—Non payment of arrears.]—RUBIE v. RUBIE (1911), 13 C. L. R. 351.—AUS.

g. Disobedience to order for restitution of conjugal rights.]—Disobedience of a judgment for restitution of conjugal rights may in Alberta be punished by imprisonment for contempt.

In most cases the ct. would refuse to enforce the judgment by attachment & would enforce it only indirectly by awarding alimony.—

L. J. P. 85; 60 L. T. 125; 37 W. R. 230; 5 T. L. R. 155, C. A.

Annotations :—Distd. Clarke v. Clarke, [1891] P. 278. Apld. Shine v. Shine, [1893] P. 289. Refd. Ivimey v. Ivimey, [1908] 2 K. B. 260.

5928. —— —— Poverty of husband.]—(1) The ct. refused to attach a petitioner, who had not complied with an order to secure a sum for his wife's costs, on his showing want of means as the reason for non-compliance.

(2) Semble : the proper course under such circumstances would be for the wife to move to dismiss the petition.—CLARKE v. CLARKE, [1891] P. 278; 60 L. J. P. 97.

Annotation :— Dbtd. & N.F. Jones v. Jones, [1912] P. 295.

5929. —— —— Bankruptcy of husband.]—Resp. the husband, in a suit for divorce was an undischarged bkpt., but was shown to be in receipt of a weekly salary of £30, which was not under the control of the trustee in bkpcy. An order had been made by the ct., & duly served on him, to pay into ct. or give security for the sum of £40, to cover the wife's costs of the hearing of her petition; but although nearly two years had elapsed from the date of such order he had failed to comply with it :—Held : the fact that resp. had been adjudged bkpt. did not preclude the ct. from issuing an attachment & the ct. made an order accordingly.—SHINE v. SHINE, [1893] P. 289; 63 L. J. P. 60; 69 L. T. 500; 6 R. 663.

5930. —— —— Cross-charge by wife.]—In a petition by a husband praying for a judicial separation on the ground of cruelty, to which the wife filed an answer denying the cruelty, countercharging the husband with adultery, & praying for judicial separation the husband had been ordered to pay or secure the wife's costs of the hearing as estimated by one of the registrars, but had failed to comply with this order :—Held : the wife's cross-claim for relief constituted her a petitioner, & it was open to her to move for a writ of attachment against her husband in respect of his failure to find security pursuant to the order.—JONES v. JONES, [1912] P. 295; 82 L. J. P. 16; 107 L. T. 590; 29 T. L. R. 22; 57 Sol. Jo. 10.

5931. Disobedience to order for restitution of conjugal rights—Effect of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 2.]—Above sect. is retrospective, & therefore where an order for the issue of a writ of attachment had been made previously to the passing of above Act, but the issue of it had been suspended until further order of the ct., & was so suspended at the date of the passing, the ct. could not after the Act make any further order directing the writ to issue.

How did matters stand in the present case on Aug. 14, 1884? Mr. W. had been declared contumacious & an order had been made that a writ of attachment should issue, but that issue had been suspended till the further order of the ct. Nothing could be done without an order of the ct. authorising the issue of that writ. Would not an order directing an issue of the writ have been an enforcing of a decree of restitution of conjugal rights by attachment? In my opinion it would, & it was the evident object of the Act of Parliament to prevent such a proceeding (FRY, L.J.).—WELDON v. WELDON (1885), 54 L. J. P. 60; 52 L. T. 233; 49 J. P. 517; 33 W. R. 427, C. A.; affg. 10 P. D. 72.

See, now, Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (c. 68), s. 2.

5932. Nullity—Refusal to obey order for inspection.]—B. v. L. (FALSELY CALLED B.) (1869), No. 4339, ante.

5933. Molestation—After decree of judicial separation.]—Where a husband had obtained a decree of judicial separation against his wife, & after such decree, the wife molested her husband :—Held : the ct. had no jurisdiction to attach her for contempt for such molestation.—SMITH v. SMITH (1889), 59 L. J. P. 15.

5934. Custody of children — Disobedience to order.]—An order was made in a divorce suit that the child, issue of the marriage between petitioner & resp., be forthwith delivered up to & remain in the custody of petitioner until further order of the ct., but that such child be not removed out of the jurisdiction of the ct. without its sanction. This order was brought to the knowledge of resp., who took the child out of the jurisdiction & retained its custody. Legal service was not effected upon him. The ct., upon ex parte application by petitioner, ordered a writ of attachment to issue against resp.—FAVARD v. FAVARD (1896), 75 L. T. 664.

Annotation :—Folld. Gordon v. Gordon, [1903] P. 141.

5935. —— ——.]—Upon the authority of Favard v. Favard, No. 5934, ante, a writ of attachment & a committal order were directed to be issued, upon the ex p. application of petitioner, against resp., who had taken the child out of the jurisdiction.—GORDON v. GORDON, [1903] P. 141; 72 L. J. P. 33; 89 L. T. 73; subsequent proceedings, [1904] P. 163.

Annotations :— Consd. R. v. Wigand, Re Wigand (1913), 82 L. J. K. B. 735. Mentd. Evans v. Evans & Blyth (1904), 20 T. L. R. 612; Re Wingfield & Blew, [1904] 2 Ch. 665 Russell v. Russell, [1921] A. C. 687; Warren v. Warren, [1925] P. 107.

5936. —— ——.]—BJORKMAN v. BJORKMAN (1910), Times, Sept. 8.

Contempt in procedure.] See CONTEMPT OF COURT, Vol. XVI., pp. 8, 28, 34, 35, Nos. 11, 256, 257, 337, 343, 346.

(b) Practice.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, rr. 77, 78, 83.

Evidence & procedure on application for attachment or committal generally, see CONTEMPT OF COURT, Vol. XVI., pp. 49 et seq.

5937. Jurisdiction to order—After final decree.]—(1) Where there was a balance due from petitioner, the husband, for alimony & costs, & there had been an arrangement between the parties that the balance should be paid by monthly instalments of £20 & that an attachment should be granted against him to remain in the registry until he made default in payment of one of the instalments, the ct. dismissed the petition, & decreed an attachment on the terms arranged.

(2) The ct. has power to enforce an attachment after the suit has been dismissed.

(3) Where co-resp., is found to have been guilty of adultery, he is not, as a matter of course, relieved from payment of the costs of that issue, merely by reason of the husband having been guilty of such adultery as to induce the ct. to dismiss the petition.—BREMNER v. BREMNER & BRETT (1864), 3 Sw. & Tr. 378; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 202; 10 L. T. 99; 12 W. R. 444; 164 E. R. 1321.

Annotations :—As to (3) Folld. Baker v. Baker & Grigg (1867), 36 L. J. P. & M. 119. Consd. Waudby v. Waudby

O'LEARY v. O'LEARY, [1923] 1 D. L. R. 949; 19 Alta. L. R. 224, [1923] 1 W. W. R. 501; revsg. 69 D. L. R. 53. —CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (b).

h. Order not made before judgment.]—An order for attachment before judgment will not be made in divorce proceedings.—PHILLIPS v. PHILLIPS (1910), I. L. R. 37 Calc. 613. —IND.

Sect. 23.—Enforcing orders and authority of court: Sub-sect. 3, B. (b), & C., D. & E.

& Bowland, [1902] P. 85. Folld. Quartermaine v. Quartermaine & Glenister (1911), 105 L. T. 80. Refd. Yowell v. Yowell, Serrash & Burleigh (1875), 24 W. R. 59.

5938. —— Not on judge of King's Bench Division.]—A judge of the Q. B. D. has no jurisdiction to order a writ of attachment to issue against a resp. for disobeying an order made against him in a suit in the Divorce Ct.—COOK v. COOK (1885), 2 T. L. R. 10, D. C.

5939. How application made—Non-payment of alimony & costs—On one motion.]—An application for an attachment against a husband for non-payment of alimony & costs should be made in one motion. The costs for two motions will not be allowed against the husband.—WATTS v. WATTS (1861), 4 Sw. & Tr. 274; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 29; 164 E. R. 1521.

5940. —— Ex parte.]—FAVARD v. FAVARD, No. 5934, ante.

5941. Service of order—Whether personal service necessary.]—ALLEN v. ALLEN & D'ARCY, No. 3826, ante.

5942. —— —— Order for costs.]—Service of an order for payment of costs is effected by leaving an office copy of the order with the party chargeable & at the same time producing the original order. Unless the original be produced the attachment for non-payment of costs will not be granted.—DAVIES v. DAVIES & DALBY (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 437; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 104; 6 L. T. 163; 10 W. R. 447; 164 E. R. 1065.

Annotation:—Distd. Parr v. Parr & White (1863), 4 Sw. & Tr. 229.

5943. Order for alimony.]—Service of an order for the payment of alimony is effected by showing to the party to be served an office copy of the order & by leaving with him a copy of it.—PARR v. PARR & WHITE (1863), 4 Sw. & Tr. 229; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 91; 11 W. R. 550; 164 E. R. 1504.

5944. —— —— Knowledge of order aliunde.]—FAVARD v. FAVARD, No. 5934, ante.

5945. —— Copy of order attached to affidavit of service.]—An attachment will not be granted for non-payment of costs pursuant to an order, unless a copy of the order be annexed to the affidavit of service.—BUSBY v. BUSBY & VINE (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 383; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 172; 5 L. T. 137; 164 E. R. 1044.

5946. —— Indorsement of amount on writ.]—On May 8, 1861, an order was made for attachment to issue against respt. for non-payment of taxed costs, & respt. was subsequently confined in Chester gaol under the attachment:—Held: it was too late, in Jan. 1862, to move to set aside the attachment on the ground that the amount of costs to be paid was not indorsed on the writ, the allocatur & order for payment having been previously served upon resp.—PEARSON v. PEARSON (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 546; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 102; 5 L. T. 772; 8 Jur. N. S. 158; 10 W. R. 410; 164 E. R. 1109.

5947. —— ——.]—By virtue of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 52, all decrees & orders of the Ct. of Divorce are to be enforced in the same manner as orders, etc., in Chancery. Therefore, in spite of R. S. C., Ord. 68, r. 1, which exempts divorce proceedings from the operation of the Rules & Orders of the Supreme Ct., before a motion can be successfully made for disobedience to an order made in a divorce proceeding, it must be shown that the order it is sought to enforce was indorsed as required by R. S. C., Ord. 41, r. 5.—PACE v. PACE (1891), 61 L. J. P. 114; 67 L. T. 383.

5948. Affidavit of service—Time for filing.]—An affidavit of non-payment of taxed costs & alimony to the person to whom they are ordered to be paid cannot be read on a motion for an attachment if filed subsequently to the notice of motion.—SYMONS v. SYMONS & PIKE (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 215.

5949. Necessity for personal demand.]—The ct. made an order for the payment of the wife's costs to her proctor in a suit for judicial separation.

A demand for payment of these costs having been personally made on resp. by a person on behalf of petitioner's proctor, a receipt for the costs, signed by the proctor, being at the same time shown to resp.:—Held: such demand for payment to be sufficient to found an order for attachment.—THOMAS v. THOMAS (1860), 2 Sw. & Tr. 64; 2 L. T. 390; 8 W. R. 476; 164 E. R. 915.

5950. ——.]—An attachment for non-payment of costs ordered to be paid within a specified time will be granted through there has not been a personal demand.—NICHOLLS v. NICHOLLS (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 637; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 115; 7 L. T. 221; 164 E. R. 1145.

5951. Service of notice of motion to attach—Substituted service.]—The jurisdiction given by Jud. Act, 1884 (c. 61), s. 14, when any person neglects or refuses to comply with an order directing him to execute any instrument, to order the execution of the instrument by some person nominated by the ct. to do so, may be exercised by the Probate Div. of the High Ct. of Justice; & the order may be made upon a motion for attachment for non-compliance without formal service of a fresh notice of motion, provided the person to be affected by the order has by himself or his solr. received notice that the application to the ct. will be made in the alternative form. In the Probate Div. when personal service of notice of motion to attach for non-compliance with an order cannot be effected & the original order has been duly served, substituted service, by analogy to the practice in the other Divisions of the High Ct., is sufficient.—HOWARTH v. HOWARTH (1886), 11 P. D. 95; 55 L. J. P. 49; 55 L. T. 303; 50 J. P. 376; 34 W. R. 633; 2 T. L. R. 705, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Re Evans, Evans v. Noton, [1893] 1 Ch.

5952. Effect of misspelling of name in proceedings.]—After a decree for dissolution of marriage with costs against co-reps., & an order for the payment of such costs, an attachment was issued against co-resp. for their non-payment. The person who had been cited and served with the process and notices as co-resp. throughout the suit, moved to set aside the attachment on the ground that his surname was misspelt & one of his Christian names omitted in the citation, & process, & notices:—Held: co-resp. having taken no step to set the mistake right in the course of the suit, could not at the last moment take advantage of it to invalidate the proceedings, & the order for an attachment must stand.—CHURCHILL v. CHURCHILL & ABBOTT (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 485; 37 L. J. P. & M. 41; 17 L. T. 619.

5953. Order to attend for examination—Whether conduct money must be tendered.]—Where after a decree absolute for dissolution of marriage upon the wife's petition an order is made for the husband to attend before the registrar to be examined as to his means for the purposes of the assessment of permanent alimony for the wife, conduct money is payable to the husband & in default thereof an order of committal cannot be made against him for not attending.—TOWNEND v. TOWNEND (1905), [1907] P. 239, n.; 21 T. L. R. 657; 69 J. P. Jo.

340; subsequent proceedings, 22 T. L. R. 50, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Jeffries v. Jeffries (1907), 51 Sol. Jo. 572. Refd. In the Estate of Harvey, [1907] P. 239.

5954. —— ——.]—Where resp. was ordered to produce books relating to his income at his place of business for inspection by petitioner's solr., on motion to attach for non-compliance with the order:—Held: he was not entitled to conduct money to appear on the hearing of the motion.—JEFFRIES v. JEFFRIES (1907), 51 Sol. Jo. 572.

5955. Discharge of order—After obedience—Payment of costs not condition precedent.]—Where a husband who has been attached & imprisoned for contempt of ct. in failing to obey an order of the ct. to pay or secure a sum of money for his wife's costs in a suit brought by her for judicial separation, has afterwards obeyed the order, he is entitled to be released from custody. The ct. will order him to pay all his wife's costs, incurred with respect to the motions for attachment & release, but will not make the payment of such costs a condition precedent to his release.—AYRES v. AYRES (1901), 71 L. J. P. 18; 85 L. T. 648; 18 T. L. R. 2.

C. Sequestration.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 79.

Sequestration generally, see EXECUTION, Vol. XXI., pp. 591 et seq.

5956. In what cases issued—Arrears of alimony.]—Costs & alimony, decreed in a matrimonial suit, not being paid by the husband, who had gone to reside beyond the sea, the ct. pronounced him in contempt, & decreed the same to be signified, in order to sequestration, under 2 & 3 Will. 4, c. 4, without personal service of the monition.—MORSE v. MORSE (1846), 5 Notes of Cases 49.

5957. —— ——.]—On non-payment of certain sums due by way of alimony & costs, a writ of sequestration issued against resp.'s property, & an order was made on K. to pay into ct. a sum of money awarded in an action in the Q. B. to be paid by K. to resp. On motion on behalf of petitioner to order such sum to be paid out in part satisfaction of her attorney's taxed costs & her own alimony, the ct. refused to make such order, H. & F. resp.'s attorneys in the action in the Q. B., having satisfied the ct., on affidavit, that they had a lien for costs in that cause exceeding the sum so paid into ct.—MUNT v. MUNT (1862), 2 Sw. & Tr. 661; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 134; 7 L. T. 438; 164 E. R. 1155.

5958. —— Non-payment of costs.]—MORSE v. MORSE, No. 5956, ante.

5959. —— ——.]—MUNT v. MUNT, No. 5957, ante.

5960. What property liable—Fund liable to solicitor's lien.]—MUNT v. MUNT, No. 5957, ante.

D. Writ of fieri facias.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 79.

Writ of fi. fa. generally, see EXECUTION, Vol. XXI., pp. 470 et seq.

5961. When writ issued—Non-payment of damages.]—When damages & costs are not paid pursuant to an order of the ct., leave will be granted to issue a fi. fa. under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 52.—REED v. REED & DAVIS (1859), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 158; 23 J. P. 359.

5962. —— ——.]—PRITCHARD v. PRITCHARD & BEAN, No. 4815, ante.

5963. —— Non-payment of costs.]—REED v. REED & DAVIS, No. 5961, ante.

5964. —— ——.]—WARD v. WARD, No. 4288, ante.

5965. —— Non-payment of maintenance.]—A wife having obtained a decree nisi for the dissolution of her marriage, an order was made under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1866 (c. 32), that from the date of the decree absolute the husband should pay her £40 a year by monthly payments. The decree was made absolute, & she married again. Subsequently she & her second husband, by writing, not under seal, agreed with the late husband, in consideration of £10 paid to them by him, to give up all claims in respect of the payments directed by the order. At this time £16 was due to the wife for arrears. Subsequently she issued a writ of fi. fa. to enforce payment of £80 arrears of the allowance for maintenance. The ct. set aside the writ on the ground that it had been issued in contravention of the agreement:—Held: the agreement being for the release of all claims in respect of the maintenance order in consideration of the payment of a sum less than the amount which was at the time due & payable under such order, was invalid for want of consideration, & did not prevent the wife from enforcing payment of the £80.—UNDERWOOD v. UNDERWOOD, [1894] P. 204, 63 L. J. P. 109; 70 L. T. 390; 42 W. R. 372; 10 T. L. R. 352; 38 Sol. Jo. 325; 6 R. 604, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Watkins v. Watkins, [1896] P. 222.

5966. Personal service of order—When dispensed with—Removal of property by debtor—Evasion of service of order.]—PRITCHARD v. PRITCHARD & BEAN, No. 4815, ante.

E. Writ of elegit.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 79.

Writ of elegit generally, see EXECUTION, Vol. XXI., pp. 556 et seq.

5967. When writ issued—Non-payment of costs.]—The husband, resp. in divorce proceedings, obtained in the Q. B. Div. a mandamus, directing his wife to deliver up certain title deeds. The property comprised in these deeds constituted, practically, his whole means. Upon the husband failing to comply with an order of this ct. for costs of the divorce suit, the wife sued out a writ of elegit, & the sheriff took possession of the property in virtue thereof. Upon motion by the husband to set aside the writ of elegit until the wife should comply with the mandamus & deliver up the deeds of the property which he had, meanwhile, agreed to sell. The ct., refused to set aside the writ of

PART XIII. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 3.—C.

5956 i. In what cases issued—Arrears of alimony.]—The ct. has jurisdiction, under R. 549, to award a writ of sequestration in an action for alimony where interim alimony has been ordered to be paid at a definite time, & has not been paid.—CUDMORE v. CUDMORE (1921), 64 D. L. R. 556; 50 O. L. R. 489.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 3.—D.

k. When writ issued—Non-payment of alimony.]—In a suit for alimony a decree was obtained & writs of fi. fa. against the goods of deft. were issued.—FORRESTER v. FORRESTER (1882), 9 P. R. 338.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 3.—E.

l. Non-payment of alimony.]—Where after the recovery & registration of judgment in an alimony action the wife on default being made in payment of two of the instalments:—Held: entitled to the usual order for the sale of the husband's lands for the realisation of the alimony.—LEE v. LEE (1895), 27 O. R. 193.—CAN.

m. ——.]—Pltf., who had an unsatisfied claim for interim alimony & alimony, on presenting a petition to the ct. was granted an order that lands owned by deft. be sold to satisfy the judgment.—FERGUSON v. FERGUSON (1916), 34 W. L. R. 804, 836.—CAN.

n. ——.]—ANCELLE v. ANCELLE, [1919] 1 W. W. R. 875.—CAN.

Sect. 23.—Enforcing orders and authority of court: Sub-sect. 3, E., F., G., H., I., J., K. & L.] elegit, but put the wife upon terms as to the receipts arising from the property.—KIPPAX v. KIPPAX (1891), 67 L. T. 382.

F. Charging Orders.

Charging orders generally, see EXECUTION, Vol. XXI., pp. 647 et seq.

5968. Power of court to make—Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 52—Payment of alimony.]—(1) The order of the Ecclesiastical Ct. for permanent alimony was an order for payment of a certain part of the husband's actual income, the amount of which might be varied according to his change of means, & the nature of this order is not altered, as regards alimony on judicial separation, by above Act.

(2) The Divorce Ct. refused to make an order on the husband to execute a deed charging stock with a yearly sum equal to the amount of permanent alimony allotted.

(3) The Divorce Ct. has more extensive powers of enforcing its decrees than the Ecclesiastical Ct. had.—HYDE v. HYDE (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 80; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 63; 12 L. T. 235; 13 W. R. 545; 164 E. R. 1445.

Annotations:—As to (2) Refd. Clarke v. Clarke & Clarke (1873), L. R. 3 P. & D. 57; Carter v. Carter, [1896] P. 35.

5969. —— ——.]—Sect. 52 of above Act does not transfer to the ct. for Divorce the powers of the Ct. of Chancery, which are ancillary to the enforcement of its decrees, but only those powers which are necessary for the direct enforcement of them, such as writs of execution & process in contempt. Hence the power given to the Ct. of Chancery by Judgments Act, 1838 (c. 110), ss. 14, 18, on the application of a judgment creditor to make a charging order on stock standing in the name of, or beneficially belonging to, the judgment debtor, cannot be exercised by the judge of the Ct. for Divorce.—CLARKE v. CLARKE & CLARKE (1873), L. R. 3 P. & D. 57; 42 L. J. P. & M. 72; 28 L. T. 911; 21 W. R. 777.

Annotations:—Refd. Heath v. Heath (1874), 22 W. R. 266; Oliver v. Lowther (1880), 42 L. T. 47.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation), Act, 1925 (c. 49), ss. 18–51.

5970. Enforcement of order—Foreclosure. RICKETTS v. RICKETTS, [1891] W. N. 29.

5971. Solicitors charging order—Solicitors Act, 1860 (c. 127), s. 28—Intention to bind separate estate.]—A decree for dissolution of marriage having been made on the wife's petition, an order was made under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 32, directing her husband to secure to her for life the annual sum of £130. Upon application by the solrs. who had acted for the wife under the petition for an order under Solicitors Act, 1860 (c. 127), s. 28, charging their costs upon such annual sum of £130:—Held: such annual sum was property recovered or preserved by the solrs., & therefore liable to a charging order under sect. 28; but the ct., refused, in the exercise of its discretion, to make the order, on the ground that upon the facts it could not be presumed that the wife had entered into a contract with the solrs. so as to bind her separate property; the husband was therefore primâ facie responsible, & for anything that appeared the costs could be recovered from him.—HARRISON v. HARRISON (1888), 13 P. D. 180; 58 L. J. P. 28; 60 L. T. 39; 36 W. R. 748; 4 T. L. R. 646, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Watkins v. Watkins, [1896] P. 222. Refd. Re Tatham, Bensaude v. Hastings (1892), 37 Sol. Jo. 27; Hood Barrs v. Cathcart, [1894] 2 Q. B. 559; Maclurcan v. Maclurcan (1897), 77 L. T. 474; Re Wingfield & Blew, [1904] 2 Ch. 665. Mentd. Leak v. Driffield (1889), 24 Q. B. D. 98; Bonner v. Lyon (1890), 38 W. R. 541; Braumstein v. Lewis (1891), 7 T. L. R. 246; Everett v. Paxton (1891), 65 L. T. 383; Pelton v. Harrison, [1891] 2 Q. B. 422; Re Fieldwick, Johnson v. Adamson (1908), 78 L. J. Ch. 153.

See, now, Married Women's Property Act, 1893 (c. 63), s. 1 (a).

——.]—See, generally, SOLICITORS.

G. Garnishee Orders.

Attachment of debts generally, see EXECUTION, Vol. XXI., pp. 617 et seq.

5972. Jurisdiction of court.]—Under Judicature Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 25 (8), the Ct. of Divorce has power to attach a debt due to a resp. in order to compel obedience to an order of that Ct. for payment of costs.

Where a resp. in a divorce suit had failed to obey an order for payment of costs, the ct. granted an order nisi attaching a debt due to resp. & also an order nisi for a receiver.—WHITTAKER v. WHITTAKER (1881), 7 P. D. 15; 51 L. J. P. 80; 47 L. T. 131; 30 W. R. 431.

Annotations:—Refd. Manchester & Liverpool District Banking Co. v. Parkinson (1888), 22 Q. B. D. 173; Holmes v. Millage, [1893] 1 Q. B. 551; Edmunds v. Edmunds, [1904] P. 362.

5973. What may be attached—Pay of naval officer.]—The full pay of an officer in the Royal Navy cannot be attached for the payment of his wife's costs of a suit in the Divorce Ct.—APTHORPE v. APTHORPE (1887), 12 P. D. 192; 57 L. T. 518; 35 W. R. 728; 3 T. L. R. 619, C. A.

5974. —— Fees of registrar of births & deaths—Due or accruing due.]—(1) Garnishee orders nisi in respect of sums due or accruing due to resp., a medical man, on contracts in respect of his position as public vaccinator, & as registrar of births & deaths made absolute for payment of sums due to petitioner, his wife, under orders of the Divorce Ct. for her support & for costs of proceedings in that Ct. A public vaccinator earned fees under a contract which specified that he should perform certain ministerial acts before becoming entitled to payment of his fees:—Held: the fees were debts accruing due so as to be attachable as soon as the work was performed, even though the contract specified a future date for actual payment.

(2) The Registration Acts prescribe that the accounts of registrars are to be vouched by the superintendent registrar of births & deaths:—Held: the fees earned by a registrar in respect of births & deaths actually registered were debts accruing due so as to be attachable before the accounts had been vouched or time for payment had arrived.—EDMUNDS v. EDMUNDS, [1904] P. 362; 73 L. J. P. 97; 91 L. T. 568.

Annotations:—Generally, Mentd. Glegg v. Bromley (1911), 81 L. J. K. B. 334; Wells v. Wells (1914), 30 T. L. R. 437.

5975. —— Fees of public vaccinator—Due or

PART XIII. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 3.—F.

o. Power of court to make—Payment of alimony.]—A judgment for arrears of alimony having been registered under Ont. Jud. Act, s. 35, establishes a statutory charge upon lands belonging to the husband.—ABBOTT v. ABBOTT (1912), 21 O. W. R. 281; 3 O. W. N. 683; 1 D. L. R. 697.—CAN.

p. ——.]—Petitioner obtained a decree for dissolution of marriage from her husband, resp., & for the purpose of recovering the costs of the suit issued a charging order nisi against a fund in the hands of the New Zealand Government standing to the credit of resp., & being deferred pay earned by him as an Imperial soldier in the South African War:—Held: the order could not be made absolute, by reason of The Army Act, 1881 (Imperial), s. 141.—ALLEN v. ALLEN (1906), 26 N. Z. L. R. 74.—N.Z.

accruing due.]—EDMUNDS v. EDMUNDS, No. 5974, ante.

5976. In what cases order made—Non-payment of costs.]—WHITTAKER v. WHITTAKER, No. 5972, ante.

5977. —— Non-payment of maintenance.]—EDMUNDS v. EDMUNDS, No. 5974, ante.

H. Appointment of Receiver.

Receivers generally, see RECEIVERS.

Appointment of receiver by way of equitable execution, see EXECUTION, Vol. XXI., pp. 664 et seq.

5978. Jurisdiction of Divorce Court to appoint.]—GORDON v. GORDON (1912), Times, Nov. 26.

5979. Grounds for appointing—After decree absolute—Order for maintenance—Husband dissipating property.]—SIDNEY v. SIDNEY, No. 5446, ante.

5980. —— —— Arrears of maintenance—Action in Chancery Division.]—The Probate & Divorce Div. ordered a husband against whom it granted a divorce to pay alimony. The divorced wife brought an action in the Ch. Div. against her late husband & the trustees of a post-nuptial settlement made by him during the continuance of a former marriage, to enforce payment of arrears & recurring payments of alimony by the appointment of a receiver of his life interest under such settlement:—Held: she was entitled to the appointment of a receiver, & the ct. would not take into consideration the injury done to the children of the former marriage by depriving their father of his power to consent to their advancement out of the settlement funds.—OLIVER v. LOWTHER (1880), 42 L. T. 47; 28 W. R. 381.

5981. —— —— —— Bill of sale granted by husband.]—The ct., upon an ex p. application by petitioner, wife, made an order for a receiver, until the next motion day, limited to receiving from resp.'s bankers the amount due to petitioner from resp. or alimony & costs, petitioner undertaking to be liable in damages, in case the receivership should be set aside.

Where money was due to the wife for arrears of alimony & taxed costs, & her husband had a bill of sale on his furniture, the ct., on an ex p. application, appointed a receiver of the amount said to be standing in the husband's name at his bank over the next motion day, & limited to the amount stated in the affidavits.—ANGLISS v. ANGLISS (1893), 69 L. T. 462; 1 R. 532.

5982. —— Non-payment of costs.]—WHITTAKER v. WHITTAKER, No. 5972, ante.

5983. —— ——.]—In a petition by a husband for divorce, a decree absolute had been pronounced & co-resp. condemned in the costs of the petition. An arrangement was subsequently made by which co-resp. undertook to pay the amount of the costs by instalments; but he died intestate before the whole of such instalments had been paid. Immediately after his death an order was made restraining his widow from dealing with his estate. The ct., under R. S. C., Ord. 17, r. 4, & Ord. 42, r. 28, appointed petitioner receiver of co-resp.'s estate, but directed that the order should not be drawn up for a week, in order that the widow of co-resp. might decide whether she would take out administration & give security for the debt.—WADDELL v. WADDELL & CRAIG, [1892] P. 226; 61 L. J. P. 110; 67 L. T. 389.

5984. —— —— —— Bill of sale granted by husband.]—ANGLISS v. ANGLISS, No. 5981, ante.

5985. —— Enforcement of security for costs.]—GORDON v. GORDON (1912), Times, Nov. 26.

5986. How application made—Ex parte—Interim order.]—ANGLISS v. ANGLISS, No. 5981, ante.

5987. Who will be appointed—Petitioner.]—WADDELL v. WADDELL & CRAIG, No. 5983, ante.

5988. Discharge of receiver—Receiver of reversionary interest—Subject to defeasance clause.]—The fact that a contingent reversionary interest to an estate under a will was subject to a forfeiture clause upon the reversioner charging the same, or upon becoming bkpt., is not sufficient ground for discharging a receiver appointed in respect of the reversioner's interest, & such appointment does not, of itself, constitute a charge within the clause.—CAMPBELL v. CAMPBELL & DAVIS (1895), 72 L. T. 294.

I. Writ ne exeat regno.

Ne exeat regno generally, see EQUITY, Vol. XX., pp. 541 et seq.

Enforcement of alimony.]—See EQUITY, Vol. XX., p. 545, No. 2656.

J. By Injunction.

See Sect. 24, post.

K. By Stay of Proceedings.

See Part XIII., Sect. 14, ante.

L. By Action in King's Bench Division.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 97; R. S. C. Ord. 42, r. 24.

5989. No action lies—Alimony pendente lite.]—An order to sign final judgment under R. S. C., Ord. 14, r. 1, will not be made where the action is for arrears of alimony pendente lite, payable under an order of the Probate & Divorce Division.—BAILEY v. BAILEY (1884), 13 Q. B. D. 855; 53 L. J. Q. B. 583, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Robins v. Robins, [1907] 2 K. B. 13; Ivimey v. Ivimey, [1908] 2 K. B. 260. Distd. Beatty v. Beatty, [1924] 1 K. B. 807. Refd. Linton v. Linton (1885), 15 Q. B. D. 239; Chalk, Webb v. Tennent (1887), 57 L. T. 598; Re Otway, Ex p. Otway (1888), 58 L. T. 885; Norton v. Gregory (1895), 73 L. T. 10; Leavis v. Leavis, [1921] P. 299. Mentd. Westmoreland Green & Blue Slate Co. v. Feilden, [1891] 3 Ch. 15; Watkins v. Watkins (1896), 12 T. L. R. 165; Seldon v. Wilde, [1910] 2 K. B. 9.

5990. —— Permanent alimony.]—No action will lie in the K. B. Div. to recover arrears of permanent alimony payable under an order of the Probate & Divorce Div., such an order not being a final & conclusive judgment upon which an action of debt to enforce it may be maintained.—ROBINS v. ROBINS, [1907] 2 K. B. 13; 76 L. J. K. B. 649; 96 L. T. 787; 23 T. L. R. 428.

Annotation:—Distd. Beatty v. Beatty, [1924] 1 K. B. 807.

5991. —— Costs.]—An action in the K. B. Div. will not lie to recover a sum payable for costs

PART XIII. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 3.—H.

5978 i. Jurisdiction of Divorce Court to appoint.]—On motion for the appointment of a receiver of co-resp.'s business after judgment in a divorce action, & after an adjournment of the motion at the instance of co-resp. for further material; co-resp. at a further hearing raised the preliminary objection that he was entitled to relief under the War Relief Act:—Held: there had been waiver, & the objection must be overruled.—SHORTING v. SHORTING (1919), 25 B. C. R. 351.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 23, SUB-SECT. 3.—L.

5990 i. No action lies—Permanent alimony.]—Arrears of permanent alimony payable under an order of the High Ct. of Justice in Ireland, K. B. D., Matrimonial, cannot be recovered by action.—KEYS v. KEYS, [1919] 2 I. R. 160; 53 I. L. T. 190.—IR.

q. Judgment for arrears of alimony.]—Pltf., in 1891, recovered a consent judgment against deft. in Ontario for alimony & maintenance, the judgment being a confirmation, subject to certain provisions, of an

Sect. 23.—Enforcing orders and authority of court: Sub-sect. 3, L. & M. Sect. 24 : Sub-sects 1 & 2. Sect. 25 : Sub-sect. 1, A.] under an order of the Divorce Ct., but such order can only be enforced by the methods prescribed by the Divorce Rules & Regulations.—IVIMEY v. IVIMEY, [1908] 2 K. B. 260 ; 77 L. J. K. B. 714 ; 99 L. T. 75 ; 52 Sol. Jo. 482, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Leavis v. Leavis, [1921] P. 299.

M. By Proceedings in Bankruptcy.

In respect of what debts petitions may be presented—Order for damages.]—See BANKRUPTCY, Vol. IV., p. 124, Nos. 1127, 1128.

—— Costs.]—See BANKRUPTCY, Vol. IV., p. 124, Nos. 1133—1134.

What is act of bankruptcy—Final judgment—Alimony pendente lite.]—See BANKRUPTCY, Vol. IV., p. 91, No. 819.

—— —— Decree nisi for dissolution.]—See BANKRUPTCY, Vol. IV., p. 92, No. 830.

Who may prove—Second husband of divorced woman.]—See BANKRUPTCY, Vol. IV., p. 245, No. 2318.

What debts may be proved—Alimony.]—See BANKRUPTCY, Vol. IV., p. 300, Nos. 2809–2816.

—— Damages & costs.]—See BANKRUPTCY, Vol. IV., pp. 314, 316, Nos. 2937, 2953, 2954.

Receiving orders.]—See BANKRUPTCY, Vol. IV., pp. 153, 154, Nos. 1445, 1449.

Committal under Debtors Act, 1869 (c. 62).]—See BANKRUPTCY, Vol. V., pp. 1034, 1035, Nos. 8459, 8160, 8465.

SECT. 24.—INJUNCTIONS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

Injunction generally, see INJUNCTION.

5992. As to what matters granted—Restraint from receipt of legacy—Until payment of costs.]—GILLET v. GILLET, No. 4306, ante.

5993. —— —— —— Respondent out of jurisdiction.]—A wife instituted proceedings in the Divorce Ct. against her husband, obtained a decree of judicial separation, & also obtained an order against her husband for the payment of alimony. The husband went out of the jurisdiction & paid nothing. Subsequently the wife petitioned for a divorce, & incurred a bill of costs which was taxed against the husband. In the meantime the husband became entitled to a legacy, & gave a power of attorney to a solr. to receive it on his behalf :—Held : under the circumstances the ct. would grant an injunction restraining the trustees from paying & the husband or his agents receiving the legacy.—BULLUS v. BULLUS (1910), 102 L. T. 399 ; 26 T. L. R. 330 ; 54 Sol. Jo. 343.

Annotation :—Mentd. Myers v. Myers, Carpendale, Radford & Thom, [1918] P. 260.

5994. —— —— Until payment of alimony.]—BULLUS v. BULLUS, No. 5993, ante.

5995. —— —— Non compliance with magistrate's order.]—GILLET v. GILLET, No. 4306, ante.

5996. —— Restraint from molestation.]—The ct. granted an injunction to restrain resp. in a divorce suit from molesting petitioner by going to & remaining in petitioner's house, contrary to the expressed wish of petitioner.—NORTHLEDGE v. NORTHLEDGE (1894), 70 L. T. 815 ; 6 R. 660.

5997. —PHILLIPS v. PHILLIPS (1905), 49 Sol. Jo. 724.

5998. —— ——.]—Petitioner, a farmer, temporarily left the matrimonial home, a farm-house, where his wife continued to reside, & he presented a petition for divorce. On proof that it was necessary for him to resort to the farm-house daily to carry on the business of the farm, & that he had been molested in his use of the premises, the ct. ordered that petitioner should have the exclusive use, between stated hours, of two rooms in the farm-house, & restrained the wife by injunction from molesting him in the use of them.—CALLABY v. CALLABY & PEROWNE (1920), 37 T. L. R. 241.

—— Exclusion of respondent from petitioner's house.]—In a matrimonial suit, pending decision of the merits, there is no clear & absolute right of either party to remain in the matrimonial home apart from the right of property in that home. Each case raising such matter must be dealt with on its individual facts. In a case where the home belonged to the husband who defended the suit of the wife for restitution of conjugal rights, asserting that her drunken habits rendered married life impossible & had given her peremptory notice to quit the premises, together with the offer of an allowance which appeared to be reasonable, the application of the wife for an injunction restraining the husband from preventing her from remaining pending suit was dismissed.—WILLMOTT v. WILLMOTT, [1921] P. 143 ; 90 L. J. P. 206 ; 125 L. T. 27 ; 37 T. L. R. 429 ; 65 Sol. Jo. 358.

6000. —— Restraint from proceeding under separation deed—Order for maintenance made on basis of deed—Application for variation.]—REID v. REID, No. 5384, ante.

—— Restraint of foreign proceedings.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., p. 482, Nos. 1314 et seq.

SUB-SECT. 2.—RESTRAINT ON DEALING WITH PROPERTY.

6001. Whether granted—Against sale or incumbrance of settled property—Pending variation of settlement.]—A post-nuptial settlement made by a husband in favour of his wife & children contained a recital that it was made in accordance with an ante-nuptial agreement. The wife obtained a decree for a divorce on the ground of her husband's cruelty & adultery. While an inquiry was going on before the registrar under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (c. 61), s. 5, as to the settlement in question with a view to making provision for the wife, the husband advertised part of the real estate comprised in the settlement for sale by auction. The President granted an injunction restraining the husband from selling or incumbering the settled property. On appeal by the husband :—Held : varying the order of the President, without deciding whether or no the husband had a right to sell the settled property, the ct. would restrain him from doing so whilst the inquiry was pending, & an injunction until further order was granted.—WATTS v. WATTS (1876), 24 W. R. 623, C. A.

6002. —— —— ——.]—NOAKES v. NOAKES & HILL, No. 5582, ante.

6003. -.]—In a suit at the instance of agreement previously made for the maintenance of the wife & children :—Held : an action lay on the judgment for arrears of alimony & maintenance.—HADDEN v. HADDEN (1899), 6 B. C. R. 340.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 24, SUB-SECT. 1.

r. Not granted—To reinstate wife.]—A husband having required his wife to leave his house, without assigning any reason, the ct. refused to interpose by an interdict, to keep her in possession.—COLQUHOUN v. COLQUHOUN (1804), 13 Fac. Coll. 347.—SCOT.

the wife for divorce an order was made on the husband to pay a certain sum in respect of the wife's costs, & to give security for a further sum. The order was served on the husband's solr., but it was not possible to serve the husband himself as he had gone out of the jurisdiction. The husband had no property in this country on which execution could be levied to pay those costs, but he had a reversionary interest under his father's will which he had partially charged & which he had expressed his intention of further charging. On an application by the wife to restrain the trustees of the husband's father's will from paying over, & the husband & his agents from receiving, charging, or dealing with the property in question: —Held: an injunction should be granted.—DOOLEY v. DOOLEY (1911), 28 T. L. R. 113; 56 Sol. Jo. 207.

Annotation:—Mentd. Myers v. Myers, Carpendale, Radford & Thom. [1918] P. 260.

6004. —— To secure alimony—Respondent dissipating property.]—SIDNEY v. SIDNEY, No. 5446, ante.

6005. —— —— Before order made.]—The ct. will not, in order to protect a wife's right to alimony, restrain a husband from removing his property out of the jurisdiction of the ct. before an order for alimony has been made.—NEWTON v. NEWTON (1885), 11 P. D. 11; 55 L. J. P. 13; 34 W. R. 123.

Annotations:—Expld. & Folld. Burmester v. Burmester, [1913] P. 76. Consd. Jagger v. Jagger (1926), 42 T. L. R. 315. Refd. Brewis v. Brewis, [1893] W. N. 6; Waterhouse v. Waterhouse, [1893] P. 284; Carter v. Carter (1895), 12 T. L. R. 37; Bullus v. Bullus (1910), 102 L. T. 399. Mentd. Armytage v. Armytage, [1898] P. 178.

6006. —— ——.]—Where, in a suit by a wife for judicial separation, an order for alimony pendente lite had been made against the husband, the ct. refused to restrain the husband from dealing with certain of his property.—CARTER v. CARTER, [1896] P. 35; 65 L. J. P. 48; 44 W. R. 100; 12 T. L. R. 37.

6007. —— To secure maintenance—Before order made.]—BURMESTER v. BURMESTER, No. 5449, ante.

6008. —— —— Pending provision of security.]—WATERHOUSE v. WATERHOUSE, No. 5447, ante.

6009. —— —— ——.]—NEWTON v. NEWTON, No. 5448, ante.

6010. —— Respondent in contempt—& out of jurisdiction.]—The ct., in the absence of authority, refused, upon an ex p. application, to restrain resp., who was in contempt, from removing property out of the country, the object of the application being to put pressure upon resp. in respect of the decree which had been disobeyed, & which could not be enforced owing to resp. being now outside the ct.'s jurisdiction.—WALLIS v. WALLIS (1891), 65 L. T. 796.

6011. —— To secure payment of costs.]—Where the resp. in a suit for judicial separation who had been unsuccessful in the suit, & had been condemned in costs had not complied with an order made during the hearing to secure a further sum of £75 for petitioner's costs, the ct. issued an injunction restraining him from parting with specific property until petitioner had the opportunity of enforcing the order.—BREWIS v. BREWIS, [1893] W. N. 6.

6012. —— ——.]—GORDON v. GORDON (1912), Times, Nov. 26.

6013. Discharge of injunction—Upon reconciliation.]—A judicial separation having been pronounced by this ct. at the suit of the wife, an interim injunction was obtained against him [the husband] to restrain him from dealing with certain of his property. Subsequently a reconciliation took place between the husband & wife. The solr. who had been acting for the wife now applied to have that injunction continued until a receiver of the property should be appointed, or until the balance of his costs should be paid.

The ct. refused to continue the injunction, or to appoint a receiver.—HAWES v. HAWES (1886), 57 L. T. 374.

SECT. 25.—DECREES ABSOLUTE.

1.—POWER OF COURT.

A. As to Time within which to Make Decree.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 183; Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 56.

6014. General rule—No power to make absolute decree—Until three months from decree nisi.]—29 & 30 Vict. c. 32, s. 3, which extends the time for making decrees nisi absolute from three to six months, applies to suits pending at the time when the Act came into operation. But where decrees nisi had been pronounced before the Act came into operation, whereby three months had been fixed as the time at the expiration of which they were to be made absolute, the ct. held that it was at liberty under the proviso to the sect. "unless the ct. shall, under the power now vested in it, fix a shorter time," to make them absolute at the end of the three months.

[A decree] cannot be made absolute before the three months, but it may be made absolute at any later time . . . the proviso [in 23 & 24 Vict. (c. 144), s. 7] gives the Ct. power, notwithstanding the prohibition contained in the first branch of the section, to fix a shorter time than six months (but not shorter than three months) for making decrees absolute. 'Although a suitor may have a vested right to a decree, the mode & method in which he is to approach the ct. in order to obtain it, & the time within which that or any other step in the cause is to be taken, are merely auxiliary to that right, & may be changed . . . without any infringement of the right itself (per CUR.). —WATTON v. WATTON, DOW v. DOW, DAVIES v. DAVIES (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 227; 35 L. J. P. & M. 95; 14 L. T. 742; 15 W. R. 288.

Annotation:—Mentd. Langworthy v. Langworthy (1886), 55 L. J. P. 33.

6015. —— —— —— —.]—FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD, No. 6021, post.

6016. Discretion to abridge statutory interval—From six to three months—In special circumstances.]—The ct. will not, except in very special circumstances, abridge the interval between the decree nisi & decree absolute fixed by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1866 (c. 32).—SHELTON v. SHELTON & CAMPBELL (1869), 38 L. J. P. & M. 34; 20 L. T. 232; 17 W. R. 401.

Annotation:—Refd. Biedermann v. Biedermann (1896), 12 T. L. R. 209.

6017. —— —— ——.]—M. v. B. (1874), No. 6020, post.

6018. —.]—In a wife's suit for a decree of nullity of marriage on the ground of her husband's impotency, the ct. pronounced a decree

Sect. 25.—Decrees absolute: Sub-sect. 1, A. & B.; sub-sect. 2, A., B. & C. (a) & (b); sub-sect. 3.]

nisi, & subsequently refused a motion to make the decree nisi absolute before interval of six months had expired.—MEYNELL (FALSELY CALLED BULL) v. BULL (1874), 30 L. T. 345.

6019. —— —— ——.]—FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD, No. 6021, post.

6020. Sufficiency of special grounds—Application in Chancery affecting settlement—Before long vacation.]—The ct. will not, unless there be peculiar circumstances in the case, abridge the time within which the decree nisi may be made absolute in suits for nullity.

In a contested suit for a declaration of nullity of marriage by reason of the impotency of the husband, the wife obtained on Jan. 24, 1874, a decree nisi, which was to be made absolute in six months. The ct. declined to abridge the time by substituting in the decree nisi three for six months, to enable an application to be made, before the long vacation, to the Ct. of Ch. to cancel the settlements made in consideration of the marriage.—M. v. B. (1874), L. R. 3 P. & D. 200; 43 L. J. P. & M. 42; 30 L. T. 910; 22 W. R. 556.

6021. —— Decree nisi after three petitions.]—The ct. has power to shorten the period within which a decree nisi may be made absolute, so that the time be not less than three months, & will vary the decree nisi for that purpose.

The wife obtained a decree nisi for dissolution of her marriage, on the ground of adultery & desertion, the decree to be made absolute at the expiration of six months. It was the third petition filed by her. The Queen's Proctor intervened on the hearing, & the facts as to the previous suits were fully laid before the ct. Under these circumstances, the ct. shortened the period within which the decree nisi might be made absolute, & varied the decree itself by substituting "three" for "six" months.—FITZGERALD v. FITZGERALD (1874), L. R. 3 P. & D. 136; 43 L. J. P. & M. 13; 31 L. T. 270; 22 W. R. 267.

Annotations:—Expld. M. v. B. (1874), L. R. 3 P. & D. 200. Consd. Meynell (falsely called Bull) v. Bull (1874), 30 L. T. 345. Apld. Rogers v. Rogers (1894), 6 R. 589. Refd. Rippingall v. Rippingall & Lockhart (1882), 48 L. T. 126; Brennan (otherwise Roberts) v. Brennan (1902), 86 L. T. 599; Kay v. Kay, [1904] P. 382.

6022. —— New trial after decree nisi—Second decree nisi.]—A husband obtained a decree nisi for the dissolution of his marriage, but the ct. afterwards directed a new trial. More than six months after the original decree nisi the case was tried a second time, & the ct. again pronounced a decree nisi.

After the expiration of the period for moving for a new trial, the Queen's Proctor having stated that he did not think it necessary to intervene, & notice of the application having been given to resp's solr., the ct. made the original decree absolute, without waiting till the expiration of six months from the date of the second trial, but directed that both decrees nisi should be recited in the order.—SHEFFIELD v. SHEFFIELD & PAICE (1881), 29 W. R. 523.

6023. —— Delay caused by court not sitting.]—In the absence of special circumstances the ct. will not shorten the interval between the decree nisi & the decree absolute even by a few days, although such refusal should have the effect of delaying the decree absolute for three months, & the application may have only been rendered necessary from the fact that during a whole term the ct. had been unable to sit to take cases in the list in which the suit had been entered.—RIPPINGALL v. RIPPINGALL & LOCKHART (1882), 48 L. T. 126.

6024. —— Dissolution of first decree nisi—Subsequent decree obtained.]—A decree nisi having been dissolved on the intervention of the Queen's Proctor, on the ground of collusion, a fresh decree nisi was obtained on the ground that the original misconduct had been revived by subsequent adultery, & the ct. held that there were "special circumstances" in the case, & allowed the time to be reduced for making the decree absolute.—ROGERS v. ROGERS (1894), 6 R. 589.

6025. —— Ill-health due to litigation.]—The ct. in its discretion refused to make absolute a decree nisi before the expiration of six months, though the ground of the application was petitioner was in ill-health & suffering from the excitement of the litigation.—BIEDERMANN v. BIEDERMANN (1896), 12 T. L. R. 209.

6026. —— Bigamy committed by respondent.]—Although there is no primâ facie necessity for a petitioner to seek the relief of the ct. in a suit of this kind, where resp. has committed bigamy, the ct. will not consider it a case of so exceptional a character as to justify it in exercising its discretion in shortening the period of six months which must elapse between the dates of the decree nisi & the decree absolute.—BRENNAN (OTHERWISE ROBERTS) v. BRENNAN (1902), 86 L. T. 599; 18 T. L. R. 467.

Annotations:—Mentd. Ogden v. Ogden, [1908] P. 46; Graham v. Graham, [1923] P. 31; Mitford v. Mitford, [1923] P. 130.

6027. —— Judgment reserved on decree nisi—Time for decree absolute from date of hearing.]—HOUGHTON v. HOUGHTON, No. 3274, ante.

Effect of delay in applying.]—See Sub-sect. 2, C. (b), post.

B. To Impose Terms before Making Decree.

See Sub-sect. 4, post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—APPLICATION FOR DECREE.

A. In General.

Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 56.

6028. Copy of decree nisi—Necessity to file.]—Upon a motion to make a decree of dissolution of marriage absolute, a copy of the decree nisi should be filed.—FOWLER v. FOWLER (1861), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 31.

6029. Who may apply—Petitioner only.]—(1) Although there are many points on which a guilty resp. may be heard after decree nisi, petitioner is the only party to a suit entitled to move to make the decree absolute.

Semble: (2) if a petitioner, after obtaining a decree nisi, neglects or declines to take the further step of moving to make it absolute, the proper course for resp. to take is to move to reverse the decree nisi & to dismiss the petition for want of prosecution; (3) the ct. has power to dismiss a petition after decree nisi for non-prosecution.—OUSEY v. OUSEY & ATKINSON (1875), 1 P. D. 56; 45 L. J. P. 33; 33 L. T. 789; 24 W. R. 436.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Halfen v. Boddington (1881), 6 P. D. 13. As to (2) & (3) Refd. Lewis v. Lewis, [1892] P. 212; Rutter v. Rutter (No. 2), [1921] P. 421.

PART XIII. SECT. 25, SUB-SECT. 2.—A.

t. Who may apply—Petitioner or his solicitor.]—Held: the Registrar may issue the decree on a request in writing signed by petitioner's solr.—BOYD v. BOYD (1900), 18 N. Z. L. R. 826.—N.Z.

6030. —— Not respondent.]—In a suit for nullity the wife obtained a decree nisi, but was unwilling to proceed further. The ct. declined to make the decree absolute on the application of resp.—HALFEN (OTHERWISE BODDINGTON) v. BODDINGTON (1881), 6 P. D. 13; sub nom. HALPEN (OTHERWISE BODDINGTON) v. BODDINGTON, 50 L. J. P. 61; 44 L. T. 252; 29 W. R. 444.
Annotation :— Consd. Lewis v. Lewis, [1892] P. 212.

6031. —— Not representatives of deceased petitioner.]—STANHOPE v. STANHOPE, No. 4566, ante.

Who may oppose application.]—See Sect. 20, ante.

B. Affidavit in Support.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 56, Appendix 9.

6032. What must be shown—Search for appearance or non-appearance.]—An application to make absolute a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage should be supported by affidavits of search for appearance by any person & of non-appearance, & if an appearance has been entered, that no affidavits in opposition to the decree have been filed.—BODDY v. BODDY & GROVER (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 95.

6033. —— —— In registry of recent date.]—The affidavit to found a motion to make absolute a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage, should show that search was made in the registry at a recent date. The ct. refused to make a decree absolute on Nov. 4 upon an affidavit of search on Oct. 1.—STONE v. STONE & BROWNRIGG (1862), 3 Sw. & Tr. 113; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 7; 7 L. T. 757; 164 E. R. 1215.

6034. —— Where pending appeal withdrawn—Fact of withdrawal.]—When a petition of appeal for the reversal of a decree nisi has been presented to the House of Lords, & the ct. is afterwards moved to make the decree absolute, the appeal having been withdrawn, that fact should appear by affidavit. Where such an affidavit had not been filed, but deft.'s counsel admitted that the fact was so, the ct. made the decree absolute.—BAILY v. BAILY & DELLA ROCCA (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 163.

C. Time for Making.

(a) In General.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 183 (1).

Not before three months from date of decree nisi.]—See Nos. 6014, 6015, ante.

Before six months from date of decree nisi—Under special circumstances.]—See Nos. 6016–6026, ante.

6035. After six months from date of decree nisi—Reasonable time.]—PARSONS v. PARSONS, No. 3735, ante.

(b) Effect of Delay.

See Matrimonial Causes Rules, 1924, r. 56.

6036. Liability to dismissal of petition—Whether subsequent petition barred—On same facts.]—(1) Where a decree nisi for the dissolution of a marriage has been pronounced the ct. has power to dismiss the petition as for want of prosecution, unless petitioner move to have the decree made absolute within a reasonable time.

(2) Semble : if a petition be dismissed for want of prosecution a fresh petition upon the same facts may be brought at a subsequent time.—POLLACK v. POLLACK, DEANE & MACNAMARA (1868), 16 W. R. 1130.

6037. Power of court.]—OUSEY v. OUSEY & ATKINSON, No. 6029, ante.

6038. —— Delay for one year.]—In a suit by the wife for dissolution of marriage, petitioner obtained a decree nisi, but allowed more than a year to elapse without taking any further step to make such decree absolute. On an application by resp. to make the decree absolute or to dismiss the petition for want of prosecution :—Held : the petitioner must be dismissed unless within a week petitioner applied to make decree absolute.—LEWIS v. LEWIS, [1892] P. 212; 61 L. J. P. 95; 67 L. T. 358; 8 T. L. R. 489.

6039. —— ——.]—DUNSTAN v. DUNSTAN (1897), 13 T. L. R. 480.

6040. —— Unless delay justified—Proceedings for maintenance pending.]—SOUTHERN v. SOUTHERN, No. 4601, ante.

6041. —— —— Mistake of law.]—G. obtained a decree nisi of nullity of marriage on Apr. 12, 1904. For family reasons & being under the impression that a decree absolute could be obtained at any time petitioner delayed applying until June, 1913. On the application it was submitted that the court had no discretion in the matter. The ct. made the decree nisi absolute. Delay in applying to have the decree nisi made absolute is, in the absence of other reasons, no ground for refusal of the application, where the only result would be to put petitioner to the further expenses of commencing proceedings afresh & filing another petition.—GRANT (FALSELY CALLED GIANNETTI) v. GIANNETTI, [1913] P. 137; 82 L. J. P. 111; 108 L. T. 1037; 29 T. L. R. 654; 57 Sol. Jo. 774.

6042. —— Petition praying alternative relief—Judicial separation.]—A wife petitioned for a divorce, & in the alternative for a judicial separation. In 1909 a decree nisi was pronounced. No application was made as to a decree absolute. In 1912 the husband, resp., applied by summons for the decree nisi to be rescinded, & the petition dismissed for want of prosecution. Petitioner opposed the application & prayed that the decree nisi might be rescinded & a decree of judicial separation substituted for it :—Held : the decree nisi should be rescinded & a decree of judicial separation pronounced.—GRIFFITHS v. GRIFFITHS (1912), 106 L. T. 646; 28 T. L. R. 281; 56 Sol. Jo. 364.

6043. Inquiry by King's Proctor—No application on expiry of six months.]—PRACTICE NOTE (1920), 150 L. T. Jo. 74.

Whether respondent entitled to apply—For dismissal of petition.]—See Nos. 4601, 6038, ante.

SUB-SECT. 3.—GROUNDS FOR REFUSING DECREE.

6044. Affidavit by King's Proctor—Of grounds for intervention.]—The ct. will refuse to make a decree nisi absolute, after the expiration of three months from the time when it was pronounced, in order to enable the Queen's Proctor to make inquiries, & to lay a case before the A.-G. for his directions, upon an affidavit being filed by the Queen's Proctor, to the effect that he had received information of material facts, & that he intends to take the directions of the A.-G.—PALMER v. PALMER (1865), 4 Sw. & Tr. 143; 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 110; 164 E. R. 1471.
Annotation :— Refd. Langworthy v. Langworthy (1886), 55 L. J. P. 33.

6045. —— ——.]—The ct. refused to make a decree nisi absolute although the six months had expired, where the Queen's Proctor applied for postponement on affidavits that he had a case for intervention but had not yet been able to take the directions of the A.-G.—HAMILTON v. HAMILTON & RIDING (1875), 33 L. T. 462.

Sect. 25.—Decrees absolute: Sub-sects. 3, 4, 5 & 6, A., B., C. & D. Sect. 26: Sub-sect. 1.]

Intervention by King's Proctor.]—See Sects. 19, 20, ante.

6046. Alimony pendente lite—In arrears.]—LATHAM v. LATHAM & GETHIN, No. 4184, ante.

6047. —— No order made.]—FODEN v. FODEN, No. 4101, ante.

6048. Securing allowance to wife.]—BENT v. BENT & FOOTMAN, No. 5394, ante.

6049. ——.]—A husband sued for a judicial separation on the ground of his wife's cruelty, & established his case. Since cessation of cohabitation the husband had made his wife an allowance, & at the hearing said he would continue it. The ct. intimated that the allowance should be secured to the wife by deed, &, on the husband objecting suspended the decree until its suggestion should be carried out.—PHILLIP v. PHILLIP (1873), 21 W. R. 392.

6050. ——.]—WILTON v. WILTON & GAMBIER (1881), 71 L. J. P. 126, n.

6051. Death of party— Petitioner.]—GRANT v. GRANT & BOWLES & PATTISON, No. 4565, ante.

6052. —— Respondent.]—DERING v. DERING & BLAKELEY, No. 5146, ante.

6053. Non-payment of costs—By petitioner—Not valid ground.]—The ct. cannot, after the time limited by the statute, suspend a decree absolute on the ground that petitioner had not paid his proctor's taxed costs.—PATTERSON v. PATTERSON & GRAHAM (1870), L. R. 2 P. & D. 192; 40 L. J. P. & M. 4; 23 L. T. 631; 19 W. R. 233.

6054. Appeal pending—Against decree nisi.]—Resp. appealed from a decree nisi to the House of Lords, on the ground that it was against the weight of evidence. While the appeal was still undisposed of, the decree nisi was, after the requisite lapse of time, pronounced absolute, notwithstanding the appeal. The latter being an improper course, could not be allowed to operate as a stay of the proceedings in the ct. below.—ROBERTSON v. ROBERTSON & FAVAGROSSA (1881), 44 L. T. 253.

6055. Delay in application for decree.]—GRANT (FALSELY CALLED GIANNETTI) v. GIANNETTI, No. 6041, ante.

——.]—See, also, Sub-sect. 2, C. (b), ante.

SUB-SECT. 4.—SUSPENSION OF DECREE.

6056. Pending provision for issue.]—CLARK v. CLARK & BOUCK, No. 5841, ante.

6057. —— Nullity suit.]—A decree nisi was made declaring a de facto marriage void, as not having been solemnised according to law. Shortly before the expiration of the period of six months, a petition was presented for a provision for the child of the marriage. On a motion to make the decree absolute, the judge held that a provision for the child ought to be inserted in the final decree, & refused to make the decree absolute until materials were furnished for deciding what provision ought to be made:—Held: under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (c. 144), s. 7, there is no absolute right to have a decree made absolute at the end of the six months, & although the judge might have made a provision after the decree absolute, he had jurisdiction to suspend the making the decree absolute for the purpose of inserting in it the provision which he considered necessary, & the ct. would not interfere with his discretion, there being nothing to show that he had exercised it unreasonably. Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 35, enables the ct. to order a provision to be made for the children of a marriage which the ct. has declared to be void.—LANGWORTHY v. LANGWORTHY (1886), 11 P. D. 85; 55 L. J. P. 33; 54 L. T. 776; 34 W. R. 356; 2 T. L. R. 373, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Foden v. Foden, [1894] P. 307.

6058. Pending time for appeal—From verdict or intervention by King's Proctor.]—DERING v. DERING & BLAKELEY, No. 5146, ante.

6059. Pending inquiry by registrar as to settlements.]—SOWDON v. SOWDON, No. 5506, ante.

6060. Pending provision for wife.]—WILTON v. WILTON & GAMBIER (1881), 71 L. J. P. 126, n.

6061. —— Dum sola et casta clause.]—Petitioner obtained a decree nisi on the ground of his wife's adultery, but, at the time of pronouncing that decree, the judge intimated that an allowance must be made by petitioner to his wife. The solrs. for petitioner & resp. settled an agreement, which was signed by both the parties. One of the terms in the agreement was that the allowance should continue so long as resp. should remain chaste & unmarried. The ct., while expressing disfavour with the dum casta clause, made the decree absolute.—WELLER v. WELLER, FUNNELL & CASS (1890), 63 L. T. 263.

6062. —— ——.]—LANDER v. LANDER, No. 5427, ante.

6063. —— ——.]—EDWARDS v. EDWARDS & FRANCIS, No. 3412, ante.

6064. —— ——.]—ASHCROFT v. ASHCROFT & ROBERTS, No. 5360, ante.

6065. ——.]—PARRY v. PARRY, No. 3433, ante.

6066. —— Nullity suit.]—(1) Where a petition is brought for a declaration that a marriage ceremony is null & void on the ground that resp. had a husband living at the time of the ceremony, the ct. cannot ordinarily make it a term of granting a decree that petitioner shall make provision for resp.

(2) A petitioner is entitled ex debito justitiæ to a declaration of nullity of marriage when resp.'s husband was alive at the time of the second marriage, & the ct. has no discretion as to withholding relief.—BATEMAN v. BATEMAN (OTHERWISE HARRISON) (1898), 78 L. T. 472.

6067. ——.]—FREEMAN v FREEMAN & FREEMAN, No. 3623, ante.

PART XIII. SECT. 25, SUB-SECT. 3.

6046 i. Alimony pendente lite—In arrears.]—The ct. refused to make decree nisi absolute until arrears of alimony pendente lite were paid.—DE BRETTON v. DE BRETTON (1882), I. L. R. 4 All. 295.—IND.

6051 i. Death of party—Petitioner.]—A wife, who had obtained a decree nisi, died before such decree had been confirmed by the High Ct.:—Held: the ct. had no jurisdiction in these proceedings to confirm the decree for dissolution of the marriage.—BUTTERFIELD v. BUTTERFIELD (1922), I. L. R. 50 Calc. 153.—IND.

a. Notice of decree nisi not served on respondent & co-respondent.]—When an application was made by petitioner to make absolute a rule nisi for dissolution of his marriage with resp., & it appeared he had tried in vain to discover resp. & co-resp. so as to serve them with notice of the decree nisi the ct. made the decree absolute without such service.—WARDEN v. WARDEN (1872), 9 B. L. R. App. 39.—IND.

SUB-SECT. 5.—FORM AND AMENDMENT.

6068. Amendment—Marriages in registry & church—Second marriage only referred to.]—Petitioner & resp., after having been married in a registrar's office, went through the form of marriage in a parish church. In a petition for dissolution of marriage, & in the decrees nisi & absolute pronounced thereon, the second marriage only was referred to. Upon affidavit of service of notice of motion upon resp., the ct. ordered that the petition & decrees be amended by inserting therein the date of the first marriage.—HAMPSON v. HAMPSON, [1908] P. 355; 77 L. J. P. 148; 99 L. T. 882; 24 T. L. R. 868; 52 Sol. Jo. 729.

SUB-SECT. 6.—EFFECT.

A. In General.

6069. Retrospective effect—From date of decree nisi.]—An absolute decree for the dissolution of marriage takes effect from the date of the decree nisi, unless anything be done in the interval between the two to alter it; & any dealing in the interval with a chose in action of the wife, is subject to the contingency of the decree nisi becoming absolute.

A feme covert, who, at the time of her marriage, was entitled to part of a fund in ct., joined her husband in mortgaging her share, which was subsequently ordered to be carried to the account of her & her husband, with a direction that it should not be transferred or disposed of without notice to the mtgee. A decree nisi, which in six months' time became an absolute decree, having been afterwards made for the dissolution of the marriage, the mtgee. in the interval before the decree became absolute, obtained on petition, an order for payment of his mtge. debt out of the sum in ct. standing to the credit of the husband & wife. Nothing else had been done either by the husband or by the mtgee. towards reducing the wife's interest into possession. The order was reversed, on appeal.—PROLE v. SOADY (1868), 3 Ch. App. 220; 37 L. J. Ch. 246; 32 J. P. 279; 16 W. R. 445, L. J.

Annotations:—Consd. Hulse v. Hulse & Tavernor (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 259. Expld. & Distd. Norman v. Villars (1877), 2 Ex. D. 359. Distd. Stanhope v. Stanhope & Adye (1886), 54 L. T. 906. Consd. Sinclair v. Fell, [1913] 1 Ch. 155. Refd. Allcard v. Walker, [1896] 2 Ch. 369; Tremayne v. Rashleigh, [1908] 1 Ch. 681. Mentd. Haly v. Barry (1868), 16 W. R. 654; Widgery v. Tepper (1877), 5 Ch. D. 516; Re Emery's Trusts (1884), 50 L. T. 197; Langworthy v. Langworthy (1886), 55 L. J. P. 33.

6070. Removal of disabilities of coverture.]—NORMAN v. VILLARS, No. 4759, ante.

6071. Marriage severed.]—ELLIS v. ELLIS, No. 4185, ante.

6072. Jurisdiction of court ousted—To review decree nisi & verdict.]—After decree absolute the ct. has no jurisdiction at the instance of a co-resp., upon motion made for that purpose, to rescind that decree & the decree nisi or to set aside the verdict of a jury against co-resp. which these decrees have followed, although fraud is alleged by him in the obtaining of that verdict & decree nisi, co-resp. having had time & opportunity for applying for a new trial after the decree nisi & having failed to do so.—KEMP-WELCH v. KEMP-WELCH & CRYMES, [1912] P. 82; 81 L. J. P. 25; 106 L. T. 643; 28 T. L. R. 185.

B. On Right to Remarry.

See, now, Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 184.

6073. Re-marriage within time limit for appeal—Second marriage void.]—Where, after a decree of dissolution of marriage, one of the parties to such marriage was married in fact within the time limited by Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 57, & during the lifetime of the other party to the marriage, the ct. held the latter de facto marriage to be null & void in law.—CHICHESTER v. MURE (FALSELY CALLED CHICHESTER) (1863), 3 Sw. & Tr. 223; 2 New Rep. 493; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 146; 8 L. T. 676; 9 Jur. N. S. 779; 11 W. R. 990; 164 E. R. 1259.

C. Wife's Right to Husband's Name after Divorce.

6074. General rule.]—Marriage confers a name upon a woman. The name so conferred becomes her actual name, & continues to be so even after a decree of divorce, until she has acquired by repute some other name which, so to speak, obliterates it.—FENDALL (OTHERWISE GOLDSMID) v. GOLDSMID (1877), 2 P. D. 263; 46 L. J. P. 70.

Annotation:—Refd. Cowley v. Cowley, [1901] A. C. 150.

6075. Wife of peer—Remarriage with commoner.]—An injunction will not be granted to restrain the former wife of a peer, whose marriage with him has been dissolved, & who has subsequently married a commoner, from using her former title. The peer by such user suffers no legal wrong or damage.—COWLEY (EARL) v. COWLEY (COUNTESS), [1901] A. C. 450; 70 L. J. P. 83; 85 L. T. 254; 50 W. R. 81; 17 T. L. R. 725, H. L.

Annotations:—Refd. Pryce v. Pioneer Press (1925), 42 T. L. R. 29. Mentd. Re Greenwood, Goodhart v. Woodhead, [1902] 2 Ch. 198; Re Croxon (otherwise Croxton), Croxon (otherwise Croxton) v. Ferrers (1901), 89 L. T. 733.

D. On Rights to Property.

See Part V., Sect. 1, ante.

SECT. 26.—EFFECT OF DECREES IN SUITS OTHER THAN DIVORCE.

SUB-SECT. 1.—JUDICIAL SEPARATION.

6076. No right to remarry.]—RYE v. FULIAMBE (1602), Moore, K. B. 683; 72 E. R. 838.

Annotation:—Mentd. Napier v. Napier (otherwise Goodban), [1915] P. 184.

6077. Decree in England—Subsequent dissolution decree abroad—Effect on alimony & custody.]—W. v. W. (1908), Halsbury's Laws of England, cited in Vol. XVI., p. 595.

6078. Whether status of parties altered.]—Semble: a decree for judicial separation does not affect the status of the parties.—ANGHINELLI v.

PART XIII. SECT. 25, SUB-SECT. 6.—A.

b. Retrospective effect.]—After a decree absolute has been made for the dissolution of a marriage the wife cannot sue the husband for a personal injury committed by him in the interval between the decree nisi & the decree absolute.—SALAMAN v. SALAMAN, [1923] N. Z. L. R. 300.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 25, SUB-SECT. 6.—B.

c. Remarriage within six months.]—Divorce Act, IV. of 1869, s. 57, expressly prohibits remarriage within six months of the making of the decree absolute.—BATTIE v. BROWN (1913), I. L. R. 38 Mad. 152.—IND.

d. ———.]—A successful petition in a suit for dissolution of marriage entered into a second marriage within six months from the decree for dissolution of marriage becoming absolute:—Held: the second marriage was null & void.—TURNER v. TURNER (1921), I. L. R. 48 Calc. 636.—IND.

PART XIII. SECT. 26, SUB-SECT. 1.

6078 i. Whether status of parties altered.]—The marriage remains in

Sect. 26.—Effect of decrees in suits other than divorce: Sub-sects. 1, 2 & 3. Sect. 27: Sub-sects. 1 & 2, ANGHINELLI, [1918] P. 247; 87 L. J. P. 175; 119 L. T. 227; 34 T. L. R. 438; 62 Sol. Jo. 548, C. A.

Annotations:—Mentd. Graham v. Graham, [1923] . 31 Mitford v. Mitford & Von Kuhlmann, [1923] P 130 Eustace v. Eustace, [1924] P. 45.

SUB-SECT. 2.—NULLITY OF MARRIAGE.

6079. Marriage never solemnised — Settlement conditional on marriage being solemnised.]—By a settlement made in contemplation of the marriage of his daughter, a father covenanted that if the marriage were "solemnised" his exors. would, within twelve months from his death, pay £25,000 to the trustees of the settlement. The marriage took place. Under an order made in an action for the administration of the estate of the father his exors. were directed to pay & did pay over the £25,000, being unaware of the fact that on the previous day a decree absolute had been made in the Divorce Ct. declaring the marriage to have been & to be absolutely null & void on the ground of the impotence of the husband:—Held: inasmuch as the marriage had been declared null ab initio, it had never been "solemnised"; consequently the covenant to pay the £25,000 never became operative, & the money in question must be repaid to the exors. of testator.—Re GARNETT, RICHARDSON v. GREENEP (1905), 74 L. J. Ch. 570; 93 L. T. 117.

Annotation:—Folld. Re Wombwell's Settlmt., Clerke v. Menzies, [1922] 2 Ch. 298.

See, further, SETTLEMENTS.

Effect on issue born of second marriage—First annulled on ground of impotence.]—See Nos. 2336–2338, ante.

SUB-SECT. 3.—JACTITATION OF MARRIAGE.

6080. How far decree evidence—On indictment for bigamy.]—A sentence of jactitation is not conclusive evidence against an indictment of bigamy; for its validity may be impeached, as having been obtained by fraud.—KINGSTON'S (DUCHESS) CASE (1776), 1 Leach, 146; 1 East, P. C. 468; 20 State Tr. 355; 168 E. R. 175.

Annotations:—Apld. Bandon v. Becher (1835), 9 Bli. N. S. 532. Consd. Barrs v. Jackson (1845), 1 Ph. 582. Apld. Abouloff v. Oppenheimer (1882), 10 Q. B. D. 295. Distd. Boswell v. Coaks (No. 2) (1894), 86 L. T. 365, n. Refd. Galbraith v. Neville (1789), 1 Doug. K. B. 6, n.; Meddowcroft v. Huguenin (1844), 4 Moo. P. C. C. 386; Shedden v. Patrick (1854), 23 L. T. O. S. 194. Mentd. Wilson v. Rastall (1792), 4 Term Rep. 753; Kennell v. Abbott (1799), 4 Ves. 802; White v. Hall (1806), 12 Ves. 321; R. v. Knaptoft (1824), 2 B. & C. 883; Stafford v. Clark (1824), 9 Moore, C. P. 724; Bland v. Lynam (1827), 5 L. J. O. S. C. P. 87; Martin v. Nicolls (1830), 3 Sim. 458; Thompson v. Blackhurst (1833), 1 Nev. & M. K. B. 266; Doe d. Peter v. Watkins (1837), 3 Bing. N. C. 421; R. v. Wye (1838), 7 Ad. & El. 761; R. v. Caley (1841), 5 Jur. 709; Hill v. Barry (1842), 7 Jur. 10; R. v. Sow (1843), 4 Q. B. 93; Robertson v. Struth (1844), Dav. & Mer. 772; Tarry v. Newman (1846), 15 M. & W. 645; Bailey v. Harris (1849), 13 Jur. 341; R. v. Smith O'Brien (1849), 7 State Tr. N. S. 1; Bank of Australasia v. Nias (1851), 16 Q. B. 717; R. v. Blakemore (1852), 2 Den. 410; R. v. Haughton (1853), 1 E. & B. 501; R. v. Hartington Middle Quarter (1855), 4 E. & B. 780; Liverpool Bank v. Foggo (1860), 2 L. T. 594; Routledge v. Hislop (1860), 2 E. & E. 549; Hunter v. Stewart (1861), 4 De G. F. & J. 168; The Justyn (1862), 6 L. T. 553; Rogers v. Hadley (1863), 9 Jur. N. S. 898; Nawab Sidhee Nuzur Ally Khan v. Ojoodhyaram Khan (1866), 10 Moo. Ind. App. 540; R. v. Fanning (1866), 10 Cox, C. C. 411; Patch v. Ward (1867), 3 Ch. App. 203; Finney v. Finney (1868), L. R. 1 P. & D. 483; Ochsenbein v. Papelier (1873), 8 Ch. App. 695; Flitters v. Allfrey (1874), L. R. 10 C. P. 29; Dover v. Child (1876), 34 L. T. 737; R. v. Hutchings (1881), 6 Q. B. D. 300; Priestman v. Thomas (1884), 9 P. D. 70; A.-G. for Trinidad & Tobago v. Eriché, [1893] A. C. 518; Ballantyne v. Mackinnon, [1896] 2 Q. B. 455; Dalton v. Fitzgerald (1897), 66 L. J. Ch. 604; N. E. Ry. v. Dalton Overseers, [1898] 2 Q. B. 66; Turley v. Daw (1906), 94 L. T. 216; Hill v. Clifford, Clifford v. Timms, [1907] 2 Ch. 236; Burdett v. Horne (1911), 27 T. L. R. 402; In the Estate of Crippen, [1911] P. 108; Bedford v. Cowtan, [1916] 1 K. B. 980; C. (otherwise H.) v. C., [1921] P. 399; Ord v. Ord, [1923] 2 K. B. 432.

SECT. 27.—SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

SUB-SECT. 1.—JURISDICTION OF COURT.

6081. What court has jurisdiction—Desertion—Protection order—Husband & wife living in different districts.]—A married woman applied to the justices of the borough of P. for a protection order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 21. Since her desertion she had lived outside the borough of P., while her husband resided within the borough. The borough justices declined to make an order, on the ground that the county justices were the proper justices to make it. Upon a rule for a mandamus to the borough justices to hear the application:—Held: the jurisdiction was in the county justices.—R. v. PLYMOUTH JJ. (1880), 44 J. P. Jo. 168.

6082. —— —— Separation order—Custody & maintenance.]—BROWN v. BROWN, No. 6218, post.

6083. .]—COBB v. COBB, No. 6201, post.

6084. In the metropolis—Maintenance order.] FROUD v. FROUD (1920), 123 L. T. 176; 36 T. L. R. 505; 26 Cox, C. C. 605, D. C.

6085. Magistrates hearing summons for assault—Jurisdiction to order separation & maintenance at same hearing—Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878, c. 19.]—POWELL v. POWELL, No. 6281, post.

See, now, Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act. 1895 (c. 39), ss. 4, 5.

6086. Essentials for jurisdiction—Cohabitation of parties—Broken by act of husband.]—In order to give jurisdiction to justices under so much of Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4, as provides that any married woman, whose husband shall have deserted her, or been guilty of wilful neglect to provide reasonable maintenance for her, & shall by such neglect have caused her to leave & live separately & apart from him, may apply to a ct. of summary jurisdiction for an order under the Act, it is essential that there should be a cohabitation which is broken by the act of the husband; but such cohabitation does not necessarily imply that the parties must be living together continually under one roof.

A married female domestic servant, who never lived with her husband under the same roof, was visited from time to time by him at the house of force with all its consequences except in so far as any of them may be modified by the decree. There have been numerous cases in which a division of property, between parties judicially separated, has been ordered, but none in which the offending party has been declared to have forfeited any benefits which had already accrued to him or her, either by virtue of community or ante-nuptial contract.—WESSELS v. WESSELS (1895), 12 S. C. 465.—S. AF.

PART XIII. SECT. 27, SUB-SECT. 1.

e. What court has jurisdiction—Maintenance order.]—A complaint under Criminal Procedure Code, Act X of 1882, s. 488, falls within the cognisance of the Magistrate competent to entertain such complaint, & within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the husband is actually residing at the date of such complaint.—Re SHAIK FAKRUDIN'S PETITION (1884), I. L. R. 9 Bom. 40.—IND.

f. Ouster of jurisdiction—Parties having reverted to the Supreme Court.]— her mistress, & a child (which subsequently died) was born of the marriage in a lying-in hospital. The husband refused to receive his wife in the house where he lodged, or to give her any help towards her maintenance :—Held : the cohabitation was sufficient to give jurisdiction to the justices under above sect. to make an order under the Act.—BRADSHAW v. BRADSHAW, [1897] P. 24 ; 66 L. J. P. 31 ; 75 L. T. 391 ; 61 J. P. 8 ; 45 W. R. 142 ; 13 T. L. R. 82, D. C.

Annotation :—Refd. Cowley v. Cowley (1897), Times, Feb. 3 ; Huxtable v. Huxtable (1899), 68 L. J. P. 83 ; Wassell v. Wassell (1899), 68 L. J. P. 127 ; Kay v. Kay, [1904] P. 382 ; Harriman v. Harriman, [1909] P. 123.

6087. —— —— What is sufficient cohabitation.]—BRADSHAW v. BRADSHAW, No. 6086, ante.

6088. Ouster of jurisdiction—By separation agreement.]—If a wife having a cause of complaint, under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), against her husband on the ground of desertion, enters into a valid deed of separation the effect is to put an end to any desertion theretofore existing.

A husband & wife executed a deed of separation in 1896, by which the husband agreed to pay an allowance to his wife. No payment was made under the deed for nine months. Subsequently the wife received a portion of the arrears by means of legal proceedings, but for more than two years before Apr. 1902, the husband paid nothing at all under the deed. In Apr. 1902, she took out a summons against him under above Act, & the justices granted her a separation order, the custody of her child, & an allowance of 15*s*. a week :—Held : the deed of separation of 1896 was a bar to the jurisdiction of the justices on the ground of desertion.—PIPER v. PIPER, [1902] P. 198 ; 71 L. J. P. 100 ; 87 L. T. 150.

6089. —— By pendency of divorce suit.]—CRAXTON v. CRAXTON, No. 2980, ante.

6090. As to permanent legal custody of children—Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19).]—GROVE v. GROVE, No. 6151, post.

See, now, Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), ss. 4, 5.

Costs—Exclusive jurisdiction of magistrates as to.]—See No. 6257, post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—ON WHAT GROUND RELIEF WILL BE GIVEN.

A. Assault.

(a) Summary Conviction.

See Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4.

6091. Summary conviction—Aggravated assault—Imprisonment or fine not inflicted.]—If a husband has been convicted of an aggravated assault, the magistrates may grant a judicial separation even though they do not fine or imprison him.—WOODS v. WOODS (1884), 10 P. D. 172 ; 50 J. P. 199 ; 33 W. R. 323.

Annotations :—Folld. Powell v. Powell (1889), 14 P. D. 177. Consd. Lewin v. Lewin, [1891] P. 254.

(b) Conviction on Indictment.

See Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4.

6092. Common assault—Husband bound over—No power to make separation order.]—A husband was found guilty of a common assault upon his wife & was bound over to come up for judgment when called upon. On an application under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4, asking the judge to grant the wife a separation order, & to say that she should no longer be compelled to live with her husband :—Held : the sect. did not apply to such a case.—R. v. CORRIGAN (1898), 62 J. P. 522.

6093. Throwing corrosive fluid—Term of imprisonment exceeding two months—Separation order made.]—Where a husband was convicted at assizes upon indictment of throwing a corrosive fluid on his wife with intent to burn, & sentenced to a term of imprisonment exceeding two months, an order, on the application of the wife, was made by the judge presiding at the trial under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), ss. 4, 5, that she be no longer bound to cohabit with her husband.—R. v. KNOWLES (1900), 65 J. P. 27.

B. Desertion.

Compare Sect. 5, sub-sect. 8, ante.

6094. What amounts to—Absence on ordinary occupation—Mariner.]—Ex p. ALDRIDGE, No. 2847, ante.

6095. —— —— Whether affected by previous desertion.]—Ex p. ALDRIDGE, No. 2847, ante.

6096. —— Question of fact.]—In 1881 a husband deserted his wife & left the kingdom. On his return from abroad in 1886 his wife applied at petty sessions, under Married Women's (Maintenance in Case of Desertion) Act, 1886 (c. 52), for maintenance, & the justices made an order :—Held : the order was properly made, the question of desertion being purely one of fact for the justices.—R. v. BIRWISTLE, ETC., JJ. (1889), 58 L. J. M. C. 158, D. C.

Annotations :—Expld. Lane v. Lane, [1896] P. 133. Distd. Forster v. Forster (1910), 54 Sol. Jo. 403.

6097. —— Refusal to resume cohabitation—After separation under deed—Maintenance allowance in arrear.]—R. v. LERESCHE, No. 2910, ante.

6098. —— Refusal to cohabit—After temporary separation.]—Mr. & Mrs. W. were about to remove to another house, & Mrs. W. during removal, temporarily stayed with a relative on June 19. When the new house was ready, Mr. W. refused to receive her back, or to maintain her till Aug. 7, when she claimed maintenance under 49 & 50 Vict. c. 52 :—Held : whether desertion began on June 19 or not was immaterial, if it clearly existed in Aug., & the order to maintain was right.—WILKINSON v. WILKINSON (1894), 58 J. P. 415.

Annotations :—Apprvd. Jones v. Jones (1895), 43 W. R. 421. Refd. Heard v. Heard, [1896] P. 188 ; Thomas v. Thomas, [1924] P. 194.

6099. —— —— ——.]—HUXTABLE v. HUXTABLE, No. 2858, ante.

Reasonable excuse for refusal.]

See Nos. 3001–3011, ante.

6100. —— Mere refusal to resume cohabitation.]—BOWEN v. BOWEN, No. 2902, ante.

6101. —— Conduct compelling wife to leave home.]—BROWN v. BROWN (1898), 79 L. T. 102 ; 62 J. P. 711, D. C.

Annotation :—Consd. Dodd v. Dodd, [1906] P. 189.

Re WILEY & WILEY (1919), 46 O. L. R. 176 ; 15 O. W. N. 408.—CAN.

g. —— ——.]—Held : once the Supreme Ct. is seised of the matter the magistrate ought not to entertain any application by the wife against her husband.—SMILEY v. SMILEY (1922), 30 B. C. R. 536.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 27, SUB-SECT. 2.—B.

h. What amounts to—Unreasonable conditions imposed—By husband in receiving wife back.]—Where a wife, having left her husband's home, offers to return, the offer being bonâ fide, the husband in agreeing to receive her back, cannot attach conditions which are unreasonable or beyond the control of the wife so as to make it impossible for the wife to return. A wife, in such circumstances, may be found, on the evidence adduced, to be a wife who is deserted or destitute within the meaning of Deserted Wives' Maintenance Act, B.C., 1919, c. 19, &

27.—Summary jurisdiction: Sub-sect. 2, B.,

6102. -.]—CHARTER v. CHARTER, No. 2931, ante.

—— —— -.]—See, also, No. 6086, ante, No. 6168, post.

6103. —— Mere expression that wife can go where she likes—Wife's refusal to return.]—CHARTER v. CHARTER, No. 2931, ante.

6104. —— Termination of state of cohabitation—By agreement for separation.]—(1) A husband & wife married in 1882, and cohabited till July, 1887, when they executed a "memorandum of agreement" for a separation, bearing a sixpenny stamp. The next day the wife went to America, where she remained till Aug. 1899, when she returned to this country & presented herself at her husband's house, who shut the door in her face. The wife took out a summons against her husband under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), a proceeding which must be taken within six months of the commission of the offence. At the hearing the justices refused to hear any evidence as to the agreement, beyond the bare statement of the wife, that the solr. who drew it said it was not worth the paper it was written on, & that it was never intended to be acted upon. The ground of their refusal to do so was not clearly stated, but it appeared, partly, at all events, to be based on the ground that it was insufficiently stamped. They granted the wife a separation order, & ordered the husband to pay ten shillings a week for her maintenance:—Held: the case depended on the terms of the agreement. If the parties intended to separate in July, 1887, then there was no offence within the Act, at all events within six months of the summons.

(2) Where a wife has obtained a decision in her favour under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), she is entitled to her costs of an appeal to the Div. Ct. even though the appeal is successful.—MEDWAY v. MEDWAY, [1900] P. 141; 69 L. J. P. 56; 82 L. T. 627; 64 J. P. 120; 48 W. R. 622, D. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Nicholson v. Nicholson, [1917] P. 21; Bowron v. Bowron, [1925] P. 187. As to (2) Folld. Charter v. Charter (1900), 84 L. T. 272.

6105. —— —— ——.]—PIPER v. PIPER, No. 6088, ante.

6106. —— —— By fault of one party.]—(1) "Desertion" under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), means, & is to be interpreted & dealt with as meaning, the same as desertion under the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), save that no period is specified as requisite to constitute the offence.

(2) A mere separation does not necessarily constitute desertion without consideration of the question whether there is in fact reasonable cause for the desertion. A husband who is summoned before justices under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), should have the opportunity afforded him of showing by evidence that there is in fact reasonable cause or excuse on his part for the separation.

Desertion means the cessation of cohabitation brought about by the fault or act of one of the parties. Therefore, the conduct of the parties must be considered. If there is good cause or reasonable excuse, it seems to me there is no desertion at all in law (JEUNE, P.).—FROWD v. FROWD, [1904] P. 177; 73 L. J. P. 60; 90 L. T. 175; 68 J. P. 436, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Bowron v. Bowron, [1925] P. 187.

6107. —— —— By complainant's own act—Voluntary separation by wife.]—BLACKLEDGE v. BLACKLEDGE, No. 6175, post.

6108. —— —— —— ——.]—On appeal by a husband from a maintenance order made by justices under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), the ct. made some observations on the evidence which justices ought to require before making such an order, & allowed the appeal but granted resp. her costs.

This Act of Parliament [the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), is very improperly worked by justices throughout the country. They make decrees of desertion on the flimsiest evidence, & do not go into cases as they should. The wife here agreed that the cohabitation should be brought to an end; & she admits that she consented to live separate. There could therefore be no desertion unless there was first a resumption of cohabitation . . . (BARGRAVE DEANE, J.).—TERRY v. TERRY (1915), 32 T. L. R. 167, D. C.

Compare Nos. 2858, 6098, ante.

6109. —— —— Reasonable excuse—What amounts to.]—HOLT v. HOLT, No. 3010, ante.

6110. —— Intention not to resume cohabitation—Cohabitation involuntarily suspended.]—PULFORD v. PULFORD, No. 2846, ante.

See, also, Nos. 2845–2852, ante.

6111. —— Continued absence after separation order—Not in obedience to order—Order not served.]—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON, No. 6133, post.

6112. —— Fresh desertion after cohabitation resumed—Previous separation order undischarged.]—JONES v. JONES, No. 6241, post.

6113. —— Expulsion of wife from home—Subsequent repentance & offer to recohabit—Reasonable doubt as to genuineness of offer.]—THOMAS v. THOMAS, No. 2925, ante.

6114. What must be shown—Cohabitation at time of desertion.]—R. v. LERESCHE, No. 2910, ante.

6115. —— —— What amounts to cohabitation.]—BRADSHAW v. BRADSHAW, No. 6086, ante.

6116. —— Intention to break off marital relations.]—CHARTER v. CHARTER, No. 2931, ante.

6117. —— Whether continuance for any specified time.]—FROWD v. FROWD, No. 6106, ante.

Compare Sect. 5, sub-sect. 8, B. (b), ante.

6118. Existing desertion—How affected—By deed of separation.]—PIPER v. PIPER, No. 6088, ante.

6119. —— —— By pending divorce proceedings.]—CRAXTON v. CRAXTON, No. 2980, ante.

C. Persistent Cruelty causing Wife to leave and live apart.

6120. Retrospective operation of Act.]—The provision of Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4, giving jurisdiction entitled to a maintenance order.—JACKMAN v. JACKMAN, [1923] 3 W. W. R. 125; 3 D. L. R. 798; 32 B. C. R. 356.—CAN.

k. Failure to maintain.] "Desertion" in Destitute Persons Act is a breach of duty in connection with the maintenance of the classes of dependants named in the Act.

Misconduct on the part of the husband must be shown as a basis for an order for support against him.—FRASER v. FRASER (1907), 26 N. Z. L. R. 913.—N.Z.

l. —— Coupled with other acts of cruelty.]—Desertion although insufficient in itself to warrant a decree, does, when coupled with other acts of cruelty, form a material ingredient in determining a wife's right to relief.—SEVERN v. SEVERN (1852), 3 Gr. 431; 7 Gr. 109.—CAN.

under the Act to a ct. of summary jurisdiction in cases where a husband has been guilty of persistent cruelty to his wife, thereby causing her to live apart from him, is retrospective in its operation, & applies to acts of cruelty committed before the Act came into force.—LANE v. LANE, [1896] P. 133; 65 L. J. P. 63; 74 L. T. 557; 60 J. P. 345; 12 T. L. R. 249, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Ellis v. Ellis (1896), 60 J. P. 823.

6121. Persistent cruelty—What amounts to.]—GROVE v. GROVE (1896), 12 T. L. R. 620, D. C.

6122. —— —— Number of acts on one day.]—Semble: a number of acts of cruelty committed on one day may amount to persistent cruelty.—BROAD v. BROAD (1898), 78 L. T. 687, D. C.

6123. —— —— Whether acts entitling to judicial separation sufficient.]—Persistent cruelty, under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4, means something more than such cruelty as would entitle a petitioner in the Divorce Div., to a judicial separation.—CORNALL v. CORNALL (1910), 74 J. P. 379, D. C.

—— —— To children—On application of wife.]—See Summary Jurisdiction (Separation & Maintenance) Act, 1925 (c. 51), s. 1 (2) (a).

—— —— On application of husband.]—See Summary Jurisdiction (Separation & Maintenance) Act, 1925 (c. 51), s. 1 (3).

Causing to leave & live apart—Necessity for physical departure.]—Compare No. 6127, post.

D. Neglect to maintain causing Wife to leave and live apart.

6124. Neglect to provide reasonable maintenance—Necessity for proof of husband's means—Actual or potential.]—(1) Upon the hearing by a ct. of summary jurisdiction of a summons taken out by a married woman under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4, charging her husband with wilful neglect to provide reasonable maintenance for her, the ct. before making an order, must be satisfied that the husband either is in receipt of actual earnings, or has the capability of earning a livelihood; evidence of means cannot be entirely dispensed with.

(2) Where a married woman is an unsuccessful resp. in an appeal to the Probate, Divorce, & Admiralty Div. under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), the Court, without laying down any binding rule of practice, will in ordinary cases follow the practice in matrimonial causes, and order her costs of the appeal to be paid by the husband.—EARNSHAW v. EARNSHAW, [1896] P. 160; 65 L. J. P. 89; 74 L. T. 560; 60 J. P. 377; 12 T. L. R. 249, 386, D. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Nott v. Nott, [1901] P. 241. Refd. R. v. Richardson, [1909] 2 K. B. 851; Martin v. Martin, [1919] P. 283.

6125. Causing to leave & live apart—Parties already separated—Subsequent cohabitation in wife's house—Wife denied admission to husband's house.]—Husband & wife had been living apart for many years, when the husband returned & resumed cohabitation with his wife at his wife's house. The wife then went to her husband's house, but her husband refused her admission:—Held: the husband caused his wife to leave & live apart from him within Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4.—SNAPE v. SNAPE (1900), 64 J. P. 793; 17 T. L. R. 19, D. C.

6126. —— —— Husband's failure to pay allowance during separation—Subsequent bankruptcy to evade payment of arrears.]—When a husband & wife have lived apart for several years, & the husband has agreed to pay to his wife a certain weekly allowance, his failure to pay such allowance & his subsequent filing of his petition in bkpcy., with the object of evading the payment of arrears, do not replace the parties in the same position towards each other which they occupied before the separation actually took place. Under such circumstances a wife is not entitled to a separation order under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 31), on the ground that she has been compelled to live separately & apart from her husband because he has neglected to maintain her, although she commences proceedings within six months of the making of the receiving order, as she is out of time under the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1848 (c. 43), s. 11.—ROWLANDS v. ROWLANDS (1902), 86 L. T. 125; 18 T. L. R. 291, D. C.

6127. —— —— —— Or provide home.]—In order to constitute an offence within the words "Wilful neglect & shall by such neglect have caused her to leave & live separately & apart from him" in the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4, there must be an actual departure by the wife caused by the conduct of the husband. When spouses are already living apart & without regard to the question whether there is desertion in law, which is a separate ground of complaint under the statute, mere refusal to provide a home or an allowance does not constitute the offence of causing by conduct to leave & live apart.—NICHOLSON v. NICHOLSON, [1917] P. 21; 86 L. J. P. 11; 115 L. T. 791; 81 J. P. 31; 33 T. L. R. 89; 61 Sol. Jo. 337, D. C.

6128. —— Physical departure necessary.]—NICHOLSON v. NICHOLSON, No. 6127, ante.

E. Habitual Drunkenness.

See Licensing Act, 1902 (c. 28), s. 5 (2).

6129. What amounts to—Question of fact in each case.]—The word "habitual" is not explained or defined in the Habitual Drunkards Act, 1879 (c. 19), & it is in each case a question of fact whether drunkenness is only occasional or is a state of intoxication. It is sufficient to show that she neglected her domestic duties so often & to such an extent that the neglect has become a habit—MACKIE v. MACKIE (1903), 22 N. Z. L. R. 567.—N.Z.

6129 i. What amounts to—Question of fact in each case.]—If a wife habitually gives way to intemperance & neglects her domestic duties, the inference is that such neglect is because, through her drinking habits, she has rendered herself unfit to discharge them, & in order to establish that a wife has habitually neglected her domestic duties it is not necessary to show that she never performed any domestic duties any more than it is necessary in order to establish that she is an habitual drunkard to show that she is always in a state of intoxication. It is sufficient to show that she neglected her domestic duties so often & to such an extent that the neglect has become a habit—MACKIE v. MACKIE (1903), 22 N. Z. L. R. 567.—N.Z.

6129 ii. —— ——.]—A man is an habitual drunkard within the meaning of Divorce and Matrimonial Causes Act, 1904, s. 22, if he had been in the habit almost every week of coming home in the evening two or three times in the week, & sometimes oftener, under the influence of drink. It is not necessary that he should have been drunk daily. Nor is he any the less an habitual drunkard because at times he had been sober for a month, or because at one time, during the period

PART XIII. SECT. 27, SUB-SECT. 2.—D.

m. Neglect to provide necessaries.]—A husband & wife being together in N. S. W., the wife with the husband's consent came to S. A. & thereafter remained there, & the husband failed to provide her with adequate means of support. On a summons under Inter-State Destitute Persons Relief Act, 1910, taken out by the wife against the husband, who was born in Q. in respect of which state the act was in force:—Held: an order might properly be made against the husband.—RENTON v. RENTON (1918), 25 C. L. R. 291. —AUS.

n. —— Whether ground for prosecution.]—R. v. BULLARD, [1924] 1 W. W. R. 326; 1 D. L. R. 956; 41 Can. Crim. Cas. 397; 20 Alta. L. R. 107. —CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 27, SUB-SECT. 2.—E.

Sect. 27.—Summary jurisdiction: Sub-sect. 2, E., F. & G.; sub-sect. 3, A., B. & C. (a) & (b), D. & E.] habitual within that Act.—ROBSON v. ROBSON (1904), 68 J. P. 416, D. C.

6130. —— Intemperance resulting in danger to self or others.]—Justices are not entitled to find that a person is a habitual drunkard within Habitual Drunkards Act, 1879 (c. 19), unless they are satisfied that by reason of the habitual intemperance the person charged is dangerous at times to himself or herself or to others, or is incapable of managing himself or herself & his or her affairs. It is necessary to prove that, though a person may be excessively intemperate & violent at times, the acts of violence were brought about by reason of the intemperance.—TAYLER v. TAYLER (1912), 56 Sol. Jo. 572, D. C.

6131. —— Intemperance resulting in inability to manage self or affairs.]—TAYLER v. TAYLER, No. 6130, ante.

——.]—See, now, Summary Jurisdiction (Separation & Maintenance) Act, 1925 (c. 51), s. 3.

—— Under Habitual Drunkards Act, 1879 (c. 19).]—See INTOXICATING LIQUORS.

F. Husband suffering from Venereal Disease.

See Summary Jurisdiction (Separation & Maintenance) Act, 1925 (c. 51), s. 1 (2) (b).

G. Husband Compelling Wife's Prostitution.

See Summary Jurisdiction Separation & Maintenance Act, 1925 (c. 51), s. 1 (2) (c).

SUB-SECT. 3.—NATURE OF RELIEF GIVEN.

A. In General.

See Summary Jurisdiction Married Women Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 5.

6132. Order for protection of wife—On conviction of husband of aggravated assault—Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19).]—POWELL v. POWELL, No. 6281, post.

B. Separation Orders.

See Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 5.

6133. Effect of—Determination of duty to cohabit.]—An order under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), that the husband pay a weekly sum for the wife's maintenance containing the clause "that the appct. be no longer bound to cohabit with her husband," releases both spouses from the duty to cohabit. The continuance after such an order by the husband of a separation commenced by him before the order under circumstances amounting to desertion cannot make him guilty of "desertion for two years without reasonable excuse," even though the continuance may be owing to his intention to desert his wife & not to obedience to the order; & (semble) though the order has not been served on him or brought to his notice.—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON, [1919] P. 352; 88 L. J. P. 126; 122 L. T. 222; 35 T. L. R. 637; 63 Sol. Jo. 705.

Annotations:—Refd. Jones v. Jones (1924), 132 L. T. 63. Mentd. Butterworth v. Butterworth & Englefield, Collins v. Collins & Harrison, Barratt v. Barratt & Fox, Howell v. Howell & Walker, Adams v. Adams & Ward, Ellworthy v. Ellworthy & Ledgard, [1920] P. 126.

Jurisdiction to make.]—See Nos. 6201, 6218, post.

On what grounds made.]—See Sub-sect. 2, ante.

C. Orders for Maintenance.

(a) Of Wife.

6134. Order for maintenance alone—Jurisdiction of court to make—Separation order previously made—Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), s. 4.]—A husband having been convicted of an aggravated assault upon his wife, a separation order, under above sect. was made against him, such order not containing a provision for the wife's maintenance:—Held: there was no jurisdiction to make a subsequent order for wife's maintenance.—WOODHEAD v. WOODHEAD, [1895] P. 343; 11 R. 659, D. C.

6135. Amount of order—Proportion of joint incomes—Practice of High Court followed.]—In assessing the amount which a husband is to be ordered to pay for the support of his wife who has obtained a separation order against him under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), cts. of summary jurisdiction are to be guided by the principles & practice upon which allotments of alimony are made in cases of judicial separation in the High Ct.—COBB v. COBB, [1900] P. 294; 69 L. J. P. 125; 83 L. T. 716, D. C.

Annotation:—Expld. Stephenson v. Stephenson (1925), 133 L. T. 399.

6136. —— —— ——.]—WILCOX v. WILCOX, No. 6220, post.

6137. —— —— —— Discretion to depart from rule.]—The ct. of summary jurisdiction in fixing maintenance for a deserted wife is required by Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 5 (c), to have regard to the means both of the husband & wife, & ordinarily follows the rule of Divorce Ct. in regard to alimony by allowing the wife one-third of the joint income. But that is not a hard & fast rule. & the wife's income being of a precarious nature & the husband having by his conduct shown that he could, if he chose, pay more than the amount ordered by the justices:—Held: the justices had exercised a judicial discretion in awarding the maximum allowance under the statute of £2 a week, though on the evidence before them as to the income of the spouses, that sum was considerably in excess of one-third of the joint income.—STEPHENSON v. STEPHENSON (1925), 133 L. T. 399; 41 T. L. R. 550; 69 Sol. Jo. 678, D. C.

See Sect. 9, sub-sect. 1; Sect. 22, sub-sect. 1, ante.

6138. —— Weekly sum provided by relative for wife.]—On an application by a wife for maintenance under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), after desertion, it being shown that a relative of the husband had undertaken to provide £1 a week for the wife, the justices ordered the husband to pay that sum weekly for her maintenance:—Held: there was evidence upon which the justices might make such order, & if the husband was unable to pay, he might show cause upon fresh evidence before the justices to have the order varied or discharged.—WALTON v. WALTON (1900), 64 J. P. 264, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Martin v. Martin, [1919] P. 283.

Compare No. 6140, post.

6139. —— What court will consider—Means of in question, he may have left off drink for two or three months, or because during the four years he may have been hardly ever absent from his work.—DEMPSEY v. DEMPSEY (1904), 24 N. Z. L. R. 829.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 27, SUB-SECT. 3. C. (a).

o. Order for maintenance alone.]—Where a wife obtained a magistrate's order under 51 Vict. c. 23, s. 2 (o), for payment by her husband of a weekly sum for her support:—Held: her remedies were limited to those given by the statute.—Re SIMS v. KELLY (1890), 20 O. R. 291.—CAN.

both parties.]—EARNSHAW v. EARNSHAW, No. 6124, ante.

6140. —— —— —— Whether voluntary allowance included.]—In making an order for maintenance under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), it is the duty of the justices, in computing the amount of such allowance, to inquire into the joint means of both husband & wife, & for the purposes of such inquiry they ought to take into account a voluntary allowance paid to the wife by a person other than her husband.—NOTT v. NOTT, [1901] P. 241; 70 L. J. P. 94; 84 L. T. 573; 65 J. P. 378; 17 T. L. R. 525, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Martin v. Martin, [1919] P. 283.

Compare No. 6138, ante, & Sect. 9, sub-sect. 1, D., ante.

6141. —— —— ——.]—BEDDINGTON v. BEDDINGTON, No. 6149, post.

6142. —— —— Actual or potential earnings of parties.]—EARNSHAW v. EARNSHAW, No. 6124, ante.

6143. —— —— ——.]—METCALFE-SMITH v. METCALFE-SMITH (1901), 17 T. L. R. 526, D. C.

6144. —— —— ——.]—STEPHENSON v. STEPHENSON, No. 6137, ante.

6145. —— Order exceeding statutory limit.]—BEDDINGTON v. BEDDINGTON, No. 6149, post.

6146. Whether sum alienable.]—The ct. has no jurisdiction on the application of a judgment creditor of a married woman who has obtained a separation order from her husband under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), to appoint a receiver by way of equitable execution of a weekly sum ordered by the ct. of summary jurisdiction to be paid by the husband to his wife for her maintenance. PAQUINE v. SNARY, [1909] 1 K. B. 688; 78 L. J. K. B. 361; 100 L. T. 220; 25 T. L. R. 212, C. A.

6147. Whether sum liable to equitable execution.]—PAQUINE v. SNARY, No. 6146, ante.

Compare Sect. 9, sub-sect. 1 & Sect. 22, sub-sect. 1, ante.

Interim allowance—Adjournment of hearing.]—See Summary Jurisdiction, etc. Act, 1925 (c. 51), s. 6.

(b) Of Children.

See Summary Jurisdiction Married Women Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4; Married Women (Maintenance) Act, 1920 (c. 63), s. 1 (1)

6148. Husband's liability—Children of wife by former husband.]—A husband who has been separated from his wife under an order made under the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1895 (c. 39), by a ct. of summary jurisdiction, is liable to be ordered to make his wife an allowance for the support of her children by a former marriage.—HILL v. HILL, [1902] P. 140; 71 L. J. P. 81; 86 L. T. 597; 66 J. P. 344; 50 W. R. 400; 18 T. L. R. 393, D. C.

6149. —— Children under sixteen—Form of order.]—Where, in making an order under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4, the justices award a weekly sum for the maintenance of a child under Married Women (Maintenance) Act, 1920 (c. 63), s. 1 (1), the order must show upon the face of it that such sum is for the maintenance of the child until it attains the age of sixteen years. An order awarding a weekly sum for the use of the wife in excess of the limit of £2 prescribed by s. 5 of the Act of 1895 is bad upon the face of it, even in cases where additional provision for the maintenance of children might have been made under the Act of 1920. In arriving at the amount of maintenance for the wife, the justices are bound to have regard to the wife's means as well as to the income of the husband.—BEDDINGTON v. BEDDINGTON (1922), 127 L. T. 755; 38 T. L. R. 743, D. C.

6150. Additional order—Order for maintenance of wife previously made—Jurisdiction of magistrate.]—Although the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895, (c. 39) & Married Women (Maintenance) Act, 1920 (c. 63), may be cited together as the Married Women (Maintenance) Acts, 1895 & 1920, justices have no power, on fresh evidence of means, to add an order providing maintenance for children to an order which provided maintenance for a married woman & which was made subsequent to the passing of the Act of 1920, & their jurisdiction is not extended by Criminal Justice Administration Act, 1914 (c. 58), s. 30 (3).—HARVEY v. HARVEY (1923), 128 L. T. 698; 39 T. L. R. 193, D. C.

D. Custody of Children.

See, now, Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 5.

6151. Jurisdiction of court to order.]—A husband having been convicted of an aggravated assault upon his wife, the justices, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), s. 4, made an order reciting that the wife's safety was in peril, & directing that she should be no longer bound to cohabit with her husband, that the husband should pay to the wife a weekly allowance of £3 & that the wife should have the legal custody of the only child of the marriage:—Held: although the Act gave the justices no jurisdiction to make an order as to the permanent legal custody of the child, the order was valid until the child should have attained the age of ten years.—GROVE v. GROVE (1878), 39 L. T. 546; 27 W. R. 324; 14 Cox, C. C. 200.

E. Protection Orders.

See Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 21; Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 226.

6152. Who may apply—Whether wife resident in City of London—Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 21.]—Ex p. ALDRIDGE, No. 2847, ante.

6153. Property affected—Reversionary legacy.]—A married woman entitled to a reversionary legacy, was deserted by her husband, who went abroad, & had not been heard of, when such

PART XIII. SECT. 27, SUB-SECT. 3.—C. (b).

p. No jurisdiction—Where wife's own application fails.]—On an application by a wife for maintenance under Act XXV of 1861, s. 316, the magistrate held she had failed to establish her right of maintenance under that sect., but he awarded maintenance to her for her two infant children, though the husband stated he was willing to take charge of them, provided they lived with him:—Held: the order was illegal.—PANCHUDAS v. SHUDHAMAYI (1871), 8 B. L. R. App. 19; 16 W. R. 72.—IND.

PART XIII. SECT. 27, SUB-SECT. 3.—D.

6151 i. Jurisdiction of court to order.]—Upon an application by the mother, under C. S. U. C. c. 74, s. 8, for the custody of her infant daughter, four years of age, the husband & wife having separated:—Held: the ct. will inquire into the cause of the separation, in order to ascertain whether the husband has forfeited by breach of his marital duties, his primâ facie right to the possession of his child, & whether the wife, by deserting the husband without reasonable excuse, has relinquished her claim to the benefit & protection of the statute, which was intended to protect wives from the tyranny of their husbands who ill-use them.—Re LEIGH (1871), 5 P. R. 402.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 27, SUB-SECT. 3.—E.

q. Application—Form of affidavit in support.]—COCHRANE v. COCHRANE, 21 C. L. T. 87.—CAN.

Sect. 27.—Summary jurisdiction: Sub-sect. 3, E.; sub-sect. 4, A. & B.] legacy fell into possession. She then obtained a protection order from a magistrate, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), & the trustee of the will having paid the legacy into ct., under the Trustee Relief Act, she petitioned for payment out:—Held: she was entitled to the order.—Re SHICKLE'S TRUST (1859), 7 W. R. 280.

6154. —— ——.]—A married woman entitled to a legacy in reversion was deserted by her husband in the year 1845. The legacy fell into possession & was paid into ct. under the Trustees' Relief Act. The married woman then obtained a protection order under the Divorce & Matrimonial Causes Act, & upon her petition the ct. ordered the money to be paid out to her.—Re RAINSDON'S TRUSTS (1859), 4 Drew. 446 28 L. J. Ch. 334; 32 L. T. O. S. 290; 5 Jur. N. S. 55; 7 W. R. 184; 62 E. R. 172; sub nom. Re RAMDSDEN'S TRUSTS, 23 J. P. 132.

6155. —— Reversionary property—Not mentioned in order.]—Under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 21, combined with Matrimonial Causes Act, 1858 (c. 108), s. 8, a protection order obtained by a married woman deserted by her husband will protect her reversionary property, though such reversionary property be not mentioned in the order itself.—Re WHITTINGHAM'S TRUSTS (1864), 4 New Rep. 134; 10 L. T. 368; 28 J. P. 407; 10 Jur. N. S. 818 12 W. R. 775.

Annotation:—Refd. Nicholson v. Drury Buildings Co. (1877), 7 Ch. D. 48.

——.]—See, also, Part V., Sect. 2, sub-sect. 3, ante.

6156. Operation of order—Whether retrospective.]—Matrimonial Causes Act, (c. 85), s. 21, is not retrospective. Where, therefore, a married woman whose husband had deserted her obtained a protection order from a magistrate under that sect., after the commencement of an action by her in her own name to recover damages against a carrier for the loss of goods entrusted to him by her for carriage:—Held: the order gave no right to sue.—MIDLAND RY. CO. v. PYE (1861), 10 C. B. N. S. 179; 30 L. J. C. P. 314; 4 L. T. 510; 9 W. R. 658; 142 E. R. 419.

Annotations:—Consd. Cuenod v. Leslie, [1909] 1 K. B. 880. Refd. R. v. Vine (1875), L. R. 10 Q. B. 195; Re Pulborough Parish School Board Election, Bourke v. Nutt, [1894] 1 Q. B. 725; Young v. Adams, [1898] A. C. 469; Re Cullwick, Ex p. London Senior Official Receiver, [1918] 1 K. B. 646; Bowling v. Camp (1922), 128 L. T. 342.

6157. —— —— To date of desertion.]—Testatrix was a married woman, who had been deserted by her husband in 1843. In 1851 she made a will & in 1858 she obtained under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 21, a protection order by which all property acquired by her after the date of the desertion was declared to belong to her as if she were a feme sole. The ct. held that the order was retrospective in its effect, & granted probate to exor.—In the Goods of ELLIOTT (1871), L. R. 2 P. & D. 274; 40 L. J. P. & M. 76; 25 L. T. 203; 35 J. P. 712; 19 W. R. 1072.

Annotation:—Consd. In the Goods of Tharp, Tharp v. Macdonald (1878), 3 P. D. 76.

6158. Registration of order—Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 21.]—B., a married woman, obtained a protection order for her property on Apr. 12, 1861; she made a will on Apr. 19, & died on Apr. 24. The order was not entered with the registrar of the county ct. till Apr. 24, being more than ten days after it was obtained:—Held: the requirement of the statute as to the entry of the order with the registrar was directory, & not imperative, &, on affidavits from the exors. that they were ignorant of the husband's place of abode, probate was granted, limited to the property acquired since the date of desertion.—In the Goods of FARADAY (1861), 2 Sw. & Tr. 369; 164 E. R. 1039; sub nom. In the Goods of FARRADAY, 31 L. J. P. M. & A; 7; 6 L. T. 57; 25 J. P. 808; 7 Jur. N. S. 1252.

Annotation:—Distd. In the Goods of Brighton (1865), 34 L. J. P. M. & A. 55.

6159. Effect of order—On wife's power to sue & defend.]—A married woman deserted by her husband, who has obtained a protection order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 21, can, like a married woman who has obtained a decree of judicial separation under sect. 26, sue & be sued by herself in actions of tort as well as in actions of contract.—RAMSDEN v. BREARLEY (1875), L. R. 10 Q. B. 147 44 L. J. Q. B. 46; 32 L. T. 24; 39 J. P. 263; 23 W. R. 294; subsequent proceedings, 1 Char. Cham. Cas. 96.

Annotation:—Refd. Moore v. Robinson (1878), 48 L. J. Q. B. 156.

6160. —— On wife's power to contract.]—A wife who has been deserted by her husband & has obtained a protection order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 21, cannot contract under sect. 26 of that Act so as to affect or bind her separate property acquired before the desertion in respect of which she is restrained from anticipation, &, therefore, a creditor who has obtained judgment against her upon a contract made after the desertion cannot obtain execution against such property.—HILL v. COOPER, [1893] 2 Q. B. 85; 62 L. J. Q. B. 423; 69 L. T. 216 57 J. P. 664; 41 W. R. 500; 9 T. L. R. 457; 37 Sol. Jo. 475; 4 R. 418, C. A.

Annotation: Distd. Re Hughes, Brandon v. Hughes, [1898]

SUB-SECT. 4.—COMPLAINTS.

A. Time for making Complaints.

See Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1848 (c. 43), s. 11; Summary Jurisdiction (Married Woman) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4.

6161. General rule—Within six months' of offence — Persistent cruelty.]—Persistent cruelty by a husband to a wife, & wilful neglect by him to provide reasonable maintenance for her, in consequence of which he causes her to leave & live separately & apart from him, within Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4 are not continuing offences. The limit of time imposed by the reference in sect. 8 to sect. 11 of Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1848 (c. 43), applies, & the complaint must in each case be made within six calendar months of the offence.—ELLIS v. ELLIS, [1896] P. 251; 65 L. J. P. 124; 75 L. T. 390; 60 J. P. 823; 45 W. R. 144; 12 T. L. R. 514, D. C.

Annotations:—Refd. Medway v. Medway, [1900] P. 141; Rowlands v. Rowlands (1902), 86 L. T. 125; Kay v. Kay (1912), 77 J. P. 128; Bowron v. Bowron, [1925] P. 187.

6162. —— —— ——.]—Persistent cruelty causing a wife to leave & live separate & apart from her husband is a different offence from that of desertion. Therefore it is necessary that any such complaint or information shall be laid within six calendar months from the time when the matter of such complaint or information respectively arose.—KAY v. KAY (1912), 108 L. T. 813; 77 J. P. 128, D. C.

Annotations:—Consd. Bowron v. Bowron, [1924] P. 256. Refd. Bowron v. Bowron, [1925] P. 187.

6163. —— —— Neglect to maintain.]—ELLIS v. ELLIS, No. 6161, ante.

6164. —— —— ——.]—ROWLANDS v. ROWLANDS, No. 6126, ante.

6165. From what time calculated—Whether offence continuing offence—Persistent cruelty.]—ELLIS v. ELLIS, No. 6161, ante.

6166. —— —— Neglect to maintain.]—ELLIS v. ELLIS, No. 6161, ante.

6167. —— Desertion—Continuing offence.]—For the purpose of proceedings under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4, the desertion of a married woman by her husband is a continuing act; an application by the wife for an order under that sect. need not, therefore, be made within six months of the commencement of the desertion.—HEARD v. HEARD, [1896] P. 188; 65 L. J. P. 111; 60 J. P. 426; 12 T. L. R. 386, D. C.

Annotations:—Consd. Bowron v. Bowron, [1925] P. 187. Refd. Brown v. Brown (1898), 62 J. P. 711; Stokes v. Stokes, [1911] P. 195.

6168. —— —— Constructive desertion—Cruelty causing wife to leave husband.]—Desertion is a continuing offence, & a wife can, under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women), Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4, obtain relief for constructive desertion on the ground of acts of cruelty which caused her to leave her husband, although those acts of cruelty would not avail her to obtain relief for persistent cruelty under the same sect. by reason of their not having taken place within six months of the complaint, as required by Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1848 (c. 43), s. 11.—BOWRON v. BOWRON, [1925] P. 187; 94 L. J. P. 33; 132 L. T. 773; 89 J. P. 43; 41 T. L. R. 245; 69 Sol. Jo. 325; 23 L. G. R. 223; 27 Cox, C. C. 769, C. A.

6169. —— Effect of bankruptcy of husband.]—ROWLANDS v. ROWLANDS, No. 6126, ante.

See, generally, LIMITATION OF ACTIONS.

B. Defences to Complaints.

6170. Res judicata—Summons withdrawn.]—PICKAVANCE v. PICKAVANCE, No. 6182, post.

6171. —— —— Distinguished from adjournment.]—HOPKINS v. HOPKINS, [1914] P. 282; 84 L. J. P. 26; 112 L. T. 171; 78 J. P. Jo. 556, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. R. v. Seddon, Ex p. Hall (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 806.

6172. —— —— Conditional withdrawal.]—The withdrawal by a wife of a summons under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), does not necessarily render the subject-matter of complaint res judicata or dispose of her right to take further proceedings on similar facts. The withdrawal may be conditional; but if it is unconditional, it is an estoppel, barring the same cause of complaint in subsequent proceedings before justices, though the complaining wife may be able to raise the same subject-matter, coupled with adultery, to obtain relief in the Superior Ct.—HOPKINS v. HOPKINS, [1914] P. 282; 84 L. J. P. 26; 112 L. T. 174; 78 J. P. Jo. 556, D. C.

Annotation:—Mentd. R. v. Seddon, Ex p. Hall (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 806.

See, generally, ESTOPPEL, Vol. XXI., pp. 143, 144.

6173. —— Summons dismissed—Second summons on same cause of complaint.]—A wife, whose summons against her husband for desertion under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), has been dismissed, cannot obtain an order on a second summons for the same cause of complaint. It is immaterial that desertion is a continuing offence; its commencement must be referable to some particular date, & if the evidence of it is incomplete or unavailable on the return of a summons complaining of it, the wife should apply for & be allowed, an adjournment for the purpose of completing her case. When the complaint has been once disposed of by the justices, the matter is res judicata.—STOKES v. STOKES, [1911] P. 195; 80 L. J. P. 142; 105 L. T. 416; 75 J. P. 502; 27 T. L. R. 553; 55 Sol. Jo. 690, D. C.

Annotations:—Folld. Blackledge v. Blackledge, [1913] P. 9. Consd. McGregor v. Telford, [1915] 3 K. B. 237. Expld. & Distd. Kenney v. Kenney (1925), 133 L. T. 400. Refd. Hopkins v. Hopkins, [1914] P. 282; Froud v. Froud (1920), 123 L. T. 176.

6174. —— —— Desertion.]—FROUD v. FROUD, No. 3035, ante.

6175. —— —— —— Previous summons alleging specific date.]—A wife, who was married in 1908, left her husband on Feb. 20, 1910, after which they never cohabited. In Apr. 1910, a summons which had been taken out by the wife in Mar., on the ground that her husband had deserted her on Feb. 20, 1910, was dismissed. A fortnight after the dismissal of that summons, the husband's solr. received a letter from the wife's then solrs. making accusations against the husband in reference to matters prior to the separation, which were said to have been since discovered by the wife, & asking whether the husband would agree to make arrangements for his wife's support, & hinting at proceedings in the Divorce Ct. The husband's solr. answered, in effect, that, in consequence of the statements made, he was not prepared to enter into any arrangement. No proceedings were taken in the Divorce Ct., & no further step was taken until Oct. 8, 1912, when a second summons at the instance of the wife was issued, the ground of complaint being alleged desertion by the husband, but without specifying a date. This second summons came before a bench of nine justices in another town, & they, on Oct. 14, 1912, after overruling an objection that the matter was res judicata, & after refusing an application for an adjournment to call rebutting evidence, found the cause of complaint proved, & ordered the husband to pay 10*s.* for the maintenance of his wife, together with a sum for costs:—Held: (1) the order was wrong & must be rescinded; (2) the objection which the justices had overruled was good; (3) the matter was res judicata; (4) there was neither in fact nor in law any desertion of the wife by the husband; (5) upon the question of costs, the wife must bear her own, both in the Div. Ct. & in the Ct. below.—BLACKLEDGE v. BLACKLEDGE, [1913] P. 9; 82 L. J. P. 13; 107 L. T. 720; 77 J. P. 427; 29 T. L. R. 120; 57 Sol. Jo. 159; 23 Cox, C. C. 230, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Froud v. Froud (1920), 123 L. T. 176.

6176. —— —— —— —— As from date charged in second summons.]—On the facts of the case no question of res judicata arose, as it was open to the justices to hold that there was desertion as from the date charged in the second summons, though there had not been desertion at the date of the prior summons.—KENNEY v. KENNEY (1925), 133 L. T. 400; 41 T. L. R. 571, D. C.

6177. Second summons in similar

PART XIII. SECT. 27, SUB-SECT. 4.—B.

r. Desertion by complainant.]—A wife, who had deserted her husband, took & kept away from his custody & against his will, a child of the marriage. The husband, though willing & able to support the child, if returned to his custody, refused to contribute to its support while it remained away from him in the custody of his wife:—Held: the husband was not guilty of leaving the child without means of support within Deserted Wives & Children's Act, 1901, ss. 4 & 7.—CHANTLER v. CHANTLER (1906), 4 C. L. R. 585.—AUS.

s. —.]—Where it appeared that

Sect. 27.—Summary jurisdiction: Sub-sect. 4, B. & C.; sub-sects. 5 & 6, A. & B.]

terms—Terms general.]—A wife took out a summons against her husband for neglecting to support her, & he subsequently returned to live with her until she gave birth to a child, the paternity of which the husband denied. She then took out another summons charging her husband with neglecting to maintain her, & thereby causing her to leave & live apart from him. The second summons was dismissed, & she thereupon took out a third summons charging persistent cruelty, wilful neglect, & desertion. This summons was also dismissed. She thereupon took out a fourth summons identical in terms with the second summons. The magistrate convicted on this fourth summons:—Held: on appeal, the conviction was right.

Where there is no date specified & the words of the summons are general, it does not follow that because the summons is dismissed the matter is res judicata (JEUNE, P.).—FLETCHER v. FLETCHER (1900), 64 J. P. 807, D. C.

Annotation:—Consd. Stokes v. Stokes, [1911] P. 195.

Effect of res judicata generally, see ESTOPPEL, Vol. XXI., pp. 159 et seq.

6178. Offer of re-cohabitation—Application for protection order.]—CARGILL v. CARGILL, No. 2927, ante.

Adultery of wife.]—See No. 6253, post.

6179. Valid agreement for separation.]—MEDWAY v. MEDWAY, No. 6104, ante.

6180. Resumption of cohabitation—Condonation of desertion.]—The effect of condonation of an offence which is specified as a ground of complaint within Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), does not depend on the wording of any sect. of that Act, but on the common law.

Where a wife complained of desertion within that Act, &, during an adjournment of the hearing of the summons, resumed cohabitation with her husband, & subsequently, but before the date appointed for the adjourned hearing, separated from him again & obtained an order for separation & an allowance for maintenance:—Held: the order must be discharged, as the condonation by voluntary resumption of cohabitation had blotted out the cause of complaint, & there was nothing for the justices to adjudicate upon at the date of the order.—WILLIAMS v. WILLIAMS, [1904] P. 145; 73 L. J. P. 31; 90 L. T. 174; 68 J. P. 188; 20 T. L. R. 213, D. C.

Annotation:— Consd. Matthews v. Matthews, [1912] 3 K. B. 91.

Reasonable excuse for desertion.]—See No. 3010, ante.

6181. Agreement by wife not to institute proceedings.]—ROYLE v. ROYLE, No. 6209, post.

C. Withdrawal of Complaints.

6182. How effected—Leave of court—Necessity for.]—(1) The withdrawal of a summons under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), has the effect of putting an end to the complaint in respect of which it is issued, &, after the withdrawal, no fresh summons can be issued upon the same cause of complaint.

It is to be remembered as a very important element in these cases, that the withdrawal of a summons can only take place by leave of the justices or magistrate: a complainant cannot put an end to a criminal proceeding except by leave of the ct., & if that leave is given & the summons is withdrawn that amounts to a consent by the ct.; & that involves the obvious effect that the complaint upon which the summons was founded necessarily falls to the ground (JEUNE, P.).

(2) A ground of objection, however technical, is not waived by the omission to take the objection on the hearing of a summons under the Act, but where such an objection is taken by the husband for the first time on the hearing of an appeal & is allowed, the wife (resp.) will be allowed her costs of the appeal.—PICKAVANCE v. PICKAVANCE, [1901] P. 60; 70 L. J. P. 14; 84 L. T. 62, D. C.

Annotations:— As to (1) Consd. Stokes v. Stokes, [1911] P. 195; Davis v. Morton, [1913] 2 K. B. 479; Hopkins v. Hopkins, [1914] P. 282. Distd. R. v. Seddon, Ex p. Hall (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 806. As to (2) Refd. Blackledge v. Blackledge (1912), 82 L. J. P. 13.

Effect of withdrawal.]—See Nos. 6170, 6172, ante.

SUB-SECT. 5.—FORM OF SUMMONS.

6183. Desertion — Date of commencement — Whether must be set out.]—Where a summons alleges that a husband has deserted his wife where the justices find the alleged desertion established, the date when the desertion is said to have taken place should be set forth both in the summons & in the order of the justices.

The ct. will not act upon the uncorroborated statement of a party alleging that marital relations have taken place between the parties to a summons while they were living apart.—JOSEPH v. JOSEPH, [1915] P. 122; 84 L. J. P. 101; 112 L. T. 170; 78 J. P. Jo. 520, D. C.

Annotation:— Refd. Fengl v. Fengl (1914), 112 L. T. 173.

6184. ——— Omission of—Effect on order.]—PULFORD v. PULFORD, No. 2846, ante.

Compare No. 6177, ante.

SUB-SECT. 6. HEARING BEFORE MAGISTRATES.

A. In General.

6185. Principles on which court must act—No undue interference with matrimonial life.]—HARLING v. HARLING, No. 6288, post.

6186. —— Difference between parties to be treated with due importance.]—HUGHES v. HUGHES (1908), 72 J. P. Jo. 603, D. C.

6187. Duty of magistrates—To state reasons for decision.]—It is the duty of justices on determining applications under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), to state the reasons for their decision, & of their clerks to furnish on application by the parties an adequate note of the evidence taken on the hearing by the justices, in order that the Div. Ct. of the Probate, Divorce, & Admlty. Div., the appellate tribunal constituted by sect. 11 of the Act, may be enabled pltf.'s absence from her husband's residence was voluntary, & caused chiefly by her own violent temper, & that her husband was still willing to receive & support her, the ct. dismissed the bill, but ordered deft. to pay costs.—MCKAY v. MCKAY (1858), 6 Gr. 380. CAN.

6179 i. Valid agreement for separation.] An agreement between a husband a wife whereby the wife purported to relieve the husband of his obligation to support her did not prevent a ct. of petty sessions from making an order under Marriage Act, 1915, s. 84, against the husband for the maintenance of the wife, nor an order for the maintenance of the child on the application of the wife.—DAVIES DAVIES (1919), 26 C. L. R. 348.—AUS.

t. Offer of re-cohabitation—Must be sincere.]—E—— v. E—— (1904), 15 Man. L. R. 352.—CAN.

PART XIII. SECT. 27, SUB-SECT. 6.—A.

a. Evidence—Of wife.]—The evidence of a wife is inadmissible on the prosecution of her husband for refusal to support her, under 32 & 33 Vict.

to deal adequately & properly with appeals.—BARKER v. BARKER (1905), 74 L. J. P. 74; 69 J. P. 82, 192; 21 T. L. R. 253, D. C.

Annotation :— Refd. Royle v. Royle (1908), 73 J. P. 40.

6188. ——— ———.]—WENHAM v. WENHAM, No. 6193, post.

6189. Evidence—Right of husband to be heard—After conviction of aggravated assault.]—POWELL v. POWELL, No. 6281, post.

6190. ———.]—A husband who has been convicted by justices of an aggravated assault upon his wife is entitled to give evidence before them on an application by her for a separation order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), s. 4.—JONES v. JONES, [1895] P. 201; 64 L. J. P. 84; 72 L. T. 662; 59 J. P. 360; 43 W. R. 656; 11 R. 614, D. C.

Annotation :— Expld. Woodhead v. Woodhead (1895), 11 R. 659.

6191. ——— Of wife—Corroboration—Necessity for.]—FORSTER v. FORSTER, No. 6289, post.

6192. ——— Unstamped document — Admissibility.]—FENGL v. FENGL, No. 6221, post.

See, also, EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., pp. 262 et seq.

B. Notes of Proceedings by Magistrate's Clerk.

6193. Duty of clerk to take.]—It is the duty of justices' clerks to take a full note of the proceedings in the ct. below in any case arising out of Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), & of the justices to state the reasons for arriving at their decision. The ct. will decline to hear any appeal under the Act when it is not supplied with such notes & reasons. If an imperfect note is taken, such note cannot be supplemented or amplified by affidavit evidence.—WENHAM v. WENHAM (1906), 95 L. T. 548; 70 J. P. Jo. 340, D. C.

6194. ———.]—HUGHES v. HUGHES (1908), 72 J. P. Jo. 603, D. C.

6195. Must be full & adequate.]—BARKER v. BARKER, No. 6187, ante.

6196. ———.]—WENHAM v. WENHAM, No. 6193, ante.

6197. ———.]—HUGHES v. HUGHES (1908), 72 J. P. Jo. 603, D. C.

6198. What note must contain—Evidence.]—HARLING v. HARLING, No. 6288, post.

6199. ——— ———.]—JAGGER v. JAGGER, [1896] W. N. 63, D. C.

6200. ——— ———.]—On an application by a married woman for an order for judicial separation, custody of children, or maintenance, under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 5, it is the duty of the clerk to the justices to make a note of the evidence & of the reasons for the decision, & supply the note, should there be an appeal, to the Probate Div.—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON, [1898] P. 153; 67 L. J. P. 77; 78 L. T. 392; 14 T. L. R. 385, D. C.

Annotations :—Folld. Cobb v. Cobb (1900), 64 J. P. 106. Refd. Wenham v. Wenham (1906), 70 J. P. Jo. 340.

6201. ——— ———.]—(1) Upon the hearing of every summons under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), it is the duty of the clerk to the magistrate or justices to make a note, not only of the evidence & of the decision arrived at, but also of the reasons for arriving at the decision, & to furnish a copy of the note upon the application of either party.

(2) Desertion is a continuing offence, & a ct. of summary jurisdiction acting for any place in which the deserted wife is residing for the time being has jurisdiction under the Act to make a separation order.—COBB v. COBB, [1900] P. 145; 69 L. J. P. 52; 82 L. T. 626; 64 J. P. 200, D. C.

Annotations :—As to (1) Folld. Barker v. Barker (1905), 74 L. J. P. 74. Refd. Wenham v. Wenham (1906), 70 J. P. Jo. 340; Royle v. Royle (1908), 73 J. P. 40.

6202. — ———.]—BARKER v. BARKER, No. 6187, ante.

6203. — Grounds of decision.]—HARLING v. HARLING, No. 6288, post.

6204. ———.]—JAGGER v. JAGGER, [1896] W. N. 63, D. C.

6205. ——— — —.]—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON, No. 6200, ante.

6206. ——— ——— .]—COBB v. COBB, No. 6201, ante.

6207. ——— ———.]—BOWEN v. BOWEN (1908), 73 J. P. 87, D. C.

6208. ——— Original letters.]—PRACTICE NOTE (1923), 155 L. T. Jo. 298.

Imperfect note—Amplification by affidavit.]—See No. 6193, ante, No. 6283, post.

6209. Shorthand note—Only by consent of parties—No extra expense to fall on parties.]—(1) Where upon the hearing of a summons under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), the clerk of the justices allows a shorthand note to be taken in place of the ordinary longhand note, he must certify the transcript of such note as correct, & cannot discharge his duty with regard to the making of the note unless he so certifies the transcript of the shorthand note which he allowed to be taken.

(2) Unless the parties both agree to the taking of a shorthand note in place of the longhand note usually taken in such cases by the clerk to the justices, such longhand note must be taken, & in any event no extra expense must fall upon the parties in case either of them should require a transcript of the note for the purpose of an appeal.

(3) On the facts proved, the wife was shown to have been compelled to leave her husband under circumstances which, in law, amounted to desertion by him :—Held : An agreement not to take proceedings "for separation, or divorce, or maintenance," signed by the wife after the separation, was bad.—ROYLE v. ROYLE, [1909] P. 24; 78 L. J. P. 34; 99 L. T. 882; 73 J. P. 40; 25 T. L. R. 84; 53 Sol. Jo. 119, D. C.

6210. ——— Must be certified by clerk.]—ROYLE v. ROYLE, No. 6209, ante.

6211. To whom note must be supplied—To both parties.]—SNAPE v. SNAPE, No. 6283, post.

6212. ——— ———.]—COBB v. COBB, No. 6201, ante.

6213. ——— ———.]—BARKER v. BARKER, No. 6187, ante.

6214. — .]—BOWEN v. BOWEN (1908), 73 J. P. 87, D. C.

6215. ——— To Probate Division—If appeal.]—ROBINSON v. ROBINSON, No. 6200, ante.

6216. ——— ——— ——— —BOWEN v. BOWEN (1908), 73 J. P. 87, D. C.

c. 20, s. 25 (D).—R. v. BISSELL (1882), 1 O. R. 514.—CAN.

b. Discretion of magistrate—To decide whether wife has reasonable cause to leave.]—A magistrate in deciding under Destitute Persons Act, 1910, s. 17 (7), whether in his opinion a wife has reasonable cause for refusing or failing to live with her husband, may found his opinion upon any cause he thinks sufficient, untrammelled by the decisions of cts. as to what has previously been held to be a sufficient cause for the refusal or neglect of a wife to resume cohabitation with her husband.—WATKINS v. WATKINS (1914), 33 N. Z. L. R. 1497.—N.Z.

Sect. 27.—Summary jurisdiction: Sub-sect. 6, C.

C. Adjournment.

6217. Whether ordered as of course—Evidence incomplete or unavailable at hearing.]—STOKES v. STOKES, No. 6173, ante.

See, also, No. 6172, ante.

Refusal of adjournment.]—See Nos. 6262, 6263, post.

D. Orders.

(a) Form of Orders.

6218. What must be included—Adjudication on acts complained of.]—(1) An order of a ct. of summary jurisdiction under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act,1895 (c. 39), should contained an adjudication on the facts constituting the cause of complaint.

(2) On appeal the High Ct. has power to make the order which in their opinion ought to have been made on the facts in evidence before the inferior ct.

(3) Desertion is a continuing course of conduct, & entitles the wife to apply for an order in that ct. within whose jurisdiction she is living in a deserted condition, although that is not the place in which she was originally deserted.—BROWN v. BROWN (1898), 79 L. T. 102; 62 J. P. 711, D. C.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Dodd v. Dodd, [1906] P. 189.

6219. —— Recital of conviction.]—BULLIVANT v. BULLIVANT (1902), 18 T. L. R. 317.

6220. —— ——.]—In allotting maintenance on making an order under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), the justices should follow the principles on which the ct. acted when awarding alimony, viz., one-third of the joint incomes. The order should recite the conviction on the face of it.—WILCOX v. WILCOX (1902), 66 J. P. 166; 18 T. L. R. 237, D. C.

6221. —— Desertion—Date of commencement.]—In all applications to a ct. of summary jurisdiction under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 34), based upon the husband's desertion, the date upon which the desertion is found to have commenced should be inserted in the finding of fact & should appear upon the face of the order.

The effect of Stamp Act, 1891 (c. 39), s. 14 (4), is that an unstamped document, which requires a stamp, cannot be received in evidence, except in criminal proceedings, for any purpose whatever, including a collateral purpose.—FENGL v. FENGL, [1914] P. 274; 84 L. J. P. 29; 112 L. T. 173; 31 T. L. R. 45; 59 Sol. Jo. 42, D. C.

6222. —— —— ——.]—JOSEPH v. JOSEPH, No. 6183, ante.

6223. —— Aggravated assault—Copy of conviction.]—BRYANT v. BRYANT, No. 6267, post.

6224. —— Order for maintenance of children—Purpose to which sum to be applied.]—BEDDINGTON v. BEDDINGTON, No. 6149, ante.

6225. Printed forms—Necessity for care in drawing up.]—Observations as to the use of printed forms in drawing up separation orders under Summary Jurisdiction, Married Women, Act, 1895 (c. 39).

The way in which these separation orders were drawn up was very serious . . . great care should be exercised in drawing up these orders (BARGRAVE DEANE, J.).—HOLDEN v. HOLDEN & PEARSON (1910), 27 T. L. R. 38.

6226. Protection order — General terms.] — A protection order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 21, should be in general terms, the ct. having no power to decide what title the wife may have to specific property.—Ex p. MULLINEUX (1858), 1 Sw. & Tr. 77; 27 L. J. P. & M. 19; 30 L. T. O. S. 352; 164 E. R. 636; sub nom. MULLINEUX v. MULLINEUX, 6 W. R. 356.

See Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 226.

(b) Enforcement of Orders.

6227. Maintenance order—Action for arrears—Husband out of jurisdiction.]—ARCHER v. ARCHER, [1886] W. N. 66.

6228. —— —— Right of widow to recover against estate of husband.]—Where a separation order has been made by justices under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), against a husband & also an order for maintenance, his widow may recover against his estate arrears of maintenance due under the order at his death.—FIRMAN v. ROYAL, [1925] 1 K. B. 681; 94 L. J. K. B. 649; 133 L. T. 48.

See, also, Part XIII., Sect. 23, sub-sect. 2, ante.

6229. —— Injunction—To restrain payment by executors of legacy to husband.] — ARCHER v. ARCHER, [1886] W. N. 66.

6230. —— Distress.]—R. v. RICHARDSON, No. 6231, post.

6231. —— Committal order—Evidence of husband's means—Necessity for.]—An order for the payment of maintenance money to a wife under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), may be enforced in default of sufficient distress by committal to prison, although no affirmative evidence of means is given by the person applying for such committal.—R. v. RICHARDSON, [1909] 2 K. B. 851; sub nom. R. v. RICHARDSON, Ex p. SHERRY, 79 L. J. K. B. 13; 101 L. T. 511; 73 J. P. 431; 25 T. L. R. 711; 22 Cox, C. C. 183, D. C.

6232. —— —— Appeals.]—RUTHER v. RUTHER, No. 6250, post.

6233. —— ——.]—A married woman having been deserted by her husband obtained from a stipendiary magistrate an order under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 5, directing her husband to pay a weekly sum for her maintenance. After the date of this order, namely, on Nov. 17, 1906, & at various dates down to Feb. 1907, the parties resumed cohabitation. On Dec. 1, 1911, the husband was brought before justices on the information of the wife, who alleged that a sum of £97 4*s.* had accrued due in respect of arrears of weekly payments. This sum had accrued since Nov. 17, 1906. The justices made an order committing the husband in default of distress to imprisonment for three months, unless all the arrears were sooner paid or satisfied:—Held: (1) the committal was bad because no more than six calendar months' arrears were recoverable; (2) the return to cohabitation did not of itself annul the order for weekly payments, but the order remained in force until discharged under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 7.—MATTHEWS v. MATTHEWS, [1912] 3 K. B. 91; 81 L. J. K. B. 970; 107 L. T. 56; 76 J. P. 315; 28 T. L. R. 421; 23 Cox, C. C. 65, D. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Grocock v. Grocock, [1920]

PART XIII. SECT. 27, SUB-SECT. 6. D.

c. Maintenance order—Cannot be registered against land.]—An order made under Married Persons Summary Separation Act, 1896, s. 4, cannot be registered against the land of the person against whom the order is made. —Re DUNCAN (1905), 25 N. Z. L. R. 24. —N.Z.

1 K. B. 1. As to (2) Foll'd. Jones v. Jones, [1924] P. 203. Generally, Refd. Adams v. Adams, [1914] P. 155.

6234. —— Order for payment of arrears—Discretion of magistrates.]—A married woman, on the desertion of her husband in 1912, obtained an order against him from the justices at Sheffield for payment of weekly sums. After two weeks' payments had been made the wife removed from Sheffield to London without informing her husband of her address. She made no application to him for payment, & took no proceedings against him for six years; & he made no further payments. In 1918, she preferred an information against him before a Metropolitan magistrate, under Bastardy Laws Amendment Act, 1872 (c. 65), s. 4, & Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 30), s. 9, claiming the arrears under the order made in 1912. The magistrate made the order, holding that he had no discretion in the matter:—Held: (1) the magistrate had a discretion either to make or not make the order for payment of arrears, but that he had no discretion to make an order for partial payment only of arrears; (2) the Criminal Justice Administration Act, 1914 (c. 58), s. 32 (1), is not retrospective, & only six months arrears could be recovered, as before the passing of that Act.—GROCOCK v. GROCOCK, [1920] 1 K. B. 1; 88 L. J. K. B. 1068; 121 L. T. 466; 83 J. P. 185; 35 T. L. R. 509; 63 Sol. Jo. 627; 17 L. G. R. 623; 26 Cox, C. C. 485, D. C.

6235. Order for custody of children—Attachment.]—An order made by the High Ct. of Justice (Probate, Divorce, & Admlty. Div.) under R. S. C. Ord. 59, rr. 4A., 7, & Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), ss. 5, 11, that a wife be no longer bound to cohabit with her husband, on the ground of his desertion of her, & that the custody of the child whilst under the age of sixteen be committed to the wife, may be enforced as to the custody of the child by motion for attachment.—BROWN v. BROWN (1898), 62 J. P. 568; 42 Sol. Jo. 739.

——.]—See Summary Jurisdiction (Separation & Maintenance) Act, 1925 (c. 51), s. 5.

Attachment & committal generally, see CONTEMPT OF COURT, Vol. XVI., pp. 46 et seq.

6236. Recovery of arrears—Limited to six months' arrears.]—MATTHEWS v. MATTHEWS, No. 6233, ante.

(c) Discharge and Variation of Orders.

See Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 21.

6237. Discretion of magistrates.]—R. v. HUGGINS, ETC., JJ. & HUMPHREYS, No. 6276, post.

6238. ——.]—BRAGG v. BRAGG, No. 6242, post.

6239. Discharge of order — How effected — Whether by resumption of cohabitation.]—Upon the conviction of a husband for an aggravated assault on his wife, justices made an order, under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), s. 4, that the wife should be no longer bound to cohabit with her husband, & that he should pay to her a weekly sum for her maintenance. The wife subsequently resumed cohabitation with her husband for a time, & then again left him:—Held: (1) the order was annulled by reason of the subsequent resumption of cohabitation, & therefore the wife could not enforce payment of weekly sums alleged to have become due under it after she again left her husband; (2) as to the wife's costs, the wife was not entitled to her costs in the ct. below or on appeal, as this was not a suit for judicial separation or for alimony, but an appeal by the husband against an order obtained by the wife to enforce an order the legal effect of which had been exhausted.—HADDON v. HADDON (1887), 18 Q. B. D. 778; 56 L. J. M. C. 69; 56 L. T. 716; 51 J. P. 486; 3 T. L. R. 574, D. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Williams v. Williams, [1904] P. 145. Distd. Matthews v. Matthews, [1912] 3 K. B. 91. Refd. Jones v. Jones, [1924] P. 203.

6240. —— —— —— Necessity for order of court.]—MATTHEWS v. MATTHEWS, No. 6233, ante.

6241. ——.]—An order for separation & maintenance under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 5, is not ipso facto discharged by a return to cohabitation, as a decree for judicial separation is. The Summary Jurisdiction Act by s. 5 (a) expressly provided that an order under the Act shall have the effect of a decree of judicial separation while "in force"; & s. 7 provides for the discharge of such an order "upon proof" of return to cohabitation. The result of these provisions is that a husband cannot, while an order for separation exists against him undischarged, be guilty of a fresh desertion in the event of his resuming cohabitation & then deserting his wife again, because until the discharge of the order he was not bound to cohabit.—JONES v. JONES, [1924] P. 203; 93 L. J. P. 94; 132 L. T. 63; 40 T. L. R. 794; 22 L. G. R. 697, D. C.

See, also, No. 6180, ante.

6242. —— —— —— Whether by divorce decree.]—Dissolution of a marriage by a decree absolute of divorce does not ipso facto discharge a maintenance order previously obtained by a wife under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39). Nor does such dissolution compel the ct. of summary jurisdiction to discharge such an order. Every such case comes within the discretion given to the ct. by sect. 7 of the Act to vary or discharge the order on evidence of fresh facts.—BRAGG v. BRAGG, [1925] P. 20: 94 L. J. P. 11; 132 L. T. 346; 41 T. L. R. 8; 69 Sol. Jo. 73; 27 Cox, C. C. 729, D. C.

6243. —— Protection orders—Effect of.]—A married woman who had obtained a protecting order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 21, on the ground of causeless desertion, was made a deft. without her husband to a suit for the administration of the estate of a testator who died after the alleged desertion, giving her a beneficial interest in his property; & a decree was made for accounts & inquiries. Shortly after this, the protecting order was discharged on the application of the husband, on the ground that there had never been any desertion. Pltf. thereupon obtained a supplemental order under 15 & 16 Vict. c. 86, s. 52, to bring the husband before the ct.:—Held: such an order was proper.—RUDGE v. WEEDON (1859), 4 De G. & J. 216; 28 L. J. Ch. 788; 33 L. T. O. S. 214; 23 J. P. 756; 5 Jur. N. S. 723; 7 W. R. 519; 45 E. R. 84, L. JJ.

Annotation:—Mentd. Hills v. Springett (1868), L. R. 5 Eq. 123.

PART XIII. SECT. 27, SUB-SECT. 6.—D. (c).

6237 i. Discretion of magistrates.]—A magistrate has power to cancel an order for the maintenance of a wife where the wife has, since the making of the order, been sentenced to a term of imprisonment, & is undergoing the sentence.—MCWILLIAM v. MCWILLIAM (1899), 18 N. Z. L. R. 821.—N.Z.

6237 ii. ——.]—A magistrate is not bound to cancel an order made against a husband for the maintenance of his wife under Part III. of Destitute Persons Act, 1908, merely because of the wilful refusal of the wife to obey an order of the Supreme Ct. for restitution of conjugal rights. The matter is one within his discretion under sect. 39 of the said Act.—BUSCH v. BUSCH (1912), 32 N. Z. L. R. 49.—N.Z.

d. Discharge of order—How effected—Whether by offer to maintain wife.]—A husband against whom his wife has obtained alimony on the ground of desertion, is not entitled, as of

Sect. 27.—Summary jurisdiction: Sub-sect. 6, D. (c).]

6244. —— —— To what court application must be made.]—Under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 21, the application to discharge an order for the protection of a wife's property must be made to the magistrate by whom it was granted; or, semble, to the Ct. for Divorce & Matrimonial Causes.—R. v. ARNOLD (1864), 5 B. & S. 322; 28 J. P. 454; 122 E. R. 850.

6245. —— —— ——.]—No magistrate other than the one by whom a protection order has been made has power under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 21, to discharge it, even in the case where such magistrate is dead. Qu.: whether the Divorce Ct. has not power under the Act to adjudicate in such a case.—Re SHARP (1864), 4 New Rep. 145; 33 L. J. M. C. 152; 10 L. T. 458; 10 Jur. N. S. 1018; 12 W. R. 756.

6246. —— —— Time for application—Whether within lifetime of wife.]—An application to discharge a protection order is not limited to the lifetime of the married woman. A claim to pronounce against the validity of the will of a married woman who had obtained a protection order, & a counter-claim to discharge the protection order, may be included in the same action.—MUDGE v. ADAMS (1881), 6 P. D. 54; 50 L. J. P. 49; 44 L. T. 185; 29 W. R. 307.

Annotation:—Consd. Mahoney v. M'Carthy, [1892] P. 21.

6247. —— —— Grounds for—Order obtained by fraud.]—(1) A husband left his home on Mar. 2, 1867, with his wife's consent, to seek employment in America. He was absent nearly ten years, & during that time he did not communicate with his wife except by one verbal message, as to the receipt of which there was no evidence. On his return at the end of 1876, he went at once to his wife's house, but she refused to receive him, & shut the door in his face. Next day she went before a police magistrate, & obtained a protection order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (c. 85), s. 21, on the ground that her husband had deserted her on Mar. 2, 1867. She did not inform the magistrate that her husband had returned, & had offered to resume cohabitation, nor that when he went away he had left her in possession of a furnished lodging house by which she had earned her livelihood. No notice was given to the husband of the application for the protection order, & he did not know of the existence of the order until it was found among her papers after her death. The husband & wife met occasionally on friendly terms after the date of the order, but they never resumed cohabitation:—Held: the order must be taken to have been obtained by false statements, by the concealment of material facts, & without notice to the husband, & it was therefore invalid, & must be set aside.

(2) There are several points to be considered. In the first place, was there any desertion at all? It is clear that the husband left the country with his wife's consent. That is admitted by pltf.'s witnesses. It is further, indeed, urged on behalf of the husband that the case of Fitzgerald v. Fitzgerald, No. 2845, ante, shows that there must be a resumption of cohabitation before there can be desertion. I cannot, however, agree that that is so, because though it may be perfectly true that if there has been a separation by consent, that is to say, an agreement to live separate, there cannot be desertion without a return to cohabitation, such a rule does not apply where the absence has not been in pursuance of an agreement to live separate, but merely for a temporary reason & amounting only to a temporary separation. In this case a temporary separation only was at first intended, & I agree with the counsel for pltf., that there may be circumstances tending to show that although there be no intention to desert at the beginning, there may afterwards be desertion without resumption of cohabitation. That is a matter of evidence (JEUNE, J.).—MAHONEY v. M'CARTHY, [1892] P. 21; 61 L. J. P. 41; 8 T. L. R. 97.

6248. —— —— —— Order obtained without notice form to husband.]—MAHONEY v. M'CARTHY, No. 6247, ante.

6249. —— —— —— ——.]—A married woman in 1872 obtained a protection order from a magistrate on the ground of the alleged desertion of her husband by fraudulently concealing the real facts of the case. The effect of that order was to give the wife the position of a feme sole, so that she could dispose of her property as if her husband was already dead, & in the event of an intestacy her estate would pass to her next of kin & heir-at-law. No notice was given to the husband of the application to the magistrate, & the husband did not know of the protection order until after his wife's death. On proof of the facts the ct. set aside the protection order.—HOPKINS v. BULBECK (1920), 64 Sol. Jo. 409.

6250. —— Husband's right to—Adultery of wife—Conduced to by husband.]—(1) Where an order for a weekly payment by a husband to his wife is made under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), & the wife subsequently commits adultery, the husband is entitled under sect. 7 of the Act, on proof thereof before a ct. of summary jurisdiction, to have the order discharged in spite of a finding by the ct. that he has been guilty of conduct conducing to the adultery; & he is not liable to make any further payments to his wife, although the order may not have been in terms discharged by the adjudication as to the wife's adultery.

(2) The decision of a ct. of summary jurisdiction upon an information or complaint by a married woman alleging that payments due to her from her husband under an order made under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), are in arrear, is not a matter in respect of which an appeal lies under sect. 11 of that Act to the Probate, Divorce, & Admlty. Div.; but the ct. has power to state a case for the opinion of the K. B. Div. upon a point of law arising on the information. RUTHER v. RUTHER, [1903] 2 K. B. 270; 72 L. J. K. B. 826; 67 J. P. 359; 52 W. R. 154; 47 Sol. Jo. 640, D. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Matthews v. Matthews, [1912] 3 K. B. 91; Wickens v. Wickens (No. 2), [1918] P. 282 Jones v. Jones, [1924] P. 203. As to (2) Folld. Griffiths v. Griffiths (1909), 73 J. P. 391 Adams v. Adams, [1914] P. 155.

—— —— —— ——.]—See, now, Summary Jurisdiction (Separation & Maintenance) Act, 1925 (c. 51), s. 2.

6251. Variation of order—Order for custody—Jurisdiction to grant.]—Applt. wife obtained on Mar. 19, 1908, an order under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), for right, to have the order vacated or suspended, on his afterwards offering to receive & maintain her.—CRONK v. K (1872), 19 Gr. 283.—CAN.

e. Reference may be ordered.]—HOOPER v. HOOPER (1870), 3 Ch. Ch. 114.—CAN.

f. Variation of order—Increase.]—An order, under Destitute Persons Act, 1894, s. 32, varying an order previously made for the maintenance of a wife, by ordering payment of an separation; custody of the two children while under sixteen; & for 7*s.* 6*d.* a week until the order should be altered, varied, or discharged. On July 23, 1908, the order was varied on the application of applt. by increasing the allowance to 12*s.* 6*d.* a week. The amount proving insufficient, applt., to support herself & the children, became a hospital nurse, & left the children with her mother. On Dec. 24, 1908, on resp.'s application, the justices varied the order by reducing the allowance to 7*s.* 6*d.* a week, & gave resp. the custody of one of the children:—Held: in the absence of misconduct on the part of applt. of which there was no suggestion, the justices had no jurisdiction to vary their order as to the custody of the children, & as their order was wrong as to custody it must be set aside in toto. Liberty to resp. to apply to the magistrates re reduction of allowance.—COBBE v. COBBE (1909), 73 J. P. 208; 25 T. L. R. 305, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Timmins v. Timmins, [1919] P. 75.

—— Order for maintenance after separation order.]—See No. 6150, ante.

6252. Fresh evidence—What amounts to.]—"Fresh evidence" within Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 7, to confer jurisdiction to rescind a separation order previously made under sect. 4, must be such as would afford ground for a new trial or rehearing in any other class of case. It must be evidence which could not reasonably have been made available at the date of the order, or it must relate to something which has happened since the date of the order, & which affords ground for revision within the terms of the Act under which the order was made.

On June 15, 1899, a married woman obtained an order for separation & maintenance against her husband under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 4. At the time of the hearing the husband was seriously ill, &, although he knew he had an answer to the charge, his brain & faculties were so far paralysed that he could neither indicate the lines of his defence nor give the names of his witnesses. As he was supposed to be actually dying, his solr. allowed the order to go without opposition, & declined an adjournment. Subsequently the husband so far recovered as to be able to give the names of his witnesses, & the matter having been again brought before them on a fresh summons, the justices, after hearing the evidence, discharged their order of June 15, on the ground that "fresh evidence" had been brought before them within Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 7. Against this decision the wife appealed:—Held: "fresh evidence" within sect. 7 meant evidence which had not come to the knowledge of the party wishing to call it at the time of the hearing, or evidence which he could not then have called, but not evidence which could have been called & was not; &, although the ultimate result may have been right, the magistrates were wrong in re-hearing the matter on that ground. The ct., having regard to the physical condition of resp. on June 15, remitted the case to the magistrates to be re-heard ab initio.—JOHNSON v. JOHNSON, [1900] P. 19; 69 L. J. P. 13; 81 L. T. 791; 64 J. P. 72; 16 T. L. R. 26, D. C.

Annotations:—Distd. Groves v. Groves (1906), 71 J. P. 167. Folld. Weightman v. Weightman (1906), 94 L. T. 620. Consd. Timmins v. Timmins, [1919] P. 75. Refd. Dodd v. Dodd, [1906] P. 189.

6253. —— ——.]—(1) An application under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women), Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 7, to alter, vary, or discharge an order made under that Act is on the same footing, as far as fresh evidence is concerned, as an application for a new trial. When, therefore, there is fresh evidence, that is, evidence which could not reasonably have been made available at the date of the order, or relating to something which has happened since the date of the order, either party is entitled to take out a fresh summons under the sect., & have the case determined.

(2) There is no time limit fixed, & Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1848 (c. 43), s. 11, prescribing six months as the time within which an application must be made, does not apply.—WEIGHTMAN v. WEIGHTMAN (1906), 94 L. T. 620; 70 J. P. 120; 22 T. L. R. 362, D. C.

6254. —— —— Whether certificate of death of former husband—Obtained subsequent to separation order.]—In 1887 applt. was deserted by her husband who went to New Zealand. Believing him dead, in 1895 she went through a ceremony of marriage with resp. In Mar. 1906, applt. obtained against resp. a separation order under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39). At this date resp. had written to New Zealand for a certificate of the death of the husband, but the same had not been received. In May, 1906, resp., having in the meanwhile received the certificate in question, applied to discharge the order on the ground that the husband of applt. was alive at the time of the ceremony of marriage in 1895. At this hearing hearsay evidence was given in support of the contention of resp., & evidence was received of a statement by applt. to the effect that her husband was alive at the time of the ceremony in 1895, & a certificate of his death was forthcoming, but no evidence of identification. At an adjourned hearing of the application by resp. on July 11, 1906, the stipendiary magistrate discharged the separation order. On appeal on the grounds (inter alia), that there was no "fresh evidence" within the meaning of the Act before the stipendiary magistrate, & that there was no evidence of anything that had occurred since the order:—Held: the certificate was in this case "fresh evidence," as it could not have been previously obtained, & resp. had been in fact ignorant of its existence, & the stipendiary magistrate had sufficient evidence before him to justify the discharge of the separation order.—GROVES v. GROVES (1906), 71 J. P. 167, D. C.

6255. —— —— Child returned to custody of father—Offer to recohabit refused.]—In Aug. 1916, justices, on the application of a wife deserted by her husband, made an order under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), that the wife should not be bound to cohabit: she should have the custody of the eldest child of the marriage, a girl; the husband should pay her 6*s.* a week for maintenance. This order was obeyed until Oct. 1917, when the wife sent the girl back to her husband. He received the girl; stopped paying the 6*s.* a week, & wrote to his wife asking her to come back & promising to receive & maintain her. The wife refused. The justices then on the application of the husband discharged the order. The wife appealed to the Div. Ct.:—Held: the evidence of the facts stated above was fresh evidence within the meaning of Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), & gave the justices jurisdiction to discharge the order, & the appeal should be dismissed.—TIMMINS v.

increased amount in lieu of that previously ordered, is an order which the magistrate may direct to be filed in the Supreme Ct. under sect. 24 of the Act.—BISHOP v. ROWE (1903), 23 N. Z. L. R. 66.—N.Z.

Sect. 27.—Summary jurisdiction: Sub-sect. 6, D. (c), E. & F.; sub-sect. 7, A., B. & C.]

TIMMINS, [1919] P. 75; 88 L. J. P. 78; 120 L. T. 544; 63 Sol. Jo. 287, D. C.

Annotation:—Mentd. Garnett v. Garnett & Calderon (1919), 35 T. L. R. 521.

See, also, PRACTICE.

6256. Time for application—Whether six months' time limit applies.]—WEIGHTMAN v. WEIGHTMAN, No. 6253, ante.

E. Costs.

6257. Jurisdiction as to—Exclusively in magistrates.]—Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 5 (d), confers upon justices exclusive jurisdiction over costs, & upon the dismissal of a wife's summons against her husband for a separation order, under sect. 4, by justices who decline to make any order as to costs under sect. 5, the solr. who acted for the wife cannot recover his costs in an action against the husband.—CALE v. JAMES, [1897] 1 Q. B. 418; 66 L. J. Q. B. 249; 76 L. T. 119; 61 J. P. 230; 45 W. R. 317; 13 T. L. R. 169, D. C.

Annotations:—Consd. Abrahams v. Buckley, [1924] 1 K. B. 903. Refd. Cobbett v. Wood, [1908] 2 K. B. 420; Durnford v. Baker, [1924] 2 K. B. 587.

6258. Wife's costs—Application to enforce order—Order deprived of effect—By resumption of cohabitation.]—HADDON v. HADDON, No. 6239, ante.

6259. —— Whether recoverable in suit against husband—No order as to costs made.]—CALE v. JAMES, No. 6257, ante.

6260. —— Subject matter of summons "res judicata"—Pleaded by husband.]—BLACKLEDGE v. BLACKLEDGE, No. 6175, ante.

F. Rehearing.

6261. Jurisdiction to grant—Only on proof of wife's adultery after order.]—The power given to justices by 49 & 50 Vict. c. 52, s. 2, to "rehear any such summons at the instance of the husband at any time" is, on the true construction of the Act, confined to the cases mentioned in the second proviso to sect. 1, in which proof is offered that the wife has since the making of the order been guilty of adultery.—SEPHTON v. SEPHTON (1888), 58 L. T. 281; 52 J. P. 356; 4 T. L. R. 209, D. C.

See, now, Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 12.

6262. When granted—Not after refusal of adjournment at hearing.]—Mrs. H. applied to justices under 49 & 50 Vict. c. 52, for order of maintenance against H., who suggested adultery against Mrs. H., but was not prepared with legal evidence thereof. The justices offered to adjourn the hearing so as to give H. time to get evidence, but he declined, & wished the case to go on. The justices made the order against H.:—Held: H. could not afterwards insist on a rehearing on the ground that he had since obtained evidence of the wife's adultery.—R. v. CLDHAM JJ. (1887), 51 J. P. 647, D. C.

6263. ——.]—R. v. WILD, ETC., JJ. (1887), 51 J. P. Jo. 404, D. C.

6264. Defendant seriously ill at time of hearing.]—JOHNSON v. JOHNSON, No. 6252, ante.

SUB-SECT. 7.—APPEALS.

A. To What Court.

See Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 11.

6265. From separation orders—During pendency of appeal against conviction for assault.]—A husband having been convicted of an aggravated assault upon his wife, & sentenced to one month's imprisonment, & it being ordered by the justices at the same time that he be judicially separated from his wife, & that he pay her £2 a week for maintenance, he gave notice of appeal to quarter sessions against the conviction, &, pending that appeal, he came to this ct. to have the order varied:—Held: this court should hear his appeal notwithstanding the pendency of the appeal to quarter sessions.—GOODWIN v. GOODWIN (1887), 51 J. P. 583.

6266. ——.]—Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), s. 4, does not give an appeal to the Probate, Divorce, & Admlty. Div. from a conviction for aggravated assault, but only from the order for judicial separation, made by virtue of the provision of the above Act, as one of the results of the conviction.—LEWIN v. LEWIN, [1891] P. 254; 60 L. J. P. 85; 64 L. T. 834; 55 J. P. 296; 39 W. R. 575; 17 Cox, C. C. 314.

6267. ——.]—(1) An appeal does not lie to the Div. Ct. of the Divorce Div. from a conviction by justices under Offences Against the Person Act, 1861 (c. 100), s. 43.

(2) Where justices grant a separation order to a wife immediately after convicting the husband of an aggravated assault upon her there is no need to exhibit a copy of the conviction in the order.—BRYANT v. BRYANT, [1914] P. 277; 84 L. J. P. 30; 112 L. T. 171; 31 T. L. R. 36; 59 Sol. Jo. 75; 78 J. P. Jo. 556, D. C.

6268. From convictions for assault.]—LEWIN v. LEWIN, No. 6266, ante.

6269. ——.]—BRYANT v. BRYANT, No. 6267, ante.

6270. —— Revival of—Previous order discharged.]—By Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 7, a ct. of summary jurisdiction may at any time "alter, vary, or discharge" an order made by the ct. under the Act; & by sect. 11 an appeal shall lie from any order under the Act to the Probate, Divorce & Admlty. Div. By Criminal Justice Administration Act, 1914 (c. 58), s. 30 (3), any order made by a ct. of summary jurisdiction for the periodical payment of money may be "revoked, revived, or varied" by a subsequent order. Justices, having made an order under the Act of 1895 for separation & for periodical payments by the husband to the wife, subsequently discharged the order on the ground of the wife's adultery. At a later date on fresh evidence the justices made an order revoking the second order & reviving the payments under the

PART XIII. SECT. 27, SUB-SECT. 6.—F.

g. When granted—Not when issue decided.]—A husband, upon whom an order to make an allowance for the maintenance of his wife had been made under Act X of 1872, s. 536, objected to the payment of the allowance on the ground that his wife was living in adultery. The magistrate, entertaining this objection, disallowed it, on the ground that the charge of adultery against the wife was not established. The husband subsequently again objected to the payment of the allowance on the same ground. The magistrate, entertaining the second objection, allowed it, & directed the husband to discontinue paying the allowance. His order was based on proof of adultery by the wife before the date of the order of the former magistrate:—Held: on the general principal of the rule of res judicata, the second magistrate was wrong.—LARAITI v. RAM DIAL (1882), I. L. R. 5 All. 224.—IND.

PART XIII. SECT. 27, SUB-SECT. 7.—A.

h. Supreme Court.]—An appeal lies on the facts to the Supreme Ct. from the adjudication of the magistrate under Destitute Persons Act, 1910, s. 17 (7), in which case the opinion of the Supreme Ct. is substituted for the original order. The justices stated a case for the opinion of the K. B. Div. on the question whether they had power to revive the original order after it had been discharged :—Held : notwithstanding that the power to order the revival of the payments was contained in sect. 30, sub-sect. 3, of the Act of 1914, & not in the Act of 1895, the justices had no power to state a case, & the only method by which their decision could be questioned was by an appeal to the Probate, Divorce & Admlty. Div. under sect. 11 of the Act of 1895.—DODD v. DODD, [1920] 1 K. B. 71 ; 89 L. J. K. B. 221 ; 122 L. T. 190 ; 83 J. P. 287 ; 18 L. G. R. 115, D. C.

6271. From refusal of magistrates to discharge order.]—After the refusal of magistrates to discharge an order for payment of money or for custody of children after an order for judicial separation under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), s. 4, the statement of a special case under Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1857 (c. 43), for the opinion of the Q. B. Div. does not preclude the husband from appealing to the Probate, Divorce & Admlty. Div. under sect. 4 of the former Act.

The Probate, Divorce & Admlty. Div. has no jurisdiction to discharge, on the ground of a wife's adultery, an order of magistrates for payment of money or for custody of children after an order for judicial separation ; but the jurisdiction must be exercised by the ct. or magistrate by whom the order was made, subject to an appeal to the Probate, Divorce & Admlty. Div.—HETHERINGTON v. HETHERINGTON (1887), 12 P. D. 112 ; 56 L. J. P. 78 ; 57 L. T. 533 ; 51 J. P. 294 ; 36 W. R. 12.

Annotations :—Refd. Manders v. Manders, [1897] 1 Q. B. 471. Mentd. Andrews v. Andrews & Chalmers (1924), 132 L. T. 400 ; Russell v. Russell, [1921] A. C. 687.

Appeal from convictions to quarter sessions generally, see MAGISTRATES.

6272. On point of law arising on application.]—There is no power in a ct. of summary jurisdiction to state a case for the opinion of the Q. B. Div. upon a point of law arising on an application for an order under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39) ; the only mode in which their decision can be questioned is by an appeal to the Probate, Divorce & Admlty. Div. under s. 11 of that Act.—MANDERS v. MANDERS, [1897] 1 Q. B. 471 ; 66 L. J. Q. B. 296 ; 61 J. P. 105 ; 45 W. R. 287 ; 41 Sol. Jo. 226, D. C.

Annotations : Distd. Ruther v. Ruther, [1903] 2 K. B. 270 ; Griffiths v. Griffiths (1909), 53 Sol. Jo. 504. Apld. Dodd v. Dodd, [1920] 1 K. B. 71.

6273. From decisions on applications to enforce orders—Payments under maintenance order in arrear.]—RUTHER v. RUTHER, No. 6250, ante.

6274. —— ——.]—Where an order for a weekly payment by a husband to his wife is made under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), s. 5, & the payments fall into arrear, & the wife applies to the magistrate to enforce payment of such arrears, & the magistrate directs the payment of those arrears, & orders imprisonment in default of distress, no appeal lies from such direction & order to the Probate, Divorce & Admlty. Div.—GRIFFITHS v. GRIFFITHS (1909), 73 J. P. 391 ; 25 T. L. R. 544 ; 53 Sol. Jo. 504, D. C.

Annotation :—Refd. Adams v. Adams (1914), 111 L. T. 414.

6275. —— ——.]—An appeal from the refusal of a ct. of summary jurisdiction to enforce arrears under an order for maintenance made under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), lies to the K. B. Div. under sect. 9 of Summary Jurisdiction Act, & not to the Probate, Divorce, & Admlty. Div. under sect. 11 of the Act.—ADAMS v. ADAMS, [1914] P. 155 ; 83 L. J. P. 151 ; 111 L. T. 414 ; 58 Sol. Jo. 613, D. C.

B. What Matters Appealable.

Separation orders.]—See Nos. 6265–6267, ante.

Decisions on application to enforce orders.]—See Nos. 6273–6275, ante.

Revival of order previously discharged.]—See No. 6270, ante.

6276. Refusal of magistrates to grant application—For reduction of maintenance.]—Justices made an order under Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), s. 4 (inter alia), that a husband should pay his wife 30*s.* a week. This order was not appealed against. More than a year afterwards the husband applied to the justices for a summons calling upon his wife to show cause why this order should not be varied by reduction of the weekly payment, upon the ground that his means had diminished. The justices having heard what the husband had to say refused to issue the summons : Held : (1) the justices had a discretion to grant or to refuse a summons, & had exercised it properly ; (2) such discretion was not under the terms of sect. 4, the subject of review.—R. v. HUGGINS, ETC., JJ. & HUMPHREYS (1891), 60 L. J. M. C. 139 ; sub nom. R. v. GRAVESEND JJ., 55 J. P. Jo. 277, D. C.

6277. Refusal of magistrates to determine question of custody of children.]—Where the magistrates, who had rightly granted a separation order to the wife, refused to determine in a judicial manner, in the interests of the children, the question of their custody ; this ct., on appeal, declined to deal with the matter, by receiving fresh evidence, & remitted the case to the magistrates upon the points as to the wife's fitness or unfitness, & as to the amount of her allowance.—FOULKES v. FOULKES (1893), 69 L. T. 461, D. C.

C. Practice.

See R. S. C., Ord. 59, rr. 4A, 7, 8, 10–12, 16.

6278. Whether court will hear affidavits as to merits of case.]—POWELL v. POWELL, No. 6281, post.

6279. Appeals to Probate & Divorce Division—Governed by R. S. C., Ord. 59, rr. 4A, 7, 8, 10-12, 16.]—Upon an appeal to the Probate, Divorce & Admiralty Div. from the decision of a ct. of summary jurisdiction under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), the practice under the Divorce Acts has no application, & it is not necessary that any case should be stated or filed. The practice in such appeals is governed by the above rules.—SWOFFER v. SWOFFER, [1896] P. 131 ; 65 L. J. P. 82 ; 60 J. P. 344, D. C.

6280. —— Statement & filing of case—Whether necessary.]—SWOFFER v. SWOFFER, No. 6279, ante.

See, now, Statutory Rules & Orders, 1923, No. 703.

Notice of appeal.]—See R. S. C., Ord. 59, rr. 10, 11.

opinion of the magistrate & is final.—WATKINS v. WATKINS (1914), 33 N. Z. L. R. 1497.—N.Z.

PART XIII. SECT. 27, SUB-SECT. 7.—C.

k. Notice to other side—Must state "cause or matter"—Notice cannot be amended at hearing.]—Applt. shall give to the opposite party a notice in writing of his appeal, & of the cause or matter thereof, eight days at least before the holding of the ct. at which the appeal is to be heard. Where a notice of appeal was given in time, but did not state any "cause or matter" of the appeal :—Held : on a motion for prohibition, the judge presiding at the division ct. had no power to allow the notice to be amended.—Re COE v. COE (1891), 21 O. R. 109.—CAN.

Sect. 27.—Summary jurisdiction: Sub-sect. 7, C., D., E. & F. Parts XIV. & XV.]

Time for appeal.]—See R. S. C., Ord. 59, r. 12.

—— Extension of time.]—See R. S. C., Ord. 59, r. 16.

D. Jurisdiction of Court on Appeal.

6281. To enter into matters touching merits of case.]—A husband having been summarily convicted of an aggravated assault on his wife within Offences Against the Person Act, 1861 (c. 100), s. 43, the justices before whom he was convicted made an order that he should pay her a weekly sum for her maintenance; & they refused to hear the husband's evidence as to his means:—Held: (1) the justices were warranted in refusing to allow the husband to be called as a witness, as it was not the intention of Matrimonial Causes Act, 1878 (c. 19), that there should be any further hearing of the cases by the justices after the conviction for assault; (2) on the hearing of the appeal affidavits as to the merits of the case could not be admitted.—POWELL v. POWELL (1889), 14 P. D. 177; sub nom. Re POWELL, POWELL v. POWELL, 61 L. T. 436; 53 J. P. 519; 16 Cox, C. C. 722.

Annotations:—As to (1) Folld. Lewin v. Lewin, [1891] P. 254. N.F. Jones v. Jones, [1895] P. 201.

6282. To make such orders as justices should have made.]—BROWN v. BROWN, No. 6218, ante.

6283. To receive fresh evidence—By affidavit.]—Except in very rare instances, no fresh evidence will be received by the Div. Ct. on the hearing of appeals from orders made under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39),

The note to be taken by the clerk to the justices on the hearing of summonses under the Act, & which is to be furnished to either party, or the solr. for either party, on application, will be accepted by the Div. Ct., on the hearing of appeals, as a primâ facie statement of the facts; but, if the note is defective, an affidavit will be received in order to supplement the statement of what took place in the ct. below, but no fresh facts, which were not tendered in evidence before the justices, should be introduced into the affidavit.—SNAPE v. SNAPE (1897), 62 J. P. 153, D. C.

6284. To decline to hear appeal—Where full note of hearing not furnished.]—WENHAM v. WENHAM, No. 6193, ante.

6285. To receive objections—Omitted on hearing of application.]—PICKAVANCE v. PICKAVANCE, No. 6182, ante.

6286. To vary order of justices—Striking out clause in order.]—In proceedings before justices under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), a married woman obtained an order by which it was adjudged that her husband had deserted her, & it was ordered that she was no longer bound to cohabit with him. The husband unsuccessfully appealed, but on his application the ct. varied the justices' order by striking out the non-cohabitation clause.—DUNNING v. DUNNING (1911), 27 T. L. R. 534; 55 Sol. Jo. 650, D. C.

6287. Whether bound by justices' findings of fact—Evidence conflicting.]—MUSTHER v. MUSTHER (1894), 58 J. P. Jo. 53.

6288. —— Justice clearly wrong.]—(1) Upon appeals under the Act, the Div. Ct. will not reverse a finding of fact, unless it be shown that the ct. of summary jurisdiction was clearly wrong in the conclusion at which it arrived.

(2) In administering the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), cts. of summary jurisdiction should be careful not to interfere too much in matrimonial life.

(3) Magistrates' clerks should take notes of the evidence & of the grounds upon which decisions are based, & the costs of such notes will be allowed in the costs of appeals under the Act.—HARLING v. HARLING (1896), 74 L. T. 559; 60 J. P. 376, D. C.

Annotations:—As to (3) Refd. Robinson v. Robinson (1898), 14 T. L. R. 385; Wenham v. Wenham (1906), 70 J. P. Jo. 310.

6289. —— .]—A Div. Ct. of this Division is not bound by the finding of fact on the part of justices who have made an order under Summary Jurisdiction, Married Women, Act, 1895 (c. 39), but is entitled to draw a different inference of fact from the evidence.

The rule adopted in the Divorce Div., that the evidence of a wife should be corroborated, is applicable to cases under this Act.—FORSTER v. FORSTER (1910), 54 Sol. Jo. 403, D. C.

E. Costs.

6290. Wife's costs—Wife respondent—Unsuccessful—General practice.]—EARNSHAW v. EARNSHAW, No. 6124, ante.

·.]—MEDWAY v. MEDWAY, No. 6104, ante.

6292. —— —— —— Appeal by husband "in formâ pauperis."]—The fact that a husband who successfully appeals from an order of justices under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), has been admitted as a poor person is no ground for departing from the usual practice of allowing the wife her costs of appearing in support of an order made by the ct. below.

R. S. C., Ord. 16, r. 29, gives the ct. power to make an order against the husband for the wife's costs.—HOPE v. HOPE, [1915] P. 125; 84 L. J. P. 176; 113 L. T. 377; 79 J. P. 320; 59 Sol. Jo. 457, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. West v. West & Maxted (1917), 34 T. L. R. 169.

6293. —— —— Appeal from order to enforce previous order—First order deprived of effect—By resumption of cohabitation.]—HADDON v. HADDON, No. 6239, ante.

6294. —— —— —— On objection not taken in inferior court.]—PICKAVANCE v. PICKAVANCE, No. 6182, ante.

6295. —— —— —— Wife having separate property.]—Where a husband successfully appealed from an order for payment of a weekly sum on desertion of petty sessional ct., the wife, who did not appear, being shown to have separate estate, was condemned in costs, without notice of the application.—DAVIES v. DAVIES (1907), 51 Sol. Jo. 412, D. C.

6296. —— —— —— Res judicata—Pleaded by husband in inferior court.]—BLACKLEDGE v. BLACKLEDGE, No. 6175, ante.

6297. —— Wife appellant—Unsuccessful.]—JACKSON v. JACKSON (1909), 25 T. L. R. 713, D. C.

6298. —— —— Resumption of cohabitation—Retractation & apology by husband.]—A wife

PART XIII. SECT. 27, SUB-SECT. 7.—D.

6289 i. Whether bound by justices' findings of fact.]—Where the opinion of a Trial Judge as to the credibility of witnesses on a charge of misconduct against a wife was attached solely on the ground of general probability the App. Div. refused to disturb the finding.—PARKES v.]

69.—S. AF.

1. To set judgment aside on ground of fraud.]—JENKINS v. JENKINS & MITCHINSON (1876), 3 C. A. 303; 2 J. R. N. S. 32.—N.Z.

applied to justices for an order under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), on the ground of her husband's desertion. The defence was an allegation that the wife had committed adultery. The justices dismissed the application on the ground that the husband had not deserted the wife without just cause. The wife appealed on the ground that there was evidence that the adultery, if any, was condoned, but after the appeal had been lodged the parties resumed cohabitation, & the husband published in the newspaper an apology & retracted the evidence which he had given on the summons before the justices: —Held: the wife was entitled to the costs of the appeal.—PARTINGTON v. PARTINGTON (1909), 73 J. P. 200; 25 T. L. R. 305, D. C.

6299. Security for wife's costs—Whether husband to find—Wife without means.]—Where a husband, possessed of means, appealed from an order of the ct. of summary jurisdiction, the President granted the application of the wife, without means, that the husband should find security for her costs of appeal.—L—— v. L—— (1911), 55 Sol. Jo. 330.

6300. —— —— —— Stay of hearing.]—A husband having appealed from an order obtained by his wife under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), application for security for the wife's costs was made to a judge in chambers supported by an affidavit stating that he had no property to answer any order for costs & also stating that the wife had no means of her own. An order was made that the husband, applt., should pay into ct. or give security for the costs of his wife, resp. on the appeal, & the hearing of the appeal was stayed meanwhile.—SIRRELL v. SIRRELL, [1911] P. 38; 80 L. J. P. 8; 104 L. T. 79; 27 T. L. R. 155, D. C.

6301. Copies of notes supplied to court—Whether costs allowed on taxation.]—WALTON v. WALTON, No. 6303, post.

F. Notes of Proceedings before Magistrates.

6302. Acceptance as primâ facie statement of facts.]—SNAPE v. SNAPE, No. 6283, ante.

6303. Must be for use of court—Two copies.]—Upon appeals under the Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), it is the duty of applt. to furnish, for the use of the judges of the Div. Ct., two copies of the notes taken by the clerk of the ct. below, & the costs of these copies will be allowed on taxation.—WALTON v. WALTON, [1900] P. 147; 69 L. J. P. 54; 82 L. T. 627; 48 W. R. 622, D. C.

6304. By whom copies must be supplied—By appellant.]—WALTON v. WALTON, No. 6303, ante.

6305. —— By appellant's solicitor.]—Observations as to the duty of applt.'s solr. in an appeal from justices under Summary Jurisdiction (Married Women) Act, 1895 (c. 39), to furnish for the use of the ct. notes of the evidence before the justices, & of the reasons for the justices' decision. —MCHUGH v. MCHUGH (1909), 26 T. L. R. 60.

6306. —— By party relying on contents—Copies of letters.]—PRACTICE NOTE (1923), 155 L. T. Jo. 298.

—— By justices' clerk.]—See Nos. 6193, 6194, ante.

6307. Costs of providing—Whether allowed on taxation.]—WALTON v. WALTON, No. 6303, ante.

6308. Imperfect note—Amplification by affidavit.]—WENHAM v. WENHAM, No. 6193, ante.

6309. —— —— No fresh facts to be included.]—SNAPE v. SNAPE, No. 6283, ante.

Part XIV.—Divorce Bills.

See PARLIAMENT.

Part XV.—Conflict of Laws.

Marriage.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 413–421.

Divorce & other matrimonial causes—Dissolution of marriage.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 421–426, Nos. 874–915.

—— Judicial separation.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 426, 427, Nos. 916–920.

—— Restitution of conjugal rights.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., p. 427, Nos. 921–923.

—— Nullity of marriage.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., p. 428, Nos. 924–926.

—— Recognition of foreign decrees.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 428–432, Nos. 927–954.

—— Recognition of other modes of divorce.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., p. 432, Nos. 955, 956.

PART XV.

English law in force In Manitoba.]—WALKER v. WALKER, [1919] 2 W. W. R. 935; 48 D. L. R. 1.—CAN.

n. —— In Alberta.]—BOARD v. BOARD, [1919] 2 W. W. R 940; 48 D. L. R. 13.—CAN.

Part XVI.—Costs.

Implied authority of wife to pledge husband's credit for costs.]—See Part VIII., Sect. 2, sub-sect. 11, ante.

Civil proceedings by & against married women.]—See Part XII., Sect. 1, sub-sect. 1, I., ante.

Alimony pendente lite.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 9, sub-sect. 1, J., ante.

Applications as to custody & maintenance of children — Pending decree.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 9, sub-sect. 3, ante.

—— After decree.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 22, sub-sect. 6, ante.

Security for costs.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 9, sub-sect. 4, ante.

Disposing of causes—Death of party.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 15, sub-sect. 1, E., ante.

Order for costs on decree.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 18, ante.

Cause shown against decree by King's Proctor.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 20, sub-sect. 4, A. (g), ante.

Appeal as to costs.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 21, sub-sect. 1, D., ante.

Variation of settlements.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 22, sub-sect. 5, G. (g), ante.

Apportionment of damages.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 22, sub-sect. 7, D., ante.

Taxation of costs.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 22, sub-sect. 8, ante.

Summary jurisdiction.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 27, sub-sect. 6, E., sub-sect. 7, E., ante.

HYPOTHECATION.

Lien; Mortgage; Shipping and Navigation.

IDIOTS.

Lunatics and Persons of Unsound

IDLE AND DISORDERLY PERSONS.

See Magistrates; Poor Law.

LLEGAL ARREST AND IMPRISONMENT.

See Criminal Law and Procedure; Trespass.

ILLEGAL CONTRACTS

See Contract.

ILLEGITIMACY.

e Bastardy.

IMBECILES.

See LUNATICS AND PERSONS OF UNSOUND MIND.

IMMEMORIAL USAGE.

See CUSTOM AND USAGES.

IMMIGRATION.

See ALIENS.

MMORAL CONTRACTS.

See CONTRACT.

MPEACHMENT.

See PARLIAMENT.

MPEACHMENT OF WASTE.

See REAL PROPERTY AND CHATTELS REAL; SETTLEMENTS.

IMPOTENCE.

See HUSBAND AND WIFE.

IMPRISONMENT.

See CRIMINAL LAW AND PROCEDURE; MAGISTRATES; PRISONS.

IMPROVEMENT OF LAND.

See LAND IMPROVEMENT; SETTLEMENTS; SEWERS AND DRAINS.

INCEST.

See CRIMINAL LAW AND PROCEDURE; HUSBAND AND WIFE.

INCLOSURE.

See COMMONS AND RIGHTS OF COMMON; HIGHWAYS, STREETS, AND BRIDGES; OPEN SPACES AND RECREATION GROUNDS.

INCOME AND CAPITAL.

See PARTICULAR TITLES passim.

END OF VOL. XXVII.

PRINTED IN GREAT BRITAIN BY WILLIAM CLOWES AND SONS, LIMITED, LONDON AND BECCLES.